"In fact, the index declined at three different times earlier in the year," he said. "Because the index is designed to forecast turning points in the Kansas economy, the oscillating behavior of the index earlier in the year raised a caution flag with regard to the likely performance of the state's economy by year end. However, the recent consecutive increases mitigate that concern.

The index rose from 144.12 in August to 144.26 in September its highest level in more than a

The index was up even though four of the seven indicators - cattle prices, housing starts, average weekly hours of work in manufacturing and the U.S. money supply were down. Improvements were made in wheat prices, Kansas stock prices and initial claims for unemployment.

Meanwhile, a Creighton University survey of Midwest business conditions for October said each component in its Kansas index was down slightly. However, economics professor Ernie Goss, who conducts the 11-state survey, said Tuesday that the index still forecasts strong growth in the Kansas

"Kansas purchasers reported the greatest bottlenecks in the delivery of raw materials, which signals inflationary pressure. The Kansas inventory index was also the lowest in the region at 45.8 percent, which indicates a reduction in the level of raw materials for future production." Goss said.

► WINDS DAMAGE HUNDREDS OF BUILDINGS, SMASH CARS IN BALTIMORE AREA

BALTIMORE (AP) - A storm with winds up to 60 mph tore the roofs off of hundreds of rowhouses and small businesses, smashed cars and downed trees in the city Tuesday. There were no immediate reports of injuries.

Witnesses said they spotted a funnel cloud.

The National Weather Service did not immediately confirm whether a tornado had struck.

"It was just like a big explosion like the end of the world," said Angela Jones, who was in her kitchen with friends when the roof was blown off their apartment building. They took refuge in the base-

Fire Chief Hector Torres said damage was reported to hundreds of buildings throughout Baltimore.

The weather service said winds ere clocked as high as 60 mph.

The wind tore the roofs off at least 25 rowhouses in a five-block area just north of downtown. Streets were littered with tar paper, wood and bricks.

James Milton Roberts was driving an empty school bus down in that area when the sky turned black, and debris shattered his

"All I could see was debris coming toward the bus," Roberts said. He said he hid between seats in the back of the bus until the storm

▶ WEST POINT INVESTIGATES 15 ALLEGATIONS OF HARASSMENT AT PEP RALLY

WEST POINT, N.Y. - Moving swiftly to avoid comparisons to the Tailhook scandal, the U.S. Military Academy is investigating five football players who allegedly groped 15 female cadets during a pep rally. Eighteen women told investigators they were brushed across the breasts as they and other cadets ran past a cordon of West Point players during the Oct. 20 spirit run, two days before the team played The Citadel.

Three of those women said they believed the touching was acciden-

The players' punishment could include a three-month suspension from the team, more than 90 hours marching punishment, demerits and 90 days' restriction to post.

West Point commanders and the academy's top-ranking female cadet, Deputy Brigade Commander

Stephanie Arnold, said the inquiry bears no comparison to the Naw's Tailhook scandal, in which dozens of women were molested by drunken aviators who formed a gauntlet in a hotel hallway during a 1991 convention in Las Vegas.

"There's a difference between a cordon of cadets trying to build spirit and a gauntlet of people who were drunk and who engaged in this kind of behavior before," said Lt. Gen. Howard D. Graves, the academy's superintendent.

Arnold, the second-highest ranking cadet at West Point, said she was surprised by the incident because the academy has had an excellent record of promoting harmony between men and women during her four years.

"This is a very, very serious issue, but it's not just a woman's issue. I mean, the male cadets here are thoroughly ticked about this," "You can't treat people like that."

The academy ordered the investigation after three women complained they were fondled during the spirit run.

Fifty-one women were among the 600 cadets who took part in the run, a 3-year-old practice that was suspended after the incident. About 200 varsity and junior-varsity football players were part of the cordon, Graves said.

Of the five players under investigation, three came forward and said they had brushed against the women inadvertently. The two others were turned in by their teammates. The women have not been able to identify the offending players. Graves did not disclose the names of the football players or the women who complained.

POLICE REPORTS

These reports are taken directly from the daily logs of the K-State and Riley County Police departments. Because of space constraints, not all crimes are listed.

K-STATE POLICE

MONDAY, OCTOBER 31

At 8:54 a.m., a three-vehicle accident occurred in Lot A-29. Alan Hamilton struck a parked and unattended truck, which then struck a parked and unattended van. Damage was less than $500.

At 7:59 a.m., The State & Extension Forestry building, 2610 Claflin Road, filed a burglary-and-theft report. Loss is

At 3:56 p.m., Julie Tarara reported the theft of money from an office at Throckmorton Hall At 10:00 p.m., University facilities reported an alarm sounding at the Foundation. Officer and troubleshooter responded, and alarm was reset.

At 12:14 a.m., Manhattan Fire Department responded to Delta Delta Delta sorority house on 1834 Laramie St. for a fire alarm. Everything was OK, and alarm reset.

RILEY COUNTY POLICE

MONDAY, OCTOBER 31

At 10:01 a.m., Nancy Bowen, of 3129 Lundin Drive, Apt. 5, called to report her adult daughter missing. She had been missing for two weeks. An information report was filed. At large is Cynthia L. Bowen. She is a white female, is 5 feet 8 inches tall, weighs 120 pounds and has shoulder-length dark red hair and green eyes. Subject's vehicle was at her residence. The suitcase was gone, and the apartment was a mess. She is very skinny and on several medications.

At 1:30 p.m., Angela

Markley, of 1834 Laramie St., and Cheryl Burton, of 7617 Oak View Lane, Lenexa, reported damage to both of their vehicles. Each vehicle had two tires slashed. Loss was an estimated

At 10:44 p.m., three subjects ran away from the Helping Hands Home at 1201 North 12th St. At large are Kysha Mellowship, 5 feet 7 inches, 120 pounds; and Dawn M. Webb, 5 feet 6 inches, 125 pounds; and Allison E. Nephew, 5 feet 10 inches, 150 pounds.

CAMPUS BULLET

Applications for Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities are now available in the Office of Student Activities and Services. Deadline is Nov. 18.

All undergraduate students in health-related degree programs are eligible to apply for a Student Cancer Research Award of $500. Applications are now available in the Center for Basic Cancer Research in Ackert 234. Application deadline is Dec. 2.

The world is getting smaller. Make yours larger. Volunteer to tutor an international student in the Conversational English Program. Contact Kathy Hund at the International Student Center, 532-6448.

Chimes junior honorary is awarding a scholarship to an outstanding junior. Applications are due at noon Nov. 14 and are available in the Office of Student Activities and Services.

The College of Education will have mock-interview sign ups beginning today. Sign up will continue until Nov. 11 in Holtz Hall.

BULLETINS

- The oral defense of Arnold Eilert's doctoral dissertation is scheduled for 8:30 a.m. in Waters 03G.
- Adult Student Services will have a brown-bag lunch from 11
- a.m. to 1 p.m. today in Union Stateroom 1. ■ The College of Education will have a meeting for elementaryeducation majors to review changes in teacher-education requirements at 4:30 p.m. today in Bluemont 101.

The Kansas State Collegian (USPS 291 020), a student news-

POSTMASTER: Send address changes to Kansas State Collegian, circulation desk, Kedzie 103, Manhattan, Kan., 66506-

paper at Kansas State University, is published by Student Publications Inc., Kedzie Hall 103, Manhattan, Kan., 66506. The Collegian is published weekdays during the school year and once week through the summer. Second-class postage is paid at Manhattan Kan 66502

YESTERDAY'S HIGHS AND LOWS

WICHITAO COFFEYN

STATE OUTLOOK Windy and warm in the southeast,

cooler in the northwest.

MANHATTAN OUTLOOK

TODAY

Breezy and mild with partly cloudy skies and a high in the mid-

TOMORROW III

Cooler with mostly cloudy skies and a high of 60 to 65.

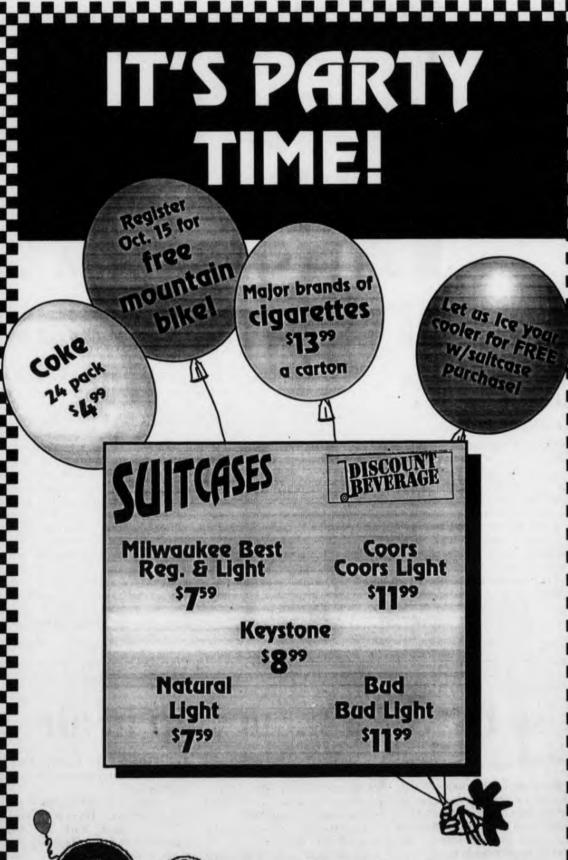

Have your fraternity or sorority sian up an tire house Last Chance T-shi

$1 Cans $1 Wells

> 10¢ Wings 5-8 p.m. All-You-Can-Eat Potato Bar 5-8 p.m.

o Cover - Never Had It - Never Wil

K-State ambassador candidates

Voting will be Wednesday through Friday on the second floor of the K-State Union. The winners will be announced at halftime during the homecoming football game Saturday.

Matt Perrier junior in animal science and industry

Jennifer Dunn junior in food science

Casey Niemann junior in agribusiness junior in agricultural economics

Tammy Hoobler Matt Urbanek sophomore in premedicine and economics

Marcia Hellwig junior in accounting

ne of the biggest obs of a K-State ambassador is to 'sell" K-State to others.

My main selling point for K-State has always been the friendly atmosphere at K-State.

I have witnessed this friendliness through different organizations, intramurals, and classes. By seeing this great attribute each day at K-State, I become more excited and enthused about attending K-

I feel I can take this excitement and enthusiasm and combine it with my energetic way of working with people to make an excellent ambassador for all K-Staters.

here's something to be said about K-State University its people, pride and purple power.

The role of the ambassador is to represent these ideas with an active voice. I consider sincerity important in communicating with people, and I realize the different perspectives that potential students, current students and alumni have about the University.

My roots run deep with K-State heritage, and I would like to share my experience with others. I also wish to encourage them to expand their horizons to develop their own sense of pride in the institution.

If given the opportunity, I would be greatly honored to serve this University as an ambassador and tell others about purple power.

urple pride runs through my veins.

That is why I would like to serve as a K-State ambassador.

However, purple pride is not an uncommon characteristic among the spirited students of Kansas State University. We have a lot to be excited about. Where else can you find the biggest football turnaround in NCAA history, more Rhodes Scholars than most Ivy League schools and a debate team that is second to none?

There has never been a better time to be a Wildcat. It would be an honor to spread purple pride to our alumni and prospective students.

Let's get excited and show our pride this Homecoming and "Hear the Cats roar in '94."

AT 'EM UP, EAT EM UP KSU!

As a 10-year-old devoted to the Wildcats, it was the only cheer I knew. I couldn't wait to sit in the student section and cheer the Cats to victory.

Being now a part of such an extraordinary student body, I hope to represent our University's enthusiasm and pride as a K-State ambassador. It is an exciting time to be a K-Stater, with alumni pride, student traditions and diversity on common ground at the heart of

Now that I am one of the big kids in the student section and have my cheers down, I want to continue the "Wildcat tradition" by being your link between past generations of K-Staters and our future, prospective students.

love K-State.

My desire to be K-State ambassador can be summed up that easily. In my mind, there could be no greater honor or privilege than to represent the student body to alumni and prospective students.

The friendly atmosphere of our campus, and the pride we all experience as students, elevate K-State high above all other universities. These are the feelings I want to portray as ambassador.

My involvement and experiences in similar events such as Student Alumni Board have given me immense satisfaction, and I hope to continue to serve K-State as its ambassador.

he Cats are roaring louder than ever.

From our history of academic excellence and basketball campouts to out-winning football and debate teams, K-State is alive with both old and new traditions.

This combined with a student body bursting with purple pride, are the reasons I would be honored to be a K-State ambassador.

Through my experiences on campus, I feel that I would positively represent the diverse student population to both alumni and prospective students. I look forward to the opportunity to work for you, the University and all of the traditions that it

International Study Tours

During Winter Intersession 1995

Australia and New Zealand

GENAG 505: Comparative Agriculture in Australia and New Zealand (3 UG/G)

A travel-study program to acquaint students with the agriculture of Australia and New Zealand and how it differs from the Midwest-Great Plains agriculture relative to climate, crops, soils, livestock practices, marketing, and cultural attitudes toward agriculture. The tour will include stops in Sidney and Brisbane, Australia and stops on both the north and south islands of New Zealand. Visits to agricultural research stations and overnight farm stays are also included. Associate Professor Keith Lynch, 532-1404. December 28, 1994-January 16, 1995. $1200 deposit due November 1; $2,700 balance due November 15; $225 (UG) or $336 (G) tuition due

Russia

HIST 103 and HIST 703: Moscow and St. Petersburg in Russian History (3 UG/G) The purpose of this course is to give you first, an overview of Russian history, and secondly, to allow you during January 2-9 to see the historical sites in Moscow and St. Petersburg where the country's political and cultural life have been played out. From the Kremlin to the Winter Palace, from fifteenth-century architectural monuments through the imperial period to institutions that have shaped Russian history for the last millennia. Occasions will be provided for students to meet average Russians, and experience the modern life of the nation as it sheds its Communist past. Associate Professor John C. K. Daly, 532-6730. December 27-29, on campus, 7:00-9:30 p.m.; January 2-9, Russia. $400 deposit due November 15; $799 balance due December 1; $225 (UG) or $336 (G) tuition due December 7.

Call instructors for details about these study tours.

December 7.

Division of Continuing Education

England

ENGL 150: English Studies Abroad (2 UG) Travel abroad with selected readings, lectures and discussions which explore the relationships between literary texts and their physical and cultural environments. Instructor Gary Clift, 532-6301. December 26-January 8. $200 deposit due October 18; $997 balance due November 15; $602 airfare purchase due November 16; $150 tuition due December 7.

IDH 782: Decorative Arts and Architecture in England (2 UG/G)

A study tour to acquaint the student first time in London, along with those who are repeat visitors of the rich artistic and cultural locations that make London one of the world's great centers of art and architecture. Experience through field trips, the major developments

FINAN 498: England Study Tour (2 UG) A general study of the European financial systems, including the financial integration of Europe and the effect of this on U. S. and multinational firms.

Students taking the course will be required to prepare a report on their individualized readings and their observations from the visits. Assistant Professor Amir Tavakkol, 532-4375. January 2-10.

$250 deposit due October 14; $735 balance due November 15; $150 tuition due December 7.

we've been there before; we'll be there again

WE'RE BACK!

Organizations

Through Nov. 9 from 6-10 p.m. in McCain 324

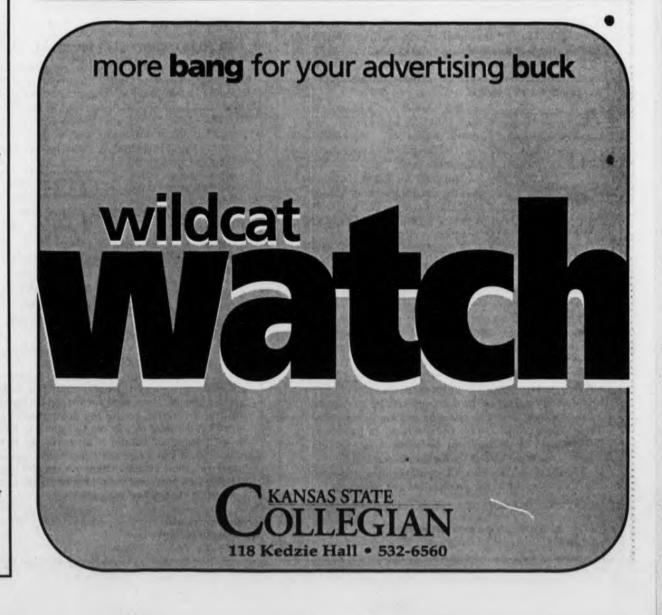

Wednesday, Nov. 2

American Nuclear Society 6:00 p.m. Alpha Nu Sigma 6:20 p.m. NRHH 9:00 p.m.

The 1995 Royal Purple portrait photographers are going to take a shot at you.

You may still reserve your copy of the 1995 Royal Purple at your sitting. Questions? Call 532-6557.

IN OUR OPINION

By the Collegian Editorial Board

Students should deny others from cheating

The burden of preventing cheating is not just an instructor's.

Organized living situations are supposed to be helpful to students. Residence halls, fraternities and sororities are designed to make academic and social life at college easier. They should not be abused as convenient vehicles for cheating networks.

Students have come forward and said the network for cheating in Biology 198: Principles of Biology is present in the greek system and residence halls at K-State. One student also said it has been happening for years. If students in residence halls or greek houses know some, or even one of the members is cheating, they should be motivated to take action against it immediately.

If the prospect of cheapening the students' degrees isn't immediate enough to motivate them, students should at least take into consideration the prospect of their cheating friends failing the test or the class or facing expulsion. The inherent dishonesty of cheating should not be forgotten, either.

Some schools' only precaution against cheating is the honor system. K-State should also be able to function without extreme measures to prevent cheating. All students should be honest and help professors enforce academichonesty policies. Students in organized living environments should be especially aware of this responsibility because they provide a support system and leadership to other students.

TOLES

Enrollment system needs some changes

es, it is that time of year again. Pre-enrollment, which is this University's version of ritualistic circumcision, so to speak. It's the time when everyone lays it all out on the line just to have it cut off.

Sound a little violent? Well, it is. Actually, it's not too bad for the likes of me, who have been around since God was an undergraduate. (Hell, I get a special inlaid gold copy of the line schedule six weeks before the bookstore does.) But the memories I have of pre-enrollment as an underclassman are still as fresh as an open wound.

I remember as a freshman and sophomore, I waited for that little green and purple book to come out like a little kid waits for the Kay-Bee's Christmas catalog.

All excited and expectant, I'd sit down and flip through the pages, marking my classes down in pen on my crisp, clean purple and white enrollment sheet.

My schedule always worked out perfectly on paper. No Monday or Friday classes, and none that met before 10:30 in the morning.

In these, my pre-enrollment fantasies, I always ended up with the professors I wanted, the ones that were witty and gave light reading assignments. And all, absolutely all, of my classes counted toward graduation.

Reality was a punch right in the mouth.

Reality involved waiting hours in line just to be told the computers weren't going to make it back on line for that day. It was being told a class I needed to graduate with (that was only offered once every seven semesters) was closed because the only section of it being taught was stuffed with non-majors who needed to fulfill their finearts credit because nobody bothered to pay attention to the "For Majors Only" label.

(I'll bet I have every first-semester freshman in a sweat now, anticipating this next month of searching for advisers the way they'd anticipate an enema.)

For me, enrollment got better every year. The more and more I moved up the ladder of seniority, the easier it was to get the classes I needed.

ERIN MANSUR-SMITH Why not have a Universitywide computer system that allowed students to enroll themselves."

But time doesn't change the fact that the system for preenrollment at this University is still archaic and unnecessarily painful for us all.

HTIL

Not only for the students, but also the faculty members, who are hunted down like dogs for permission slips into classes that are already full to capacity.

I think I feel most sorry for those poor people who work at drop/add. They must invest a fortune in Pepto Bismol to get through the week following "P.E. Invasion."

What I don't understand is why we revamp fee payment every year, add new tables, move old ones, etc. etc., but we haven't had a change in the way we pre-

Why not have a University-wide computer system that allowed students to enroll themselves? Students could go to the library or any of the computer labs on campus and access an electronic line schedule and enrollment sheet. Then, they could enroll themselves. It puts more responsibility in the hands of the students and wouldn't create as much paperwork for the drop/add staff.

It's not an original idea. Other universities all over the country use such similar procedures, and it's about time K-State did, too.

Erin Mansur-Smith is a senior in everything.

Get real, there is no parking problem

uch has been said (and precious little done) about the "parking problem" at K-State.

Ever since I've been here, student leaders and campus officials have been talking parking solutions, only to leave it to the long-term planners or next year's Senate. Well, not this year. Finally, due to the constant pressure from students and an administrative urge to modernize the University, we are going to have a parking solution.

The problem is, the students, who comprise the largest general body on campus, will probably have the least input into the final

Surprised? I thought not. Here's what is going to happen. A survey is being sent out to students, faculty and classified staff on campus to elicit opinions on the parking situation. The results of those surveys will be compiled and sent to the respective senate bodies on campus, and those bodies will make their recommendations.

EWERENZ

Personally, I don't see what everyone is so upset about. I say this because there is no parking problem on our campus.

I repeat: There is no parking problem on this

Right now, as you read this paper, on the busiest day at K-State, there are parking spaces available in Lot B-3. Everybody who lived in Marlatt Hall as a freshman knows the lot I'm talking about. Just follow your nose, it's the one behind Weber Hall, back where your sense of smell will tell you that animal scienc and veterinary medicine are close at

You would never know those spaces are there to watch the hunt in the Union or Durland lots. People line up every morning, waiting for their turn to play

And most of these people know that there are spaces available in Lot B-3. They just don't want to park there.

Call me crazy, but I simply cannot understand the mentality that will make people sit and wait for 45 minutes for a parking space outside Durland when they can get a space RIGHT NOW EVERY DAY OF THE YEAR and walk to class in 10

But people want a parking "solution" so that we don't have a parking "problem." That means

Not that we don't pay for parking as it is. Every student who wants to park on campus pays $55 for the privilege of not getting ticketed.

Parking "solutions" are going to mean upping the ante a bit. Any shuttle system or parking garage is going to cost zillions of dollars, and you can bet that it's not all coming from Anderson Hall.

Students are likely to get shafted on the deal, all the more so because the administration will make the final decision on the parking "solution."

So in the interest of saving scarce student money, I propose the following, fee-free solutions to whatever parking "problem" you think we have.

Zoning

Everyone who lives within one-fourth mile of campus would not be allowed to park on campus. This would include students, faculty, staff and administration. This means Jon Wefald would have to walk up Lover's Lane to his office every morning. I figure if my mother could walk from Edwards Hall to campus every day, then so can the people who live in Wildcat Apartments.

The busiest parking time of the day is usually between 10:30 a.m. and 2:30 p.m., because that's when most of the classes are scheduled. If we had more 7:30 and 8:30 a.m. classes (and as a philosophy major, I suggest those classes be offered in the mechanical engineering department) and more 3:30 and 4:30 p.m. classes (in hotel and restaurant management - same reason), there would be more available parking when people need

Now that I'm a senior and have more hours than everyone except Erin Mansur-Smith, perhaps we could dole out parking spaces on the basis of seniority. Seniors could park in the Union. Sophomores and juniors would have their choice of the Durland lot and the one west of the stadium. Freshmen could park in Lot B-3 with the animals.

Any of these ideas will free (key word here) valuable parking spaces at no cost to anyone. And that's better than any other offer.

Dan Lewerenz is a senior in philosophy.

READERS WRITE

Drop letters off at Kedzie 116 or send them to Letters to the Editor, c/o John Meirowsky, Kansas State Collegian, Kedzie 116, Manhattan, KS 66506. We accept letters by e-mail also. Our address is letters@spub.ksu.edu. Letters should be addressed to the editor and include a name, address and phone number. A photo identification will be necessary for hand-delivered letters.

▶ RELIGION

Christian comes out of the closet

In reading the Collegian and especially the editorials, sometimes I get the impression that people use this paper to "come clean," or in the past couple of weeks to "come out" of the closet. Well, it's time for me to come out of the closet too. I understand how hard it is to have something you feel strongly about hidden where

SHAWN CONARD

L are probably

Christians out there who are hiding in the closet, afraid of what people

66 T know there

other

no one can see it. It is like a weight on your shoulders. I almost feel ashamed that I've kept this secret for so long. Here goes. I'm a Christian. Yeah, I've kept it well hidden for quite a few years. But now it seems that this is the time to tell people. I know there are probably other Christians out there who are hiding in the closet, afraid of what people think. Go ahead, tell your friends, your family, even your girlfriend or boyfriend. Wow, I really feel free. I guess I should. Jesus died for me, to take away the sins I commit, to die my death and to be raised on the third day in the full glory of God. Know what else? He did it for everyone at K-State, too. It's just that too many Christians are staying in their closets. Come on out, let's get together and pray, and then there might be some lives really changed on this campus.

Shawn Conard junior in biology

ELECTIONS

Success rate is a little deceiving

Sheila Hochhauser has represented her district well in the Legislature. I am sorry her opponent feels the need to generate phony issues. For example, there is the "issue" that Sheila only gets a small percentage of bills passed. Her opponent apparently doesn't know that only 15 percent of all individual (i.e. non-committee) bills introduced in the Legislature pass, and that number would probably be cut in half if "fluff bills" (like declaring We Love Mom and Apple Pie Day) were eliminated. But Sheila's opponents should know why there are several reasons the percentage of bills is so low. Let me give one example.

Suppose 10 legislators each put a bill in at the beginning of the session. Those bills make their way to the appropriate committee, and the chair realizes that those bills have the same purpose. The chair rolls all the bills into one. That new bill has a new number, and the 10 original bills die. The new bill passes the house and goes to the Senate, where it is rolled into another bill so that the House bill dies.

The Senate passes the bill, and it goes back to the House, where it is passed and goes into law. Now the 10 legislators have accomplished their goal. If someone says, "gee, out of 12 bills, only one passed.

"That's only an 8-percent success rate," then that person is unaware of the facts or is trying to Vote for Sheila so she can continue to do a great job for us.

Linda Thurston associate professor in special education

ELECTIONS

Hochhauser not effective legislator

Through three terms as representative, Sheila Hochhauser has shown little ability to achieve any substantial, positive change for Manhattan or this region in general. It is time for a change in the 66th District for the House of Representatives.

An effective legislator should be able to shoe leadership among his or her peers. Yet, in her three terms. Hochhauser has never been a committee of vice chair.

In fact, she has taken herself off certain committees.

An effective legislator, through her own initiative and in the spirit of compromise, should vote for what is right and just. But Hochhauser spent her time playing partisan politics. She voted the party line 89 percent of the time.

CHARLES DURBIN An effective legislator should be able to shoe leadership among his or her peers.

An effective and respective legislator should be out to get legislation she writes, sponsor or introduce, passed. Yet 91 percent of the bills Hochhauser was associated with failed - most never got out of committee. Could this be a sign of her lack of leadership, unwillingness to compromise and general lack of initiative? I

As a student, if I failed 91 percent of my classwork, I'd be kicked out. In the business world, if I lacked leadership ability and initiative and showed an unwillingness to cooperate, I'd get fired. It's time to kick Sheila Hochhauser out. We need a legislator that can work well with others instead of playing partisan politics. We need someone who will show leadership and initiative. We need Ann Stevens as our representative from the 66th District.

Charles M. Durbin junior in agribusiness CLIPPING

COUPONS

Students can cut their way to big grocery-bill savings by catching clipping craze t's toward the end of the month, and your kitchen cabinets are empty.

The only items in your refrigerator are a carton of cottage cheese and some leftover hot dogs from a tailgate party against Southwestern Louisiana.

Your friends want you to go with them to Aggieville the next night, but you know the only drink you will be able to afford is a Pabst Blue Ribbon Beer with a lime after you do your grocery shopping.

If this scenario sounds familiar, coupon clipping could be the answer to your dilemma.

"I used to do it regularly," Stacey Klinzing, freshman in pre-medicine, said. "Between four roommates, we would save anywhere from $50 to $85 a month."

Klinzing said she found that using coupons pays for itself, because you can usually find items cheaper than store brands of the same item.

"We would go group shopping," Klinzing said. "All four of us would go together and make it kind of a social

"Clipping coupons is one of the best ways to secretary at Dillons, 130 Saber Lane, said. "The second best way is to buy private or generic brands of foods.

"I don't see many college students using coupons," she said. "I know when I was in college, I didn't always have time to clip coupons or didn't buy a newspaper."

Lee said by taking advantage of double coupons, a college student could probably save about $20 a month on groceries.

Students shouldn't be embarrassed to use coupons, Lee said.

Using coupons shows you handle money well and are concerned with your financial situation and think ahead," she

To organize her coupons, Lee said she has a little recipe box with coupons that she looks through before going to the

Scott Warren, freshman in chemistry, said he saves

I'm from Alaska, and I need all the money I can to get back home. No one has ever said anything to Warren at the grocery store about

"It doesn't bother me at all to use coupons," Warren said. "But the ladies behind me in line sometimes look at me weird when I'm at the counter."

For some students, using coupons can be difficult because they do not have access to a newspaper.

Manhattan, she has had difficulty finding coupons. "I haven't clipped coupons since I moved here," where to clip them out. Back home, they were much more available." Brent Jones, junior in geography, said he doesn't subscribe to a newspaper because he does he does not have access to "I don't clip coupons because we don't get the paper anymore," Jones said. "Other than that, I not have time to read it, so would.' Jones said in the past when he did have access to coupons, he would not buy an item just because he had a coupon for it. "I usually clipped coupons for stuff I knew I was going to get or needed," Jones said.

One solution to the problem of not having access to a newspaper with coupons is to use a coupon

"It doesn't bother me at all to use coupons. But the ladies behind me in line sometimes look at me weird when I'm at the counter." SCOTT WARREN

freshman in chemistry

"I don't see many college students using coupons. I know when I was in college, I didn't always have time to clip coupons or didn't buy a newspaper."

store secretary at Dillons

"I used to do it regularly. Between four roommates, we would save anywhere from $50 to $85 a month. We would go group shopping."

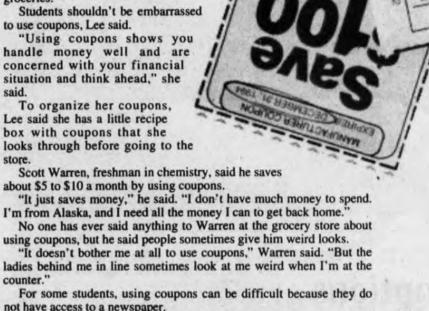

> STACEY KLINZING freshman in pre-medicine

STORY BY KIMBERLY HEFLING DESIGN BY DEREK SIMMONS ART BY DAVE OLSON

A memorial fund has been set up for former K-State assistant basketball coach Ken Tumer. Funds will be given to Tumer's son, Ken II, and his daughter, Kanndra, to help pay for their educations. Turner died Sept. 28 at the age of 49 as a result of a heart attack he suffered while jogging near his home near Columbus, Ohio. Donations can be sent to the Society Bank, c/o Ken Turner Memorial Education Fund, 88 E. Broad St., seventh floor, Columbus, Ohio 43215.

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

FOOTBALL

Winless Cyclones concern coach

WESS HUDELSON

Iowa State has Coach Bill

Snyder worried. Snyder said the Cyclones' option offense, the fact they beat K-State last year and the fact they haven't won a game this year all are reasons

"I don't know why (they haven't won a game)," Snyder said at his weekly press conference at Vanier Football Complex. "They have good players, the coaching is good it beats the devil out of me." Iowa State's offense rang up 21 points in the fourth quarter last season against K-State.

"I think we were just a little in the clouds after beating Oklahoma," defensive tackle Tim Colston said. "I really don't know what happened. We were just stopping them and stopping them. And then, I don't know if it was something magical, or just something that we were not playing responsible like Ouarterback Chad May said the loss was an embarrassment.

"We went in there expecting to win, and getting beat by a team like that in a game we were supposed to win was disappointing," May said. "I think it's going to be a motivational factor for us this year

I know it is for me. I'm not going to let that happen again. I felt embarrassed." Colston and defensive back Chris Canty earned Big Eight Defensive Player of the Week the last two weeks. Colston recorded 12 tackles and two sacks against Colorado and 10 tackles and one sack against Oklahoma. Canty collected 11 tackles and a 98-yard interception return for a two-point defensive conversion.

K-State ranks second in the conference behind Nebraska in total

Snyder said it isn't a big surprise.

"It doesn't surprise anyone in this building," Snyder said. "It probably surprises you guys and some of the fans, but nobody here."

Snyder said the young players in the defensive secondary haven't been a surprise either.

The only concern that was dealt with was how good our secondary would be," Snyder said. "They needed to get more experience. As they have gotten better every week, the defense has gotten better.

The circumstances are similar to last year's game, Snyder said. The only difference is that the game is at Manhattan, which is an advantage. "A lot of things are the same as last year," Snyder said. "I don't want it to turn out the same as last year, but the situation is similar." ■ Also for the second-straight week, the Cats face an opposing coach whose job may be in jeopardy. Iowa State coach Jim Walden has said publicly that he will not likely return as coach of the Cyclones next season. "I certainly sympathize with him and Gary Gibbs (Oklahoma coach)," Snyder said. "They are good people, work hard. They both try hard, they care about their players and their universities they just aren't winning."

During last Saturday's game at Norman, Okla., a plane flew over the stadium with a sign, which read "Hey Gibbs, Delta is ready when you are."

■ The Cats' bowl chances were discussed at the press conference as well, although Snyder said any predictions are premature.

'We understand where we are," Snyder said. "We have five wins right now, and we need six to qualify. We have four games left, and we understand the ramifications if we win or lose."

K-State sits in third place in the Big Eight Conference. The thirdplace team in the conference is supposed to receive an invitation to the Aloha Bowl.

However, there is the possibility participating in a coalition bowl if the Cats win the rest of their games.

"I wouldn't ever put our program in a position to turn down an opportunity," Snyder said. "It's way too early to talk about it right

Fan sues Red Wings for using ticket money

ASSOCIATED PRESS

DETROIT - A Red Wings season-ticket holder is suing the club over the NHL's longest work stoppage, saying owners forced ticket holders to pay up early this year as a ploy to get interest-free money.

The breach-of-contract lawsuit filed Monday in Wayne County Circuit Court seeks status as class-action litigation on behalf of all 1994-95 Detroit season-ticket holders, and a minimum of $10,000 in

Linda LeSage, of Gibraltar, Mich., a season-ticket holder for 12 years, also seeks interest on the $4,000 she paid in July for her two seats, said her lawyer, Gary Eisenberg of Southfield,

"She's angered, and she's upset. She sees the fans as the victims in this money-grab - as well as having had her money used for all these months, Eisenberg said Tuesday.

"I think they had some indication the season was not going to begin on time ... and they needed some money," he said.

Bill Jamieson, public relations director for Detroit, said; "We haven't seen the lawsuit and because of that can't comment. But we're committed to our fans. We released our ticket-refund policy on Oct. 27 and checks for that will be released next week," he said.

Last week, the Red Wings announce'd they would issue refund checks monthly to season-ticket holders, based on the number of games canceled the previous month.

That policy took effect Tuesday.

Schottenheimer takes Chiefs back to basics

ASSOCIATED PRESS

KANSAS CITY, Mo. - Football 101 is being taught this week in Kansas City.

Professor Marty Schottenheimer is taking his team back to the basics, a refresher course on techniques and fundamentals that maybe were overlooked during last week's 44-10 loss in Buffalo, N.Y. 'The problems have been addressed, are being addressed, will be addressed and can be resolved in a relatively short period of time," Schottenheimer said

Tuesday. It was the most points any Schottenheimer-coached team ever absorbed. "It had better be," said the 10-year coaching veteran. "You don't stay around very long if you give up 44 points a game. In their last three games, the Chiefs (5-3) have given up 93 points. "The irony is we've won two of those games," Schottenheimer said. "I guarantee you one thing: This football team will not give up 93 points the next three

As they prepare to be host to the Raiders at the start of the second half of the regular season Sunday night, the Chiefs begin what ought to be the easiest part of their schedule. They're home the next three games against teams they're fighting for a playoff spot and have five of their last eight at home altogether.

The past two seasons in loud, raucous Arrowhead Stadium, the Chiefs are 7-1. They've already got a home loss this year, a shocking 16-0 shutout by the Los Angeles Rams on Sept. 25.

If they're to have any reasonable place in the playoff picture - or even be in the postseason at all - they'll probably need to win all five remaining home games against the Raiders, Browns, Chargers, Broncos and Oilers.

"Home is no sanctuary unless you perform in a winning fashion and go about your business that way," Schottenheimer said. "The problems we've experienced can be resolved."

Road games left for the Chiefs take them to Seattle, Miami and, in the regular-season finale on Christmas Eve, the Raiders.

Pong Pugnacity

Ben Shi, graduate student in grain science, smashes a Ping-Pong ball back to his partner Tuesday night at the Chester E. Peters Recreation Complex. Shi was playing ping pong with his wife, Guilan Shen, graduate student in biology. The two like to play tennis, but were too tired to play Tuesday night, so they opted for Ping-

CARY CONOVER Collegian

▶ COLUMN

Fighting Irish limiting Cats' bowl options

These days, I'm praying for the Notre Dame football team to crash and burn, and I'm even a Catholic.

Why this sudden dislike for Lou Holtz's boys from South Bend? Because if the Irish lose the rest of their games, our K-State Wildcats could possibly take their place in the Mobil Cotton Bowl in Dallas on Jan. 2.

Yes, Cat fans, this is a possibility, but only if a number of crucial events take place.

Charlie Fiss, director of media relations for the Cotton Bowl, said according to Notre Dame's contract with the Bowl Coalition, the Irish need to win just six, yes, six Division-I games in order to qualify for a coalition-bowl game like the Cotton Bowl.

"According to their contract, Notre Dame just needs to win a minimum of six games to receive an invitation to the Orange, Sugar or Cotton bowls," Fiss said.

"Since it will probably be Nebraska and Miami in the Orange, Alabama and Florida in the Sugar, we would have to offer Notre Dame the second spot in the Cotton against the first-place Southwest Conference team. Of course, Notre Dame would have to agree to appear in the Cotton Bowl — they would have the option to pass."

Sure, like the Irish would pass up the Cotton Bowl - as if any other halfwaydecent bowl would want a pathetic six-win team that's not even nationally ranked. However, if the Irish do not win their three remaining games, Fiss said a K-State appearance in Dallas would be possible. "All I can say is that if Notre Dame does not reach the minimum of six wins, and if K-State is highly ranked nationally, like in the top 10, then there is a possibility for K-State to be invited," he said. After hearing that, I quickly called Notre Dame sports information to see where the Irish stand right now With a record of 5-3, Notre Dame has an off weekend this week, then travels to Florida State. Count that as a big "L" for Holtz. One down, two to go.

Notre Dame then returns home the following weekend for its last home game against Air Force. I'll just pray that Touchdown Jesus won't come through this time, knowing that Notre Dame doesn't deserve to go to the Cotton Bowl.

Notre Dame's last game is away against University of Southern California, and hopefully after two consecutive losses, the players themselves will realize that a more worthy team, like K-State, deserves the Cotton Bowl spot, so they will end the season one short of qualifying, with a 5-6 record.

Realizing, however, that Notre Dame ultimately has God on its side, I checked around with some other bowl games that would be more appealing to K-State than the Aloha Bowl. And believe it or not, K-State students, you may not have to blow your entire life savings just to see K-State play in a bowl game this year.

After talking to Greg Barckhoff, director of public relations for the Sun Bowl (formerly known as the John Hancock Bowl), it appears that K-State could end up playing in El Paso, Texas, in the Sun Bowl on Dec. 30. "K-State is definitely on our short list of candidates, especially if they win the rest of their games and finish with a high national ranking," Barckhoff said.

"We'll have our choice of the secondplace teams in both the PAC 10 and SWC, but right now, Baylor, the SWC's No. 2 candidate, does not look very appealing to us, so we would look to some other team, like K-State. We already have a representative scheduled to come and look at K-State in the next few weeks."

This sounded good to me, but it sounded even better after I asked him the allimportant question, 'So how much money would we make from your bowl?" His answer? A lucrative $1.1 million. Knowing the financial state our Department of Intercollegiate Athletics is in, that was enough to convince me. If we are offered a spot in the Sun Bowl, we need to pass over the Aloha Bowl (just like they passed us over last year), and pack our bags for El

ICOLE

OELI

It all comes down to this: the Sun Bowl just has more to offer both K-State students and the K-State athletic department than the Aloha Bowl.

K-State students could actually attend the Sun Bowl in El Paso — that would even be a shorter drive than it was to Tucson, Ariz., last year. Who would be attending the Aloha Bowl? Probably just the K-State alumni who could afford a trip across the ocean, not poor college students. The athletic department could also benefit immensely from the payout from the Sun Bowl. Sure, the Copper Bowl paid out around $700,000 last year, but K-State athletic director Max Urick said that after including all the travel and miscellaneous expenses, our athletic department only gained around $70,000. While we would have to divide our Sun Bowl payout among the other Big Eight schools since it's more than $1 million, we would still probably end with more than we would make after the Aloha Bowl, with its payout of around $700,000.

But before you make any bowl reservations, keep this in mind - we've still got four games left to win before we go anywhere.

IVERSIONS

ARTS AND ENTERTAINMENT CALENDAR

Live, Weezer and Fatima Mansions — 7 p.m. Monday at Bramlage Coliseum. Tickets are still available at the McCain Box Office and the UPC office on the third

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

NOVEMBER 2, 1994

► CROSSWORD EUGENE SHEFFER ACROSS 40 Take to 20 Spot 1 Health 23 Diary 1 Practice court 41 Chatter resorts 24 Mimic pugilism 5 Command 43 Nothing 2 Luxurious 25 Alpha 45 Paul or 3 Nick and (nearby to an attack dog John Nora's 47 Not 27 "Holy 8 Tree pooch house? wobbly 4 Supercowl 51 Chills and 29 Director 12 Do a man portrayer Rushed fever model job? Grosbard 30 Cyclo-13 Deadlock 52 Astronomi-14 Lingering effect cal rarity to attack pean feature 54 Roseanne, 6 Clock 15 Neighbor of Mars numeral 32 Lunar once 7 Moth 55 Tune concavi-17 Blueprint repellent 56 Fleming 18 Tyke 19 "— Goes 8 Pluto's 34 Harsh hero 57 Harvardneighbor 9 Blackout criticism 37 Right ers' rivals 21 Shade 58 Quilters' periods? 10 Fraud angle 39 Nibble source together 42 Meal on 22 Sign for 11 Sound 59 Aspen a stick another quality 16 Depend 44 "The hitch 23 Varnish (on) Silence of ingredient Solution time: 21 mins the -26 Archery-45 Ruth or Zaharias 46 Match, 31 Oil Marseilles acronym 33 "What's 48 Opera's libretto 35 Slithery 49 Actress Anderson and elusive 50 Guards' 36 Literary teamcategory mates 38 Symbol of 53 Golfer's Yesterday's answer 11-2 intrique concern

PED? For answers to today's crossword, call 1-900-454-6873 | 99¢ per minute, touchtone / rotary phones. (18+ only.) A King Features service, NYC. CRYPTOQUIP

KYXDYFEU FYTF, TFNQYRF DNMMYQ

YHYEU PRKMY Yesterday's Cryptoquip: MY CHIPPER FOREMAN AT THE PASTE FACTORY WAS APTLY KNOWN AS A STICKLER.

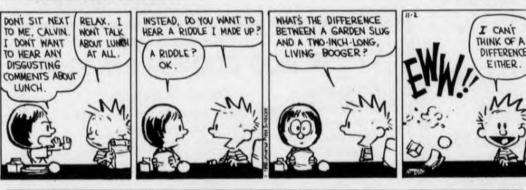

Today's Cryptoquip clue: H equals V

THE FAR SIDE GARY LARSON

▶ FILLER ANDREW TOMB/COLLEGIAN

CALVIN AND HOBBES

BILL WATTERSON

▶ FOXTROT

BILL AMEND

'Thank You' warns of student body fluids

DEAR CASSIE Cassandra Duveaux

Dear Cassandra,

of bodily fluids being exchanged by your readers lately. As a public service, would encourage you to warn them about the susceptibility to the transmission of diseases they place themselves in when doing so. Sexual activity is much more than a physical, emotional and moral activity these days. It is also a very serious health issue.

Signed,

Write to Cassie: 116 Kedzie Hall Manhattan, KS 66506

I noticed that there seems to be a lot

Thank you.

Dear Thank You, You are absolutely right. Thank you for pointing out the hard-core facts.

Sure, students can write in and joke about exchanging fluids between them and their numerous partners, but the seriousness of this subject is no laugh-

If you are sexually active, take the time to protect yourself. Get to know your partners before you jump straight into the sack with them.

A condom is an added protection, but some studies are now suggesting that HIV is small enough to pass through a condom and still cause infection. That's a frightening thought, especially when I see so many, "Oh, it'llnever-happen-to-me" attitudes on this Guess what, it can. And if you're not careful, it will.

FILM FESTIVAL

Renoir's incisive satire still obvious

RUSSELL FORTMEYER

The films of Jean Renoir, one of France's mostcelebrated directors, have established themselves among the most important films ever made.

of the master director's early style of films, "Rules of the Game" and "Grand Illusion." These two films were made during Renoir's

This week, K-Staters have a chance to see two political career.

'Grand Illusion," made in 1937, comments on World War I and the effects of war on society. 'Rules of the Game," made in 1939, reflects Renoir's personal feelings about class distinctions in 20th-century France.

Born to famed painter Pierre-Auguste Renoir in 1894, Jean Renoir was exposed to the world of fine art from early on. After fighting in World War I, Renoir filmed his first movie, "Catherine," in 1924.

"Rules of the Game" and "Grand Illusion" are surprisingly effective films. Renoir hasn't aged drastically, and you'll find his cinematic style understandable and calculated.

"Rules of the Game," full of class conflict and love triangles, is a bitterly satirical film, a personal, political address on the societal problems of Renoir's France.

The plot revolves around the murder, by a man of high class distinction, of a lowly intruder, Andre Jurieu, played by Roland Toutain.

This world of upper class ruling lower class paints an extremely bleak picture.
It's no wonder why "Rules of the Game" encountered much criticism and unpopularity in France when it premiered. In fact, its initial bomb and the ensuing war made this Renoir masterpiece completely forgotten "Grand Illusion" is Renoir's answer to the moral-bound World War I movie. It makes a good companion picture to the remarkable film, "All Quiet on the Western Front.' The film was made in 1937, so the distinct political commentary is not of the World War I era, but of the present, according to 1937. The present, for Renoir, was filled with Fascism. The main plot line involves three French soldiers - Captain Boeldieu, Marechal, and Rosenthal, who are captured by the Germans. Then, they plot to escape the prisoner-of-war

The film does well when presenting the relationships among class officers to the times of war (when Captain Boeldieu says: "It bothers me, but that's war ... feelings are out of the question"), but fails miserably in understanding class distinctions.

For instance, Captain Boeldieu does not escape with Marechal, because as an officer, he must attend to his duty.

However, Renoir lets Rosenthal, another upperclassman, leave with Marechal.

RENOIR FILM FESTIVAL

Union Program Council presents the Jean Renoir Film Festival featuring two films. "Rules of the Game" will show at 8 p.m. Wednesday and 9:30 p.m. Thursday in Union Forum Hall. "Grand Illusion" will show at 7 p.m. Thursday in Union Forum Hall and at 8 p.m. Friday in the Union Little Theatre.

811 COLORADO

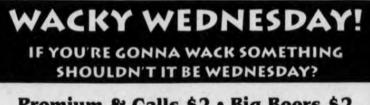

- Cactus Palms
- Dracaena Croton
- Ivies
- Spathyphyllum
- Pothos • Ficus
- Many other
- varieties

Blooming

1105 Waters . Across from Alco . 539-4751

Premium & Calls $2 • Big Beers $2 Kami Shots 50¢ Pitchers $2.50 • Wells $1.50 Draws $1 • Shots $2

1119 MORO 776-7714

WE HAVE BUD LIGHT, COORS LIGHT, AND ICEHOUSE ON TAP

► CITY COMMISSION

City to buy pumper

LEIGH BELLINGER

The director of fire services for Manhattan gave the city commission two options during Tuesday night's meeting at City Hall.

Reese told the Larry commissioners the city could either spend $8,000 to fix up an 18-yearold fire department pumper that is currently used as a reserve or recycle parts of that same pumper and spend $150,000 to purchase a front-line pumper, which normally would cost $100,000 more.

The commission approved, 5-0, the authorization for the city to look into purchasing a new pumper using the recycled parts from the 1977 pumper.

Commissioner Roger Maughmer said spending $8,000 on an 18-year-old pumper that has a life expectancy of 20 years is not the

"So although it's 'bite the bullet and spend more money before we thought we might have to,' I think we're going to be better off," Maughmer said.

The 1995 pumper would be made from parts from the 1977 model, Reese told the commission, but it will come with a new title and a new look

"From looking at it on the exterior, it will look like a new shiny red, or white, fire truck," Reese said. "On the outside, you won't know the difference."

Jim Pearson, city manager, said it was still too early to know how the project will be funded.

'I think the fairest way for you all to perceive this is that there will be additional costs for the fireequipment reserve fund, which might result in a slight property-tax increase," Pearson said.

Following the meeting, Reese said he would begin developing specifications and sending those to qualified bidders. He said he would like to have a new recycled pumper

In the meantime, he said, the fire department will be short a reserve pumper. It has several options - it can borrow another pumper, change tactics or request mutual aid from surrounding communities.

Reese said he was happy with how the commission voted.

"It was a very smart thing for them to do," he said. "They had faith in what we were recommending. I think it was the best for the community."

Uses suggested for $17,000

Senate approves voter bill

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1 commercial-grade furniture so it

Hobrock said the price for commercial furnishings would be much more than home furnishings, saying one sofa could cost $1,000.

About five students attended the forum. The one suggestion was to offer a free clinic in self-defense courses to students.

Aaron Otto, Student Affairs and Social Service Committee chairman, explained the fee error.

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

"We can't tell exactly what the committee will do, but we can give them the ability to look for

The committee would identify needs and issues to be addressed by

SGA, propose changes or enhancements in purposes and registration more accessible to all students by having a central-polling

Senate also voted on a bill to

A motion to make voter report recommendations to SGA.

location on campus was passed.

EXPRESS

1116 Moro

537-0886

Mon.-Sat.

11 a.m.-1 a.m.

where they are going.

themselves," she said.

"Basically, everyone was overcharged 50 cents this semester and next semester," Otto said.

Otto said the student government passed a fee increase and decrease at the same time.

"Through a paper shuffling error, the Board of Regents only passed the fee increase and not the decrease," Otto said.

Student government plans to have another forum off campus soon, with the date and location to be announced.

allocate $1,000 for an honorarium,

$14 for printing and $25.20 for advertising to the Communicable

Disease Committee to bring a

Wisconsin couple with HIV to speak to campus during AIDS allocate the money to the Office of Student Activities and Services to be given to the Communicable Disease

Committee because the committee was not a registered University

Activities Board organization. After nearly two hours of debate, the bill

The bill was also changed to Awareness Week.

was passed 50-3.

This coupon good for

MOO GOO GAI PAN $3.90

Dine-in & carryout

Not valid with any other specials, coupons, or on deliveries.

FREE DELIVERY

(Minimum order $9)

Expires 11-14-94

Call

Your ad could be here! 532-6555 for more information

IMAGINE

Bobby

Weds. Steak Night 14 oz. T-Bone 8 oz. Kansas City Strip

Salad, Potato, Vegetable, Toast

For over 6 years, the original cheap steak $2.75 Big Bob Beers

> By CiCo Park Kimball & Seth Childs Candlewood Center

coming

R. Carlos Nakai and William Eaton

The Ying Quartet* Friday, November 18, 8 p.m.

Winner of the 1993 Naumburg Chamber Music Award, the Ying Quartet is a brothers and sister team of string virtuosos. For McCain audiences, the Yings will perform Mozart's "Hunt" quartet, Ralph Shapey's Quartet No. VIII, and Schubert's "Death and the Maiden."

R. Carlos Nakai and William Eaton* Friday, December 2, 8 p.m.

Nakai is a Navajo-Ute who honors tribal traditions while developing new musical expressions on his cedar flute. Eaton designs his own extraordinary instruments and composes music inspired by nature. The two come together to perform music that is haunting in its serenity and graceful in its simplicity.

Aladdin and the Magic Lamp Friday, December 9, 7:30 p.m.

An Arabian nights tale of a poor tailor's son, an evil sorcerer, the sultan's beautiful daughter, and a couple of genies. You won't need a flying carpet: the lively music, colorful costumes, and specia effects will sweep you away!

For tickets call 532-6428 or come to the McCain box office. Box office hours: noon to 5 p.m. weekdays; from 1 p.m. before weekend matinees; and from 5 p.m. before weekend evenings. Tickets are also available at Manhattan Town Center customer service desk, K-State Union Bookstore, and ITR (Fort Riley). Persons with disabilities call 532-6428.

* Presented in part by the Kansas Arts Commission, a state agency, and the National Endowment for the Arts, a federal agency. Events in the McCain Performance Series are supported by the K-State Fine Arts Fee.

11 a.m.-Midnight

GIGANTIC LIQUIDATION CLOSEOUT

DOORS OPEN THURSDAY! ENTIRE STOCK MUST GO! MEN'S, WOMEN'S & CHILDREN'S FAMOUS NAME BRANDS

ALL SALES FINAL . NO REFUNDS . NO EXCHANGES

HURRY IN FOR THE BEST SELECTION!

BOW

Hours: Mon.-Fri. 9:30 a.m.-8 p.m. Saturday 9:30 a.m.-5:30 p.m. Sunday

Noon-5 p.m.

Sylvester's

Fashion Outlet

409-411 Poyntz Ave., Manhattan, Kansas

College

The Varsity Sport of Mind

Little Caesars

CHEESER! CHEESER!

UPC Issues and Ideas Union Program Council - Third Floor of the K-State Union presents

Admission is Free

International Coffee

Tuesday afternoons 2:30pm - 4:30pm in Union Station

FIRE UP WILDCATS!

Hiking The Wichita Mountains

National Wildlife Refuge

Get ready the big game at the Homecoming Pep Rally TODAY at noon in the Union Court Yard

UPC Special Events and

Eclectic Entertainment present with guests WEEZER and FATIMA MANSIONS Monday, November 7 at Bramlage Coliseum Tickets on sale now For more information

LIVE

call 532-6571.

Informational Meeting November 1, 1994 K-State Union Room 205 7:30 pm Sign up in the UPC Office through November 4 Eclectic Entertainment presents: THE BUEDE [HRIN Multicultural Committee presents: and Tea Hours In concert Join us for a variety of coffees from around the Thursday, November 10 9pm - 11pm in the Union Station

K-STATE UNION

HALL ROOM 103

KEDZIE

GET THE WORD OU

LASSIFIEDS

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

20 words or less - $5 1 DAY each word over 20 - $.20 per word

2 DAYS 20 words or less - $6.25 each word over 20 - $.25 per word 3 DAYS 20 words or less - $7.25 each word over 20 - $.30 per word

4 DAYS 20 words or less - $8 each word over 20 - $.35 per word 5 DAYS 20 words or less - $8.50

each word over 20 - $.40 per word (consecutive day rate)

HOW TO PAY

classifieds must be paid in advance as you have an established account. Student Publications. sh, check, MasterCard or Visa are ed. There is a $10 service charge serve the right to edit, reject or classify any ad.

HEADLINES For an extra charge, we'll put a needline above your ad to catch the DEADLINES

CANCELLATIONS

e ad is to be o

CORRECTIONS
If you find an error in your ad, please call us. We accept responsibility only for the first wrong insertion.

Call 532-6555 to place your classified.

YOU WIN!

BOARD

Announcements

50 PERCENT off single sports cards! Just in-94- 95 Hockey and Bas-ketball wax. Bases Loaded Sports Cards 410 Poyntz, 537-4141.

Earn $15 each time you donate

plasma.

MANHATTAN BIOMEDICAL CENTER 1130 Gardenway 776-9177 Sat. 9 a.m.-6:30 p.m., Sat. 9 a.m.-2 p.m.

ADVANCED FLIGHT Train ing from 5000-hour ATP instructor. Private single-engine through ATP multi-engine. Hugh Irvin, 539-3128.

Saturday, Nov. THERAPEUTIC

TOUCH WORKSHOP HEALTH & HARMONY PATHWAYS

CALL TO REGISTER 537-8946

CHRISTMAS OPEN HOUSE at Blooming Dale's, 1105 Waters-Sat., Nov. 5 9- 6p.m., Sun., Nov. 6 11- 5p.m. 539-4751.

COME FLY with us, K-State Flying Club has five air-planes. For best prices call Troy Brockway, 776-6735 after 5:30p.m.

PERSONAL SECURITY
Hand held sor for car and home. Great for student. $20

PLAN A stunning winter wedding with Bloom-ing Dale's winter floral. Ask for Diane. 539–4751.

Lost and Found

020

Found ads can be placed free for three

FOUND CAT around 1900 block of Hunting. Dark tiger stripe with pink collar. To claim contact 539-2605.

FOUND: CROSS in Kedzie 106 call 762-8993 to

JEWELRY FOUND by red

convertible Chrysler Le-Baron on street bet-ween Ford Hall and VanZile Hall. Call 537-6028.

030

Personals

We require a form of picture ID (KSU, driv-er's license or other) when placing a per-

GET THE WORD OUT.

HALF OFF

Homecoming Personals

for Wednesday, Thursday and Friday Call 532-6555 for more info or come to 103 Kedzie Hall to place your personal. Deadline is one day before at noon.

JOLLEGIAN

Meetings/ Events

MARY KAY open house Nov. 6, 1- 6p.m. 15 per-cent off any purchase!! Call for details today! 537-3645.

Parties-n-More

ADD A splash to your next bash. Great anytime. Birthdays, mid-terms and Wildcat victory par-ties. Wet-N-Wild Mobile Hot Tubs, 537-1825.

ADD AN extra touch of class to your next par-ty. Call Wayne's Water Party to rent a portable hot tub 537-7587, 539-7561.

BOCKERS II Catering Dances, bars, dinners Weddings, Alumni func tions. Catering any where, discounts, Ware-ham, Dayst Inn, Hous-ton Street. Call 539-9431.

REAL ESTATE

For Rent-Apts. Furnished

AVAILABLE FALL very nice one, two, three and four-bedroom apartment complexes and houses. Excellent locations with great pri 537-1666, 537-2919

ONE-BEDROOM APART-MENT, close to cam-pus. 1913 Anderson Ave. $280/ month-available Jan. 1 776-3410.

QUIET SURROUNDINGS for study. Campus one mile, one-bedroom, some utilities paid. Min-imum seven month no pets. lease, 537-8389.

For Rent-Unfurnished

AVAILABLE FALL very nice one, two, three and four-bedroom apartment complexes and houses. Excellent locations with great pri 537-1666, 537-2919

CHASE MANHATTAN Apartments, two-bedroom apartments avail able now, Corner of College and Claffin.

CLOSE (ONE block), to three-bedrooms. Nice Laundry/ central air/ low utilities/ one and three-fourths baths. Not a complex. No pets. 539-4641.

ONE-BEDROOM. NEAR campus, 1807 College Hts., laundry facilities, central air. $405/ month. Jan.- Aug. 776-6313.

ONE-BEDROOMS AVAIL-ABLE at 1026 Sunset. $385- $395. Remodeled units. Central air/ heat. Laundry facilities. Three blocks west of campus

CAMBRIDGE SQ. APT. 2 BEDROOMS *FIREPLACE *POOL 537-9064 WEEKDAYS

9:00-4:30

Rooms Available

MALE ROOMMATE want ed $150 month, one-half utilities, own room in trailer, call 539-8449

NEED A place to live? Fam-ily has room for female to live in. Board and food, exchanged for du-ties. References to Box 6 c/o Collegian.

For Rent-Houses

120

NON-DRINKER AND smoker, for two-bed-room place. No pets. References. 539-1554.

TWO-BEDROOM, TWO car garage 5112 Murray. Near airport $500/ month. Two-bedroom duplex, 515 S. Manhattan $425/ month 539-7181 leave mes-

Wanted

AVAILABLE IMMEDIATE LY: Two large bed-rooms in nice, spacious four-bedroom house Cheap rent plus utili-ties. Lots of extras 587-9131: Sarah AVAILABLE NOW. Large bedrooms in a spacious four-bedroom house with two bathrooms study room, laundry room, lots of extras. Low rent plus onefourth utilities. 587-9131 or work 776-9759 Heather.

AVAILABLE SECOND se mester. Own large, nice bedroom in furnished three-bedroom house with fireplace, washer/ dryer. Rent $190 one-fifth utilities. Call AVAILABLE SECOND se mester. Own large, nice, bedroom in furnished three-bedroom house with fireplace, washer/ dryer. Rent $190, one-fifth utilities.

FEMALE ROOMMATE be ginning in January; three-bedroom house; $200/ month plus one third utilities. Close campus. 776-1890.

FEMALE ROOMMATE for spring semester. Non-smoker; three-bed-rooms; walk to campus; $215/ month; one-third 9p.m.

FEMALE ROOMMATE needed immediately to share two-bedroom apartment, rent $210/ month, washer, dryer, close to campus. 537-

FEMALE ROOMMATE needed now or next se-mester. Five- minute walk to campus. One-third of bills. Call 776-6184.

FEMALE ROOMMATE MALE ROOMMATE needed to occupy three-bedroom apartment at Woodway. $208/ month plus one-third utilities and water. Call Susan, 587–8270.

ROOMMATE FEMALE needed immediately to share three-bedroom duplex. Close to cam-pus, washer/ dryer, own room, one-third utilities, $208/ month. 537-8967.

RENT ONE of three-bed two females. One-half block from campus. Rent $210, laundry facilities available. 776–1360. WANTED FOR spring se mester, one non-smok-ing male to sublease room. Call 537-3555 for

WANTED NON-SMOKING and non-drinking room-mate for basement furnished private bed-room. Walk to KSU. $150. Share utilities. WANTED: FEMALE to share three-bedroom apartment with one and one-half bath. $220 a month, one-third utili-ties. Available Jan. 1. Call Marsha or Amy 776-0293.

Sublease

FEMALE/ NON-SMOKER to sublease. Will live with three other girls. One-fourth of utilities and $162/ month rent. One-half of December free. Call 539-3387

FOR SPRING semester-available end of Dec. One-bedroom apartment, two blocks from campus. Call 537-4768.

JAN, 1 one-bedroom fur nished apartment. $250 a month, three blocks from Last Chancel 539-5571.

NICE, CLEAN, two-bed-room apartment, two blocks from campus and close to aggieville. Call 776-1324. ONE ROOM for rent in large, beautiful, seven-bedroom home; $150/

month plus one-sev enth utilities; kitchen and laundry available four blocks from cam pus; January 1 to May 31 sublease available; 537-2497— ask for Russ or leave message.

SERVICE DIRECTORY

205

Tutor

PHYSICS/ COMPUTER tu-tor. Five years GTA ex-perience. Reasonable sage: 776-9317. Ask for Kip.

Resume/ Typing

NEED SOMETHING typed? I'll type it for $1/ per page. Call 537-9480 page. Call 537-3400 after 5:30p.m. Ask for

Pregnancy Testing

Pregnancy Testing Center 539-3338

· Free pregnancy Totally confidential

·Same day results *Call for appointment

Located across from Anderson Village Mon.-Fri.

9 a.m.-5 p.m. 240

Musicians/DJs

DRUMMER AND singer needed for a heavy al-ternative, funkoblues band. Call 539-3926,

250 Automotive Repair

NISSAN- DATSUN Repair SAN- DATSUN Repair Service. 22 years ex-perience. Mazdas, Hon-das and Toyotas also. Auto Craft, 2612 Dipper Lane, Manhattan, Kan-sas. 537-5049. 8a.m.-5p.m. Mon.- Fri. 255 Other Services

SS FOR COLLEGE corpo rate scholarships and grants. No GPA or in-come requirements. No paycheck. Money back guarantee. Call (800)645-3525 for infor-

CHANGE YOUR grades with Study Consultant. Free information $2 postage. Venus Co., P.O. Box 1351, Manhat-tan, KS 66502.

PROMPT CONTRACEPTIVE and abortion services. Dale L. Clinton, M.D., Lawrence, (913)841-5716.

EMPLOYMENT/ CAREERS

310

Help Wanted

PROGRAMMERS.
SITEL Corporation, a leader in the telemarketing industry, is looking for experienced "C" programmers for its Inbound Services Group based in Omaha, Nebraska. A strong working knowledge of at least one Relational DMBS and two to three years programming exyears programming ex-perience in "C" are re-quired. Working experi-ence with Tandem Non-Stop SQL and Pathway, telemarketing industry telemarketing industry knowledge/ experience, and a strong telecommunications background will be a significant advantage. A college degree in computer science and formal training and/ or practical experience software cal experience sof Call for engineering methods are strongly preferred. Title and pay will be Appointment commensurate vears of expe years of experience and education. SITEL offers a competitive pay and benefits package includ-ing a 401(k) Savings holiday pay; medical and dental benefits; and life insurance. To schedule an initial tele phone interview, please fax or mail your re-sume along with a day-time phone number to: SITEL Corporation, Attention: J. Snook, 7720 Crown Point Avenue, P.O. Box 34860, Omaha, NE 68134-0860, FAX: $1500 WEEKLY possible mailing our circulars!

No experience required! Begin Now! For information call

(202)298-8957. ALASKA EMPLOYMENT-Fishing Industry. Earn up to $3000-$6000 plus per month. Room and Board! Transportation! Male/ female. No experience necessary! (206)545-4155 ext.

ARE YOU an organizer? Like to get people to-gether? Make $$$, gain excellent business exexcellent business ex-perience and earn free travel by marketing our Spring Break packages. Call Blue Iguana Tours 1–800–868–7423. ATTENTION- COLLEGE

Pro is now interviewing for Franchise Managers for reachise Managers for next summer in KC, Wichita, and Topeka. All positions must be filled by February. Run your own business. Build your resume and earn Internship credit while making good money to continue money to continue your education. I did it and made $10,000. For more information call Todd at 587-8255.

ATTENTION GROUPS and individuals! Raise up to $10,000 or more. Win $1000, free car or free Hawaii trip! No Invest-ment. 24-hour recorded message. (609)427-0777 Ext. 1562.

ATTENTION STUDENTS: Earn extra cash stuffing envelopes at home. All materials provided. Send SASE to Central Distributors P.O. Box 10075, Olathe, KS 66051. Immediate re-

BARTENDER OPENINGS for private parties. Must be 21; have some experience. Apply 2321 Skyvue Ln. COMPUTER NETWORK ADMINISTRATOR: part-time student position, mostly regular sched-uled hours with some emergency trou-bleshooting hours. Re-sponsible for oversee-ing 55-computer Macin-tosh network, including software backups, and records maintenance. Should be familiar with Should be familiar with Macintosh operating systems 6 and 7. Client server networking for an ethernet network. TCP/IP experience a plus. Salary negotiable based on experience. Pick un an applications Pick up an applications in 113 or 103 Kedzie Application deadline is noon on Tuesday, Nov. 22.

I drive a Jaguar, earned $4,000 in my second month and am helping professionals cross the country do the same." Interviewing for dynamic, enthusiastic, money motivated individuals to represent a progressive Marketing and Training Company, creating a global change. Serious Inquiries Only.

(913)776-7975. CRUISE SHIPS NOW HIRING. Earn up to $2000 plus/ month working on Cruise $1000 plus/ month working $10000 plus/ month working $1000 plus/ month working $10000 plu For more information call (206)634-0468 ext

MACINTOSH TROU-BLESHOOTER: part-time student position, ble emergency hours Assists in overseeing 55-computer Macintos 55-computer Macintosh network, including hardware and software troubleshooting and general maintenance. Should be familiar with Macintosh operating systems 6 and 7. Mini-mum wage to start. Pick up an application at 113 or 103 Kedzie noon on Tues., Nov. 22. SALES REPRESENTA-TIVE- Fast growing tel-ecommunication firm is looking for qualified highly motivated indi viduals to serve as inde pendent representative Set own hours, excel lent pay from bonuses and commission. For more information call Matthew 776-8898. Loid

SKI RESORT Jobs- Hir ing for many positions for winter quarter. Over 15,000 open-ings! For more infor-mation call: (206)634-0469 ext. V57681.

SUMMER JOBS OUT-DOORS Over 10,000 openings! National Parks, Forests, Fire Crews. Send stamp for free details. Sullivan's

113 East Wyoming, Kalispell, MT 59901. SYSTEM ANALYST. SITEL

FAX

532-7309

Corporation, a leader in the telemarketing in-dustry, is looking for a Systems Analyst or Senior Systems Ana-lyst for our Inbound Services Group based in Omaha, Nebraska. A strong working knowledge of at least one Re lational DBMS and a minimum of five years experience as a Pro-grammer Analyst, with an additional one to two years of project leader or group leader experience are re-quired. Applicants with previous work experience as a Systems Ana lyst will be given spe-cial consideration. A working knowledge of at least two operating systems and at least programming languag-es (with either COBOL es (with either COBOL or C as one) will be ex-pected. Working experi-ence with Tandem Non-Stop SOL and Pathway and telemarketing in-dustry knowledge! ex-perience will be a signif-icant advantage. A BS or Masters degree in computer science (or computer science (or 15 plus years industry experience) and practi-cal experience applying software engineering methods will be import-ant factors in the eval-uation process. Title and pay will be commensurate with experi-ence and education. SITEL offers a competi-tive pay and benefits package, including 401(k) Savings Plan; va-cation, sick and holiday pay; medical and dental benefits; and basic life insurance. To schedule an initial phone inter-view, please fax or mail your resume along with your resume along with a daytime phone number to: SITEL Cor-poration, Attention: J. Snook, 7720 Crown Point Avenue, P.O. Box 34860, Omaha, NE 68134-0860. FAX: (402)571-8613. EOE.

VARNEY'S BOOK STORE is now taking applications for tempo-rary part-time full-time positions in the textbook department to assist with textbook buyment dates are No through Dec. 18. Day time, evening, and wee kend hours are avail able. $4.30 per hour. In volves helping custom ers, moderate lifting and cleaning/ pricing books. All positions require diligence and a pleasant, service- ori ented attitude. Colleg preferred. Apply in pe son downstairs at Var ney's Book Store, 623 N. Manhattan Ave., Manhattan, KS. Deadline for application is Sunday, Nov. 13, 1994. WANTED DELIVERY and kitchen helper. Must have own car. Apply in person 116 Moro. nam Express WANTED!!! INDIVIDUALS student organization: and small groups to promote Spring Break '95. Earn substantial money and free trips. Call the nation's leader, inter-campus programs 1-800-327-6013.

Business Opportunities

The Collegian cannot verify the financial po-tential of advertise-ments in the Employment/Career classific tion. Readers are ad-vised to approach any such business opporsuch business oppor-tunity with reasonable caution. The Collegian urges our readers to contact the Better Busi-ness Bureau, 501 SE Jefferson, Topeka, KS 66607-1190. (913)232-0454.

PROFESSIONAL. I need the help of a local dis-tributor who wants to earn up to $500 a day from the comfort of your own home. Mini-mal investment required. For more inf mation call 537-0837.

8 a.m.-5 p.m. (Except holidays

COLLEGIAN CLASSIFIEDS

MARKET

Wanted to Buy

WHITE WICKER furniture wanted. Don't store it for the winter. Let's deal! Call 537-4667

Items for Sale

ICE COLD BEER and large selection of spirits at Polson Liquor. Convenient westside location across from Alco at 3106 Anderson.

MOUNTAIN BIKE. Schwinn Hurricane, 16-inch. Toe clips. Good condition. Also, stairclimber for sale. Call 539-9485. Leave message. TWO SMALL deep freezes for sale, 5.1 cubic foot chest for $100, 12.0 cubic foot upright for $150. Great to store meat from home! Call 537-5667 after 5p.m.

Furniture to

Buy/Sell

FOR SALE: ten piece mod ular sofa $50. 776-4401.

Antiques TIME MACHINE Antique Maul and Geeb Empori-um, 6000 square feet, antiques, collectibles, estate jewelry, furni-ture, 4910 Skyway Dr. four blocks east of Manhattan Airport. Open Tues.- Sat. 12- 6p.m. 539-4684.

Computers 486 4MB RAM, 340 MB HD, CR Rom, SVGA monitor, 14.4 bps modem, lots of software. 539-5600.

486SX PACKARD Bell com-puter with Epson 24-pin printer. One and one-half years old. 2 MB RAM, 85 MB hard drive, 1024x768 extended VGA, 1.44 MB flop-py, DOS 5.0 Window software, WP 5.1, automap, games and screen filter. $800 negotiable. 587-0504.

COMPUADD 386SX16, 3.5 and 5.25 floppy, 85 MB hard, 4 MB Ram, 2400 bds modem, two joy-sticks, SVGA monitor, MS DOS 6.0, $700, call Mo 776-4110.

LAPTOP 386, 4MB RAM, 40 MB hard drive. Needs battery, $400. Call Mike 395-4806.

Meg HD, 3.5, 5.25 FD's, DOS 5.0, new monitor,

MACINTOSH COMPUT-

Chris (800)289-5685.

ER. Complete sys-tem including printer only $500. Call

455 Sporting Equipment

MIZUNO MSX 1-3-5W Wilson Staff 3-PW Titleist DCI SW all excellent condition. Sun Mountain stand bag good condition. $600 1-395-5230. PORTATION

PARKING

SOUTH OF THE

OFFICE HOURS

MONDAY-FRIDAY

Automobiles

1950 CJ3A, Chevy 350, four speed, overdrive, Kayline top, much more, not show but very good, $5400. (316)835-2169 or (913)537-2456.

1981 FORD LTD small V8 engine, runs good, body straight, good transportation. $400 cash 776-8590 or 485-2547 leave message.

1983 MUSTANG GT, 302, 110K miles, black, five-speed, dependable, $1400. 539-3683. 1984 FORD Escort, good transportation. $1000 or best offer. Call Mike at 539-3530 after 6p.m.

ACCORD- HONDA, 1982, four-door, five-speed, air conditioned, AM/ FM cassette, 90K, $2000.537-8967. FOR SALE: 1985 Ford Tem-po. Runs great! $950 or best offer. Must sell! Call 587-8817, ask for

Tour Package SIX DAYS/ five nights vacation cruise to Baha-mas. Plus three days/ two nights in Orlando. For two adults only

Airplane Tickets

ORODY DOES SKI BREAKS BETTER

DUE TO Cancellation limit-ed Las Vegas Thanksgiving weekend air/ MGM Grand/ Wednes-day- Sunday from KCI starting at $364, tickets available. Call Ann Chilen, Flagship Travel (800)659-2303 or home (913)681-5251.

> Not enough time on your hands to get everything done? Check the Classifieds

> > COLLEGIAN

service directory

To help you find what you are

WE DO NOT

TIPS FOR WRITING A CLASSIFIED AD Always put what item or service you are advertising first. This helps potential buyers find what they are looking for. Don't use abbreviations. Many buyers are confused by abbreviations. Consider including the price. This tells buyers if they are looking at something in their price range.

CATEGORIES

looking for, the classified ads have been arranged by category and sub-category. All categories are marked by one of the large images, and sub-categories are preceded by a number designation.

USE PHONE NUMBERS OR LAST NAMES IN PERSONALS.

Cheating investigation rounds up 87 suspects

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

took advantage of the early test were not people you would generally suspect of taking an early exam key," Post said.

Post said the students were expected to bring only a pencil and a student ID and were not allowed to leave with the exam sheet.

Post said after she suspected cheating was going on because of the discrepancy in students' exam scores, she switched around the order of answers on the exam.

"I didn't scramble the order of the questions, because it would not produce the exam that they were expecting. The order of the objectives needs to be the same as the order of questions," Post said.

The students who answered zero to three questions correct on the exam were notified by the University, but no action was taken against the students who got four or more answers correct.

Post said the computer picked up the ID numbers of the students who answered the same questions incorrectly.

Larry Williams, who coordinated the Principles of Biology course, said the cheating had started in the early weeks of the semester and the involvement grew.

Williams said when he coordinated the course, he didn't notice the cheating on the same scale as what went on this semester.

"I'm certainly not saying that it couldn't have happened, but I didn't detect it while I was teaching the course. There couldn't have been large numbers because I would have seen it in the grade distribution at the end," Williams

Williams said that the course has been taught the same way for 25 years, but protective measures have been taken to prevent the possibility of cheating on the module exams.

We had to get two proctors instead of one 10 years ago because we saw enough things that were going on.

"Five years ago, we had to have ID checks on exams, and we didn't used to have to do that," Williams

Williams said that when he was in graduate school, the students were on the honor system.

"When you come from a system like that and are expected later to plug every loophole, it shows that times are changing at KSU," Williams said. Williams said that he believes only a small percentage of hardcore cheaters and 10 to 20 percent of occasional cheaters exist, and the rest are honest.

"I still believe that the majority of students are honest, and an increasing minority nevertheless are putting everyone else in a bad light," Williams said.

Post said any students who cheat on an exam show that their moral and ethical values aren't what they should be.

"There is an escalating war between the faculty and the students as far as protecting exams. An exam is not some medieval form of torture but a way to assess learning. It doesn't matter what the student's rationale is - cheating is wrong,"

KSU Student Ambassador Elections

November 2-4

Don't miss your chance to vote for the 1994-95 K-State Student Ambassadors.

Elections will be Wednesday to Friday,

Nov. 2-4, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. in the K-State Union.

Bring your student I.D.

Game provides stress outlet

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

The target pops up, and you shoot at it. If you're too slow, you have to keep running back to the recharger," he said.

Philip Orr, sophomore in finance, also thought position had a lot to do with success.

"It's a game of wits," Orr said. "If you know where to be, you win. We'd find a spot, and no one could touch us."

Jason Brown, junior in geography, said playing more than once gave his team time to plan.

"We won three out of four times," he said. "We tried to develop a strategy of hiding in certain places and would shoot people when they poked their heads up. We tried to develop a better strategy after every game.'

The laser tag was compared to paint ball by several of the players.

"It's like paint ball but not as many trees," Alex Lane, junior in civil engineering, said. "It's a good way to get out aggression - yell and cuss and stuff. It's a good way to kill your best friends without hurting them."

The teams shot at their opponents through obstacles, like barrels and graffiti-covered walls.

Whenever players were hit, they heard an explosion in their headsets and had to go recharge their phasers. This would add a point to the scoreboard for the team who made the hit.

"It's hard to see because of all the barricades," said Christy Drake, special events chairwoman and sophomore in geology. "The people who do the best are the people who get out there first and get behind the barrels," she said.

Patrick Carney, Issues and Ideas Committee chairman and senior in political science, said it was slow starting out, probably due to classes, but that the number of teams coming in picked up as the day progressed.

"This is a first-time event," Carney said. "I don't think a lot of people knew what to expect. If we have it next year, I think it will be even better. People will remember how much fun they had."

Drake said UPC wanted to provide a new type of entertainment for students, and that Laser Quest filled that description.

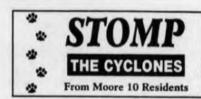

"It's something new and different that hadn't been at the K-State campus before," she said. "Most of the time, you don't have the opportunity to play these kinds how your Purple Pride by placing a personalized Cat Tracker ad in the Collegian cheering on the Wildcats as they take on the Iowa State Cyclones this Homecoming Weekend.

This is your chance to give the Cats a personal message.

Here's how it works: you tell us what you want to say, and we'll plug it into one of the three designs above which YOU choose. The ads will run together in the special Cat Tracker section of the Collegian on Friday, Nov. 4, the day before the Cats play Iowa State at KSU Stadium.

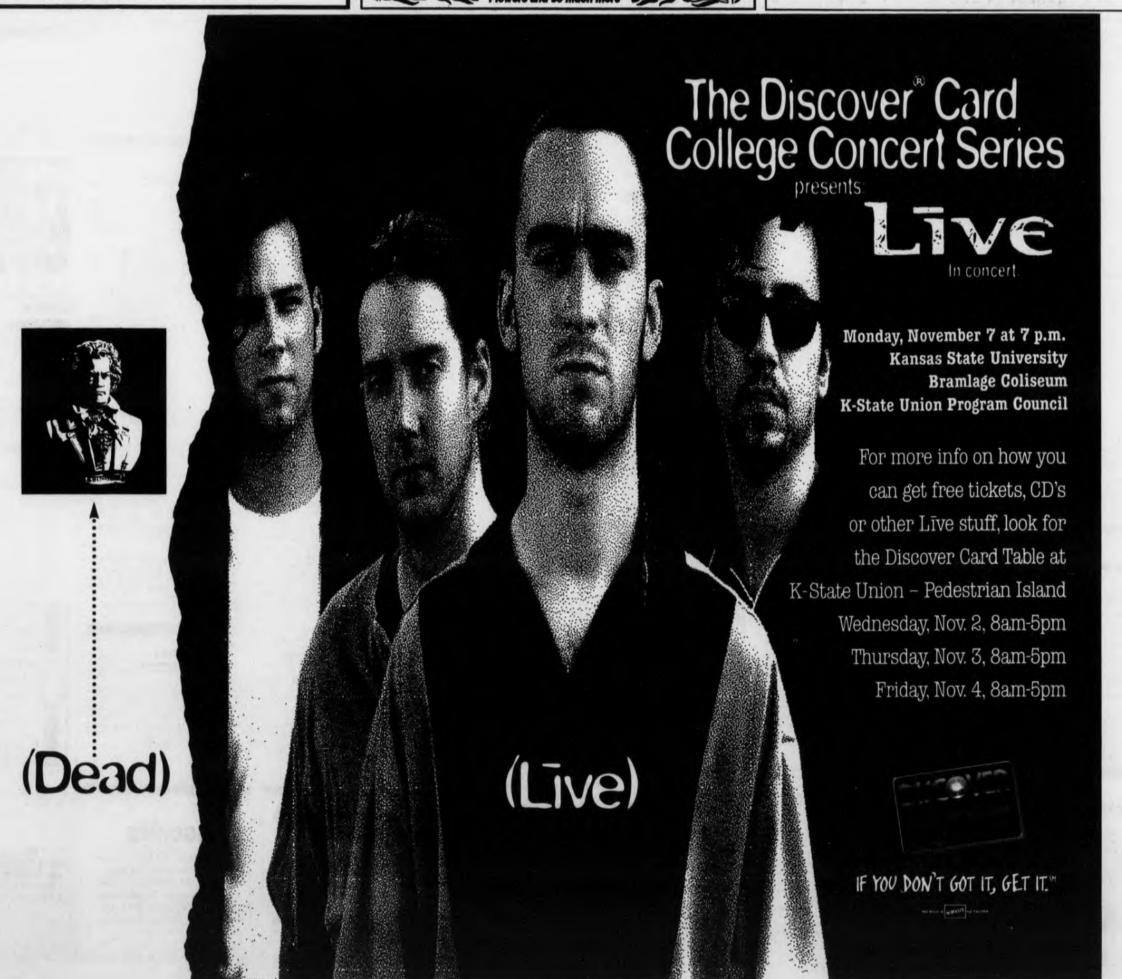

The ads can be from you, your family, your business, your living group, your friends or any other combination.

It only costs $5, so come on in to 103 Kedzie Hall to reserve your ad today.

DEADLINE: 4 p.m. Wed., Nov. 2

STANDINGS Missouri Okla. St

BIG 8 FOOTBALL

REVIEW FOR NOV. 5

Kansas at Nebraska

When: 1 p.m. Saturday, Nov. 5 Where: Memorial Stadium (73,650) About the Jayhawks: KU's offense continued to play well, as tailback L.T. Levine rushed for more than 100 yards, and he had two touchdowns. The Jayhawks allowed OSU to stay close for most of the game, but they finally delivered the knockout punch with a balanced attack.

About the Cornhuskers: Nebraska continues to roll. Last week, NU whipped the Buffaloes at home. Quarterback Brook Berringer ran the option all over the Colorado defense. I-back Lawrence Phillips just missed getting his eighth straight 100-yard rushing game. The Huskers' defense was the star of the game.

Okla. State at Colorado

When: 1 p.m. Saturday, Nov. 5 Where: Folsom Field (51,748)

About the Cowboys: Oklahoma State was dropped again by KU last week. The OSU offense hasn't gotten on track the past two weeks, and its defense was run all over, too. Tailback David Thompson is OSU's top rushing threat, and quarterback Toné Jones continues to develop.

About the Buffaloes: Last week was a nightmare for Colorado. Nothing worked on offense, and the defense couldn't stop the Huskers when it counted. However, tailback Rashaan Salaam continued to roll, with more than 100 yards against one of the best defenses in the country. Look for CU to rebound this week.

Missouri at Oklahoma

When: I p.m. Saturday, Nov. 5 Where: Memorial Stadium (75,004) About the Tigers: Missouri continues to play well on the road. Last week, the Tigers won their second road game of the season with a victory over Iowa State. Quarterback Jeff Handy is Missouri's leader on the field, as he sets the tone for the rest of the team with his performance. About the Sooners: The sign flying over Memorial Stadium last week says it all. OU fans want coach Garry Gibbs out of Norman. The Sooners' loss to K-State last week marked the second straight year that they have lost to the Wildcats. Defensive tackle, Cedric Jones is the Sooners' only reliable player so far this season.

BIG 8 PLAYERS OF THE WEEK

OFFENSE: Nebraska quarterback 3rook Berringer led the Huskers to a 24-7 victory. DEFENSE: K-State cornerback Chris Canty returned a two-point conversion for 98 yards, and he had 11 tackles in the Cats' victory.

Dodging an OU defender, K-State running back J.J. Smith breaks free for a big gain in the Cats' victory.

MARK LEFFINGWELL Collegian

Make it 2 in a row against OU

Laying out for the ball, Eric Hickson blocks a punt in last Saturday's game. The K-State special-teams unit blocked two punts in the game.

Oklahoma

Cats grab win in Norman, send Sooners to .500 record

NICOLE POELL

NORMAN, Okla. -Sometimes, it's frustrating to play defense for K-State.

This was the case on Saturday afternoon when the Wildcats defeated the Oklahoma Sooners in

With the Sooner defense holding Chad May and the rest of the Cats' offense to negative 2 yards rushing and just 47 yards passing throughout the first half of the game, it was the K-State defense that had to step it

Step up it did, forcing four turnovers and holding the Sooners to a mere field goal in the first half.

The Cat defense also accounted for K-State's only touchdown in the half, Chuck coming off Marlowe's third blocked punt of the year. It was then junior Gordon Brown who scooped up the ball and ran for the 16-yard touchdown.

K-State defensive end Dirk Ochs said it can be frustrating when the Cats' offense keeps stalling while he and his fellow defenders stopping opponents. "Sure, you get kind of angry, but that makes you get all fired up to just go back out there and try and get the ball back for them, he said.

So how did Ochs and the rest of the K-State defense hold off the stubborn Sooners?

"It's our job," Ochs said. You've just got to go out there and do what you're supposed to do.'

Coach Bill Snyder gave his defense credit for keeping his team alive in the first half.

"Everytime I looked up in the first half, we had our back to the wall," he said.

"Our defense kept us in the game. OU had great field position in the first half, and we were fortunate they did not score more than three points."

The Cats were also fortunate that Oklahoma made so many mistakes in the first half.

Some of these included: Five turnovers and one blocked punt that led to a K-

State touchdown. Two blocked punts, with one good for another

K-State touchdown. An extra-point pass was intercepted, leading to a 2-point K-State defensive conversion. A missed field goal, a failed fourth-down attempt and five penalties. After that performance, the Sooners now have 27 turnovers and 61 penalties through eight games. Last year, OU had 16 turnovers and 68 penalties in 11 regular-season games.

■ See SOONERS Page 4

▶ BIG TWELVE CONFERENCE

Future of hoop schedules still unclear

JEREMY CRABTREE

KANSAS CITY, Mo. - If you think that fans in the Midwest are the only ones confused with the possible Big Twelve basketball schedule, don't worry, conference coaches are also having a problem trying to figure out what's going

Beginning in the 1996-97 season, Baylor University, University of Texas, Texas Tech and Texas A&M will join the Big Eight Conference schools to form the Big Twelve Conference in all sports.

The football schedule has already been tentatively set, with the league dividing into two divisions.

consist of the four Texas schools, along with Oklahoma State and

The other six members of the league would form the North

With that format, each division would have a champion, and every team wouldn't play each other every season. It could also be the end to traditional rivalries, such as Nebraska-Oklahoma.

The speculation around the league now is that the same type of division could be in store for basketball.

However, this isn't what the current Big Eight coaches want, and they made this known at the Big Eight's Preseason Media Day last

"I'm totally against playing the The South division would North and South setup," Nebraska coach Danny Nee said.

"I think they have to be absorbed into the league, and there has to be a balance of play.

"It would be better for the league. It could get deluded if we have two divisions." he said "Why are they coming into the league if they want a North-South?"

Oklahoma State coach Eddie Sutton agreed with Nee observation of the scheduling.

"I don't know who came up with this North-South schedule," Sutton said. "We would miss some homehome matchups.

Then, Missouri coach Norm Stewart, who is beginning his 28th season with the Tigers, said it would be better for the fans if the league didn't divide into two divisions.

"I think if you split, automatically in a competitive situation, you're going to compare: North's better, South's better," Stewart said.

"I think that we can do better competing for just one title and keep the natural rivalries that we have.'

Another scheduling possibility for the Big Twelve will divide into four quadrants of three teams each.

Sutton said he doesn't like this idea any more than the North-South divisions.

"If they do the way I understand it - the four quadrants - you would be playing all those teams home-and-home at least every third year," Sutton said.

"You would have 12 teams play for the championship."

"I think that we can do better competing for just one title and keep the natural rivalries that we have."

NORM STEWART Missouri basketball coach

Proud Sponsor of the Collegian Game Coverage

Domino's Pizza

KSU vs. Iowa State November 5, 1994

Leaning against the base of the goal, K-State basketball coach Tom Asbury watches the Wildcats during their first practice at Midnight Madness in Bramlage Coliseum on Oct. 15. SHANE KEYSER Collegian

The men's basketball coach is making K-State his own

NICOLE POELL

t's as natural as breathing, eating and sleeping for K-State basketball coach Tom Asbury.

"It" is competing, and to Asbury, it's a way of life.

"I need to stay in a competitive arena - I need to do something where you have to keep score," he said. "So I had to stay in sports in some capacity because of the competitive nature I have.' It's this nature that launched Asbury into a coaching career after his playing days were finished.

When I was finished playing, the next best thing to do was to go into coaching, because I knew that way, I'd always be competing," he said.

So far, Asbury's years of competing at the coaching level have been successful.

In his six seasons at Pepperdine, Asbury led the Waves to a 125-59 overall record and a 66-18 mark in regular-season play.

During his tenure, Pepperdine also qualified for three NCAA Tournaments, two NIT tournaments, three West Coast Conference titles and three conference-tournament championships.

But it's not just the records or the tournaments or the championships that make coaching special to

"I've had kind of a charmed existence to this point," he said. "I've worked with a lot of great kids."

'Sure, coaching is demanding, it's time-consuming, it's pressurized. But I've coached at the high-school level, I've done assistant coaching, and I've been a head coach at the Division I level. I've just enjoyed it wherever I've been."

Last year, however, following the loss of his daughter and father, Asbury said it became difficult to concentrate on basketball.

"It was hard," he said. "You have to reshape and refocus constantly.

"My daughter was sick, and my dad, too. But there's a big difference between the loss of a parent who's 86 and a daughter who's 22 there's a gigantic difference. But you have to force yourself to concentrate and go on, because you don't have a lot of alternatives. I suppose you could quit, but then what do you

"I had to pick myself up and go on. I knew that's what she would want. It's difficult, but you do it."

Accepting the K-State coaching position was one way for Asbury to move on. While he said it was hard to leave his daughter, Megan, who is a sophomore at Pepperdine, he was ready for a change.

"My daughter's in Malibu that's the main reason I miss it," he said. "But I knew full well that it was time for a change. Part of you will always miss wherever you've been before, but I knew I just needed to make a change.'

While coaching in the Big Eight Conference and rebuilding the Wildcat basketball program provides the change Asbury was looking for, tremendous pressure also goes with his job. Asbury understands this.

"I don't know that the pressure from the external community is any greater than what I put on myself," Asbury said.

$4.59

$3.69 $4.39

$4.39

$4.39

"I think that coaches by nature know that it's a pressure-filled business. Even though external criticism isn't nice - it's not fun, it's distasteful - it goes with the

"But I don't think what happens to a coach in terms of the public's view changes how we do our day-today job and operations. We know we have a huge challenge ahead of us, and we know it's not going to be easy."

While Asbury said he knows his initial year at the Cats' helm will be a time for patience and learning, he is expecting to see the fruits of his labor in the next few years.

"We want to be at the very top of the Big Eight in the upcoming years," he said. "And basically, the reason I came here is because we had the resources and the wherewithal to do it here.

"And we can do it here. I wouldn't have taken this job if I didn't believe that."

don't know that the pressure from the external community is any greater than what I put on myself.

> TOM ASBURY K-State men's

1 6 7 1 20 00 00 00 00 SUBWAY POSTERS TAPESTRIES INCENSE BEADS T-SHIRTS-TIE DYES

MERCHANDISE

CREATE YOUR OWN JEWELRY GUAT. CLOTHING BAJAS GRATEFUL DEAD

TELY DESCRIPTION JAMAICAN STYLES SOPHISTO FUCT PERVERT SKUNK

KILLER LOOPS SKATEBOARD ACCESSORIES

ON THE WILD SIDE 1128 MORO 776-BAJA MON.-FRI.11-7, THURS. 11-8 SAT. 10-6, SUN. NOON-5

K-State Homecoming

Schedule

Wednesday, Nov. 2

K-State Union

- Ambassador Elections, 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. (Please bring fee card or student I.D.)
- Homecoming Pep Rally, Noon to 1 p.m. Spirit Banners Hung, 8 to 9 a.m.

Thursday, Nov. 3, K-State Day

K-State Union

- Ambassador Elections, 9 a.m. to (Please bring fee card or student I.D.) Ahearn Field House
- Body Building Competition Preliminaries, 6:30 to 8 p.m. Announcement of Spirit Banner

Winner, 8 p.m. Friday, Nov. 4, K-State Day

K-State Union

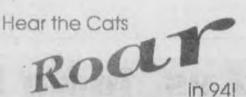

- Ambassador Elections, 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. (Please bring fee card or student 1.D.
- Float Judging, 3 to 6 p.m.
- Ahearn Field House
- Body Building Finals, 7:30 p.m.

Memorial Stadium

- Bonfire Pep Rally, 9:30 p.m.
- Pant the Chant Contest
- Announcement of Winners of Body Building

Saturday, Nov. 5, Homecoming Day Aggieville and Downtown

- Parade, 9 a.m.
- -State Union first floor
- · Campus tours, 10 a.m.
- KSU Stadium K-State vs. Iowa State Football game, 1:10
- Presentation of Ambassadors and announcement of overall winners, Halftime
- Bramlage Coliseum
- Neak Frasty Stompdown '94
- cCain Auditorium
- K-State Singers/Men's Glee Club/Women's Glee Club Performance, 8 p.m.

Applications for 1995 Homecoming chairman and publicity chairman are available until Nov. 15 at the Alumni Association office. Call 532-6269 for more information.

Dilly's Deli

1219 Bluemont — Aggieville

We Serve Large Groups - Dine-In or Carry Out

DILLY'S DELIGHTS

DILLY BIRD TURKEY, AVOCADO, CREAM CHEESE HONEY DO $3.89 $4.59 TURKEY, TOMATO, CHEDDAR CHEESE

Served on Cracked Wheat Bread with alfalfa sprouts and honey mustard $3.89 DOOZY BAKED CHICKEN BREAST, TOMATO, PROVOLONE DILLY'S DILLY $3.89 $4.59

CHICKEN BREAST, AVOCADO, BACON $3.89 $4.59 98% FAT FREE ROAST BEEF, CHEDDAR, RED ONIONS

DILLY CLUB $3.89 98% FAT FREE HAM, TURKEY, BACON, SWISS CHEESE TUNA SALAD $3.89 $4.59 DOLPHIN SAFE TUNA SALAD, PROVOLONE, TOMATO

Served on Cracked Wheat Bread THE REUBEN 98% FAT FREE CORNED BEEF, SWISS CHEESE

HAM & SWISS with lettuce and mayo

BEEF & CHEDDAR with letuce and mayo

VEGGIE SUPREME *NEW AND IMPROVED!*

CREAM CHEESE, SWISS, TOMATO with cucumber, sprouts, lettuce, green pepper NORMAL STUFF

TURKEY & TOMATO with lettuce and mayo $3.69 B-L-T with bacon, lettuce, tomato, swiss and mayo $3.69

ALL SANDWICHES ARE GRILLED AND SERVED ON DILLY'S HOMEMADE BREAD OTHER THINGS GIANT KOSHER DILL Whole $0.59 Half $0.39

> 0.25 each (0.15 for a 1/2 Sandwich) Cheese - Bacon - Avocado - Tomato Bana Peppers - Black Olives

1/2 pound

537-5113

DILLY'S SOUP WHOLE W/SIDE All Dilly's Soups are served in a delicious

HOMEMADE BREAD BOWL CUP $2.39 BOWL $3.49 CREAM OF POTATO - CREAM OF BROCCOLLI WISCONSIN CHEESE - CLAM CHOWDER

DILLY'S CHILI - CREAM OF CHICKEN NOODLE DILLY'S SALAD All Dilly Salads are served with a slice of Dilly's Toasted Bread

POTATO SALAD PASTA SALAD Small $2.50 Large $4.25 ITALIAN PASTA POTATO CHIPS GREEK SALAD

DILLY'S SIDES

$4.19

$5.19

$4.19

$4.19

$4.19

$0.94

$0.94 $0.75

$1.60

$0.89

$0.69

$1.60

CHEF SALAD GARDEN TOSSED $1.50 DAILY SPECIALS (Available Anytime)

1/2 Sandwich and a Cup of Soup 1/2 Sandwich and a Bowl of Soup 1/2 Sandwich and a Small Salad Cup of Soup and a Small Salad 1/2 Sandwich, Choice of Chips, and K-State Shake

BEVERAGES Pepsi, Diet Pepsi, Slice,

Mountain Dew, Lemonade Fresh Brewed Iced Tea Coffee (reg. or decaf) Free Beverage Refills Bottle Drinks

$1.50 Small $0.75 Large $1.12 DESSERTS $1.29 Cinnamon Roll Chips $1.60

Cheesecake Strawberry, Cherry, Chocolate or Plain Chocolate Torte Cake Bread Pudding Cookies

Carrot Cake K-STATE ICE CREAM! 8 Different Flavors

$1.00 $1.89 $1.89 Dish or Cone Shake or Malt

LUNCH, DINNER & BREAKFAST HOURS: Mon.-Thurs. 7:30 a.m.-9 p.m., Fri.-Sat. 7:30 a.m.-10 p.m., Sun. 10:30 a.m.-9 p.m.

Dilly's Deli Specials · Dilly's Deli Specials

2 Half Sandwiches

CROUTONS

2 Cups of Soup 2 Drinks

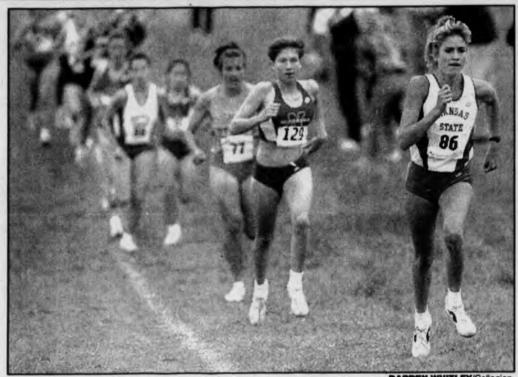

Limit one per customer - Not good with any other offer. Expires 11-11-94

One Whole Sandwich

Daily Special

Limit one per customer - Not good with any other offer.

Expires 11-11-94

DARREN WHITLEY/Collegia

Busting through the pack Jeanene Rugan races to catch up with her teammate Irma Betancourt, at the Big Eight Championships. Rugan eventually finished right behind Betancourt, as the two came in at 16th and 17th place.

Cross country gets 3rd place with team's effort

CRESTON KUENZ

Collegian

With an inexperienced K-State men's cross country team, the spotlight fell on the women's team at the Big Eight Championships meet Saturday at Warner Park.

A team effort and improved pack running helped the women to a third-place finish.

"I was really happy. The only thing was that I get someone in

TERRY DRAKE

cross country

K-State

was hoping to the top 10."

Coach Terry
Drake said the performance of his fourth and fifth runners determined their high finish.

"The fourth and fifth girls ran great," he said. "That's what got us into third."

Colorado dominated the course, placing six of its seven runners in the top 10 and setting a new Big Eight record for the least amount of points scored with 29.

Nebraska claimed second with 65 points, followed by K-State with 103.

Drake said Missouri was close to beating them with 112 points.

"Missouri could have got us if it wasn't for our middle girls running so well," Drake said.

Although pleased with the overall performance, Drake said he was somewhat disappointed that no one received a medal.

"I was real happy. The only thing was that I was hoping to get someone in the top 10," Drake said.

Drake said.
Freshman Charity Swartz was almost there, placing 12th in a field of 62 runners with a time

Swartz said her performance was just mediocre.

"It was all right, I just hope I do better at districts," Swartz said.

Not far behind Swartz at the finish line of the 5,000-meter course were teammates Irma Betancourt in 16th and Jeanene Rugan in 17th. Rugan said she was happy with her performance and was especially pleased with the team running so close together. "We're running more as a pack," Rugan said. "I think our pack time was within 45 seconds."

The men's team experienced some bad luck, which caused them to place seventh and fall short of its goal for the Big Eight Conference Championships.

Coach Terry Drake said the Cats' top

Mikkel Bjergso races through the course at Warner Park. Bjergso finished in 36th place, while racing in his first ever Big Eight Championships. Overall, the men's team finished in 7th place. Geoff Delahanty captured the high finish for the Cats, with a 30th place finish.

runner, senior Billy Wuggazer, experienced side cramps, which caused him to run a sub-par race.

"Billy ran really bad because he stitched up," Drake said.
"If he would have been where he's capable of placing, we would have accomplished our goal of placing sixth."

The ailing Wuggazer finished in 38th position behind teammates junior Geoff Delahanty in 30th and freshman Mikkel Bjergso in 36th.

Delahanty said although he was the highest finisher for the Cats, he was still not altogether pleased with his showing.

"People have been telling me that I ran a good race," Delahanty said. "It was probably the best finish in a race that I've had, but it's still not even close to as good as I can run.

"I might have gotten a little overzealous and just run a little too quick sometimes."

Delahanty said if Wuggazer and himself had run to their potential, the outcome of the race would have been much different.

"Billy could have been top 10 easy, and I could have been top 15, if we would have run like we've been in practice," Wuggazer said.

lowa State dominated the meet with only 29 points, giving them the championship.

Wuggazer said the overall place of the team doesn't matter as much as giving the younger runners some experience.

"Since we have a lot of freshmen and sophomores right now, it's not really that important right now," Wuggazer said. "As long as they get to know how the competition is and observe, then they'll be fine." Entering the NCAA District V Championships, Drake said he has a completely different outlook for his two teams.

Drake said he is hoping to take the women's team to the NCAA Championships.

"For the next two weeks, we'll focus on sharpening.

We'll lower the mileage some and maybe raise the intensity a little," Drake said.

In the men's division, Drake said he isn't really worried about the team's outcome.

"What we're really going to focus on is getting Billy to nationals and have Jeff and Mikkel running well," Drake said. "We're going to take a weakened team to districts."

IOWA STATE PREVIEW

Cyclones' option attack could be tough to defend

WESS HUDELSON

K-State played three ranked teams in consecutive weeks.

Now, the Wildcats return to Manhattan to face the winless Iowa

State Cyclones.

The Cyclones' only near victory came against Oklahoma State in a 31-31 tie.

"I think
Kansas
State's a very talented
football team, and it

team, and it will take a major, major effort on our part to win this game," Cyclone coach Jim Walden said.

Despite the losing record, the Cyclones' offense has shown signs of life in the last three weeks. It has averaged 412 yards total offense in those games, compared to 264 yards in the first five games.

"They've got a variety of offenses. That you can attribute to their coaching staff," Coach Bill Snyder said. "They execute that offense very well because there's still the threat of the option."

The Cats have had difficulty with the option offense this season against Rice and Colorado. The Owls gained 207 yards on the ground during K-State's 27-18 win, and the Buffaloes, behind Kordell Stewart and Rashaan Salaam, cranked out 339 yards on the ground.

"It's kind of frustrating," Chuck Marlowe said about the Colorado game. "We were right in the game but just let them have the big play."

Against Oklahoma last Saturday, the Cats allowed the Sooners only 149 yards rushing.

Last season, the Cyclones' option offense thrashed the K-State defense for 247 yards rushing in their 27-23 victory.

The Cats owned a 17-6 lead in the fourth quarter, only to watch it evaporate before their eyes as Iowa State reeled off 21 unanswered points in the quarter.

The Cyclones accomplished the feat with 20 running plays in the quarter — most of which went straight up the middle.

"They just continued to do the things they had been doing throughout the course of the ballgame, and things began to break for them," Snyder said.

The loss came on the heels of the Cats' emotional victory over Oklahoma. K-State had lost a thriller to Nebraska, tied Colorado and beat the Sooners during the three-game stretch before Iowa State.

"I can't say that emotion was the determining factor in the game, but I'm sure it played a role," Snyder said

Iowa State kept K-State to just 248 yards of total offense, a season low.

"They have a lot of speed, and we just kept pounding away at them with the bone," Walden said. "It wears you out. There's nothing that wears you out faster emotionally than an offense that keeps pounding away at you."

However, the situation has changed this year. Last Saturday, Missouri brought the worst offense in the Big Eight Conference into Ames, Iowa, and rang up 498 yards of offense during the Tigers' 34-20 win.

K-State's offense, which had been deprived of a running game in previous weeks, exploded against Oklahoma with 258 yards rushing in the second half.

J.J. Smith rushed for 113 yards on 22 carries to lead the Cats. The performance moved Smith into fourth place on the career-rushing list at K-State ahead of Tony Receiver Ron Brown got into the rushing act as well when he broke a 69-yard touchdown run on a reverse play.

"Ronnie Brown made some bigtime plays for us today," Snyder said. "He sparked our offense."

K-State
defenders celebrate after blocking a punt in the first quarter.
Gordon Brown
scooped the ball up and raced 16 yards for a touchdown.

STEVE HUBERT Collegian

Special teams play important role in win

WESS HUDELSON Collegian

NORMAN, Okla. — Special teams were truly something special Saturday at Norman, Okla.

K-State's special teamers came through with eight points and two blocked punts, both with eight points and two blocked punts, both of which led to touchdowns.

Chuck Marlowe blocked his third punt of the season in the first quarter.

Junior Gordon Brown scooped up the ball on the 16-yard line and scampered into the end zone for the touchdown, putting the Wildcats ahead 7-3.

"We knew one of us was going to get free to block the punt, and it just turned out to be me again," Chuck Marlowe said.

"We watched some of the things they were doing on film, and we knew we could get through to block punts."

Marlowe was close on the second blocked punt, but teammate Eric Hickson partially blocked the punt. The punt fluttered 23 yards, setting up the K-State offense on the Oklahoma 47-yard line.

Seven plays later, receiver Tyson Schwieger made a diving reception in the end zone. The play went for 25 yards.

"Special teams did everything," quarterback Chad May said. "They gave us the ball in great field position. The offense didn't do much of anything."

Chris Canty intercepted kicker Scott

Blanton in the fourth quarter during on extrapoint play that went wrong.

Blanton picked up a fumbled snap that

Blanton picked up a fumbled snan that rolled to his left and attempted a pass to the end zone.

Canty stepped in front at the 2-yard line and dashed 98 yards for a two-point defensive conversion.

"I was just there," Canty said. "I saw my guy going out to the sideline, and I just stepped in front."

Canty tallied 11 tackles, including one for a

2-yard loss during the game. For his efforts, he was named Big-Eight Defensive Player of the Week.

"He's getting better and better every week," Coach Bill Snyder said.

Despite the blocks and the interception, K-State's punters still had a tough time.

Eric Hardy was benched after he averaged 30 yards per punt.

Chad Romano filled in for Hardy and averaged 34.6 for his five punts.

The two averaged 33 yards per punt for the Snyder said special teams did a nice job Saturday.

BIG EIGHT NOTES

Studio show to provide extended coverage of Big 8 basketball contests

COLLEGIAN STAFF

Big Eight Conference institutions, coaches and student-athletes will be highlighted each week on a regional TV network via a newly-created TV series produced by Creative Sports Inc.

Studio 66 will debut this winter in conjunction with the first year of the Big Eight/Creative "Studio 66 will undoubtedly improve the basketball

television package."

Big Eight commissioner

men's quality of our

Basketball Network.

The live studio show will feature segments prior to tip-off of men's basketball games, at halftime, between games of doubleheaders and following contests.

"Studio 66 will undoubtedly improve the quality of our men's basketball television package," Big Eight Commissioner Carl James said. "It will also be an important vehicle for the conference and member institutions to publicize and promote men's and women's basketball and their Olympic sports programs."

The show will be similar to ESPN's "Game Day" studio show featured on ESPN's broadcast of college games.

The show will feature interviews, features and analysis of the Big Eight's athletic programs.

It will be the first such show of its nature to be produced by a regional syndicated network.

"While the concept of a live studio show is not innovative, it will be the first time that such a show is done in syndication," said Creative Sports President and CEO Bray Cary.

"We believe it will allow Big Eight viewers an opportunity to have access to up-to-the minute happenings and action around the conference."

The show will originate from the production facilities in Charlotte, N.C.

The show will also have a live origination from the site of the four local Big Eight telecasts aired during prime time on weeknights.

Al Wallace will be host to Studio 66. Wallace is a sport reporter/anchor at Kansas City's Fox affiliate WDAF.

Wallace has served with WDAF for 9-1/2 years, during two different stints.

Play-by-play talent for the Big Eight/Creative Network includes longtime Big Eight radio/television and Royals radio voice Fred White, and vetern conference broadcaster and Kansas City Royals TV voice Dave Armstrong.

Also calling the games will be Bill Doleman, who completed his first Big Eight basketball stint last season with Prime Network.

■ Phillips 66 has retained the title sponsorship of the Big Eight Tournament for the next five years.

"We are grateful for the support," James said.
"We are proud to be associated with such a quality program."

In addition to the title sponsorship, Phillips 66 also makes an additional $3,000 contribution to the athletic-scholarship fund at each Big Eight institution.

It also sponsors the Phillips 66 Classroom Champion series, the men's basketball player of the week, academic all-Big Eight teams in 21 sports and a year-end academic honor roll.

The Big Eight's association with Phillips 66 represents one of the longest such commitments in college athletics.

Only the Southeastern Conference's affiliation with Coke surpasses Phillips 66 current eight-year title sponsorship of the Big Eight Tournament.

■ The conference has also signed an extension with ESPN for national cable coverage as part of the "Big Monday" package.

With the agreement, ESPN will continue to televise a Big Eight game between a Big East Conference game and another game from teams in the Pacific time zone.

CRAIG HACKER/Co

Colorado quarterback Kordell Stewart is spun around by Nebraska's Tony Veland in the Huskers' 24-7 victory in Lincoln, Neb. With the victory Nebraska jumped up to No. 1 in the Assoicated Press poll.

Huskers pound Buffaloes with 'junkyard dog' defense

ASSOCIATED PRESS

LINCOLN, Neb. — Nebraska's swarming defense reminds assistant coach Charlie McBride of the "Junkyard Dogs," who helped Georgia win the 1980 national championship.

If the defense keeps playing the way it has the past four games, the Cornhuskers could win their first national title since consecutive championships in 1970-

"We pounded away and punished them from the first snap until the last," linebacker Troy Dumas said Saturday, following a 24-7 victory over Colorado that boosted Nebraska from third to first in the Associated Press poll.

Penn State remained No. 1 in the USA Today-CNN coaches' poll after beating Ohio State 63-14, but the Lions lead the Cornhuskers by only two points.

After giving up 32 points to Wyoming Oct. 1, the Cornhuskers have allowed a total of 23 to Oklahoma State, K-State, Missouri and Colorado.

The Buffaloes, who dropped from second to seventh in the rankings, had been averaging 40 points per

"They are a real tough defense," Colorado tailback Rashaan Salaam said. "They just play hard-nosed football"

Salaam, the nation's leading rusher, scored Colorado's only touchdown and became the first back to gain more than 100 yards — 134 on 22 carries — against Nebraska this season.

But the Huskers forced quarterback Kordell Stewart into a poor 12-for-28 passing performance, didn't allow a completion for more than 22 yards and kept CU to their lowest point total since a 52-7 loss to Nebraska in "Our defense was fed up with everyone saying we couldn't stop them," cornerback Barron Miles said.

"Colorado did everything we expected, but we were well prepared."

In recent years, Nebraska has shifted its defensive emphasis from strength and size to quickness and speed, qualities that helped the Huskers shut down Colorado's option attack.

"The holes would open and then they would close all of a sudden," Stewart said.

Nebraska kept constant pressure on Stewart, sacking him three times and hurrying many of his throws.

"We didn't block the blitzes," Colorado coach Bill McCartney said.
"We practiced for the things they were going to do, but maybe the speed was something we couldn't prepare for."

Nebraska quarterback Brook Berringer was prepared

Nebraska quarterback Brook Berringer was prepared for the challenge of his life.

When starter Tommie Frazier was sidelined for the season with blood clots in his right leg after the fourth game, many people wrote off Nebraska.

But Berringer has proved the doubters wrong, overcoming a partially collapsed lung to help the Huskers remain undefeated.

"I hope everyone is convinced now," Berringer said after completing 12-of-17 for 142 yards and a touchdown against Colorado."

AP voters obviously have little doubt about Nebraska. They vaulted the Huskers over previous No. I Penn State despite the Lions' overpowering display against Ohio State.

"In my mind, considering the way we played, we deserve to be No. 1," Nebraska linebacker Donta Jones said.

Wildcat defense stuffs Oklahoma

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

"We've got to quit making these mistakes," said OU tailback Jeff Frazier, who had a career-high 83 yards rushing on just 11 carries. "If we knew the reason for them, we'd try to do something about it."

Unfortunately for the Sooners, they couldn't do anything about the mistakes, and the Cats capitalized on them in the second half.

OU defensive back Darrius Johnson, who had intercepted a pass late in the second quarter, fumbled a punt early in the third quarter, which set up a 34yard K-State touchdown drive.

It was yet another Sooner mistake, this time a deflected punt, that opened up a 47-yard touchdown drive for the Cats, who took a 21-3 lead after three

On the first play of the fourth quarter, OU ran out of luck again when Scott Blanton's 43-yard field goal was no good.

While the Sooners did manage to score a touchdown in the fourth on a 65-yard pass, the Cats jumped on another OU blunder on the following play.

After Oklahoma bobbled the snap, Blanton grabbed the football and attempted to pass for two points.

But it was K-State's Chris Canty who intercepted the pass and returned it 98 yards for the first twopoint defensive conversion of his career.

"Two guys came at me, and I just saw the kicker look at my guy, so I just broke on it and took it the distance," Canty said.

"It was a long way, though." The scoring wasn't over, yet.

Three plays after Canty's return, K-State receiver Ron Brown scored on a 69-yard reverse, giving the Cats a 37-12 lead with 9:24 on the clock.

The Sooners got on the board one final time late in the game, when quarterback Garrick McGee hit Michael McDaniel with a 28-yard touchdown pass and again for the two-point conversion.

Dominos Pizza
HOMECOMING
WEEK SPECIALS

$599 +TAX One Large One Topping Pizza
Carryout or Delivery

$399 +TAX One Medium One Topping Pizza Carryout Only

NOT VALID WITH OTHER OFFERS
PLEASE MENTION SPECIAL WHEN ORDERING
EXPIRES 11-5-94

776-7788 517 N. 12TH St. Hours: 11a.m. -1a.m. Sun.-Tues. 11a.m. -2a.m. Wed.-Sat.

GEAR and the K-State Union Bookstore

Invite you to a

TAILGATE PARTY

Saturday, November 5th, 11am-12:30pm

Before the KSU vs. Iowa St. game

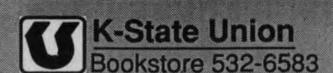

At the Bookstore

FREE Hotdogs, Chips, and Soda while quantites last 25% Off reg priced GEAR clothing

A drawing for two GEAR sweatshirts donated by

GEAR + Licensing = Scholarships

KANSAS STATE

Dole digs Graves

Sen. Bob Dole, R-Kan., gave his support to Republican gubernatorial candidate Bill Graves during his speech Wednesday night at the Manhattan Chamber of

THURSDAY HIGH LOW WEATHER - PAGE 2

NOVEMBER 3, 1994

KANSAS STATE UNIVERSITY, MANHATTAN, KANSAS 66506

VOLUME 99B. NUMBER 53

▶ BIOLOGY

No laws broken by cheaters

Investigation by campus police finds no criminal activity

AMY ZIEGLER

Students who were suspected of cheating on the biology module exam will be notified by the Department of Biology this week. No criminal activity was discovered in the biology-exam incident, and the investigation is now in the hands of the biology department.

"It is entirely up to the biology department as to what would be the appropriate action at this point," campus police detective Richard Herrman said.

Herrman said he started interviewing the 70 students on the afternoon of Oct. 21 and ended the investigation at 5 p.m. Tuesday night.

Herrman said the students' stories matched, and he has reason to believe who the suspect is who took the early

Herrman said he was responsible for interviewing the suspect to discover if the answers were obtained illegally or unethically.

In the interviews, he asked the students where they got the answers from so he could trace the answers back to find out where they originated.

Herrman said the police were asked to look into the investigation because of the possibility of the exam being stolen from a computer in the biology

Herrman said if a student would have illegally entered the computer program, it would be considered a misdemeanor, and the student would face a fine of up to $1,000 and a year in

A person who entered a professor's office and got a copy of the exam would be charged with the felony of

If the person proceeded to take the exam out of the office, the misdemeanor of theft would be filed instead of a felony because a test is worth less than $500.

If the students paid for answers, someone could have been charged for theft of deception if the source gave another student the wrong answers.

"If a student paid for answers, and two of the answers were wrong, they weren't getting what they were paying for," he said.

■ See SANCTIONS Page 5

NATURAL DISASTERS

Cheating causes geology exam to be thrown out by professor

Thirty to 35 people in the Natural Disasters class cheated all 400 students out of a test grade Oct. 25. The second test of the semester was administered by three graduate teaching and research assistants while instructor George Clark, professor of geology, was out of town, he said.

Clark said he didn't notice anything wrong with the scores. He found out about the cheating when he returned on Friday.

"The GTAs informed me that there had been overt cheating in the class that they could not control," he said.

Andrea Sykora, one of the GTAs administering the test, said there were people talking and looking at other people's Jennifer Elick, another one of the GTAs administering the test, approached a group of students having a conversation.

Elick said she approached a group that was in the middle of a discussion, and those in the group denied they were having a

Elick said she suggested the test be thrown out, but Clark made the decision. The GTAs said the cheating was so widespread, they were unable to control the behavior, Clark said.

■ See STUDENTS Page 5

doctor's in a few orders. I'm going back weeks, and hopefully I'll be able to workout up

JEFF PETERSON

student body

president

step my another

level."

Joe Beaudet, owner of Manhattan Monument Co., sandblasts a new legend "MIA/KIA" on the Vietnam Veterans Memorial Wednesday afternoon. Air Force Col. Carl F. Karst's remains were interred in Arlington National Cemetary, on Oct. 1, 1993. Karst had been a student at K-State.

Joe Beaudet changes Air Force Col. Carl F. Karst's black MIA star to white to signify his change of status from Missing in Action to Killed in Action.

Memorial altered in honor of recovered K-State MIA

Vietnam Veterans Memorial acknowledges Air Force colonel put to rest

J.R. PRATHER

A black flag with the words "Gone but not forgotten" waved over the removal of a K-State Vietnam veteran's name from the list of those missing in action in the Vietnam Veterans Memorial Wednesday.

The remains of Air Force Col. Carl F. Karst were interred in Arlington National Cemetery, Arlington, Va., on Oct. 1, 1993, after being declared missing in action for almost 25 years.

Wednesday, the black star identifying Karst as MIA was changed to a white star, and a new legend was added to the list of K-State students who gave their lives in Vietnam from 1959 to 1975.

From this day on, the name of any MIA whose remains are recovered will be or Missing in designated MIA/KIA, Action/Killed in Action, said Bill Arck, director of the Alcohol and Other Drug

See WORKER Page 10

► STUDENT GOVERNMENT

Surprise party welcomes Peterson back to his post

K-State's Student Body President Jeff Peterson is back in Manhattan, ready to resume his responsibilities after spending six weeks in the hospital.

Members of Student Senate welcomed Peterson, graduate student in animal science, with a surprise dinner at Carlos O'Kelly's on Wednesday.

Peterson said he suffered from a pressure sore. People with high activity levels often get them, he said.

After four weeks in HCA Wesley Medical Center, Peterson was sent to a branch of the hospital that specializes in rehabilitation.

"It's not long-term," Peterson said. "It will take a while to be at 100 percent

Accustomed to a strict workout regime, Peterson said he will have to slowly work back to the level where he used to be.

"I'm still on doctor's orders. I'm going back in a few weeks, and hopefully I'll be able to step my workout up another level," he said

During his hospital stay, Peterson said he kept tabs on events involving K-State, especially the progress of the football "Actually, one of the nurses was (K-

State defensive end) Nyle Wiren's mom," Peterson said. "We would always talk about the games." Peterson said he had hoped to be in Manhattan for the Nebraska game, but he just wasn't up for it. "I'm definitely going to the game Saturday," he said. "Also, I hope to get involved in some of the Homecoming activities.' While Peterson was away, members of his cabinet assumed the responsibilities of the presidency. He said he was extremely pleased with the job they've done. Mike Zamrzla, chief of staff, said he and Brad Finkeldei, student body vice president, have just tried to keep a handle on things since Peterson's been gone.

"No one can replace the talent and drive that Jeff has," Zamrzla, senior in agricultural journalism, said.

Peterson said his cabinet has always worked as a team. For this reason, he said, he felt comfortable in his absence, knowing things had been taken care of. Peterson said it was a wonderful feeling to be on campus again, and he's looking forward to returning to Student "I will be as fully involved as I can be," Peterson said.

CESSNA DEAL

Agreement to permit use of Rec Complex by Cessna employees

LEIGH BELLINGER

K-State students may be working out with Cessna employees in K-State's Chester E. Peters Recreation Complex if the aircraft maker decides to build its new plant here.

Manhattan is one of five Kansas cities in the running for the new single-engine aircraftassembly plant. Cessna will decide in December where the plant will be built.

The Recreational Services

Council voted last week to allow Cessna employees use of the Rec Complex on an individual basis, paying the same rates as nongraduates and alumni, Raydon Robel, director of recreational services, said.

Cessna employees who take advantage of the offer would end up paying the highest rates the Rec Complex offers. Currently, the cost of a combination card, which includes use of the pool and recreation center, for nongraduates and alumni is $34.40 a month, compared to $6.90 a month for faculty and staff.

Robel said he expects anywhere from 200 to 300 Cessna employees to take advantage of the offer if the Wichita-based company should decide to build in Manhattan. The effect on the Rec Complex would be minimal, he said, since there are no special programs planned for Cessna employees.

"There wouldn't be a Cessna intramural program or a Cessna special aerobics program or anything like that," Robel said. "It's just totally come on your own and work out.

Since the offer was made, word has spread fast around campus. The Student Governing Association has received 30 to 40 calls concerning the Cessna offer, Brad Finkeldei, student body vice president, said.

K-State would benefit if Cessna should decide to build the plant in Manhattan, he said. The company would have ties with the engineering and business departments.

Finkeldei said callers have voiced concern about too many people using the Rec Complex. He said the reason the offer was made was because the extra people weren't seen as a problem.

If overcrowding does become a problem, that is something that can be quickly remedied. The offer would be reviewed by the Recreational Services Council on

■ See REC Page 10

BLACK WOMEN EARN MORE ON THE JOB

Black women college graduates are now earning more than black men and many white women, The New York Times reported.

The wage gains for black professional women came in the 1980s as the salaries of white professional women gained slightly, but those of black men decreased. $12.85

Hourly wages

SARA SMITH/Collegia

▶ DESPITE PROTESTS, A TEXAS UNIVERSITY CUTS GAY-ASSOCIATION FUNDING

NACOGDOCHES, Texas (AP) - The student government at Stephen F. Austin State University voted Tuesday to stop funding of the school's gay student associa-

The student senate voted 30-26 to halt funding support for the Gay and Lesbian Student Association beginning next school year. This year, it received $106.

Those who argued for the funding cut said group members probably were violating the state's sodomy law. The misdemeanor, punishable by fine, isn't enforced.

"We didn't want to have a group on campus that might in some way champion violation of Texas law." student senator Bryan Simmons, who led the effort against the gay group, said last week.

The law's constitutionality was questioned in several court cases. and a state attorney general's opinion on the matter is pending.

Keith Roberts, president of the gay group, said its opponents were "confusing sex with sexuality."

He said the group would appeal the decision to a student supreme court and if needed, to the school's dean of student development.

"It's not campus politics anymore ... it's a civil-rights issue now,"

Roberts said the group has about 40 members. The Texas university has about 12,800 students.

► CAUSE OF DEADLY CRASH UNKNOWN; NO DISTRESS SIGNAL SENT BY PILOT

ROSELAWN, Ind. (AP) -Whatever happened to make American Eagle Flight 4184 plunge from the sky apparently happened too fast for the pilots to call for help.

"There was no distress signal sent from the plane and no indication from the conversation between the tower and the aircraft that the aircraft was in any trouble," Jim Hall, chairman of the National Transportation Safety Board, said Wednesday.

NBC News, however, reported that the cockpit voice recorder indicates that alarm after alarm suddenly went off, signaling an emergency on Monday's flight.

Hall said information from the cockpit voice and flight recorders would be released by Thursday.

The last thing that air-traffic controllers heard from the pilot was "thank you" after he was told to remain in a holding pattern at 8,000 feet for 10 minutes. The plane had been in a holding pattern at 10,000 feet for 32 minutes.

The twin-engine ATR-72, en route from Indianapolis to Chicago, dropped off radar screens a few minutes later and plunged into a northern Indiana field in a driving rain, killing all 68 people on board.

The plane disintegrated into tiny pieces, except for a 6- to 8-foot piece of the tail. The severity of the crash is making identification of victims difficult.

"If we found a thumb, even a thumb, that's at least something to start with," FBI agent Wayne Alford said. "If we had a hand, that's more to work with."

Investigators brought the first remains of victims to a temporary morgue set up at a National Guard armory, Newton County Coroner

Dr. David Dennis said. Remains believed to be those of one the pilots were found, searchers said.

Speculation on what caused the crash focused on high wind and advisories from controllers about turbulence and icing. But the advisories are not unusual, said Mitch Grundman, a pilot for 30 years and chief flight instructor for Purdue

Meteorologist Allan Morrison, of the National Weather Service in Joliet, III., said wind shear - sudden changes in wind speed and direction - were reported at the time of the crash.

Winds were about 45 mph and shifting in opposite directions at altitudes around 5,000 to 7,000 feet. Any planes flying at those altitudes between the shifting winds probably encountered heavy turbulence,

These reports are taken directly from the daily logs of the K-State and Riley County Police departments. Because of space constraints, not all crimes are listed.

K-STATE POLICE

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 2

Gepner, 1818 Rockhill Road, reported his permit number 3226

At 10:19 a.m., Randy and a flashlight lost. Loss was

RILEY COUNTY POLICE

TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 1

At 11:58 p.m., Jason Sadlock, 1026 Bluemont Ave., reported his landlord and roommate locking him out without giving him his personal possessions. Options were provided for

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 2

At 12:01 a.m., a noise complaint was filed against the Alpha Tau Omega fraternity, 1632. McCain Lane. Chris Glenn was contacted and complied with

At 1:54 a.m., a noise complaint was filed against the Phi Delta Theta fraternity, 508 Sunset Ave. Martin Tainter was contacted and complied with

At 3:03 a.m., Darin Majette, 1830 College Heights Road, was arrested for driving under the

At 6:01 a.m., a non-injury vehicle accident was reported at the 1900 block of Pillsbury Drive involving Patrick Shannon Jr., 1202 Deep Creek Road, and a deer. The deer was claimed by Debbie Savage.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

We accept letters to the editor by e-mail. Our address is collegn@ksu.ksu.edu. You must include your name, address, phone number and student ID number with the letter.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Applications for Who's Who Among Students at American Colleges and Universities are now available in the Office of Student Activities and Services. Deadline is Nov. 18.

All undergraduate students in health-related degree programs are eligible to apply for a Student Cancer Research Award of $500. Applications are now available in the Center for Basic Cancer Research in Ackert 234. Application deadline is Dec. 2.

The world is getting smaller. Make yours larger. Volunteer to tutor an international student in the Conversational English Program. Contact Kathy Hund at the International Student Center, 532-6448

Chimes junior honorary is awarding a scholarship to an outstanding junior. Applications are due at noon Nov. 14 and are available in the Office of Student Activities and Services.

The College of Education will have mock-interview sign ups beginning today. Sign up will continue until Nov. 11 in Holtz Hall.

BULLETINS |

- K-State Aikido Club will meet today from 7 to 8:30 p.m. today in the Ecumenical Campus Ministry Building.
- Al-Anon will meet from 5 to 6 p.m. today in Union Stateroom 1.
  - Icthus will meet at 8 p.m. today in Union 212.
  - Rotaract Club will meet at 9 p.m. today in Union 205.
- The American Institute of Chemical Engineers will meet at 1:30 p.m. today in Ackert 120.
- The Department of Geology will present a lecture by Dr. Paul Enos from the University of Kansas titled "Birth and Death of an Atoll" at 4 p.m. today in Thompson 213.

The Kansas State Collegian (USPS 291 020), a student newspaper at Kansas State University, is published by Student Publications Inc., Kedzie Hall 103, Manhattan, Kan., 66506. The Collegian is published weekdays during the school year and once a week through the summer. Second-class postage is paid at Manhattan, Kan., 66502.

POSTMASTER: Send address changes to Kansas State ollegian, circulation desk, Kedzie 103, Manhattan, Kan., 66506-

YESTERDAY'S HIGHS AND LOWS

Turning cooler statewide with a slight chance for showers in the northwest. Cloudy with a high of 45 northwest to 65 in southeast.

TODAY

Cooler with mostly cloudy skies. High of 63 and a low of 40.

TOMORROW I

Cold and rainy with highs in the 40s and lows in the 30s

we've been there before; we'll be there again

WE'RE BACK! Organizations

Through Nov. 9 from 6-10 p.m. in McCain 324

Thursday, Nov. 3

Arts and Sciences Council 6:00 p.m. Arts and Sciences Ambassadors 6:20 p.m. Sigma Lambda Chi 6:40 p.m. Professional Convention Mngt. Assoc. 7 p.m. American Society of Agricultural 7:20 p.m. ASAE 7:40 p.m.

Agricultural Education Club 8 p.m. Institute of Industrial Engineers 8:20 p.m. Phi Beta Lambda 8:40 p.m. Beta Gamma Sigma 9 p.m.

The 1995 Royal Purple portrait photographers are going to take a shot at you.

You may still reserve your copy of the 1995 Royal Purple at your sitting. Questions? Call 532-6557.

If you

canned goods, toiletries, or household products, to the

homeless through the

Collegian, you will receive

THANKS

and $1 off any classified ad in the Collegian through the end of December.

Contributions go to Manhattan Emergency Shelter and Flint Hills Breadbasket

Bring items to the Student Publications Inc. office in Kedzie 103

Bob Dole, Senate minority leader, listens to comments by Republican gubernatorial candidate Bill Graves and running mate Shella Frahm during a campaign rally at the Manhattan Chamber of Commerce offices Wednesday evening.

Dole promotes Graves for Kansas governor

"If we win, it's sad day for the liberal media. I can hardly wait.

Senate minority leader

It's going to be so touching."

going to be a

LOLA SHRIMPLIN

Senate Minority Leader Bob Dole, R-Kan., was in Manhattan Wednesday night campaigning for Bill Graves and looking into the future of Fort Riley.

Senator Dole said he hopes to become the majority leader on Nov. 8.

"I've been majority leader and minority leader," Dole said. "I said I've thought about it a lot, and I'd rather be majority leader."

"Not just because I'd rather be majority leader, but because we have a chance to help set the agenda.'

Dole also spoke about the future of Fort Riley to the mostly Republican audience.

"I think we've actually cut defense too much," Dole said.

"Clinton said he was going to cut $60 billion out of defense, and instead he cut $125 billion out of defense. That's why I think we have to cut defense, but I think we've gone too far," he said.

Dole said the cuts have spread the military too thin.

"We've got to be prepared, because I was just reminded that we have people scattered in 91 different places in the Army alone," Dole said. races occurring around the country, Dole said that the media was probably going to go into mourning if Republicans won a majority of the seats in Congress. "If we win, it's going to be a sad day for the liberal media. I can hardly wait. It's going to be so touching," Dole said.

"I assume the New York Times will start the morning with a moment of silence. The Washington Post will do the same. So will Dan Rather and Tom Brokaw and Peter Jennings and maybe George Pyle, of the Salina Journal."

Dole also said the Republicans hadn't controlled both houses of pride involved."

Congress for 42 years.

"If we pick up 40 House seats and seven Senate seats, we'll have control of the Congress for the first time since my hero, Dwight Speaking of the congressional Eisenhower, was president of the United States in 1952," Dole said. Dole Republicans should be given a chance to change America. 'Give us a chance, and give us the responsibility, and if we don't do any better, throw us out again for 42 years. But give us two years, four years or six years to change the direction America wants to go," he said. Dole then introduced Secretary of State Bill Graves. Graves said winning the gubernatorial race meant a lot to him and his family.

"There's a lot at stake for me in this election. There's some family

Although Graves is running for governor, he is not fond of some of the political processes that are involved.

Speaking of the advertisements that are being run by Congressman Jim Slattery, he dared the audience to find a Slattery ad that showed why people should vote for him.

"I've got dozens of spots telling people why they ought to vote for Bill Graves and Sheila Frahm. I challenge any of you to name three spots that have run on why you should vote for Jim Slattery," Graves said.

Graves said former president George Bush was coming to Kansas to campaign for him.

"We're going to bring in George Bush tomorrow. We're proud of our Republican presidents," Graves said.

Graves also spoke about the seeming unpopularity of President Clinton recently.

"The Senator (Dole) said that I ought to buy a round-trip ticket and bring the president down here for Jim Slattery," Graves said.

► CAMPUS

Students, team rally for Homecoming game

Students and faculty lined the balconies, stairs and ground floor of the K-State Union on Wednesday to cheer the Wildcats on to victory in the Homecoming game against Iowa State University.

The football pep rally gave people the chance to hear from athletic director Max Urick, Coach Bill Snyder and football players J.J. Smith and Kirby Hocutt.

The K-State Cheerleaders, Classy Cats, K-State Marching Band and the Men's Glee Club provided the entertainment.

Nancy Rinella, junior in special education, said the pep rally was also a good way to become familiar with the student ambassador candidates.

Each of the six candidates had the opportunity to introduce themselves.

DeLoss Jahnke, May 1994 graduate of K-State, served as the master of ceremonies.

Jahnke, a sports reporter for WIBW-AM 580, said the K-State football team has a shot at the best regular-season record since 1910.

The Cats are ranked 15th in both the Associated Press and the CNN/USA Today College Coaches polls, Jahnke said.

Coach Bill Snyder thanked the students for their continued support of the team.

"You are all very special," Snyder said. "I hope we can do something to make this Homecoming very special for you."

Snyder also encouraged the crowd to participate in the Cats for Cans Program. The canned foods collected at the game will go to the Flint Hills Breadbasket, he said.

"This is an opportunity to provide food for underprivileged members of the community during the holiday season," Snyder said.

Hocutt, senior linebacker, said it's payback time for Iowa State.

Hocutt said although the team doesn't like to look back, it'll remember what happened last year when K-State lost to Iowa State.

Smith, senior running back, agreed with Hocutt.

'We're going to make them wish they'd never come up here,"

Smith said. Jahnke said times have really changed since the 1987 season. "Back then, fans used to yell 'beat the spread' and wear T-shirts that said 'Just here for the beer this year," Jahnke said. Snyder and his coaching staff, with the support of the administration, have turned the program around, Jahnke said. Iowa State, he said, has defeated a ranked Big Eight team for the past three years. "It's important that on Saturday, this streak dies," he said.

HOMECOMING ACTIVITIES

- Union spirit-banner contest.
- Body-building preliminaries, 6:30 p.m. at Ahearn Field House.
- Voting for K-State Ambassadors in
- the K-State Union.
- Body-building finals, 7:30 p.m. at
- Bonfire and Pant the Chant contest, 9:30 p.m. at Memorial Stadium.
- Voting for K-State Ambassadors in the K-State Union.
- Homecoming parade, 9 a.m., City
- Campus tours, 10 a.m. at the
- K-State Union.

   Football game against lowa State, 1:10 p.m.
- Neak Frasty Stompdown, 7 p.m. at Bramlage Coliseum.

TRISHA BENNINGA/Collegian

OPENS FRIDAY NOVEMBER 4TH

AT A THEATRE NEAR YOU.

▲ re you a good writer? Do you have media experience? Are you reliable and enthusiastic?

The Kansas State Collegian is now accepting applications for editor-in-chief and advertising manager for spring 1995. The deadline for these applications is 5 p.m. Friday, Nov. 11.

Interviews for ad manager will be at 8 a.m. Tuesday, Nov. 15. Interviews for editor will be at 8 a.m. Tuesday, Nov. 22.

Applications for other advertising staff positions are due by 5 p.m. Friday, Nov. 18, and applications for other news positions are due by 5 p.m. Wednesday, Nov. 23. Apply for:

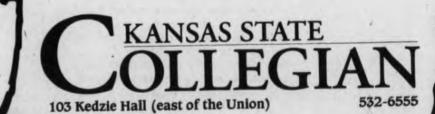

- desk editor
- columnist
- graphic artist · staff writer
- photographer

· and more

· copy editor ad representative

Job descriptions are available in 103 Kedzie Hall. All applications are available in and should be returned to 103 Kedzie Hall from 8 a.m.-5 p.m. Monday through Friday. Please include supporting materials with your application.

Don't miss this opportunity to work on the awardwinning sixth largest morning daily in Kansas.

out." - Harry Rakosky, one of two men who ended a shooting spree outside the White House on Saturday by hurling themselves toward a gunman.

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

IN OUR OPINION

By the Collegian Editorial Board

■ Double-edge razor blades

■ Cleaning products

■ Paper towels

■ Toilet paper

Sugar

■ Coffee

Drive for Manhattan homeless has begun

It is not enough for people to talk about problems of poverty and homelessness. People need to do things to help those who are trying to get out of these situations.

This is why the Collegian is joining in the Cats for Cans project, which is a University campaign to gather food donations for the Flint Hills Breadbasket. In addition to accepting food products, the Collegian will also be accepting toiletries and household items for the Manhattan Emergency Shelter.

Just bring donations to the Student Publications Inc. office in Kedzie 103. To show our thanks, the Collegian will be offering $1 off a classified ad with a donation. Food donations will also be collected at the Homecoming game Saturday and at the residence halls and K-State Union until the end of December.

Donating is easy. The next time you're in the grocery store, throw a couple of extra items in the basket or grab a couple of cans off your kitchen

MANHATTAN EMERGENCY SHELTER NEEDS

- Washcloths
- Fitted, full-size bed sheets
- Bleach
- Toothpaste
- Toothbrushes
- Sample-size shampoo
- Deodorant
- Soap
- Breakfast cereal ■ Canned goods

shelf and bring them in.

Stereotypes often stop people from getting involved. Poverty and homelessness does not just affect the people you see on the streets. Hunger and homelessness do not discriminate. The person whom you help may be a classmate or a neighbor.

TOLES

Kansas drug-tax law is hypocritical

MILLER

Prostitutes are required by the county health departments to obtain a license to sell sex, even though doing so is a crime. The state charges a fee for the license, then arrests the people who use them.

Just imagine

hypocrites.

People paid to do drive-by shootings are required by the state of Kansas to pay a special 'assassin's tax" on every rub out they do. Every time someone is whacked, the state gets a cut of the blood money even though such activity is and should remain illegal.

Just imagine. Drug dealers are required to buy from the state of Kansas special stamps and to stick them on the bag or container the drugs are sold in, even though selling drugs is illegal, and anyone who sells drugs without the stamps gets extra prison time and fines when arrested.

Now that your imagination has ventured into the world of the moronic, chew on this idea. The drug stamp is a real thing in Kansas.

That's right: the state of Kansas is profiting from activity it won't let its citizens profit from. That's right: the state of Kansas is run by

"Just because [selling drugs is] illegal, it should not be exempt from taxation," Dean Reynoldson, manager of the Kansas Alcohol Beverage Control criminal fraud unit, said in a recent Associated Press story.

Oh, really?

Then why not tax the sale of booze to minors? That happens a lot more than drug sales. It also makes about as much sense.

Bear in mind that there is a difference between fining someone for committing a crime and taxing the crime. A fine is a deterrent. A tax is a revenue source.

This law is simply thinly veiled double jeopardy. (A federal judge agreed when he declared a similar law in Wyoming unconstitutional.) The fact that double jeopardy is unconstitutional bears no importance to the lawmakers of Kansas and the 35 other states who tax illegal narcotics in some way.

Some people don't care what the government does. These people who would suspend any and all of our liberties in order to win the Vietnam of the '80s and '90s, the hallowed War on Drugs. Whatever it takes to prove that Prohibition really can work is OK with them. Just don't come after their guns, right?

But it is a big deal. Besides the fact that as of Sept. 1, some 99 people convicted of selling drugs without a tax stamp in Kansas were taking up jail space that could be used for more dangerous criminals, the law is flawed in principle. An unprincipled law is worse than the 'crime" it tries to prevent. The citizens of Kansas should be asking themselves how their state government can in good conscience use illegal drugs as a revenue

If drugs are so bad for us that the federal government, the big brother that it is becoming, has to suspend the Constitution trying to keep all of us from using them, why does the state of Kansas use drugs as a source of revenue totaling some $1 million last year?

It's equally consistent to tax illegal drugs as it would be for county health departments to license illegal prostitutes or for the state of Kansas to tax drive-by shootings.

It is crucial, though, that the state of Kansas repeal the drug-tax law lest it become guilty of hypocrisy. If drugs were legalized, as they should be, the state could use reasonable regulatory and taxation policies that would be both constitutional and ethical.

As of now, however, the state of Kansas is creating revenue for itself by taxing illegal activities. We shouldn't stand for it.

Remember this: When governments successfully set the Constitution aside to punish drug dealers, the Constitution will be set aside later to punish smokers, gun owners, controversial artists and whomever else those governments single out as the Public Enemy No.

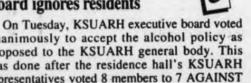

Scott Allen Miller is a junior in radio/television.

READERS WRITE

Drop letters off at Kedzie 116 or send them to Letters to the Editor, c/o John Meirowsky, Kansas State Collegian, Kedzie 116, Manhattan, KS 66506. We accept letters by e-mail also. Our address is letters@spub.ksu.edu. Letters should be addressed to the editor and include a name, address and phone number. A photo identification will be necessary for hand-delivered letters.

KSUARH

Board ignores residents

unanimously to accept the alcohol policy as proposed to the KSUARH general body. This was done after the residence hall's KSUARH representatives voted 8 members to 7 AGAINST the proposed alcohol policy. This is a seeming confirmation of the accusations of nonrepresentation by the KSUARH executive board brought on by the Hall Governing Board of

I, as a resident of Marlatt Hall, am outraged by this action. KSUARH has stated in the past its mission is to represent the students. On page 19 of "Up and Doing: A Guide to Residence Hall Living," there is a copy of KSUARH's constitution. The preamble states: "We, the members of the Kansas State University Association of Residence Halls, in order to promote social, educational, recreational and cultural programming for and by the residents, promote interaction among the residence halls, cultural programming for and by the residents, promote interaction among the residence halls, stimulate interest in campus activities and residence-hall affairs, and develop citizenship through self-government do ordain and establish this constitution."

Unfortunately, with the past actions taken by the executive board of KSUARH, I feel I am no longer represented by the executive board of KSUARH, and the "selfgovernment" mentioned in the preamble of the KSUARH constitution no longer applies to me. I, therefore, seem to no longer be a citizen of KSUARH. I don't really count.

However, I know better. I do count. For far too long, hall residents in general have been apathetic about what happens with KSUARH and their residence halls, opting simply to move out rather than stay and put up with the broadening restrictions on their freedoms. This, in my opinion, has allowed members of the executive board to act with impunity, passing laws without input from the residents, creating a "legacy" for themselves, and padding their résumés. I am proud and encouraged by Marlatt Hall HGB's resolve to remedy the situation by attempting to empower the residents with a voice in what happens in and with their hall. I encourage all hall residents and governing boards to take an active part in improving the dilapidated condition of KSUARH.

John Thompson

senior in radio/television

ENROLLMENT

English 410 has error in schedule

I'd like to ask the Collegian to help us publicize a very significant error in the spring line schedule, which may inconvenience a large number of students.

English 410 (Introduction to Creative Writing) does not need instructor permission prior to enrollment. On page 43 of the line schedule, each 410 class incorrectly indicates that permission is needed. Students may enroll in these classes with no special permission until they are filled.

Elizabeth Dodd associate professor

Dracula, Frankenstein, spinach are all scary

nother Halloween has come and gone at the Seabourn home without a single, childish, immature, disrespectful prank being played by a single hormoneinfested, zit-faced kid.

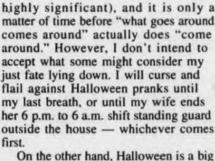

I consider myself lucky once again.

Of course, surrounding my entire property with razor-sharp concertina wire and strategically placed boobytraps armed with poisoned darts probably played a small but significant role in deterring juvenile aggression. I remember well the flaming bags of cow manure placed on doorsteps, or the raw-egg bombardments when a homeowner answered the doorbell, or marshmallows in the gas tank, or - well, my personal list of Halloween tricks goes on ad infinitum (AD INFINITUM: a frequently used Latin term in intellectual circles, which means "more flaming bags of cow manure than you can stomp if you had

I figure the odds are against me (and that doesn't begin to take into account the "evens," which are much more

On the other hand, Halloween is a big

The unique thing about Halloween is that it is based upon fear. Unless, of course, you are one of my two dogs (Sidney, the large eating/pooping hairball) who consider the fourth of July to be the canine equivalent of the holiday from hell. The fun/fear aspect of Halloween presents a problem for young children. My 7-year-old son, Dustin, who has no problem accepting the wellknown, scientifically established fact that mutant ninja turtles like pizza, will, in an instant (no, make that half an instant) completely forget six years of potty training at the sight of a Dracula or a Frankenstein.

Dustin: What did you say?

Me: Nothing, nothing. I SAID IT IS JUST GETTING THIN. Now put these dry pants on. Dustin: What were you ascared of when you was a little kid? Me: Oh lots of silly things, but mainly spinach.

Dustin: Spinach? Me: Yes, well, you see, I hated spinach so much that I would do anything to keep from eating it. When I was a kid, we had to eat everything on our lunch plate at school. We even had a mean old lunchroom monitor whose ONLY job in the school cafeteria was to make sure we ate everything on our plate, INCLUDING SPINACH. My best

Johnny Dugermier (world-renowned expert on sex, bubble gum and how far brand-name underwear will actually stretch before ripping while giving someone a wedgie), figured out a way so we did not have to eat spinach. We would quickly drink our milk and then stuff our spinach into the empty milk carton when the mean old lunchroom monitor wasn't looking. Well, one day, Johnny Dugermier got caught. What made it worse was that he had not drank

Dustin: What did that mean old witch I mean teacher - do?

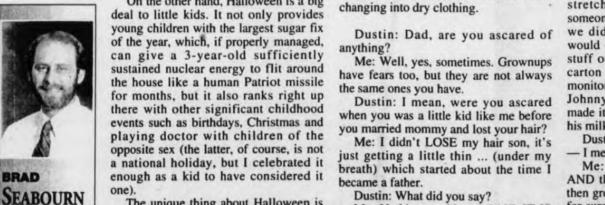

Me: She made him drink his milk AND the spinach. Johnny turned white, then green, then back to white. I thought for sure he was going to upchuck. I was so scared, I almost forgot my potty training. Fortunately for me, I didn't get caught, but I never again stuffed my spinach into my milk carton.

Dustin: But what did you do wif your spinach? Me: I gave it to Ricky Rothesburger.

Dustin: Yah, me too.

Me: I was afraid of that.

Brad Seabourn is a graduate student in grain science. Although Mr. Seabourn has never been abducted by allens, his ideas for his columns are transmitted directly machine, or Keeshan, the medium-size

Sanctions against cheaters will be announced soon

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

Herrman said if money was involved in the transaction of answers, then illegal activity was involved.

"If someone is selling the answers, they're committing a criminal act by doing that," Herrman said.

He said if students know that they are buying stolen property, they can also technically be part of Herrman said once the police decide no criminal activity is involved, the academic department is responsible for taking action.

He said he didn't care who was cheating but rather was concerned in how they obtained the answers.

"If it's a criminal offense, that's when I get involved. I investigate to make that determination based on the information given in interviews," Herrman said.

Bill Feyerharm, assistant dean of the College of Arts and Sciences, said the police have done an excellent job with the investigation.

"Herrman interviewed approximately 70 students in a week to 10 days," Feyerharm said.

Feyerharm said the department will make a decision on the sanctions and will either fail the students from the course or dismiss them from the University.

Within a day, the students should be informed by the Department of Biology," Feyerharm said.

Feyerharm said if students cheat once, notes will be put in their file if they are not expelled, and after their second occurrence, they will be automatically expelled from the University.

Feyerharm said it is University policy that only the students' grades are printed on the transcript.

Gunile Devault, associate registrar, said if the students who cheated on the biology exam are failed from the course, an F with an R for retake will appear on the transcript in the fall 1994 semester.

The revised grade from the biology course, which is taken at another semester, will then appear at the appropriate semester when the class was retaken.

"It's just the same as if anyone flunked and retook a course. The F will appear on the transcript," Devault said.

Students say decision unfair

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

They didn't feel they could use force to take the tests away from the students, he said.

Elick said she announced that the GTAs would be watching for cheating.

Three versions of the test were administered. Elick said the questions were the same on all the tests, but they were in a different order.

The GTAs told Clark about their observations and strongly advised that the test be thrown out, Clark said.

"I'm not trying to isolate cheaters," he said. "With a situation like this, there is no way the results can count."

Clark said he felt bad because he and the students who studied wasted a lot of time preparing for the exam.

"I never anticipated such open and casual cheating," he said.

Elick has proctored Clark's tests for two years. She said she had never seen the level of cheating as high as it was when Clark was absent.

from feeling bad that the test was thrown out," Elick said.

She said the test grade would not have been worth as much for the students had they been recorded with the level of cheating that occurred.

Clark said he was amazed that the students didn't stop cheating when the behavior was noticed and they were asked to stop by the GTAs.

No make-up test will be administered for the second exam. What this means for students is that the final exam will count for a little more, Clark said.

Clark's finals have three parts, which correspond to the three exams given during the semester and a few extra questions that are from the lectures following the third exam, he said.

The final is graded as an exam and then graded again by section. Each section is compared with the grade received on the corresponding exam.

If the student's score increases, then the grades are averaged, and "I would discourage people the higher grade replaces the original test grade, Clark said.

The grade on the second part of the test will be the grade given for the second exam since there are no grades for that test.

"It would make me upset to find out that I got a better grade on this test than on the final." Kathryn Wesolowsky, senior in political science and history, said. Monica Preboth, junior in English, is also in the class. "I went over the test with my notes, and I'm pretty sure I had an A," she said.

Preboth said she didn't see the GTAs stop and talk to anyone during the test. She said she was not aware of the problem, so when Clark announced that the test scores would not be counted, she was surprised.

Preboth said she thought GTAs should be told what to do about cheating before being allowed to proctor tests.

If cheating were such a problem, they should have waited for Clark to return before administering the test, she said.

KSU Student Ambassador Elections November 2-1

Don't miss your chance to vote for the 1994-95 K-State Student Ambassadors. Elections will be Wednesday to Friday, Nov. 2-4, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. in the K-State Union. Bring your student I.D.

Homecoming Wild Country

East Hwy 24 & StateLake Road

presents: H MILLER U LITE R Ś D A

Come Out & Watch or Wrestle!!! Men's & Women's Brackets Everybody Who Enters Wins a Prize

One BIG GRAND PRIZE First, Second Third Place Prizes as well!!

November 3 at 8 PM

SPECIALS ALL FRIDAY:

JENNIE

DIEBALL

SAHUDDAY: JENNIE RAYNOR HARD to HANDLE

WEEKEND

Weekend!!!

SUMO wrestling

Pant the Chant Contest

K-State Homecoming

Schedule

Thursday, Nov. 3, K-State Day

K-State Union

 Ambassador Elections, 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. (Please bring fee card or student I.D.) Ahearn Field House

- Body Building Competition Preliminaries, 6:30 to 8 p.m.
- Announcement of Spirit Banner Winner, 8 p.m.

Friday, Nov. 4, K-State Day K-State Union

 Ambassador Elections, 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. (Please bring fee card or student I.D.)

Float Judging, 3 to 6 p.m.

Ahearn Field House

 Body Building Finals, 7:30 p.m. KSU Stadium

- . Bonfire Pep Rally, 9 p.m. Coach Snyder and the team captains will address the crowd. The whole football team will be in attendance. East gates of the stadium will be open.
- Announcement of Winners of Body Building.

Saturday, Nov. 5, Homecoming Day

Aggieville and Downtown • Parade, 9 a.m.

K-State Union first floor

Campus tours, 10 a.m.

KSU Stadium

 K-State vs. Iowa State Football game, 1:10 Presentation of Ambassadors and announcement of overall winners, Halftime Bramlage Coliseum

 Neak Frasty Stompdown '94 McCain Auditorium

 K-State Singers/Men's Glee Club/Women's Glee Club Performance, 8 p.m.

Hear the Cats

in 94!

Applications for 1995 Homecoming chairman and publicity chairman are available until Nov. 15 at the Alumni Association office. Call 532-6260 for more information.

SPORTS

Women's team will provide exciting play this season

something exciting and inexpensive to do tonight (after all. Student Senate isn't meeting). I highly recommend women's basketball exhibition game.

The Cats will tip off at 7 p.m. against Athletes in Action in their first competition of the 1994-95 season. If Tom Asbury has rebuilding job ahead of him, he doesn't need to look far for a model.

K-State women's basketball coach Brian Agler took a program finished last in the Big Eight Conference before his arrival (1-13 in 1992-93), to its best season in three years, finishing 13-14, 5-9 against tough Big Eight opposition.

EWERENZ

This year's team was selected by area sportswriters to finish fifth in the conference. But some have predicted that with solid contributions from its newcomers and strong leadership from the veterans, K-State could finish as high as third and may challenge for a trip to the NCAA Tournament.

The Cats will be led by all-Big Eight selections Shanele Stires and Shawnda DeCamp.

Stires, a senior forward from Salina, was selected to the first team preseason all-conference after averaging 17.1 points per game and leading the team in rebounds last year.

Stires' versatile style of post play allows her to move to the outside, where she shoots .330 from the three-point arc. DeCamp, a senior guard, made the second team all-Big Eight after leading the league in scoring, while averaging 19.4 points last year in her first season with the Cats. Against Detroit-Mercy last year, she let fly with nine threepointers on the way to tying the K-State single-game scoring record with 38 points.

Though Shanele and Shawnda combined for more than half of the Wildcat offense last year, look for greater contributions this year from the rest of the

If you're looking for team, including several of the newcomers.

Freshman Brit Jacobson, one of the top high-school seniors in the country last year, was chosen as a Kodak all-American after leading Alaska in scoring for the third straight year.

Also, at 5 feet 7 inches, the Chugiak native is likely to make an impression early as one of the top young guards in the conference.

Jacobson will probably vie with sophomore Missy Decker for a starting spot at the wing.

Decker finished the season strong last year, coming off the bench with a deadly outside shot and stifling defense.

Another sophomore, six-foot post Andria Jones, is the likely starter at center. Jones had some impressive moments coming off the bench last year, including a season-high eight points in the Big Eight Tournament against Oklahoma State.

She also showed excellent court vision with some beautiful assists.

The final starter tomorrow night will be freshman Amanda Chamberlain, a 5-foot, 9-inch point guard from Holton.

Chamberlain was chosen as the 4A Player of the Year last year by Kansas Sport magazine and has been impressive in practice so far.

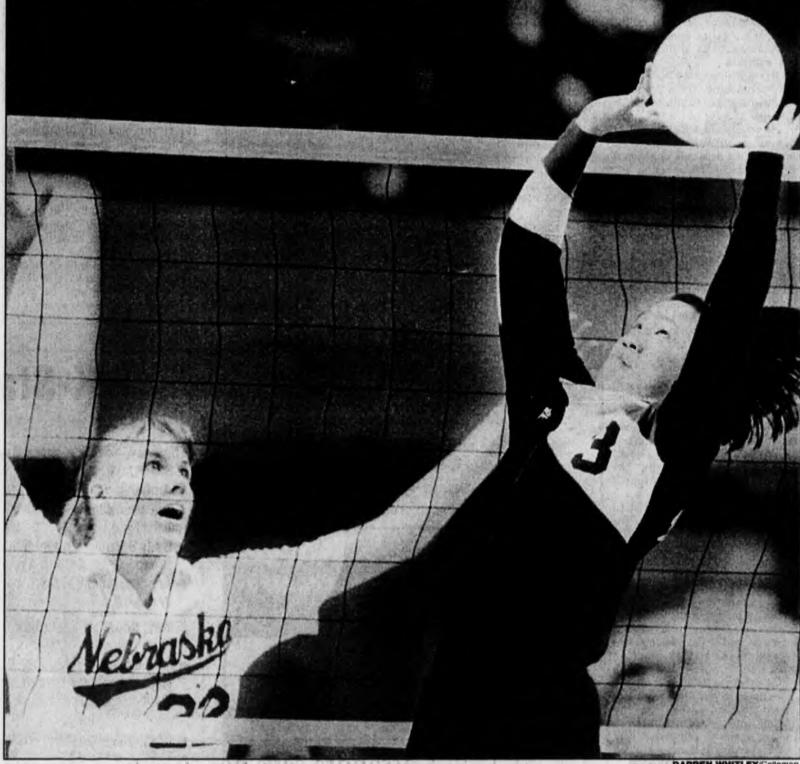

Unfortunately, the Cats have been hobbled by injuries at the point. Last year's starter, Kjersten Larson, and junior transfer Carlene Mitchell have not practiced this year due to

But Agler said he believes both are ready for light work in practice and should be playing by the next exhibition game, a Nov. 19 date against the Puerto Rican National Team.

For the second year in a row. K-State will have a lot of new faces on the team. Jacobson, Chamberlain and Mitchell are joined by junior transfers Lisa Gaitor, Risha Grant, Patty Johnson and Dee Ella Lewis. Junior Dana Pollock, a Wildcat veteran, is sure to provide some quality minutes on the wing.

Despite the new faces, the Cats are really coming together well, Agler said. And when the team reaches full strength, it will challenge for the top spots in the Big Eight race.

So, if you're looking for tight defense, solid post play and exceptional outside shooting, Bramlage is the place to be Chi Dau sets up a teammate during the Cats' 3-0 loss to the Huskers in Lincoln, Neb. The Cats had leads in the first two games before falling.

Cornhuskers prove rankings

WESS HUDELSON

LINCOLN, Neb. - Coach Jim Moore told his team it couldn't win before the match.

K-State was beaten in three games, 15-8, 15-11 and 15-3, by the undefeated and 2nd-ranked Nebraska Cornhuskers Wednesday at Lincoln,

"I told them the chance of team was beating this almost none

and to go out and have fun."

IIM MOORE

volleyball coach

K-State

"I told them the chance of beating this team was almost none and to go out and have fun," Moore said.

"We had a better chance of winning if we were having fun than if we weren't."

K-State did take a lead in both the first and second games but saw them disappear. The Wildcats led

5-2 early in the first game by scoring four straight points. Nebraska committed two errors during the stretch. Nebraska setter Christy Johnson ended the Cats streak with a kill, giving the Huskers the

The Huskers then answered with two points on a block and a service ace by Johnson.

"I knew they would come on strong," Moore said. "I don't believe their coach was happy with how they were playing. Nebraska chipped away at K-State and extended its lead to 12-6 before closing the first game 15-8.

The second game, the Cats jumped out to a 6-0 lead before eventually watching it disappear.

K-State later led by an 8-2 score in the game, benefiting from Nebraska errors. Again, the Huskers took away the lead a little at a time. Nebraska regained the edge 11-10, never scoring more than three points in a row. Nebraska middle blocker Allison Weston slammed the door on the second game with a kill, making the score 15-11. Weston put away 16 kills in the match. We knew this was going to be tough without Devon (Ryning) blocking for us at center." Moore said. "Everytime they went in her area, it was an almost automatic kill." Ryning missed the match because of mononucleosis. Her return to action is still Nebraska dominated the third game by pouncing on K-State early with seven unanswered points. K-State responded with two points on Chi

Dau's service ace and a missed spike by Weston, but the Cats could only muster one more point the rest of the way as Nebraska wrapped up the match at 15-3

Middle blocker Peggy Meyer recorded three kills and three blocks during the game, all counting for points.

She contributed eight kills, four block assists and two solo blocks to the Huskers' winning Yolanda Young again led K-State with 11 kills in the match, but she said it was a frustrating evening.

Moore and Young had a one-on-one discussion during a timeout in the first game.

"He told me I needed to do a better job of avoiding blocks," Young said. "He said I could lift up the team with my play, and that I wasn't doing it."

Young was blocked on numerous occasions throughout the match by bigger Nebraska middle

"Toy (Young) needs to learn to get around the blocks," Moore said. "You have no choice you either do or you don't. All of the great hitters

Moore said the Cats' win in the first game against the Huskers at Manhattan Oct. 12 still affects his team's play.

"They believed they could win, and when they did, they didn't know what to do," Moore said. "Ever since that point, we have been playing not to lose rather than to win. We're playing without any life.

"Usually, I just sit and watch the match," Moore said.

"Tonight, I was standing up, and I really gave them an earful during the break.'

> INTRAMURALS

Side Out notches another win

DEBBIE PILANT

No. 2-ranked Side Out defeated Vet Med 15-7, 15-8 in intramural co-rec volleyball action Wednesday night at the Chester E. Peters Recreation

Julie Haffner, member of the Side Out team, said this game

"It was nice to have a team that actually could play strong," she said. "Normally, we just stand around, but when we play a team like tonight, we get to move, and we like it better." Sean Hull, also a Side Out member, attributed the win to strong serving.

"It was definitely the best thing. They had a hard time with the jump serve, and we have three players who use that serve," he said.

The fast pace of the game was also difficult for the Vet Med team to adjust to, Stacy Kidd, member of the Vet Med team,

"It was more competitive than we're used to," she said. "I hope we get to play them again."

John Mogusar, Side Out captain, said there was only one referee for the game, and it was difficult for him to make calls on the far side of the court.

"We weren't to the point of fighting with him. When you only have one referee, it's hard to yell at him," he said.

Haffner said that hard hitting has been an advantage throughout the three years the team has been together.

"We have girls who can hit as well as the guys," she said. She added that one of the other women played for K-State for a year, and she's played all

Hull said one problem they had throughout the match was adjusting to the loss of their setter, Dondi Dawes.

He said hitting became much more difficult as they tried to make those adjustments.

"Angela is a good setter," he said, "but it's difficult to adjust when a new player comes in."

► AHEARN SCHOLARSHIP FUND

ICAT members increase in size from heavy recruiting

BROOKE GRABER-FORT

ICAT is on the prowl.

ICAT, which stands for I Contributed a Twenty, has more than doubled its membership, going from 580 members during the 1993-94 school year to roughly 1,250 members for the 1994-95 school year.

All money raised by ICAT contributes to the Mike Ahearn Scholarship Fund.

Shane Scott, ICAT president, attributed the organization's jump in size to an increased recruiting practice.

Scott said one of the recruiting practices was to target sororities and fraternities because of the large number of students. 'We hit the fraternities and sororities really hard," he said. 'We had a contest where the house that had the biggest percentage of people sign up got a free pizza party." He said the success of K-State athletics, particularly the success of the football team, helped increase students' interest in becoming an ICAT member.

Michael Henry, ICAT vice president, said ICAT has been a campus organization for about five years.

"It was started in the marketing department as a way of getting fans more involved with the football team and the athletic department itself,"

At this week's football game against Iowa State, ICAT members and members of Pi Sigma Epsilon, a marketing fraternity, are jointly selling purple and white pom-poms for 50 cents each.

'We're not expecting to make money off of this. We just want to break even. We're trying to encourage the students to paint the stadium purple," Scott said.

Also at Saturday's game, ICAT will have the Power Jam set up on the northeast side of the stadium next to the KJCK-FM 94.5 van.

Shane Voelker, senior in marketing, said the Power Jam was Athletic director Max Urick's Power Jam is a game similar to the try-yourstrength games that are typically at state fairs.

"It was one of Max's toys," Voelker said. The Power Jam is a gimmick designed to get people involved, Scott said. It raises money for athletic scholarships.

The object of Power Jam is to hit a platform with a sledgehammer as hard as you can. If you ring the bell at the top of the platform, you earn

You get three tries for a dollar. The prizes are things all college students need and want - free food and clothing. Voelker is in charge of the Power Jam. He said whoever rings the bell three times wins a "Strike Crew" T-shirt. Whoever rings the bell two times receives coupons for free food at Domino's Pizza, Subway or Lucky BrewGrille. "It's one of the only student booster groups in the country," Scott said.

"Colorado is the only other school in the Big Eight that has anything like it."

IVERSIONS

ARTS AND ENTERTAINMENT CALENDAR

Grand Illusion" — 7 p.m. in Union Forum Hall. | and 9:30 p.m. in Union *Rules of the Game" -9:30 p.m. in Union

The Client" -7 Forum Hall.

The Client" -7 and 9:30 p.m. in Union Forum Hall.

NOVEMBER 3, 1994

▶ CROSSWORD EUGENE SHEFFER ACROSS DOWN water-1 Staff 38 Hayseed works 20 Switch 40 British 1 Algonpositions 5 Garden sports car evictee 9 See 5 41 Most language 22 Swimming stroke beefcake 2 Sparse 23 "Private admirers 3 Bridge Across Benjamin" 12 Verifiable 43 Folder position star material 4 Airborne 13 Prolonged 47 Ms. 24 Run up the uncon-5 Liniment Gardner target sciousness 6 "— good deed" 48 1969 25 P, for Plato 14 Attitude 26 Sitting 15 Parlor Pete 7 Chartres duck Fonda film piece 17 Last word 51 - es 27 Lotion chum additive of Kipling's Salaam 8 Gras preceder 9 Popular 29 Syllogism 52 Tend 18 100 texts word 30 Father's percent 53 Theater comedy Day gift 35 Weeding 19 Holmes award show of 54 Wapiti creator old radio Eastern st. 55 "How 10 String tool instrument 37 Set off the little 22 Porcelain 11 Sea eagle 39 Struck with pieces busy 16 Turn on the patella Louganis 56 Addition-40 Ruin the 27 Altar Solution time: 22 mins. 41 Test the constella 42 Elliptical 28 Mel 43 Legend Torme's 44 Subject of specialty 31 "So that's worship 45 Oculist's it, eh? 32 Mason's item 46 Actor field 33 Mr. Gross 49 Bother-Whitney 34 Nonsense ation 50 Command Yesterday's answer 11-3 37 Land in the to Fido

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

PED? For answers to today's crossword, call 1-900-454-6873 99¢ per minute, touchtone / rotary phones. (18+ only.) A King Features service, NYC.

CRYPTOQUIP

SJG AQU CUPA CU CJGB AEVBP AJ

AEJPWRF Yesterday's Cryptoquip: TO AVOID GEOMETRY TEST, STUDENT MULLED OVER EVERY ANGLE.

Today's Cryptoquip clue: A equals T

▶ FILLER JOHN MEIROWSKY/COLLEGIAN He still wants to go I don't want to hurt out with me. his feelings. Just say no.

BILL WATTERSON IT'S HARD TO BE RELIGIOUS WHEN CERTAIN PEOPLE ARE NEVER INCINERATED BY BOLTS OF LIGHTNING

▶ STEP SHOW Neak Frasty shows variety of dances

TAMARA JORDON

The parade, bonfire and chant will not be the only Homecoming activities this weekend. The Neak Frasty Step Show will stomp out support for the Wildcats.

The show includes some of the eight historically black greek organizations and brings in people from all over the Midwest," B.C. Camp II, Alpha Phi Alpha member, said.

The show is an annual competition at K-State, with participants from Missouri, Oklahoma and Kansas.

"All participating chapters in the show will be competing with stomp rou-tines," Camp said.

Stepping is derived from African dance and includes many forms of dance. Fraternity and sorority chants are said along with the dances.

Camp said $1,000 in prizes is awarded to the winning fraternity and sorority. The second-place prizes are trophies.

STEP SHOW

Step Show will be at 7:30 p.m. Saturday in Bramlage Coliseum.

Admission is $5.

The Neak Frasty

"I feel that this year's show is going to be larger than last year, which means more scholarship money," he said.

Money collected from the event will be contributed to the Alpha Phi Alpha fraternity scholar-

The Alpha Phi Alpha's give four scholarships to two high-school seniors and two K-State students The scholarship recipients are based on essays.

Rebecca Keller, Kappa Alpha Theta member and senior in human ecology, said they don't expect to win the competition. They are in the competition for fun.

"We just want to have a good time and be entertaining," Keller said.

Keller said she participated in the show two years ago and wanted to be involved this year.

The show became a part of K-State's Homecoming festivities in 1991.

Cassandra says not to expect fire works on reader's first experience

swing, Twinky

Dear Cassandra,

I read your column every day, and I enjoy the humor in it, and I also have found some good advice.

I'm still a virgin, and my boyfriend and I are waiting until we're married, so I really don't know much about sex.

Recently, I've been thinking a lot about our wedding night, and I want it to be perfect, but neither of us really know anything, so how do we know when we've had

How do we know if it's any good? How do we know if we're doing the right things when the wedding night finally

Sincerely, Get A Little Closer Dear Get A Little Closer,

An orgasm is defined as a great excitement — the climax of sexual excitement, as

However, if you wanted a dictionary response, you probably would have gone to your trusty Webster and looked it up your-whether you have had an orgasm, you haven't had one. You or your boyfriend would definitely know if either of you had.

I admire the fact that you're waiting for your wedding night to have sex.

However, don't have unrealistic expecta-

Like anything else, perfect sex takes a lot of practice between partners.

It's going to take a lot of time to discover what both of you like and dislike.

As for knowing what is the "right" thing to do on your wedding night, don't worry about it.

Married friends have assured Cassandra that it's a wonderful thing to discover what pleases your partner.

Let me tell you this, if you're wondering The mystery is a big part of the fun! If you both enjoy tying each other up in chains and riding around naked on the ceiling fan, you're doing the right thing. Whatever pleases the both of you is the "right" thing to do.

Just remember, practice makes perfect.

Good Luck!

Kockport Anniversary SELECTED STYLES for MEN and WOMEN

Manhattan Town Center 537-6226

Judge stops return of refugees to Haiti

ASSOCIATED PRESS

MIAMI (AP) - A judge blocked the U.S. government Wednesday from returning 14 Haitian refugees held at Guantanamo Bay in Cuba, saying the decision to go home may not be

U.S. District Judge C. Clyde Atkins issued a temporary order after allowing advocates for the Haitians to join a lawsuit by lawyers seeking access to thousands of Cubans held at Guantanamo and in Panama.

"In general, the goal of the United States seems to be remove the Haitians - whether they wish to return to Haiti or not - from Guantanamo," said Steve Forrester, an attorney for the Haitian Refugee

Atkins ordered a halt to the return of Cubans until they are given the chance to meet with Nearly 24,000 Cubans are being held at the U.S. naval base at Guantanamo, and more than 8,000 are in Panama. So far, 42 Cubans have returned to Havana.

The attorneys for the Cubans and the Haitians argued the refugees could not make an informed decision to volunteer to return to their homelands without the advice of counsel.

Assistant U.S. Attorney Dexter heard before ruling.

World HOTSPOTS

Lee wouldn't comment on the Haitian order, other than to say the government was considering an

The Justice Department has already appealed the judge's order on the Cubans. Atkins did not rule Wednesday on a request by the government to stay his order pending the appeal.

The latest order does not apply to 40 other Haitians at the camp who had volunteered to return to Haiti for medical treatment and who were scheduled to return Thursday.

The Haitian Refugee Center seeks the same treatment for the nearly 6,000 Haitians as given the Cubans.

Most have been held at the camp on the southeastern end of Cuba since July. The Haitians asked for the release of 230 unaccompanied minor children and a list of names of all refugees. Atkins said he will wait until the Cuban appeal was

- CAMPUS

Hackers compete in battle of the bytes

SUMMER RUCKMAN

Write a program that accepts an integer between zero and 9,999 and returns the sum of all digits in the number. Example: enter integer 3,475, output 19.

High-school computer whizzes chomped on fingernails and tapped feet nervously during the KSU High School Programming Contest.

Each team faced six 25-minute rounds of programming problems.

"It's a lot of hair-pulling just trying to make sure everything runs correctly and finding anxiety bugs," Diamond Huynh, senior from Larned High School, said.

The Department of Computing and Information Sciences sponsored the third-annual contest. which was in the K-State Union Ballroom Wednesday.

The 43 teams were divided into advanced and beginner brackets based on computer background.

'We have to design the problems so there's a strong chance of the students solving them," Rodney Howell, coorganizer of the contest, said. 'The problems can't be terribly

The atmosphere was intense as about 135 students clustered around glowing screens, stealing glances of the competition and watching the clock.

involved."

"It's not so much doing it in 25 minutes, because that's not a problem," Sara Burch, Larned senior, said. "It's finishing before the other teams and getting the extra points.'

Teams received 20 points for solving the programming problem within the 25-minute time limit and additional points for each minute remaining on the clock.

The different competitive attitudes ranged as much as the students' attire.

Some students were set on winning, while others just enjoyed the diversion. Some wore leather jackets; others wore suits and ties.

And, of course, the scene had several of the stereotypical computer wizards — bespectacled

"There are people that are big on computers that are big on this contest. I came more to get out of school," said David Hughes, senior at Goddard High School in Wichita. Veteran Ryan Steiskal, junior from the second-place Larned team, was going after another first-place title.

"It's what I want to go into," Stejskal said.

'For me, it's helping me to see where we are compared to everyone else's computer skills in the state.'

The contest gave the students a chance to test their mettle and to check out K-State's computer science and engineering depart-

During breaks, the students learned about the University's programs and toured campus.

'It's an opportunity for the students to interact with other kids interested in computer science and see how their skills compare in a competitive setting," said Howell, assistant professor in engineering computers and information sciences.

Secondly, it allows them to see the K-State computer science department, engineering department and some of the facilities," Howell said.

Hughes said that although the Goddard team was getting stomped, he enjoyed being in Manhattan.

"We get to see campus while students are here," Hughes said. "A lot of times, I've come during the summer when the students aren't around."

The Salina South Cougars captured first place with 186 points, barely defeating Larned with their one-point edge.

Washburn Rural rounded out the advanced group with 182

In the beginners' bracket, the Lawrence Butter Fried Onions placed first with 228 points, with Washburn Rural sliding in second with 182 and the Lawrence Grinders taking third.

Lashone Rae Valle

Judy Wagner

Evelyn Wray

ADVERTISE

IN THE

COLLEGIAN

532-6555 • 532-6555 • 532-6555 • 532-6555 • 532-6555

Bruce McGuire

Kimberly Mosier

Kim McKay

estaurant

THURSDAY NIGHT SPECIALS

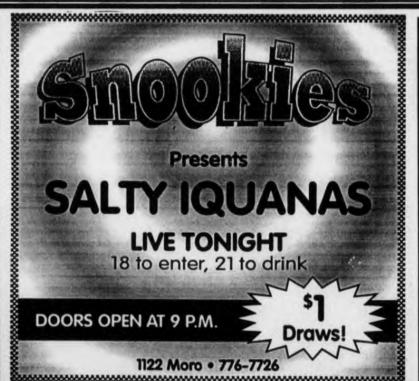

THURSDAYS Burger & Beer Night every burger comes with a frosty

mug of beer or soft drink

$1.75 Zimas 50€ Zima Shots Free Jukebox

DISCO & DANCIN'

By CiCo Park Kimball & Seth Childs Candlewood Center

Dominos Pizza

+TAX One Large One Topping Pizza Carryout or Delivery $399 + TAX One Medium One Topping Pizza Carryout Only

> NOT VALID WITH OTHER OFFERS PLEASE MENTION SPECIAL WHEN ORDERING EXPIRES 11-5-94

776-7788 517 N. 12TH St. Hours: 11a.m. -1a.m. Sun.-Tues.

11a.m. -Za.m. Wed.-Sat.

MEATSA!MEATSA! Beef Topping & Ham

PEPPERONI! PEPPERONI!

SUPREME!SUPREME!

2 Pizzas With Pepperoni, Onion Italian Style Sausage, Mushroom Green Pepper & Beel Topping ANY 2 MEDIUM PIZZAS

PLUS TAX 2 LARGE $13.98

NOW GET - CAESARS SINGLES™ ONE MEDIUM $5.99*ONE LARGE $7.99 Expires 11-17-94

Don't miss Bob's Daily Lunch and Dinner Specials for November! Thursday, Nov. 3 Saturday, Nov. 5 Friday, Nov. 4 Baked Fish Mexican Plate Chicken Giblets Sunday, Nov. 6 Monday, Nov. 7 Shrimp DOW O DINER Wednesday, Nov. 9 Tuesday, Nov. 8 North 3rd - 537-7776 BBQ Pork Lasagna (NO coupon needed. NONE accepted) "No Coupon" Specials Everyday Everyday Three-fers Two-fers - PIZZAS with - PIZZAS with 2 - TOPPINGS each - TOPPING each 2 - COKES with ice - COKES with ice $8.45 $10.34 Pizza Shuttle

LASSIFIEDS

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

1 DAY 20 words or less - $5 each word over 20 - $.20 per word

2 DAYS 20 words or less - $6.25 each word over 20 - $.25 per word

3 DAYS 20 words or less - $7.25 each word over 20 - $.30 per word

4 DAYS 20 words or less - $8 each word over 20 - $.35 per word

5 DAYS 20 words or less — $8.50

each word over 20 - $.40 per word (consecutive day rate)

HOW TO PAY

All classifieds must be peid in advan-unless you have an established accou-with Student Publications. Cash, check, MasterCard or Vise are d. There is a $10 service charge

We reserve the right to edit, reject or roperly classify any ad.

For an extra charge, we'll put a readline above your ad to catch the reader's attention mplex. No pets.

CAMBRIDGE

SQ. APT.

2 BEDROOMS

*FIREPLACE

*POOL

537-9064

WEEKDAYS

9:00-4:30

ONE-BEDROOMS AVAIL-ABLE at 1026 Sunset. $385- $395. Remodeled units, Central air/ heat. Laundry facilities. Three

NEED A place to live? Fam-ily has room for female to live in. Board and food, exchanged for du-ties. References to Box 6 c/o Collegian.

smoker, for two-bed-room place. No pets. References. 539-1554.

TWO-BEDROOM, TWO car garage 5112 Murray. Near airport $500/ month. Two-bedroom duplex, 515 S. Manhat-tan $425/ month 539-7181 leave mes-sage.

AVAILABLE SECOND se mester. Own large, nice bedroom in furnished

Rooms

Available

For Rent-

NON-DRINKER

Houses

blocks west of campus. 776-3804.

****

CANCELLATIONS

Classified ads must be placed by noon the day before the date you want your ad to run. Classifed display ads must be placed by 4 p.m. two working days prior to the date you want your ad If you self your item before your ad has expired, we will refund you for the ing days. must call us before noon the day must be sublished.

CORRECTIONS

Call 532-6555 to place your classified.

GET THE WORD OUT

532-6555

532-7309

Items for Sale

cellent condition. Very negotiable. 587-9066

BONEPILE

RECORDS & DISCS

YOUR HIGH-QUALITY SOUND RECYCLERS

S CASH DAILY S

FOR RECORDS,

410

OR WRITE COLLEGIAN CLASSIFIEDS K-State Colle Kedzie Hall 103 Manhattan, Kan. 66506

OFFICE HOURS MONDAY-FRIDAY 8 a.m.-5 p.m. (Except holidays)

BULLETIN BOARD

Announcements

Earn $15 each time you donate

plasma.

MANHATTAN BIOMEDICAL CENTER

1130 Gardenway 776-9177 Mon.-Fri. 9 a.m.-6:30 p.m. Sat. 9 a.m.-2 p.m.

50 PERCENT off single sports cards! Just in-94- 95 Hockey and Bas-ketball wax. Bases Load-ad Sports Cards 410 Poyntz, 537-4141. oyntz, 537-4141.

ADVANCED FLIGHT Train-ing from 5000-hour ATP instructor. Private single-engine through ATP multi-engine. Hugh Irvin, 539-3128.

SALE. Nov. 12 and 13, Sat. 10-6p.m., Sun. 11-4p.m. Pottorf Hall CICO Park. Sponsored by the Pilot Club of Manhattan CHRISTMAS OPEN HOUSE at Blooming Dale's, 1105 Waters-Sat., Nov. 5 9- 6p.m., Sun., Nov. 6 11- 5p.m.

539-4751. COME FLY with us, K-State Flying Club has five air-planes. For best prices call Troy Brockway, 776-6735 after 5:30p.m.

PERSONAL SECURITY Alarm. Hand held alarm with motion sen sor for car and home Great for student. $20 order today. Lacy 539-

PLAN A stunning winter wedding with Bloom-ing Dale's winter floral. Ask for Diane. 539–4751.

Lost and Found

Found ads can be placed free for three

FOUND CAT around 1900 block of Hunting. Dark tiger stripe with pink collar. To claim contact 539-2605.

FOUND: CROSS in Kedzie 106 call 762-8993 to

JEWELRY FOUND by red nvertible Chrysler Le Baron on street bet-ween Ford Hall and VanZile Hall. Call 537-6028.

Personals

We require a form of picture ID (KSU, driv-er's license or other) when placing a per-

DELECIAN CLASSIFIEDS

Homecoming Personals

for Wednesday, Thursday and Friday. Call 532-6555 for more info or come to 103 Kedzie Hall to place your personal. Deadline is one day before at noon.

OLLEGIAN

Meetings/

MARY KAY open house Nov. 6, 1- 6p.m. 15 per-cent off any purchase!! Call for details today!

Parties-n-More

Roommate ADD A splash to your next Wanted

bash. Great anytime. Birthdays, mid-terms and Wildcat victory par-ties. Wet-N-Wild Mobile Hot Tubs, 537-1825.

ADD AN extra touch of class to your next par-ty. Call Wayne's Water Party to rent a portable hot tub 537-7587, 539-7561.

BOCKERS II Catering. Dances, bars, dinners, Weddings, Alumni func-tions. Catering any-where, discounts, Ware-ham, Days Inn, Hous-ton Street. Call 539-9431

HOUSING/

REAL ESTATE

For Rent-

Apts. Furnished

AVAILABLE FALL very nice one, two, three and four-bedroom apartment complexes and houses. Excellent locations with great prices. 537-1666, 537-2919.

FOR JAN. across street Ford Hall deluxe two-bedroom. $485/ month. 539-2482. After 4p.m.

ONE-BEDROOM APART-MENT, close to cam-pus. 1913 Anderson Ave. $280/ month-available Jan. 1

ONE-BEDROOM NISHED, one and one-half blocks from campus, carport, $300, pets on approval. Call bet-ween 10a.m.- 5p.m. 537-4720.

QUIET SURROUNDINGS for study. Campus one mile, one-bedroom, some utilities paid. Minimum seven month lease, no pets. lease, 537-8389.

For Rent-Unfurnished

AVAILABLE FALL very nice one, two, three and four-bedroom aparttions with great prices. 537-1666, 537-2919.

MANHATTAN CHASE Apartments, two-bed-room apartments avail-able now, Corner of College and Claflin.

CLOSE (ONE block), to campus. Two, three-bedrooms. Nice. Laundry/ central air/

HEADLINES

low utilities/ one and three-fourths baths.

WANTED: FEMALE to share three-bedroom apartment with one and one-half bath. $220 a month, one-third utili-ties. Available Jan. 1. Call Marsha or Amy 776-0293.

Sublease

FOR SPRING semesteravailable end of Dec. One-bedroom apart-ment, two blocks from campus. Call 537-4768.

nished apartment. $250 a month, three blocks from Last Chance! 539-5571.

month plus one-sev-enth utilities; kitchen and laundry available; four blocks from cammester. Own large, nice, bedroom in furnished three-bedroom WELL EXPERIENCED typis close to campus. 537-ROOMMATE FEMALE needed now or next se-mester. Five- minute

FEMALE

FEMALE ROOMMATE share four-bedroom Available mid-Decem ber. Own room, two and one-half bath, room apartment with two females. One-half block from campus. Rent $210, laundry facil-ities available. 776–1360.

LOOKING FOR two more

MALE ROOMMATE wanted $150 month, one-half utilities, own room in trailer, call 539-8449

WANTED NON-SMOKING

CHANGE YOUR grades with Study Consultant. Free information $2 postage. Venus Co., P.O. Box 1351, Manhat-tan, KS 66502.

$150. Share utilities. 539-1554.

DEADLINES

FREE FOUND ADS

FEMALE/ NON-SMOKER to sublease. Will live with three other girls. One-fourth of utilities and $162/ month rent. One-half of December free. Call 539-3387

JAN. 1 one-bedroom fur-

TWO-BEDROOM Available after finals.
Near Westloop $435.
New carpet, balcony,
one bathroom,
776-3173, leave mes-

NICE, CLEAN, two-bed-room apartment, two blocks from campus and close to aggieville. Call 776-1324.

ONE ROOM for rent in large, beautiful, seven-bedroom home; $150/ pus; January 1 to May 31 sublease available; 537-2497— ask for Russ by day would like typ-ing at night. Laser print-ing. Call Judy 539-7100 or 456-9642.

Pregnancy Testing

Pregnancy

Testing Center

539-3338

Totally confidential

Same day results

*Call for appointment

Located across from

Anderson Village

Mon.-Fri.

9 a.m.-5 p.m.

NISSAN DATSUN Repair

5p.m. Mon.- Fri.

SS FOR COLLEGE corpo

grants. No GPA or in come requirements. No paycheck. Money back guarantee. Call guarantee. Cal (800)645-3525 for infor

Service. 22 years ex-perience. Mazdas, Hon-das and Toyotas also. Auto Craft, 2612 Dipper Lane, Manhattan, Kan-sas. 537-5049. 8a.m.-

250

Automotive

Repair

Services

·Free pregnancy testing

service

Typing

210

three-bedroom house with fireplace, washer/ dryer. Rent $190 one-Resume/ utilities. Call 776-5966. NEED SOMETHING typed? I'll type it for $1/ per page. Call 537-9480 after 5:30p.m. Ask for

AVAILABLE SECOND sehouse with fireplace, washer/ dryer. Rent $190, one-fifth utilities. 776-5966.

FEMALE ROOMMATE be ginning in January, three-bedroom house, $200/ month plus one-third utilities. Close to campus. 776-1890. FEMALE ROOMMATE for spring semester. Non-smoker; three-bed-rooms; walk to campus; $215/ month; one-third utilities. 776-0096 after

9p.m. FEMALE ROOMMATE needed immediately to share two-bedroom apartment, rent $210/ month, washer, drye walk to campus. One-third of bills. Call 776-6184.

ROOMMATE needed to occupy three-bedroom apartment at Woodway. $208/ month plus one-third utilities and water. Call Susan, 587-8270.

washer/ dryer, dish-washer, one-fourth utili-ties, $215/ month. 587-8622.

people to share five-bedroom house two blocks from campus. Rent $150 each. Call nowl 587-1969.

RENT ONE of three-bed

WANTED FOR spring se-mester, one non-smok-ing male to sublease room, Call 537–3555 for and non-drinking room-mate for basement fur-nished private bed-room. Walk to KSU.

PROMPT CONTRACEPTIVE and abortion services. Dale L. Clinton, M.D., (913)841-5716.

> EMPLOYMENT/ CAREERS

Help Wanted

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment/Career classification. Readers are advised to approach any such employment opportunity with reasonable caution. The Collegian urges our readers to contact the Better Business Bureau, 501 SE Jefferson, Topeka, KS 66607-1190. (913)232-0454.

$1500 WEEKLY possible mailing our circulars!
No a experience required! Begin Now! For information call (202)298–8957.

ALASKA EMPLOYMENT Fishing Industry. Earn up to $3000 $6000 plus per month. Room and Board! Transportation! Male/ female. No experience necessary! (206)545-4155 ext.

ARE YOU an organizer? Like to get people to-gether? Make $$$, gain excellent business exexcellent business ex-perience and earn free travel by marketing our Spring Break packages. Call Blue Iguana Tours 1–800–868–7423. TENTION GROUPS and individuals! Raise up to $10,000 or more. Win

$1000, free car or free Hawaii trip! No Invest-ment. 24-hour recorded message. (609)427-0777 Ext. 1562. ATTENTION STUDENTS: Earn extra cash stuffin earn extra cash stuffing envelopes at home. All materials provided. Send SASE to Central Distributors P.O. Box 10075, Olathe, KS 66051, Immediate re-

BARTENDER OPENINGS for private parties. Must be 21; have some experience. Apply 2321

Skyvue Ln. COMPUTER NETWORK ADMINISTRATOR: part-time student position, mostly regular sched-uled hours with some emergency trou-bleshooting hours. Re-sponsible for oversee-ing 55-computer Macin-tosh network, including hardware maintenance hardware maintenance, software backups, and records maintenance. Should be familiar with Macintosh operating systems 6 and 7. Client server networking for an ethernet network. TCP/IP experience a plus Salary negotiable. plus. Salary negotiable based on experience Pick up an applications in 113 or 103 Kedzie.

on on Tuesday, Nov. CRUISE SHIPS NOW HIRING. Earn up to $2000 plus/ month
working on Cruise
Ships or Land-Tour
companies. World travel (Hawaii, Mexico, the Caribbean, etc.) Seasonal and full-time employment available. No experience necessary.
For more information or more information all (206)634-0468 ext.

FRIENDS OF THE ENVI RONMENT. Big prob-lems need big peoplel Big problems can earn you a big paycheck, if you are serious about creating a GLOBAL CHANGE. Major state-wide expansion. 230 nationwide offices already breaking records across the country. *Explosive Growth * Various Positions * Full Training *Travel Available *Excellent Income Potential Program Potential Pr cellent Income Potential *Relocation Optional Call 776-7975 for ap-

MACINTOSH TROU-BLESHOOTER: part-time student position, mostly regular sched-uled hours with possible emergency hours. Assists in overseeing 55-computer Macintosh network, including hardware and software troubleshooting and general maintenance. Should be familiar with Macintosh operating systems 6 and 7. Mini-Pick up an application at 113 or 103 Kedzie. noon on Tues., Nov. 22.

NANNY WANTED. Need loving, dependable per son to care for charm son to care for charm-ing nine month old baby. Full-time posi-tion. Starts Jan. 1995. Submit letter of applica-tion to J. Kassebaum, 1816 Cassell, Manhat-tan, KS.

SALES REPRESENTA-TIVE- Fast growing tel-ecommunication firm is ecommunication firm is looking for qualified, highly motivated indi-viduals to serve as inde-pendent representative. Set own hours, excellent pay from bonuses and commission. For more information call Matthew Loid SKI RESORT Jobs- Hiring for many positions for winter quarter. Over 15,000 open-ings! For more infor-mation call: (206)634-0469 ext.

TURNTABLES, COMPACT DISCS SUMMER JOBS OUT-DOORS Over 10,000 openings! National Parks, Forests, Fire Crews. Send stamp for free details. Sullivan's 113 East Wyoming, Ka-lispell, MT 59901. AND CD SINGLES IN AGGIEVILLE LOTS OF PARKING 1126 LARAMIE

VARNEY'S BOOK STORE is now taking applications for tempo-rary part-time full-time rary part-time full-time positions in the text-book department to assist with textbook buyback. Possible employment dates are Nov. 29 through Dec. 18. Daytime, evening, and weekend hours are available. $4.30 per hour. Involvés helping customers, moderate lifting and cleaning/ pricing and cleaning/ pricing books. All positions re-quire diligence and a pleasant, service- oriented attitude. College ented attitude. College experience is strongly preferred. Apply in person downstairs at Varney's Book Store, 623 N. Manhattan Ave., Manhattan, KS. Deadline for application is Sunday, Nov. 13, 1994.

WANTED!!! INDIVIDUALS, student organizations and small groups to promote Spring Break 95. Earn substantial money and free trips Call the nation's leader inter-campus programs 1-800-327-6013.

Business

Opportunities The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment/Career classification. Readers are advised to approach any such business opportunity with reasonable caution. The Collegian urges our readers to urges our readers to contact the Better Busi-ness Bureau, 501 SE Jefferson, Topeka, KS 68607-1190.

(913)232-0454. PROFESSIONAL. I need the help of a local dis-tributor who wants to earn up to $500 a day, from the comfort of your own home. Minimal investment re-quired for more inforquired. For more info mation call 537-0837.

OPEN MARKET

Wanted to Buy

WHITE WICKER furniture wanted. Don't store it for the winter. Let's deall Call 537-4667 after 5p.m. DOS 5.0, new monitor, loaded, $425 leave message 762-7661 Andrew.

MACINTOSH COMPUT-ER. Complete system including printer only $500. Call Chris at (800)289-5685. MUST SELL need cash, Magnavox VCR, rem-ote, $175. Emerson TV, Remote, $75. Both ex-cellent condition. Very

Sporting

Equipment MIZUNO MSX 1-3-5W Wil-son Staff 3-PW Titleist DCI SW all excellent condition Sun Mountain stand bag good condition, $600. 395-5230.

Tickets to Buy/Sell

FOR SALE: Three general admission tickets for KSU/ ISU game. $10/ each. Call 587-0123.

FOUR TRAVIS Tritt tickets third row. 539-1582.

Automobiles

1981 FORD LTD small V8 engine, runs good, body straight, good transportation. $400 cash 776-8590 or 485-2547 leave mes-

MANHATTAN TWO SMALL deep freezes for sale. 5.1 cubic foot chest for $100. 12.0
cubic foot upright for $150. Great to store TRANS-PORTATION meat from home! Call 537-5667 after 5p.m.

Antiques TIME MACHINE Antique Maul and Geeb Empori-um, 6000 square feet, antiques, collectibles, estate jewelry, furni-ture, 4910 Skyway Dr four blocks east of Man hattan Airport. Open Tues.- Sat. 12- 6p.m. 539-4684.

Computers

486 4MB RAM, 340 MB HD, CD Rom, SVGA monitor, 14.4 bps modem, lots of software. 539-5606.

486SX PACKARD Bell computer with Epson 24-pin printer. One and one-half years old. 2 MB RAM, 85 MB hard orive, 1024x768 extended VGA, 1.44 MB floppy, DOS 5.0 Window software, WP 5.1, automap, games and screen filter. $800 negotiable. 587-0504.

COMPUADD 386SX16, 3.5 and 5.25 floppy, 85 MB hard, 4 MB Ram, 2400 bds modem, two joy-sticks, SVGA monitor, MS DOS 6.0, $700, call Mo 776-4110.

LAPTOP 386, 4MB RAM, 40 MB hard drive. Needs battery, $400. Call Mike 395-4806. Meg HD, 3.5, 5.25 FD's, 1983 MUSTANG GT, 302, 110K miles, black, five-speed, dependable, $1400. 539-3683.

1984 AUDI 4000s, red, two-door, air, tinted wind-ows, five speed. Nice car, and runs great! $1500 or best offer. 587-8352. Ask for Kirk.

1984 FORD Escort, good transportation. $1000 transportation. $1000 or best offer. Call Mike at 539-3530 after 6p.m.

FOR SALE: 1985 Ford Tem-po. Runs great! $950 or best offer. Must sell! Call 587-8817, ask for

Tour Package

SIX DAYS/ five nights va-cation cruise to Bahacation cruise to Bana-mas. Plus three days/ two nights in Orlando. For two adults only $400. Must sell call Charlene. 587-0948.

Airplane Tickets

DUE TO Cancellation limited Las Vegas Thanks-giving weekend air/ MGM Grand/ Wednes-day- Sunday-from KCI starting at $364, tickets available. Call Ann Chi-len. Flasship. Travel len, Flagship Travel (800)659-2303 or home

NUUR

is the deadline for

532-6555

KANSAS STATE OLLEGIAN Classifieds 103 Kedzie 8 a.m. - 5 p.m.

ADVERTISING PRODUCTION

Publication Practice

IMC 360

Class size is limited so sign up now. Get training and gain experience while earning one hour of credit this spring. Attend class one day a week from 8:30-11:30 a.m. You pick the day of the week based on availability. The instructor's permission is required. The experience you gain in the spring would qualify you to apply for a paid position in the summer or fall.

> Come to 113 Kedzie 8 a.m.-4 p.m. for more information and syllabus.

CLASSIFIED DIRECTORY

Students preparing for election, choosing sides

Republican since birth, student is set on a political future

AMY ZIEGLER

From the age of 10, he preferred news broadcasts to cartoons and working on election campaigns to playing with GI Joes. "I think I was born as a Republican," Patrick Carney, senior in political science and history, said

While other fifth-grade students were at home watching television or out on the playground, Carney was at the election office sticking signs in yards and helping out in the Reagan campaign.

"I've always took a natural interest in government and politics. When I lived in Texas, people thought it was cute that a 10-yearold was working on the election campaign, so they asked me to be in a commercial with Ronald Reagan," Carney said.

Carney said at the time, Reagan was his idol.

In his grade-school years, Carney served as a page in the state legislature and served in several leadership positions in the Maryland Mock Legislature.

Carney said that because of his heavy involvement in politics at such a young age, his parents claimed that he never had a would ever into politics and leadership. I was a quiet one, but one day, I came out of the woodwork and blasted out on the scene and tried to soak up all I could about government," Carney

Carney

Carney said he firmly believes in the Republican platforms such as the death penalty, a tight fiscal policy and the reduction of tax levels.

As the son of two Democrats. Carney said he is a Republican but is leaning toward the liberal side.

He has worked closely with Democrats and said he endorses candidates based on their platform instead of by their party.

"I'm not afraid to back a person of the opposite party if I believe in their ideals," he said.

Carney is an active member of Students for Slattery.

Carney said he plans to vote for Slattery and Carlin in the upcoming election, but isn't impressed with the Democratic leadership at the national level.

"Clinton has wasted two years of the life of our country on issues which are trivial instead of working on stabilizing the economy. He'll "They never thought that any of be gone in two years," Carney said.

An independent voter takes a look at new candidates

JENNIFER PETERSON

Julie Waliczek finds freedom and restrictions in being an independent voter.

Waliczek said she registers independent because she did not want to be stereotyped.

"I had mixed feelings about the parties, and I didn't want to stereotype myself," Waliczek said. "At the time I registered, I couldn't decide which party to put down, so I chose to be an Election independent."

· · VOTER DECISIONS Another reason Waliczek, senior in kinesiology, said she registered independent was because she likes to see both sides of an issue. Waliczek said she doesn't like some of the stipulations that go along with being an independent. For example, Waliczek said in the primary elections, independents can only vote for candidates that are campaigning as independents. Waliczek said that does not leave a very big selection to choose

Both of Waliczek's parents are registered Democrats. Even though she is the only independent in her family, she said political affiliation is not a big issue at her house.

"You vote, you come home, and you don't tell anyone who or what you voted for," Waliczek said.

elections, Waliczek said she has voted for a little bit past that has been taking place. "What I've seen is a lot of name calling, and I really hate that," Waliczek said.

In the gubernatorial election, she said she is swaying toward Jim Slattery, Democratic gubernatorial candidate, instead of Bill Graves, who is the Republican candidate.

"I don't like Graves because I recently saw a commercial where he was dogging Slattery," Waliczek Waliczek said she is going to base her election decisions on what her family members say and by reading the papers.

"I am going to read the papers and look at all the avenues," Waliczek said.

"I definitely do not pay attention to the ads," she said.

Young Democrat sees both sides of political issues

JAMIE BUSH

It is nearly election time again, and the decision to vote for the elephant or the donkey is probably racing through many students'

For Chris Hansen, sophomore in nuclear engineering, these were only a few of the many things he had to consider before going to the election booth.

This is the first time Hansen will be able to vote. He was not old enough for the last election.

"I couldn't vote last year because I wasn't 18, so I tried to get as many people my age as well as my friends to challenge themselves to think about voting,' Hansen said.

Hansen said even though he couldn't vote, he still had a hard time deciding which way to lean his future votes, often without the insight of his parents.

"Both my parents preserve their secret-ballot rights and never tell me which way they vote, but I'm pretty sure they are both Republican," Hansen said.

Hansen did turn the legal voting age this year and said he decided that even though his decision on which party to support was not set in stone, he would just register with a party so that he could vote in the election.

"I didn't really know which way to go, so I just registered with one so I could vote in the primary. and I ended up choosing the Democratic party," Hansen said.

Even though Hansen is registered as a Democrat, he said he has swayed to the opposition on occasion.

"I am currently supporting a Republican candidate for Congress, but I supported a Democrat for governor," Hansen said.

"I just look at the stand that they have in office and at their individual qualifications, and then cast my vote accordingly," he said. Even though he has researched and studied the Democratic party, Hansen said there are still a few things that he disagrees with about the image of the party. "The Democratic party is often linked to environmental issues, and because I know a lot about science and technology through engineering, I think sometimes issues can be dealt with out of context and not really looked at at true value," Hansen said.

Hansen said he places a higher value on qualifications than party

Worker donates time to memorial

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1 Education Service.

Arck, a Vietnam veteran who was the executive director of the KSU Vietnam Veteran Memorial Committee, said the addition of the white star was a fitting tribute to Karst.

"It was discussed quite a bit how to do this," Arck said. "It wasn't like he was killed, and his remains were found.

"This shows he was missing in action for quite a while," he said.

The memorial, located just east of All Faith's Chapel, was built with all private monies and dedicated Nov. 10, 1989, Arck said. It has since been given over to the University, he said.

Joe Beaudet, owner of Manhattan Monument Co., used a sandblaster to engrave the addition to the white limestone wall.

Beaudet was following up work he began in 1989, when he carved the names and the inscription by Abraham Lincoln free of charge. He said it was something he wanted to do for the fallen soldiers.

"It's just a little job we're going to do for them," Beaudet said.

Rec Complex to work Cessna deal

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

Recreational Services Council on a yearly basis.

The Rec Complex already has similar agreements with other local organizations, but on a smaller scale. The American Institute of Baking, Manhattan Christian College and the Kansas Wheat Commission are all allowed to use the K-State facilities. "If it becomes a problem, we can cut it off," Finkeldei said, referring to the Cessna offer.

The problem, he said, was in the lack of details in the hastily made "More than anything, we're talking in generalities, and we need to talk in details," he said. "We can't do that until January.'

Come January, should Cessna choose Manhattan, Finkeldei would like to sit down with Cessna officials in a public meeting of the council and work out the agreement so that it's in the best interest of the Intramural

BOWLING

Deadline

Order your college ring NOW.

JOSTENS

Save up to $150

Date: Thursday & Friday, Nov. 3 & 4 Time: Noon to 5 p.m. Place: Varney's Book Store

Deposit: $25

Restaurant Row

DESTINATION OF CHOICE DARK AV

•Excellent Food and Service•Biggest & Best Margaritas in Town Over 20 Tequilas Earn Your Degree at Tequila University

•Tex-Mex Southwestern Style• Hrs.: Open 11 a.m. every day

Manhattan Creative Arts Guild

16th annual

Christmas Festival Art show

Saturday, November 5th .

9 a.m. - 4 p.m.

Pottorf Hall in Cico Park

Food served all day

الم أم الم الم الم

91% of the time Democrat Hochhauser sponsored a bill, she couldn't get her colleagues to agree with her.

That's a 91% FAILURE RATE representing us!

We've been shortchanged by an out-of-step incumbent.

We need someone who can work with others to get the job done in Topeka.

We need a change! We need Ann Stevens.

Paid for by Ann Stevens for State Representative, Cindy Granzow, treas

State Representative 66TH DISTRICT Honest, Effective Leadership

Blooming Dale's invites you to our Christmas Open House

Deadline: Thursday, Nov. 3 at 5 p.m.

Entry: Rec Services Office at the Rec Complex

Enter at the Rec Services Office • 532-6980

BANKA BANKA

Get caught up in the ത്തമുള്ള of the season

Saturday, November 5, 9 a.m.-6 p.m. Sunday, November 6, 11 a.m.-5 p.m.

Holiday Design Seminar Thursday, November 17, 1:00 and 7:00 Friday, November 18, 7:00 Call for reservations 539-4751

1105 Waters, Manhattan (behind Ed Schram Dodge)

 Refined yet relaxed atmosphere ·Stea, Seafood, Pasta, Cajun BBQ, Oriental, & Southwestern

3003 Anderson Ave. 537-8888

·All major credit cards welcome Catering & Banquet Rooms •Children's Menu Sunday Brunch Buffet

10:30 a.m. to 3 p.m.

 Drink Specials Every Night TV's Televised Sports Coverage Club Keno, Kansas Lottery

Sunday Brunch Special
 Daily Specials

Closed 10 p.m. Sun.-Thurs.+11 p.m. Fri. & Sat.

•Large Outdoor Patio Open until 1 a.m. weekends (Closed 10 p.m. Sunday)

BANQUET & CATERING COMPANY No One Caters Like We Do

3003 Anderson Ave. 537-7770 •Eight Banquet Rooms, Seating Up

 All Parties Welcome Weddings, Receptions •Hail & Farewell's - Party Trays •For All Your Special Events Sorority & Fraternity Parties & Functions

ACACIA BY FH AXΩ воп гфв ΦΚΤ ΣΧ AFP ΧΩ ΚΑΘ ΦΚΘ ΣΝ ΑΔΠ ΑΤΩ

 $\Delta\Delta\Delta$   $\Delta\Xi$   $\Pi B \Phi$   $\Sigma \Phi E$   $\Delta\Sigma \Phi$   $K\Sigma$   $\Pi K \Lambda$   $\Sigma\Sigma\Sigma$   $\Delta T \Lambda$   $\Lambda X \Lambda$   $\Pi K \Phi$  T K E

KANSAS STATE

COMICS

FRIDAY WEATHER - PAGE 2

NOVEMBER 4, 1994

KANSAS STATE UNIVERSITY, MANHATTAN, KANSAS 66506

VOLUME 99B, NUMBER 54

CAMPUS

Enrollment delayed by unpaid E-CAPs

LESLEY MOSS

As many as 350 students may be prevented from pre-enrolling for next semester if they have not paid off their E-CAP accounts.

E-CAP, or Educational Charge Account Program, offers up to $250 credit at the K-State Union Bookstore for necessary books and supplies to any currently enrolled student in good academic Jack Thoman, assistant director and business manager of the Union, said delinquent flags have been placed on about 350 student records.

"Of approximately 1,000 E-CAP accounts this semester, an estimated 350 have been tagged as financially delinquent," Thoman

Peggy Busch, accountant for the Union, said that up to as many as 130 of the 350 delinquents may be carryovers from the spring 1994 semester.

Those who have not paid their account balances from September have been reminded that their payment was due Oct. 31, and they are considered delinquent until it is paid," Thoman said.

"If there is no response to our procedure, the student will be denied an E-CAP account for the spring 1995 semester and, ultimately, the account will be turned over to a professional collection agency," he said.

Busch said the Kansas Cityarea branch of Trans World Incorporated Collection Agency will handle the accounts that are not paid by the first of the year.

A $20 collection fee will be added to the original debt of any account that is sent to the collection agency, Busch said.

Thoman said the Union realizes the longer the debt goes, the less chance of collecting the money.

"Since E-CAP accounts were first offered in fall 1993, this is the first semester that we've used Trans World," Thoman said.

He said this fall they are trying to let people know that the debt has to be dealt with on a more

"Right now there is about $60,000 outstanding for this fall," Thoman said.

An additional $23,000 is outstanding from previous semesters that has already been sent for collection, he said.

Thoman said some of the outstanding debt may belong to students who have left K-State because of poor grades or other

"There's a strong correlation between poor academic performance and unpaid E-CAP accounts," he said.

Busch said the Union assumes the financial responsibility for the debt, not K-State.

Thoman said the unpaid accounts become the Union's debt, not K-State's debt.

"It's like a bad check," he said. "We hope students have benefited from the E-CAP service and that we can continue to offer

Cheating case comes to a close

CHRISTI WRIGHT

The case finally closed on the K-State biology cheating case Thursday.

The 87 students in Principles of Biology who were involved in cheating on an Oct. 17 exam will fail the class and not be allowed to retake it until next fall.

Letters are being sent to the students who cheated explaining the consequences.

"Right now, the biology department is in the process of notifying students," Bill Feyerharm, assistant dean of the College of Arts and Sciences, said.

In addition to failing, a letter will go in each student's academic record saying they were involved in the incident, and they won't be given a second chance if they are caught cheating again.

"If the students cheat again, they will be expelled from the University," Feyerharm said.

According to the Student Life Handbook, any findings of guilt should be entered in the provost's file, but not on the transcript unless the student is suspended.

After three years from the incident, the student can petition the Grievance Committee to expunge the record of misconduct. According to a press release from K-State, the K-State Police concluded that there were no criminal acts involved in obtaining

■ See NO Page 12

NEWS DIGEST

▶ BUSH, DOLE MAKE JOINT APPEARANCE AT RALLY

TOPEKA (AP) - Former President George Bush and Sen. Bob Dole were expected to make their first joint appearance of the 1994 election campaign late today in Overland Park.

Bush, now living in Houston, and Dole were to be the main attractions at a Republican rally at the Yellow Freight Systems headquarters at Interstate 435 and Roe Ave. at 4:45 p.m.

They were to hold a news conference at the same location at 4:30 p.m.

Bush and Dole are appearing on behalf of Republican gubernatorial candidate Bill Graves, 3rd District Rep. Jan Meyers and other state GOP

► GAYS BRUTALLY MURDERED IN STRING OF VIOLENCE

ODESSA, Texas - Paul Quintanilla's hands were bound behind his back when he was stabbed more than a dozen times, his throat and genitals cut. Michael J. Burzinski was beaten and shot to death execution-style after being abducted by a group of teen-agers looking for gays they considered easy

Tommy Musick was shot four times in the back of the head by a man who claimed he had panicked after Musick made a homosexual advance.

Another man was left for dead after being impaled with a tree branch outside a gay bar.

The string of grisly gay murders has the Texas gay community on edge. Some say the state's macho mentality and a burgeoning religious right movement fosters hostility toward homosexuals.

MARK LEFFINGWELL/Collegian

Lighting up

Mark Swanson and Randy Schwartz, both seniors in mechanical engineering, discuss ideas for the best way to light K-Hill. Members of Tau Beta Pi are working to put up lights on the hill for Homecoming Week.

K-State's Brit Jacobson, freshman wing, pushes past Athletes in Action's Melissa Salamone during the second half of the game at Bramlage Coliseum. The Wildcats won the contest 79-72. See Sports, Page 6.

SHANE KEYSER Collegian

Live first big concert since Starship

KIM HALL

Grab your tickets and get ready to hear some live music.

The Union Program Council is bringing the sounds of Live, Weezer and Fatima Mansions to Bramlage Coliseum on Monday.

The concert kicks off at 7 p.m. and is expected to wind down around 11 p.m.

Eric Melin, member of the UPC concert committee and music director at KSDB-FM 91.9, said this is the first big concert that the UPC has brought to Manhattan since Starship performed nearly a decade ago.

'We've booked two really good bands to start off the new season of concerts," he said. "If this goes well, we'll have a lot more really good bands coming to town," Melin said.

He said this concert is definitely a turning point in the Manhattan live music scene. If you haven't bought your $15 ticket yet, you may be able to win one by listening to Melin said DB92 has plenty of tickets to give away.

"We'll be giving them away Friday and ■ See CONCERT Page 12

Bar manager says students starved for non-country act

AMY ZIEGLER

The Manhattan live music scene has seen better days, but it has improved in the last year, a bar manager in Aggieville

Keith Eyestone, manager of TW Longhorn's, said bars in Aggieville have begun to bring in non-country acts, which is good for students.

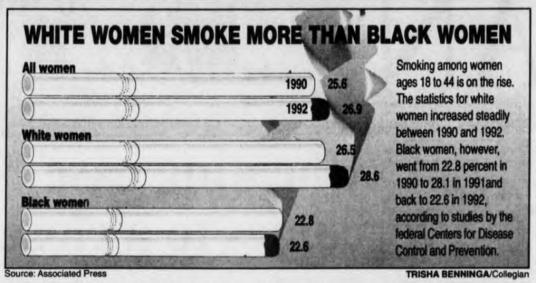

"I know that there are 2,000 to 4,000 students who don't get into country music. This is a market that someone should reach," Eyestone said.

Eyestone said the students who prefer rap, rock or alternative music should support the local and national acts that come into Manhattan.

"Students should come out in droves for a non-country act. They're starved for it," Eyestone said.

■ See 400 Page 12

NEWS BRIEFS

▶ U.S. ATTORNEY TO KANSAS TO OPEN UPC'S ALUMNI LECTURE SERIES TODAY

The U.S. Attorney to Kansas will , two K-State graduates each speak about drugs, politics and the law today at 1 p.m. in the K-State Union Little Theatre

Randy Rathbun is the first speaker this semester sponsored by the UPC Issues and Ideas Alumni Lecture Series, Patrick Carney, chairman of the UPC Issues and Ideas Committee, said. "We are trying to bring in one or semester to speak about their experiences as students at K-State and since their graduation," Carney

State in 1975, Carney said. Sarah Hadley, program adviser for the Issues and Ideas Committee, said Rathbun will Rathbun earned a law degree Rathbun graduated from Kfrom Washburn University in 1978. In 1993, Rathbun was appointed by President Bill Clinton as the U.S. Attorney to Kansas.

BY HOLLY CHEGWIDDEN

She said he will speak about his experiences at K-State as well as politics and the difficult issues he faces as U.S. Attorney to Kansas.

▶ PROFESSOR TO SPEAK ON THE TRANSFORMATION OF THE PRESS IN EUROPE

Freedom does not equal instant

For countries that have been communist, the transformation into a free country takes time. Robert Daly, associate professor of journalism, will give a speech in the Czech and Slovak Republics"

Monday, Nov. 7 in the Landon titled "Transformation of Journalism

Room at the Ramada Inn.

address a variety of topics.

The speech is part of the Vernon Larson International Luncheon Series, which is sponsored by the International Programs.

The lunch will begin at 11:50 a.m and costs $6. Daly's speech will begin at 12:20 p.m.

Daly recently returned from a six-month trip to Czechoslovakia and Slovakia

During his trip, Daly spoke with journalists about the difficulties of forming a free press.

"They seemed to have questions about how freedom works," he said.

BY BROOKE GRABER FORT

▶ NEW REALIGNMENT COMMISSION CHAIRMAN TO VISIT FORT RILEY THIS YEAR

MANHATTAN (AP) - The new head of the Base Realignment and Closure Commission is expected to visit Fort Riley sometime before the end of the year, Sen. Bob Dole esaid.

Former Illinois Sen. Alan Dixon was appointed chairman of the commission by President Clinton last month.

Dole said, "He's been on the Armed Services Committee, and his state has undergone some base closures, so he's well-qualified for the task."

Dole spoke during a campaign appearance Wednesday with Republican gubernatorial candidate Bill Graves.

As Senate minority leader, Dole will appoint one of the seven members of the BRAC Commission, the ad hoc group that reviews the recommendations of the president and the secretary of defense on which bases to close and downsize.

"We want to pick someone who will have no conflict of interests, somebody who understands the importance of all these bases not just Fort Riley, but the Air Force, Navy, all the bases," Dole

The members of the committee are expected to be named by Jan.

POLICE REPORTS

These reports are taken directly from the daily logs of the K-State and Riley County Police departments. Because of space constraints, not all crimes are listed.

K-STATE POLICE

THE PROPERTY OF THE PARTY OF TH

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 2

At 9:53 p.m., an officer pulled over a car for expired tags and saw the driver was intoxicated. The driver was taken to Riley County Jail.

At 11:53 p.m., an alarm was activated at Ward Hall. There were lights on in the basement. Police couldn't find anyone in the building.

RILEY COUNTY POLICE

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 2

At 7:18 p.m., two bicycles were reported stolen from the Chi Omega sorority at 1516 McCain Lane.

At 8:48 p.m., a fireworks complaint was reported at a house on the southeast corner of Anderson and Denison avenues. At 9:19 p.m., Nicole M.

Hartman, 1005 Bluemont St., and Frank A. Lee III, 922 Bertrand St., were involved in a major damage and injury accident at 11th and Bluemont

At 10:33 p.m., a fire was reported on Bluemont Hill by the Manhattan letters. The flame was thought to be a burning pumpkin, but it was a candle.

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 3

At 12:13 a.m., David P. Roberts, 824 Laramie St., was arrested for DUI at the 1700 block of Claflin Avenue.

At 12:22 a.m., a noise complaint was reported at the Pi Kappa Alpha house at 2021 College View Road.

At 1:09 a.m., a battery report was filed.

At 2:55 a.m., William B. Hickey, 1224 Fremont St., was arrested for DUI at the 1200 block of Laramie. Bond was

At 5:04 a.m., a burglary was reported at the Hop N Skip, at 2233 Tuttle Creek Blvd. A plateglass window was damaged. Loss was $600.

CAMPUS BULLET

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Applications for Who's Who Among Students at American Colleges and Universities are now available in the Office of Student Activities and Services. Deadline is Nov. 18.

Chimes junior honorary is awarding a scholarship to an outstanding junior. Applications are due at noon Nov. 14 and will be available in the SAS office.

BULLETINS !

- InterVarsity Christian Fellowship will meet at 7:30 p.m. today in Throckmorton 1018.
- K-State Students for Slattery for Governor will meet from 9:45 to 10:45 a.m. today at the Riley County Democratic Headquarters at 11th and Moro streets. Jim Slattery will be present to meet the public.
- K-State Aikido Club will meet from 7 to 8:30 p.m. Sunday in the Ecumenical Campus Ministry building.
- KSU Women's Union will meet at 8 p.m. Sunday in Union
- Student Affairs and Social Services Committee will meet at 7:30 p.m. Sunday in the Office of Student Activities and Services in the Union to discuss how to spend the $17,000 Student Life Enrichment Account. Any and all student suggestions are welcome.
- The Graduate School has scheduled the final oral defense of the doctoral dissertation of Shulin He, titled "Defects and Luminescence in Lif:Mg,Ti," at 2:30 p.m. today in Ward Hall 137C.
- The Graduate School has scheduled the final oral defense of the doctoral dissertation of Ruth Krause, titled "Productivity Measurement and Leadership Styles of Foodservice Directors in Nursing Home Facilities," at 9:30 a.m. today in Justin 247.

The Kansas State Collegian (USPS 291 020), a student news-paper at Kansas State University, is published by Student Publications Inc., Kedzie Hall 103, Manhattan, Kan., 66506. The Collegian is published weekdays during the school year and once a week through the summer. Second-class postage is paid at Manhattan, Kan., 66502.

POSTMASTER: Send address changes to Kansas State Collegian, circulation desk, Kedzie 103, Manhattan, Kan., 66506-

YESTERDAY'S HIGHS AND LOWS

A chance for snow in the northwest part of the state. Rain and a few thunderstorms likely elsewhere.

TODAY

Rain and thunderstorms with a high around 50 and a low of 40.

TOMORROW I

A 60-percent chance for morning rain with a high in the mid-40s.

- CAMPUS

New group provides support, fellowship for black males

TAMARA JORDON

Collegian

African American men now have a support group at K-State.

Black Men on Campus is a new group to K-State.

It provides support and fellowship for African American males, Dwain Archer, chairman of BMOC and director of Parking Services, said.

"BMOC is an organization of astute, respectable, well-informed, organized black men with a sense of purpose,"

Archer said.

He said the organization is looking at the total man.

Enhancing the spiritual, emotional, educational and physical aspects of African American men will be BMOC's focus, Archer said.

The group had its second meeting Wednesday.

Archer, along with Reggie McGowan, director of Upward Bound, and James Boyer, education professor, initially started the group.

Archer said they felt there was a need for BMOC at K-

"We recognize the void of communication between faculty, staff and students," Archer said. BMOC wants to fill that void in reference to BMOC wants to fill that void in reference to communication and networking, he said.

Archer said BMOC also recognizes that some young black men don't want to be a part of fraternities or any other groups on campus.

BMOC wants to provide a connection for those students.

The group will be discussing issues of black male and female relationships, motivation, religion, brotherhood, female relationships, motivation, religion, brotherhood, cultural barriers and other issues of this nature, Archer said.

"The focus of BMOC is the black male. We will be instilling pride and knowledge of our culture," he said.

Johnnie Montgomery, member and junior in psychology, said BMOC has been long needed. "Individual groups create strong men and women,"

Montgomery said.

"I feel the Black Student Union is a collective body," he said, "but black men and women need to come together individually."

William Todd Moore, member and senior in education, said BMOC is a good forum to bounce ideas off each other.

"The organization allows black men to formulate plans of action for the University and the community," Moore

BMOC is reaching out to faculty, staff (classified and unclassified) and students. Everyone is welcome, Archer said.

Flyers will be sent in the mail.

Meetings will be from 11:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. once a month in the K-State Union. A day has not yet been

MARK LEFFINGWELL/Collegian

Roni Mahler, former K-State dance program director, works with the Ballet III class Wednesday afternoon in the dance studio in Ahearn Field House. Mahler is on a two-week teaching tour through Kansas and Missouri.

Ballerina shares abilities with students

PRUDENCE SIEBERT

Advanced ballet students shared the energy and experience of a wellknown ballerina Thursday afternoon. Roni Mahler, former K-State dance

Roni Mahler, former K-State dance program director and current associate director of the Cleveland San Jose Ballet, taught the Ballet III and Variations and Partnering classes as part of her two-week, four-city teaching swing through Kansas and Missouri.

Mahler will also teach a 12:30 p.m. class on Friday in Ahearn Field House 304.

She said ballet permeates many walks of life and is valuable to many different people.

Mahler said the college class is exceptional in that aspect.
"College students bring such varying backgrounds to dance class," she said. "They all want to learn ballet, but they all bring something special to it."

Mahler said the challenge to teaching today is creating the appropriate atmosphere.

"You've got to create an atmosphere where they won't be afraid to be wrong — where people can create," she said. "You've got to do it wrong for a while to get better.

"The challenge when teaching is to make students become more than what they are — to be this uplifted thing in front of them."

Mahler, who was born into the family of composer Gustav Mahler, said she has always loved ballet.

"From the minute I can ever remember anything, it's all I wanted to be. For some reason, to this day, I'm happiest when I'm moving to music, and I feel free.

"I just love it. You can teach it to 70 different people of 70 different ages for 70 different reasons."

Her love of dance brings her back to K-State to share her skills.

"I love to get a chance to work with new faces, new bodies and people who like to dance," she said. "I love to spread the joy and the knowledge of it. I love to turn people on to ballet."

Mahler, who lives in Florida, said she enjoys coming back to Manhattan. She comes back for the KU football game if it is here or for the Homecoming game if it is not.

Mahler will be flying her son, Erik, in Saturday from Georgia for the football game. He was 6 when she came to work at K-State. Both are loyal Wildcat fans.

■ See DANCER'S Page 8

HEAR YE! HEAR YE! Apply for next semester's Collegian

A re you a good writer? Do you have media experience? Are you reliable and enthusiastic?

The Kansas State Collegian is now accepting applications for editor-in-chief and advertising manager for spring 1995. The deadline for these applications is 5 p.m. Friday, Nov. 11.

Interviews for ad manager will be at 8 a.m. Tuesday, Nov. 15. Interviews for editor will be at 8 a.m. Tuesday, Nov. 22.

Applications for other advertising staff positions are due by 5 p.m. Friday, Nov. 18, and applications for other news positions are due by 5 p.m. Wednesday, Nov. 23. Apply for:

- desk editor
- photographer
- columnist
- · copy editor
- graphic artiststaff writer
- ad representativeand more

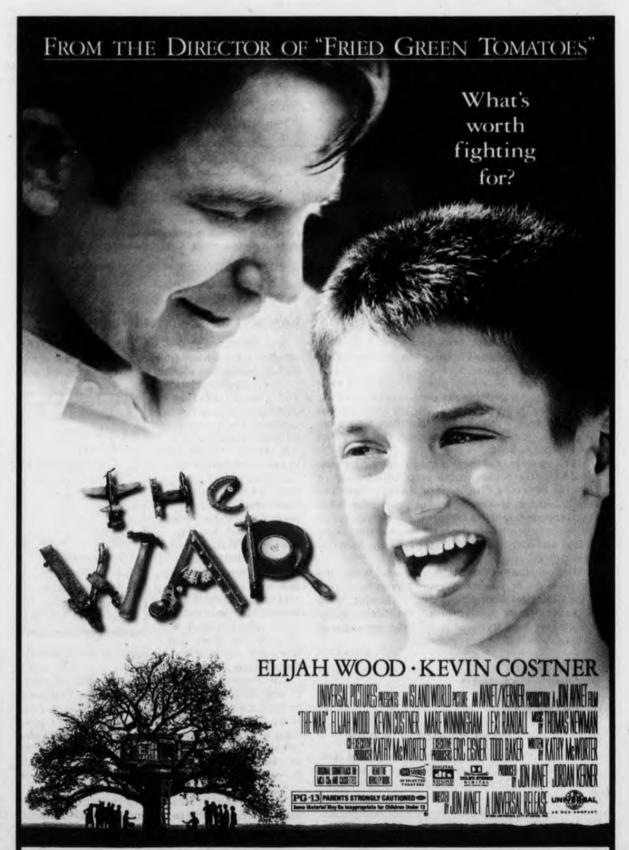

Job descriptions are available in 103 Kedzie Hall. All applications are available in and should be returned to 103 Kedzie Hall from 8 a.m.-5 p.m. Monday through Friday. Please include supporting materials with your application.

Don't miss this opportunity to work on the awardwinning sixth largest morning daily in Kansas.

COLLEGIAN

103 Kedzie Hall (east of the Union)

532-6555

OPENS FRIDAY NOVEMBER 4TH AT A THEATRE NEAR YOU.

PINION

"I put prostitutes and gays at about the same level... And I'd be hard put to give somebody life for killing a prostitute."

-Judge Jack Hampton, who gave a 30-year sentence to an 18-year-old who had gone to a gay neighborhood with his buddies to "pester homosexuals" and ended up shooting to death two gay men when they refused to take off their clothes.

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

IN OUR OPINION

By the Collegian Editorial Board

Rec usage for Cessna plant a good trade

The Recreational Services Council will allow Cessna employees to use the Rec.

The Recreational Services Council voted last week to allow Cessna employees use of the Chester E. Peters Recreation Complex, if the company decides to bring its single-engine aircraft assembly plant here to Manhattan.

Students' first response may be to get mad and complain about not having enough room to work out. They may have some reason to believe this. Construction has made working out more difficult.

However, there is hope, because the construction should be completed in the near future. Once the Rec Compex finishes the expansion, an extra 200 to 300 people working out can be absorbed without overcrowding.

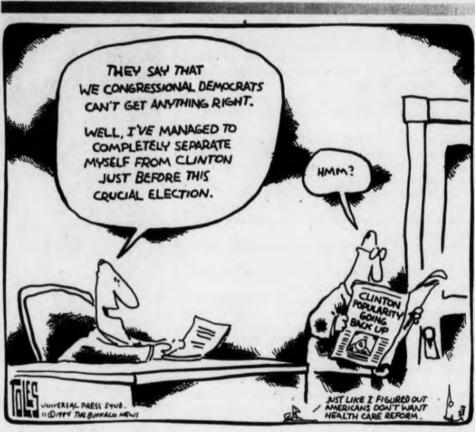

Another response from students might be that these employees will be getting to use the Rec for free. However, this isn't true since Cessna employees will have to pay a monthly fee to use the facilities.

However, the Cessna plant will have a lot more to offer than employees working out at the Rec Complex.

If Cessna decides to build its plant in Manhattan, jobs and internships for K-State students would be created, and other businesses would be encouraged to come to town.

These things make the Cessna deal important - all worth an extra wait at the Rec Complex.

TOLES

Jobs for Manhattan an investment in city's future

Tuesday, if you are registered to vote within the city limits of Manhattan, you will be asked to vote on the Jobs for Manhattan proposal, Question No. 2 on the ballot, a one-half cent sales-tax increase to enhance the economic development of the

When a proposal comes in front of you promising jobs, you immediately wish to have several questions answered.

What kind of jobs are these? Government jobs that are created out of thin air only promise to drain the area's tax base even more.

Are we going to bring some smokestack factory to turn Manhattan into a miniature Hoboken?

What does this mean for K-State?

The questions can only be answered by explaining a little bit about where people

The three largest employers around here are Fort Riley, K-State and the local and county government.

All of these organizations have one thing in common — they all depend on tax dollars for their livelihood. We all know that the government has been threatening to shut Fort Riley down, an action that would remove the largest employer in the

While shutting down the base might make Aggieville a more pleasant place on the weekends, it also means closing down a huge chunk of the service economy in Small businesses that are often family owned will be hardest hit. Restaurants, car repair shops and the like will have a rough time in an economic climate without Fort for such a downsizing or complete shutdown, it's also about helping K-State contribute to the local economy.

Riley.

Under the proposal, the tax will fund a new position at K-State, and for lack of a better name, we'll refer to it as the Elephant Hunter.

This person's job will be to attract a large corporation to Manhattan that can benefit from research being done at K-

K-State, considered to be a top-research school, with the help of the business community, can mean nothing but positive economic development for the area. Attracting a large company in the milling science, manufacturing of hightech fields means a new, non-governmentdependant employer in the area, as well as benefits for support and service businesses. This can help us attract a higher caliber of faculty, as there will be more quality jobs at the University and more positions for their spouses. Students can benefit from internships, research opportunities, as well as the possibility of a job waiting right here for them when they graduate. With this plan, we can't lose. If Fort Riley has to close, we are

If it doesn't, we're moving toward a larger amount of non-government jobs, making the economy of Manhattan independent of the government.

Of course you could bring up the standard objection: "Why the hell should we pay a tax for economic development?"

The government has constantly been in the business of economic development, like it or not. Government entities like the military and the space program create the need for research that in turn benefits industry.I'm not telling you that every tax out there has directly contributed to industry, but this is a good plan. If approved, the tax will be collected through 1998, but will benefit the proposed programs for as long as 10 years.

Being a sales tax, it also is collected from those it directly benefits, those who shop and do business in Manhattan.

Jobs for Manhattan is a short-term investment in the future of this community that will pay off for years to come.

Andrew Tomb is a senior in political science.

ANDREW TOMB

66 T'm not telling you that every tax out there has directly contributed to industry, but this is a good plan."

READERS WRITE

Drop letters off at Kedzle 116 or send them to Letters to the Editor, c/o John Melrowsky, Kansas State Collegian, Kedzie 116, Manhattan, KS 66506. We accept letters by e-mail also. Our address is letters@spub.ksu.edu. Letters should be addressed to the editor and include a name, address and phone number. A photo identification will be necessary for hand-delivered letters.

▶ CHEATING

Individual ruins class reputation

I found myself very perturbed when I read the article "Students Allege Cheating was Widespread" in Wednesday's Collegian.

This is how the whole piece could have been summed up: an anonymous person whines to the entire University that it was "unjust" that she was caught cheating when she was sure there were more people than just the 86 reprimanded. I'm sorry, but that is rather pathetic.

This is college, and she was caught cheating, so she should pay the consequences gracefully instead of targeting the entire Principles of Biology class. I'm sure it came as a surprise to our poor anonymous commentator that there are people in Principles of Biology who are taking the class because they enjoy biology and study their backsides off for the Mondaynight quizzes.

My final statement to Ms. Anonymous is this: the next time you or your anonymous friends run crying to the Collegian about getting caught cheating, leave the people who are still in Principles of Biology alone. We are very busy trying to redeem the reputation of the class, which all of you destroyed.

Jennifer Hower freshman in biochemistry

THANK YOU

Student body president glad to be back

I want to thank all the students, faculty and staff for their help while I was away the past six weeks. It's nice to know that I have an extended family here at K-State. Your encouragement was very helpful to me.

I owe a special thanks to two outstanding students, Brad Finkeldei, student body vice president, and Mike Zamrzla, chief of staff, for their work and commitment to students.

I am looking forward to stepping back into things and following through on all the important student issues that you have brought to us.

Jeff Peterson student body president

▶ THEATER

Comment was uniformed

Whose idea was it to use Russell Fortmeyer's opinions for theatrical reviews? Over and over again, Russell has proven that his knowledge of music and

RACHEL STIGGE

"Chicago" is a show that is audience than any overdone

Hammerstein

Rogers and show could be."

much more suited to a college

"Truth to theater is somewhat lacking. This is proved in the last column of his, in which he expounded on the merits of an annual performance of "Oklahoma." I'm not about to argue with him on that ridiculous subject; what really got me upset was his casual mention of the musical, "Chicago," which opens in a little less than two weeks. Without really saying anything specific about the show itself - in fact, without really knowing anything about the show -Russell mentioned the show in the midst of a short discussion on "flops" and then went on to give his own holy opinion on what K-State Theatre should do.

Mr. Fortmeyer, think before you write for once. Putting "flop" and "Chicago" in the same paragraph reflects badly on a show that doesn't need your uninformed criticism. True, advertising hasn't been what it should be, but if you - or somebody who actually knows what they're doing - would look into the show and find out what it's really like and inform the public about it, it could go a long way toward solving the problem.

Truth to tell, "Chicago" is a show that is much more suited to a college audience than any overdone Rogers and Hammerstein show could be. It has sex, scandal, a court scene that beats the O.J. Simpson case hollow, a glitzy set and costumes and jazzy singing and dancing that kicks Oklahoma's butt. Anyone who doesn't buy a ticket is missing out. And Russ — get a life.

Rachel Stigge sophomore in vocal music

CHEATING

Instructor should have had 2 tests

After reading the Collegian's latest installment in the biology cheating scandal, I felt I must respond.

As a student in Principles of Biology this semester who did not cheat, I must say that I am appalled at the actions of my fellow students. The blame for cheating lays squarely in their laps.

However, if the value of a degree from this institution is lessened, or if the reputation of K-State has been damaged, some of the blame falls to the instructors. I am speaking in particular to the statement by Diane Post that to make up two different tests would be too time consuming.

Excuse me, Ms. Post, but because this University is unfortunately not running things on the honor system, where students are obligated to not only avoid academic dishonesty but to also report it, EVERY action possible should be taken to prevent a few slackers giving this University and all who attend and work here a black eye. If even a few students cannot be trusted, then appropriate measures must be instituted by the faculty. It is sad to see an otherwise excellent program damaged by such people. However, in order to provide the fairest environment for not only testing, but learning itself, sacrifices must be made. If these sacrifices include spending extra hours producing different exams and setting up harsher guidelines for make-up and early exams, then so be it.

Matthew Brady senior in history

▶ HOMELESSNESS

Bring cans to Saturday's football game

Many K-State students are unaware of a serious problem facing Riley County. That problem is hunger. Did you know that about 20 percent of Riley County residents, not including K-State students, are at or below the poverty level? In addition, nearly one-third of Riley County school children cannot afford the full price of school lunches?

As K-State students, we become entrapped by the stresses of college life, and we lose focus of our surroundings. But the fact remains, hunger is a problem in this county, and we need to do something

This is how you can help. During the Homecoming football game this Saturday, SGA and the Bramlage Coliseum staff will be collecting canned-food items for the Cats for Cans program. Bring a can. In fact, bring many cans. The food will then be delivered to the Flint Hills Breadbasket to support low-income

With an enrollment of more than 20,000, we CAN make a difference, and we can provide many needy Riley County families with a happy Thanksgiving and Christmas. So fill the stands at KSU Stadium on Saturday, and fill the collection boxes with cans of John Riedel senior in accounting

▶ KSUARH

Revised alcohol policy addresses safety

I would like to help clear up an issue concerning the alcohol policy that has been causing confusion to the residents of the residence halls, as well as some KSUARH representatives of the residence halls. The revisions to the alcohol policy are not being mandated by the Kansas Board of Regents or the University. The revisions were brought up because the K-State Housing and Dining Services was concerned with the possible liability of drinking in public areas. Safety was a main concern for Housing and Dining. The issue of no drinking in public areas (lobbies, stairways etc.) is the only revision that is being mandated by Housing and Dining Services to protect itself and the

The issue of storage was added to the alcohol policy by a committee formed by KSUARH and anyone concerned with the outcome of this issue. Housing had no stand on the storage issue because it was not concerned with the outcome of the issue. The only recommendations given to Housing and Dining by the assistant University attorney concerned the removal of alcohol from all public areas in the residence halls. Unfortunately, the alcohol policy was pressed for a vote by the executive board because some of the members felt the issue was consuming too much of their time. Admittedly, this was an issue that has been discussed for some time. However, this obviously is an issue that is important to the residence halls when their KSUARH representatives voted by an 8-7 majority against passage of the new alcohol policy. Unfortunately, the executive board did not realize the concern and voted unanimously to approve the policy.

66 Inforunately the executive board did not realize the concern and voted unanimously to approve the policy."

JEREMY ROGGE

Jeremy Rogge junior in accounting Marlatt Hall KSUARH Representative

MANHATTAN

Death a game in 'Arsenic and Old Lace'

DOUG BASSETT

Mystery, death and elderly women that kill is the main plot of this weekend's play at the Wareham Opera House. "Arsenic and Old Lace" is the title of this weekend's play presented by the Manhattan Civic

"It's been going pretty good. We have been getting a very good turn out so far," Beverly Faw, the dramatic director, said. "We have a cast of 13 and about four on the production team," Faw said.

The play took about seven weeks to put together, Faw said.

The only problem that we have had is that we have to practice over in the Manhattan Arts Center, and then we move everything in here only a week before the play," she

Written in 1941, the play has had all dates taken out of it. It is still set in an old Victorian-style house in "This story has become almost a favorite with audiences," Faw said.

The plot is about two older ladies whose favorite charity is giving elderberry wine to older gentlemen who stop to rent a room. The twist is that the wine is poisoned, Faw said.

The elderly ladies, Abby and Martha, played by Mary Elizabeth Atwood and Sandra Chastan, bury the bodies of their victims in the basement of their house.

Teddy, played by Rix Shanline, also lives in the house. He too has murdered his fair share of people. Tension mounts when Teddy tries to match the number of people killed by Abby and Martha, which is 12 apiece, Faw said.

PLAY INFO

■ "Arsenic and Old Lace" will show at 8 p.m. Friday and Saturday, and at 2 p.m. Sunday. It is also showing at 8 p.m. on Nov. 10, 11 and 12, and at 2 p.m. on Nov. 13.

■ Call 539-6000, weekdays 11 a.m. through 3 p.m. for ticket information.

"A lot of the story is about how both the ladies and Teddy try to hide two bodies from residents in the house before they can get them to the basement," Faw said.

As the plot unfolds, there are many more characters that come around and cause even more confusion, Faw said.

ANSAS STATE OLLEGIAN

Call 532-6560 by 4 p.m. Nov. 2 to reserve your Cat Tracker space for the Iowa State homecoming game.

Friday Wagner Field

Aggieville Hear the Cats Roar in '94

"For the Very Best in Greek Sportswear'

This ad sponsored by

Greek Affairs

If you

GIVE

canned goods, toiletries, or household products, to the homeless through the

Collegian, you will receive

THANKS

and $1 off any classified ad in the Collegian through the end

of December.

Contributions go to Manhattan Emergency Shelter and Flint Hills Breadbasket

Bring items to the Student Publications Inc. office in Kedzie 103

Trust Us!

Trust us!

We're the folks who illegally used the campus mail.

Trust us!

We're the folks who ran ads in violation of the Kansas Campaign Disclosure Law.

Trust us!

We're the folks who assume wage earners with $20,000 per year income purchase $72,000 homes and $12,000 cars.

Trust us!

We're the the folks who wouldn't trust any of you to handle our advertising.

Trust us!

Don't be one of the campus community we've had to "talk to" for your own good when you asked questions.

Trust us!

We're the folks who know what we're doing when we operate in secret.

Trust us!

We're looking forward to spending your money.

Do YOU know what we're doing?

Vote NO on No. 2

No on No. 2 Committee, Arthur Vaughan, treasurer

Wrong! Wrong! Wrong!

- The sales tax is only half a penny. WRONG! Using the supporters' own figures and method of computing, $300 is what the average Manhattanite will pay. But that is only the start. Infrastructure (sewage, roads, etc.) will have to be paid as well. Additional schools may be needed. The amount a property owner or renter in Manhattan might pay could be 10 times or more this amount.
- The city must have the total cost. WRONG! The city has no analysis of the impact other than the figures supporters have provided them. This is the study which assumes such things as a $20,000 wage buys a $72,000 home. Even if the city had done an analysis, which it has not, the secret nature of negotiations with Cessna limits what analysis could be made.
- The city commission will be in control. WRONG! Once the project is started, it will be almost impossible for the city to control it. First, to turn away from the project later will be to admit that the money already spent was wasted. Second, the Chamber of Commerce will be able to point to the public vote and portray any commissioner who voices reservations as one who is opposing the public will-
- The $8 million raised by the tax is big bucks. WRONG! The half that is earmarked for Cessna is under 10% of what their plant would cost. They could easily raise this amount on their own.
- If $8 million is peanuts, the vote isn't important. WRONG! The amount is not very important, but the vote is very important. You will be blessing the start of a process which will commit you to now unknown costs, tying future commissioners' hands and transferring significant control over to the Chamber of Commerce.
- Boy, the Chamber of Commerce must be bad guys. WRONG! They're business people and they believe that they know what is best. Their conviction leads them to steamroller all opposition. If they can get you to finance their efforts, they see it as smart business.
- They must have investigated this thoroughly. MAYBE/MAYBE NOT! If their past performances on things like the Walker building or recent errors in advertising are any indication, the answer would again be "WRONG".
- Fort Riley's situation means we have to vote yes. WRONG! If, and it is only an if, the base closes and isn't just converted to do something else as so many "closed" bases have, it is now standard practice for Washington to provide a financial "cushion" to local communities.
- KSU is a strong supporter. MAYBE! It is true that the administration has done what it can to support this measure. Why? Joint projects with someone such as Cessna will, by association, enhance KSU's image and release internal discretionary money. The administration's kingdom will be enhanced. You will have to decide whether you will benefit in direct measure to what you will be asked to sacrifice.

Vote NO on No. 2

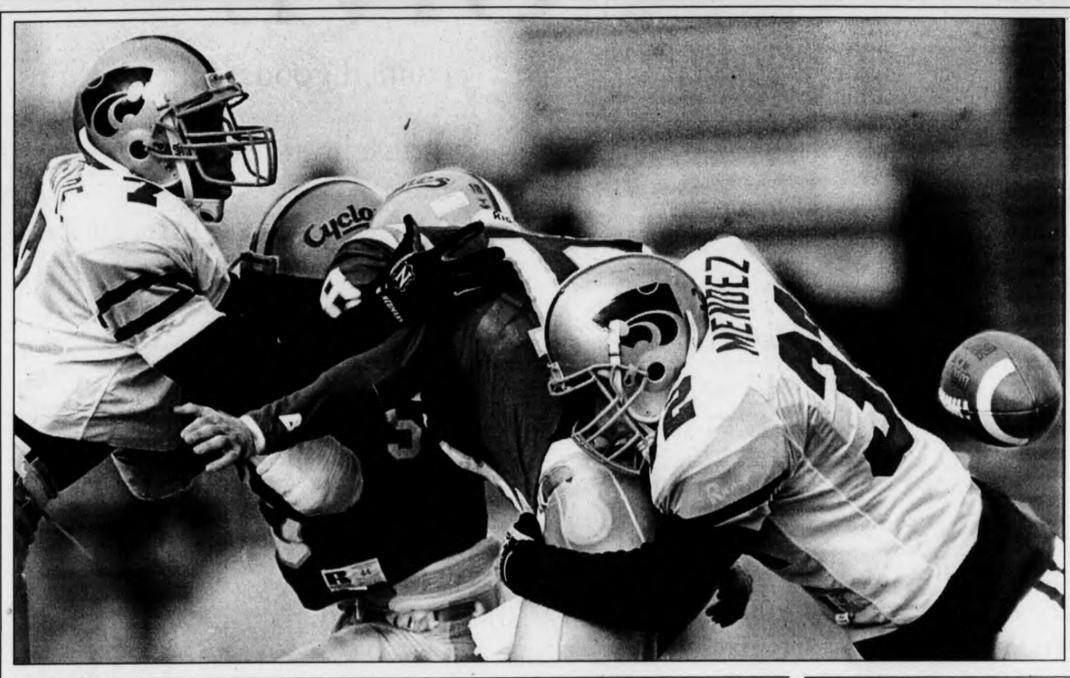

No on No. 2 Committee, Arthur Vaughan, Treasurer

McNair, Alcorn State; Kordell Stewart, Colorado; and Eric Zeier, Georgia.

May, who currently holds six Big Eight Conference passing records, has completed 142 of 240 passes for 1,673 yards and 10 touchdowns,

NOVEMBER 4, 1994

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Former Wildcats Jaime Mendez and Kenny McEntyre tackle quarterback Bob Utter. Iowa State scored 21 points in the fourth quarter en route to its 27-23 win over K-State.

SHANE KEYSER

K-State looks to avenge loss

Snyder worried about Cyclones option attack

WESS HUDELSON

K-State faces an unranked team for the first time in three weeks.

Iowa State, the Wildcats' foe at 1:10 p.m. Saturday at KSU Stadium, hasn't even won a game yet. This should be an easy win for K-State, right?

GAME DAY INFO

HOMECOMING '94

No. 15 K-State 5-2/2-2 Opponent: Iowa State 0-7-1/0-3-1 Kickoff: 1:10 p.m. Saturday Place: KSU Stadium

Players to watch: QB Todd Doxzon #4 PK Ty Stewart #2 RB Calvin Branch #25 LB Tim Sanders #40 LB Marcus Allen #49

DB Matt Straight #11

doesn't think so.

"I don't know why (they haven't won a game)," Snyder said. "They have good players, the coaching is good — it beats the devil out of me."

Snyder's concern may stem from Iowa State's 21-point explosion in the fourth quarter during last season's game. The surge erased a 17-6 K-State lead en route to the Cyclones' 27-23 victory at Ames, Iowa.

"I think we were just a little in clouds after beating Oklahoma," defensive tackle Tim Colston said. "I really don't know what happened. We were just stopping them and stopping them. And then, I don't know if it was something magical, or just something that we were not playing responsible like we should.'

Iowa State ran 20 running plays in the fourth quarter of the contest, most of which went straight at the heart of the Cats' defense. The Cyclones' option offense rang up 247 yards rushing.

"They just continued to do the things they had been doing throughout the course of the ballgame, and things began to Coach Bill Snyder said he break for them," Snyder said.

However, Snyder said preparing for the Cyclones' offense goes far beyond defending just the option.

"They've got a variety of offenses. That you can attribute to their coaching staff," Snyder said. "They execute that offense very well because there's still the threat of the option."

The Cyclones have lined up in pro, wishbone and run-n-shoot during games this year.

The offense has shown signs of improvement the last three games as well by producing an average of 412 yards of total offense compared to only 264 the first five

The Cats have been inconsistent against the option this season. K-State limited Nebraska's offense to seven points into the fourth quarter, but gave up 339 yards rushing at Colorado.

Colorado's Heisman hopeful, Rashaan Salaam, cranked out 202 yards rushing in the Cats' 35-21

"It's kind of frustrating," Chuck Marlowe said about the Colorado game. "We were right in the game but just let them have the big

Snyder said a lack of emotion played a role in K-State's loss at Iowa State last season. The Cats had just come off an emotional victory over Oklahoma.

"I can't say that emotion was the determining factor in the game, but I'm sure it played a role," Snyder said.

The scenario is similar to last season with the only difference being the fact that the game is at home, Snyder said.

"A lot of things are the same as last year," Snyder said. "I don't want it to turn out the same as last year, but the situation is similar."

Another difference is K-State's improved defense. K-State ranks second in the Big Eight Conference behind only Nebraska. "It doesn't surprise anyone in this building," Snyder said. "It probably surprises you guys and some of the fans, but nobody

Most surprising to fans may be the play of K-State's young defensive secondary.

The only concern that was dealt with was how good our secondary would be," Snyder said. "They needed to get more experience. As they have gotten better every week, the defense has gotten better."

► FOOTBALL

Walden plans to resign at conclusion of season

ASSOCIATED PRESS

AMES, Iowa — Iowa State coach Jim Walden announced Thursday night he'll resign at the end of the season.

Walden, in his eighth season as the Cyclones' head coach, said he was making the announcement now to give the university a head start on finding a new coach.

Walden said he would not discuss his resignation with reporters during the rest of the season because he wants to focus on his team. He said he would answer only football questions.

Two weeks ago, Walden had said it was a foregone conclusion that he would be fired at the end of the season.

'As it became obvious that this would be my last season coaching at Iowa State University, I concluded that the best thing I could do now for the future of ISU football would be to help the university obtain the best possible successor to lead this program," Walden said.

Iowa State (0-7-1) finishes the season against three ranked teams - No. 15 K-State, No. 1 Nebraska and No. 7 Colorado and could likely finish with its first winless season since the Cyclones went 0-9 in 1930.

BLOWN OUT

Iowa State football coach Jim Walden is resigning at the end of the season. Below is the record of the Cyclones in each year of his 8-year tenure.

PHILL SPIKER/Collegian

► WOMEN'S BASKETBALL

Cats open with exhibition victory

JULIE KUHLMAN

Shawnda DeCamp's grandma didn't bother to bring the video camera because she told Shawnda they'd lose anyway.

Last year, the K-State women's basketball team fell to the Athletes in Action in its second exhibition game, 83-

Not this year.

The Wildcats defeated the AIA squad 79-72 in their first exhibition game of the year Wednesday at Bramlage Coliseum.

Senior guard Shawnda DeCamp helped make that possible in a 29-point performance, with 21 of them being from three-point land.

"She's not shy," coach Brian Agler said. "Shawnda knows when to curl up and go to the basket, and she knows when to flare out and shoot the three.'

Agler said much of his offense is based on trying to get DeCamp and power forward Shanele Stires open. "We run a motion offense, a lot of picking away from the basketball, and we like to free up Shawnda and Shanele,"

The statistics show why.

DeCamp and Stires were responsible for 49 of the 79 points scored in the evening. Stires pumped in 20 points for the Cats and made eight of eight attempts at the free-throw line. "Freethrows are gimmes," Stires said. "I better make those.

most of her points and rebounds were a matter of being in the right place at the right "Just call me the trash woman," she said.

Stires, who also had six rebounds, said

Agler said he was pleased with the new players on the team as well, especially freshmen guards Brit Jacobson and Amanda Chamberlain.

Jacobson contributed eight points on the evening, and Chamberlain had only three turnovers in the starting point-guard

"Amanda did a great job against a trapping defense for her first Division I ballgame," he said.

Jacobson said she was excited to be in the college atmosphere.

"It's much faster, a lot more intense, but hopefully it will be a lot more fun," Jacobson said.

Although Agler was pleased overall with his team's performance, he said there is still much to improve on.

'We fouled like crazy tonight," Agler said. "We need to play more with our feet. They beat us in shooting more free throws. We had 26 fouls."

DeCamp said the reason for the team members having a tendency to foul easily is because they are supposed to foul in

"He brings us in and wants us to kill each other," she said.

A sparse crowd of 451 fans attended the exhibition game. DeCamp said one of their goals is to get more people to attend.

"Maybe since we beat the Athletes in Action, people will say, 'Wow, we should go watch them,'" DeCamp said. K-State hits the court next against the

Puerto Rican National team Nov. 19. The regular season begins Nov. 25 against Eastern Illinois at Bramlage

Coliseum.

Amanda Chamberlain, K-State point guard, pushes off Melissa Salamone of Athletes in Action. The Wildcats beat Athletes in Action 79-72.

THE VILLAINS BEGIN TO CLOSE IN ON OUR HERO. THE TENSION MOUNTS, AND WE FEAR THE END IS NEAR FOR THE PROTAGONIST.

AT THE LAST SECOND, THE CAPED MAN USES HIS HEAT VISION TO MELT THE CRIMINALS' WEAPONS. THE POLICE ARRIVE TO TAKE THE BAD GUYS TO JAIL.

ALL IS WELL IN THE

SOMIC GRAZE NOT JUST FOR KIDS

DEVELOPING OLDER READERSHIP BECOMING TRENDY FOR COMIC-BOOK MAKERS

arren Guyton, assistant manager of Master Gamer in Manhattan, said you may want to take a second look at what you've given up in the name of maturity.

"A lot of comic books these days aren't what people used to think of them. They've really changed the face recently. They're not just for kids anymore," Guyton said.

Royal Dowdy, owner of Master Gamer, said that one trend in comic books is to gear them toward a readership between the ages of 16 and

"There are a lot of comics now that are geared toward a more mature audience. Instead of the super-hero comics, they are carrying more mature themes and social issues," he said.

Dax Berg, senior in speech, said one way comic books have achieved their newer, more mature reputation is by putting more emphasis on the writing.

"In the mid-1980s, comic-book companies started to realize that their target audience was getting older, and one large group was college students.

"After they realized that, they started hiring writers that could write and tell stories to adults," he said.

Instead of collecting different comic-book titles, Berg said he sometimes collects comic books based on who wrote them.

Another aspect that Berg said is a definite plus in collecting comic books is that it can be prof-

"When I was 12, I bought Hulk #181 for $5. Now it's worth $375," he said.

Kady Massey, freshman undecided, said she started to collect comic books about five years

"My brother collected them. He used to bring them home, and I noticed that some of the characters, story lines and artists were really interest-ing," she said.

Massey said one thing that comic-book companies need to improve on is writing comic books for female readers.

"The first image that comes to your mind is male, or something girls don't do. D.C. and Marvel focus and gear toward the adolescent male," she said.

One comic that is aimed toward women is The Maxx," Massey said.

There is a very strong female character. She's not the ditzy female who is waiting for the big, strong man to rescue her," she said.

MEANWHILE, AT THE HALL OF JUSTICE...

IN CASE YOU ARE CONSIDERING REDISCOVERING YOUR CHILDHOOD AND BUYING A FEW OF THE COMICS THAT YOU USED TO READ, HERE ARE SOME UPDATES ON SOME OF THE OLD FAVORITES:

INONDER INONA

THE SUPER SOLDIER SERUM THAT MADE HIM CAPTAIN AMERICA IS SLOWLY KILLING HIM.

BASICALLY, THE CURRENT STORY LINE IS THE HERO TRYING TO COME TO GRIPS WITH HIS IMPENDING DOOM.

PRINCESS DIANNA IS HAVING SOME

BIG PROBLEMS. THE ISLAND SHE COMES

FROM WILL BE TAKING AWAY HER STA-

TUS AS THE OFFICIAL IMONOGR

TAKING HER PLACE

WOMAN. SOME ONE ELSE WILL BE

GREEN LANTERN

THERE WERE ACTUALLY SEVERAL GREEN LANTERNS THAT LIVED ON A FAR AWAY PLANET. MAL JORDON WAS THE GREEN LANTERN FROM EARTH. WHEN SUPERMAN DIED, MAL JORDON'S CITY WAS DESTROYED.

NOW, THERE IS A NEW GREEN LANTERN NAMED KYLE RAYNOR.

BATMAN

Fires, floods take lives in Egypt, thousands homeless, injured

ASSOCIATED PRESS

DURUNKA, Egypt — In a freak chain of events, a fuel train derailed on a rain-loosened track and sent winds of fire coursing through Durunka.

The inferno killed at least 167 people and left thousands homeless. At least 30 others died Wednesday as what newspapers called the heaviest rains in 60 years lashed normally arid Egypt. Flooding swept hundreds of miles across the country, from the Sinai Peninsula in the north to the ancient temples of Luxor in the south.

In Durunka, 200 miles south of Cairo, a train carrying fuel oil derailed amid torrential rains as it headed to a government oil depot early Wednesday. Ignited by electric wires, the burning cargo was carried on flood waters into the town of 22,000 people. Many people died as they slept.

"It was like winds of fire coming down the mountain," said Mohamed Abdel-Rahman, who managed to escape with his wife and seven children before his house was destroyed. "I thought it was a volcano.'

Ahmed Sharaf Eddin, a taxi driver, said he looked out of his home and saw a wave of people running to the mosque screaming, "There is only one God." They thought it was the day of judgment. Samih el-Saeed, the governor of Assiut province, said 167 bodies were recovered by Wednesday night, and more than 200 people were injured. More bodies were expected to be recovered today from charred houses, some under 3 feet of water Security officials said at least 30 people were killed in flooding that collapsed houses, a mosque and schools elsewhere in Assiut province. Deaths were also reported in neighboring Sohag province, but the exact number was not known.

World

Two tanks in the storage depot outside Duranka were set ablaze by lightning, but el-Saeed said that did not cause the fire in the town.

Still, the accident brought charges that the oil depot was located too close to Durunka.

"The government failed us when it put up this depot close to where people live," Mohammed Abdel-Mohsen Saleh, a representative of President Hosni Mubarak's National Democratic Party, said in nearby Assiut.

The nine oil tanks at the edge of Durunka held about 100,000 barrels of fuel oil as strategic reserves for the armed forces. The fire at the depot sent flames 40 feet into the air, and firefighters were still trying to extinguish the blaze nearly a day

The Assiut area is a hotbed of Muslim radicals, but they were not believed involved in any way in the Durunka blaze.

Durunka was almost deserted Wednesday night after its occupants were evacuated. Left behind were charred corpses of animals, blackened tree stumps and the burned-out hulks of buildings.

'Many people died. There was fire everywhere," said Ahmed Mohamed, a butcher who lost 11 members of his family. "There were children run over by people and killed in the flight out. About 40 army conscripts manning the depot also died."

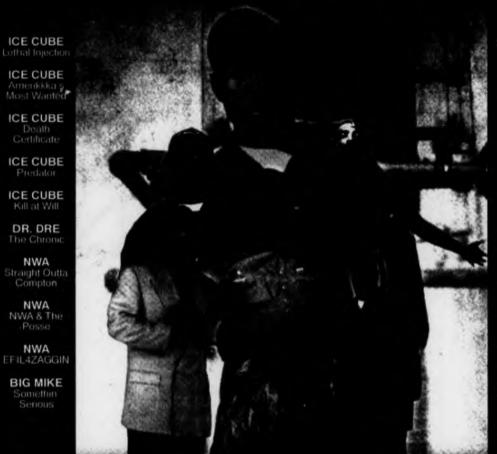

Flooding caused disruption throughout Egypt.

In Cairo, the rain triggered fires, brought traffic to a standstill and delayed international flights because passengers and crews could not reach the airport on flooded highways.

In the Sinai, a British tourist was killed when floods swept a bus carrying 38 Britons into the Red Sea, the Interior Ministry said.

STREETSIDE RECORDS

MOST WANTED

VARIOUS VARIOUS EPMD

EAZY-E ICE T

THE GETO BOYS

THE GETO

THE GETO SCARFACE

SCARFACE

PRIORIT C () 13 RAP RECORDINGS

Sale ends 11/21/94

STREETSIDE's 20 Best Sellers $10.88

1231 Moro • 776–7373 Stay Streetsmart, Shop Streetside!

Dancer's experience includes many areas

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 3

"I'm a big K-State Wildcat fan always have been," she said. "K-State has a very warm place in my heart."

Mahler was the dance program director at K-State from 1974 to 1980. Before her arrival at the University, the dance program consisted of a concentration that was a cross between physical education and theater.

Mahler proposed that dance become a major and thus began the

She said she is thrilled to see the program has continued to grow.

"It's very nostalgic to see the dance program flourishing," she said. "It has blossomed. It's very heartwarming to see that."

Mahler left K-State in 1980 because Dennis Nahat, whom she met at the American Ballet Theatre, needed someone to help him run the Cleveland Ballet. She said she felt she should return to the professional

At the age of 52, Mahler's ballet experience spans many areas.

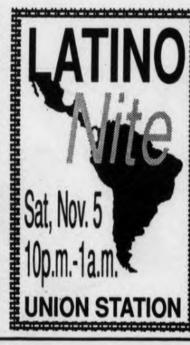

She began dancing when she was 6, under the instruction of the famous ballet teacher Madame Maria Yurieva Swoboda.

Mahler danced principal roles with the National Ballet of Washington, in Washington, D.C., and the American Ballet Theatre.

She had guest appearances at the Sydney Festival Ballet in Australia and the Jacob's Pillow Summer Dance Festival in Massachusetts. Mahler was also a guest on the Sing Along with Mitch Show in the

FOR

Christian 10p.m.-1a.m. UNION STATION

Mr. Goodcents Subs & Pastas®

1317 Anderson (Behind Varney's Book Store)

Sub Sandwiches

Standard Dressings

Oregano

Salt-Pepper-Oll-Vinegar

Also Available

Mustard-Mayonnaise-Pickle

We Deliver! (minimum $5limited delivery area) 539-1900

99 cents

79 79 cents

Hot Pastas

( service or services break)			1001100	saver sav	me or red sai	sea a Marine
1) Mr. Goodcents Combo	299	499 cents			bread)
(Ham, Bologna, Salami, Per	peror	n()
2) Centsable Sub	269	479 cents	3.5.	Pasta	w/Meatballs	w/Sausag
3) Penny Club	299	499 cents	Spaghetti	289	349	359 cent
(Roast Beef, Turkey, Ham)			Mostacciol	1 289	349	359 cen
4) Italian Combo	299	499 cents	Rigatoni	289	349	359 cent
(Capicola, Pepperoni, Salar	ni)
5) Ham & Cheese	299	489 cents	NEW.
6) Pepperoni & Cheese	299	499 cents	Lasagna	399
7) Salami	299	499 cents
8) Roast Beef	299	499 cents			Sides
9) Turkey	299	499 cents	Pasta		Sides
10) Tunafish	299	499 cents	Meetballs	(2) 1	99 (4) 185	(C) 200 pant
11) Capicola	299	499 cents	Sausage	(2)1		(6) 260 cent
12) Mr. Goodcents Steak			Garlic Brea			(6) 399 cent
& Cheese	339	539 cents	Garric Brea	d (2)	69 (4) 129	(6) 189 cent
13) Meatball	299	499 cents	9	- 1
14) Sausage	299	499 cents	Salads & Sides
(green peppers & onlone)			Seafood Sa			299 cent
15) Chicken Salad	299	499 cents	Chef Salad			299 cent
16) Cheese Mix	299	499 cents	Chicken Sa			279 cent
17) Seafood Sub	399	539 cents	Tuna Salad			279 cen
17, 554,554 545		*	Garden Sal	ad		169 cen
Cheese	15	30 cents
Double Meat	100	150 cents				179 cent
Doddie men.		100 400	Pasta Salad			65 cen
Cheeses Available			Potato Sala	d		65 cen
Swiss-American-Mozzarella			Chips			75 cent
Cheddar-Provolone-			Cookle			75 cent
Cheddar-Frovolone			1

Party Trays Available

Coke, Diet Coke,

Sprite, Mr. Pibb

Prices are subject to change without prior notice

12 TANS FOR

November and December Specials Laurie's Specials:

$5 off chemical service! $18 Full set of nails!

Michelle's Specials: $18 Full set of nails!

Toni's Specials: $5 off chemical service! FREE reconstructor with any Salon Servicel

$5 off chemical service! $18 Full set of nails!

2-9009

315 Poyntz Tues. 9-6, Wed. 9-6, Thurs. 9-8, Frl. 9-6, Sat. 9-3

Closed Sun. & Mon.

Two great pizzas! One low price: Always! Always!

YOUR PARTY! PARTY! SPECIALISTS

WESTLOOP CENTER MANHATTAN, KS

CREATE YOUR OWN START WITH

> WITH ONE TOPPING ADD TOPPINGS OR

EXPIRES: 11-12-94 M Little Caesars

WITH ONE TOPPING ADD TOPPINGS OR

participating Little Coesars. EXPIRES: 11-12-94

Little Caesars

CREATE YOUR OWN START WITH

WITH ONE TOPPING ADD TOPPINGS OR EXTRA CHEESE FOR $1.50 EACH

EXPIRES: 11-12-94 Little Caesars

NEW line of quality pizzas loaded with more of what you want!

ANY 2 MEDIUM PIZZAS NOW GET - CAESARS SINGLES!" ONE MEDIUM $5.99 % ONE LARGE $7.99 Offer rold of pomic poring comy-our store No coupon necessary. $1994 LCE, Inc.

PLUS TAX 2 LARGE $13.98

and 9:30 p.m. in Union Grand Illusion"

8 p.m. in Union Little

JOHN MEIROWSKY/COLLEGIAN

The Client" - 7 and 9:30 p.m. in Union

IL Live and Weezer -7 p.m. at Bramlage

NOVEMBER 4, 1994

▶ CROSSWORD

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

wounds

ACROSS 36 Matadors' 1 Peninsula 4 Name in the Guin-

37 Deep red gem 39 Bill's partner 40 Weapon of ness book? 8 Mutt's pal 12 Frankenterrorism Off

45 Celebrity workshop 13 Rajasthan 48 Blue stone 50 "How clumsy of me!" 51 Captain 14 Squashed 15 Purplish Hook's henchman quartz net's ally 18 Character 19 Tina's ex 21 Setting of many jokes 22 Transparent gem 26 "The Crucible" locale 29 Height of fashion 30 Beame or Fortas 31 Shades 32 Chaps

33 Forehead 34 "You There 35 Office machine

17 Green Hor- 52 Cause of princess's insomnia 53 It's decorated at Christmas 54 Actor

Solution time: 28 mins.

42 Mellow 44 2001, e.g. 45 Drunkard

STUMPED? For answers to today's crossword, call 1-900-454-6873! 99¢ per minute, touchtone / rotary phones. (18+ only.) A King Features service, NYC.

CRYPTOQUIP

DRPLDXOU MZMU'L XZUM EYLRCZUF LCOL CZD

FZTBETZYUM LTZYM LP

BODD-P CZX ZULP XOTTZOFY. Yesterday's Cryptoquip: THE BEST DAY FOR TWINS TO BE BORN IS TWOSDAY.

Today's Cryptoquip clue: X equals M

THE FAR SIDE

EUGENE SHEFFER

instrument

25 Information

cylinders 20 Kipling lad

24 Wind

26 Carpet

counte

nance

29 Whammy

"Piano

Lesson'

33 Villain of topper

tionable

38 Soap opera extra, often

46 Anderson's

text

39 Prank

43 Vicinity

1 Custardlike 23 Singer Vikki

4 Secluded 27 Emanation community 28 Groucho-

Holliman

55 Corn spike

dessert

2 Tibetan

cleric

3 Help a hood

6 Stammer-

ing sounds

5 Tier

7 Local:

collog

8 Nicholson

9 Zsa Zsa's

10 No-no for 35

Jack Sprat

11 Mr. Ziegfeld 36 Unques

DOWN

GARY LARSON

I have this huge zit, and I have a date tonight. What am I going to do! Great, now no one will notice.

▶ FILLER

CALVIN AND HOBBES

BILL WATTERSON

▶ FOXTROT

WHY? DID TO THE NEXT PETER

WAS THE BEST SUBJECT YET. THE CREME DE LA CREME!

VIRTUALLY

Angry reader asks Cassandra to get serious

DEAR CASSIE

Duveaux

How dare you?! How dare you use your position with the Collegian to call someone a "bitch."

It was extremely uncalled for, and you had absolutely no right. I don't care if someone chewed you up one side and down the other.

Your immature name calling and rude comments are disgusting. I wish the Collegian staff would find someone to give the students serious advice for serious problems.

Signed, Disgusted Alumnus

Dear Disgusted Alumnus,

Your title says it all. Has graduating staled your sense of humor that much? I can't tell you how many students love responses like this.

You may not care if someone chews me up one side or the other, but I do. My writers receive a response to match their dilemma

I'm sorry if I offended you, but if I had a penny for every time I offended someone, I'd be a millionaire.

Controversy is what it's all about. Some people love me, some people

As long as the letters keep coming, I keep going. I got you to respond, didn't

▶ COLUMN

Encoded messages hiding in media

Nude bodies hidden in the ice cubes in liquor ads, muffled words in songs and split-second images in TV commercials have fueled the subliminal revolution.

Writers, musicians and advertisers have used every form of media available to slip in secret mes-

It seems like they try to get away with as much as possible anymore.

In songs, the plans for a nuclear bomb could be hidden in the background, and only a microscopic portion of the population would ever know.

The lyrics, which are printed on the inside of a compact disc are rarely what comes out of the vocalist's mouth during a recording session. Many other phrases and chatter may have a signifi-cant meaning to the band, but to the listener, they are undecipherable. The band members may plan to sneak in a certain message to be creative, just for the fun of it or to provide a social commentary. In more recent CDs, such as "Kerosene Hat," by the alternative band Cracker, two tracks are skipped. A person may be able to find out what is included in those tracks if they have an up-to-date technologically advanced sound system, but for the average listener, it's impossible to tell what is hidden in there. It could be a way for the band to use space on the CD, or it could be a deep message - who Advertisers are also having a heyday with this concept.

LIEGLER

One thing that some advertisers fail to understand is that if the reader or listener can pick up the message, it's no longer subliminal.

In the books "Subliminal Seduction" and "Media Sexploitation," author Wilson Bryan Key states that 99 percent of the alcohol ads use subliminal and sexual messages to manipulate consumers

If anyone looks deep enough into any photo or image, they're likely to find anything.

Airbrush artists or musicians have the power to insert violent or dangerous phrases into their works, but if they are caught, they will most likely have to fight it out in the legal system.

I have no problem with bands or artists that put harmless phrases in their creations.

It's time to draw the line when the messages start to disrupt or endanger other people Messages of suicide and gangs can influence the younger generation, which looks up to the artists or musicians.

All the bands on the music scene don't just sing about love anymore, and advertisers and TV executives don't focus their campaigns or programs around the happy American family.

Sex and violence sells, pure and simple.

The younger generation is our future, and with all of the messages constantly thrown at them, I'm afraid to see what the world will look like in the

TONIGHT ... Rodeo Club Dance

·$1.75 Margarita's FREE Dance Lessons Tuesday Tuesday... $1 you name it (anything)

GOOD LUCK CATS!

SUMO RODEO NEXT WEDNESDAY

1115 Moro • Aggieville • 776-8770

No Coupon" Specials Everyday Everyday Two-fers Three-fers - PIZZAS with 3 - PIZZAS with - TOPPINGS each - TOPPING each - COKES with ice 2 - COKES with ice $10.34 $8.45

Pizza Shuttle 776-5577

Dominos Pizza

+TAX One Large One Topping Pizza
Carryout or Delivery

$399 + TAX One Medium One Topping Pizza Carryout Only

> NOT VALID WITH OTHER OFFERS PLEASE MENTION SPECIAL WHEN ORDERING EXPIRES 11-5-94

776-7788 517 N. 12TH St. Hours:

11a.m. -1a.m. San.-Tues.

11a.m. -Za.m. Wed.-Sat.

Makin'it great!

CALL THE LOCATION NEAREST YOU.

AGGIEVILLE 539-7666

WESTLOOP 539-7447

•3RD & MORO 776-4334

President Aristide, lawmakers talk about elections

PORT-AU-PRINCE, Haiti -Haiti's government moves closer to becoming functional today.

President Jean-Bertrand Aristide meets with political leaders to discuss elections, and lawmakers consider his choice for prime Meanwhile, U.S. national security advisor Anthony Lake was in town for a second day assessing the operation to restore elected rule that began with the arrival of U.S. troops on Sept. 19.

Elections were the topic of the president's scheduled meeting with politicians of all stripes, a follow-up to a session last week that was seen as a gesture of reconciliation to all political parties.

Although Aristide has 14 months remaining in his five-year mandate, two-thirds of the 27-seat Senate and the entire 81-seat Chamber Deputies are up for re-election balloting normally scheduled for December.

U.S. officials estimate it will take about five months to prepare the internationally supervised

Businessman Smarck Michel,

Manhattan Creative Arts Guild

16th annual

Christmas Festival Art show

Saturday, November 5th

9 a.m.- 4 p.m.

Pottorf Hall in Cico Park

Food served all day

57, was scheduled to speak before parliament today on his nomination to replace caretaker Prime Minister Robert Malval. His approval was

The choice of Michel was seen as effort by Aristide, a leftist priest widely popular among the poor, to reassure business leaders and the United States, which engineered his return from exile last

Aristide on Wednesday visited places where his supporters were slain during the three years of army rule after the 1991 coup that ousted him. He laid a wreath inside the gates of the Port-au-Prince Cemetery to honor the more than 3,000 victims of political violence.

He prayed beside the tomb of the Rev. Jean-Marie Vincent, a prodemocracy priest and close friend gunned down Aug. 28.

Aristide also honored his campaign fund-raiser, businessman Antoine Izmery, and his former justice minister, Guy Malary, who were assassinated by army-backed gunmen last fall.

Thousands of Haitians rushed to the cemetery, climbing on tombs and craning their heads, to see the president in a rare public Until Wednesday, he had stayed almost exclusively at the National Palace or his suburban home, traveling between them by U.S. Army helicopter.

Wednesday he rode in a motorcade, escorted by a dozen security vehicles.

Since his return, Aristide has been preaching reconciliation, but many Haitians want to see those who terrorized the populace brought to justice.

Parliament, on Oct. 7, passed an amnesty law allowing Aristide to pardon coup leaders for political misdeeds and some other crimes. The law fulfilled a promise the United States made to the coup leaders to persuade them to leave peacefully.

However, a Montreal-based organization has submitted to Aristide, at his request, a proposal for a truth commission to investigate human-rights violations, said Diana Bronson, spokeswoman for the International Center for Human Rights and Democratic Development.

During the three years of army rule, human-rights groups documented widespread cases where pro-democracy activists were murdered and mutilated, and their wives and daughters raped, to intimidate them politically.

$2 U Call It Night

(any drink $2) $4.99 Sizzlin' Steak Night By Cico Park Kimball & Seth Childs Candlewood Center

London Paris

Tel Aviv

coming 4741145

R. Carlos Nakai and William Eaton

The Ying Quartet* Friday, November 18, 8 p.m.

Winner of the 1993 Naumburg Chamber Music Award, the Ying Quartet is a brothers and sister team of string virtuosos. For McCain audiences, the Yings will perform Mozart's "Hunt" quartet, Ralph Shapey's Quartet No. VIII, and Schubert's "Death and the Maiden."

R. Carlos Nakai and William Eaton* Friday, December 2, 8 p.m.

Nakai is a Navajo-Ute who honors tribal traditions while developing new musical expressions on his cedar flute. Eaton designs his own extraordinary instruments and composes music inspired by nature. The two come together to perform music that is haunting in its serenity and graceful in its simplicity.

Aladdin and the Magic Lamp Friday, December 9, 7:30 p.m.

An Arabian nights tale of a poor tailor's son, an evil sorcerer, the sultan's beautiful daughter, and a couple of genies. You won't need a flying carpet: the lively music, colorful costumes, and special effects will sweep you away!

For tickets call 532-6428 or come to the McCain box office. Box office hours: noon to 5 p.m. weekdays; from 1 p.m. before weekend matinees; and from 5 p.m. before weekend evenings. Tickets are also available at Manhattan Town Center customer service desk, K-State Union Bookstore, and ITR (Fort Riley). Persons with disabilities call 532-6428.

* Presented in part by the Kansas Arts Commission, a state agency, and the National Endowment for the Arts, a federal agency. Events in the McCain Performance Series are supported by the K-State Fine Arts Fee.

IPINI IKAIPIDA TAU

The Children's Heart Foundation was established in 1985 to help children and youths who have heart diseases or other conditions which require transplants. The Phi Kappa Tau Cannon Crew is on a mission to help save the lives of those children who need our support. For the third year, every time the Cats score, our cannon on the hill roars to support the children's Heart Foundation. You can help save a child's life by purchasing a CANNON CREW t-shirt at all home football games.

FOR MORE INFORMATION ON HOW TO JOIN THE CREW, PLEASE CONTACT: PRESTON PEINE - PHI KAPPA TAU at 913-539-7416 or STOP BY THE K-ROCK BOOTH AT GAMES.

34450

the copy center

CLOSED CLASS LIST

00370	03410	14170	13430	23410	32/90	34430
00840	10640	14190	15480	25440	32810	34460
01940	10650	14250	15490	25611	32850	34470
01980	10660	14260	15860	26820	32870	34520
02500	10670	14270C	16070	27170	32920	34530
02930	10680	14280C	16210	27190	32930	34540
02940	10690	14390	16310	27200	32940	34560
02950	10700	14400	16500	27210	32990	34570
02960	10710	14640	16560	27220	33000	34571
02970	10720	14700	16860	29010	33100	34572
02980	10730	14760	17050	30060	33130	34573
02990	10740	14860	17550	30090	33170	34681
03000	10830	14980	17880	30130	33180	35290
03010	10840	14990	18370	30210	33190	35350
03020	10850	15000	18380	30320	33210	35950
03030	11021	15010	18500	30370	33230	36770
03040	13790	15020	19200	30450	33260	36970
03050	13930	15030	19400	30540	33270	37920
03060	13950	15040	19670	30920	33340	38340
. 03460	13960	15050	19690	30940	33380	80230
06400	14000	15180	19820	31110	33450	80920
07130	14010	15240	19850	31180	33520
08540	14020	15290	23710	31240	34070
08550	14050	15350	24800	31690	34190
08560	14070	15390	24910	32730	34420
08710	14100	15400	24920	32750	34430
08780	14110	15420	25370	32780	34440

C - Canceled class

Updated 5:08 PM, November 3, 1994

*Closed class list also available in Unicorn

K-State Homecoming

Schedule

Friday, Nov. 4, K-State Day

K-State Union

00570

 Ambassador Elections, 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. (Please bring fee card or student I.D.) Float Judging, 3 to 6 p.m.

Ahearn Field House

Body Building Finals, 7:30 p.m

KSU Stadium

 Bonfire Pep Rally, 9 p.m. Coach Snyder and the team captains will address the crowd. The whole football team will be in attendance. East gates of the stadium will be open.

Pant the Chant Contest

Announcement of Winners of Body Building.

Saturday, Nov. 5, Homecoming Day

Aggieville and Downtown

· Parade, 9 a.m.

K-State Union first floor

· Campus tours, 10 a.m.

KSU Stadium

. K-State vs. Iowa State Football game, 1:10

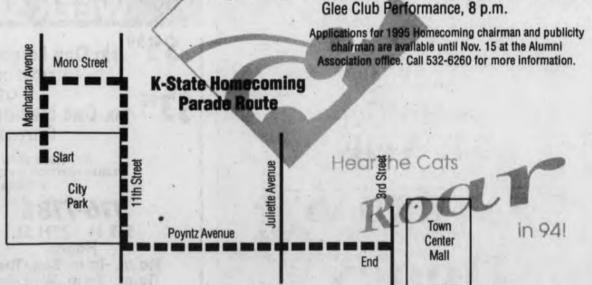

Presentation of Ambassadors and announcement of overall winners, Halftime

Bramlage Coliseum

Neak Frasty Stompdown '94

McCain Auditorium

K-State Singers/Men's Glee Club/Women's

LASSIFIEDS

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

20 words or less - $5 each word over 20 — $.20 per word

2 DAYS 20 words or less - $6.25 each word over 20 — $.25 per word

3 DAYS 20 words or less - $7.25 each word over 20 - $.30 per word

4 DAYS 20 words or less - $8 each word over 20 - $.35 per word

5 DAYS 20 words or less - $8.50 each word over 20 - $.40 per word

(consecutive day rate)

HOW TO PAY

ss you have an est ident Publications. check, MesterCard or Vise are id. There is a $10 service charge

For an extra charge, we'll put a median above your ad to catch the

FREE FOUND ADS

CANCELLATIONS

If you sell your item before your ad has expired, we will refund you for the ning days. must call us before noon the day must call us before noon the day

CORRECTIONS

If you find an error in your ad, call us. We accept responsibility for the first wrong insertion.

VARNEY'S BOOK STORE is now taking applications for temporary part-time full-time positions in the textbook department to assist with textbook buyback. Possible employment dates are Nov. 29 through Dec. 18. Daytime, evening, and weekend hours are available. $4.30 per hour. Involves helping custom-volves helping customers, moderate lifting and cleaning/ pricing books. All positions re-books. All positions require diligence and a pleasant, service- oriented attitude. College experience is strongly preferred. Apply in person downstairs at Varney's Book Store, 623 N. Manhattan Ave., Manhattan, KS. Deading for application is line for application is Sunday, Nov. 13, 1994.

student organizations and small groups to promote Spring Break '95. Earn substantial money and free trips. Call the nation's leader, inter-campus programs 1-800-327-6013.

330

Business

WANTEDIII INDIVIDUALS,

Call 532-6555 to place your classified.

BOARD

Announcements

50 PERCENT off single sports cards! Just in-94- 95 Hockey and Bas-ketball wax. Bases Load-ed Sports Cards 410 Poyntz, 537-4141.

Earn $15 each time vou donate plasma.

MANHATTAN BIOMEDICAL CENTER 1130 Gardenway

776-9177 Set. 9 s.m.-6:30 p.m., Set. 9 s.m.-2 p.m. ADVANCED FLIGHT Train-

ATP multi-engine ATP multi-engine. Hugh Irvin, 539-3128.

ANTIQUE SHOW AND SALE. Nov. 12 and 13, Sat. 10-6p.m., Sun. 11m. Pottorf Hall CICO Park. Sponsored by the Pilot Club of Manhattan.

CHRISTMAS OPEN HOUSE at Blooming Dale's, 1105 Waters— Sat., Nov. 5 9- 6p.m., Sun., Nov. 6 11- 5p.m. 539-4751.

COME FLY with us, K-State Flying Club has five air-planes. For best prices call Troy Brockway, 776-6735 after 5:30p.m.

PERSONAL SECURITY Alarm. Hand held alarm with motion sen-sor for car and home. Great for student. $20 order today. Lacy 539-4783.

PLAN A stunning winter wedding with Bloom-ing Dale's winter floral. Ask for Diane. 539–4751.

Personals

We require a form of picture ID (KSU, driv-er's license or other) when placing a per-

SURPRISE! HAPPY 21st

Meetings Events

MARY KAY open house Nov. 6, 1- 6p.m. 15 per-cent off any purchase!! Call for details today! 537-3645.

Parties-n-More

bash. Great anytime. Birthdays, mid-terms and Wildcat victory par-ties. Wet-N-Wild Mobile Hot Tubs, 537–1825.

ADD AN extra touch of class to your next party. Call Wayne's Water Party to rent a portable hot tub 537-7587, 539-7561.

BOCKERS II Catering Dances, bars, dinners Weddings, Alumni func-tions. Catering any where, discounts, Ware ham, Days Inn, Hous ton Street. Cal

HOUSING/

For Rent-Apts. Furnished

REAL ESTATE

AVAILABLE FALL very nice one, two, three and four-bedroom aparttions with great prices 537-1666, 537-2919.

FOR JAN. across street Ford Hall deluxe two-bedroom. $485/ month. 539-2482. After 4p.m.

ONE-BEDROOM APART MENT, close to cam-pus. 1913 Anderson Ave. $280/ month-

ONE-BEDROOM NISHED, one and one half blocks from campus, carport, $300, pets on approval. Call bet-ween 10a.m.- 5p.m. ween 10 537-4720.

QUIET SURROUNDINGS for study. Campus one mile, one-bedroom, some utilities paid. Minimum seven month lease, 537-8389. no

For Rent-Unfurnished

AVAILABLE FALL very nice one, two, three and four-bedroom apart ment complexes and houses. Excellent locations with great prices 537-1666, 537-2919.

CAMBRIDGE SQ. APT. 2 BEDROOMS *FIREPLACE *POOL

537-9064 WEEKDAYS 9:00-4:30

MANHATTAN Apartments, two-bed room apartments avail-able now, Corner of College and Claffin.

CLOSE (ONE block), to campus. Two, three-bedrooms. Nice. Laundry/ central air/ low utilities/ one and three-fourths baths Not a complex. No pets. 539-4641.

ONE-BEDROOMS AVAIL ABLE at 1026 Sunset $385- $395. Remodeled units. Central air/ heat. Laundry facilities. Three blocks west of campus. 776-3804.

SPACIOUS TWO-BED-ROOM in Chase Apart-ments, dishwasher, bal-cony, on site laundry facilities. Available immediately. 537-8775.

Rooms Available

NEED A place to live? Fam-ily has room for female to live in. Board and food, exchanged for du-ties. References to Box 6 c/o Collegian.

For Rent-

NON-DRINKER smoker, for two-bed-room place. No pets. References. 539-1554.

TWO-BEDROOM, TWO car garage 5112 Murray. Near airport $500/ month. Two-bedroom duplex, 515 S. Manhat-tan $425/ month 539-7181 leave mes-

Roommate Wanted

AVAILABLE SECOND se mester. Own large, nice bedroom in furnished three-bedroom house with fireplace, washer/ dryer. Rent $190 one-fifth utilities. Call ds must be paid in a

EADLINES

AVAILABLE SECOND se-mester. Own large, nice, bedroom in fur-

FEMALE ROOMMATE be-

FEMALE ROOMMATE for 9p.m.

FEMALE

FEMALE

ginning in January; three-bedroom house;

$200/ month plus one-third utilities. Close to

ROOMMATE

ROOMMATE

needed immediately to share two-bedroom apartment, rent $210

month, washer, dryer needed now or next se-mester. Five- minute walk to campus. One-third of bills. Call 776-6184.

MALE ROOMMATE wanted. Non-smoker to share four-bedroom.

Available mid-December. Own room, two and one-half bath, washer/ dryer, dish-washer, one-fourth utili-ties, $215/ month. 587-8622.

people to share five-bedroom house two blocks from campus. Rent $150 each. Call nowl 587-1969.

ed $150 month, one-half utilities, own room in trailer, call 539-8449

LOOKING FOR two more

MALE ROOMMATE want-

NON-SMOKER, SHARE

house, utilities with re-sponsible mostly male household. Large bedroom, laundry, $160. Available Nov. 15 room apartment with two females. One-half block from campus Rent $210, laundry facil ities available, 776-1360

OMMATES WANTED
male or female. Threebedroom house. Close to campus and Aggieville. One room $225. One room $175.
All bills paid including
phone and cable.
537-1108 nights
537-7546 days.

WANTED FOR spring se

WANTED NON-SMOKING

and non-drinking room mate for basement fur nished private bed-room. Walk to KSU. $150. Share utilities. 539-1554.

WANTED: FEMALE to

FEMALE/ NON-SMOKER to sublease. Will live with three other girls. One-fourth of utilities and

FOR SPRING semester-available end of Dec. One-bedroom apart-ment, two blocks from campus. Call 537-4768.

JAN. 1 one-bedroom fur-nished apartment. $250 a month, three blocks from Lest Chance! 539-5571.

TWO-BEDROOM

Available after finals. Near Westloop $435

New carpet, balcony, one bathroom, 776-3173, leave mes-

NICE, CLEAN, two-bed-room apartment, two blocks from campus

ONE ROOM for rent in large, beautiful, seven-bedroom home; $150/and close to aggieville. Call 776-1324.

month plus one-sev enth utilities; kitchen and laundry available, four blocks from campus; January 1 to May 31 sublease available; 537-2497— ask for Russ or leave message.

$162/ month rent. One-half of December free. Call 539–3387.

Sublease

mester, one non-smok-ing male to sublease room. Call 537-3555 for

ROOMMATES WANTED

RENT ONE of three-bed-

nished three-bedroom house with fireplace, washer/ dryer. Rent $190, one-fifth utilities.

Classified ads must be placed by noon the day before the date you want your ad to run. Classified display ads must be placed by 4 p.m. two working days prior to the date you want your ad to run.

As a service to you, we run four for three days free of charge.

SERVICE DIRECTORY

Resume/ Typing

spring semester. Non-smoker; three-bed-rooms; walk to campus; $215/ month; one-third utilities. 776-0096 after NEED SOMETHING typed? I'll type it for $1/ per page. Call 537-9480 after 5:30p.m. Ask for

> WELL EXPERIENCED typist by day would like typ-ing at night. Laser print-ing. Call Judy 539-7100 or 456-9642.

Child Care

MOTHER OF two children looking to babysit in her home evenings and weekend Call 776-5244.

Automotive

250

Repair

NISSAN- DATSUN Repair SAN- DATSUN Repair Service. 22 years ex-perience. Mazdas, Hon-das and Toyotas also. Auto Craft, 2612 Dipper Lane, Manhattan, Kan-sas. 537-5049. 8a.m.-5p.m. Mon.- Fri.

Other Services

CHANGE YOUR grades with Study Consultant. Free information $2 postage. Venus Co., P.O. Box 1351, Manhat-

PROMPT CONTRACEPTIVE and abortion services. Dale L. Clinton, M.D. Lawrence, (913)841-5716.

EMPLOYMENT/ CAREERS

Help Wanted

$1500 WEEKLY possible mailing our circulars! No experience re-quired! Begin Now! For information call (202)298-8957.

share three-bedroom apartment with one and one-half bath. $220 a month, one-third utili-ties. Available Jan. 1. Call Marsha or Amy 276, 2020 ALASKA EMPLOYMENT-Fishing Industry. Earn up to $3000-$6000 plus per month. Room and Board! Transportation! Male/ female. No experience necessary (206)545-4155 ext. A57682.

> ARE YOU an organizer? Like to get people to-gether? Make $$$, gain excellent business experience and earn free travel by marketing our Spring Break packages. Call Blue Iguana Tours 1–800–868–7423.

ATTENTION GROUPS and individuals! Raise up to $10,000 or more. Win $1000, free car or free Hawaii trip! No Investmessage. (609)427-0777 Ext. 1562.

TENTION STUDENTS: Earn extra cash stuffing envelopes at home. All materials provided. Send SASE to Central Distributors P.O. Box 10075, Olathe, KS 66051. Immediate re-

BARTENDER OPENINGS for private parties. Must be 21; have some experience. Apply 2321

COACHES NEEDED for mens and/ or womens gymnastics. 15- 20 hours. Will train the right person. Gymnas tics experience pre-ferred. Call 539-3613.

COMPUTER NETWORK
ADMINISTRATOR: parttime student position,
mostly regular scheduled hours with some emergency trou-bleshooting hours. Re-sponsible for oversee-ing 55-computer Macintosh network, including hardware maintenance software backups, and records maintenance. Should be familiar with Macintosh operating systems 6 and 7. Client server networking for an ethernet network. TCP/IP experience a plus. Salary negotiable based on experience. Pick up an applications in 113 or 103 Kedzie. plication deadline is on on Tuesday, Nov.

CRUISE SHIPS NOW HIRING. Earn up to $2000 plus/ month working on Cruise Ships or Land-Tour companies. World travel (Hawaii, Mexico, the Caribbean, etc.) Seasonal and full-time employment available. No ployment available. No experience necessary. For more information call (206)634-0468 ext.

FRIENDS OF THE ENVI-RONMENT. Big prob-lems need big people! Big problems can earn you a big paycheck, if you are serious about creating a GLOBAL CHANGE. Major statewide expansion. 230 na-tionwide offices already breaking records across the country. "Explosive Growth " Various Posi-tions " Full Training "Travel Available "Excellent Income Poten al Call 776-7975 for ap BLESHOOTER: part-MACINTOSH BLESHOOTER: part-time student position, mostly regular scheduled hours with possi ble emergency hours. Assists in overseeing 55-computer Macintosh network, including hardware and software troubleshooting and general maintenance Should be familiar with Macintosh operating systems 6 and 7. Mini mum wage to start Pick up an applications at 113 or 103 Kedzie Application deadline is noon on Tues., Nov. 22.

NANNY WANTED, Need ing nine month old baby. Full-time posi-tion. Starts Jan. 1995. Submit letter of applica-tion to J. Kassebaum, 1816 Cassell, Manhat-

SALES REPRESENTA-TIVE- Fast growing tel-ecommunication firm is looking for qualified, pendent representative Set own hours, excellent pay from bonuses and commission. For more information call Matthew Loid at 776-8898.

SKI RESORT Jobs- Hir ing for many positions for winter quarter. Over 15,000 open-ings! For more infor-mation call: (206)634-0469 ext.

What do you do if you see a fire? 1. Call 911 2. Then call us

News Tips 532-6556

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

GET THE WORD PLACE YOUR CLASSIFIED AD IN KEDZIE 103

532-6555

532-7309

OR WRITE COLLEGIAN CLASSIFIEDS Kedzie Hall 103 Manhattan, Kan. 66506

OFFICE HOURS MONDAY-FRIDAY

8 a.m.-5 p.m. (Except holidays)

LAPTOP 386, 4MB RAM, 40 MB hard drive. Needs battery, $400. Call Mike 395–4806.

LASER TURBO XT 240 LOTS OF PARKING

Garage/Yard Sales

TWO FAMILY sale. Stagg Hill area Sat. 8- 7 900 Gillespie. Rowing ma-chine, Christmas tree, gates, boys bike, swag lamp, coats, children and adult clothing and

Antiques

Opportunities Maul and Geeb Emporium, 6000 square feet PROFESSIONAL. I need the help of a local dis-tributor who wants to earn up to $500 a day, from the comfort of antiques, collectibles, estate jewelry, furni-ture, 4910 Skyway Dr. four blocks east of Manyour own home. Mini hattan Airport. Open Tues.- Sat. 12- 6p.m. 539-4684.

OPEN MARKET

Wanted to Buy

WHITE WICKER furniture wanted. Don't store it for the winter. Let's deall Call 537-4667 after 5p.m.

Items for Sale

R SALE- Kenwood 250W power amplifier, $275; four-drawer desk with chair, $30. Kevin 539-3792.

MUST SELL need cash, Magnavox VCR, remote, $175. Emerson TV, Remote, $75. Both ex-cellent condition. Very negotiable. 587–9066 after 6.

TWO SMALL deep freezes for sale. 5.1 cubic foot chest for $100. 12.0 cubic foot upright for $150. Great to store

SUMMER JOBS OUT-DOORS Over 10,000 openings! National Parks, Forests, Fire Crews. Send stamp for free details. Sullivan's 113 East Wyoming, Ka-lispell, MT 59901.

RECORDS & DISCS YOUR HIGH-QUALITY SOUND RECYCLERS

BONEPILE

S CASH DAILY S FOR RECORDS, TURNTABLES, COMPACT DISCS AND CD SINGLES IN AGGIEVILLE

1126 LARAMIE MANHATTAN

TIME MACHINE Antique

Computers 486 4MB RAM, 340 MB HD, CD Rom, SVGA monitor, 14.4 bps modem, lots of software. 539–5606.

486SX PACKARD Bell com puter with Epson 24-pin printer. One and one-half years old. 2

MB RAM, 85 MB hard drive, 1024x768 extend-ed VGA, 1.44 MB flop-py, DOS 5.0 Window software, WP 5.1, automap, games and screen filter. $800 negotiable.

COMPUADD 386SX16, 3.5 and 5.25 floppy, 85 MB hard, 4 MB Ram, 2400 bds modem, two joy-sticks, SVGA monitor, MS DOS 6.0, $700, call Mo 776-4110.

Meg HD, 3.5, 5.25 FD's, DOS 5.0, new monitor, loaded, $425 leave mes-sage 762–7661 Andrew.

MACINTOSH COMPUT-

ER. Complete sys-tem including print-er only $500. Call Chris (800)289-5685.

455

465

Supplies BABY FERRETS are in at Animal House Pets! We have everything you will need for your new baby! Come check it out at 210 N. 14th.

Sporting Equipment MIZUNO MSX 1-3-5W Wilson Staff 3-PW Titleist DCI SW all excellent condition Sun Mountain stand bag good condition, $600.

395-5230.

Tickets to

Buy/Sell FOR SALE: General Admis-sion football tickets for remaining KSU games. $10 each or best offer. Please call by 11/4/94 at 3p.m. 587-9524. leave

FOR SALE: Three general admission tickets for KSU/ ISU game. $10/ each. Call 587-0123.

FOUR TRAVIS Tritt tickets, 539-1582.

PORTATION

510

Automobiles

1981 FORD LTD small V8 engine, runs good, body straight, good transportation. $400 cash 776-8590 or 485-2547 leave mes-

1983 MUSTANG GT, 302, 110K miles, black, five-speed, dependable, $1400, 539-3683.

1984 AUDI 4000s, red, two door, air, tinted wind-door, air, tinted wind-ows, five speed. Nice car, and runs great! $1500 or best offer. 587-8352. Ask for Kirk.

1984 FORD Escort, good transportation. $1000 or best offer. Call Mike at 539–3530 after 6p.m.

FOR SALE: 1985 Ford Tem-po. Runs great! $950 or best offer. Must sell! Call 587-8817, ask for

SIX DAYS/ five nights va-cation cruise to Bahamas. Plus three days/ two nights in Orlando. For two adults only $400. Must sell call

Charlene, 587-0948

Tour Package

ADVERTISING PRODUCTION

Publication Practice

IMC 360 Class size is limited so sign up now.

Get training and gain experience while earning one hour of credit this spring. Attend class one day a week from 8:30-11:30 a.m. You pick the day of the week based on availability. The instructor's permission is required. The experience you gain in the spring would qualify you to apply for a paid position in the summer or fall.

> Come to 113 Kedzle 8 a.m.-4 p.m. for more information and syllabus.

CLASSIFIED DIRECTORY

TIPS FOR WRITING A CLASSIFIED AD

Always put what item or service you are advertising first. This helps potential buyers find what they are looking for. Don't use abbreviations. Many buyers are confused by abbreviations. Consider including the price. This tells buyers if they are looking at something in their price range

CATEGORIES

To help you find what you are looking for, the classified ads have been arranged by category and sub-category. All categories are marked by one of the large images, and sub-categories are preceded by a number designation.

WE DO NOT USE PHONE NUMBERS OR LAST NAMES IN PERSONALS.

400 people crowd into Snookie's Bar for 311 concert

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

Eyestone said the 311 concert at Snookie's Bar was an example of a positive response by the students to a bar's attempt to bring a national act to Aggieville.

"There were like 400 people at Snookie's for the 311 concert," Eyestone said.

Ken Snook, owner of SPL Productions, said 311 played to a sold-out crowd.

"I got a lot of positive reactions. It was different from anything anyone else had done in town, Snook said.

To celebrate K-Rock's fourth birthday, Snookie's and K-Rock sponsored the bands Truck Stop Love, Turquoise Sol and 311 to play on consecutive Thursday nights in October.

"It was our first year to do this, and it went well. We're most definitely going to do it again next year," Snook said. Eyestone said he commends Snookie's for bringing in live bands to Aggieville. "Snookie's is trying awful hard. It's a good location for the bands,' he said

Eyestone said he thinks the students responded well to the events, but said he feels they should give other lesser-known bands a

"Bar owners are sticking their necks out to bring a band into Manhattan. They're not going to put shows on if there's not an audience, because they have to cover production costs," Eyestone Eyestone said Manhattan's music scene could dramatically improve if the students get behind and support it.

"If they give the bars a chance to see what they bring in, we can obtain a level comparable to Lawrence, Lincoln and Omaha cities which have live music six nights a week," Eyestone said.

Eyestone said the other cities' music scenes grew to the size they are now because of the town's appreciation for live bands.

'The scenes are happening in those places because the bar owners knew they could make money by bringing in a band. It's profitable," Eyestone said.

Eyestone said Manhatta's location and size also affects the live-music scene.

"Our population is so isolated. We're out here all by ourselves," Eyestone said.

Eyestone said bars such as Rusty's Last Chance Restaurant & Saloon feature bands twice a week, Charlie's Neighborhood Bar occasionally has bands on weekends, and other bars such as Auntie Mae's Parlor, Champion's Pub & Grill and Rowdy Trouty's often have acoustic acts.

Eyestone said TW Longhorn's has had Sammy Kershaw, LeRoy Parnell, Shooting Blanks, Rio and Spike Blake perform at the bar, and said they received a good response from the audience.

"It wasn't jam packed, and people didn't throw their hats on the stage, but everyone danced and listened, and it turned out to be good for all of us," Eyestone said. Chris Hyer, manager of Lucky

Can't Believe It's

BrewGrille, said the bar offers live music once a month, but said one of the problems with the music scene is that there is not a lot of talent to draw from in the local area.

'There's not a lot of local bands to bring in without overkill, which would happen if you brought the same groups over and over," Hyer

Hyer said Lucky's has had the Squibcakes, Jeff Barrett and Mark and Bea, but they would like to have even more bands if given the opportunity.

'We're open to any kind of music that we can bring in," Hyer

11th & Moro - Aggieville

No illegal computer access in cheating case

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

the test answers.

"I have no reason to believe that there was any illegal computer access, unauthorized entry or selling of these answers. There also is no evidence that any single individual was responsible for distributing exam questions," campus police investigator Richard Herrman said.

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

Monday afternoon during the new-

are from 6 a.m. to 5 p.m. and 7 to 9

UPC Special Events Committee, said she felt Bramlage was the best

DB92's new-album rock hours

Sharon Willits, adviser of the

"This is a good starting ground

Yancy Ayres, freshman

"I have all of their CD's," he undecided, said $15 is a great price for such outstanding rock 'n' roll.

for UPC to do some more livemusic concerts," she said. "Maybe album rock hours," he said.

place for the concert.

one or two a semester."

said. "It'll be a rock-out."

Concert could be turning point

The cheating occurred when the people who took the exam early called other members of the class and told them the answers. The answers were passed along the greek system and to the residence

The investigation is over, and the notification process has started.

"If any students have any grievances about the incident, they

Avres said he plans to go with

Kelli Schram, senior in secondary education, English and speech, said she tries to support live music whenever it comes to about 15 of his friends.

Manhattan.

go," she said.

Spooner, biology department head, If students dispute the decision, they can appeal to the Undergraduate Grievance Committee.

The committee can examine the facts and assess the penalty of the offense. The Grievance Committee will listen to the case, then consult can appeal their case," Brian the provost's records for evidence of previous incidents of cheating.

K-State received the dubious honor of leading a segment on college cheating on the ABC news magazine "Prime Time Live."

K-State was compared to Stanford University and the University of Maryland, where widespread cheating was also uncovered.

KSU Student Ambassador Elections November 2-4

Don't miss your chance to vote for the 1994-95 K-State Student Ambassadors. Elections will be Wednesday to Friday, Nov. 2-4, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. in the K-State Union.

"I've been telling everybody to Bring your student I.D.

Member Discount Day Ask about our Membership Drive.

811 COLORADO Located three blocks south of Poyntz 539-4811

Scout Troop 74 Saturday, Nov. 5

Church 8th & Leavenworth

You've heard of Thelma and Louise

Wait until you meet Velma and Roxy

They're dangerous They're killers and everyone loves 'em!

CHICAGO

A Bob Fosse Musical

Presented by KSU Theatre and the Dept. of Music

Nov. 10 - 12 McCain Aud. 8pm

Tickets: McCain Box Office Noon to 5pm or oall 532-6428

Buy One, Get One Free!

537-1616

Buy one cup or cone and receive one of equal value FREE with this coupon.

New Hours: 7 a.m. - 11 p.m. Daily 10 a.m. - 11 p.m. Sunday

Dr. Paul E. Bullock Optometrist

Call now and ask about our new High Quality, Economical Eyeglass & Contact Lens Packages In the forefront of contact lens technology over 25 years.

Colony Square Extra Hours Wed. & Sat. 776-9461 TOLL FREE: 1-800-432-0036 555 Poyntz Manhattan

We accept MC, VISA, AE, DISC. Payment Plans Available.

FITNESS & AEROBIC CENTER

10th ANNIVERSARY CELEBRATION Nov. 6 - 12

Public Open House All Week - Enjoy Aerobic & Step Classes, Free Weights, Nautilus' Machines, Racquetball,

Register for prizes to be given on Nov. 12 Including a One Year Membership, T-Shirts, Massages And Much More

Come For The Fun...Stay For The Fitness.

1100 Moro

Aggieville

776-1654

Sunday Worship 11 a.m. Church School 9:45 a.m. For free transportation within city limits, call the church. Pastors Karen & Alan Selig 2121 Blue Hills Rd. 539-8691 An American Baptist Congregation

Grace Baptist Church (2901 Dickens - 2 blks. E. of Seth Child) + Sunday + Three Unique Worship

Opportunities 8:15 + 9:30 + 11 a.m. Bible Classes For All Ages - 9:30 a.m. All-Age Family Hour - 11 a.m.

Body Life or Care Cells 6 p.m.

776-0424 Manhattan Mennonite Fellowship Sunday School 9:35 a.m., Worship 10:45 a.m. Pastor Harris Waltner 539-4079

Child Care Available

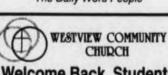

Advertise in the

OLLEGIAN

532-6560

UNITY CHURCH of MANHATTAN

1021 Denison Ave. (E.C.M. Building) Meditation 10:15 a.m. Service 11 a.m. "The Daily Word People"

Welcome Back, Students Morning Worship 9 & 10:30 a.m.

Sunday School 9 & 10:30 a.m. Sunday Evening Worship 6 p.m. 1st, 3rd & 5th Sundays CARE CELLS (Small Groups)

3001 Ft. Riley Blvd. 537-7173 ST. FRANCIS CANTERBURY

6 p.m. 2nd & 4th Sundays

EPISCOPAL CAMPUS MINISTRY

Eucharist & Guitar in Danforth Chapel every Sunday at 5 p.m. Call 532-9099

FIRST CHRISTIAN CHURCH 5th & Humboldt Worship & Praise 8:30 a.m. Traditional Worship 10:55 a.m.

> Church School 9:45 a.m. COLLEGE FELLOWSHIP Live Broadcast 11:30 a.m. Angel 95 (95.3 FM) Wed. Eve. Bible Study & Youth Programs

PASTOR DR. DONALD E. BREZAVAR

St. Isidore's Catholic Student Center Masses: Sat. 5 p.m. Sun. 9:30., 11a.m. & 5 p.m.

Confessions: Sat. 3:30 p.m. 711 Denison Chaplain: Father Keith Weber

FIRST UNITED METHODIST CHURCH 8:30 & 11 a.m. Worship

9:45 a.m. Church School Nursery provided for all services Omer G. Tittle, Pastor

612 Poyntz 776-8821 DIAL-A-PRAYER 776-9569

Campus Pastor James Gau Sun. 8 and 10:45 a.m.

Sat. Worship 6 p.m. Bible Class Sunday 9:30 a.m. 330 N. Sunset Ave. 539-2604

A Little Space

Can Say A Lot! Collegian Advertising

532-6560 Unitarian-Universalist Fellowship South over vieduct (Hwy. 177), turn left on Zeendale Rd. (Hwy. 18), then about a % mile. Sunday Services, Sunday School 10:45 a.m. Nursery
Rev. David Grimm
FOR INFORMATION CALL 539-9369 or 537-9816

First Congregational Church 700 Poyntz (Poyntz and Juliette) 537-7006

Sunday School 9:30 a.m. Worship 10:45 a.m.

"Three Women Who Loved Enough" Sunday, Nov. 6 Rev. Donald Longbottom

Sermon:

Lutheran

Campus Ministries

Sundays 11 a.m. Danforth Chapel

WORSHIP

Holy Communion celebrated every Sunday

+sing, pray, meditate

+pursue your questions of faith +hear a word of acceptance and forgiveness

+bring a friend Pastor Jayne Thompson

539-4451

-Open to All-

State Historical Society KANSAJS KS AGE L OLLEGIA

REAGAN

Former President Ronald Reagan announced Saturday that he has been diagnosed with Alzheimer's disease.

PAGE 5

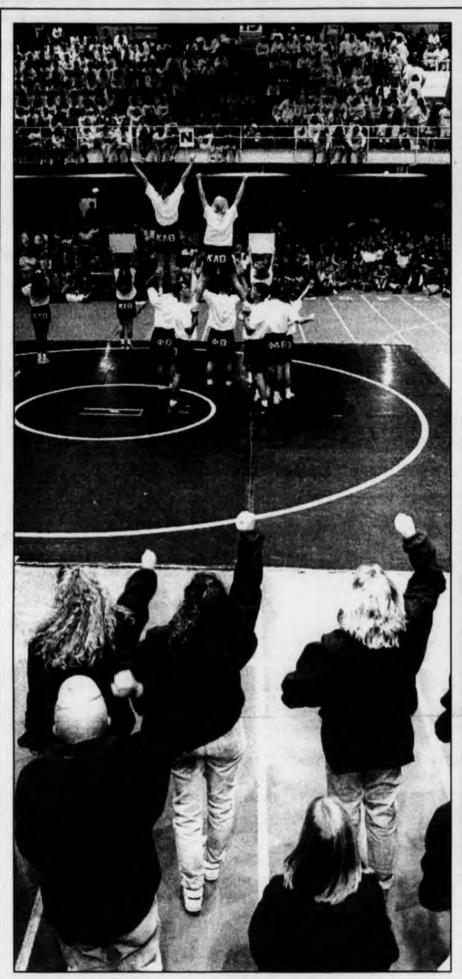

MONDAY

WEATHER - PAGE 2

NOVEMBER 7, 1994

KANSAS STATE UNIVERSITY, MANHATTAN, KANSAS 66506

VOLUME 99B, NUMBER 55

▲ Dancers from several black fraternities and sororities competed in the fourth annual Neak Frasty stepshow Saturday at Bramlage Collseum. The stepshow was sponsored by the Kappa Tau chapter of Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity Inc. Proceeds benefited the Thurgood Marshall Scholarship Award.

INSIDE

▶ K-State jumps to a 38-0 lead and then holds off lowa State for a win in the Homecoming game. With the victory, the Wildcats leaped from No. 15 to No. 9 in the coaches poll.

Page 6

▲ Sherri Shapiro, senior in human development and family studies, and her dog, Caesar, watch as the K-State Marching Band marches past Saturday morning during the Homecoming parade. Shapiro and Caesar were watching with Shapiro's friend, Kellie Tan, senior in theater.

■ A large group of fraternity and sorority members packed into Ahearn Field House Friday night to watch the finals of the

► ELECTION ISSUES

Economic opportunities questioned

J.R. PRATHER

Collegian Opportunity seems to be the key word when supporters of Question No. 2 on Tuesday's ballot talk about the half-cent sales tax for economic development.

However, detractors say the real question is whether the economic plan has been thoroughly examined.

Question No. 2 arose from a proposal by the Mayor's Economic Development Task Force, whose mission was to develop a plan to strengthen Manhattan's economy identify investment

The task force made its recommendations in the face of the possibility that Fort Riley may downsize or close.

The plan's goal is to bring more private-sector jobs into the Manhattan economy

If voters cast their ballots for economic development, Manhattan's present sales tax of 6.4 percent would increase to 6.9 percent, pending approval by the Kansas Legislature.

The tax would only be in effect for four years and would raise about $2 million a year, said Rick Manhattan Committee.

Bodybuilding competition.

Mann said a strong local economy would benefit K-State students as well as Manhattan

"Keep in mind the tremendous amount of K-State students working jobs while they go to school," he said. "Students have to have job opportunities to go to school.'

Part of the funds will go toward the retention, growth and expansion of existing enterprises, Mann said.

"With that investment, we're

Mann, co-chair of the Jobs for hoping to create a lot of job opportunities," Mann said. "It's important to have as many job opportunities as we can for recruitment of students and retention for the current and future student body.

Another key part of the plan is to use K-State's research capacity to bring in state and federal grants to turn research into products and services, Mann said.

A proposed $120,000 a year would be used to fund a staff position at K-State for the purpose

■ See ECONOMIC Page 10

Groups argue over accuracy

of jail figures

LEIGH BELLINGER

The intersection of Sixth and Colorado streets was peaceful Friday morning. The playful yells of children could be heard, along with the sounds of nearby road construction and, of course, people coming and going at the Riley County Jail.

Behind the relative calm of this crisp autumn day was the fact that this one block of land is in the midst of a controversy to build an expanded law enforcement/jail complex.

See CONCERNS Page 10

STUDENT PUBLICATIONS

Collegian, Royal Purple receive Pacemaker award

NICOLE POELL

The K-State football team isn't the only campus organization receiving national recognition these days.

For the second year in a row, the Kansas State Collegian and the Royal Purple yearbook were the recipients of the Pacemaker award.

This award honors the top five college newspapers and yearbooks in the country and is presented by the Associated Collegiate Press. Out of the 10 finalists in both the newspaper and yearbook categories, the top five winners were announced at the national College Media Advisers convention Saturday in New Orleans.

K-State is the only school in the nation to have both its newspaper and yearbook win the award in two consecutive years.

"Although we don't produce the paper to win awards, it is gratifying to be recognized as one of the top five papers in the nation, Stephanie Fuqua, K-State Collegian editor, said.

"The fact that the Royal Purple and the Collegian have won this for two years in a row is a testament to how good our programs are here at K-State.

"Our students really work hard for these publications, and that hard work has paid off," she said.

Renee Martin, assistant editor of the Royal Purple, said that it's nice to be recognized at the national level. "We are very honored to win, because a lot of times, the students on campus don't recognize the hard work we do," she said. "It's nice for these judges on the national level to appreciate it." Martin also said winning the awards provides a boost to K-

State's journalism program. "This award proves that we have a strong journalism program here at K-State," she

"I think many times we're underrated, so this just makes you proud to work in student publications.'

The four other Pacemaker winners in the newspaper division included the University of Oklahoma, Michigan State University, Boston University and the University of Kansas.

Other winners in the rearbook category were Washington State University, Vanderbilt University, Indiana University and the University of Miami.

Expansion threatening to school

LEIGH BELLINGER

An unusual silence filled the halls and classrooms of the Seven Dolors Grade School Friday morning.

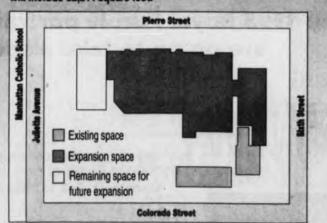

The silence was broken by the occasional parent or teacher walking down the darkened hallways, past the Virgin Mary statue, for parent and teacher conferences.

Sitting in empty classrooms, parents talked to teachers, and ■ See FAMILY Page 10

PROPOSED EXPANSION OF JAIL

This is the proposed plan for the expansion of the Riley County Law Enforcement Facility. It is based on a 1988 plan. The new expansion will include 62,244 square feet.

TRISHA BENNINGA/Collegian

NEWS BRIEFS

COFFEE HOUR OFFERS TASTE OF INTERNATIONAL COFFEES, ENTERTAINMENT

The K-State Union Program Council Multicultural Committee offers students a taste of another country for a mere 45 cents a cup.

Students have the opportunity to taste coffees from different cultures during International Coffee Hours from 2:30 to 4:30 p.m. every Tuesday outside Union Station.

"We have different coffees from around the world that people can try." Michelle Wichers, freshman in architecture and Multicultural Committee member, said.

"We have been having Costa Rican and Irish Cream. We're going to have all kinds," she said.

Hot teas, in flavors such as cinnamon, are offered as an alternative to the international coffees. But for those who wish to explore the international flavors, cappuccino is also offered.

"We're mainly focusing on cappuccino now since it's new," Julie Bergman, sophomore in interior architecture and committee member, said. "There's six different Entertainment is also offered.

"It's for students to get a taste of different cultures," Bergman said. "When we bring in entertainment, it will be different kinds of music."

A jazz ensemble is scheduled for this week, and Allen Landers will play piano Nov. 22.

Bergman said the number of people who stop by the table each week varies

"It depends on what's going on," she said. "If there's meetings (in the Union), more people come by."

PRUDENCE SIEBERT

► CLAY COALITION TO OPEN POTTERY EXHIBIT TODAY IN K-STATE UNION

Manhattan's Clay Coalition opens an exhibition in the K-State Union Art Gallery today. "This is a chance to share with the community something that is a valuable asset," said Joyce Furney, professional potter and treasurer of the coalition "There will be representative pottery of member's professional work and the work of students taught by members, showing what's being made at our studio," Furney said.

Most of the members of the coalition are K-State graduates, and all are Manhattan residents. The exhibit includes items such as stoneware, wall hangings and some one-of-a-kind and functional

Sharon Willits, Union Program Council adviser, said the Coalition exhibit is the third in a series of solely UPC-sponsored exhibits this

"UPC decided over the summer to have a student exhibit, a national exhibit and a local-talent exhibit, and after contacting the Manhattan Arts Council, the Clay Coalition was chosen to do the local exhibit," Willits said.

The coalition is a combination of local potters who have joined forces with the Manhattan Arts Council and UFM to give the community a chance to use the creative spark everyone has and so often doesn't have the place to use it,

"The studio came about as a response for the need for a place where potters can work together with the community," Furney said.

The building of the studio was done 98 percent by volunteers, and that is what made the studio possible, she said.

The Clay Coalition exhibit at the Union Art Gallery will be open to the public Monday through Friday until Nov. 23.

The pottery studio is located at 1508 Poyntz Ave. and is open to all of the community

Classes offered by the coalition range from clay discovery for children to more advanced classes for any skill level

The coalition also teaches classes at the Big Lakes Developmental

LORI CAGLE

▶ CUBAN REFUGEES RETURNED AFTER COURT LIFTS ORDER BARRING RETURN

GUANTANAMO NAVAL BASE. Cuba (AP) - A group of 22 Cuban refugees returned to their homeland Saturday, less than 24 hours after an appeals court lifted an order that had barred their return.

The 11th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in Atlanta ruled Friday that Cuban refugees at Guantanamo Bay and in Panama can be returned to their homeland if they want to go back and have had the opportunity to speak to lawyers. The decision overturned a U.S. District Court order blocking the

About 24,000 Cuban refugees are being held by the government at Guantanamo Bay, with another 8,000 at refugee camps in Panama. More than 1,000 have said they wish to return to Cuba.

The Clinton administration maintains that refugees intercepted at sea have no rights under the U.S. Constitution and immigration laws, including a constitutional right to access to lawyers.

A group of mostly Cuban-American lawyers sued Oct. 24, saying the Cubans should be allowed to talk to lawyers before making a decision to return to Cuba. Before the lawsuit was filed, 42 refugees voluntarily returned to HEAR YE! HEAR YE!

Apply for next semester's Collegian

Last week, 105 refugees tried to escape Guantanamo by jumping in the sea or over fences. Some were rescued: 43 remain unaccounted for. The federal panel said some Cubans may have died because they have not been allowed to return home.

The 22 refugees who returned Saturday had been on a plane returning to Cuba on Oct. 25 when the U.S. District Court order forced them to return to Guantanamo.

A 23rd Cuban with them disappeared from the camp after their return and is presumed to have tried to swim back to Cuban territory, said Army Maj. Rick Thomas.

These reports are taken directly from the daily logs of the K-State and Riley County Police departments. Because of space constraints, not all crimes are listed.

K-STATE POLICE

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 5

At 2:52 p.m., a football patron called from the elevator emergency phone reporting that he was stuck on the third floor in the pressbox. The elevator was reported that a fire alarm was ject who did it was possibly drunk and exited the building on foot. The Manhattan Fire

Department was notified to reset

SUNDAY, NOVEMBER 6

At 9:10 p.m., the K-State Department of Housing and Dining Services reported the theft of a small balance scale from the Pittman Building. Loss

At 2:35 a.m., someone

RILEY COUNTY POLICE

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 5 At 9:37 p.m., police received a suspicious-activity report from Poyntz and Leavenworth on 17th Street, where a group of juveniles was putting things in the street for subjects to run over. One officer ran over a brick.

SUNDAY, NOVEMBER 6

At 3:58 a.m., police received a suspicious-activity report from 719 Moro St., where a woman was seen wearing an unbuttoned shirt and jeans pulled down around her thighs. Officers were unable to locate the subject.

At 3:58 a.m., police arrested Jeffrey S. Peebler, 1800 Platt St., for DUI at the 900 block of Police spoke with the juveniles'

At 11:22 p.m., police issued Brian S. Bowen, 1604 Fairchild Ave., a notice to appear for urinating in public at the Westloop

Sunset Avenue. Bond was set at At 5:56 a.m., police received a suspicious-activity report from Quivera Drive and Platt Street, where a dead skunk was attached to the back axle of a truck. The truck's owner was contacted, and the skunk was removed.

CAMPUS BULLETIN

ANNOUNCEMENTS III

Applications for Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities are now available in the Office of Student Activities and Services. Deadline is Nov. 18.

All undergraduate students in a health-related degree program are eligible to apply for a Student Cancer Research Award of $500. Applications are now available in the Center for Basic Cancer Research in Ackert 234. Application deadline is Dec. 2.

Chimes junior honorary is awarding a scholarship to an outstanding junior. Applications are due at noon Nov. 14. Applications are available in the Office of Student Activities and Services.

BULLETINS IN

K-State Songham Tae Kwon Do Club will meet at 8 p.m. today in the Ecumenical Campus Ministry building.

■ K-State Aikido Club will meet from 7 to 8:30 p.m. today in the Ecumenical Campus Ministry building.

Chimes will meet at 8:30 p.m. today in Union 213.

■ Pre-Nursing Club will meet at 7 p.m. in Union 205.

PRSSA will meet at 7 p.m. today at Rusty's Last Chance Restaurant & Saloon.

■ Alpha Zeta will meet at 7 p.m. today in Waters 137.

■ The last oral defense of Linda Simon's dissertation is scheduled for 2 p.m. today in Bluemont 453.

■ The last oral defense of Arvina Lumley's dissertation is scheduled for 1:30 p.m. today in Bluemont 261A.

■ Kappa Omicron Nu will meet in 8:40 p.m. today in McCain 324. Pictures will be taken.

■ The College of Education will have a pre-professional skills test help session from 4 to 6 p.m. today in Bluemont 106.

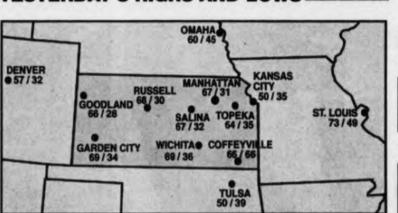

(USPS 291 020), a student ewspaper at Kansas State University, is published by Student Publications Inc., Kedzie Hall 103, Manhattan, Kan., 66506. The Collegian is published weekdays during the school year and once a week through the summer. Second class postage is paid at Manhattan, Kan., 66502 POSTMASTER: Send address changes to Kansas State Collegian, circulation desk, Kedzie 103, Manhattan,

C Kansas State Collegian, 1994

WEATHER

YESTERDAY'S HIGHS AND LOWS

Windy, mild and partly cloudy with highs in the 70s. Tonight, mostly cloudy with lows in the 40s.

Kan. 66506-7167

TODAY I

Sunny, high of 70. Wind increasing to 30 mph by midnight. Low around 50.

TOMORROW I

Cloudy, 30 percent chance for showers. High of 65. Night lows in the middle 40s.

we've been there before; we'll be there again

WE'RE BACK! Organizations

Through Nov. 9 from 6-10 p.m. in McCain 324

Monday, Nov. 7

Apparel Design Collective 6:00 p.m. Human Ecology Interest Group 6:20 p.m. Engineering Ambassadors 6:40 p.m. Beta Alpha Psi 7:00 p.m. Engineering Ambassadors 7:20 p.m. Finance Club 8:20 p.m. Kappa Omicron Nu 8:40 p.m. Pre-Law Club 9:00 p.m. Horticultural Therapy Club 9:20 p.m.

The 1995 Royal Purple portrait photographers are going to take a shot at you.

You may still reserve your copy of the 1995 Royal Purple at your sitting. Questions? Call 532-6557.

re you a good writer? Do you have media experience? Are you reliable and enthusiastic? The Kansas State Collegian is now accepting applications for editor-in-chief and advertising manager for spring 1995. The deadline for these applications is 5 p.m. Friday, Nov. 11.

Interviews for ad manager will be at 8 a.m. Tuesday, Nov. 15. Interviews for editor will be at 8 a.m. Tuesday, Nov. 22.

Applications for other advertising staff positions are due by 5 p.m. Friday, Nov. 18, and applications for other news positions are due by 5 p.m. Wednesday, Nov. 23. Apply for:

- · desk editor
- photographer
- columnist · graphic artist
- · copy editor
- · staff writer
- · ad representative · and more

Job descriptions are available in 103 Kedzie Hall. All applications are available in and should be returned to 103 Kedzie Hall from 8 a.m.-5 p.m. Monday through Friday. Please include supporting materials with your application.

Don't miss this opportunity to work on the awardwinning sixth largest morning daily in Kansas.

CANSAS STATE

Nabeeha Kazi, junior in politica science and public relations, keeps busy with her studies, involvement in Chimes, Golden Key. Pakistani Students Association and her job as a public relations director for Student Body President Jeff Peterson. TODD FEEBACK

Leadership ski

Active student credits talents, success to parents

MANDY HANSON

This is the first in a series about student leaders at K-State.

An international traveler, fluent in three languages, born in Pakistan and raised in Mexico doesn't exactly sound like the typical K-State student.

Nabeeha Kazi, junior in political science and public relations, fits all of these descriptions and many more.

Kazi was born in Pakistan, but she moved to Manhattan when she was 4 years old so her father could further his education.

He graduated with a doctorate in plant breeding, and they moved to Texcoco, Mexico, when she was 8.

Kazi's father was influential in getting her to attend K-State.

"K-State is very, very important to my father. It has been instrumental in getting him where he is right now." Kazi said. "He always wanted me to go to K-State, to give it a try."

Kazi was hesitant about coming to K-State after being raised in Mexico. "My dad told me I should give it a try for one semester, and if I didn't like it, I could go wherever I wanted," she said.

Kazi has continued her involvement at K-State by joining different campus organizations.

She is the public relations director for Student Body President Jeff

She is also an ad-hoc committee member for teacher evaluations, vice president of the Pakistani Students Association and is involved in Chimes and Golden Key.

Throughout her education at K-State, Kazi has participated in many different activities.

She was deputy vice president for Ed Skoog, president of Kandance and a member of LASSO her freshman year.

She was a Cultural Committee member for international week last semester, a member of Phi Eta Sigma freshman honorary, a member of SPURS sophomore honorary and service organization, and she has also performed in every Winterdance and Springdance.

"I enjoy being involved in dance at K-State and being public relations director the most," Kazi said.

Kazi attributes her success and leadership skills to her mother and

"My father always told me hard work and dedication always pays off in the end," she said.

"And my mother always encouraged me to get involved in extracurricular

By getting involved at K-State, Kazi has followed her parents' advice for a successful future.

"I would like to either work with the U.N. or with an international company that would allow me to travel and make use of my skills in the U.S. or Canada," Kazi said.

People who know Kazi say she will be successful at whatever she decides to focus on.

Whatever Nabeeha sets her mind to do, she will do it well. I've seen her do it," Gina Sylvester, arts and sciences adviser, said.

Kazi said if she could speak with anyone in the world, she would like to speak with Mahatma Gandhi or Frida Kahlo, a Mexican artist.

"I would ask Gandhi, 'What is in the way of nonviolent coexistence today, and how was it that you made an entire Indian population, regardless of religion, support you and your nonviolent plan of action?" Kazi said.

► CAMPUS LEADERSHIP

Leadership Week brings speakers, encourages awareness

LESLEY MOSS

Blue Key senior honorary is sponsoring the fourth Leadership Week at K-State, beginning today.

Becky Keller, senior in human ecology and president of Blue Key, said there will be various speakers, a leadership vigil and a leadership rally during the week.

The speakers are Wayne Franklin, area manager for Southwestern Bell; Dr. Bill Roy, a prominent physician, lawyer and politician; Rich Mistler, vice president of for Congress; and James Heggie, director of campus diversity at the University of Texas-Houston.

Keller said all of the speakers except Bill Roy are K-State graduates.

"We wanted a variety of speakers from various professions with revolutionary ideas because our theme is Revolutionary Leadership. Their topics should help students prepare themselves for the next century," she said.

We talked about Leadership Week at our fall Paine Webber; Sam Brown- retreat, and we thought we back, Republican candidate should encourage students to be aware of the following issues - parking, biking on campus, tenure, financial aid, campus safety and cheating,' Keller said.

> She said there'll be petitions students can read and sign dealing with these issues at the vigil. "This year, we've added a > twist. This is the first year that we will be camping out in front of the Union for 94 hours for 1994," Keller said.

"We will be sleeping in tents, and we do plan on being cold," Jenny Montgomery, senior in public relations, said.

Some members of the 19member group began the vigil Sunday at midnight and will stay until 10 p.m. Thursday.

Tricycle races, Simon Says, football, twister and a scavenger hunt are planned as boredom busters.

"The purpose of the leadership vigil is to focus on student involvement in the campus decision-making process, student interest in becoming equipped for future leadership positions and the fight against apathy in today's student generation," Montgomery said.

"It is not radicalism - rather an effort to inspire students to participate in student government, University committees and any other bodies in the educational environment and student life on and around campus,"

Montgomery said. "We want the vigil to be a catalyst for students to take back the campus and be involved," Keller said.

'We believe so strongly in getting students involved, we're willing to be available for 94 hours to answer any questions students might have," Montgomery said.

Keller said a rally will be at noon, Wednesday in Union Plaza. The rally'll have people who have sought to define leadership, including K-State football player, Mike Ekeler. "The week is all about revolutionary leadership, because we recognize that a new civilization is emerging in our lives that is bringing forth new ways of living and working in a global community, consisting of a new economy, radically changing schools, colleges and corporations that are driven by technological advances more revolutionary than the Industrial Revolution,'

"We want the vigil to be a catalyst for students to take back the campus and be involved."

BECKY KELLER senior in human ecology and president of Blue Key HOCHHAUSER KSU, I'M FOR YOU! I've worked hard to get . . .

- ✓ 5.25% increase for non-administrative faculty salaries
- ✔ Phase III and IV pay raises for classified employees

I'M READY TO GO BACK AND WORK HARD FOR KSU

Paid for by Neighbors for Hochhauser, Rod Olsen, Treasurer

Nould You Give 1/2¢ For a Better Job?

our career future in Manhattan depends upon a growing job market. A "YES" vote on Question 2 will raise funds to bring more and better jobs to Manhattan. Vote "YES" to invest in your own future.

ADVERTISEMENT PAID FOR BY JOBS FOR MANHATTAN COMMITTEE, PAT ALEXANDER, TREASURER

NOVEMBER 7, 1994

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

IN OUR OPINION

By the Collegian Editorial Board

Vote 'NO' on Riley County jail proposal

The proposed spot for the jail isn't good. It is located next to a school, church and a neighborhood.

On Tuesday, Question No. 1 will appear on the ballot in Riley County. The question involves the building of a bigger jail for Riley County.

Cast a "NO" vote for this question. Vote down Question No. 1 because the proposal centers on using a lot surrounded by a residential area, a school and a church, leaving no room for future expansion.

Although it would be a good idea to use property owned by the county, when the jail needs to expand again, the county will be forced to make costly buy-outs of residents' properties.

The other concern with the location involves the potential existing for a break-out. The last thing the community needs is for a convicted felon to escape across the street to take elementaryschool children hostage.

However unlikely, the chance exists and needs to be considered when choosing a jail site.

What the county has done is found a quick fix for a problem that needs to be looked at harder. A new location needs to be found.

Make the Riley County commissioners go back and work on a new plan.

Do your duty as a voter and make the county commission do what is right for the county as a community. Don't buy into the quick fix.

Vote "NO."

TOLES

Big problems with county jail proposal

A new idea in local government:

Tax people for a facility that is overpriced, poorly designed and in the worst possible location.

If you live in Riley County, you will be asked Tuesday to vote for a proposal to raise the sales tax one-half cent to finance the construction of a new jail at the 600 block of Colorado Street.

Debate has flared up in the last several weeks over the location (a residential area, near a church and school) and the cost (more than $11 million).

Little, however, has been said in the way the government wants to finance this plan, with revenue from increased sales taxes

Sales taxes affect all the people who do business in Riley County. That means the people from all across the region who like to attend K-State events, shop at Manhattan Town Center, or just drive in from Wamego for a movie will be paying for a chunk of our jail.

But will they ever be able to benefit from it? I doubt it.

If people in Wamego want to see if they can put a couple of Pottawatomie County felons in our jail, they'd only see the warden and guards laughing in their faces, but they will soon see that the same people are more than happy to skim a few pennies off the top of every Whopper, fries and shake they buy at Burger King.

This plan is only an attempt to take advantage of the transient quality of our economy, primarily those around K-

No one is arguing the fact that we need to have a larger jail in Riley County.

The current one is overcrowded, causing us to have to send prisoners to surrounding communities' jails, all at a great cost to the taxpayers. But the scare tactics about lawsuits and safety being used by the commissioners and supporters of the plan only cloud the real issue.

As the taxpayers, we have every right to question how to fund the project without regard to idle threats.

Who do they think pays their salaries, anyway? Why

ANDREW TOMB Scare tactics lawsuits and safety being used by commissioners and supporters of the plan only cloud the real issue.'

should we go ahead with their flaky plan when it is very likely that the county will outgrow it in only 10 years?

OMB

The expansion plan takes up the entire block, so the only way to expand would be to take over the surrounding homes - bad idea if you happen to own a house near the

The county will probably get a bargain on those houses anyway, since the construction will drive down the property values of houses near the site.

The proposed jail plans also lack federally mandated evacuation areas, opening us up to an even bigger lawsuit if the thing were ever to burn, a-la Waco.

The short-term logic being used by proponents of the plan only strives to exploit the backbone on the local economy, K-State students and other transient populations, like Fort Riley, who are just waiting for something like this to dare them to

The county commissioners obviously see the K-State students, alumni and athletic supporters as an easy target for their tax, saving them from legal problems resulting from not expanding the current facility, and further offending the homeowners who pay property taxes in the county.

Back when this country was founded, they called such a plan "taxation without representation." Now it's just business as usual for the Riley County commissioners. This is just the wrong plan, in the wrong place, for the wrong price.

Andrew Tomb is a senior in political science.

Students need to take campus back

▶ GUEST

LARK

Dear K-State student body,

I would like to share with you a vision a vision of leadership and a vision of change. Part of this vision is Leadership Week, sponsored by Blue Key Senior Honorary. It is a week devoted to change revolutionary change. By change, I mean Blue Key is working to change people's attitudes and behaviors toward their life, their surroundings and their future. Indeed, Blue Key feels now is the time when students must unite to change their world for the next century.

As the core of the Little Apple, students need to take more of an active role. Right now, students are more focused on getting by, rather than succeeding and making a difference. This must change before students lose their voice on the K-State campus.

Blue Key has invited speakers who reflect a revolutionary vision for leadership. In addition to the advertised speakers, several other influential students and leaders will be part of Leadership Week.

Their topics will focus on skills and attitudes that we will need to develop to become effective leaders. It is imperative for students to meet these individuals and hear their vision.

There are several great reasons why you should take an hour out of your day for a Leadership Week event — nothing will happen in your soap opera, you can study later, and you will save money by not doing your laundry.

At noon on Wednesday, every student should be at the Union Plaza for an event

Leadership

everyone will be talking about for years to

We must show administrators that we are ready to take back the campus by our involvement with University affairs. It is our money they spend and our futures they determine.

This rally will feature student leaders taking a stand and making their voices heard. If you have ever been upset with any aspect of the University (and I know you have), you should be a part of this historical

The Blue Key Leadership Vigil was conceived as an effort to ignite the spirit of participation among students at K-State. Blue Key started a 94-hour vigil (symbolizing 1994) last night to promote students' involvement in the campus decision-making process, encourage students to take an interest in becoming equipped for future leadership positions in a world much different than the one in which they currently live, and to fight against the apathy that seems prevalent in our generation.

We will be in front of the Union night until 10:00 p.m. Thursday. I encourage you to stop by and pledge your commitment to K-State students taking back the campus. Blue Key feels several issues are directly affecting students at this time and are not receiving due process. Several petitions will be available for you to voice your opinion.

Fundamentally, Blue Key intends to protest students' non-involvement in important campus issues; while creating what we hope will be a catalyst to move the student body to "take back" the campus. It is not radicalism; rather, an effort to inspire students to participate in any-bodies or organizations, which forge the educational environment and student life on and around

We want to bring attention to students' rights and responsibilities by way of increasing student involvement in a college setting; to do something dramatic and unusual in order to bring attention to a cause, which we feel is as exciting as it is consequential.

Blue Key hopes to embody change, empowerment and responsibility; we realize the coming global order necessitates the development of strong leadership abilities and the realization of a higher social consciousness.

Through the vigil, we want to share our revolutionary vision with the student body at K-State and stress that it is their future we are seeing, their hope we are symbolizing and their spirit we are awakening!

Brandon Clark is a senior in political science and Blue Key vice-president.

READERS WRITE

Drop letters off at Kedzie 116 or send them to Letters to the Editor, c/o John Meirowsky, Kansas State Collegian, Kedzie 116, Manhattan, KS 66506. We accept letters by e-mail also. Our address is letters@spub.ksu.edu. Letters should be addressed to the editor and include a name, address and phone number. A photo identification will be necessary for had delivered letters.

▶ VOLLEYBALL

Learn rules before you yell at refs

Thank you for your coverage of our intramural volleyball team, Side Out, in Thursday's Collegian.

As noted in the article, only one official referees the game in volleyball intramural pool play, making it impossible for him (or her) to make correct calls 100 percent of the time.

I was incorrectly quoted as saying "When you have one referee, it's hard to yell at him." Not only is it hard at this level of play, but we have no right to yell at an official. They aren't there to make bad calls and cause teams to lose. For some, this is their first attempt at refereeing.

Volleyball, more than any other sport, requires judgment on behalf of the officials. Even at the professional level, different officials will call mishandles differently.

I often see players (usually guys) who don't know the rules, getting mad at the referee for making a good call. Before yelling at the referee, try learning the rules and officiating the game yourself. It's difficult.

John Mogusar senior in secondary education/math

CHILD CARE

Need research on students with kids

As a student at Kansas State University, and a parent of an infant, I feel that a significant number of students at K-State are not having their needs met. Specifically, I am referring to students with infant children.

It is difficult to know how many K-State students have children because the information is not currently collected anywhere on campus. However, according to the Adult Student Services Office, up to 30 percent of the student population is non-traditional. A 1992 survey of 400 non-traditional K-State students showed that 53 percent of them were parents, and they indicated that the availability of child care is a Currently the only child-care center on campus does not accept infants. In fact, the only day-care center in Manhattan that accepts infants is Kindercare, and that is at the rate of $134 a week. The child development center that is located at Jardine Terrace Apartments used to accept infants but had to discontinue doing so because of lack of funding.

Perhaps the child-care center and the University could work together to provide valuable work experience and college credit to college students working toward degrees in early childhood studies in return for working at the

If nothing else, data should be collected concerning the number of students who have children so that a need for infant care can be determined.

Please write the Board of Directors of the KSU Child Development Center asking them to suggest that Dr. Ron Downey, University institutional researcher, develop a survey to discover this information. If the data shows a significant number of K-State students are in need of infant child care, as consumers these students should expect the University to supply

Jina Morgan-Kugler senior in secondary education

- CHEATING

Not an instructor's job

I feel obliged to respond to Matthew Brady's clearly misinformed and somewhat unreasonable comments stated in his letter to the editor published in the Nov. 4 Collegian. First, I would like to correct Brady's misperception regarding the absence of an explicit student honor code and policy regarding academic dishonesty. I refer him to pages 24 through 26 of the current K-State Undergraduate Catalog (1994-1996) to the section titled "All-University Regulations." The first two subtopics under that heading are: "Student Conduct" and "Academic Dishonesty."

As indicated in the second paragraph of the section on Academic Dishonesty, "Any student enrolling at K-State implicitly accepts the University's stipulations concerning academic honesty and the procedures they entail." Within the statement concerning academic dishonesty, situations, such as the recent episode of widespread cheating on a Principles of Biology examination, and the prescribed University responses to such episodes are clearly described. Therefore, Brady, there is a well-documented and publicized University honor code, and procedures for administering that code of conduct are in place at Kansas State University.

Second, I would like to remind Brady that the University's faculty consists of academics, not policemen. We are neither the students' parents nor their disciplinarians, nor are we hired to monitor and enforce their behavior. Our job is to organize and present curricula that honestly convey our academic subspecialities to the University's students. We are expected to meet this charge fairly and responsibly with integrity. And we expect that students do likewise. At least, we presume that students act in accord with clearly stated University codes of behavior (see above). After all, intellectual honesty and personal integrity are fundamental academic principles that must be followed by all members of the University community.

Donald J. Roufa professor of biology ► NATION

Reagan discloses diagnosis

Letter describes illness; he hopes for awareness

LOS ANGELES — Former President Reagan, in a handwritten letter to fellow Americans, disclosed Saturday that he has Alzheimer's disease.

Reagan, 83, wrote that he was feeling fine now, but he and Nancy had chosen to reveal the diagnosis in hope of promoting greater awareness of the incurable, mind-crippling disease. "Unfortunately, as Alz-

"Unfortunately, as Alzheimer's disease progresses, the family often bears a heavy burden," Reagan wrote. "I only wish there was some way I could spare Nancy from this painful experience. When the time comes, I am confident that with your help she will face it with faith and courage."

The letter, released to the Associated Press, was accompanied by a statement from five of Reagan's doctors.

They said the diagnosis turned up in the course of routine yearly testing. During the last year, the doctors said they began to notice possible symptoms of the disease in its early stages.

"Additional testing and an extensive observation over the past few weeks have led us to conclude that President Reagan is entering the early stages of this disease," the doctors wrote.

The doctors said Reagan's health was otherwise good, but it is expected that as the years go on it will begin to deteriorate.

Alzheimer's is an irreversible neurological disorder that destroys the brain's memory cells. In addition to memory loss, symptoms include impairment of judgment, disorientation and personality change.

During Reagan's second term in the White House, it was often noted that he seemed forgetful and would lose his train of thought while talking. However, because the disease was just recently diagnosed, Alzheimer's was probably not to blame.

Reagan's health history includes being wounded in a 1981 assassination attempt, colon-cancer surgery, prostate surgery and surgery to remove a pool of blood that formed on his brain after a fall from a horse.

In his letter, Reagan recalled the previous times he and his wife shared information about their medical problems.

"In the past, Nancy suffered from breast cancer, and I had my cancer surgeries," Reagan wrote. "We found through our open disclosures we were able to raise public awareness."

Ronald Reagan was born on Feb. 6, 1911, in Tampico, Ill. He was first elected California's governor in 1966 and went on to become the oldest man elected president in 1980 at age 69. He was re-elected in 1984. He began his career as a sports announcer and starred in numerous B-movies.

ALZHEIMER'S

■ WHO HAS IT: Some 4 million Americans have the incurable neurological disorder, and about 100,000 people die every year. Victims usually die eight to 10 years after after diagnosis. ■ SYMPTOMS: Alzheimer's disease is a progressive brain illness that causes confusion, memory loss and personality

■ DIAGNOSIS: There is no test.

The only confirmation is by looking for hallmark brain lesions during autopsy.

■ Researchers speculate that those lesions weaken memory cells' protective membranes, allowing toxic levels of calcium to enter and kill the cells. But a protein emitted by those lesions, called beta amyloid, also appears to play a role by disrupting the electrical signals that tell cells to store or retrieve memories.

■ ORIGINS: Unknown.

TREATMENT: There is no known cure. Only one drug — Tacrine — offers any help, by temporarily slowing progression of the disease.

THE BIRTHPLACE

Bringing Our AR Home

You.

The day you bring your baby home...you'll remember this day for the rest of your life. And it's comforting to know that the unique blend of professional care and tender concern you enjoyed in Memorial Hospital's Birthplace is still available to you.

If you live within a short distance of and her son Tyler.

If you live within a short distance of Manbattan, you may have one of our experienced Mother/Baby Nurses visit you within a week after you go home to examine both you and your baby.

> There's no charge for our Home Visit Program it's just another part of the special service you know you can count on at The Birthplace.

> > MEMORIAL

Yesterday's values, tomorrow's technology ◆ Sunset and Claflin ◆ Manhattan ◆ 913-776-3300

LONGHORNS

& the KSU Rodeo Club

SUNIO BULL RIDING

Wednesday, November 9th at 8:00 p.m.
Proceeds go to KSU Rodeo Club & UCP.

1115 Moro • Aggieville • 776-8770

CLOSED CLASS LIST

00220	08540	14020	15290	19820	27200	32940	34571
00840	08550	14050	15350	19850	27210	32990	34572
01940	08560	14070	15390	21110	27220	33000	34573
01980	08710	14100	15400	21120	28420	33100	34681
02500	08760	14110	15420	22070	29010	33120	35260
02710	08780	14170	15450	22490	30060	33170	35290
02930	09410	14190	15480	23350	30130	33180	35310
02940	10640	14250	15490	23710	30210	33190	35350
02950	10650	14260	15860	23760	30320	33200	35790
02960	10660	14270C	15960	24740	30370	33210	35950
02970	10670	14280C	15980	24800	30520	33230	36141
02980	10680	14360	16070	24910	30540	33260	36321
02990	10690	14370	16210	24920	30920	33270	36590
03000	10700	14380	16310	25070	30940	33340	36770
03010	10710	14390	16500	25220	30980	33350	36970
03020	10720	14400	16560	25280	31110	33380	37920
03030	10730	14640	16860	25370	31180	33450	38340
03040	10740	14700	17050	25400	31190	33570	80230
03050	10830	14760	17550	25410	31240	34070	80920
03060	10840	14860	17880	25430	31280	34190
03460	10850	14950	18280	25440	31660	34340
05790	11021	14980	18370	25450	31690	34420
05810	11560	14990	18380	25470	31700	34430	7777
05820	12330	15000	18500	25611	32730	34440
06120	12440	15010	19140	25630C	32750	34450
06130C	12450	15020	19150	25750	32780	34460
06150	13790	15030	19160	25770	32790	34470	The state of
06390	13930	15040	19200	26820	32810	34520
06400	13950	15050	19210	26830	32850	34530
07130	13960	15120	19400	26840	32870	34540
07480	14000	15180	19670	27170	32920	34560
07/00	14010	10010			24.44

C - Canceled class

14010

15240

07620

Updated 5:11 PM, November 4, 1994

*Closed class list also available in Unicorn

19690

If you

GIVE

canned goods, toiletries, or household products, to the homeless through the

Collegian, you will receive

THANKS

and $1 off any classified ad in the Collegian through the end

of December.

Contributions go to Manhattan Emergency Shelter and Flint Hills Breadbasket

Bring items to the Student Publications Inc. office in Kedzie 103

4. Alabama

Florida State

14. Utah

18. Virginia

20. Mississippi St.

21. Ohio State college football poll.

FOOTBALL

Cats drop Cyclones

Three quarters were good enough for a K-State win. The Wildcats whipped the Iowa State Cyclones 38-20 Saturday at KSU Stadium.

K-State dominated Iowa State in the first three quarters of the contest, building a 38-0 lead early in the fourth quarter.

Memories of last season's loss at Ames, Iowa, began to haunt the Cats as the Cyclones reeled off three touchdowns and 246 yards of offense in the fourth quarter.

"As an athlete, I think they should prepare to play hard at every opportunity to do so," Coach Bill Snyder said. "We want our youngsters to try hard on every snap.'

Iowa State quarterback Jeff St. Clair connected on touchdown passes of 62 and 36 yards. St. Clair later plunged in from I yard out, making the score 38-20.

K-State displayed its offensive fire power in the first quarter as it racked up 267

GAME AT A GLANCE

Rushes/Yards

Punts: Number/Yards

Penalties: Number/Yards

yards of offense, building a 14-0 lead at the end of the quarter.

Quarterback Chad May threw the first of four touchdown passes in the game to Tyson Schwieger on K-State's first drive of the contest, giving the Cats a 7-0 lead with 11:34 remaining in the first quarter.

May broke the K-State school record for touchdown passes. May has thrown 30 touchdown passes in his career, erasing the old record of 29.

"I'm happy that I was able to get the record personally," May said. "It doesn't mean much team-wise, but it is a great personal record."

May passed to Ron Brown for a 57-yard touchdown later in the first quarter. The ball was tipped into his hands by an Iowa State defender.

"I couldn't see the ball because of the sun," Brown said. "He tipped it, and it just fell right in my hands. Six

Brown's score expanded K-State's lead to 14-0 with 2:37

ISU

57/298

5/205

3/1

9/87

20 remaining in the first quarter. Brown caught five passes for 106 yards on the game.

Schwieger caught his second touchdown pass of the game in the second quarter. The 9-yard reception from May made the score 21-0. K-State tacked on a 20-yard field goal by Martin Gramatica on the last play of the first half, making the score 24-0.

Running back J.J. Smith rushed for 104 yards in the first half on 12 carries. Smith finished with 137 yards for the

"Everybody on the line did a good job. They got on their guy and stayed on their guy," Smith said.

Despite the success on offense, K-State did miss opportunities.

Iowa State failed on a fake punt, giving the Cats the ball on the Cyclones' 29-yard line.

Four plays later, May was intercepted by Michael Cooper on the 5-yard line.

In the third quarter, Smith was stopped at Iowa State's 5yard line on fourth > down. "Opportunities were there, and we didn't take advantage of them," Snyder said.

The Cats made the score 31-0 in the fourth quarter on a 9-yard touchdown strike to Brian Lojka with 13:05 left in the contest.

Safety Mario Smith rounded out the scoring with a 38-yard interception return for a touchdown making the score 38-0.

MARK LEFFINGWELL/Collegian

Dirk Ochs wraps up an Iowa State quarterback Todd Doxzon Saturday. The K-State defense collected four sacks during the contest.

lowa State 20

► FOOTBALL Defense struggles after K-State builds big lead

JULIE KUHLMAN

Coach Bill Snyder said his team "just let down" in the fourth quarter. A possible understatement. K-State was leading 38-0 at the start of the fourth quarter when Iowa State started a whirlwind of drives, catching the Wildcats off guard for the second straight year. Iowa State scored all 20 of its points Saturday in the fourth quarter, which led to images of last year's nightmarish loss the Cats suffered in Ames, Iowa, when 21 points were racked up in the same quarter. "The win was important, but they still came back on us just like last year," Nyle Wiren said. But this time, the defecit was too much to overcome for the Cyclones.

Nonetheless, coming out with a 38-20 win left the Cats' players and coaches feeling

"We're happy with the win, but we're not happy with the fourth quarter," strong safety Mario Smith said. The first score of the Cyclones' 20-point run came from a 62-yard Jeff St. Clair Place kicker Ty Stewart booted the extra point through making the score 38-7.

nothing offensively, and Chad explain it." Romano's 28-yard punt set the Cyclones up at the K-State 47-

"Can any of you guys punt?" Snyder said to a group of reporters at the press conference following the game, "If you know anyone who can, please tell me.

"I should apologize for saying that. Those guys really hit the ball well in practice. They just need to learn to focus in the game," he said.

Then, Iowa State scored in four plays, ending in a 36-yard pass from St. Clair to wide receiver Calvin Branch for a touchdown with 9:20 remaining in the contest.

Stewart's extra point was good, making the score 38-14. 'That was a momentum shift," St. Clair said."That just fired us up." Iowa State scored once more after stopping K-State twice on three downs Scott Collins then punted for 16 yards, and the Cyclones started their drive from their own 28-yard line. Then, Troy Davis carried the ball 37 yards, which put the ball in K-State territory.

Wiren said the Cats' defense was consistently giving up big plays throughout the fourth

"I can't really say what

The Cats second team did happened," he said. "I can't short of the endzone...

Iowa then went on to score its third touchdown of the quarter with 2:48 remaining on the time clock with a 1-yard run by St. Clair. The two-point conversion attempt failed by the Cyclones, with Wiren stopping DeClair

After three failed attempts by K-State for a first down, the defense took the field again. But this time, it finally stopped the Cyclones short of the endzone. "We were just too far behind

K-State's defense was not coach Jim Walden said.

"K-State has got a good football team," Walden said. "I salute them. We had some guys play well in spurts, but overall their defense was just too strong.

An exception being the fourth quarter, perhaps?

to come back and win," Iowa * "I thought the defense played well for the first three quarters," Snyder said.

"We completely came undone in the fourth quarter."

The Iowa State defense surrendered 547 yards to the K-State offense, including 331 yards passing and 216 yards rushing.

lowa State scored 20 points in the fourth quarter for the second straght year. Last season, K-State took a 17-6 lead into the final quarter, only to watch it disappear. K-State lost 27-23.

Tyson Schwieger makes a catch in the end zone in front of defensive back Russell Johnson. Schwieger made two touchdown

Chiefs gain ground with 13-3 victory

ASSOCIATED PRESS

pass to Mike Horacek.

KANSAS CITY, Mo. - Pack about 79,000 screaming Chiefs fans into Arrowhead Stadium and trot the Los Angeles Raiders onto the field, and it seems to rain little yellow flags.

The Raiders, who drew 16 penalties their last visit to Kansas City, got hit with 15 infractions for 115 yards Sunday night in a 13-3 loss to the Chiefs. "I didn't hear (quarterback Jeff Hostetler) once the whole game," Raiders tackle Greg Skrepenak said. "I didn't hear him the whole game."

The seventh-largest crowd in stadium and just about the only offensive history (78,709) put up a deafening din and kept it up all night as the Chiefs (6-3) crept within one game of San Diego in the AFC West. The Chargers (7-2), who lost earlier Sunday in Atlanta, visit noisy Arrowhead next Sunday. 'This was the first time I've ever seen the Raiders in here holding hands, their offensive linemen," said Chiefs guard Dave Szott. "That shows you how much noise there was.' Derrick Walker turned a short pass from Joe Montana into a 57-yard second-quarter reception, producing the only touchdown excitement. The Chiefs' defense had given up 95 points their three previous games and felt they had something to prove. "I think this was our best defensive game so far this year," said linebacker Tracy Simien. "This feels great. This is what we had to do.' It was the Chiefs' eighth victory over the Raiders (4-5) in nine games. The Raiders have lost seven straight at Arrowhead "We stopped ourselves. We hurt ourselves," said Harvey Williams, the former No. 1 draft choice of the Chiefs. Williams, who was cut last year and vowed revenge against his old team, had 93 yards on 24 carries. Jeff Jaeger missed two field goals for the Raiders, whose 15 penalties were two short of the team record.

Chiefs coach Marty Schottenheimer became one of four active coaches with 100

Walker's touchdown reception followed a series of ruinous Raider mistakes. The Raiders drove from their own 31 to a thirdand-3 at the Kansas City 9. After an incomplete pass, Jaeger kicked a 28-yard field goal that would have given Los Angeles a 3-0 lead. But a false-start penalty moved the ball back five yards and Jaeger, asked to connect from 33 yards, missed. Compounding their misfortune after the play, the Raiders were hit with a 15-yard unsportsmanlike-conduct penalty on guard Kevin Gogan. On the next play, Winston Moss caught a 5-yard offsides penalty, putting the Chiefs on their own 43.

Montana then hit Walker over the middle, and the backup tight end broke two tackles on the play to make it 7-0 with 9:22 left in the half. Jaeger brought the Raiders to 7-3 with 5:29 left in the second quarter with a 50yarder. But the Raiders wasted Tim Brown's 48-yard punt return a few minutes later. Given a first down on the Kansas City 27, the Raiders failed to move, and Jaeger was wide left on a 44-yard attempt. Lin Elliott hit a 19-yard field goal with 2:46 left in the third period and gave the Chiefs a 13-3 lead with 11:13 left with a

IVERSIONS Fatima Mansions Tonight at 7 in Bramlage Coliseum

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

NOVEMBER 7, 1994

▶ CROSSWORD

EUGENE SHEFFER

19 Part of

26 Why

24 Long lunch?

travel by

Maugham

29 Cham-

33 Agile 36 "The

pagne

30 Type units

Raven'

name

38 The book

40 Very, in today's

Sitarist

Shankar

44 Ending for my or your 46 First name

in scat

Niihau

48 Acknowl-

29?

RZEUIDP

PTERTN'Y

QDPZEBI

50 24 horas

neckwea

edge February of numbers

Guglielmo

make the scene?

5 Sees the Historic

wrong

letter

time

7 Tibetan

monk

8 Lithographer Thomas

Hart -

9 Freedom of action

(resort in Jamaica)

Biggers

10 - Rios

ACROSS 42 Some 1 Sections rings 45 "Forget of turf Him' 5 Actor Gibson singer 49 Siberian 8 Political union sled dogs 51 Merriment 12 Difficulty 13 George's 52 Finished 53 Tell tall brother 14 Apiece 54 Charles 15 Beige

16 "Be-Lamb 55 Hot stuff? witched' 56 Adipose 18 Durable tissue cedar wood 57 Grate 20 Director's DOWN Timetable, for short

Go Out...' 23 Youngster 24 Tea ums 28 Microwave, jocularly "— Lazy River

32 Foreign farewell 35 Town crier's prop

37 Embroidery 39 Morning

ABRZDOR

AZOU XZRF FZY

ABZOY-RBUZOK

RNDBRQDOR.

Yesterday's answer 11-5

3 Golden, to 17 Statute

Solution time: 26 min.

STUMPED? For answers to today's crossword, call 1-900-454-6873 | 99¢ per minute, touchtone / rotary phones. (18+ only.) A King Features service, NYC.

CRYPTOQUIP

XBY

Saturday's Cryptoquip: FRANTIC FISHERMAN TOLD HIS DOCTOR, "I'M LOSING MY HERRING."

Today's Cryptoquip clue: P equals D

IT'S NEW...BOOK 2! Now you can order 200 classic Cryptoquips by sending $4.50 (check/m.o.) to CryptoClassicsBook 2, POBox 6411, Riverton NJ 08077.

The Cryptoquip is a substitution cipher in which one letter stands for another. If you think that X equals O, it will equal O throughout the puzzle. Single letters, short words and words using an apostrophe give you clues to locating vowels. Solution is by trial and error.

THE FAR SIDE GARY LARSON

al Here we go again! ... 'Pony Express ider Welks Into Workplace, Starts

> FILLER ANDREW TOMB/COLLEGIAN "If there is any justice in the world, this will be the last of 'Filler'" Thank These God! costumes are uncomfortable!

► CALVIN AND HOBBES

BILL WATTERSON

▶ FOXTROT BILL AMEND AAAA! WHAT ARE ITS TWISTING SUPPOSE I WERE STORY LINES. OU WATCHING ?! WHAT I LIKE BEST ITS DIABOLICAL DRAMATIC BE MY POWER ... VOTE. MONDAY NIGHT CHARACTERS ... FOOTBALL IS ON! ITS HUNKY MALE ACTORS

'Offense' claims adviser dropped the ball; Cassie assures problems taken seriously

DEAR CASSIE, Duveaux

Write to Cassie: 116 Kedzie Hall Manhattan, KS

Dear Cassandra, I was completely offended by the "Please Help" column in the Oct. 24 issue. I am writing to ask, please help me understand the response you gave to

I know that it is probably really hard to tell if the letter was a joke or not. I feel that the individual, regardless of unprecedented advice, not to be ridiculed and possibly embarrassed. Just out of complete curiosity, say you wrote a letter to a paper about being raped (just a situation to identify with) and were treated with demoralizthe situation, deserves to be given fair, ing disrespect by the morbid and blaming columnist. If anyone thinks for one second that this is a humorous game, he or she has a rude awakening, because this is life.

If you refuse to grow up, "please help" by staying in the sandbox. For there you can throw sand and eat dirt. Out here, life is not so pretty. Remember this - the next time you respond to a touchy subject, it could be

Sincerely, On the Offense, the Ball is Ours Dear On the Offense,

How can you possibly compare Please Help's problem of playing with himself with his staff on duty in his residence hall to someone writing in about

So, you think this is a legitimate problem. Hmm, let's use some common sense here. He said he's had this problem of handling himself since he was 3 years old. OK. I can accept that.

Then he asks his roommate to join him, and his roommate accepts. Yeah, OK. Then they get caught in the residence-hall bathroom. (They are roommates and they don't even stay in their own rooms to handle each other in private — they go to a public bathroom.) Then, when they get caught by their hall staffer, he joins in. Consequently, he can't look women in the face because of his actions.

Now, do you want to compare this "problem" to a reader writing in about AIDS, rape or other serious subjects?

I take serious subjects very seriously and the silliness in stride. I do want my readers to know that if someone writes in with a serious problem. I will always do my best to help him or her!

Manhattan needs support for music

AMY ZIEGLER

The alternative-music extravaganza at Bramlage Coliseum tonight is promised to be a high-energy

The three bands, Fatima Mansions Weezer, and Live, chose Manhattan over any of the other cities in Kansas to perform as part of the concert sponsered by Union Program Council. If attendance is high at this concert, other bands will follow, and Manhattan will be able to offer something for everyone. If Manhattan ever needed support for its live music scene, the time is now. For $15, students can see three bands live onstage.

Live, a band that became popular with the song, 'Selling the Drama," blends heavy metal with alternative music.

Live

In some of its songs, the vocalist is accompanied by a gently strummed guitar, which makes for a calming, relaxing sound.

At other times, vocalist the turns on the energy, and the drummer and the guitarists dramatically increase their intensity. A long guitar opening will suddenly dive into a head-bashing, drum-banging whirl of noise. The vocalist adapts his voice to the mood of each song. During the slower songs, he softens his voice to achieve a soothing effect.

On others, he screams into the microphone, and the instruments follow his lead by playing faster and faster to create a different style of music.

In its newly released compact disc, "Throwing Copper," Live gives its listeners 59 minutes of quality rock n' roll. One of the opening acts, Weezer, got fame with "Undone - the Sweater Song" currently being played on radio stations across the nation. Weezer and Live seem like they were born out of the same family of music.

Because of their obvious similarities, they are sure to work well together in tonight's show.

Weezer's debut CD has a string of drums and guitars running through each of its songs. This band keeps the energy going the entire time it is playing.

From listening to this CD, I predict

this band will cause a few mosh pits to break out at Bramlage. Screaming guitars and rolling drums give Weezer a heavier sound than Live, but the two bands still have the same kind of style. The third act, Fatima Mansions, is definitely the weakest of the three bands performing at the con-It is light on lyrics, and its creativity is below average. I don't think bands have to have earthshaking poetry in their lyrics, but I think they need to have a little bit of intelligence to give the band. The other musicians give the band an unusual sound and will definitely appeal to students who enjoy heavy metal. Although this band might not be at the same level as the other bands, it will be a true experience to see all three of these bands perform live in ..

EVERY TUESDAY!

SECOND SET OF PRINTS

Receive a second set of 3" prints FREE with any exposure roll of 35mm, disc, 110 or 126 color print film left for developing and printing at our everyday prices! C-41 process only. Extudes larger 4" size prints and photo galaxy.

Daily 9 to 9, Sunday 11 to 6 • 3007 Anderson Ave.

NESS & AEROBIC CENTER

10th ANNIVERSARY CELEBRATION

Nov. 6 - 12

Public Open House All Week - Enjoy Aerobic & Step Classes, Free Weights, Nautilus' Machines, Racquetball, And All Other Equipment and Classes

Register for prizes to be given on Nov. 12 Including a One Year Membership, T-Shirts, Massages And Much More

Come For The Fun... Stay For The Fitness.

1100 Moro

Aggieville

Is a MBA for you?

Informative Meeting for all interested students

Pizza will be served! Wednesday Nov. 9th 11:30 - 1:30 p.m. Durland 306

Speakers

Dean Short

Dr. Ebadi (Assoc. Dean) Donna Rohde (Director of Grad Studies) Mike McCullough (Pres GSA)

> Call 532-7190 for information and to RSVP

► KANSAS CRIME

Lecturer stresses priorities

HOLLY CHEGWIDDEN

The U.S. Attorney to Kansas said he has three prevention priorities for Kansas - the prevention of violent crime, environmental crimes and corruption of public officials.

Randy Rathbun lectured to group of about 50 people Friday afternoon in the K-State Union Little Theatre.

An Ellsworth native, he said that he knew he wanted to practice law at the age of 10, shortly after his father introduced him to plowing and other joys of farming. In 1993, President Clinton appointed Rathbun as U.S. Attorney to Kansas, where he now handles all litigation where the United States is a party, he said.

Rathbun said lately he is shifting his focus from whitecollar crime to violent crime.

He said he is concerned with the burgeoning gang problem.

"We tried to identify the most violent gang in Wichita and target them with a Violent Crime Gang Task Force," he Rathbun said prevention programs are critical.

We need to get the kids when they're 5 or 6. If we don't have good prevention before 14, they're lost," he

He said he is doing his part to give the highest sentences possible to criminals to keep them off the streets, but the idea of rehabilitation in prison doesn't work.

"Strong enforcement is only half the answer," Rathbun said. "The other half is prevention. We have to work on the prevention side." Rathbun said he encourages people to do their part by becoming a member of the Big Brother or Big Sister program or even just reading to kids.

He asked college students to do everything they could to work with kids before they reach the age of 14 or 15.

'So many of these kids don't give a damn what happens to them tomorrow, much less when they're 20," he said.

Rathbun said he takes a interest special environmental crimes because he comes from a farming background.

It is so discouraging that companies deny dumping toxic waste and then pay off people to keep them from talking when they try to sue, he said.

"Environmental crime is like any other crime corporations do it for money," he said.

Rathbun said Kansas' groundwater is a precious resource, and hazardous waste is ruining it.

When he talks to businesses about environmental crime, he tells he incarceration is one cost of passed on to the customers. He said in environmental crime case, he doesn't go after the people who dug the hole to dump the waste, he goes after the doing business that can't be highest-ranking individual. Rathbun said people are cynical about public officials because they think they are taking bribes.

Unfortunately, a lot of it is true, he said.

"There is a serious problem of dishonest public officials taking money under the table, and I want to see it stopped," he said.

Rathbun said he is working hard to make an effect on the Kansas community.

► CONGRESSIONAL RACE

Critics charge candidates

NOLAN SCHRAMM

From Atrazine to abortion, politicians Sam Brownback and John Carlin are both being blasted for throwing mudpies at each

Critics have charged that the campaign has become increasingly negative as the two fight for 2nd District Congressional aggressive campaign, but also that I would thoroughly document everything," Carlin

In a campaign where trust from the voters is vital, each candidate is giving

Carlin said Brownback cannot be trusted because Bob Bennie and Sam Hume, Republicans who lost to Brownback in the

"As prominent members of the Republican party, and as his primary opponents, you would expect them to throw their support behind my opponent," Carlin

Brownback said Carlin cannot be trusted because he reneged on promises made to the voters before his election as governor in 1978 and '82

'He said he'd sign the death penalty, but when he took office, he vetoed it four times. He promised to cut taxes and then spent the state into debt and raised six taxes. The list goes on and on," he said.

Many student voters are fed up with this vicious political circle and would like to see the candidates talk more about politics and less about each other.

John Truman, freshman in geology, said the campaign has degenerated into a contest of who can shout louder than the other.

"It seems like two kids squaring off on the block. They've gone from talking about the issues to 'he did this' and 'he did that,"" he said.

Rosi Phillips, junior in mechanical engineering, said she wished there was more information available on the candidates besides just what they say.

"It's hard for voters to decide who to vote for based on what they say about each other," she said.

"I wish they'd talk more about the issues.

Perhaps one of the biggest circles of debate has been the Atrazine issue. Carlin said Topeka's lakes contain high levels of Atrazine, a chemical pesticide used by farmers. He said the voluntary Atrazine cutback program, enacted by the Board of Agriculture in the past seven years and approved by Brownback, did not work.

Brownback said voluntary compliance would work, and the fact is, we still have an Atrazine problem.

"The mayor of Topeka estimates that Topeka will have to put up $14 to $15 million to remove it," Carlin said.

Brownback said the Atrazine levels in the area decreased under his voluntary

Bob Bennie, who lost to Brownback in the primaries, said the Atrazine levels in Topeka's water are harmless.

Everyone knowledgeable about chemicals knows it wasn't a dangerous level. John [Carlin] is using it as a campaign issue, but that's standard in political campaigning," he said.

avoiding issues, slinging mud

Collegian

"On Aug. 3, I said I would run a very reasons why not to trust the other.

primary election, do not trust Brownback.

1116 Moro

537-0886 Mon.-Sat. 11 a.m.-1 a.m.

BEEF AND BROCCOLI $3.90 Dine-in & carryout Not valid with any other specials, coupons,

This coupon good for

or on deliveries. FREE DELIVERY

(Minimum order $9) Expires 11-9-94

m.-Midnight (NO coupon needed, NONE accepted) No Coupon" Specials

Everyday Two-fers

PIZZAS with - TOPPINGS each - COKES with ice

$8.45

3003 Anderson Ave. 537-1515

Everyday Three-fers - PIZZAS with TOPPING each - COKES with ice

$10.34

Pizza Shuttle 776-5577

Restaurant Row

Buffalo Wings $1.50/dozen

Don't forget $2 Margaritas on Tuesday at Cactus Jack's and the state of t

Tacos 3 for $1.35

(reg. 60¢ each) Chili Burrito $1.99

(reg. $2.65)

Good through 11-12-94 Listen for K-Rock Cafe on November 9

2809 Claflin

GIVE US A CALL FOR OUR SPECIAL PARTY RATES 539-3333 WESTLOOP CENTER MANHATTAN

Bigboys Jumbo 60 oz. $3.50 Pitchers Chicken Fried Steak Special

By Cico Park Kimball & Sethchilds Candlewood Center

Limit 1 cookle per coupon (With sub or pasta purchase. Not good with other specials. Only valid at Manhattan store.)

KSU STUDENTS ONLY!

World's Greatest Haircut Reg. *7**
BUT WITH COUPON

$6<sup>95</sup> ONLY

HIS OR HERS - "MATINEE" PERMS *29* Complete with cut! (MON.-THURS. Till 4p.m.) Long Hair-Extra

OPEN NIGHTS AND SUNDAYS JUST DROP IN!

VILLAGE PLAZA W. Anderson 539-4043 (Near ALCO) K-MARTPlaza

E. Poyntz 776-6410

Expires: 12-31-94

PIZZA FOR PICS!

BRING US YOUR PARTY PIC WITH THE PYRAMID BOX OR LOGO IN THE PIC &

RECEIVE A FREE SLICE OF PIZZA

FREE DELIVERY NOT GOOD WITH ANY OTHER OFFER

12TH & MORO AGGIEVILLE

K-STATE UNION

HALL ROOM 103

KEDZIE

PARKING

OFFICE HOURS

Pets and Supplies

Tickets to

Buy/Sell

BABY FERRETS are in at

FOR SALE: Iguana, one and one-half - two years old, with heat rock and UV light. 537-0546.

FOUR TRAVIS Tritt tickets

third row. 539-1582.

Animal House Pets! We have everything you will need for your new baby! Come check it out at 210 N. 14th.

MONDAY-FRIDAY

8 a.m.-5 p.m. (Except holidays

SOUTH OF THE

GET THE WORD OUT

LASSIFIEDS

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

20 words or less - $5 1 DAY each word over 20 - $.20 per word

2 DAYS 20 words or less - $6.25 each word over 20 - $.25 per word 3 DAYS 20 words or less - $7.25

each word over 20 - $.30 per word 4 DAYS 20 words or less - $8

each word over 20 - $.35 per word 5 DAYS 20 words or less — $8.50

BOARD

Announcements

VISUALIZATION

WORKSHOP

SATURDAY,

NOV. 19

10AM-1230PM

HARMONY

PATHWAYS

537-8946

ADVANCED FLIGHT Train-

SALE. Nov. 12 and 13, Sat. 10-6p.m., Sun. 11-4p.m. Pottorf Hall CICO Broke?

Earn $15

each time

plasma.

you donate

MANHATTAN

BIOMEDICAL

CENTER

1130 Gardenway

776-9177

COME FLY with us, K-State Flying Club has five air-planes. For best prices call Troy Brockway, 776-6735 after 5:30p.m.

Lost and Found

LOST: WATCH in Union re

Parties-n-More

creation area. Sunday Oct. 30. If found, please call Megan at 539-1744.

Found

ads can be free for three

.-Fri. 9 a.m.-6:30 p.n Sat. 9 a.m.-2 p.m.

ing from 5000-hour ATP instructor. Private single-engine through ATP multi-engine. Hugh Irvin, 539-3128.

each word over 20 — $.40 per word (consecutive day rate)

FOR JAN. across street Ford Hall deluxe two-bedroom. $485/ month. 539-2482. After 4p.m. JAN. 1. One-bedrooms in complexes $280- $300. No pets, lease required 587-0399. ONE-BEDROOM APART MENT, close to cam-pus. 1913 Anderson Ave. $280/ month-

QUIET SURROUNDINGS for study. Campus one mile, one-bedroom, some utilities paid. Min-imum seven month no lease, 537-8389.

110 For Rent-Unfurnished

HEALTH AND AVAILABLE FALL very nice one, two, three and four-bedroom apart ment complexes and houses. Excellent locations with great prices 537-1666, 537-2919.

> CHASE MANHATTAN Apartments, two-bed-room apartments avail-able now, Corner of College and Claflin.

CLOSE (ONE block), to three-bedrooms. Nice. Laundry/ central air/ low utilities/ one and three-fourths baths. Not a complex. No pets. 539–4641.

***** CAMBRIDGE SQ. APT. *2 BEDROOMS *FIREPLACE *POOL

537-9064 WEEKDAYS 9:00-4:30

ONE-BEDROOMS AVAIL-ABLE at 1026 Sunset. $385- $395. Remodeled Laundry facilities. Three blocks west of campus. 776-3804.

***********

SPACIOUS TWO-BED-ROOM in Chase Apart-ments, dishwasher, bal-cony, on site laundry facilities. Available im-

SUBLEASE ONE-BED-ROOM basement apart-ment. Available for spring semester. Close to campus. 776–9566.

For Rent-Houses

AND NON-DRINKER smoker, for two-bed-room place. No pets. References. 539-1554.

TWO-BEDROOM, TWO car garage 5112 Murray. Near airport $500/ month. Two-bedroom duplex, 515 S. Manhat tan $425/ month tan $425/ month 539-7181 leave mes

Roommate Wanted

ADD A splash to your next bash. Great anytime. Birthdays, mid-terms and Wildcat victory par-ties. Wet-N-Wild Mobile Hot Tubs, 537–1825. FEMALE ROOMMATE beginning in January, three-bedroom house, $200/ month plus one-third utilities. Close to campus. 776–1890.

ADD AN extra touch of class to your next par-ty. Call Wayne's Water Party to rent a portable hot tub 537-7587, FEMALE ROOMMATE for spring semester. Non-smoker; three-bed-rooms; walk to campus; $215/ month; one-third utilities. 776-0096 after BOCKERS II Catering Dances, bars, dinners, Weddings, Alumni func-tions. Catering any-where, discounts, Ware-FEMALE ROOMMATE needed immediately to share two-bedroom ham, Days Inn, Hous-ton Street. Call apartment, rent $210/ month, washer, dryer, close to campus. 537ton St 539-9431.

FEMALE ROOMMATE to share two-bedroom apartment, $205/ month plus one-half utilities. Water and trash paid. Available Dec. 1. Call 587-9679.

tions with great prices. 537-1666, 537-2919.

FEMALE

blocks from campus. Rent $150 each. Call now! 587-1969.

HOW TO PAY

it Publications. ck. MosterCard or Vise are d. There is a $10 service charge We reserve the right to edit, reject or rty classity any ad.

HEADLINES For an extra charge, we'll put a seadline above your ad to catch the seder's attention.

MALE ROOMMATE for

MALE ROOMMATE want-ed $150 month, one-half utilities, own room in trailer, call 539-8449

two-bedroom apart-ment, Williams Place in-side campus. Available immediately. $175/ month plus low electric-ity. Call 532–9094, leave

DEADLINES

Classified ads must be placed by noon the day before the date you wan your ad to run. Classifed display ads must be placed by 4 p.m. two working days prior to the date you want your a FREE FOUND ADS As a service to you, we run fo for three days free of charge. CANCELLATIONS

CORRECTIONS

Call 532-6555 to place your classified.

225 Pregnancy Testing

Pregnancy Testing Center 539-3338

campus in

Anderson Village

Mon.-Fri.

9 a.m.-5 p.m.

MOTHER OF two children looking to babysit in her home evenings and

NISSAN- DATSUN Repair

Service. 22 years ex-perience. Mazdas, Hon-das and Toyotas also. Auto Craft, 2612 Dipper

Lane, Manhattan, Kan

sas. 537-5049. 8a.m. 5p.m. Mon.- Fri.

BU¢

8.5"x11" & 8.5"x14" only

Nov 7 - Dec 16

K-State Union

Copy Center

K-State Union

PROMPT CONTRACEPTIVE

Lawrence, (913)841-5716.

EMPLOYMENT/

PROGRAMMERS. SITEL Corporation, a leader in the telemar-leader in the telemar-keting industry, is look-ing for experienced "C" programmers for its In-bound Services Group based in Omaha, Ne-braska. A strong work-ing knowledge of at least one Relational DMBS and two to three years programming ex perience in "C" are re quired. Working experience with Tandem Non-Stop SQL and Pathway telemarketing industr knowledge/ experience and a strong telecom munications back ground will be a signifi

CAREERS

Help Wanted

Copy Center 532-6596

and abortion services. Dale L. Clinton, M.D.,

Child Care

Automotive

Repair

255

Other

Services

MALE, NON-SMOKING · Free pregnancy roommate for new Chase three-bedroom testing · Totally confidential rervice apartment. Own room, own bath, one-third KPL and phone. Reasonable rent. Message at 539–6571, Same day results NON-SMOKER, SHARE house, utilities with re-*Call for appointment sponsible mostly male household. Large bed-room, laundry, $160. Available Nov. 15. 539–2468. Keep trying. Located across from ROOMMATES WANTED male or female. Three-bedroom house. Close to campus and Ag-gieville. One room $225. One room $175. All bills paid including phone and cable. 537-1108 nights 537-7546 days.

WANTED FOR spring semester, one non-smok-ing male to sublease room. Call 537-3555 for

WANTED NON-SMOKING and non-drinking room-mate for basement fur-nished private bed-room. Walk to KSU. $150. Share utilities. 539-1554.

WANTED: FEMALE to share three-bedroom apartment with one and one-half bath. $220 a month, one-third utili-ties. Available Jan. 1. Call Marsha or Amy 776-0293.

Sublease

FEMALE/ NON-SMOKER to sublease. Will live with three other girls. One-fourth of utilities and $162/ month rent. One-half of December free. Call 539–3387.

FOR SPRING semester available end of Dec. One-bedroom apart-ment, two blocks from ment, two blocks from campus. Call 537-4768.

TWO-BEDROOM Available after finals Near Westloop $435. New carpet, balcony, one bathroom, 776-3173, leave mes-

NICE, CLEAN, two-bed-room apartment, two blocks from campus and close to aggieville. Call 776-1324.

ONE ROOM for rent in large, beautiful, seven-bedroom home; $150/ month plus one-sev-enth utilities; kitchen and laundry available; four blocks from campus; January 1 to May 31 sublease available; 537-2497— ask for Russ or leave message.

SERVICE

DIRECTORY

Resume/ Typing

NEED SOMETHING typed? I'll type it for $1/ per page. Call 537-9480 page. Call 537-9480 after 5:30p.m. Ask for

WELL EXPERIENCED typist by day would like typ-ing at night. Laser print-ing. Call Judy 539-7100 or 456-9642.

SITEL Corporation, Attention: J. Snook, 7720 Crown Point Avenue, P.O. Box 34860, Omaha, NE 68134-0860. FAX: 402)571-8613. EOE

$1500 WEEKLY possible mailing our circulars!
No experience required! Begin Now! For information call (202)298-8957.

ALASKA EMPLOYMENT Fishing Industry. Earn up to $3000-$6000 plus per month. Room and Board! Transportation! Male/ female. No experience necessary (206)545-4155 ext

ATTENTION GROUPS and individuals! Raise up to $10,000 or more. Win $1000, free car or free Hawaii trip! No Invest-ment. 24-hour recorded message. (609)427-0777 Ext. 1562.

ATTENTION STUDENTS Earn extra cash stuffing envelopes at home. All materials provided. Send SASE to Central Distributors P.O. Box 10075, Olathe, KS 66051. Immediate re-

COACHES NEEDED for mens and/ or womens gymnastics. 15- 20 hours. Will train the right person. Gymnas-tics experience pre-ferred. Call 539-3613.

COMPUTER NETWORK ADMINISTRATOR: part-time student position, mostly regular sched-uled hours with some emergency trou-bleshooting hours. Re-sponsible for oversee-ing 55-computer Macintosh network, including hardware maintenance software backups, and records maintenance. Should be familiar with Macintosh operating systems 6 and 7. Client server networking for Pick up an applications in 113 or 103 Kedzie

HIRING. Earn up to $2000 plus/ month working on Cruise Ships or Land-Tour companies. World travel (Hawaii, Mexico, the Caribbean, etc.) Seasonal and full-time employment available. No experience necessary. For more information call (206)634–0468 ext. C57682.

tionwide offices already breaking records across the country. "Explosive Growth " Various Posi-tions " Full Training "Travel Available "Ex-cellent Income Poten-tial "Relocation Option-al Call 776-7975 for ap-pointment."

KITCHEN HELP needed for a sorority house. Contact Edna Rush at 539-3424.

MACINTOSH TROU-BLESHOOTER: part-time student position, mostly regular sched-uled hours with possi-ble emergency hours. Assists in overseeing on on Tues., Nov. 22 NANNY WANTED. Need loving, dependable per-son to care for charming nine month old baby. Full-time posi-tion. Starts Jan. 1995. Submit letter of application to J. Kassebaum, 1816 Cassell, Manhat PROGRESSIVE SWINE unit in NE Kansas seeking a responsible, self-motiated individual for vated individual for herdsman position. This 1500 sow unit is totally confined and utilizes the latest technology. We will train. Salary with sick leave, paid vacation, and insurance. This position will be filled immediately, do not delay. Send resume to: Agri- Business, Rt Box 97, Washington,

PARKING

532-6555

532-7309

Apply at Portraits by LBJ 1714 Fairlane, 539-7272, Tues.- Thurs. between 10a.m. and

SKI RESORT Jobs- Hir-

STUDENT INTERNS, part time, positions avail-able immediately for 10- 15 hours per week. Excellent English complications will be accepted 9- 6p.m. through Nov. 11.

GRADUATES

earned $4,000 in my second month and am helping professionals cross the country do the same." Interviewing for dynamic.

enthusiastic, money motivated individuals to represent a progressive creating a global change. ous Inqui Only. Call for

SYSTEM ANALYST. SITEL

Corporation, a leader in the telemarketing in-dustry, is looking for a Systems Analyst or Senior Systems Ana-lyst for our Inbound Services Group based in Omaha, Nebraska. A computer science (or 15 plus years industry experience) and practi-excellent English com-munication skills re-quired. $4.75 once trained. Applicants should apply in person at Veterinary Medical Li-brary, fourth floor Trot-ter Hall, KSU. EOE. Ap-plications will be ac-

COLLEGE

Training Company,

Appointment (913)776-7975.

SUMMER JOBS OUT-DOORS Over 10,000 openings! National Parks, Forests, Fire Crews. Send stamp for free details. Sullivan's 113 East Wyoming, Ka-lispell, MT 59901.

dustry knowledge/ ex-perience will be a signif-icant advantage. A BS or Masters degree in ing for many positions for winter quarter.

Over 15,000 openings! For more information call: (206)634-0469 ext. V57681.

"I drive a Jaguar,

Marketing and strong working knowledge of at least one Re-lational DBMS and a minimum of five years experience as a Pro-grammer Analyst, with an additional one to two years of project leader or group leader experience are re-quired. Applicants with previous work experi-ence as a Systems Ana-lyst will be given spe-cial consideration. A working knowledge of at least two operating programming languages (with either COBOL or C as one) will be ex-pected. Working experi-ence with Tandem Non-Stop SQL and Pathway and telemarketing in cal experience applying software engineering methods will be import ant factors in the eval-uation process. Title and pay will be com-410 Items for Sale

OR WRITE

Kedzie Hall 103

COLLEGIAN CLASSIFIEDS

Manhattan, Kan. 66506

ence and education. SITEL offers a competi-tive pay and benefits package, including 401(k) Savings Plan; va-cation, sick and holiday pay; medical and dental benefits; and basic life insurance. To schedule an initial phone inter-view, please fax or mail your resume along with a daytime phone number to: SITEL Cor-poration, Attention: J. Snook, 7720 Crown RECORDS & DISCS YOUR HIGH-QUALITY SOUND RECYCLERS Point Avenue, P.O. Box 34860, Omaha, NE 68134-0860. FAX: (402)571-8613. EOE. $ CASH DAILY $ FOR RECORDS. TURNTABLES, COMPACT DISCS AND CD SINGLES

IN AGGIEVILLE LOTS OF PARKING 1126 LARAMIE MANHATTAN

BONEPILE

250W power amplifier, $275; four-drawer desk with chair, $30. Kevin 539-3792. TWO SMALL deep freezes for sale. 5.1 cubic foot chest for $100. 12.0 cubic foot upright for $150. Great to store meat from home! Call 537-5667 after 5p.m.

Antiques

TIME MACHINE Antique Maul and Geeb Empori-um, 6000 square feet, antiques, collectibles, estate jewelry, furni-ture, 4910 Skyway Dr. four blocks east of Manhattan Airport. Open Tues.- Sat. 12- 6p.m. 539-4684.

Computers 486 4MB RAM, 340 MB dem, lots of software. 539-5606. COMPUADD 386SX16, 3.5 and 5.25 floppy, 85 MB hard, 4 MB Ram, 2400 bds modem, two joy-sticks, SVGA monitor, MS DOS 6.0, $700, call

HD, CD Rom, SVGA

Mo 776-4110. LAPTOP 386, 4MB RAM, 40 MB hard drive. Needs battery, $400. Call Mike 395–4806.

LASER TURBO XT 240 Meg HD, 3.5, 5.25 FD's, DOS 5.0, new monitor, loaded, $425 leave message 762-7661 Andrew ER. Complete sys-tem including print-er only $500. Call You'll never know unless you try...advertising.

MACINTOSH COMPUT

OLLEGIAN

GET THE WORD

ADVERTISING PRODUCTION

Publication Practice IMC 360

Class size is limited so sign up now.

Get training and gain experience while earning one hour of credit this spring. Attend class one day a week from 8:30-11:30 a.m. You pick the day of the week based on availability. The instructor's permission is required. The experience you gain in the spring would qualify you to apply for a paid position in the summer or fall.

> Come to 113 Kedzie 8 a.m.-4 p.m. for more information and syllabus.

CLASSIFIED DIRECTORY

100 HOUSING REAL ESTATE

200 SERVICE DIRECT-ORY

300 EMPLOY-MENT/ CAREERS

400 OPEN MARKET

500 TRANS-PORTATION  edo TRAVEL/ TRIPS

NO WEST STANDARD STAN

cant advantage. A col-lege degree in comput-er science and formal HOUSING/ training and/ or practi ROOMMATE cal experience sof REAL ESTATE engineering methods are strongly preferred. Title and pay will be wanted. Non-smoker to share four-bedroom. Available mid-Decem ber. Own room, two and one-half bath, washer/ dryer, dish-washer, one-fourth utili-ties, $215/ month. 587-8622. commensurate with years of experience and education. SITEL offers a competitive pay and Apts. Furnished benefits package includ-ing a 401(k) Savings Plan; vacation, sick and holiday pay; medical and dental benefits; AVAILABLE FALL very nice one, two, three and four-bedroom apart-ment complexes and houses. Excellent loca-LOOKING FOR two more people to share five-bedroom house two COLLEGIAN CLASSIFIEDS and life insurance. T schedule an initial tel 532-6556 schedule an initial tele-phone interview, please fax or mail your re-sume along with a day-time phone number to:

an ethernet network. TCP/IP experience a plus. Salary negotiable based on experience.

Application deadline is noon on Tuesday, Nov. CRUISE SHIPS NOW HIRING. Earn up to

FRIENDS OF THE ENVI-RONMENT. Big prob-lems need big peoplel Big problems can earn you a big paycheck, if you are serious about creating a GLOBAL CHANGE. Major statewide expansion. 230 na-tionwide offices already

55-computer Macintosh network, including hardware and software troubleshooting and general maintenance. Should be familiar with Macintosh operating systems 6 and 7. Minimum wage to start. Pick up an applications at 113 or 103 Kedzie

SANTAS WANTED. Man hattan Town Center and Portraits by LBJ are looking for Santas. Day, night and weekend shifts available.

VARNEY'S BOOK STORE is now taking applications for tempo-rary part-time full-time

rary part-time full-time positions in the text-book department to assist with textbook buyback. Possible employment dates are Nov. 29 through Dec. 18. Daytime, evening, and weekend hours are available. $4.30 per hour. Involves helping customvolves helping custom-ers, moderate lifting and cleaning/ pricing books. All positions re quire diligence and a pleasant, service- ori-ented attitude. College experience is strongly preferred. Apply in per-son downstairs at Var-ney's Book Store, 623 N. Manhattan Ave., Manhattan, KS. Deadline for application is Sunday, Nov. 13, 1994. WANTEDIII INDIVIDUALS student organizations and small groups to promote Spring Break '95. Earn substantial nter-campus programs 1-800-327-6013.

money and free trips Call the nation's leader

Business Opportunities PROFESSIONAL. I need the help of a local dis-tributor who wants to earn up to $500 a day, from the comfort of your own home. Mini-mal investment re-quired for more information call 537-0837 TURN YOUR FAX into generate over $3000 per month. Fax your name and Fax number to (817)997-2443 for

MARKET

Wanted to Buy WHITE WICKER furniture wanted. Don't store it for the winter. Let's deal! Call 537-4667 after 5p.m. FOR SALE- Kenwood TRANS-

PORTATION

Automobiles

110K miles, black, five-speed, dependable, $1400. 539-3683. 1984 AUDI 4000s, red, two door, air, tinted wind-ows, five speed. Nice car, and runs great! $1500 or best offer. 587-8352. Ask for Kirk.

1983 MUSTANG GT, 302,

1984 FORD Escort, good transportation. $1000 or best offer. Call Mike at 539-3530 after 6p.m.

TRIPS

Tour Package

SIX DAYS/ five nights vacation cruise to Baha-mas. Plus three days/ two nights in Orlando. For two adults only $400. Must sell call Charlene. 587-0948.

SPRING BREAK 94 Cancun, eight days/ seven nights on the beach $499. Sign up early and save money. Classic Travel 1212 Moro, Ag-gieville, 537-7546.

OUT.

532-6555

for developmental sales tax

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1 of recruiting research facilities to the area, Bill Varney, task force member and local CPA, said. "In this case, the recruiter would be looking for a top-notch federal laboratory or a research facility funded by one or two international-sized corporations," Varney said.

"Whomever it is, this person would not only be coordinating with Anderson Hall, but would also coordinate with the city, the Chamber of Commerce and the Riley County Commission.

It has not been decided yet who will hire the recruiter, Varney said. The position may either be under contract to the University or the city.

Mann said increased research at K-State translates into jobs for graduate students and the infusion of grant money into the community.

Another factor in economic development is to have seed and venture capital to help local businesses start up and succeed.

Mann said faculty, staff and students who may have ideas that could grow into businesses and jobs but don't have the money can go to the Economic Development Opportunity Board to help develop those ideas.

He said the board would be made up of a group of people that would evaluate requests and invest the funds wisely to create the greatest number of jobs possible.

The board members will be appointed by the city commission and serve in an advisory capacity. All final decisions will be made by the commission, Mann said.

Varney said the city commission has already accepted an agreement to add $4 million to Manhattan's Cessna bid from the economic-development tax if it passes. "Keep in mind we're talking about the possibility of 1,000 jobs, Varney said. "The whole idea is to get more jobs in the private sector and produce more jobs of a diverse nature. This is a large example of what that money can be used for."

The $4 million would put Manhattan on the inside track to get the Cessna bid, Varney said.

"What happens if Manhattan's proposal is $4 million lighter than it was? If I were Cessna, I guess I would think twice," he said.

Cessna would not be given that much at the outset, he said. The payments would be spread out over a four-year period.

Varney said that, although no one likes any tax, a sales tax would be fairer because it includes all products sold in Manhattan, regardless of who buys them.

People who live outside the area but shop in Manhattan would be helping to pay for economic development, he said.

Mann said it's important to remember that the tax would only be in place for four years. Any additional tax for economicdevelopment purposes would again have to be approved by the voters.

Not everyone is persuaded about the effectiveness of the economicdevelopment plan, however.

Arthur Vaughan, treasurer of the No on No. 2 Committee, said his committee's main objection is that not enough is known about the plan's benefits to vote in favor of it.

He said the information and studies have been brought forward by the plan's supporters and have not been sufficiently thoughtout.

"The folks supporting this are so convinced that they're laying out all the positives, and no one wants to look at the negatives."

Giving the Cessna deal as an example, Vaughan said the $4 million would be a drop in the bucket to what is needed to provide adequate facilities to the Cessna

It is estimated that $2.8 million would be needed for an access road that the county would have to pay for, Vaughan said.

The tax abatement the city guaranteed Cessna means that the taxpayers would have to foot the bill for a firestation, utilities and access to a sewer system that is already at capacity, he said.

"The county has been so reluctant to get involved in what it's going to cost," Vaughan said.

"It's been sold as one of those things that everyone will benefit from. There's nothing terrible about putting the vote off until spring to look at details to see if it is a good deal or not.

"Before you say 'yes' or 'no,' know what you're getting into."

SKUNK

KILLER LOOPS

SKATEBOARD ACCESSORIES

SUBWAY POSTERS JAMAICAN STYLES SOPHISTO TAPESTRIES INCENSE FUCT PERVERT

BEADS T-SHIRTS-TIE DYES GUAT. CLOTHING BAJAS GRATEFUL DEAD

CREATE YOUR OWN JEWELRY MERCHANDISE

1128 MORO 776-BAJA MON.-FRI.11-7, THURS, 11-8 SAT, 10-6, SUN, NOON-5

You've heard of Thelma and Louise Wait until you meet Velma and Roxy They're dangerous They're killers and everyone loves 'em!

CHICAGO A Bob Fosse Musical

Presented by the KSU Theatre and the Dept. of Music Nov. 10-12 McCain Aud. 8 p.m. Tickets: McCain Box Office Noon to 5 p.m. or call 532-6428

Economic benefits unknown Concerns may halt plans for expansion

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

Voters will decide on Tuesday if they want to build the Riley County Law Enforcement Center at the site of the current jail with money from a proposed half-cent sales tax.

With the election drawing near, the battle lines have been drawn.

Supporters say the jail is overcrowded. Expansion is needed, and expanding at the current address makes the most economic sense.

Opponents call the plan flawed, saying a larger jail has no place in a residential neighborhood, and the cost of the expansion is too expensive when compared to a similar project in the state.

Karen McCulloh, commission chairwoman, said her job is to provide the necessary information so people can make informed decisions come Nov. 8. That's why she is angry at Jail CORP (Citizens Organized for Responsible Placement), a group of residents opposed to the sales tax.

According to a flier distributed by Jail CORP, the Riley County LEC, which would hold 54 inmates, will cost a total of $8.2 million. Those numbers are compared to the LEC in McPherson County, which was finished in 1993. McPherson's LEC, according to the flier, costs $3.2 million and holds 48 inmates.

McCulloh said the $3.2-million figure is not the total cost of construction for the McPherson facility; instead, the number is closer to $4.5 million. One of the reasons McPherson's LEC was cheaper, she said, was because they cut corners.

"They did some things to make it cheaper that are going to cost them more in maintenance in the long run," she said.

Gerry Bly, design engineer for McPherson County, said they did make some design changes when the original bids from the architects came in too high at $4.2 million. "I don't think we're going to be looking at any maintenance headaches because of the changes that we made," he said.

The fliers distributed by Jail CORP quote Rod Bottoms, a senior corrections specialist with the National Institute of Corrections. According to the flier, he said, "Riley County should provide twice the area for the new jail project."

Frey said she received the information from a Department of Justice official while visiting his office in Colorado this summer.

When contacted by phone. Bottoms refused to discuss what was on the Jail CORP flier. He said the controversy is typical.

One of the concerns of Jail CORP the proposed site of the LEC.

McCulloh said the county has had economists, planners and even an architecture class from K-State look at the site selection.

"We've studied it and studied it and studied it," she said. "All the experts say this is the way to do it."

Plans for the new two-story site call for more than 62,000 square feet to sit on the 2.9 acres of land. Opponents say that does not leave enough room for growth.

But McCulloh said the plans leave room for expansion if it should be needed. She said the architects have told her the planned jail would be sufficient for 54.7 years.

Another concern for Jail CORP is the proximity of a larger jail to the residential area and the Manhattan Catholic School, which is located across the street on Juliette Avenue.

Frey said students don't notice the jail, which has an average of 24 inmates, right now, but she said it's inappropriate for the county to increase the size of the jail at its present location.

The commissioner said parents of school children she has spoken with have told her they like the fact the police department is so close. That way, they can get to know the police better. Charlotte Scheckel, principal, said quite a few parents have voiced concern to her about the possible expansion, and she said she feels the jail will eventually have an effect on

"It may not be immediate," Scheckel said. "Once the jail is fully functional, we'll see our biggest

Family, school worried about effects of proposed site

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

teachers talked to parents. But school grades were not the only thing on people's minds.

For many, their thoughts were on what might be happening across the street. They were thinking about the proposed expansion of the Riley County Jail and what it means to the Manhattan Catholic School.

The school first opened in 1908 as the Sacred Heart Academy. That first year, there were 40 students in the grade school and high school. Today, the Manhattan Catholic School has 313 students in kindergarten through eighth grade and 105 children in its preschool

Already a stone's throw away, the new law-enforcement center would be even closer. If the jail tax passes on election day, the new facility would be built directly across the street from the school and the Seven Dolors Catholic

Many people within this closeknit family are afraid of what the new facility might bring with it. They fear the expanded jail would endanger children, and quite possibly, the school's future.

"I don't want to see it hurt us," Trisha Ott, a first-grade teacher at the school, said. "I'm a real positive person, so I don't want to see that in our future. I can only hope the

Sports

Trivia Contest

will be held

Thursday, Nov. 17 at 7 p.m., Union Rm. 213

DEADLINE: Friday, Nov. 11 at 5 p.m.

Enter at the Rec Services Office • 532-6980

citizens will vote so the jail will be put in another place."

Ott said the school has always enjoyed a good relationship with the current jail. However, she said, putting the expanded jail so close to the school would be inappropriate for the children.

We're a family school," she said. "Everything that parents, teachers and administrative staff are trying to do are in the best interest

Other teachers voiced their concerns about what effect the new jail would have on the students.

Paula Murphy, a third grade teacher who also has a daughter that attends the school, said she was concerned with how close the new jail would be.

"It's not ideal to have a jail so close to a school, church and a neighborhood," she said.

👺 $250 Service Scholarship

Applications are available for the CHIMES Service Scholarship Monday, October 31 in the SAS Office.

Requirements

* Junior Standing * 2.5 GPA

* Exemplary Service Record

Due Monday, Nov. 14 at Noon in the SAS Office

coming

R. Carlos Nakai and William Eaton

The Ying Quartet* Friday, November 18, 8 p.m.

Winner of the 1993 Naumburg Chamber Music Award, the Ying Quartet is a brothers and sister team of string virtuosos. For McCain audiences, the Yings will perform Mozart's "Hunt" quartet, Ralph Shapey's Quartet No. VIII, and Schubert's "Death and the Maiden."

R. Carlos Nakai and William Eaton* Friday, December 2, 8 p.m.

Nakai is a Navajo-Ute who honors tribal traditions while developing new musical expressions on his cedar flute. Eaton designs his own extraordinary instruments and composes music inspired by nature. The two come together to perform music that is haunting in its serenity and graceful in its simplicity.

Aladdin and the Magic Lamp Friday, December 9, 7:30 p.m.

An Arabian nights tale of a poor tailor's son, an evil sorcerer, the sultan's beautiful daughter, and a couple of genies. You won't need a flying carpet: the lively music, colorful costumes, and special effects will sweep you away!

For tickets call 532-6428 or come to the McCain box office. Box office hours: noon to 5 p.m. weekdays; from 1 p.m. before weekend matinees; and from 5 p.m. before weekend evenings. Tickets are also available at Manhattan Town Center customer service desk, K-State Union Bookstore, and ITR (Fort Riley). Persons with disabilities call 532-6428.

* Presented in part by the Kansas Arts Commission, a state agency, and the National Endowment for the Arts, a federal agency. Events in the McCain Performance Series are supported by the K-State Fine Arts Fee.

WESTERN Cowboys isn't your ordinary worship group.

It's Bible study with a western twist.

Tuesday

WEATHER - PAGE 2

NOVEMBER 8, 1994

KANSAS STATE UNIVERSITY, MANHATTAN, KANSAS 66506

Exp. Date 00/00

VOLUME 99B, NUMBER 56

PAGE 10

▶ GENERAL ELECTION

Record voter turnout predicted

INSIDE

▶ For a guide to today's election, see pages 6, 7 and 8. ASSOCIATED PRESS

TOPEKA - A large voter turnout is expected today for a general election that could have Kansas Republicans recalling their glory days of decades past.

The secretary of state's office predicts that more than 854,000 voters will go to the polls, a record number for a non-presidential election year. That would be about 65 percent of the state's 1.31 million eligible voters.

Republicans expected GOP nominee Bill Graves to win the governor's race over Democrat Jim Slattery: They also hoped to pick up at least one seat in the U.S. House and to retain the offices of attorney general and secretary of state.

However, Democrats expected to GOP unseat Insurance Commissioner Ron Todd and reelect State Treasurer Sally Thompson.

Polls open at 7 a.m. and close at 7 p.m. in most counties. They will open and close an hour later in five far western counties - Greelev. Hamilton, Kearny, Sherman and Wallace - in the mountain time Sedgwick County and 6:30 a.m. in Butler County.

The largest previous turnout in a non-presidential election year was 840,605 in 1986. Voters that year approved constitutional amendments to permit a state lottery, legalize parimutuel dog and horse racing and allow liquor by the drink in public

Brad Bryant, deputy assistant secretary of state for elections, said voter registration this year was inflated because of a motor-voter law that allows people to register zone. They open at 6 a.m. in when they renew their driver's licenses. Since 1970, the average turnout for gubernatorial elections has been 68 percent.

"The people who were registered through the motor-voter program are an unknown quantity," Bryant said. "We just don't know whether or not they'll choose to vote or sit this election out."

Republicans traditionally have dominated Kansas politics, and their power reached a high point in the late 1940s and early 1950s, when

■ See GRAVES Page 12

Juliette & Poyntz

1000 S. Manhattan

312 N. Juliette Ave.

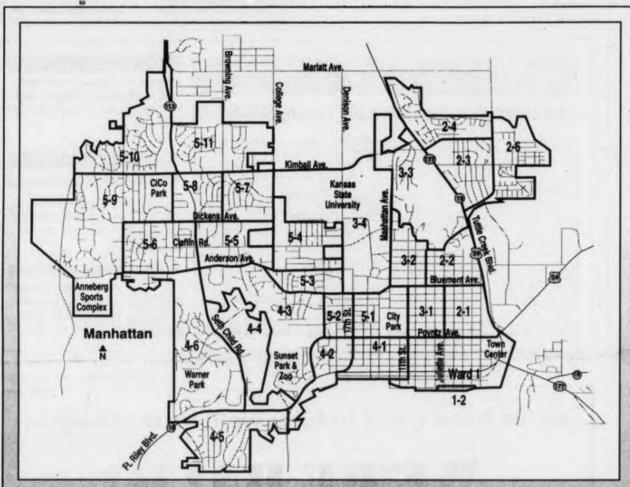

714 Bluemont Ave.

715 Griffith Drive

300 Griffith Drive

2400 Casement Rd

801 Leavenworth St.

VOTING PRECINCTS

Following is a list of voting districts in Manhattan. The polls will be open from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. Manhattan Public Library Hunter's Island Community Center Woodrow Wilson School 2-1 Bluemont School 2-3 Army Reserve Building Northview School 2-6 Church of Christ First Presbyterian Church 3-1 3-2 UFM House 3-3 Meadowlark Hills Retirement Home 3-4 Derby Food Center 3-5 Roosevelt School Education Center KSU Foundation Ce 4-2 4-3 Redbud Estates Clubhouse Westview Community Church Citizens Bank & Trust 4-6 Coffin Campus Center Conf. Rm. Eugene Field School 5-3 5-4 5-6 Lee School Wharton Manor Manhattan Jewish Synagogue 5-7 5-8 Marlatt School Manhattan Area Technical Center Amanda Amold School

St. Thomas More Church

1221 Thurston St. 2121 Meadowlark Rd 300 Griffith Drive 1401 Houston St. 2323 Redbud Estates 2323 Anderson Ave. Redbud Estates 3001 Ft. Riley Blvd. 3049 Anderson Ave. 1419 Laramie St. 1700 Leavenworth St. 701 Lee St. 2101 Claffin Road 1509 Wreath Ave. 2715 Hobbs Drive

3136 Dickens Ave. 1435 Hudson Ave. Stoneybrook Retirement Community 2025 Little Kitten Ave. 2900 Kimbal Ave.

TRISHA BENNINGA/Collegia

New county-jail proposal now in hands of voters

LEIGH BELLINGER

The fate of a half-cent sales tax to fund a new Riley County jail and law-enforcement center will finally be known tonight.

When all the votes have been tallied, one group will walk away victorious, while the losers will be searching for other ways to win the

If the jail tax is voted down, the biggest concern of the county is being taken to court over crowded conditions in the current jail, Karen McCulloh, county commission chairwoman, said. Using a formula from the Kansas Department of Corrections, the current jail is rated for 19 prisoners, but on some weekends, there as many as 35 to 40. "I don't think we're going to be sued on Wednesday morning or anything like that," she said. "I don't think we'll be sued until somebody is hurt badly." To remedy the overcrowding, McCulloh suggested the county might look to build a dormitory to house anyone arrested for driving under the influence. She said that would take some of the strain off the jail population and make it safer. If voters are not happy with the proposed site of the new jail, she said she would be more than happy to work with them.

"If people want to look at other sites, I'll be happy to put other things on the ballot," McCulloh said. "I cannot as a county commissioner decide, unless we're sued and a judge says you have to do this."

She said a new location for the jail could be put on the ballot and voted on next April.

See JAIL Page 12

► CAMPUS

Livestock-judging team delivers K-State a win

JULIE KRAMER

The K-State Livestock Judging Team took first place overall at the American Royal livestock-judging contest Saturday in Kansas City.

This was the team's second contest of the year. Out of 22 teams, K-State placed first in sheep, first in swine, fourth in cattle and second in oral reasons, team coach Scott Schaake said. Brandon Anderson, senior in animal science and industry, won high individual. The team also won its first contest of the year, the Mid-

America Classic in Wichita. In a contest, team members will judge 12 classes of livestock, Schaake said. Each class has four animals. The team members rank the animals, and these rankings are compared with how the officials ranked the animals, he said

Anderson said the oral-reasons category is a presentation of why the students placed the animals the way they did.

Team members are juniors or seniors and take Principals of Livestock Judging class the fall of their junior year, Schaake said.

It gives students an understanding of the basics and the use of terminology, he said.

Jill Zimmerman, senior in animal science and industry, said the team may practice up to 30 hours a week and is planning on 200 hours of practice time during semester break.

"It takes a lot from your class schedule, but I think it's worth it," Anderson said.

"I've learned a lot about responsibility and decision making," Zimmerman said.

Schaake said it's important team members be good students. "It takes a person that has a lot of dedication," he said. 'We have a lot of out-of-state students who come to K-State for our program.

Brandon Anderson, senior in animal science and industry, checks the muscle tone on a sheep while practicing his judging skills in the American Royal livestock-judging contest Saturday in Kansas City.

STEVE HEBERT/Colleg

Live, an alternative-rock band out of York, Pa., plays for a large crowd Monday evening in Bramlage Coliseum. Nearly 2,000 screaming fans attended the near two-hour show.

Crowd crazes over alternative bands

Group delayed due to rowdy fans' stage-moshing act

ANDREW TOMB

Manhattan's Bramlage Coliseum was introduced to the alternative crowd in a big way at last night's Live concert.

More than 1,800 people attended the alternative show put on by Union Program Council.

Prior to the show, Live guitarist Chad Taylor said he was frustrated that there were chairs set up in front of the stage instead

The crowd was relatively calm during opening act Fatima Mansions' set, but when Weezer began its hit "Undone (The around 9 p.m., the crowd was Sweater Song)," security could no longer control the crowd. The area in front of the stage was flooded with a mob of fans.

Weezer lead singer Rivers Cuomo was taken aback by the new fans in front of the stage. "Where the fuck did all these people come from?" Cuomo asked the crowd. When the lights came back on after Weezer's set, it was obvious that there were far more people than belonged in the floor area.

Charlie Thomas, director of Bramlage, said only 224 seats were sold on the floor.

"There's a whole lot more than that down there right now," he

After Live took the stage pushing too hard against the wooden barrier in front of the stage. Bramlage personnel stopped Live three songs into its set to reinforce the barrier.

"We don't have a typical concert crowd here," Thomas

"It's hard to prepare for something like this.

Brent Coverdale, senior in political science and UPC president, said the concert announces that Manhattan and K-State are ready to have more concerts that are the caliber of the Live show.

While no one was seriously hurt in the floor rush, some attendees were treated by the Red Cross for bumps and bruises.

ive lead singer Edward Kowalczyk sings to a full house Monday night.

NEWS BRIEFS

▶ CONTRABAND CONTINUES TO FIND WAY INTO BOSNIA; PEACE MAY BE RISKED

GENEVA (AP) - Prompted by the deteriorating situation in Bosnia, U.N. Secretary-General Boutros Boutros-Ghali renewed warnings Monday that peacekeepers may have to pull out.

At the United Nations, officials warned that contraband is still reaching Bosnian Serbs through the closed border with former Yugoslavia — further signaling that the war could continue to escalate.

Former Yugoslavia agreed to close its borders with Bosnia on Aug. 4, allowing only food, clothing and medicine through. In return, the Security Council partially lifted economic sanctions it imposed against Serbia and Montenegro - all that is left of Yugoslavia - to stop the re-supplying of the then-advancing Bosnian Serbs.

However, a U.S. official said Monday the United States has supplied information showing that significant amounts of material are getting through. The official, who spoke on condition of anonymity, said the information about smuggling was made available so that the monitors could succeed in their

"It is very important to make sure that that border is very well monitored, and we believe that more monitors are actually required," said U.S. Ambassador Madeleine Albright, the president of the Security Council this month.

In Geneva, Boutros-Ghali met with senior political and military envoys in former Yugoslavia to consider options in light of recent Bosnian government offensives.

"Certainly we are studying the ssibility of the withdrawal of the U.N. troops," Boutros-Ghali said.

He said he would meet with the new NATO chief, Willy de Claes, in New York this week to discuss joint action following last month's agreement to increase NATO's scope for air strikes.

The United States, frustrated at the U.N.'s reluctance to carry out air attacks, was behind the push for tougher NATO actions.

But Washington had envisaged that the Serbs would be the targets of any punitive strikes rather than government forces, which have been blamed for starting the recent ground offensives.

► INFANT GIRL KIDNAPPED FROM MOTHER'S ROOM IN KANSAS CITY HOSPITAL

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) - A newborn girl was snatched from her mother's hospital room Monday less than 12 hours after the birth, authorities said

The infant was born at 5:30 a.m. at Truman Medical Center, Connie Brockert, director of marketing and public relations at the hospital, said. The mother had just gone into her bathroom when the baby disappeared early in the afternoon, Brockert said. Police were investigating, but no other information was being released by police or the hospital. The baby's grandmother, Willetta Stokes, told KMBC-TV that family members believed they knew who had taken the baby.

The mother remained a patient at the hospital. The infant was rooming in with the mother, which is becoming standard procedure at many hospitals, Brockert said.

The mother and infant wear matching identification bands, and the mother is supposed to notify a nurse any time she is not with the infant, she said.

▶ PHEASANT-HUNTING SEASON APPROACHES, LOOKS PROFITABLE TO EXPERTS

WICHITA (AP) - Hunters across Kansas have been exercising their dogs, cleaning their shotguns and smiling ear-to-ear about the optimistic pheasant-population forecasts from game officials.

The season-opener this weekend and the second weekend, Nov. 19-20, will be the two heaviest pheasant-hunting weekends this year, and the entire season one of the best in years, game officials

"I'd say we have a fairly good chance of seeing our best season since 1987," said Randy Rodgers, of Kansas Department of Wildlife and Parks upland game biologist based in Hays.

That also could translate into a profitable season for shooting sports dealers, motel and restaurant operators and service-station owners.

A national survey logged retail sales to Kansas hunters in 1991 at $125.6 million, which translates into a total economic effect of almost $286 million.

About 150,000 residents and 30,000 non-residents buy Kansas hunting licenses each year, the wildlife and parks department said. About 120,000 of those hunters go after pheasant, quail or both.

The wildlife and parks department's annual preseason forecast shows upland bird populations coming back strong from a 1993-94 season racked by adverse weather, including flooding in the north-central and northeast regions.

Pheasant numbers have increased about 16 percent statewide, while quail numbers have increased about 36 percent statewide, Rodgers said.

Last year, 2.2 million upland birds - pheasant, quail and prairie chicken - were harvested, and about 817,000 of them were pheas-

Based on the summer brood survey done by game officials, estimates of pheasant population increases ranged from 23 percent in the southwest region to 92 percent south-central and 72 percent

A 14-percent decline was forecast in the north-central region, while northwest numbers remained unchanged.

The survey put quail populations about the same in south-central Kansas, 21 percent greater in the southeast region, 24 percent higher northeast and up 63 percent in the Flint Hills. North-central Kansas showed a 118-percent increase from light populations there last year.

LICE REPORTS

se reports are taken directly from the daily logs of the K-State and Riley County Police departments Because of space constraints, not all crimes are listed.

K-STATE POLICE

The state of the s

SUNDAY, NOVEMBER 6

At 9:52 p.m., a subject was observed by an officer on Claflin Road operating a 1982 Toyota with an expired tag, GKD780, and was stopped.

Subsequently, the officer discovered that the driver had a sus-

MONDAY, NOVEMBER 7

At 12:45 p.m., Eric Smith reported a small grassfire southeast of Ackert Hall. An officer and the Manhattan Fire and a warrant for failure to appear issued by the Ogden Municipal Court. The driver was arrested and transported to Riley County Jail.

pended Kansas driver's license

Department responded. Smith called back to advise he had extinguished the fire. It was possibly a cigarette that caught some leaves of fire. There was very minimal damage.

RILEY COUNTY POLICE

SUNDAY, NOVEMBER 6 At 3:36 p.m., a male reported a dog hung up on a fence at 307 14th St. An officer was advised, and the dog was not hung up on

At 5:40 p.m., Judy Fisher reported a suspicious activity at Bluemont School, 724 Moro St. A white male in a blue and white pickup truck with a blue topper wearing a white T-shirt and a black baseball cap watched some children playing and followed

At 7:50 p.m., a female called, requesting a welfare check for a rabbit in a cage in the backyard of 3820 Kate's Court. At 8:34 p.m., Jeff Mann, 1020 Bertrand St., was arrested for battery. Bond was $300. At 9:15 p.m., Barb Woodruff, 1109 College Ave., reported a stray rabbit in her front yard.

Chimes junior honorary is awarding a scholarship to an outstanding junior. Applications are due at noon Nov. 14. Applications are available in the Office of Student Activities and Services.

BULLETINS #

- Circle K International will meet 9 p.m. today in Union 206.
- Hispanic American Leadership Organization will meet 6:30 p.m. today at the Ecumenical Campus Ministry Building.
- Sailing Club will meet at 8 p.m. today in Union 205. ■ The Board of Student Publications will meet from 8 to 9 a.m.
- today in Union 204. ■ The last oral defense of Philip Moss' dissertation is scheduled
- for 2:30 p.m. today in Ackert 324A. ■ Kansas Center for Rural Initiatives will present "Capacity to Care" about understanding special needs populations from 11:30
- a.m. to 1 p.m. today in Union 204. ■ SPURS will meet at 8:30 p.m. today in Union 213.
- Apparel and Textile and Marketing Interest Group will meet
- at 6:30 p.m. today in Justin 253. Pre-physical Therapy Club will meet at 7:30 p.m. today in
- Adult Student Services will have a brown-bag lunch from 11
- a.m. to 1 p.m. today in Union Stateroom 1.
- Society of Women Engineers meets at 7 p.m. today in Durland 161.
- Career and Employment Services will have a workshop filling out government-application forms at 2:30 p.m. today in Union 206. It will also have a résumé-critique session at 3:30 p.m. today in
  - Mortar Board will meet at 6:30 p.m. today in Union 206.

The Kansas State Collegian class postage is paid at Manhattan, Kan., 66502. (USPS 291 020), a student newspaper at Kansas State POSTMASTER: Send address changes to Kansas State Collegian, circulation desk, Kedzie 103, Manhattan, University, is published by Student Publications Inc., Kedzie Hall 103, Manhattan Kan., 66506. The Collegian is school year and once a we through the summer. Second-

Kan. 66506-7167.

© Kansas State Collegian, 1994

WEATHERDR

YESTERDAY'S HIGHS AND LOWS

east. Much cooler northeast. Highs from mid-40s northwest to 65 to 70

A chance for showers north and

TODAY

A 30-percent chance for showers. Mostly cloudy. High around

TOMORROW I

A 40-percent chance for morning showers. High 45 to 50.

HEAR YE! HEAR YE! Apply for next semester's Collegian

re you a good writer? Do you have media experience? Are you reliable and enthusiastic?

The Kansas State Collegian is now accepting applications for editor-in-chief and advertising manager for spring 1995. The deadline for these applications is 5 p.m. Friday, Nov. 11.

Interviews for ad manager will be at 8 a.m. Tuesday, Nov. 15. Interviews for editor will be at 8 a.m. Tuesday, Nov. 22.

Applications for other advertising staff positions are due by 5 p.m. Friday, Nov. 18, and applications for other news positions are due by 5 p.m. Wednesday, Nov. 23. Apply for:

- desk editor columnist
- photographer
- graphic artist
- · copy editor
- · staff writer
- · ad representative · and more

Job descriptions are available in 103 Kedzie Hall. All applications are available in and should be returned to 103 Kedzie Hall from 8 a.m.-5 p.m. Monday through Friday. Please include supporting materials with your application.

Don't miss this opportunity to work on the awardwinning sixth largest morning daily in Kansas.

CANSAS STATE 103 Kedzie Hall (east of the Union)

we've been there before; we'll be there again

WE'RE BACK! Organizations

Through Nov. 9 from 6-10 p.m. in McCain 324

Tuesday, Nov. 8

Human Ecology Ambassadors 6:00 p.m. Mortar Board Senior Honorary 5:20 p.m. ASME 6:40 p.m. Ultralites Multi Dance Team 7:00 p.m.

Alpha Gamma Epsilon 7:20 p.m. Wheat State Agronomy Club 7:40 p.m. Collegiate FFA 8:00 p.m. Sailing Club 8:20 p.m. Phi Eta Sigma 9:00 p.m. Alpha Phi Omega 9:00 p.m. Circle K International 9:40 p.m.

The 1995 Royal Purple portrait photographers are going to take a shot at you.

You may still reserve your copy of the 1995 Royal Purple at your sitting. Questions? Call 532-6557.

Aaron Austin, Junior in music, is a leader at K-State. He is a resident assistant as well as a multicultural ambassador.

Becoming a role model Residence assistant as leads as multicultural ambassador

JENNIFER PETERSON

This is the second in a series about K-State student leaders.

Describing himself as short, round, bald and black, Aaron Austin, junior in music, is a modest, effective and wellrespected K-State leader.

Austin claims to be the sixth of the Mighty Morphin Power Rangers, is possibly one of Prince's hugest fans ever and is a talented musician.

"Aaron Austin is the biggest fan of the Mighty Morphin Power Rangers. He is a religious follower," John Danos, Goodnow Hall director, said.

ranger," Danos said. Not only does Austin worship Power Rangers, he is also a serious Prince fan.

"Prince is my man. All hail Prince," Austin said.

In between idolizing Prince and tuning into the Mighty Morphin Power Rangers, Austin has taken on several leadership roles.

Uneasy when talking about himself, Austin said leadership positions just seem to come to

"It's weird how I've gotten into leadership. I don't take immediate charge, people just seem to come to me for advice," he said.

Austin is a resident assistant in Goodnow Hall on the Fast Track

Fast Track floors are designed to help new students ease into college life, Austin said. Austin said he handles residents in a thoughtful way.

"I don't try to act like their parents or the Gestapo by screaming and yelling at them. "I am a big talker, but I don't talk down to them because "He claims he is the real black that's one of my pet peeves," he

"In my experience supervising him, I have seen him handle everything with a heck of a lot of perseverance and hard work," Danos, Austin's supervisor at Goodnow, said.

Danos said Austin's sense of humor helps him relate to the

"He is very open and friendly, and he has an amazing sense of him to come to K-State. humor," Danos said.

"He puts the stress of college life in perspective with his humor," he said.

In addition to being a resident assistant, Austin also promotes K-State by being a multicultural student ambassador and a tour

The multicultural ambassadors is a new program, Austin said.

He said the ambassadors give the students of color someone to look at, so they don't feel like they're going to be the only multicultural person at the University.

When giving prospective students tours of K-State, Austin tells students that they'll get out of K-State what they put in it.

"If you go to college, you can study all the time and get a good GPA, but you'll only learn what's in the books," he said.

Austin's decision to come to K-State had a lot to do with one of his role models at the University, Bernard Franklin, assistant dean of student life. Austin said he had planned to go to Wichita State University, but Franklin's recruiting persuaded

He said Franklin called him during the summer at least once a week telling him he really wanted him to come to K-State and helping him out with scholarships.

Austin recently performed in the Ebony Theater play, "Fires in the Mirror," but he said he does not feel very secure in acting. K-State Choir and K-State Opera Theater are two activities that Austin is involved in that put his musical talents to use.

"He is an incredibly gifted musician," Danos said.

Vocal performance is what Austin really wants to do in the

However, he said that he would also like to get a music education degree because his music teachers had such an enormous influence on him. Austin said he had considered not majoring in music, but last semester he talked to his old highschool music teacher and realized that nothing meant as much to him as music. "Doing what makes a person happy and helps someone else is success," Austin said.

► FACULTY

Foreign media struggle in new system

BROOKE GRABER FORT

A journalism professor who spent six months in Czechoslovakia and Slovakia said journalists in the formerly communist countries are struggling to find their way in a new democratic society.

Robert Daly, associate professor of journalism and mass communications, spoke Monday at the Ramada Inn as part of the Vernon Larson International Luncheon

The series is sponsored by the International Programs. "The biggest story of the century started five years ago this week when the Berlin Wall came down," Daly said.

The fall of the Berlin Wall marked the beginning of the end of communism. Czechoslovakia and Slovakia became two separate countries Jan. 1, 1993.

CLOSED CLASS LIST

"Seventy-five percent of people in both republics didn't want to split. It was a political move, which was probably a bad political move, especially for Slovakia," Daly said.

He said Slovakia, with 5 million people, is known as the poorer sister country to Czechoslovakia, which has a population of about 10

Czechoslovakia controls 75 percent of the wealth, he said. The average monthly wage in Czechoslovakia is $240, whereas it is $185 in Slovakia. The two countries together are smaller than

"If you were to put both countries together and put them in Kansas, roughly 40 percent of the state would be covered," Daly said.

American influence by way of mass media has spread to the two countries, he said. "Television is pretty much everywhere. They have news, but most of it from another country or

He likened the end of communist restrictions to the civil-rights movement of the 1960s.

"I see a great deal of what we had here in the 1960s when the young people turned the country around," Daly said.

He said the people of the two countries were interested in Americans.

"The question most people asked was, 'What was Madonna like?' I don't even know Madonna," Daly

He said he had mentioned lived in Oregon, and people asked questions about Tonya Harding.

However, more people read in Czechoslovakia than in America, he

"The literacy rate in both countries is 99 percent," Daly said. Czechoslovakia has 283 daily newspapers, he said, which is similar to Kansas, which, with 300 daily newspapers, has one of the highest number of newspapers in the country.

Daly said talking with other journalists was the best part of his

"I truly believe journalism is a cornerstone of democracy," he said. During his discussions with journalists, one of the main topics was ethics, Daly said.

"They have a sense of what should be done, but they don't know how to do it," he said.

He said this is one of the problems of forming a free press. "Problems arise when you try to turn communism into democracy when it doesn't have a traditional background," Daly said.

Daly said he spent time relaying the American journalistic views to the Czechoslovakian and Slovakian journalists.

They don't understand that you don't have to run a front-page article just because an advertiser paid for a large ad," he said.

Aggieville • 776-8770

Golden Key National Honor Society

· New members pick up certificaters in Bluemont Hall 013/(or BH013)

Officer elections will be Nov. 15 at 6:30 p.m. in Union Little Theatre

If you

canned goods, toiletries, or household products, to the

homeless through the

Collegian, you will receive

THANKS

and $1 off any classified ad in the Collegian through the end

of December.

Contributions go to Manhattan Emergency Shelter and Flint Hills Breadbasket

Bring items to the Student Publications Inc. office in Kedzie 103

00220 05810 33000 34572 10670 14360 16310 00840 05820 10680 14370 16500 21910 25440 30520 33100 34573 01060 05830 10690 14380 16560 22070 25450 30540 33120 34681 01370 10700 06010 14390 16860 22100 25470 30910 33150 35190 01920 06130C 10710 14400 17050 22110 25611 30920 33170 35260 01940 06170 10720 14640 17060 22210 30930 35290 25630C 33180 01970 06310 10730 14700 17550 22430 25650 30940 33190 35310 01980 06330 10740 14760 17770 22490 25720 30980 33200 35350 02000 06380 10830 14860 17880 22540 25750 31100 33210 35790 02500 06390 10840 14950 18280 23350 25770 31110 33230 35950 02710 06400 10850 14980 18300 23370 26800 31120 33260 35960 02930 07130 11021 14990 23380 31180 18320 26810 33270 36141 02940 07220 11530 15000 18340 23680 26820 31190 33340 36321 02950 07310 11560 15010 18370 23710 26830 31240 33350 36420 02960 07320 12330 31280 36460 15020 23760 26840 33380 18380 02970 07330 12380 15030 23770 31570 33450 18500 27170 36590 02980 07450 12440 15040 19140 24630 27190 31630 33570 36770 02990 07480 12450 15050 19150 24720 27200 31640 34070 36970 03000 07620 13430 15120 19160 24730 27210 31660 34190 37920 03010 08540 13790 15180 19170 24740 27220 31670 34230 38340 03020 08550 13930 15240 19200 24910 28150 31690 34270 80230 03030 08560 13950 15290 19210 24980 28160 31700 34310 80920 03040 08710 13960 15350 19220 25070 28270 32730 34340 03050 08760 14000 15390 19250 25180 28300 32750 34390 03060 08780 14010 15400 25210 19320 28340 32780 34420 03430 09130 14020 15420 19400 25220 28390 32790 34430 03460 09410 14050 15450 19670 25230 28420 32810 34440 03591 10100 14070 15480 19690 25270 28780 32850 34450 14100 15490 25280 03592 10120 19820 29010 32870 34460 03720 10180 14110 15570 19850 25300 32880 30060 34470 05460 10310 14170 15830 21060 25320 30090 32920 34520 05540 10320 14190 15860 21110 25350 30130 32930 34530

10660 C - Canceled class

10330

10640

10650

14250

14260

14270C

14280C

15960

15980

16070

16210

05580

05780

05790

05800

Updated 5:09 PM, November 7, 1994

30150

30210

30320

30370

32940

32950

32980

32990

34540

34560

34570

34571

*Closed class list also available in Unicorn

21120

21190

21590

21680

25360

25370

25400

25410

CAMPUS EDITOR.....J.R. Prather AAE/FEATURES EDITOR .. Andrew Tomb SPORTS EDITOR ...... Wess Hudelson GRAPHICS EDITOR......Sara Smith COPY CHIEF ...... Robin Kickhaefer CITY-GOV. EDITOR.....Lola Shrimplin ASST. SPORTS EDITOR...Jeremy Crabtree ASST. PHOTO EDITOR .. Mark Leffingwell

AD MANAGER ..... Ryndell Little ASST. MANAGER.....Ted Ellet SALES MANAGER....Jim Stothard TEARSHEETS MGR...Ivonne Zaldumbide NEWS ADVISER ...... Ron Johnson AD ADVISER ......Gloria Freeland

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

IN OUR OPINION

By the Collegian Editorial Board

Vote 'Yes' for Manhattan economic plan

Manhattan must make economic development a priority.

Today, you can cast a vote to help make Manhattan and the K-State community a friendlier place for businesses to locate in. To do that, you must vote yes on Question No. 2.

Even though the question is for a half-cent sales-tax increase, the benefits it brings to Manhattan go beyond the tax itself.

The money from this tax increase will be used to hire someone at K-State to negotiate and encourage businesses to come to the Manhattan area.

A yes vote also encourages business to locate in the area. This signals that Manhattan is ready for businesses to come to town.

If businesses relocate to

KRISTIN

BRIGHTON

Manhattan, this helps everyone. New businesses would create full-time jobs for Manhattan residents, as well as parttime jobs, internships and research possibilities for everyone at K-State.

Another reason to vote for Question No. 2 is that money would go into the Kansas Entrepreneurial Center. This center is available for entrepreneurs who need some extra help in a business venture.

And after four years, the tax will sunset or end. Many proponents of the project believe if it doesn't work after four years, then there is no need to continue to try.

Vote today. Vote "yes" on Question No. 2.

AARON

UTTO

TOLES

Childhood-safety tips don't always work

My parents told me all the things good parents tell their children to protect them against kidnappers.

You know, stuff like if a stranger said he was supposed to pick me up at school, I was to ask him for the family keyword. (Our keyword was the name of my reading book in second grade: Touchstone.)

My mom has always been, and continues to be, a true crime fanatic. CNN and Court TV are her addictions, and she prefers crime movies more than any other form of entertainment. (She was one of the first and the few people in Manhattan to see Kathleen Turner's movie "Serial Mom." The thought of it still scares me

Anyway, she always harped on me about being cautious of strangers. My family always watched Sunday night movies about kidnappers and had long discussions about what to do if someone ever tried to nab us.

Because of her, I have always been interested in kidnapping cases. I cannot imagine the insanity it would take to kidnap a child and kill it. Let alone their own child.

When Susan Smith first reported her children missing two weeks ago, I was just horrified at her tale. I grieved for her, embarrassed to be watching her family's anguish on "American Journal," but interested in the details of the case. I figured the specialists were right, any simple carjacker would panic and abandon the kids at a shelter or something. But they never turned up, and the FBI and police began to look at the family. I felt so sorry for them, to have to be enduring such a horrific loss, only to be persecuted by accusations. I was disgusted about the fact that she was forced to take a lie-detector test. Knowing that such tests are often considered unreliable, I waved off the fact she failed it. Who could arrange for their kids to be kidnapped? If anything, I figured the father did it in some weird custodybattle move. I watched the estranged couple, holding each other's hands, seemingly reunited by fear, tell the nation on "The Today Show" they couldn't believe anyone would accuse them of undermining such an act.

Then, on a freak chance I would watch the evening news, I heard she confessed. The pressure got to her. She killed them herself. My stomach turned a flip-flop, and I felt a desire to call Mom and go off about that bitch.

I wanted to personally tie her to the back seat of a car (not mine of course, just a car) and roll her into the muddy waters of some lake. (Kind of reminds you of Norman Bates, eh?)

Now it seems she killed her children because of selfish reasons. The New York Times reported Sunday she may have killed them because her lover had sent her a "Dear John" letter, saying he "was not ready to assume the important responsibilities of being a father.'

Imagine the guilt he must be thinking: this woman he was involved with rolled her Mazda into a lake and drowned her helpless, seat-buckled children, all in the name of love.

Smith picked a bad week to confess. On this same day, a jury in Florida sentenced pro-life murderer Paul Hill to death by the electric chair.

On Friday, a father in Denver was given 96 years for fatally beating his 8-year-old with his fists, a pipe and a wooden stick.

Smith, and any parent with the lack of respect for the life they created, should get the same sentence Hill did. Her crime, as well as that of Rowell, was far worse than Hill's.

He at least tried to make a point — a sick one, and by insane methods, but a reason for his actions. Smith only had a selfish point. Hopefully, South Carolina can set a precedent by sentencing her to death.

She hasn't seemed like one to suffer much from the guilt life in prison should promote. After all, she led the ENTIRE nation on a roller-coasterish, wild-goose chase. I just hope she didn't give anyone else ideas, or make the public afraid of wolf-crying the next time a child is nabbed.

My parents scared me of the bad guys. Now kids are going to have to wonder if they can even trust Mom and Dad

Kristin Brighton is a sophomore in mass communications

History shows that one vote counts

Today is the big day. It has finally arrived. It is election day 1994. This is the one day of the year when your one vote really can make a difference.

Now, I am sure some people believe that their one vote doesn't matter, so why even bother casting one? Well, instead of telling you how important it is for you to use the privilege of voting to express your opinions, I would like to point out some examples where a small number of votes made the difference. A lot of these cases were decided by only one vote.

On the international level: ■ One vote caused King Charles I of England to be beheaded in 1649.

■ One vote made Adolph Hitler head of the Nazi Party in 1923

One vote changed

France from a monarchy to a Republic in 1875. ■ One vote decided that Americans would speak English rather than German in 1776.

On the national level: ■ One vote made Texas part of the United States

■ One vote saved President Andrew Johnson from impeachment in 1868

■ One vote saved the Selective Service System only 12 weeks before Pearl Harbor in 1941. One vote admitted California in 1850, Oregon in 1859, and Idaho and Washington in 1890 into the

One vote elected Rutherford B. Hayes to the presidency in 1877.

■ One vote elected Thomas Jefferson president

■ One vote elected Woodrow Wilson president by carrying one state by less than one vote per precinct in 1916.

■ If you changed 50,000 out of 50 million votes nationwide in the 1980 Senate elections, the Democrats would have been in the majority. The Republicans ended up winning the majority with 53

■ If you changed one vote in every voting location in the United States, Richard Nixon would have been elected president in 1960. John Kennedy won the election by less than 100,000 votes out of almost 64 million votes cast nationwide.

On the local level:

■ One vote gave the Democrats a 63 to 62 member majority in the Kansas House of Representatives in 1990. If only four votes in one State House of Representatives district were different, the Republicans would have had a 63 to 62 member majority.

One vote in Lincoln defeated a school-bond expansion question on the ballot.

■ In 1984, if you would have changed 44 votes in the Manhattan-Junction City Kansas senatorial district, Rod Olsen would have been elected. Instead, the incumbent was re-elected.

■ If you would have changed 12 votes out of 5,000 cast in 1986, Katha Hurt would have defeated Ivan Sands for state representative, which represents western Manhattan.

■ Two years ago, if you would have changed 13 votes in the K-State student body presidential race, Fred Wingert would have been elected over Ed

These examples should be ample evidence that one vote really does matter. Now, let's take a look at what will happen if you don't go and vote for the candidate or issue of your choice and it turns out to

According to Kansas law, if there is a tie in a race for the state Legislature, then it is up to the Board of Canvassers to decide what method will be used to select the winner. Possible options include playing a hand of poker or flipping a coin.

In Arizona, the Speaker of the Arizona House of Representatives lost his own seat when he tied with his opponent, and they played a game of poker to determine who would serve. He lost on a pair of

In Indiana, the state House of Representatives had an equal number of Democrats and Republicans, so the two parties had to share power, with one party in control of the speaker's office and the other serving as committee chairs. Then they reversed positions the next month.

If an issue on the ballot ties, then it does not pass. It needs 50 percent of the vote plus one.

This year, Manhattan residents are faced with many good and very tight races for office and issues on the ballot. Many people believe the gubernatorial race, 2nd congressional District race, the 66th House District race (eastern Manhattan) and the jail building and sales-tax increase issues all will be very close elections. So don't let the toss of a coin or a hand of cards decide your future and who serves in office. Take five minutes out of your busy schedule today and vote.

Aaron Otto is a sophomore in political science and

READERS WRITE

Drop letters off at Kedzie 116 or send them to Letters to the Editor, c/o John Meirowsky, Kansas State Collegian, Kedzie 116, Manhattan, KS 66506. We accept letters by e-mail also. Our address is letters@spub.ksu.edu. Letters should be addressed to the editor and include a name, address and phone number. A photo identification will be necessary for hand-delivered letters.

BLOODMOBILE

K-State beat KU, again

Congratulations K-State, you beat KU again to retain the traveling trophy for the most units of blood donated on campus! The score was 659 to 542, with K-State being the winner.

We would like to express our appreciation to the K-State and Manhattan communities for their participation in the American Red Cross Bloodmobile, October 3-7 on the K-State campus. Though we did not reach our goal, which was 659 units collected at the fall Bloodmobile, there were 730 people who came out to the Bloodmobile and 71 units deferred.

We would also like to thank the Kansas State University Association of Residence Halls and all those who made it possible to expand and have the Bloodmobile located at Derby Dining Center again.

Reita Currie Kelley Fink KSU Bloodmobile coordinators

REC CENTER

Just students — no exceptions

The recent vote to allow Cessna employees use of the Chester E. Peters Recreation Center was a poor idea. Last year, as a member of the Recreational Services Council, we voted on allowing a small state department the use of the Rec center. They would have paid for the service, either the faculty rate or the alumni rate, I can't remember which. However, we voted down the request - not because they wouldn't be paying enough, nor because they would overcrowd the

Rec. (I think at most only 20 people were involved.) We did that because we did not want to set a precedent of allowing state agencies access to the Rec. The Rec is paid for by the students for the students. It is not a public athletic center. By not allowing that state agency access to the Rec, we kept from setting a

BILL SMEED

Keep the Rec in the hands of the

those who paid

students -

for it.

precedent that could have potentially allowed any government agency access to the Rec. In your editorial

Friday, you said allowing Cessna employees access to the Rec was a good trade because of jobs and internships being provided to students and further attraction of other businesses to Manhattan. Brad Finkeldei said in a Collegian article Thursday that Cessna would have ties with the engineering and business departments. The way I see it, many businesses in Manhattan already have ties with K-State.

K-State co-exists with Manhattan. Allowing Cessna employees access to the Rec sets a precedent. That is something that really would cause overcrowding at the Rec and would take the Rec away from the students. Finkeldei said that they can cut off the deal if it is seen as a problem. I suggest that it is a problem, and should be cut off immediately. Keep the Rec in the hands of the students — those who paid for senior in computer engineering and computer

Bill Smeed

CHEATING

Department cheated innocent students

The cheating incident in biology makes me angry. The cheating by the students is reprehensible. But what about the cheating by the biology department? If these cheating incidents have been going on for years as appears likely, given the story in the Collegian, the biology department has cheated thousands of earnest and innocent students who worked diligently in the class. They were cheated by the depreciation of the integrity of the course. And they were cheated by the devaluation of the meaning of a degree from Kansas State University. The biology department has embarrassed the entire University.

I find it hard to believe that an instructor can be so naive to think it is OK to give the identical exam to 70 to 100 students at noon as you give to 600 students in the evening, especially when the exam consists of only 15 to 20 multiple-choice questions. A biology instructor was quoted as stating that this shows how the student body has changed. Nonsense! I have been at K-State for 25 years, and believe me, the same thing would have happened in the 1960s or 1970s had the biology department been so negligent at that time. And the same thing would happen today at any large university in the United States.

Another instructor in the biology department was quoted as stating that it is too much trouble to make up a separate exam for the make-up exam. If that is the case, the instructor should either refuse to give makeups or should be removed from teaching the course. The K-State biology department is at the forefront in research performance at K-State. I do not believe that there is a necessary tradeoff between teaching and research at a major university. However, this incident certainly gives ammunition to those who disagree. If it is too much trouble to prepare a separate make-up examination in a class involving 700 students, the biology department is not spending enough time at teaching.

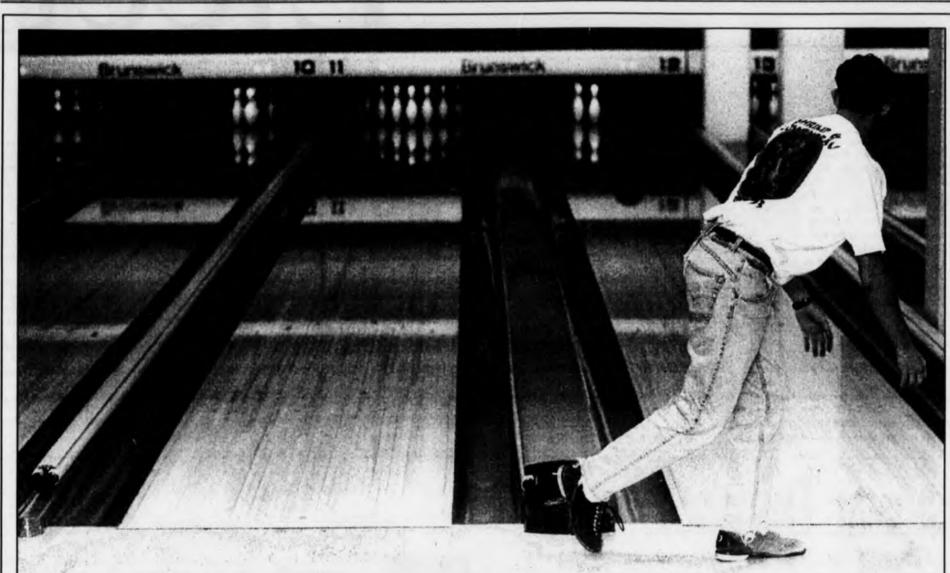

Lloyd Thomas professor in economics

The opponent for K-State's basketball exhibition opener on Nov. 8 has been changed from the Croatia National Team to Shahter, a club team from the republic of Russia.

The Croatia team K-State was scheduled to play cancelled its trip to the United States because it is still involved in European Cup play. Duane Woltzen, who schedules the international games for the Universal Sports Accord, said the Shahter team is one of the top five teams in the Republic of Russia.

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

NOVEMBER 8, 1994

Bowlin', bowlin', bowlin'

CARY CONOVER/Collegian

Tony Meli, sophomore undecided, rolls the ball down the lane Sunday afternoon during the intramural bowling tournament in the Union. Meli and his fellow members of Pi Kappa Alpha intramural bowling team were playing the Moore III team. The tournament concludes next Sunday at the Union.

"If Chad May was at UCLA, ne'd be getting twice the notoriety he's getting at K-State. He's a good football player no matter where he is."

> JIM WALDEN Iowa State coach

▶ BIG EIGHT COACHES

ay impresses coaches

CRESTON KUENZI

In the wake of being named a national finalist for the Johnny Unitas Golden Arm Award, Chad May seems to be getting more and more recognition.

However, after seeing him in person, Iowa State coach Jim Walden said May deserves even more.

"If Chad May was at UCLA, he'd be getting twice the notoriety he's getting at K-State, Walden said. "That's kind of a shame. "He's a good football player no matter where he

In fact, Walden said K-State, along with some other teams around the nation, aren't given the respect they deserve. "Let's face it, the world has not yet caught up with Kansas State," Walden said. "They don't let the new kid have much slack for a long time.

"We would rather give a 6-3 Michigan team a spot in the top 20 than a 7-1 Colorado State team unless we're forced to."

Missouri coach Larry Smith said he doesn't agree with the statement that May doesn't get any

"I think he's getting a lot of respect right now," Smith said. "I don't think it makes a difference whether you're west coast or whatever."

Smith said May reminds him of a quarterback in

"I coached against John Elway for four years," Smith said. "He doesn't have as quick of a release as Elway, but he's got every bit as much strength.

"He's just a great quarterback, and he's really doing it all."

Chad May was named the Big Eight offensive player of the week with 26 of 36 passes completed for 312 yards and four touchdowns with one interception.

■ Missouri coach Larry Smith said it's too early to tell whether quarterback Jeff Handy will be able to play against K-State.

"I think he's coming along," Smith said. "He couldn't end practice yesterday, so we'll just have

Smith said he received a concussion in the first half after he threw an interception and was then blocked onto the turf.

■ Big Eight defensive player of the week was Colorado defensive tackle Shannon Clavelle, who had 15 tackles and two sacks.

Clavelle won in a split vote over K-State defensive end Nyle Wiren.

■ K-State reserve linebacker DeShawn Fogle underwent knee surgery Monday as a result of an injury he received against Iowa State.

Fogle will be out four to six weeks. Fogle sustained the injury when he collided with Wiren on a quarterback sack.

Cowboys down Giants behind Smith's game

ASSOCIATED PRESS

IRVING, Texas - Emmitt Smith ran for 162 yards and two 1-yard touchdowns, helping the Dallas Cowboys to a 38-3 lead over the New York Giants early in the fourth quarter in a Monday night game that turned weird just before halftime.

As the teams headed to the locker room and cheerleaders and halftime performers tried making their way onto the field, several players squared off in the end zone Cowboys receiver Michael Irvin and Giants safety Jarvis Williams exchanged words and Dallas safety James Washington even snatched a camera and its stand from a photographer and swung it at all comers The teams eventually went to their separate tunnels without incident, although Dallas receiver Alvin Harper had to be helped off with a sprained left knee sustained on the final play of the second quarter. Harper, who earlier had caught a 22-yard touchdown pass from Troy Aikman, landed on the knee after being hit by Giants' safety Tito Wooten while leaping to catch a long pass that fell incomplete as time expired.

Gator Bowl could be Cats' destiny

It's that time of year in the college football world.

As premature as it may seem, talk of postseason possibilities for K-State is already surfacing

Here's a scenario you may not have heard yet: K-State vs. Mississippi State in the Gator Bowl.

The payoff: a whopping $3 million. The Gator Bowl is a Tier II bowl. It falls directly behind the Orange, Sugar, Fiesta and Cotton bowls, which are all Tier I bowls.

And if for some odd reason, the Cotton Bowl decides to take an unranked Notre Dame team over a top-10 K-State squad, then I say the Gator Bowl will choose us.

Sounds outlandish? Not according to Lee Jones, a controller for the Gator Bowl, a game to be played on Dec. 30 in Jacksonville, Florida.

I made a phone call to the Gator Bowl at about 5:30 p.m. EST yesterday evening. I was hoping to get in touch with the executive director.

Instead I talked with Jones for about an hour.

Jones has absolutely no say in which team will face the No. 3 team from the Southeastern Conference in the Gator Bowl. He makes no decisions. His duties are strictly handling the money and compiling information for others.

Heck, Jones told me he sometimes even makes the coffee.

So why rely on his word? During the past few years, I've learned that sometimes the secretaries, the managers, the trainers, and yes, even the controllers are the best people to talk to.

DEREK

SIMMONS

They tend to be the eyes and ears of the But don't think he isn't football literate. either. He reeled off numbers and statistics that made my nead spin. Jones put it best when he said, "Keep in mind you are getting this information from a non-voting person, but a lion's mouth."

The Gator Bowl will select fifth out of the teams remaining in the Coalition Bowl Jones said it is rare for a top-10 team to still be around for them to take.

But K-State will still be around.

If the Wildcats can win their last three games, they would finish 9-2 and somewhere in the top 10 in the Coalition. Keep in mind that two teams ranked ahead of K-State in the Coalition, Texas A&M and Auburn, are not eligible for postseason

That puts the Wildcats at No. 8 right now. So, K-State should be a prime candidate for the Cotton Bowl, right? Sure, but I'll bet it will end up being Notre

The Fighting Irish, despite their mediocrity, are contracted to play in the Orange, Sugar, Fiesta or Cotton bowl every year. Naturally, they will play in the Cotton Bowl.

The Gator Bowl gets the next pick. My guess is that will be K-State.

'You guys are definitely on our list," Jones said. "We had a meeting this morning, and K-State was one of the teams mentioned. K-State has a quality program."

Some other teams mentioned by Jones were Virginia Tech (No. 14), Duke (No. 16) and Virginia (No. 20). One concern of the Gator Bowl is whether a team like K-State would travel well.

Notice how all the other teams mentioned are relatively close to Florida.

Making money is the name of the game. We know Virginia Tech will travel well," Jones said.

When I told him some 20,000 fans made the trip to Tucson, Ariz., last year for the Copper Bowl, he was quite surprised.

"That's really cool. I didn't know that," he said. "Thanks for giving me that information." Jones said the Gator Bowl will send letters of contact - which means they are interested - to schools on Nov. 21. He said K-State is on the list of recipients. I can guarantee you one thing: the Wildcats will not be playing in the Aloha or Copper Bowl this year. It's going to come down to either the Cotton, Gator or the Sun Bowl - in that order. But this guarantee needs an asterisk : beside it. K-State has to win its last three games. One loss will send the Wildcats packing for Honolulu.

SHANE KEYSER/Collegian

Jim Walden is restrained by receiver James Brooks. Walden was upset with a call in the first half.

▶ FOOTBALL

Iowa State coach upset with officiating Snyder, who complained to Big

out of context

Eight Conference officials after the Colorado game Oct. 22, said his comments during his press conference on Nov. 1 were taken to the Big Eight," Snyder said.

"Dialogue was exchanged, but no resign as coach of the Cyclones at the end of the season last Thursday.

His only winning season as coach at Iowa State came in his third season in 1989 when the Cyclones went 6-the Cyclones stands at 28-55-3.

Iowa State faces Nebraska and Colorado in the last two weeks of the season - not to mention its first

His overall record as coach of formal protest was made."

"I never filed a formal complaint

Walden announced he would to wait and see.

WESS HUDELSON

Jim Walden will be hanging up his Iowa State coaching whistle in two weeks.

So who better to complain about officiating?

"Let me see ... I'm quitting, right?" Walden said. "As far as I'm concerned, we haven't won a game, and I haven't seen one officiating crew that my team wasn't better than. Today was the most hideous thing I've ever seen."

Walden went into a tirade in the second quarter when Iowa State quarterback Todd Doxzon was slammed to the turf by defensive end Nyle Wiren. No penalty was assessed to Wiren, but Walden was flagged for a 15-yard unsportsmanlike conduct penalty.

Although Doxzon was uninjured, Walden said he could have been seriously hurt.

"That kid (Doxzon) could have gotten killed, broke his neck, and we didn't even get a call," Walden said. "It was the most flagrant thing I've ever seen.'

Wiren said the play was legal. "I just tackled him. There was nothing illegal," Wiren said.

"He kept running, and I didn't hear the whistle so, I put him Coach Bill Snyder said Wiren was only doing what he has been told to do in practice. "The officials didn't blow the whistle," Snyder said. "Nyle is taught to play until he hears the whistle, and that's what he did. The whistle should have been

Despite his displeasure with the play, Walden did not blame the incident on Wiren.

Walden said the officials are at fault for the play, and players aren't going to learn what they can and can't do if they aren't penalized.

"I don't blame the kid, but he should have been penalized,' Walden said. "How do you correct him? How

You gotta call that.'

"As far as I'm concerned, and I've kept quiet too long, but since I'm leaving there's nothing they can does he know he did wrong, when do about me," Walden said. "I think he picked my guy up and slam the refereeing in this league is dunked him, stepped on his head? atrocious. I might as well get it off my chest.'

winless season since 1930.

THE KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN'S VOTERS' GUID Electi

Graves,

candidate for Governor, Republican running mate Sheila Frahm

QUALIFICATIONS

Bill Graves' public career started when he became deputy assistant secretary of state. He was appointed assistant secretary in 1985. Graves became secretary of state in 1987 and has had leadership positions with the National Association of Secretaries of State. He also has a background in business working in the Graves

ISSUES

Crime is a big issue for Graves. He supported legislation in the Kansas Senate that created six new types of capital murder. He is reluctant to say that he would be in favor of applying it to juveniles. It would have to be done on a case-bycase basis. He said he is not in favor of any more gun-control legislation. He said he believes we should focus on enforcing the laws we have. He said we need to make sure punishment and serving time are experiences that encourage one not to return. He said thinks social and rehabilitation services are appropriate. He said he doesn't think the state is in financial shape to make great advancements. Graves said people who are incarcerated should be made to pay a small portion of restitution to their victims and a small portion of their rehabilitation.

The Kansas economy is another big issue in this election. Graves said the North American Free Trade Agreement has potential to benefit the state. He thinks trade barriers need to be lowered and a more favorable climate made for exports. He thinks it is important that we create a stable tax climate. He is in favor of enterprise-zone tax credits. This gives businesses an income-tax credit if they expand their business.

Another issue is health care. Graves said there should be an emphasis at restructuring health care on the state level. He said we need to assemble a task force of health-care providers, and we need to hold down the cost of medical malpractice insurance. One of his concerns is rural health care. He would be in favor of grants that would help rural areas to get good physicians.

The final issue is tuition. Graves said he believes the state of Kansas must be a better financial partner with community colleges and the Kansas Board of Regents' institutions. He would more fully fund universities to take pressure off students. He thinks there should be better management of the budget and believes that within those dollars there is enough money to take care of Regents' schools.

Slattery, candidate for Governor, Democrat running mate Carol Sader

QUALIFICATIONS

Slattery served in the Kansas House of Representatives from 1973 to 1979. In 1983, he was elected to the U.S. House of Representatives, where he served six terms. Slattery has a political science and law degree from Washburn University.

"I spent my first 21 years on the family farm. I have military, parenting and lawmaking experience. I have made thousands of decisions regarding public policy," Slattery said.

ISSUES

Jim Slattery said he puts a high priority on dealing with crime. He said he supports the death penalty as enacted by the Kansas Legislature. He said he is not in favor of imposing it on juveniles. Slattery said he would veto any additional gun control legislation. He said he is a strong supporter of the Job Corps Center in Manhattan. He said he believes we can do more to fight crime with community-based enforcement. He said he thinks criminals should have to pay restitution to their victims. Slattery said programs can be funded with money Kansas will receive with the passage of the crime bill. He said we can also get additional revenue from normal growth in state revenue. It also can be funded by doing a better job of collecting some $500 million in accounts receivable to the state.

Another issue is the Kansas economy. Slattery development: K said the North American Free Trade Agreement can it comes to at be of some benefit in the long term if the Mexican government honors its commitment to allow wages to flow up from Mexico. He was in favor of a short-term NAETALE Kansas needs international co wants to remo Slattery said ha much as 50 perc Another issa health care: $1 health-insurance expand health u

The final i committed to competitive we wage we'll loos rate of tuition i students out e governor he wo increase' fede

2ND CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT

Sam Brownback, candidate for 2nd Congressional District Representative,

Republican

■ QUALIFICATIONS

Brownback was Kansas secretary of agriculture for seven years. He served as a White House Fellow with U.S.

Trade Representative Carls Hills in 1990-1991. He taught agricultural law at K-State and served as city attorney for Ogden and Leonardville. He was also elected student body president at K-

Brownback said he will work to ensure America's military security, maintaining Fort Riley and by engaging U.S. military forces only when strategic and vital interests are at stake.

He said he will vote in favor for Congressional term limits. He also said he will limit his own service in the House of Representatives to 10 years and cut his own salary by 10 percent until the budget is balanced.

He supports capital punishment, as well as the three-strikes program, which would require longer sentences for criminals on their third offense. He also said he would like to see the privatization of federal functions, helping to ease the burden on taxpayers.

Brownback supports welfare reform that requires work and encourages families to stay together.

QUALIFICATIONS NOLAN SCHRAMM

Carlin. candidate for 2nd Congressional District Representative,

Democrat

John Carlin served as Kansas governor in 1979, and he was re-elected in 1983. He was also state representative from 1971 to

He started an international-trade consulting firm, Economic Development Associates. Since 1990, Carlin has served as the chief executive officer of Midwest Superconductivity

Inc., a Lawrence-based high technology firm. ISSUES

Carlin wants to put more emphasis on rehabilitation rather than incarceration.

He said prevention efforts should be aimed at why people turn to crime, and the focus should kind of paymer such as Wal-Mz be on stopping

issue, bedause

has it.

strength.

He said the

He also favo

He promise

Carlin also

and to keep th

66th District Kansas Representative

Ann Stevens, candidate for Kansas

Legislative representative for the 66th District, Republican

QUALIFICATIONS

Although Ann Stevens has never been in politics, she said she had a strong business

Assistant and Business Manager for the College Kansas. of Human Ecology at K-State and has been the owner and operator of a small business Stevens said she has strong people skills. She said she works well with people and has experience working with diverse multicultural Stevens said she also thought her business experience would help her in serving the district. Stevens said K-State was her No. 1 priority.

Other issues Stevens said she focused on were jobs, diversification of the economy and education for grades K-12.

Stevens said jobs and the diversification of background. Stevens serves as Administrative the economy would enable people to stay in

She said she understood the needs of the small businesses, and the needs of the University and higher education in the state.

Stevens said she promised to be honest, effective and available at all times. Encouragement and being asked to run for state representative influenced her decision, she said.

Stevens said she was raised in a rural area where she was taught to always give back to the community. She doesn't have money to give back to the community, but one thing she said she can give back is public service.

ANNETTE RIEDL

Sheila Hochhauser. candidate for Kansas representative for the 66th District,

■ QUALIFICATIONS

Legislative

Democrat

Sheila Hochhauser has been in the Kansas

House of Representatives for the past six Her record consists of votes for public- education.

school financing, more than 40 crime bills, a decrease in worker-compensation premiums, education wi tougher child-support laws and affordable child care, she said Hochhauser said she gained business experience by running her own law practice.

She said it is a sole practice that represents individuals and small businesses. ISSUES

Hochhauser said she has been a strong voice for the affordability of higher education.

that deserve families; Hoch Hochhause long as she wa the interest of

She said sl people encoura

KANSAS SECRETARY OF STA

Republican

Ron Thornburgh said he has worked in the Secretary of State's office since he was a college student. He has worked on various jobs ranging from a mail room clerk to assistant secretary of state. Thornburgh said he thinks his age is a big attribute to understanding the needs of college

ISSUES

One of the main principles that Thornburgh stands by is trying to keep government from putting too many regulations on private businesses

One thing that Thornburgh would try to create if elected to office is an electronic filing system for corporate records. Thornburgh also wants to take a comprehensive approach to involving young people in government.

Thornburgh said he will do everything in his power to ensure that taxes are not raised.

SERA L. TANK

candidate for Secretary of State, Democrat

OUALIFICATIONS

Although Fran Lee has never been involved in politics, she has been a teacher on Romper Room and a member of the State Board of Education.

ISSUES

Fran Lee said that if she is elected, she is going to fill the office and will not just be preparing for the next election.

Lee said she sees one of the main parts of her job as making sure all elections are fair and equitable. She said she wants to get young people involved and campuses.

Lee said o elected is to g funding foh Registration A to spread thei more Kandak young people active particips

Carla Stovall. candidate for Kansas Attorney General,

Republican

QUALIFICATIONS Carla Stovall was the Crawford County Attorney from 1985 to 1988. She served on the Kansas Sentencing Commission from 1988 to She is currently in private law practice with

Entz and Chanay in Topeka. ISSUES One of the big issues for Carla Stovall is crime. She proposes boot camps for juveniles and adults who commit nonviolent crimes. These camps would include harsh treatment, uniforms, and a very structured environment, much like a real boot camp, she said. Real marine drill instructors would help to instill discipline and a physical regiment, she

This system would be for those who can be turned, not for murderers or repeat offenders, she Instead of Washington state's three-strikes-and-you're-out plan, she would like to implement stricter sentencing guidelines. Stovall proposes a one-strike plan for murderers and two-strikes for sexual offenders, putting them in prison for life before they repeat Stovall said prison should be the penalty for drug dealers, but for juveniles, the focus should be on drug education and strict probation. She also said she supports the idea of private prisons, which would reduce costs for the state.

NOLAN SCHRAMM

Schodorf. candidate for Kansas Attorney General, Democrat

QUALIFICATIONS Richard Schodorf has spent the past eight years as Chief Attorney of the Consumer Fraud and Economic Crime Division of the District Attorney's office in Wichita. As prosecutor, he supervised the prosecution of more than 1,000 felony criminal

He also ran a title insurance company for

One of the main issues for Schodorf is

Instead of prison, Schodorf wants to put juveniles who commit nonviolent crimes in orange jumpsuits and make them work for the

VOTERS' GUIDE

He said g prison sends in prisons is victims on the Schodorf sent to the w flogging pun right ones Y addressed lim

He also licenses from He atsoss three or four year deal. Slattery said a governor who has national and nections to sell the state. He said he ve sales tax on new construction.

siwill cut car and truck taxes by as we being discussed in the campaign is ittery said Kansas needs complete e reform. He said Kansas needs to re-coverage for low income families.

ssue is tuition. Slattery said he is making sure faculty are paid a ige. If we don't pay a competitive the best and brightest. The current ncreases are pricing middle-income

f education, he said. He said as uld not let that continue. He plans to wal' funding for research and ansas ranks 48th in the country when taining research money from the sideath penalty is an irrelevant

the federal government already

d to fight to maintain Fort Riley

ne U.S. military at 12-division said everyone should make some it toward the coverage, including ne represents working families financial access to higher continues to rise, higher

Il be out of reach for these resaid she promised to run as

19. effective and clearly voted in e had strong support and that to have registration on college

ne of her first priorities if she is et the Kansas Legislature to pass the enactment of the Voter of 1993. Lee also said she wants Public Achievement Program to Schools. Lee said she supports and college students becoming utting nonviolent offenders in he wrong message because living nicer for them than it is for the hid the message that Singapore

orld fast summer with the caneshment for Michael Faye is the u' commit a felony and you get reposes to take away driver's

MOLAN SCHRAMM

SERA L. TANK

nts in politics.

mutside.

rediately.

uvenile offenders.

ports the death penalty.

ANNETTE RIEDL

ged her to run for re-election.

hauser said.

the district.

NOLAH SCHRAMM

ors.congressional term limits.

MIKE HIND

Duncan. candidate for State Treasurer, Republican

Randy

QUALIFICATIONS

Randy Duncan is a small businessman. In Salina, he is in the specialty-advertising business representing Western Associates Inc. He served on the Salina Area Chamber of Commerce board of directors and has been chairman of the Saline County Republican Party since

Duncan said the leading issue in the election concerns how his opponent, Sally Thompson, has managed the municipal investment pools. Duncan said according to the treasurer's records on June 30, 1994, about $24 million has been lost. Duncan said Thompson puts all of her eggs in one basket. He said she invests much of the money out-of-state in obscure federal agencies whose stock is hard to sell. He said he would put a greater emphasis on investing in Kansas, which he said would have less risks. He also said the maturity dates do not match Thompson's obligations.

In response to Duncan not having experience in investing other people's money, Duncan said to be an effective treasurer, a person must have administrative and managerial skills to operate a staff of about 60 people. He said there is a chief financial officer to help manage investments.

SUMMER RUCKMAN

Thompson, candidate for state Treasurer,

Democrat

QUALIFICATIONS

Sally Thompson is the current state treasurer. She is also a certified public accountant.

Before being elected to office, she was the chief operating officer at Shawnee Federal Savings & Loan in Topeka. As an active member in the community, she is the president of the Midwestern's Treasurers Association and is on the board of trustees of the Kansas Public Employee Retirement System.

■ ISSUES

Thompson said managing the municipal investment pool is a large responsibility of the state treasurer's office. For Riley County, she said she made about $1.5 million in interest.

Thompson said ideally she would want to invest the money in local communities.

She said for more than 30 years, there hasn't been enough people to absorb all of the deposits in banks.

Therefore, she said, the only way to loan it out is through purchasing federal-government securities, which is what opponent Randy Duncan calls investing out-of-state.

SUMMER RUCKMAN

NSURANCE COMMISSIONER

Ron Todd. candidate for Insurance Commissioner,

Republican

QUALIFICATIONS

Ron Todd has been the Kansas Commissioner of Insurance since 1990.

Todd received a bachelor's degree from the University of Kansas.

Before being elected Insurance Commissioner in 1990, Todd served as the assistant commissioner for 20

Todd is a member of the State Committee on Surety Bonds and Insurance, the State Health Care Commission, the Kansas Healthy Kids Corporation and the Kansas Healthcare Database Governing Board.

ISSUES

Todd said he wants to continue emphasis on reasonable regulation and aggressive pursuit of consumers' interests.

He said he has returned more than $17 million to consumers in disputed claims since he took office in

Todd maintains a consumer hotline, which people can call for assistance with an insurance related problem or question.

JULIE KRAMER

candidate for Insurance Commissioner,

Democrat

QUALIFICATIONS

Kathleen Sebelius has been a member of the Kansas House of Representatives since 1986.

Sebelius received a bachelor's degree from Trinity College, Washington, D.C., and a master's in public administration from the University of Kansas.

Sebelius is the former mayor of the Potwin Neighborhood Association and a member of Friends of Cedar Crest, Kansas KIDS COUNT and the Community Hunger Information Program.

She said she has worked on insurance issues for 16 years as a state representative. The commissioner must be a policy leader and consumer advocate, she said. The commissioner must be able to work with the legislature to develop policy positions, advocate an agenda and implement new laws, she said. She said her experiences have prepared her to to be an effective policy leader and consumer advocate.

ISSUES

Sebelius said she is the first candidate in Kansas history to refuse all financial contributions from the insurance industry. She said she wants to strive for an open office to keep consumers more informed.

She is in favor of funding the new jail through a

If the jail is funded through a property-tax increase,

Bammes is not in support of the other half-cent

The revenue raised from the increased sales tax sales-tax increase because she believes that it will be it will cost everyone more money over a longer period sales-tax increase for economic development that is on

RILEY COUNTY COMMISSIONER

Frey, candidate for Riley County Commissioner. Republican

■ QUALIFICATIONS

Russell Frey is a life-long resident of Manhattan and is a professor of nutritional physiology in the College of Veterinary Medicine at K-State.

Frey served for 15 years as department head for Veterinary Medicine and as president of the Kansas Veterinary Medicine Association in 1991

"I have experience in management and administration, and the bottom line is that I would have total commitment to the position. I would be willing to

Frey has also served as legislative liaison for the Kansas Veterinary Medicine Association for the last three years at the statehouse in Topeka.

This experience gave him insight into the processes that go into running state and local levels of government, Frey said.

ISSUES Frey is in favor of the proposal to expand the Riley County Jail. He said this is the best proposal because it will cost less money over a shorter amount of time. Frey said if the sales-tax increase is passed, the jail would be paid for in a little more than four years, but if it was funded through property taxes, it would take 20 Another issue Frey is supporting is the economic development sales-tax increase. The economic development sales-tax increase would raise $8 million during a four-year period, Frey said. After this time, the sales tax would drop off.

TRACEY STINSON

Nancy Bammes late for Riley County Commissioner,

■ QUALIFICATIONS

Nancy Bammes has been a resident of Manhattan for 37 years. She owns two businesses in Manhattan. Bammes ran in 1986 against Wilton Thomas and decided to throw her hat into the ring again because she thought there could be some constructive changes made on the commission.

■ ISSUES Bammes is in favor of the sales-tax increase to fund would help establish new businesses in Manhattan and expand current businesses, Bammes said. The city would then have the power to decide whom it loans money to and for how much the loan is cheaper for the community as a whole.

of time, Bammes said.

the ballot.

for, Bammes said.

Bammes wants to re-allocate funds from some departments to be used for projects for Riley County

Rural communities in Riley County are lacking recreational facilities such as baseball fields for area youth, she said.

TRACEY STINSON

62ND DISTRICT KANSAS REPRESENTATIVE

candidate for Kansas Legislative representative for the 62nd District,

Republican QUALIFICATIONS

Legislative representative. He is running unopposed. In the past, Glasscock has worked on a lot of crime

Kent Glasscock is running for his third term as the bills and concentrated on crime issues. ISSUES

Glasscock said K-State was his No. 1 priority. His second priority is funding for education K-12. Glasscock said the last two years have been difficult on public education, but that K-State has fared well.

Glasscock said his personal goal for the next two years is to get a fiscally sound budget and make the budget distribution-performance based.

This would mean that instead of just distributing money to different programs, the programs would have to prove that they were meeting their goals and needing the money.

Glasscock said he feels good about the general direction the Kansas Legislature has taken with crime

SACHA HANES

VOTERS' GUIDE

EDITORS' NOTE

The Kansas State Collegian does not endorse any candidates in today's elections. See Wednesday's Collegian for complete election coverage and results.

► NATION

Clinton rallies for Democratic gains

"We'll go forward. We don't want to go back. This country is in better shape than it was 21 months ago."

PRESIDENT CLINTON

ASSOCIATED PRESS

WILMINGTON, Del. - President Clinton delivered an impassioned election-eve plea for embattled Democrats, even as he braced for Republican gains.

"We'll go forward. We don't want to go back," he said at the end of an eightday campaign odyssey.

"They have no shame," Clinton said in an indictment of Republican tactics that he said have sowed midterm cynicism and negativism.-

His voice hoarse from campaigning, and with Hillary at his side for the final push, Clinton told audiences from Minnesota to Delaware on Monday, "This country is in better shape than it was 21 months ago.'

Clinton's last stop was a rally here for Senate Democratic hopeful Charles Oberly, the state attorney general who is waging an uphill challenge to veteran Republican Sen. William Roth. It was also an attempt to get air time in nearby Philadelphia and southern New Jersey to boost the campaigns of Democratic Sens. Harris Wofford of Pennsylvania and Frank Lautenberg of New Jersey.

"This election is going to be decided throughout this country by whether people wake up and act in the voting booth the way they want to act as parents, as workers, as business people, in their clubs, in their churches, in every other area of their lives," Clinton said.

"We know it is wrong to be negative, it is right to be positive ... It is right to be animated by hope," Clinton said.

In Wilmington, Hillary Rodham

Clinton danced on the platform with Oberly as a crowd of about 3,500 swayed along with them.

White House aides were mindful of polls suggesting Democratic momentum during the past weeks appeared to be ebbing and a GOP takeover of at least the Senate loomed as a real possibility.

"We fully expect to lose some seats in both chambers and that there will be stronger Republican support in both chambers," deputy chief of staff Harold Ickes said.

Democratic party chief David Wilhelm said loss of the Senate was a possibility on Tuesday, where Republicans only need to gain seven

Elections more costly than ever

ASSOCIATED PRESS

WASHINGTON Money may not buy love, but members of Congress - and their challengers - are banking on it helping them win their elections Tuesday.

The tone of the 1994 has been campaign overwhelmingly negative, and the cost of sending hundreds of insistently bitter messages has led to what certainly will be the most expensive election in history.

Overall, candidates and political parties spent almost $700 million through Oct. 19, according to Federal Election Commission records. Of that total, candidates themselves spent $449 million - an 18 percent increase over 1992.

And those figures don't include an avalanche of lastminute spending, including millions spent by interest groups running their own efforts to help or hinder candidates. Political action committees and other groups have already dumped more than $150 million into the Everywhere you look, there's spending going on.

"The bottom line is that money, more than ever, is the name of the game," said Ellen Miller, director of the Center for Responsive Politics, a watchdog group that monitors campaign spending. "No question this will be a record. There's been more competition, and voter anger has created more viable opposition candidacies."

Spending records already set, or virtually certain to be set, include:

The most expensive Senate race ever. In California, the land of costly television markets, incumbent Democrat Dianne Feinstein and Republican challenger Michael Huffington have combined to shell out more than $36 million.

- A record for private fund-raising. Oliver North, a key figure in the Iran-Contra scandal, has taken advantage of his extensive national fundraising network to rake in more than $17.6 million. On election eve, with several days worth of reports outstanding, North is about $100,000 behind the $17.7 million set by Sen. Jesse Helms, R-N.C., in 1990. Among North's last-minute backers: conservative radio talk show host Rush Limbaugh, whose $1,000 donation is recorded on a report filed Nov. 3.

- The most cash ever spent by a candidate on behalf of his own election. Huffington has tapped his personal oil and gas fortune for $27.8 million, to the virtual exclusion of all other funding sources.

But the spending spree oes far beyond North and Huffington. Independent organizations are spending small fortunes, and the Democratic and Republican parties had spent $228 million through the middle of last month.

"This avalanche of money is going into campaigns and to candidates that are not talking much about the issues," said James Thurber, an American University political scientist. "It undermines our democracy, in my opinion, because it certainly makes it difficult for the run-of-the-mill candidate to jump in and become part of the process."

Dole's future encouraging

SSOCIATED PRESS

WASHINGTON - Sen. Bob Dole may have a couple of busy years ahead, but he doesn't sound too worried.

The GOP minority leader hopes his party will win control of the Senate on Tuesday, setting him up to be majority leader. And he's considering a run for the presidential nomination in 1996.

On Sunday, Dole brushed off a suggestion that being majority leader and a presidential candidate might be too much to do at once.

"Well, if the president can be president and still run for president, l guess you can be majority leader and (run for president)," Dole said on NBC's "Meet the Press." "I haven't made up my mind on running for president."

Still, he said there was no doubt about running for majority leader if Republicans win enough seats and didn't blink when told a senator a bit back on the seniority list doesn't think Dole should try to be leader and candidate at

"He might be leader some time," Dole said of Mississippi Sen. Trent Lott. "But he can wait, you know."

▶ VIRGINIA

Republicans aim for majority

ASSOCIATED PRESS

Locked in a race as close and combative as any in the nation, Virginia Democratic Sen. Charles Robb and Republican Oliver North neared the finish line Monday in one of a handful of contests likely to determine control of the Senate.

At a noontime rally in Alexandria, Va., with Vice President Al Gore at his side, Robb attacked North and his conservative crusade. "We reject his appeal to intolerance ... we reject his contempt for the Constitution and the rule of North, the key figure in the Iran-Contra arms-for-hostages scandal, forecast his own narrow victory. "Turn out and vote," he said at a midday rally in Roanoke. "That's what's going to make the difference."

Whatever the outcome in Virginia, Republicans appeared poised for strong gains in the Senate on Tuesday as they aimed for their first majority since 1986. Democrats control the current Senate, 56-44.

GOP leaders were enthusiastic they would pick up the seven seats they needed to take control, focusing their attention on nine open races and strong contests against Democratic incumbents Jim Sasser in Tennessee, Harris Wofford in Pennsylvania and Robb.

David Carney, political director at the National Republican Senatorial Committee, predicted the GOP would win all the open seats and hold on to all its incumbents on the ballot. He said Republican challengers had a chance at toppling five or six Democratic incumbents.

"Turnout is going to be the key in many of our states whether we win or lose," said Don Foley of the Democratic Senatorial Campaign Com-

Democrats weren't exactly brimming with confidence.

Traveling with a campaigning President Clinton, party chairman David Wilhelm conceded the loss of Senate control was "absolutely" a possibility.

"We have to win a number of very close races," he said. Still, he added, "the real story today is the extraordinary number of races that are very, very close."

In Tennessee, Sasser trailed Bill Frist, a heart surgeon and political novice, in private Republican surveys. "For the last 18 years, Bill Frist has been transplanting hearts and lungs; for the last 18 years, Jim Sasser has been transplanting your wallets and you pocketbooks to Washington, D.C.," Frist said on the campaign tour.

Social Security figured in the final hours of Wofford's race with Rep. Rick Santorum in Pennsylvania, who suggested recently that the retirement age be raised to 70 for Social Security. "My opponent doesn't understand about people who worked their hearts out," the 68-year-old Wofford told a younger man as he set out on a dawn-to-darkness final day of campaigning.

Among the other close races: Minnesota. Michigan, California, and, of course, Virginia, where independent candidate Marshall Coleman was sapping strength from Robb more than North.

Kimball & Seth Childs Candlewood Center

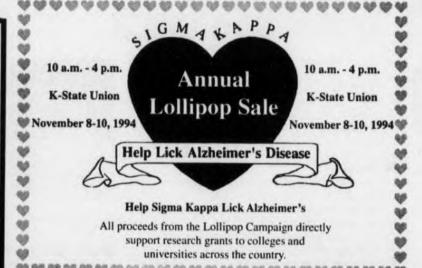

CHEESER! CHEESER! MEATSA! MEATSA! PEPPERONI! PEPPERONI! SUPREME!SUPREME! NOW GET - CAESARS SINGLES" ONE MEDIUM $5.99" ONE LARGE $7.99

Expires 11-24-94 61994 LCE. No.

OMICRON THETA CHAPTER KAPPA OMICRON NU Human Ecology Honor Society

rla Kay Boyd gy Brubaker ine Carol Byrns n Sue Clark Tracy Conkling y Lynn Coppinger sty A. Dudley pard Ellis Sarah B. Frank Staci Rene Franke

Congratulates the Fall 1994 Initiates Gregory Scott Freed Christine Motley-Irish Amy Janel Grecian Gina Mourick Jennifer Harrington Jenny M. Peacock Rita Harsch Cindy Ramsey Mary Elizabeth Johnson Holly S. Rezac Jacquelyn Roda Annie Onyee Kim Carolyn Suzanne Chil Soon Kim Ann Klostermann April Jean Scott Faye Koop Ju-Jean Shaw Julie Leet Mariah Dolsen Tanner Megan Melissa Theel Lauren Maggi Barbara McClasky Cherie Pizarek Trieb Bruce McGuire Lashone Rae Valle Kim McKay ludy Wagne Kimberly Mosier Evelyn Wray

9:30 a.m.-5:30 p.m.

Thurs. til 8:30 p.m.

537-8636

1100 Westloop Place

Manhattan, KS 66502

coming

R. Carlos Nakai and William Eaton

The Ying Quartet* Friday, November 18, 8 p.m.

Winner of the 1993 Naumburg Chamber Music Award, the Ying Quartet is a brothers and sister team of string virtuosos. For McCain audiences, the Yings will perform Mozart's "Hunt" quartet, Ralph Shapey's Quartet No. VIII, and Schubert's "Death and the Maiden."

R. Carlos Nakai and William Eaton* Friday, December 2, 8 p.m.

Nakai is a Navajo-Ute who honors tribal traditions while developing new musical expressions on his cedar flute. Eaton designs his own extraordinary instruments and composes music inspired by nature. The two come together to perform music that is haunting in its serenity and graceful in its simplicity.

Aladdin and the Magic Lamp Friday, December 9, 7:30 p.m.

An Arabian nights tale of a poor tailor's son, an evil sorcerer, the sultan's beautiful daughter, and a couple of genies. You won't need a flying carpet: the lively music, colorful costumes, and special effects will sweep you away!

For tickets call 532-6428 or come to the McCain box office. Box office hours: noon to 5 p.m. weekdays; from 1 p.m. before weekend matinees; and from 5 p.m. before weekend evenings. Tickets are also available at Manhattan Town Center customer service desk, K-State Union Bookstore, and ITR (Fort Riley). Persons with disabilities call 532-6428.

Presented in part by the Kansas Arts Commission, a state agency, and the National Endowment for the Arts, a federal agency. Events in the McCain Performance Series are supported by the K-State Fine Arts Fee.

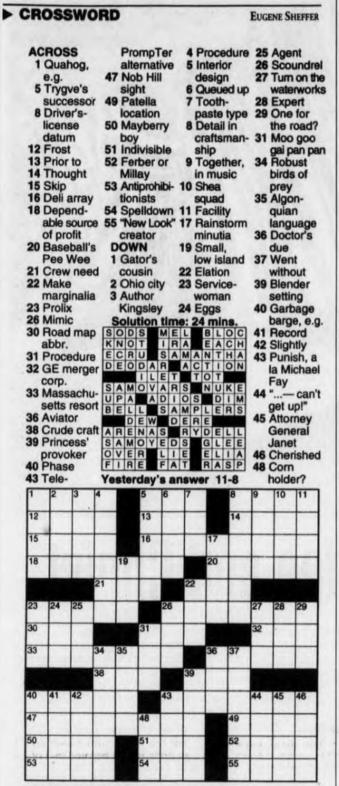

→ The Piano" — 8 p.m. in Union Forum Hall.

Thursday ● / The Piano" — 7 and 9:30 p.m. in Union Forum Hall.

The Piano" — 8 p.m. in Union Forum Hall. 1 "It Could Happen to You" - 7 and 9:30 p.m.

NOVEMBER 8, 1994

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

STUMPED? For answers to today's crossword, call 1-900-454-6873! 99¢ per minute, touchtone / rotary phones. (18+ only.) A King Features service, NYC. CRYPTOOUIP

VTOOAYZ VTHB HYTDBYOE BORY HO SY SWYEEYZ

T ROQSWYV DBAWZ. Yesterday's Cryptoquip: PATIENT WAS TICKLED PINK WITH HIS DOCTOR'S PAINS-TAKING MEDI-

Today's Cryptoquip clue: V equals M

CAL TREATMENT.

Reader asks for help with fathers death

Dear Cassandra,

This is my first semester at K-State and my first time living away from home. Two weeks before I was to move up here, my father died of a heart attack. It struck my family very hard, and I wasn't sure if I should come here.

My father and I were very close. He coach in sports, my leader in activities and my adviser in life. Lately, I've been thinking about him a lot. I think about all the times we will miss.

Other times, I get into fits of rage where I break everything in the house. I can feel these feelings building up inside, and I'm afraid that one day I won't be able to control it.

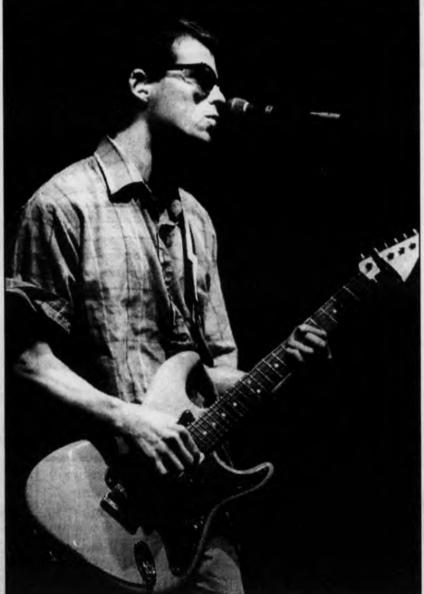

Could you please give me some suggestions on whom to talk to? I am looking for someone to explain my feelings and to tell me how to deal with them. Fighting the Edge

Dear Fighting the Edge,

Losing a parent is difficult. Feeling anty one minute and angry the next to be expected. It's going to take some time before you're going to feel better.

Don't keep all those feelings to yourself. Go to University Counseling Services in Lafene. It's confidential, and the first few are free. Also, rely on your family. Chances are, they are experiencing the same feelings.

STEVE HEBERT/Collegian

Rivers Cuomo, lead singer for Weezer, sings Monday night at Bramlage Collseum. Weezer and Fatima Mansions opened for Live. The concert was sponsored by Union Program Council.

Live music future is safe

Swarms of people rushed down the aisles, people broke out their lighters, and three bands rocked the stage at Bramlage Coliseum Monday night.

Live, Weezer and Fatima Mansions played to a crowd of 1,825 at the breakthrough music event of the

The lighting effects, sound system and management made the concert go over as a professional, top-notch production.

At first, I had high doubts and low expectations for the concert because the event was on a weeknight, the tickets were $15 and Manhattan is typically known as a country town.

The response of the crowd and the quality of the bands restored my faith in the possibility of a future for live music in Fatima Mansions kicked off the show to a highly unappreciative crowd who booed and hollered.

The lead singer was dressed in a white laboratory coat, white pants and a white shirt and put on an embarrassing display of stage antics

He looked like a lab scientist who took some of his own experimental drugs.

He jumped up and down on the stage and had more energy than a monkey on steroids, but the crowd just sat in its seats listening to the screaming vocals and screeching guitars.

Live opened for Fatima Mansions in the past, and now Fatima Mansions is opening for Live.

I had never heard of it before the show came to town, and now I know why.

Weezer provided a refreshing relief to the disappointing performance by Fatima Mansions. "Undone (The Sweater Song)" brought the crowd members out of their seats and sent them flooding down toward

The swarm stayed down by the stage for the headlining act, Live. Live opened with the hit song, "Selling the Drama." The spotlight shined on vocalist Edward Kowalczyk, while the rest of Bramlage was pitch black.

The fans responded to the the band's performance by holding up their lighters and swaying back and forth.

Live put on a solid performance. Everything came together perfectly, and the musicians had true talent and a classy stage presence. The vocalist earned respect from the audience immediately.

The band could go from a slow, mellow song about one of its friends who had died to a high energy, thrashing song about waitresses

Live performed exact replicas of the songs on its newly released compact disc, "Throwing Copper," played some works from its past album and also threw in a few new ones. Live also played one of the songs from Fatima Mansions, and the crowd went crazy. Live gave Manhattan a taste of what rock music is all about.

I think the fans proved there is a market for alternative and rock music here.

The Union Program Council hoped for 2,000 people, and the ticket sales came close to its goal.

The response of the fans showed that students are starved for this kind of music. Live seemed to draw life from the wave of positive energy that rushed over the crowd.

"Some bands would feel like they made it if they went to New York or L.A. I feel like we made it right here in Manhattan, Kansas," Kowalczyk said.

▶ COLUMN

Reviewer agrees with reader comments

n open letter of apology to anyone and anything I reviewed in the past year. I apologize for the negative and positive reviews I have written in the past year.

As many of my dear readers have kindly pointed out, my reviewing tactics are completely off-base and unfounded.

For instance, when I celebrated the New York City Ballet's performance in a review this September, I was just out of essence. I shouldn't have even written Strangely, I didn't get any criticism for my review, but low and behold, I just shouldn't have written it. Most of my readers feel that my negative reviews are badly written, but my positive reviews are good.

stand. Would it be better to let the performing arts in Manhattan go unnoticed and not written about?

RUSSELL

But, would it be fair to not review performances, saving them the public scrutiny of a bad performance or stealing from them much-needed

That would be a disservice to our readers. The readers of the Collegian need to be informed. from a critical standpoint, if an artistic event is worth spending their weekend money to see.

Besides, the readers of this paper are confident and intelligent enough to understand that reviews are critical commentary, not necessarily everyone's same viewpoint. It would be silly to take critical reviews personally. During the past year, I have been accused of leaving at intermission, not taking the time to research a topic, and of plainly not understanding what I was witnessing. I have never left a performance (except Robin Williams' "Toys"), and I get really tired of reading letters to the editor that assume such revolting trash. It seems like most letters to the editor are mini-reviews, offering insanely derisive, derogatory comments about reviews, all the while quietly pumping up their own performance or event.

I have read some pretty hilarious letters this past semester. One letter concerned something I didn't even mention in a review.

Then, of course, there are the whispers of gossip around various departments about my "credentials."

I guess you're right.

I don't have a degree in theater or musicfrom Juilliard or Yale. I guess that makes me amisfit. I just have no business writing about? anything.

Well, for everyone's information, my only; theater experience is not "a couple of plays in high school.'

My God, are people this desperate? Do artists? have a self-esteem problem?

You know, it's funny. I have often said the same thing about sportswriters. Hardly any of them have played professional sports, yet they write about them.

Even political writers on this paper - they? haven't run for office, so how can they write? about politics? When you think about it, no one on this paper.

is "professional," or comes neatly packaged with We're just a bunch of writers who write from a common standpoint and approach each subject open-mindedly, with no personal motive. Is that so wrong?

It's not like the Collegian can afford to hire classical-music editors, dance editors, etc. What we can do is offer some sort of insightful commentary from a common-person standpoint.

How many of the Collegian's readers have more than an average knowledge about the fine arts? Five percent? Maybe 10 percent? Surprisingly enough, the Collegian receives almost no letters about film reviews. Yet, we run film reviews practically twice a week. I guess if you're involved in an artistic event, you leave yourself open to criticism.

It's fine if you don't agree and decide to write a letter to the editor. But, I ask you to stop and take a breath and think about what you are writ-

Make sure your letter addresses the review and nothing else (i.e. personal attacks). Also, keep in mind your letter might be printed, thereby creating more publicity, good or bad, for the review and events in question. Whether you like it or not, there will be crit-

(Writer's note: if you write a letter to the editor about this letter, please follow the guidelines provided.)

A couple of members of the Fellowship of Christian Cowboys laugh during a meeting.

Dan Trevithick, senior in construction science and management, displays his beliefs through a band on his hat.

Cowboys congregate for coffee and Christ

PRUDENCE SIEBERT

Welcome to this week's version of FCC.

That's Fellowship of Christian Cowboys, and you can come for free.

We don't draw any lines, so come dirty or even unshaven.

It's the only Bible study where you can bring Copenhagen.

You'll smell leather, dust and a little horse sweat.

And drink all the coffee, or next week, you'll drink what's left.

We meet on Wednesdays at precisely 9 But if we ever started on time, it would be quite a shock.

We realize that sometimes life isn't all

But it's still worth living with love, hope and prayer.

Cowboys ain't all that God loves or is willing to meet, So bring some of your friends with you

By Dan Suderman, senior in animal sciences and industry and FCC vice president; written/read for the Oct. 19th Fellowship of Christian Cowboys isn't your usual worship hour.

"It's a little more unique," Dan Trevithick, senior in construction science and management, said. "You know Fellowship of Christian Athletes. It's the same here, it's just rodeo."

Dan Suderman, senior in animal sciences and industry, said FCC provides good environment for him and surrounds him with good people.

"I think a Bible study is a lot more than going through your Bible,' Suderman said

"It's the same about college. It's not all books. The kids that go to this are a real good influence," he said. "You might hold up doing something questionable because of the people you hang around."

Suderman, FCC vice president, said the group largely consists of agriculture

"Simply by circumstance, I spend most of my time with agriculture students," he said. "You ask people you're associated with to go. There's some engineers in there too, but the backbone has always been guys who are rodeoing."

Trevithick, FCC president, said most of the group are members of the Rodeo Club.

"I was on the rodeo team, and the guys I was hanging around with were already involved with it," Trevithick said. "A bunch of us in Rodeo Club got involved with it. Probably 95 percent either were or still are in Rodeo Club. Most still are." Suderman said the reputations of

vboys and FCC parallel

'Cowboys have a reputation to uphold lovin', fightin' and drinkin'," he said. "I suppose FCC has the same reputation to uphold. Lovin' the Lord, fightin' for the cause and drinkin' coffee.

Suderman said FCC had a bit of a Western idea to it.

"It's open to anybody with an interest in Western culture - or anyone," Trevithick said. "There's nothing saying you have to be rodeo riders.'

Suderman said anyone is welcome to

"It's a really relaxed atmosphere," he said. "It's nondenominational. You don't have to be Methodist or whatever. You just have to have a love for the Lord or a curiosity. The Lord will talk to anybody who is willing to listen.

"We sure wouldn't turn anybody away," Suderman said. "We encourage anyone who wants to come. We don't draw any lines."

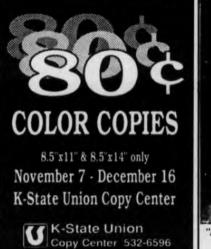

Music is usually a part of the ednesday night meetings

"Last week, we had three guitars, and we tried to sing songs," Trevithick said. "Brent Rempel (senior in park resources

■ See MEETING Page 10

THIS SPACE IS RESERVED (for you!)

Collegian Advertising 532-6560

Sat. 9 a.m.-2 p.

Earn $15 each time you donate plasma. MANHATTAN BIOMEDICA CENTER 1130 Gardenway 776-9177 Mon.-Fri. 9 a.m

PITCHERS

WEDNESDAY LUNCH

11 a.m.-1 p.m.

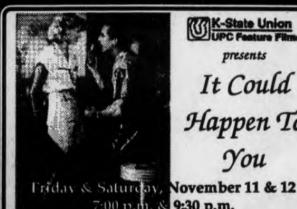

99¢ PEPPERONI PERSONAL PAN (NO 5 MINUTE GUARANTEE) 99¢ REGULAR ORDER BREADSTICKS 99¢ ONE TIME THROUGH SALAD BAR 99¢ LARGE SOFT DRINK

MIX & MATCH OR PICK ALL 4

OFFER GOOD WEDNESDAY ONLY AT THE AGGIEVILLE LOCATION ON DINE-IN ORDERS SORRY—NOT AVAILABLE FOR CARRYOUT.

AGGIEVILLE 1121 MORO 539-7666

NOT VALID WITH ANY OTHER SPECIAL OFFER+1/20 CENT CASH REDEMPTION VALUE • PIZZA HUT OF AGGIEVILLE 1992 • EXPIRES 8-15-94

K-State Union presents It Could Happen To

7:00 p.m. & 9:30 p.m.

You Forum Hall

November 9 8:00pm November 10 7:00 & 9:30pm Forum Hall

November 11 8:00pm Little Theatre

Piano

For more information, call the UPC Entertainment Line at 532-6570

K-STATE UNION

HALL ROOM 103

KEDZIE

LASSIFIEDS

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

20 words or less - $5 each word over 20 — $.20 per word

2 DAYS 20 words or less - $6.25 each word over 20 — $.25 per word

3 DAYS 20 words or less — $7.25 each word over 20 — $.30 per word

DAYS 20 words or less - $8 each word over 20 - $.35 per word

BOARD

Announcements

Broke?

Earn $15

each time

plasma.

you donate

MANHATTAN

BIOMEDICAL

CENTER

1130 Gardenway

776-9177

ADVANCED FLIGHT Train

ing from 5000-hour ATP instructor, Private

single-engine through ATP multi-engine. Hugh Irvin, 539-3128.

ANTIQUE SHOW AND SALE. Nov. 12 and 13, Sat. 10-6p.m., Sun. 11-4p.m. Pottorf Hall CICO Park. Sponsored by the Pilot Club of Manhattan.

Sat. 9 a.m.-6:30 p.m. Sat. 9 a.m.-2 p.m.

5 DAYS 20 words or less - $8.50 each word over 20 - $.40 per word

(consecutive day rate)

HOW TO PAY

ts must be paid in advanseemeds must be paid in sovance you have an established account udent Publications, , check, MasterCard or Vise are ad. There is a $10 service charge sturned checks.

on an returned checks.

We reserve the right to edit, reject or properly classify any ad.

HEADLINES

DEADLINES

Classified ads must be placed by noon the day before the date you was your ad to run. Classified display ads must be placed by 4 p.m. two working days prior to the date you want your to run.

FREE FOUND ADS As a service to you, we run to for three days free of charge. CANCELLATIONS

If you sell your item before your ad use expired, we will retund you for the

CORRECTIONS
If you find an error in your ad, call us. We accept responsibility for the first wrong insertion.

Call 532-6555 to place your classified.

pus one 537-4532.

No pets, lease required 587-0399. ONE-BEDROOM APART available Jan. 776-3410.

for study. Campus one mile, one-bedroom,

AVAILABLE FALL very nice one, two, three and four-bedroom apart-ment complexes and houses. Excellent loca-

CHASE MANHATTAN

ONE-BEDROOMS AVAIL-ABLE at 1026 Sunset. $385- $395. Remodeled units. Central air/ heat.

SPACIOUS TWO-BED-ROOM in Chase Apart-ments, dishwasher, balcony, on site laundry facilities. Available im-

SUBLEASE ONE-BED

SQ. APT.

COME FLY with us, K-State Flying Club has five air-planes. For best prices call Troy Brockway, 776-6735 after 5:30p.m. 537-9064

Lost and Found

Found ads can be placed free for three days.

LOST: WATCH in Union re creation area. Sunday Oct. 30. If found, please call Megan at 539–1744.

RING WITH seven keys and women's restroom. Re-ward. 532-6492.

Personals

We require a form of picture ID (KSU, driv-er's license or other) when placing a per-

HEY GOOFY: Eight 'till the 8th!!! I love you, Mick-

Parties-n-More

ADD A splash to your next bash. Great anytime. Birthdays, mid-terms and Wildcat victory par-ties. Wet-N-Wild Mobile Hot Tubs, 537-1825.

ADD AN extra touch of class to your next par-ty. Call Wayne's Water Party to rent a portable hot tub 537-7587, 539-7561.

BOCKERS II Catering Dances, bars, dinners, Weddings, Alumni func-tions. Catering any-where, discounts, Ware-ham, Days Inn, Hous-ton Street. Call

HOUSING/

REAL ESTATE

For Rent-Apts. Furnished

AVAILABLE FALL very nice ment complexes and houses. Excellent locations with great prices. 537-1666, 537-2919.

FOR JAN. across street Ford Hall deluxe two-bedroom. $485/ month. 539-2482. After 4p.m.

JAN. 1. One-bedrooms in complexes $280- $300.

MENT, close to cam-pus. 1913 Anderson Ave. $280/ month-

QUIET SURROUNDINGS some utilities paid. Min-imum seven month lease, no pets. 537–8389.

Unfurnished

tions with great prices. 537-1666, 537-2919.

Apartments, two-bed-room apartments avail-able now, Corner of College and Claffin.

Laundry facilities. Three blocks west of campus. 776-3804.

mediately.

ment. Available for spring semester. Close to campus. 776-9566.

$$$$$$$$$$$$$$ CAMBRIDGE 2 BEDROOMS *FIREPLACE

> *POOL WEEKDAYS

9:00-4:30 **********

For Rent-

Houses

NON-DRINKER smoker, for two-bed-room place. No pets. References, 539-1554.

TWO-BEDROOM, TWO car garage 5112 Murray. Near airport $500/ month. Two-bedroom duplex, 515 S. Manhat-tan $425/ month 539-7181 leave mes

Roommate Wanted

FEMALE ROOMMATE be ginning in January; right across the street from campus; share with two very nice girls; please call Rebecca bet-ween 5- 6p.m. 587–8430.

FEMALE ROOMMATE be $200/ month plus one-third utilities. Close to

FEMALE ROOMMATE for spring semester. Non-smoker; three-bed-rooms; walk to campus; $215/ month; one-third utilities. 776-0096 after needed immediately to share two-bedroom apartment, rent $210/ month, washer, dryer, close to campus. 537-

ROOMMATE

FEMALE ROOMMATE to share two-bedroom apartment, $205/ month plus one-half utilities. Water and trash paid. Available Dec. 1. Call 587-9679.

ALE ROOMMATE wanted. Non-smoker to FEMALE wanted. Non-smoker to share four-bedroom. Available mid-Decem-ber. Own room, two and one-half bath, washer/ dryer, dish-washer, one-fourth utili-ties, $215/ month. 587-8622.

FEMALE TO share twobedroom apartment. Own room, free laun-dry, utilities paid. $202.50. Jan. 1. Cam-

LOOKING FOR two more people to share five-bedroom house two

MALE ROOMMATE for two-bedroom apart-ment, Williams Place in-side campus. Available immediately. $175/ month plus low electric-ity. Call 532-9094, leave

MALE, NON-SMOKING roommate for new Chase three-bedroom apartment. Own room, own bath, one-third KPL and phone. Rea-sonable rent. Message

> NON-SMOKER, SHARE n-smoker, Shake house, utilities with re-sponsible mostly male household. Large bed-room, laundry, $160. Available Nov. 15. 539–2468. Keep trying.

> CONDITIONS ample parking. Walk to campus and Aggleville. Male student to share large two-bedroom apartment. Begin any-time from now to Jan. 15. $190. 776-3624.

phone and cable. 537-1108 nights

THREE GUYS looking for fourth roommate to share four-bedroom

WANTED FOR spring se-mester, one non-smok-ing male to sublease room. Call 537–3555 for

WANTED NON-SMOKING and non-drinking room mate for basement fur nished private bed-room. Walk to KSU. $150. Share utilities. 539-1554.

NICE TWO-BEDROOM. Available after finals. Near Westloop $435. New carpet, balcony, one bathroom, 776-3173, leave mes-

NICE, CLEAN, two-bedroom apartment, two blocks from campus and close to aggieville. Call 776-1324.

room, available spring semester; across from campus; two balconies, new kitchen appliances; water and trash paid;

ONE ROOM for rent in large, beautiful, seven-bedroom home; $150/ month plus one-sev enth utilities; kitcher enth utilifies; kitchen and laundry available; four blocks from cam-pus; January 1 to May 31 sublease available; 537-2497— ask for Russ

SUBLEASE A large one bedroom apartment. Starting Dec. 15. Call now 'til midnight 587-8099. Two blocks

SERVICE DIRECTORY

Typing NEED SOMETHING typed? I'll type it for $1/ per page. Call 537-9480 after 5:30p.m. Ask for Pregnancy Testing

Testing Center 539-3338 · Free pregrancy

testing

Totally confidential

·Same day results

*Call for appointment

Located across from

Anderson Village

Mon.-Fri.

9 a.m.-5 p.m.

MOTHER OF two children looking to babysit in her home evenings and weekends. Call

NISSAN- DATSUN Repair

Service. 22 years ex-perience. Mazdas, Hon-das and Toyotas also. Auto Craft, 2612 Dipper

sas. 537-5049. 8a.m. 5p.m. Mon.- Fri.

PROMPT CONTRACEPTIVE

(913)841-5716.

EMPLOYMENT/

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment/Career classification. Readers are advised to approach any such employment opportunity with reasonable caution. The Collegian urges our read-legian urges our read-ers to contact the Bet-ter Business Bureau, 501 SE Jefferson, To-peka, KS 66607-1190. (913)232-0454.

$1500 WEEKLY possible mailing our circulars! No experience re-quired! Begin Now! For information call (202)298–8957.

ALASKA EMPLOYMENT-

Fishing Industry. Earn up to $3000- $6000 plus per month. Room and Board! Transporta-tion! Male/ female. No experience necessary (206)545-4155 ext

ATTENTION GROUPS and individuals! Raise up to $10,000 or more. Win $1000, free car or free Hawaii trip! No Investment. 24-hour recorded message. (609)427-0777 Ext. 1562.

ATTENTION STUDENTS

COACHES NEEDED for

ADMINISTRATOR: part

right person. Gymnas tics experience pre-ferred. Call 539-3613.

ADMINISTRATOR: part-time student position, mostly regular sched-uled hours with some emergency trou-bleshooting hours. Re-sponsible for oversee-ing 55-computer Macin-tosh network, including hardware maintenance, software backups, and software backups, and records maintenance. Should be familiar with Macintosh operating systems 6 and 7. Client

Earn extra cash stuffing envelopes at home. All materials provided. Send SASE to Central Distributors P.O. Box 10075, Olathe, KS 66051. Immediate re-

CAREERS

Help Wanted

and abortion services. Dale L. Clinton, M.D.

Child Care

Automotive

Repair

Other

Services

at 539-6571.

ROOMMATES WANTED male or female. Three-bedroom house. Close to campus and Ag-gieville. One room $225. One room $175. All bills paid including 537-7546 days. house with washer/dry-er; across street from University. Private park-ing. Call 539–8388.

Sublease

noying? Well, I love mine, but I'm graduat-ing in Dec. and I need someone to take over my room. $160/ month. Across from Union, some bills paid. 587-0431. Females only.

FOR SPRING semesteravailable end of Dec. One-bedroom apart-ment, two blocks from campus. Call 537-4768.

NICE, SPACIOUS, one-bed-

Call 537-4011.

or leave message.

Resume/

WELL EXPERIENCED typist by day would like typ-ing at night. Laser print-ing. Call Judy 539-7100 or 456-9642.

server networking for an ethernet network. TCP/IP experience a plus. Salary negotiable based on experience. Pick up an applications in 113 or 103 Kedzie. Pregnancy Application deadline is noon on Tuesday, Nov

CRUISE SHIPS NOW HIRING. Earn up to $2000 plus/ month working on Cruise Ships or Land-Tour companies. World travel (Hawaii, Mexico, the Caribbean, etc.) Seasonal and full-time employment available. No experience necessary. experience necessary. For more information call (206)634-0468 ext.

FRIENDS OF THE ENVI-RONMENT. Big prob-lems need big people! Big problems can earn you a big paycheck, if you are serious about you are serious about creating a GLOBAL CHANGE. Major state-CHANGE. Major state-wide expansion. 230 na-tionwide offices already breaking records across the country. *Explosive Growth * Various Posi-tions * Full Training *Travel Available *Ex-cellent Income Poten-tial *Relocation Option-al Call 276-2795 for ac-al Call 776-7975 for ap-KITCHEN HELP needed for a sorority house. Contact Edna Rush at 539-3424.

MACINTOSH TROU-BLESHOOTER: part-time student position, time student position, mostly regular sched-uled hours with possi-ble emergency hours. Assists in overseeing 55-computer Macintosh network, including hardware and software troubleshooting and general maintenance. general maintenance. Should be familiar with Macintosh operating systems 6 and 7. Minimum wage to start. at 113 or 103 Kedzie.

Application deadline is noon on Tues., Nov. 22. NANNY WANTED. Need loving, dependable per-son to care for charming nine month old baby. Full-time posi-tion. Starts Jan. 1995. Submit letter of applica-tion to J. Kassebaum, 1816 Cassell, Manhat-SANTAS WANTED. Man hattan Town Center and Portraits by LBJ are looking for Santas. Day, night and wee-kend shifts available. Apply at Portraits by LBJ 1714 Fairlane, 539-7272, Tues.- Thurs. between 10a.m. and 6p.m.

SKI RESORT Jobs- Hiring for many positions for winter quarter.
Over 15,000 openings! For more information call:
(206)634-0469 ext.
V57681.

STUDENT INTERNS, part time, positions avail-able immediately for 10- 15 hours per week. Excellent English com-munication skills re-quired. $4.75 once trained. Applicants should apply in person at Veterinary Medical Li-brary, fourth floor Trot-ter Hall, KSU. EOE. Ap-plications will be ac-cepted 9– 6p.m.

cepted 9-through Nov. 11. DOORS Over 10,000 openings! National Parks, Forests, Fire Crews. Send stamp for free details. Sullivan's 113 East Wyoming, Kalispell, MT 59901.

VARNEY'S STORE is now taking applications for temporary part-time full-time positions in the text-book department to assist with textbook buyback. Possible employ-ment dates are Nov. 29 through Dec. 18. Daytime, evening, and weekend hours are available. $4.30 per hour. Involves helping customers, moderate lifting ers, moderate lifting and cleaning/ pricing books. All positions require diligence and a pleasant, service- oriented attitude. College experience is strongly preferred. Apply in person downstairs at Varney's Book Store, 623 N. Manhattan Ave., Manhattan, KS. Deadline for application is Sunday, Nov. 13, 1994. WANTEDIII INDIVIDUALS, promote Spring Break '95. Earn substantial money and free trips. Call the nation's leader, inter-campus programs 1-800-327-6013.

WANTED: WORK-STUDY

student for office du-ties, 10- 12 hours/ week. Apply at the In-dustrial and Manufacturing Systems Engi

COLLEGE GRADUATES

"I drive a Jaguar, earned $4,000 in my second month and am helping professionals cross the country do the same." Interviewing for dynamic, enthusiastic, money motivated individuals to represent a progressive Marketing and Training Company, creating a global change.

Serious Inquiries Only. Call for Appointment (913)776-7975.

Opportunities

The Collegian cannot verify the financial po-tential of advertise-ments in the Employ-ment/Career classification. Readers are advised to approach any such business opportunity with reasonable caution. The Collegian urges our readers to contact the Better Busi-ness Bureau, 501 SE Jefferson, Topeka, KS 66607-1190. (913)232-0454.

INDEPENDENT telecom munications representa-tive looking for individ-uals interested in earn-ing extra income. Com-mission based. No inventory. Operate out of home or dorm room. If interested call 1-238-7871. Leave name, phone number and address. PROFESSIONAL. I need the help of a local dis-tributor who wants to earn up to $500 a day, from the comfort of your own home. Mini-mal investment re-quired. For more information call 537-0837. TURN YOUR FAX into a fast cash machine and generate over $3000 per month. Fax your name and Fax number to (817)997-2443 for 532-7309

532-6555

MARKET

Wanted to Buy WHITE WICKER furniture

wanted. Don't store it for the winter. Let's deal! Call 537-4667

Items for Sale FOR SALE: Acoustic guitar new $150, or best offer. Stair Stepper, $50. Very old computer, $50, or best offer. Call 587-0431.

SOFA AND chair- matched set - $100; mountain bike- Bridgestone MB-Z $350; Kenmore air conditioner- one year old $225; Cannondale 3.0 alum. frame 21-inch-$100; 539-1777.

TWO SMALL deep freezes for sale. 5.1 cubic foot chest for $100. 12.0 cubic foot upright for $150. Great to store meat from home! Cal 537-5667 after 5p.m.

Antiques

TIME MACHINE Antique Maul and Geeb Empori-um, 6000 square feet, antiques, collectibles, estate jewelry, furni-ture, 4910 Skyway Dr. four blocks east of Manhattan Airport. Open Tues.- Sat. 12- 6p.m. 539-4684.

Computers 486 4MB RAM, 340 MB HD, CD Rom, SVGA monitor, 14.4 bps mo-dem, lots of software. 539-5606.

COMPUADD 386SX16, 3.5 and 5.25 floppy, 85 MB hard, 4 MB Ram, 2400 bds moddem, two joy-sticks, SVGA monitor, MS DOS 6.0, $700, call Mo 776–4110.

8 a.m.-5 p.m. (Except holidays MACINTOSH COMPUT-ER. Complete sys-tem including print-er only $500. Call Chris at (800)289-5685.

Pets and Supplies

COLLEGIAN CLASSIFIEDS

K-State Coll Kedzie Hall 103

GET THE WORD O

BABY FERRETS are in at Animal House Pets! We have everything you will need for your new baby! Come check it out at 210 N. 14th.

FOR SALE: Iguana, one and one-half - two years old, with heat rock and UV light. 537-0546.

Sporting

Equipment FOR SALE: solo-Flex, three years old, all attach-ments. Excellent condi-tion. Call 539-4680.

Tickets to Buy/Sell FOUR TRAVIS Tritt tickets,

third row. 539-1582.

TRANS-

PORTATION

Automobiles

OFFICE HOURS

PARKING

SOUTH OF THE

1983 MUSTANG GT, 302, 110K miles, black, five-speed, dependable, $1400. 539-3683.

door, air, tinted wind-ows, five speed. Nice car, and runs great! $1500 or best offer. 587-8352. Ask for Kirk.

1984 AUDI 4000s, red, two-

1984 F250 XLT Supercab, four-speed diesel, one owner, $4500 owner, (316)896-2856.

1984 FORD Escort, good transportation. $1000 or best offer. Call Mike at 539-3530 after 6p.m. 1989 TOYOTA Camry LE, silver, sparkling new, very clean. 51K miles, excellent condition, sin-gle owner. 537-8689.

TRIPS

Tour Package SPRING BREAK 94 Cancun, eight days, seven nights on the beach $499. Sign up early and save money. Classic Travel 1212 Moro, Ag-gieville, 537-7546.

What do you do if you see a fire? . Call 911

2. Then call us

News Tips 532-6556

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

ADVERTISING PRODUCTION

Publication Practice IMC 360

Class size is limited so sign up now. Get training and gain experience while earning one hour of credit this spring. Attend class one day a week from 8:30-

11:30 a.m. You pick the day of the week based on availability. The instructor's permission is required. The experience you gain in the spring would qualify you to apply for a paid position in the summer or fall. Come to 113 Kedzle

8 a.m.-4 p.m.

for more information and syllabus.

CLASSIFIED DIRECTORY

designation.

TIPS FOR WRITING A

CLASSIFIED AD Always put what item or service you are advertising first. This helps potential buyers find what they are looking for.

are confused by abbreviations. Consider including the price. This tells buyers if they are looking at something in their price range.

Don't use abbreviations. Many buyers

CATEGORIES

To help you find what you are looking for, the classified ads have been arranged by category and sub-category. All categories are marked by one of the large images, and sub-categories are preceded by a number

SONALS

WE DO NOT

Ryan Vessar, freshman in animal science and industry, practices riding the mechanical bull in a

16 males go against 1 female in sumo bull-riding

RUSSELL FORTMEYER

What do you get when you cross a riding bull, an order of Chinese Restaurant and a robot? If you guessed the K-State Rodeo Club's Sumo Bull-Riding Competition on Wednesday night, you're not talking bull.

The Rodeo Club will be host to the bull-riding extravaganza involving 16 male club members pitted against one female club member, Toma Snyder, freshman in early childhood education. The catch is the men have to where a sumo suit, while Snyder doesn't.

Mara Barngrover, senior in animal sciences and secretary of the Rodeo Club, said the event is just a fun challenge the club is doing since they have a toro, or mechanical bull, machine.

"We haven't used it (the machine) that much," Barngrover

"We're having the event to get people interested in the club and support the team," she said.

The club began practicing for Moo Goo Gai Pan from Hunam the competition last Wednesday night in Weber Arena. Barngrover said no prizes will be awarded in the competition because it is just for fun. The rodeo club also competed in the Northwest Oklahoma State Rodeo in Alva, Okla., this past weekend, Steve Frasier, coach of the rodeo team and Manhattan resident, said.

Jimmy White, senior in animal sciences and participant, said "It's going to be different. I'm looking forward to it.

'You have nothing to hold onto. Basically, you just have to hold onto (the bull) with your legs," he said.

White seemed pretty confident for someone preparing to ride a

SUMO RIDING

The K-State Rodeo Club presents the Sumo Bull-Riding Competition from 8 to 10 p.m. Wednesday at TW Longhoms.

bull without being able to see over his padded stomach. In case anyone falls off, the floor surrounding the bull will be White said he is an experienced bull rider. He uses mechanical bulls to teach bull-at a rodeo school in Olathe.

Troy Warnken, owner of TW Longhorns, said they'll be offering dollar bottles as a drink special. All proceeds from the event will go to United Cerebral Palsy and the K-State Rodeo

Today's Special!

Boh & DINER 03 North 3rd • 537-7776

Meetings include poetry

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 10 park resources management) plays harmonica. Brent does a killer Clint Black."

Poetry reading has also been incorporated into the meetings.

"Dan Suderman is a heck of a poem writer," Trevithick said. "He reads a few poems at the meetings. It's becoming a Members take turns planning lessons, whose subjects range from how to stay away from trouble to

"Lots of times we have a specific lesson," Trevithick said. Sometimes someone will have a specific question. Sometimes we'll just talk about whatever."

Many people in FCC have instructed at or been to rodeo Bible schools, such as the one at the subchapter in Olathe, Trevithick

"We'll do as much as we can with other subchapters," he said.

FCC has 'several activities, but Suderman said he thinks the meetings are the best part.

We've had a horse-trail ride. We'll camp out once it gets a little colder." he said.

"Our meetings are a blast," Suderman said. "They are our neatest activities."

Graves leads Slattery in Capital-Journal poll

few Democrats were elected even to legislative seats. But Democrats have held the governor's office for 20 of the past 28 years.

In the final poll of the general election, the Kansas Poll published by the Topeka Capital-Journal. Graves had a whopping 26-point lead over Slattery, 58-32. Graves has been secretary of state for the past eight years, while Slattery has served as 2nd District congressman for 12 years.

Republicans expected to pick up Slattery's congressional seat. The GOP nominee, Sam Brownback, went into Election Day with a commanding poll lead over former Democratic Gov. John Carlin, 59-

The GOP also had some hope that it could knock off veteran Democratic Rep. Dan Glickman in the 4th District. State Sen. Todd Tiahrt, R-Goddard, trailed Glickman by only two points in the last poll, 49-47, well within the margin of error.

In the 3rd District, Republican Rep. Jan Meyers also appeared vulnerable, leading Democratic challenger Judy Hancock by only six points, 48-42.

Only in the 1st District did the outcome appear certain. Republican U.S. Rep. Pat Roberts faced

VISION

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1 Democrat Terry Nichols, who did not campaign.

In the attorney general's race, Republican Carla Stovall appeared likely to defeat Democrat Richard Schodorf. Graves' replacement as secretary of state appeared likely to be Republican Ron Thornburgh, the assistant secretary of state.

State Rep. Kathleen Sebelius, the Democratic nominee for insurance commissioner, had a comfortable lead over Todd.

Thompson faced a spirited challenge from Republican Randy Duncan, a Salina advertising novelties salesman, but she led in the final Kansas poll.

All 165 seats in the state House of Representatives also will be filled. Republicans expected to add to their majority of 66 seats.

Jail CORP will go to courts if measure passes

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

If the jail tax is approved by voters on election day, those with Jail CORP, the group opposed to the tax, say they will look to the courts to stop it if need be.

"Certainly, there are legal remedies that one can pursue, and I know that a number of entities have come forward to indicate that would be their plan," Maria Steichen, a member of Jail CORP,

She said Jail CORP might possibly be one of those entities to seek a court injunction and stop the jail from being built at the proposed site.

But she said the group feels confident about how things will for temporarily or permanently disabled students on campus, building to building. Inquire by calling 532-6441

Secondary major:

appointment; Riquelme

MWF 1130; Garavito

merican Studies courses, contact:

254 Waters Hall - 532-7176

MWF 1130; Pigno

Only); by appointment; Ciccantell

Political Sociology: by appointment; Riquelme

SPAN 574 (3) Hispanic Readings MWF 230; Oropesa

SECONDARY MAJOR IN LATIN AMERICAN STUDIES

ATTENTION LATIN AMERICAN STUDIES MAJORS

Course offerings for credit within the Latin American Studies

DAS 407 (3) Senior Seminar in Latin American Studies; by SOCIO 701 (3) Sociology of Natural Resources and SOCIO 701 (3) Independent Readings in Latin American

ANTH 673 (3) Precolumbian Civilization; TU 1230-145; Roper

HIST 561 (3) Colonial Hispanic America TU 1105-1220;

SPAN 563 (3) Introduction to Spanish American Literature

SPAN 569 (3) Short Stories, Chicano Language, Literature

SPAN 779 (3) Spanish American Poetry MWF 330; Caravito If you have any questions regarding enrollment into Latin

Dr. Marcial Antonio Riquelme, Dir. of Latin American Studies

Environment in Latin America (By Instructor Permission

(OFFER EXPIRES 11-15-94)

Eastside * Westside Marke

Kansas State Historical Society KANSA

BASKETBAL

K-State wins 99-62 in Tom Asbury's first-ever competition here.

NOVEMBER 9, 1994

KANSAS STATE UNIVERSITY, MANHATTAN, KANSAS 66506

VOLUME 99B, NUMBER 57

Slattery is defeated from the start

Voters deny Carlin House seat

Hochhauser retains district seat

Stevens can't beat incumbent

See Page 3

Kansas election '94

Republican Sweep GOP dominates prime Kansas elections

2nd District Representative-elect Sam Brownback addresses the crowd at the Republican headquarters at the Topeka Ramada Inn Tuesday night. Brownback beat his opponent, Democrat John Carlin, by an approximate 2-to-1 ratio.

▶ 2ND CONGRESSIONAL RACE

Former ag secretary packing for D.C.

Sam Brownback and his three R's are headed straight for Washington, D.C.

Throughout his campaign, the former Kansas secretary of agriculture, has promised a return to values, reform of government and a reduction of government spending.

Amid cheers and applause from a crowd jam-packed into campaign headquarters, Brownback renewed those promises.

"It's been a great victory tonight. I won it, and I won it for the people. I believe we have heard the message of the people of Kansas. I've been all over this state, and the people I've talked to have said reduce, reform and return. I want to focus on that agenda that I ran on," Brownback said.

In focusing on that agenda, Brownback said the people would be No. 1 in his considerations. "Number 1, I'll always listen," he said. "And number 2, once I've listened, I'll do what's right, regardless of the consequences." While Brownback has been out to campaign for a position to do the right thing, it's been hard to be separated from his family.

"It's not been easy. Fortunately, my wife has been able to stay home.

At this point, his family steps in. Brownback gestured for a minute's respite to say good night

"It's been tough being gone," he said when

Republicans have had a chance to send out a message to a Democratic government that has failed to uphold its end of the bargain, he said.

Clinton promised a cutback on government and spending, but he hasn't delivered, Brownback said.

Brownback said he hopes to succeed were Clinton has failed.

Supporters seemed to share his sentiments about reform.

■ See BROWNBACK Page 5

MANHATTAN/QUESTION NO. 1

No new jail for Riley County

Opponents of ballot Question No. I said even though they defeated the half-cent sales tax to fund a new jail and lawenforcement center, it's not over

"It's not going to be over tomorrow," said Diana Hatch, member of Citizens Organized for Responsible Placement of

'If it's voted down, then we want to help them find a new site," she said. Hatch said she and her husband, Michael, have been involved in the jail issue since the beginning. Their children attend the Manhattan Catholic School across the street from the proposed new jail.

Jail CORP doesn't just want to keep the jail out of their area, she said. There are other

M See OPPONENTS Page 8

MANHATTAN/QUESTION NO. 2

lobs tax gets voters' approval

- Manhattan voters narrowly approved a half-cent sales-tax increase for economic develop-
- The election was close, and the counting was slow. The
- atmosphere at the Georgetown Apartment Homes clubhouse
- was tense as supporters waited
  - Some said they felt the controversy of the question was

"Manhattan has experienced controversy before, but the controversy has resulted in making things better," said Dale Stinson, director of economic development for the chamber of commerce. "We have other things that other communities don't have because Manhattan is not afraid of controversy."

Arthur Vaughan, treasurer of

M See SALES-TAX Page 8

Governor-elect Bill Graves

receives congratulations from Linda Graves his wife, after hearing he had been elected governor of

► GOVERNOR'S RACE

Graves grabs early lead, wins

LEIGH BELLINGER

By 8:10 Tuesday evening, Republican Bill Graves knew for certain he was going to be the next governor of Kansas.

Jim Slattery, Democratic challenger, called the secretary of state and then conceded the race and offered his support to the governor-along with Carol Sader, they've run a very tough, hard-fought campaign for governor," Graves said, speaking to a boisterous crowd of supporters at the Topeka Ramada Inn.

Surrounded by his family, Graves offered his hand to those who opposed him during the campaign.

"Tonight, we've got to start the healing process," he said. "We've got to put down our political arms and, in unity, we need to link arms."

Graves said his opponent was gracious when he called with his concession of the

"I've always admired "Over the past 10 months, Jim," Graves said. "He's a bright, articulate and tough opponent. So we're thrilled to have had this kind of successful victory over a candidate of this quality."

Graves, who has been secretary of state for eight

See GOP Page 5

RILEY COUNTY ELECTION RESULTS

These are the final results from all districts. Although the percentages are only for Riley County, the winners were the same in the statewide totals.

2nd District U.S. rep	resent	ative	-
Sam Brownback (R)	65%	O John Carlin (D)	34%
Governor	NO NO NO		BUTTER
Bill Graves (R)	61%	O Jim Slattery (D)	39%
Secretary of state			MARKET CASH
Ron Thornburgh (R)	61%	Fran Lee (D)	36%
O Steven Rosile (L)	3.0%
Attorney general =	-		Mark Salara

Sally Thompson (D) 57%

Randy Duncan (R) O Seth Warren (L) 2.6% Insurance commissioner

Kathleen Sebelius (D) 64% O Ron Todd (R) 66th District state representative

O Ann Stevens (R) 48% Sheila Hochhauser (D) 52%

1st District Riley County commissioner Russell Frey (R) 60% Nancy Bammes (D)

Special questions: No. 1 (retail sales tax for jail)

Yes 44% No No No. 2 (development tax)

Carla Stovall (R)

Richard Schodorf (D) 30%

NEWS BRIEFS

A SERIES ON NATIVE AMERICAN TRADITIONS WILL BEGIN ON CAMPUS TODAY

A department head at Haskell Indian Nations University in Lawrence will speak on Native American traditions, philosophies and world views in relation to Western or European people Thursday

Daniel Wildcat, chairman of the Department of Natural and Social Sciences, will speak at 1 p.m. in the K-State Union Little Theatre.

It will be an introduction to a series of three presentations coordinated by Wildcat and Stan Grant, assistant central director of the Great Plains-Rocky Mountain Hazardous Substance Research Center at K-State

"We hope to bring a composite of information to introduce the audience to the issues of Native American social and religious organizations," Grant said.

Wildcat said he will attempt to help people understand the Native American approach to political and ethical thought by presenting the Native American way and contrasting that with Western views. He said the difference is in the focus each has when developing views.

"When people think of politics and ethics in the Western tradition, they see it explicitly with human concerns and how actors and the concerns of the actors relate to and affect humans," he said.

Indigenous American Indians develop their views with a different focus, he said. They focus on a broader definition of persons.

"In these traditions, it is not uncommon to find that how one should act is tied to the notion that the political sphere includes plants and other animals as well," he said. He said this view is ecological.

"For Native American people, the notion of how a person lives is tied to the biosphere," he said.

Wildcat said they plan to follow the speech next semester with presentations focusing more in-depth on social and religious issues.

"We will present at least two or three more with follow-up discussion on the inherent ecological nature of indigenous Native American world views," he said.

Grant said the presentation will help non-Native Americans get an understanding of the social, religious and ecological views of Native Americans so common ground can be found.

"Problems occur when Westerners come onto a reservation and say they want to help, but don't know how," he said.

"Our desire is to eliminate those differences so we can understand what our similarities and differences are and find some common ground and mutual respect."

DEBBIE PILANT

▶ PROTEIN FROM GENE MAY BE EFFECTIVE IN TREATING FATAL DISEASE

PHILADELPHIA (AP) -Scientists say they have discovered a protein that may activate the AIDS virus in the body and cause it to develop into AIDS.

The discovery by University of Pennsylvania scientists could lead to treatments that might enable infected people to put the human immunodeficiency virus on hold indefinitely. They still would carry the virus but might not contract the fatal disease itself. HIV-infected people can be healthy and live for years before the virus attacks the body's immune system.

A protein isolated from a gene in HIV carriers appears to tell infected cells when to start reproducing the virus, the researchers said in an article published Tuesday in the Proceedings of the National Academy of Sciences.

"We understand a new pathway the virus uses," study chief David Weiner, an assistant professor of pathology and medicine at Penn, said. "We now have an opportunity to design drugs to inhibit it."

Dr. Nava Sarver, one of the chief scientists in the AIDS division of the National Institutes of Health, said the study is interesting but very preliminary. Usually, studies such as Weiner's that are conducted in the laboratory do not hold up when tested in bodies, she said.

"Many other questions need to be asked to confirm these findings." Sarver said. "I feel it is not right to give hope to patients who are desperate for any type of therapy."

► REPRESENTATIVE, AIDE FORBIDDEN TO KEEP MONEY FROM BAG LADY

DEDHAM, Mass. (AP) - A lawmaker and an aide who inherited about $200,000 apiece from a bag lady they had helped were stripped of the money Tuesday by a judge who ruled they took advantage of a mentally ill woman.

The bag lady, Mary Guzelian, had rewritten her will in 1981 to benefit Rep. Kevin Fitzgerald, his aide Patricia McDermott and a third person who acted as executor of the will, after McDermott helped Guzelian fight eviction.

Guzelian was struck and killed by a taxi in 1985 at age 68. Probate Judge David Kopelman on Tuesday vacated the will and declared Elizabeth Scullin her sister's sole heir. Scullin had contested the will in a trial that occurred earlier this year.

"I find that Guzelian's untreated mental illness of chronic paranoid schizophrenia, her severe health problems, her advanced age, and the trauma arising from her eviction from her residence rendered her highly susceptible to undue influence," the judge said.

The judge ruled that Fitzgerald must return $200,142, McDermott $198,642 and Michael Muse $37,730 to Scullin.

The ruling came on Election Day. Fitzgerald, a 20-year representive from Boston, was expected to win re-election easily.

The Democrat said he plans to appeal the ruling. "I simply do not have the $200,000 I have been directed to pay," he said.

Guzelian moved to Boston from New Jersey as a young woman after a marriage that lasted six months. She had 20 or 30 bank accounts, but kept bags and bags of cash, mostly in $1 bills, in her dilapidated apartment. The source of the money was not immediately

K-State and Riley County Police departments Because of space constraints, not all crimes are listed.

K-STATE POLICE

TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 8

At 1:02 a.m., Stephanie Fuqua reported a strong odor of gas in Kedzie 116. An officer and the Manhattan Fire Department responded to find a car leaking gasoline. The owner was notified, and the car was moved off campus.

At 2:53 a.m., a suspicious white man was reported north of

RILEY COUNTY POLICE MONDAY, NOVEMBER 7

At 8:45 p.m., Westloop Dillons reported two shoplifters. Angela Owens and John Chaput, both of 820 Grant Ave., Junction City, were arrested for attempted possession of a controlled substance. Both were levied a $2,000 bond. At 10:52 p.m., Kipp

Kedzie Hall. An officer responded to find a male subject looking for his lost football. Everything sounding was reported in Zone 9

at VMS. Manhattan Fire

Department responded and met with security officers to find everything was OK.

At 4:35 a.m., a fire alarm was OK.

Hanchett, 538 10th St., Ogden, was issued a notice to appear for driving with a suspended license.

TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 8

V12 Jardine Terrace, was arrest-released on $300 bond.

At 12:46 p.m., Steven Lee, ed for failure to appear. He was

ELECTRONIC COLLEGIAN

The Kansas State Collegian has gone electronic. Updated daily, you can find the Electronic Collegian on the World Wide Web @ http://www.spub.ksu.edu/

Applications for Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities are now available in the Office of Student Activities and Services. Deadline is Nov. 18.

All undergraduate students in a health-related degree program are eligible to apply for a Student Cancer Research Award of $500. Applications are now available in the Center for Basic Cancer Research in Ackert 234. Application deadline is Dec. 2.

The world is getting smaller. Make yours larger. Volunteer to tutor an international student in the Conversational English Program. Contact Kathy Hund at the International Student Center,

For Student Affairs and Social Services Week, there will be informational tables for Student Publications Inc., Legal Services for Students, and Consumer and Tenant Board set up from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. today outside the Union Staterooms.

Rich Mistler, PaineWebber vice president, will present "How to be a Leader in Today's Fast-Changing World."

■ National Society of Black Engineers will meet at 6:30 p.m. today in Durland 163.

Adult Student Services will have a brown-bag lunch from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. today in Union Stateroom 1.

■ Sigma Kappa will be selling lollipops from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. today in the Union

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

We accept letters to the editor by e-mail. Our address is letters @spub.ksu.edu. We need your n address, phone number and student ID t

The Kansas State Collegian (USPS 291 020), a student newspaper at Kansas State University, is published by Student Publications Inc., Kedzie Hall 103, Manhattan Kan., 66506. The Collegian is published weekdays during the school year and once a week through the summer. Secondclass postage is paid at Manhattan, Kan., 66502. POSTMASTER: Send address changes to Kansas State Collegian, circulation desk, Kedzie 103, Manhattan, Kan. 66506-7167

C Kansas State Collegian, 1994

YESTERDAY'S HIGHS AND LOWS

Rain likely in the east, becoming partly cloudy and cool in the afternoon. Highs around 45 to 50.

Rain likely through the afternoon, then mostly cloudy. Highs the upper 40s.

TOMORROW !

Warmer and mostly sunny with highs in the mid-50s.

If you

GIVE

canned goods, toiletries, or

homeless through the

household products, to the

Collegian, you will receive

THANKS

and $1 off any classified ad in the Collegian through the end

of December.

Contributions go to Manhattan Emergency Shelter and Flint Hills Breadbasket

Bring items to the Student Publications Inc. office in Kedzie 103

we've been there before; we'll be there again

WE'RE BACK! Organizations

Through Nov. 9 from 6-10 p.m. in McCain 324

Wednesday, Nov. 9

SCJ 6:00 p.m. Grain Science Club 6:20 p.m. Moore Hall HGB 6:40 p.m. International Coordinating Council 7:00 p.m. UPE 7:20 p.m.

Omega Chi Epsilon 7:40 p.m. Korean Student Assoc. 8:00 p.m. Eta Sigma Delta 8:20 p.m. KSU Army ROTC 8:40 p.m. Women's Lacrosse 9:00 p.m. Union Program Council Exec. 9:20 p.m. Sigma Delta Pi 9:40 p.m.

The 1995 Royal Purple portrait photographers are going to take a shot at you.

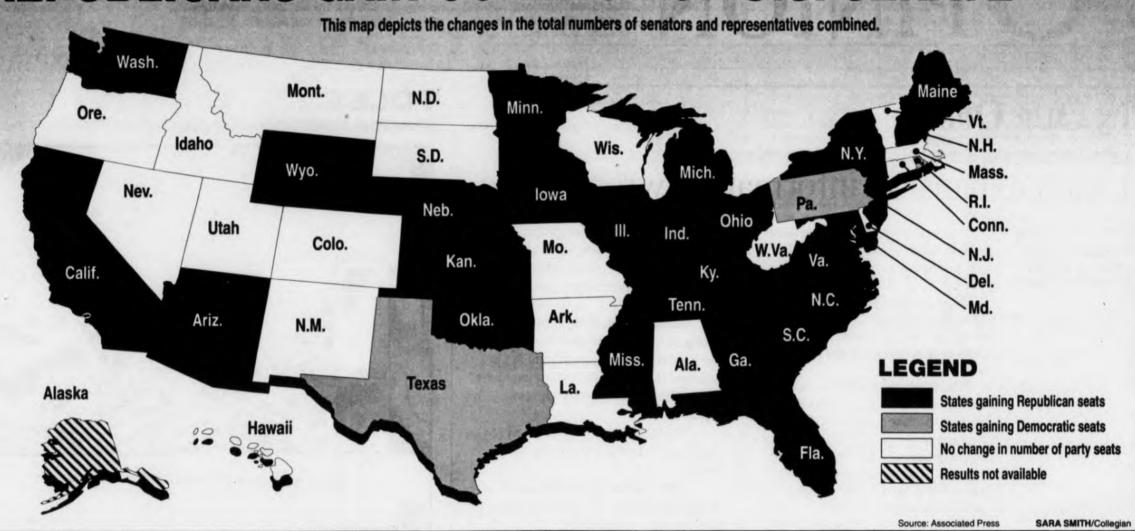

You may still reserve your copy of the 1995 Royal Purple at your sitting. Questions? Call 532-6557.

REPUBLICANS GAIN CONTROL OF U.S. SENATE

Democratic disamointment Carlin, Slattery lose top Kansas offices

DARREN WHITLEY/Collegian

John Carlin hugs his wife, Diana, while his son looks on after his concession speech.

> 2ND CONGRESSIONAL RACE

Carlin looks back proudly

nation.

KIMBERLY HEFLING

Former Kansas governor, Democrat John Carlin, said Tuesday evening was not a total failure for Democrats. Tonight, in general, was bad for Democrats, but not all bad," Carlin said. "Ollie North lost.

Tuesday evening, Carlin lost the election for 2nd Congressional District representative. In his concession speech, Carlin thanked his family, staff and supporters. "We had a lot of fun.

didn't we?" Carlin said.

Carlin said he will still strive to find solutions to the issues dealt with during the election, but now will attempt to change things at the grassroots level, in the being the incumbent community.

"I'm very proud of the race I've run," Carlin said. "I'm proud of why I got into the race and the effort made. I have no regrets."

Carlin said it may not be the best night for Democrats, but there is a lot to be proud of.

"We won with quality candidates," Carlin said. We took a solid case to the people, and we're very proud of Carol Sader and Jim Slattery.

Terry Dickson, Topeka resident, said he believed Carlin lost for combination of reasons.

"I think part of it was dump the incumbent,' Dickson said. "The baggage

"Basically, people want change," he said. Hayek said he still feels Carlin was the better candidate. "I don't understand why

"The fact that he lost the

Because there is a gubernatorial race four years ago didn't help him either."

Hayek, Topeka resident, said he believed people feel change is through the Republican Party.

Carlin lost," Hayek said. "I couldn't answer. I thought Carlin was the better candidate."

A national trend toward change definitely affected elections this year, Pam government across the Lightfoot, Russell resident, said.

"I thought Carlin would be stronger. He barely lost to Joan Finney in '90 and by only about 4,000 votes. I thought he would've had Democratic president, Gene more momentum built up,'

> Lightfoot said. "It's been an interesting year in Kansas politics, Karen Exon, Topeka resident, said. "There's been good candidates on all sides.

Rob Exon said people are voting for change.

"It's mainly a national trend," Rob Exon said. "People want to see something different. Maybe that's why Carlin was unsuccessful."

▶ GOVERNOR'S RACE

Slattery supporters were reluctant to concede

Saying the people of Kansas had clearly spoken, Democratic gubernatorial candidate Jim Slattery conceded the governor's race at about 9 Tuesday evening at the Topeka Holiday Inn.

"We are not celebrating victory," Slattery said. "It was not meant for us, not this year.

At 7 p.m., CBS news declared Bill Graves the winner, but Democratic supporters were

"It's still early," George Wolf, of Topeka, said. "We still have confidence. It might be a long

Wolf said even though he was new to Kansas, the election was of particular interest to him.

"As a disabled person, I and the rest of the disabled community will suffer with Republican leadership,"

Wolf said. Ida Love, Overland Park changes that Democrats started.

hesitant to concede defeat in the resident, worried that some groups would suffer with the election of a Republican governor.

"I think there will be a loss of programs in the area of the poor and minorities," she said.

Mike and Helen Sparkman, of Topeka, predicted a similar fate for programs for children and families.

"Programs for children and families will be put on the back burner," Helen said.

Mike said there will be a lot of

"We will still support them." After Slattery was introduced as the best congressman in the history of the 2nd District, a somber crowd listened intently as the song Fanfare for the Common Man' played in the background.

Slattery called on the Democrats to support the Republicans.

"We will serve the party best by serving the state and nation first,' Slattery said. "Let us all come together as Kansans. They need our support and prayers."

Jim Slattery with supporters after his concession speech.

DARREN WHITLEY
Collegian

STEVE HEBERT/Collegian Republican Ann Stevens gives her concession speech Tuesday evening.

Stevens loses by 200 votes

HOLAN SCHRAMM

Republican Ann Stevens lost the Hochhauser, D-Manhattan. The whole room was hushed as said. Ann Stevens picked up the phone. minutes, put down the phone and bit campaigned for 16 weeks.

'We did our best. It was a good said she will run again.

effort," she said. should call Hochhauser and let her people," he said.

know what they expect of her.

now," she said. Charles Arthur, chairman of the numbers Riley County Republican Central a six-year incumbent.

"She was relatively unknown and race for 66th District Representative running against someone with good incumbent Rep. Sheila name recognition, and she only missed it by 200 votes," Arthur

Stevens said she was happy with She listened intently for a few the results, considering she only

Alan Stevens, Ann's husband,

"She was so energized from Stevens said all Republicans knocking on doors and meeting Ann Stevens picked up the phone "We need to start fighting right to call her opponent. The phone call was as brief as it took to dial the

"That's the hardest part," she said Committee, said Stevens did well as she hugged a friend.

Hochhauser renews commitment

The crowd was clapping, and Sheila Hochhauser was dancing as the band played "When the Saints Go Marching In."

The results from the last two precincts sent the supporters into a jubilant celebration at the Wareham Opera House Tuesday.

candidate Democratic Hochhauser won the 66th District state representative seat in a close race, defeating Ann Stevens by less than 200 votes.

"I was anxious because the negative campaigning was working, and Sheila avoided using it," L.V. Wittle, Hochhauser supporter, said.

In her victory speech, incumbent Hochhauser promised to continue representing her constituents, regardless of party affiliation.

'I made a commitment in 1988 that I would represent Republicans, Democrats, Independents and even those not registered to vote. I intend to do the same thing in this term."

Hochhauser said she will address the school-finance issue and health insurance, as well as K-State and Fort Riley.

"Locally, the No. 1 issue always is how we can have the most adequate budget for K-State," Hochhauser said. "I would also like to make the rest of the state more aware of the value of Fort Riley in the state."

Robert Littrell, Riley County Democratic chair, said he was happy Hochhauser prevailed because she works hard.

"She has a commitment to health care and child-care issues. She's going to continue that," Littrell said. "She certainly has a big interest in K-State and does anything she can do to help Hochhauser, a six-year incumbent, was a lone beacon for the Democrats this election.

"When a Democrat wins in a generally Republican year when the tide is flowing the other direction, it shows that it's been by accomplished contributions she has made," Littrell said.

CAMPUS EDITOR......J.R. Prather AAE/FEATURES EDITOR..Andrew Tomb SPORTS EDITOR......Wess Hudelson GRAPHICS EDITOR......Sara Smith COPY CHIEF......Robin Kickhaefer CITY-GOV. EDITOR ..... Lola Shrimplin ASST. SPORTS EDITOR...Jeremy Crabtree ASST. PHOTO EDITOR...Mark Leffingwell

AD MANAGER ..... Ryndell Little ASST. MANAGER.....Ted Ellet SALES MANAGER.....Jim Stothard TEARSHEETS MOR. Ivonne Zaldumbide
NEWS ADVISER......Ron Johnson
AD ADVISER......Gloria Freeland

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

IN OUR OPINION

By the Collegian Editorial Board

Union expansion information wrong in ad

Students didn't endorse Union expansion plan.

Just when you thought you were safe from advertisements that tried to sway or mislead you, one more has

Now, before this ad is revealed, let it be said that the ad isn't bad or totally false. It just has one wrong fact that readers may breeze over and accept as

The advertisement is the SGA Unplugged on page 12 of today's Collegian. The story on the K-State Union expansion called "Bigger, better Union is process" states in the second paragraph, "Last spring, the Student Body voted in favor of the K-State Union Enhancement project."

Students did not (repeat did not) vote in favor of the Union project.

Fifty-nine percent of the student body voted for the Union enhancement. It would have taken 60 percent to pass the referendum.

Then, Ştudent Body President Ed Skoog endorsed it. Student Senate endorsed it. The K-State administration endorsed it and sent the resolution to the Kansas Board of Regents, who later approved it.

The students never "endorsed" or "approved" anything involving the Union.

Until Student Senate decides to change the bylaws, 59 percent cannot pass a student referendum.

TOLES

Cheaters didn't think about their actions

hen the announcement was made that 87 students had been found to have cheated on their biology exam and 30 or more on a Natural Disasters test, I laughed. I laugh long, and I laughed hard. Not because the situation was a particularly funny one.

Quite the contrary - I found it to be a pathetic and sad predicament the cheaters found themselves in. Even bigger than that was the mess they mired their classmates and their professors in.

I'm sure when the students who cheated dreamed about how easy it would be to do it, that those dreams didn't include pictures of getting caught and all that bother that came with it.

Or perhaps they did. Perhaps those geniuses actually gave a second thought to the effort their professors and graduate students put into making their exams. Perhaps they did consider the extra strain they would put them through in making another

MITH

Maybe they even stooped low enough to think about those fellow classmates who actually studied their butts off before the test and what might happen to them if they got caught. Do you think the possibility the professors might actually throw out all the test scores or re-test them actually crossed their brains? Do you think they thought, just once, what might happen to someone besides them if their little fun and games had been discovered?

I'll bet they did. I'll bet they thought of everything, even about the academic reputation of this University.

I mean, we aren't talking about idiots here. These are people who worked hard to beat the system, who actually thought it out and planned what they were going to do beforehand. They would have covered all the bases, all the possibilities. Right?

When I laughed, it wasn't because they had been caught or because I thought the situation was funny or even faintly amusing. I laughed because I have thought about cheating.

There isn't a class I haven't had, a semester that hasn't gone by, when I haven't thought about how easy it would be to preprogram my calculator or get a hold of a copy of the

When I

across that walk

stage to get my degrees, I'll be able to say I degrees under got those

my own brainpower

and without

'stealing' it."

test before the exam. (And if the administration thinks for an instant ERIN MANSUR-SMITH that it's not easy to do so, the most polite way to describe them would be naive.)

I, like the biology and geology students who cheated, never thought about my professors, or my classmates or this University when I considered less-than-honest means in getting a grade.

Like them, I thought almost strictly about myself.

But along with my fantasies about the rewards cheating would bring me rested the niggling thought that I would always remember I hadn't gotten that "A" in College Algebra under my own power.

It wasn't the fear of getting caught. It wasn't a sense of obligation to my future employers that kept me honest. It was the idea that I'd never know what I was truly capable of doing. There would always be the lurking questions: "If I had studied harder, if I had gotten a tutor, could I have passed without cheating?"

When I walk across that stage to get my degrees, I'll be able to say I got those degrees under my own brainpower and without "stealing" it. If these biology classes and geology classes are any indication, I'm one of a proud few who can Erin Mansur-Smith is a senior in synchronized swimming.

Taxes, Carlin on Election Day wish list

m writing this on election day. Having cast my ballot, all that is left is to sit and wait for the results.

I know how I want things to turn out. And because I avidly follow national events, am interested in the world beyond Manhattan, Kansas.

I know it's not Christmas yet, but I've put together a wish list. Election Day is as important as any holiday, so I offer you an Election Day wish list. May all my Election Day wishes come true.

Manhattan: I hope the "Jobs for Manhattan" sales tax fails. I know that it is supposed to help bring new businesses into the Little Apple, but I can't help but think its most immediate effect will be to simply add another expense to the already high price of textbooks.

Now that Manhattan has annexed K-State, the city has a huge new tax base to exploit and a populace that is unlikely to

Most students aren't registered to vote in Manhattan (if they are registered at all), making them politically impotent on this

I also hope that the proposed jail bites it. Not that I disagree with the location - it has to be put somewhere - but the cost involved in building a new jail compared to exploring alternatives to incarceration simply isn't worth it.

Kansas: I hope that John Carlin wins the 2nd District Congressional race. Not that I think he's any wonderboy empowered with the solutions to the nation's problems, but he's no worse than Sam Brownback.

And Brownback is a cheese. I have had the honor (dubious at best) of meeting both candidates, and cheese is the only adjective I can think of in association with Brownback. We don't need anymore cheese in Washington.

I actually wish they could both lose. This race has become so nasty that I am beginning to question whether either meets the basic qualification of being human. I don't care much for Jim Slattery or Bill

Graves, either. Given the choices this year has presented, I almost regret not writing in Joan Finney for another term. Nation: Let's start by ousting the leadership. Speaker of the House Tom Foley, D-Wash., has got to go. I am not a big fan of the term-limits movement, but a congressman who will take his constituents to court over the whole thing has detached himself from reality. I won't shed a tear if the people of eastern Washington state limit Foley to whatever he has served.

Not that I like Rep. Newt Gingrich, R-Ga., and house minority whip, as a replacement. As a vocal advocate of term limits, he should never have sought a ninth term. Regardless, I'd like to see him gone. If anyone personifies the political attack dog, it's Newt. No wonder he was named after a cold-blooded animal. If we can eliminate those two, our job will be near complete. Senate Majority Leader George Mitchell, D-Maine, has agreed to step down, guaranteeing a shakeup in the senate leadership. Now if we could only find a way to punt Bob Dole's ass from Washington ...

Other races of interest: I hope Virginia secedes. That would save us the embarrassment of having to see either the return of Charles Robb or the ascent of Ollie North. Rumor has it that more than 650,000 Virginia residents have moved out of state just to avoid being associated with the candidates. Though this rumor cannot be confirmed at the time of publication (in part because I started it, and in part because it hasn't a grain of truth), it certainly makes for a fun conversation starter.

Without the secession scenario, I hope North loses. Not that I'm rooting for Robb, but there's something inherently wrong with having someone like North serving in high

I hope Ann Richards wins the governor's

Not only is Ann just plain cool, but I'd te to see the Bush family re-establish itself as political players. I hope Pete Wilson loses his seat as governor of California. He has simply used race and homophobia to back too many positions.

I hope you voted. Because if you didn't, I don't want to hear your gripes until the next

Dan Lewerenz is a senior in philosophy.

READERS WRITE

Drop letters off at Kedzie 116 or send them to Letters to the Editor, c/o John Meirowsky, Kansas State Collegian, Kedzie 116, Manhattan, KS 66506. We accept letters by e-mail also. Our address is letters@spub.ksu.edu. Letters should be addressed to the editor and include a name, address and phone number. A photo identification will be necessary for hand-delivered letters.

CHEATING

Students: show more responsibility

Matthew Brady's letter deserves a reply. Brady suggests that Diane Post should have had two different tests; this action would have prevented the recent outbreak of cheating in Principles of Biology. This statement shows the value of hindsight but once again ignores the real problem. Yes, faculty can escalate security measures every time a new cheating mechanism is uncovered; soon taking a test will resemble entering a maximum-security prison. I don't think that this is the answer, but it looks like the way we are going.

In order to forestall this miserable future, I would suggest that everyone at this University, faculty and students alike, ask themselves what they can do to prevent cheating. The onus cannot lie solely on the faculty. If it is true that the keys to the early exams were posted in living groups across campus, there are many STUDENTS who could have done something to prevent this cheating

Minimally, they could have destroyed the keys. They could have spoken up at house meetings. They could have talked to their peers who they knew to be cheating. They could have (God forbid) told the instructors about this rampant violation of academic standards. Even if this University is not "running things on the honor system," students do have some responsibilities here. It is very easy to blame the faculty and to demand that faculty and administration do more about cheating. I suggest that you turn that around, examine yourself, and ask what you can do. We are all in this thing together.

If the national press coverage of this incident offends you, or if you feel that the value of your degree is lessened by the rampant cheating, then quit squawking about how others should "do something." As a student, Brady, you have a job to do as well. Contrary to popular opinion, faculty members are not omniscient; they do not live in fraternities or sororities; they cannot see or hear all the things that students have access to. As long as cheating is accepted by your peers, Brady, you will have this problem.

David A. Rintoul associate professor in biology

LIVE MUSIC

No crickets at concert

We simply don't understand. Amy Ziegler whines about the state of the music scene, and then the show is totally trashed. Andrew Tomb gives a lukewarm review to the great Weezer CD.It seems to us that the crowd enjoyed themselves. We certainly did. We can only wonder why the Collegian went from lambasting the concert to positively reviewing the bands. Was it due to the rumor that UPC threatened to pull all advertising dollars out of the Collegian?

Was it due to the fact that the show DID sell quite well? Or was it due to the fact that the negative response to your editorial may have provoked people to go to the concert just to prove you wrong? We think that the show proved that K-State students CAN support a live music scene, and your editorial board should think before. By the way, we didn't hear any durn crickets.

freshman in radio/television

▶ CHEATING

K-State known as Cheater U.

Congratulations, Kansas State University. You are now known throughout the community colleges of Kansas as the school of cheaters.

I just returned from a weekend trip to Pratt, where I attended a state meeting of Phi Theta Kappa, the honors fraternity of community colleges. Throughout the entire conference, the topic of cheating came up whenever K-State was mentioned. I would introduce myself to honor students as going to

K-State and would automatically get responses such as "Oh, you're one of those biology students who got caught cheating," or "Oh, that school that has to cheat for their grades?"

the simple fact that I attend Kansas State University."

TIM CANNING

66 Tam basically

I labeled as a cheater just for

Real great responses from future four-year students, huh? It made me so proud to represent cheating at such an important function as an honors convention. I am now basically labeled as a cheater just for the simple fact that I attend Kansas State University. Don't get me wrong, I really don't mind the association. I am glad the immense amount of effort I actually put into studying for tests and getting grades high enough to be considered an honor student has earned me a great reputation.

Way to go, all you sorry biology cheats. The two-year honors students of Kansas now associate the words "Kansas State" with the word "cheating." This is a great incentive for these, as well as all, community-college students to attend school here. They now have something to think about when deciding where to continue their education. After all, which of these hard-working students are going to want to attend K-State, earn good grades and then be intuitively labeled a cheat for their efforts? Not many.

Tim Canning senior in management information systems

GOP, Graves take the day

years, said it was a difficult voters are looking for politicians campaign that would not have been possible without those men and women that worked on it. He said he was thankful for the support, and now he wants to do something for them.

"In return, I pledge to you to work as hard as I can over the next four years to deliver great government for the people of this state," Graves said.

On Tuesday, Graves was just one of many Republicans elected to office nationwide. who are financially responsible.
"They really want an administration that really tries hard to hold the line on spending, but they still expect a good quality of public service," he said.

Knowing early on the gubernatorial campaign belonged to them, the crowd at the hotel was upbeat throughout the

Kevin Doel, of Topeka, said voters had a choice of two good candidates, but the time had come

"The Democrats have had their time," Doel said. "I think Graves will lead us down a fiscally responsible path."

Another supporter, Jim Watkins, of Lawrence, said the country was in a mood for a change.

"I'm not only relieved to see Kansas has gone this direction," Watkins said, "but the nation as a

Brent Anderson, from Topeka, said with Graves in office, Kansas will be a better-run state.

for what we want to do as far as reducing government and getting the government off our back. Anderson said.

"Bill Graves has the plan for that," he said. In his victory speech, Graves made one promise to his supporters.

He said he was going to offer a straight-forward administration that will work with Kansans.

"In a phrase that is now familiar to a lot of Kansans, we'll load them high and tight," Graves told the cheering crowd.

Brownback prepared for change

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

"We want less government and a return to traditional values," Dave Depue, Topeka resident, said. "Sam is an energetic young man. He'll be a fresh face in Washington, and we need to send some new faces to keep them in touch with reality. Sam is a friend of mine, and I believe in him."

The election appeared to sway overwhelmingly in favor of Republicans like Brownback.

"I think this will give Republicans a chance to really get things done in Congress. We've got a working chance now," said Trent Sebits, junior in political science.

Other supporters expressed some of the same feelings.

The shift toward the Republican party is one that's needed, they

"We need to move in a more conservative direction and toward fiscal restraint. People are fed up with what's happening with the Democratic-controlled government," said Leroy Towns, Brownback supporter.

Brownback will be one of the instigators of the change, said Glen Chambers, who has campaigned for him for the past six months.

"I'm so pleased right now," Chambers said. "I'm so excited. about it. This was the one thing that counts. It's the greatest feeling having helped get a good man; elected.

SECONDARY MAJOR IN LATIN AMERICAN STUDIES

ATTENTION LATIN AMERICAN STUDIES MAJORS

Course offerings for credit within the Latin American Studies secondary major:

DAS 407 (3) Senior Seminar in Latin American Studies; by appointment; Riquelme

SOCIO 701 (3) Sociology of Natural Resources and Environment in Latin America (By Instructor Permission Only); by appointment; Ciccantell

SOCIO 701 (3) Independent Readings in Latin American Political Sociology: by appointment; Riquelme ANTH 673 (3) Precolumbian Civilization; TU 1230-145; Roper HIST 561 (3) Colonial Hispanic America TU 1105-1220;

SPAN 563 (3) Introduction to Spanish American Literature MWF 1130; Garavito

SPAN 569 (3) Short Stories, Chicano Language, Literature MWF 1130; Pigno

SPAN 574 (3) Hispanic Readings MWF 230; Oropesa SPAN 779 (3) Spanish American Poetry MWF 330: Garavito If you have any questions regarding enrollment into Latin American Studies courses, contact:

Dr. Marcial Antonio Riquelme, Dir. of Latin American Studies 254 Waters Hall - 532-7176

Bakery Science Club's Annual Holiday Sale

Place orders Nov. 9 - Nov. 22

Shellenberger Hall 1st Floor

Coffee Cake $390

Bubble Roll Bread $280

Fruit Cake $675

Those who place orders may pick up items during this sale. 539-1514 (leave message)

Is a MBA for you?

Informative meeting for all interested students?

Pizza will be served! Wednesday, Nov. 9

11:30 a.m. - 1:30 p.m.

Durland 306 Today!

Speakers

Dan Short (Dean) Yar Ebadi (Assoc. Dean) Donna Rohde (Director of Grad Studies) Mike McCullough (Pres GSA)

> Call 532-7190 for information and to RSVP

Volleyba

Kansas State v. Iowa State

November 9

Wednesday, 7:30 p.m.

This is one Cyclone that won't make it through Manhattan!!!

Put on your purple and get out there and back the Cats!

•v•Ø••l••l••e•y••b••a••l••l•

Two essential ingredients for a perfect date:

A date and this.

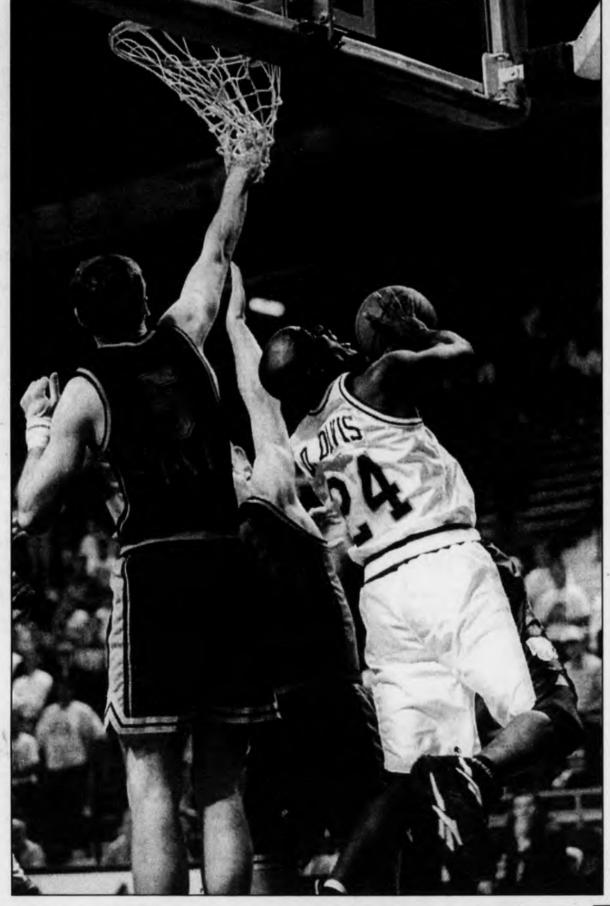

It's everywhere you want to be.

SPORTS

NOVEMBER 9, 1994

Demond Davis attempts to score around two Shahter defenders Wednesday. Davis pitched in 13 points to K-State's exhibition win.

▶ BASKETBALL

Cats open season with exhibition win

Asbury era begins with sluggish 1st half

JEREMY CRABTREE

It took a while, but the Tom Asbury era began on the winning side last night for K-State. That's when the Wildcats captured a 99-62 exhibition victory over the

K-State 99

Shahter Russian Select team in Bramlage Coliseum.

"It was real sluggish in the first half," Coach Asbury said. "It certainly was an exhibition game. The effort was definitely there tonight."

At halftime, the Cats clung to a narrow nine-point lead.

However, the Russians would have been trailing by only two points at halftime, but K-State went on a sevenpoint run sparked by a Brian Gavin three-pointer.

'Our transition game was really good tonight," Asbury said. "I'm concerned with the way that our halfcourt offense played at times. We executed at times, and then we didn't

In the first half, the Cats fell behind early as Shahter jumped out to an 8-3 lead, but the Cats bounced back quickly behind two buckets by Demond Davis.

Davis then converted a three-point play on a fast break to give K-State a

"I think that we were trying too hard in the first half," Asbury said. "They were trying too hard to please themselves, the coaches and the fans. We had 2-foot shots, but we passed it out to take 6-foot shots."

In the second half, the Cats jumped out of the gates with a 12-0 run. K-State's run was triggered by a steal and basket by Brian Gavin after Stanley Hamilton scored down low.

Baylor transfer Tyrone Davis then scored on a short jump shot. Davis' shot was then followed by a slashing

Demond Davis then added the final bucket in the run to give the Cats a 59-

"It took us a while to get going, but think that we are our best in transition," Noland said.

"That's what we did early in the second half."

K-State then followed the 12-0 spurt with a 23-3 run.

"Our full-court defense was good at times," Asbury said, "especially in periods of the second half, but we also got lost in transition other times.'

After the Cats' two runs, Shahter was never able to get back into the game, and five of its players eventually fouled out.

That left the Russian team with only four players in the final three minutes of the game.

Leading the way for K-State was Brian Gavin, who buried two threepointers on his way to scoring 18 "If there was a standout, it would have to be Brian Gavin," Asbury said. "He played awfully well tonight. Stanley Hamilton finished with 15 points and 10 rebounds for a double-"He was really active tonight," Asbury said. "He did a few questionable things tonight, but he played well though." The leading scorer for Shahter was Georgi Keretin, who finished with 15

Asbury announced after the game that freshman Paco May will be redshirted this season. Asbury said he and his staff just made the decision yesterday.

"I didn't force it on him, but we have a logjam at the two spot," Asbury

"I still think that he is going to be an excellent player and a big contributor.

"He's played well in practice, and. he probably could play for this team. But I don't think the amount of minutes would warrant what he could play in his next freshman year. That's basically the bottom line.'

► BASKETBALL

Post players show unexpected muscle

CRESTON KUENZI

With sparse experience in the paint, K-State's big men are supposed to be the weakest part of the team.

Judging by last night's 99-62, exhibition win over the Shahter Russian Select team, however, that may not be the Stanley Hamilton, forward, led the charge inside for the Cats with 15 points and 10 rebounds, while only playing 17 minutes "We had a lot of people tell us that Stan couldn't help this team at all," coach Tom Asbury said. "I'm not making any judgments off of one exhibition game, but he was definitely very active tonight.

"Stanley came into this year in much better shape, and that in itself shows you how much he wants to be a contributor." Hamilton said he was pleased with his overall performance. "I think I played pretty well," Hamilton and coaching staff.

"I felt comfortable, and I didn't have anything to worry about, so I just went out there and played and had fun."

Hamilton said the fact that some people think he can't contribute to the team makes him work even harder.

"I can't go by what anybody else says," Hamilton said. "All I can do is go out and try to prove myself, and that's what I'm going to do for the rest of the year.

"I want to leave K-State on a good note, and I want people to be saying, 'he was a hard worker and he did whatever it took to Hamilton showed his skills outside of the lane when he sunk a three-pointer in the second half.

"I can shoot the three because I practiced on it. last year," Hamilton said. "With the type of program we had last year, I wasn't supposed to shoot the three. "This year he (Asbury) wants me to said. "I had a lot of confidence in my team open my whole game up and play versatile.

Joining Hamilton in the middle with impressive games were centers Tyrone Davis, Kevin Lewis and George Hill, who combined for 24 points and 11 rebounds.

Davis said he was not happy with his

"I wasn't satisfied with my play," Davis said. "I was disappointed especially with some of my passes, but our effort was good, though.

Asbury said he thought Davis could improve in some areas, also.

When Tyrone gets down and does what he's supposed to do, he's pretty good," Asbury said. "We've just got to get him more active on the offensive boards and get him into better shape, but he's pretty solid inside.

Belvis Noland, guard, said he was very impressed with the men in the paint.

"The big guys worked really hard and played great," Noland said.

Belvis Noland guards a Shahter player during K-State's first exhibition win. Noland contributed 12 points to K-State's cause.

▶ FOOTBALL

Punting question remains unanswered

WESS HUDELSON

The Wildcats' punting game is struggling. Twenty points were given up in the fourth quarter, and it is still too early to talk about bowl games

Coach Bill Snyder addressed these concerns at his weekly press conference at the Vanier Football Complex Tuesday.

"Right now, no one is starting at punter," Snyder said. "We're trying to get better, and the players are, too.

Chad Romano, Eric Hardy and Scott Collins have shared the punting duties throughout the season. Neither has established himself as the starter.

"Punting is not an easy task," Snyder said. "It requires such finite skills. If you drop the ball a half inch, it can throw the whole thing off.'

Former all-America punter Sean Snyder has been working out with the kickers during practice, Coach Snyder said.

"It's just a matter of concentration and focusing on what they should do during games and not worrying," Snyder said.

K-State's problems go beyond the kicking game, Snyder said. Most of the problems were apparent in the fourth quarter of the Iowa State game.

The Cyclones ran up 246 yards of offense in the quarter along with the three scores.

'We haven't been good in the fourth quarter this season especially since the conference games have started," Snyder said. K-State struggled defensively against Oklahoma in the fourth quarter, as well as giving up 17 points, Snyder said. Luckily for the Cats, they had a big lead to hold on to during both Snyder said the big leads were perhaps the reason for K-State's fall in the final quarter. "We led 38-0 with 11 minutes left in the game," Snyder said. "Sometimes it's hard not to relax when you're in that situation." Snyder said he has used K-

State's troubles in the final quarter as motivation during practice.

"I've told the players to labor under the assumption that our lead was only 20-0," Snyder said. "We could be looking at a record with one less win.

If K-State does hold on in the fourth quarter to win the rest of its games, it will more than likely earn a top-10 ranking.

Snyder said the Cats could find themselves in a Coalition bowl

"There are seven spaces open in the Coalition," Snyder said. "If we are so fortunate to be a top-10 team, it is my understanding there may be a chance for us to get in somewhere."

► VOLLEYBALL

Tournament berths hang in the balance of matches

WESS HUDELSON

It's crunch time for the volleyball team as it faces the Iowa State Cyclones at 7:30 tonight at Ahearn Field House.

The Wildcats sit alone in fourth place in the Big Eight Conference with a record of 3-5, only a half game ahead of Oklahoma. The top four teams advance to the Big Eight Tournament, which takes place Nov. 25-26 in Omaha, "Iowa State isn't vital. If we beat Oklahoma and Kansas, we're in,"

Coach Jim Moore said.

K-State faces Oklahoma at 7:30 p.m. Saturday and Kansas Nov. 16 both on the road.

The Cats haven't beaten the Cyclones since 1988. On Oct.12. Iowa State swept the Cats in three K-State's last match was against the No. 1-ranked Nebraska Cornhuskers. Nebraska overpowered K-State in three games one week ago. Moore said his team needed the time off to recover from illness and "The time off will be great for us," Moore said. "We need to get people healthy again." Setter Devon Ryning has missed the last two weeks of action with mononucleosis. She could possibly return for the Iowa State game tonight. Her playing status was to be determined Tuesday.

life

NOVEMBER 9, 1994

Tidbits-

LANDLORD ACCESS RIGHTS

A landlord may enter a housing unit only upon reasonable notice and for a purpose permitted by law, except in the case of a genuine emergency.

Tidbits-

SECURITY DEPOSIT

Landlords are liable for any amount of a security deposit that is wrongfully withheld, plus 1-1/2 times that amount.

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

RENTING RELATIONS

Brown said. "You need concrete evidence, otherwise, it's one person's word against

Brown said not receiving a full deposit back is a problem for "A lot of times, people

another."

many tenants.

don't get all of their said. "Usually, the problem is that they were not informed as to why the

Some

landlord

kept it."

landlords

Manhattan

money back," Brown

When things break, or rent is late, Communication there is only one thing needed - hen landlord or roommate problems develop, renting an apartment or house can turn into a financial burden for students.

Anthony Estes, senior in computer science, has lived in either an apartment or house for 3-1/2 years. During this time, Estes said he's become wiser about dealing with a landlord. "Now, I'll stay on them about things," Estes said. "I'll call them even if it is not an immediate repair and keep calling so they won't deduct the money out of the deposit." Estes said he has learned from experience. One time, my dishwasher was broken. I told the landlord, and they wrote it down, but didn't fix it then," he said. "I didn't use it much anyway, so it wasn't a big deal. Then, I got charged with it, and it was taken out of my deposit."

Estes said he's had problems receiving a bill, which was only about $20 to $30," Nichols said. "I didn't get it back until September.

'It was frustrating, especially when my next landlord wanted his deposit. It's hard to get $600 all at once."

Eighty-five percent of the cases the K-State Consumer and Tenant Affairs deal with involve tenant or landlord problems, Marisa Brown, director of the Consumer Relations Board, said.

Out of these cases, the majority involve roommate problems, Brown said.

John Nowak, junior in business administration, had a roommate leave town when the rest of the roommates were at class one day this semester.

"It puts pressure on us. We don't want to get evicted, and it's difficult to find a roommate halfway through the semester," Nowak said.

Nowak said the telephone was disconnected for more than a week because it was in his former roommate's name, so the remaining roommates had to pay a $40 hook-up fee. If the remaining rent is not paid, Nowak said he will not get a good reference from his landlord if he wants to move, and he will also lose $225, his share of the deposit.

Nowak said he's talked to the district attorney about going through his former roommate's company to get the money. "It's better if they garnish his wages, because if not, he can say he's not financially stable," Nowak said. "We don't want to get him fired, we just want the money from him."

Consumer and Tenant Affairs has fliers and brochures with items such as an off-campus housing listing, a roommate questionnaire and a roommate

"Our job is not to give students advice, but to give them options," Brown said.

Brown said agreement.

Consumer and Tenant Affairs works with Dianne Urban, K-State student's attorney, but the two offices are separate.

'We work back and forth," Brown said. "If students need advice, we send them over there. If they just need options, she sends them here.

Keeping track of conversations between a landlord and tenant are important for effective communication, Brown said.

Any type of correspondence between a landlord and a tenant should be written down," Brown said.

'This includes promises to do any type of repair, because after a tenant moves in, a landlord could say 'I didn't say that,"

willing to work with their tenants, Estes money just runs out," Estes said. "Instead of paying January 1, I've had landlords that will let you pay January 15, when the semester starts. That's one good thing about

Estes said his landlord this year came down things to make sure all of the problems were written down, whereas in the past, his landlords have just slid a card under the door.

Rafael Charneco, freshman undecided, said his landlord has been very flexible so

"He takes care of everything," Charneco said. "He cleans up the leaves and mows the lawn. When he moved out, he gave us the telephone number of the plumber in case he had problems."

Charneco said last year this was not the case with a different landlord.

"We had broken pipes, water on the carpet and a plugged toilet," Charneco said. "I had to call the plumber and pay him when there were problems and then deduct the payment to the plumber from my rent.

STORY III KIMBERLY HEFLING ART M MIKE MARLETT DESIGN III N. STEWART ANDERSON

He (the landlord) takes care of everything. He cleans up the

LANDLORD TROUBLES?

Below are some resources students can use to take legal action if necessary.

Legal Services for Students Office of Student Activities & Services, K-State Union, Ground Floor, 532-6541

Flint Hills Legal Services 102-B South 4th St. 537-2943 Lawyer Referral Service of the Kansas Bar Association (913) 233-Private Attorneys

Consumer Relations Office Office of Student Activities & Services, K-State Union, Ground Floor, 532-6541

Code Enforcement Division City Hall 11th Street and Poyntz Avenue. 537-0056 Human Resources City Hall, 11th Street and Poyntz Avenue. 537-0056

full deposit.

"In the past, I don't think I got a full return on my deposit," he said. "There were things in the lease that weren't stated, and the landlord told us later, such as a mandatory carpet cleaning. I ended up having to pay for it and having it taken out Seeking legal action was a consideration, but Estes said he decided not to do it, although he said he would do it if it were an extreme case.

"I just didn't want to deal with it anymore," he said. Chris Nichols, senior in political science, has had similar problems with landlords. "Our whole front door frame was coming apart, and the door was completely falling off," Nichols said. "It took three weeks for the landlord to fix it.' "This summer, I wanted my deposit back, but my landlord wouldn't give it to me until he had received the water and trash

"I'm on financial aid, and sometimes the landlords in a college town.

over and went through the house writing

Any type of correspondence between a landlord and a tenant should be written do

Director of the Consumer Relations Board at the K-State Consumer and Tenant Affairs

KNOW THE FACTS

■ A lease is a binding legal agreement.

or move out.

■ The tenant and the landlord should inventory the housing unit within five days of moving in and right before moving out. ■ A landlord can give three days written notice to pay the rent leaves and mows the lawn RAFAEL CHARNEC freshman undecided

Opponents of new jail facility celebrate defeat of measure

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

locations that are unacceptable to them because they are close to residential areas.

A hush fell over the house as the KMAN-AM 1350 radio announcer gave the election results.

Children laughted and shouted from the basement and the back bedrooms of Brenda and Vernon Schaffer's home where the Jail CORP supporters gathered.

Jail CORP member David Frey was the first to celebrate as the first set of numbers were announced.

With 11 percent of the vote counted, 42 percent were in favor, and 57 percent were opposed to the half-cent sales tax.

"After five years, I can't believe this is coming to an end," Deb Frey, CORP member, said.

The jail issue has never been

"I think they thought if they drug it out far enough, we would just get tired and quit," she said. Brenda Schaffer said she was glad the campaign was over. She said she had never backed a political candidate or issue until she became involved in Jail CORP.

The Schaffers had a Jail CORP sign in their front yard, but it was stolen twice, Brenda Schaffer said.

"Someone stole the sign again today," Vernon Schaffer said.

"We'll put a couple up then," David Frey said.

Deb Frey said she had replaced several signs that had been torn down or damaged around town.

Working with Jail CORP was not without its price.

Deb Frey said she and her brought to a vote before, Deb Frey said.

husband also received phone calls couple of years," he said.

williams said he thought the unplugged their phone. Richard and Tanya Bachamp also received a prank phone call during the campaign. While members of Jail CORP celebrated, the county commissioners planned their next step in building a new lawenforcement center.

Jim Williams, said commissioner, commissioners will be looking for a more suitable site acceptable to the people of Riley County.

I've never been in favor of the location in a residential area," Williams said. However, he said he kept his opposition quiet in order to let the people decide.

"I think we have enough to work on. We can get a jail built in a vote would be closer. He said he expected both sales-tax issues to

"Of course we're disappointed," Karen McCulloh, commission chairwoman, said.

McCulloh said the commission had a very good committee that made what she said she thought was a good recommendation.

'Now we'll see how we can deal with the overcrowding and having the police in two places," she said.

McCulloh spoke with the county attorney about the weekend overcrowding problems.

"Many are K-State students who did something stupid," she said. The commission doesn't want to see them get hurt because the jail was too crowded.

EVEWEAR FOR LESS . EVEWEAR FOR LES SINGLE VISION as low as

THIS SPACE IS RESERVED

(for youl)

Sales-tax increase to help lure Cessna manufacturing jobs to city mayor's economic-development chairman of the chamber of said. "By voting yes, the

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

the No on No. 2 Committee, said the committee's main objective was to get information out about its stance.

The No group did not gather for the results because Vaughan said they felt like they got their information out.

The next job for the Economic Development Committee is to plan its strategy.

Mayor Helen Cooper said they would celebrate, rest and then start putting all the programs into place.

"The real work begins now," Rich Seidler, co-chair of the task force, said.

The big task is left up to the city commission, who will be in control of the money, Seidler said. The city commission will create an economic-development opportunity board, which will look for the best kind of investment. There has to be a first step before programs can be implemented.

"Our next step is to continue answering questions from Cessna," Stinson said.

With the next step comes the realization of dreams.

"We are very pleased with the results," said Don Wissman, commerce. "For a long time, we have felt like we had a large number of volunteers but not enough money to make things happen.

With the yes vote, Manhattan can move forward and create jobs, Wissman said.

Rick Mann, co-chair of the Jobs for Manhattan Committee, said he was impressed that voters in Manhattan would support a tax increase when other communities are voting to cut taxes.

"I'm ecstatic for the community," Mann, co-chair of the Jobs for Manhattan Committee, community has shown vision.

"While other communities voted to cut taxes, our community was willing to increase taxes to improve Manhattan and themselves."

While this half-cent tax creates full-time employment, it will also create part-time student jobs, Mann

"The part-time jobs could create great atmosphere for future students," he said. Part-time jobs could encourage more students to choose K-State over other universities, since they would know there were good job possibilities here, he said.

WEDNESDAY & THURSDAY OCT. 19 & 20

MONDAY/TUESDAY OCT. 31 & Nov. 1

THURSDAY & FRIDAY

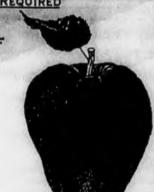

Nov. 10 & 11

TIMES: 8:30-11:30 A.M. & 1-4:30 P.M. NO APPOINTMENT NEEDED

CASH/CHECKS ONLY - K-STATE I.D. REQUIRED $5.25 STUDENTS $8.25 FACULTY/STAFF

(1ST TIME OFFERED) HIGHLY RECOMMENDED

FOR PEOPLE WITH LONG TERM HEALTH PROBLEMS & ASTHMA

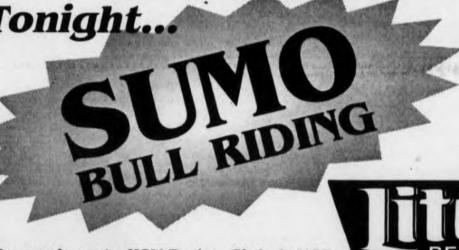

COLLEGIAN Advertise in the 532-6560

NGHORN & the KSU Rodeo Club Tonight.

Proceeds go to KSU Rodeo Club & UCP. Come early - doors open at 7 p.m.

1115 Moro • Aggieville • 776-8770

CLOSED CLASS LIST

C - Canceled class

Updated 5:08 PM, November 8, 1994

*Closed class list also available in Unicorn

IVERSIONS

'CHICAGO' TO PLAY AT McCAIN

KSU Theatre and the department of music present the musical "Chicago" this Thursday, Friday and Saturday at 8 p.m. in McCain Auditorium. Tickets are available at the McCain box office (532-6428). Prices are $8 for students/seniors and $10 for the general public.

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

▶ CROSSWORD EUGENE SHEFFER 12 Authorita-1 Leading ACROSS 1 Corpulent 28 Command- 2 Opposicommand 4 Sch. org. ment word tionist 30 Air-rifle 3 Classy 14 Polly, to 8 Rorschach lady? Tom ammo 15 Decade objets d'art 33 Party 4 Determin-10 It's from 19 Hodges of 36 Hairdress-5 Bullring the heart baseball 11 One side ers' shops beasts of the Urals 37 Rumor, 6 Infinitesi-20 Have a bug 13 Rodgers & in Rouen mal bit 21 Skull cavity 38 Suit 22 Dorothy's Hammermaterial 8 Ball VIP stein forte 39 Destroy 9 Props in a 23 After-16 Linkletter 40 Deletes Wagnerian showe Garfunkel 41 Poodle applicaopera description 10 "I -17 Burned-DOWN 24 Excluding out shells Camera" 18 Melody 25 Vague Solution time: 22 mins. 26 Quiz 19 Hereditary answe unit 28 Sports-20 Curved page datum 21 Lie on the 29 Receives a border of suspended 23 Checker sentence? move? 25 Coworker 30 Hen 31 Vivacity of Murphy 32 Fast plane Brown 34 Holly 26 Lose out 35 Domin on a lead-in

For answers to today's crossword, call rotary phones. (18+ only.) A King Features service, NYC.

11-9

CRYPTOQUIP

JYB AMBPZ

APGBML' HPJYBMXQH

KXJY P JFPLJ. ABHPQ Yesterday's Cryptoquip: MARRIED MATH TEACH-EKS HOPE TO BE BLESSED WITH A PROBLEM CHILD.

Today's Cryptoquip clue: H equals G

IT'S NEW...BOOK 2! Now you can order 200 classic Cryptoquips by sending $4.50 (check/m.o.) to CryptoClassics Book 2, PO Box 6411, Riverton NJ 08077.

THE FAR SIDE

GARY LARSON

ANDREW TOMB/COLLEGIAN

"You're up, Red.

► CALVIN AND HOBBES

BILL WATTERSON

▶ FOXTROT

MY STUPID ENGLISH TEACHER HAS LOST

HE EXPECTS US TO READ THIS FAT 400-PAGE BOOK PRACTICALLY OVERNIGHT! OUCH, WHEN'S I DUE? FRIDAY!

BILL AMEND

Roommate should fight nudity with nudity

DEAR CASSIE

Duveaux

Write to Cassie:

Dear Cassandra,

My roommate enjoys walking around our apartment in the nude. I have told her several times that I don't appreciate it, nor do I get a thrill out of

But lately, she has been trying to thrill others.

Yesterday, when my boyfriend came see me, she decided to parade around again. I couldn't believe it.

My boyfriend left hurriedly when he saw this because he thinks there is something going on between us and besides just being roommates.

What should I do? 116 Kedzie Hall Manhattan, KS

Please Help Me 66506 Thanks

Dear Help Me,

Your roommate sounds like quite a character. However, if her nudity is affecting your relationship with your boyfriend, it's time to take action. Don't get angry, get even.

The next time your roommate has a group of friends over, repay the favor. Streak to the shower or parade through the kitchen in your skivvies and watch her jaw drop.

If you're not that brave, just tell her you don't appreciate her nakedness and ask her to put on a robe when she goes to take a shower.

Trying to find her a boyfriend is not the answer. Besides, if she's parading around naked, she probably already has more than she knows what to do with.

NOVEMBER 9, 1994

► REVIEW Film soundtrack same song and dance

Clerks Soundtrack Mammoth Records

Ratings: *** Sell plasm

*** Check it out ** Think twice * Giggle at it in bargai

As far as soundtracks go, the record to the new movie "Clerks" is pretty typical. The compact disc is a mix of songs by new, obscure bands and established acts putting forth some of their most mediocre material.

The album would be rated higher if it could be judged on sense of humor alone. This is a funny

"Chewbacca" by Supernova is a heavy metal love chant to the great Star Wars Wookie.

Fans of the trilogy will go nuts. Seaweed's cover of "Go Your Own Way" butchers the Fleetwood Mac classic. Not an easy task for those who think the song is kind of butchered in the first place.

The really funny moment on "Clerks" are excerpts from the movie, which is about the daily adventures of convenience store attendants. They play dialogue from a guy who wants to go to a funeral which will be "the social event of the sea-

There are twisted discussions about sex, pornography, and which Star Wars movie is the best. (What is the fascination with Stars Wars?) If you hear the CD before the movie comes out, these tracks may encourage you to go see the low budget

Okay, back to the music. There really isn't. much to talk about. The new bands don't really have anything new. Golden Smog seems to recognize this by doing a cover of Bad Company's "Shooting Star" that doesn't differ much from the original. "Violent Mood Swings" by Stabbing Westward would be pretty unique, if it weren't identical to Nine Inch Nails. The rest of the unknowns have tracks with lots of noise, screaming, and nonsensical mixing.

There are popular bands in the act as well. Alice in Chains sounds like Alice in Chains. Soul Asylum sounds a lot like Soul Asylum. Bad Religion sounds like ... getting the point?

These great bands don't really branch out much for this record.

Instead, they give us generic, stock stuff that they know their fans will like.

I suspect that they are saving the new material for their own records.

Keep in mind that the "Clerks" soundtrack is exactly that, a soundtrack. It is unfair to judge any of these bands by this record.

With the runaway successes of such soundtracks as "The Bodyguard," and "The Crow," we expect soundtracks to stand on their own. This one

It does what a movie soundtrack should do - it 3 goes along with the movie. The two concepts? should not be separated.

Collegian Advertising 532-6560

(NO coupon needed, NONE accepted)

'No Coupon" Specials

Everyday Two-fers

2 - PIZZAS with 2 - TOPPINGS each 2 - COKES with ice

$8.45

Everyday Three-fers 3 - PIZZAS with - TOPPING each

4 - COKES with ice $10.34

Pizza Shuttle 776-5577

The Newly Founded Phi Chapter of ΣΛΒ Fraternity Congratulates The Newly Founded lota Chapter of  $\Sigma \Lambda \Gamma$

Sorority

Mr. Goodcents gives you... Sub specials every day w/ choice of chips, potato salad

or pasta salad.

1317 Anderson (Behind Varney's Book Store) • 539-1900

Rowdy Trouty's!

$1.75 Margaritas!

$1.50 bottles!

NO COVER! ©'Big Fire' soon to be released on

Rowdy Trouty's • 1209 Laramie

O Spectacle Records™

The Farmer's Market is gone, but we are still here. Fresh picked Chinese cabbage, oriental radishes, greens, turnips, and spinach.

Barbra's Market

Juliette & Fort Riley Blvd. 539-1414 open daily 9-5:30 p.m.

CONSIDERING A CHIROPRACTIC CAREER? CONSIDER LOGAN AS ITS FOUNDATION.

Logan College of Chiropractic is now accepting applications for our 1995 entering classes in January, May, and September.

Required at time of entry:

Specific degree-level coursework from an accredited college or university.

A personal interest in a career as a primary care

A personal interest in a career as a primary care physician.
 Logan College offers:
 A professional school of 800 students with an extremely low student/faculty ratio.
 Preparation for a career as a doctor, licensed as a Primary Healthcare Provider in the United States and all Canadian provinces.
 In five academic years, a combination of basic science and clinical science with clinical preparation, clinical performance, and chiropractic concepts and practices.
 Accreditation by the Council on Chiropractic Education and the Commission on Institutions of tion and the Commission on Institutions of Higher Education of the North Central Association of Colleges and Schools.

A beautiful campus in the suburbs of a major metropolitan area with a low cost of living. For complete information, just request our portfolio by writing or calling, toll free, 800/782-3344

1851 Schoettler Road + Box 1065 + Chesterfield, MO 63006-1065

Hunter, Keitel excel in 'Piano'

RUSSELL FORTMEYER

Jane Campion's quaint, original film, "The Piano," is a perfect example of what high quality filmmaking can accomplish outside of the Hollywood system.

Campion's own Oscar-winning screenplay is delightfully funny and interestingly morbid, offering her performers a chance at creating colorful characters who are more than one-dimensional.

"The Piano" starts off with the introduction of Ada (played by Oscar-winner Holly Hunter), the non-speaking English woman promised in marriage to a New Zealand land owner (played by Sam Neill), who communicates most of her emotions through her prized piano.

When Ada and her daughter, Flora (played by Oscar-winner Anna Paquin), arrive in New Zealand, they enter a muddy, mucky world of natives and constant rain. Ada has brought so much from England, her new husband's workers cannot carry it all and must leave her piano behind.

After Ada's husband trades the piano to George Baines (the remarkable Harvey Keitel) for some land, Ada turns against him. But, in able to still play her beloved piano, she agrees to give Baines lessons.

It is these lessons that ultimately turn into an affair between Ada and Baines, hence, turning the film into a romantic milieu of forced love and real love; that is, forced love between Ada and her husband and the real love between Ada and

Holly Hunter, best known to audiences from "Raising Arizona" and "Broadcast News," is in top form in "The Piano." Her performance received unanimous critical acclaim

Not surprisingly, little Anna little unusual on a Tuesday

try coffees they may not have other

Katherine Muasau, junior in secondary education, speech and English, said she made a point of stopping by Union Station after reading about the hours in the

"Anything that has to do with

Muasau tried the Costa Rican

Wiggans said attendance has

"It's growing. The first week

"We're really happy with the

"We're trying to get this started

Wiggans said the International

Hayes said the purpose of the

"It's to provide entertainment continued to pick up in the three weeks the coffee hours have been there were only a few people, and this week there's even more," she progress. Coffee and college students have always been a good

- a tradition of sorts. The more the Coffee Hours table was set up either outside Union Station or hours was not for profit but rather to provide a service to students.

and drink coffee," he said. "It's not put out to make money. It's just an

"It's a service to the students to inside on the dance floor.

idea that runs all year.

let them try the coffee."

appreciation for culture, I'm 100 coffee. She said it was excellent.

percent for it," she said.

The variety is nice to have."

offers a place to get away.

come here and relax.

Collegian.

combination.

merrier.'

Paquin became the critics' darling overnight with her precocious

Harvey Keitel registers a respectable performance as the rustic, passionate Baines. It's a real, and welcome, departure from his shoot 'em up, mobster style of his other performances ("Reservoir Dogs").

However, the real star of "The Piano" is Jane Campion. Campion is not a first time film-maker, but this film is considered her first real effort. Her whimsical direction is sweeping and picturesque, while still maintaining its personal Campion's screenplay takes so many fresh twists and turns culminating in an ending that is powerful and immediate. This isn't the easy ending of other independent film surprises ("The Crying Game"), but one that is wholly expected and unexpected.

THE PIANO

The Union Program Council presents "The Piano" at 8 p.m. Wednesday, 7 and 9:30 p.m. Thursday in Forum Hall and at 8 p.m. Friday in the Little Theatre. Admission is $1.75.

Campion has a real talent for creating characters who are charming, yet rough, intelligent, yet naive. The individuals in "The Piano" aren't stereotypical, Hollywood, politically correct creations, but living, breathing people who remain appealing. Even Ada's disgustful husband is worth caring about.

"The Piano" is available in book form and is also out on videocassette.

PERSONAL HEALTH CARE FOR WOMEN

CONFIDENTIAL ABORTION SERVICES

• Complete GYN Care • Pregnancy Testing

• Depo Provera & Norplant • Tubal Ligation · Licensed Physicians/Caring Staff · Modern State-Licensed Facility PROVIDING QUALITY HEALTH CARE TO WOMEN SINCE 1974

COMPREHENSIVE 345-1400 h e a l f h f o r w o m e n outside kcarea 4401 W. 109th (I-435 & Rose) 1-800-227-191

Overland Park, KS

VISA

This coupon good for

BEEF AND BROCCOLI $3.90

1-800-227-1918

XPRE55

Sun.

11 a.m.-Midnight

Dine-in & carryout Not valid with any other specials, coupons,

1116 Moro 537-0886 Mon.-Sat. 11 a.m.-1 a.m.

FREE DELIVERY

(Minimum order $9) Expires 11-9-94

or on deliveries.

Coffee Hours offer exchange of cultures

The aroma of fresh-brewed gourmet coffees, cappuccinos and teas mingled with the sounds of jazz Tuesday afternoon in Union Station.

During International Coffee Hours, Union Program Council Multicultural Committee members served Costa Rican and Irish Cream coffees and cappuccino ranging from Hawaiian Macadamia Coconut to Belgian White Chocolate.

Maiden Voyage, a jazz ensemble, provided entertainment.

"We're all students at K-State and all music majors except for the piano player," Seth Galitzer, junior in music and group member, said. "We've been playing together since the beginning of this summer."

Galitzer said the group's performance was his first time attending the coffee hours. He thought the crowd was small but that had little to do with their performance.

"It didn't bother us," he said. "We had fun. That is our main thing - have a good time and play

Scott Hayes, freshman in Spanish and Multicultural Committee member, said the entertainment helped bring in people who may have been unaware of the coffee hours.

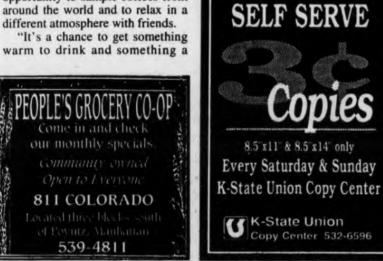

"Usually sound attracts people better than reading," he said. "I think music reaches more people than anything else. It's pretty universal." Kim Wiggans, freshman in Spanish and committee member, she thought accompaniment of entertainment was beneficial to the coffee hours.

"People like to hear live music, and if they hear live music, they're more likely to come in and see what's going on." she said. "And while they're here, hopefully they'll notice and buy some coffee."

Wiggans said the weekly Tuesday event offered the opportunity to sample coffees from around the world and to relax in a warm to drink and something a

SPE PRODUCTIONS

We can provide sound, lighting and live bands for your party. Graphics with lights.

> For more INFORMATION and BOOKINGS Call 776-7726

2 Pizzas Loaded With Nearly 100 Pieces Of Pepperoni SUPREME!SUPREME!

2 Pizzas With Pepperoni. Onion Italian Style Sausage, Mushroom Green Pepper & Beef Topping ANY 2 MEDIUM PIZZAS

> NOW GET - CAESARS SINGLES™ ONE MEDIUM $5.99*ONE LARGE $7.99 Expires 11-24-94

2 LARGE $13.98

LOOK FOR YOU WE HAVE THE LOOK FOR YOU PRESENT SEASON TICKETS & GET

redken ationally Recognized Salon 1323 Anderson

FUTON.

You'd have to be

Because we have: The Best Futons, The Best Selection, The Best Service, The Best Prices. Period.

> 1126 Moro • 776.5950 In Historic Aggieville Open 7 days a week

November and December Specials

Aggieville

Laurie's Specials: $5 off chemical service! $18 Full set of nails!

Toni's Specials: $5 off chemical service! FREE reconstructor with any Salon Service!

Michelle's Specials: $18 Full set of nails!

Ginger's Specials:

$5 off chemical service!

$18 Full set of nails!

532-9009

LETS GET BLOTTO! $1 EVERYTHING

WET, WILD, & WASTED ON WACKY WEDNESDAY!

You Call It!

Calls Premiums Zimas Shots Bottles Draws - Ice House Bud Light Wells

WEDNESDAY SPECIALI DOUBLE

Ladies Night

1119 MORO

776-7714

Coors Light

The Total Sports Package

K-STATE UNION

HALL ROOM 103

KEDZIE

GET THE WORD OUT

LASSIFIEDS

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

1 DAY 20 words or less - $5 each word over 20 - $.20 per word

2 DAYS 20 words or less - $6.25 each word over 20 - $.25 per word 3 DAYS 20 words or less - $7.25

each word over 20 - $.30 per word 4 DAYS 20 words or less - $8 each word over 20 - $.35 per word

5 DAYS 20 words or less — $8.50 each word over 20 — $.40 per word (consecutive day rate) HOW TO PAY

All classifieds must be paid in advance unless you have an established account with Student Publications. Cash, check, MasterCard or Vise are accepted. There is a $1 on all returned checks. ed. There is a $10 service charge We reserve the right to edit, reject or property classify any ad. HEADLINES

For an extra charge, we'll put a headline above your ad to catch the reader's attention.

DEADLINES

Classified ada must be placed by noon the day before the date you wan your ad to run. Classifed display ads must be placed by 4 p.m. two working

FREE FOUND ADS
As a service to you, we run four for three days free of charge.

CANCELLATIONS If you sell your item before your ad has expired, we will refund you for the remaining days.

You must call us before noon the day the ad is to be published.

CORRECTIONS

If you find an error in your ad, please call us. We accept responsibility only for the first wrong insertion.

Call 532-6555 to place your classified.

BOARD

Announcements

ADVANCED FLIGHT Train ing from 5000-hour ATP instructor. Private

Earn $15 each time you donate

plasma.

MANHATTAN BIOMEDICAL CENTER 1130 Gardenway 776-9177 -Fri. 9 a.m.-6:30 p.m., Sat. 9 a.m.-2 p.m.

SALE. Nov. 12 and 13, Sat. 10-6p.m., Sun. 11-4p.m. Pottorf Hall CICO Park. Sponsored by the Pilot Club of Manhattan.

COME FLY with us, K-State Flying Club has five air-planes. For best prices call Troy Brockway, 776-6735 after 5:30p.m

Lost and Found

Found ads can be

RING WITH seven keys and leather/ brass name tag. Left in Holton Hall

Personals

We require a form of picture ID (KSU, driver's license or other) when placing a per-

ASHLEY S., Amanda C., Kelsey B.—We are excit-ed to have you as our dots! See you tonite! Love-Your Mommies.

AX AMBER, You've waited all year; the week is here! Soon you'll be a true Alpha Chi. You'll no longer wonder, "Whose dot I am?" AX Love, Mom.

AX AMY- I know you and you know me. Can you guess who's your Mom-my? Just a little longer AX BROOK- Initiations here, Mom/ Dot time is near? This is all new, family loves you! AX love, Mom.

AX BUFFY and Heidi- The time is coming to get Mom/ Dot and we want you to know your mom's love you a lot! Love, Your Mommies.

AX CAREY and Jenny. The time for Mom/ Dot is near. You think you know who we are, but do you really? AX Love, Your Moms.

AX DARCIE, When you be-come my Dot this week it will be alot of fun. I look forward to all the good times that have only just begun.

AX DOT Lori- I am so excit-ed to be your mommy. Pretty soon you will be part of our family and it will be so much fun (to study U.S. Politics?) Alpha Chi Love and all of mine, Mommy.

AX DOTS Melissa near. Its time to go out and drink lots of beer. This is all too new, but you should know that it's true. Your AX families loves you.

AX DOTS, Jennifer G. and Maggie. I am so excited to get you two as my Dots! I can hardly wait! AX Love, Mom.

AX JAIMEE- In your new family you sure do rate. Your G'ma and I can not wait! AX Love,

AX KRISTI- The time is coming soon for you my dot. You're getting a family ready or not. Your new Mom loves you a lot! AX Love-

AX NIKKI, I can't wait till you become my baby. AX Love, Mommy.

AX PAULA: Welcome to our family! I'm so excit-ed to start spending time with you! See you soon! Love, Mom.

AX SARAH- the time has come for you to see just who's in your fami-ly! I-week is finally here and Mom- Dot is also nearl I'm so proud, I love you baby! Love,

AX TARA, The waiting is over, soon you'll see, Mom and Dot forever we will bel AX Love,

AX'S— JULIE and Jessica. Welcome to our groovy family. Your G-MA is a freak but you moms

AX'S GINA and Rachel, We're your moms and you're our dots, we are ones who love you lots! Just think of all the fun things we'll do! Can't wait to "officially" meet the two of you! AX. love, your mommies.

AX'S JOYCE and Jennifer G. It's time to see who your Mommy will be. You are my twins and I love you two AX Love and Mine, Guess who?

AX'S RENE' and Jennifer-To our new Dots we love you lots. And soon you'll see, just what wonderful Mommies we'll be! AX Love, Your AX'S SHELLY and Shaw na- Soon you'll find out who your mommies will be; we're not as crazy as the rest of the family. You girls are so cool and sweet, can't wait until we offically meet. AX love, Your

AXO HEATHER: The stork has brought you to me, A mommy of Twins is what I might be. Welcome to our great big happy family. AX Love, AXO JULIA: The time has drawn near so you shall soon see who your new mommy and family will 'B'. AX Love, Mom.

AXO KRISTIN: A twin you might be, just wait and see. I'll be such a lucky new mommy, welcome

BABY AUBREY, Roses are red, Violets are blue, I know who you are and Soon you'll know me tool AX love, Mom.

Parties-n-More

ADD A splash to your next bash. Great anytime. Birthdays, mid-terms and Wildcat victory par-ties. Wet-N-Wild Mobile Hot Tubs, 537–1825.

ADD AN extra touch of class to your next par-ty. Call Wayne's Water Party to rent a portable hot tub 537-7587, 539-7561.

REAL ESTATE

For Rent-Apts. Furnished

AVAILABLE FALL very nice one, two, three and four-bedroom apart-ment complexes and houses. Excellent locations with great prices. 537-1666, 537-2919.

FOR JAN. across street Ford Hall deluxe two-bedroom. $485/ month. 539-2482. After 4p.m.

JAN. 1. One-bedrooms in complexes $280- $300.

No pets, lease required 587-0399. QUIET SURROUNDINGS for study. Campus one mile, one-bedroom, some utilities paid. Min imum seven month lease, no 537-8389.

For Rent-Unfurnished

AVAILABLE FALL very nice one, two, three and four-bedroom apart-ment complexes and houses. Excellent locations with great prices. 537-1666, 537-2919.

AVAILABLE JAN. 1. Close to campus. One-bed room apartment and four- five-bedroom house. Both very nice With air conditioner No pets. Leave mes-sage. 539-4641.

MANHATTAN CHASE Apartments, two-bed room apartments avai able now, Corner of College and Claflin.

ONE-BEDROOMS AVAIL units. Central air/ heat Laundry facilities. Three blocks west of campus. 776-3804.

****** CAMBRIDGE SQ. APT. 2 BEDROOMS *FIREPLACE *POOL 537-9064 WEEKDAYS

*********** ACIOUS TWO-BED-ROOM in Chase Apart-ments, dishwasher, bal-cony, on site laundry facilities. Available immediately. 537-8775.

9:00-4:30

SUBLEASE ONE-BED-Available for ment. spring semester. Close to campus. 776-9566.

For Rent-Houses

NON-DRINKER AND smoker, for two-bed-room place. No pets. References. 539-1554.

TWO-BEDROOM, TWO car garage 5112 Murray. Near airport $500/ month. Two-bedroom duplex, 515 S. Manhat-tan $425/ month 539-7181 leave mes-sage.

Roommate Wanted

AVAILABLE JANUARY, Female non-smoking roommate. $145/ month plus one-half utilities. Super room-mate. Two-bedrooms and one-half bath (all to yourself). Furnished liv-ing room and kitchen. Jennifer 587-0141 even-

FEMALE ROOMMATE be ginning in January; right across the street from campus; share with two very nice girls; please call Rebecca bet-ween 5-6p.m. 587–8430.

FEMALE ROOMMATE for spring semester. Non-smoker; three-bed-rooms; walk to campus; $215/ month; one-third utilities. 776–0096 after

FEMALE ROOMMATE to share house. Non-smoker, pets considered. Available now or Dec. 1. $200, one-third utilities plus deposit. 537-1281.

FEMALE ROOMMATE to share two-bedroom apartment, $205/ apartment, $205/ month plus one-half utilities. Water and trash paid. Available Dec. 1. Call 587-9679.

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted. Non-smoker to share four-bedroom. Available mid-Decem ber. Own room, two and one-half bath, washer/ dryer, dish-washer, one-fourth utili-ties, $215/ month. 587-8622.

FEMALE TO share two bedroom apartment.
Own room, free laundry, utilities paid.
$202.50. Jan. 1. Campus one block.
537-4532. LOOKING FOR two more people to share five-bedroom house two blocks from campus. Rent $150 each. Call

MALE ROOMMATE for two-bedroom apart-ment, Williams Place in-side campus. Available immediately. $175/ month plus low electric-ity. Call 532-9094, leave

MALE, NON-SMOKING roommate for new Chase three-bedroom apartment. Own room, own bath, one-third KPL and phone. Rea-sonable rent. Message at 539-6571.

NON-SMOKER, SHARE house, utilities with re-sponsible mostly male household. Large bed-room, laundry, $160. Available Nov. 15 539-2468. Keep trying. 15.

QUIET CONDITIONS, ample parking. Walk to campus and Aggieville. Male student to share large two-bedroom apartment. Begin any-time from now to Jan. 15. $190. 776-3624. THREE GUYS looking for fourth roommate to share four-bedroom er; across street from University. Private park-ing. Call 539–8388. WANTED NON-SMOKING and non-drinking room-mate for basement furnished private bed-room. Walk to KSU. $150. Share utilities.

Sublease

ARE YOUR roommates an noying? Well, I love mine, but I'm graduat-ing in Dec. and I need someone to take over my room. $160/ month. Across from Union, some bills paid. 587-0431. Females only.

AVAILABLE JANUARY 1. apartment, in quiet neighborhood. $315 a month, inexpensive bills. Call 776-5941.

AVAILABLE JANUARY. Fe-male roommate. Non-smoker!!! $145/ month plus one-half utilities Super roommate. You will have two-bed-rooms and one-half bath. Furnished living room and kitchen. Jen nifer 587-0141 evenings or leave message.

FOR SPRING semesteravailable end of Dec. One-bedroom apart-ment, two blocks from campus. Call 537-4768.

TWO-BEDROOM. Available after finals. Near Westloop $435. New carpet, balcony, 776-3173, leave mes-

NICE, CLEAN, two-bed-room apartment, two blocks from campus and close to aggieville. Available after Dec. 19. Call 776-1324.

NICE, SPACIOUS, one-bedroom, available spring semester; across from water and trash paid; Call 537-4011.

ONE ROOM for rent in large, beautiful, seven-bedroom home; $150/ month plus one-sev enth utilities; kitcher and laundry available four blocks from cam pus; January 1 to May 31 sublease available; 537-2497— ask for Russ or leave message.

SUBLEASE A large one bedroom apartment. Starting Dec. 15. Call now 'til midnight 587-8099. Two blocks to campus!

Resume/ Typing.

NEED SOMETHING typed? I'll type it for $1/ per page. Call 537-9480 after 5:30p.m. Ask for

WELL EXPERIENCED typist by day would like typ-ing at night. Laser print-ing. Call Judy 539-7100 or 456-9642. Pregnancy Testing

Pregnancy Testing Center 539-3338

·Free pregnancy testing Totally confidential

·Same day results ·Call for appointment Located across from campus in Anderson Village Mon.-Fri.

9 a.m.-5 p.m.

235

Child Care

MOTHER OF two children looking to babysit in her home evenings and weekends. Call 776-5244.

Automotive

Repair NISSAN- DATSUN Repair SAN- DATSUN Repair Service. 22 years ex-perience. Mazdas, Hon-das and Toyotas also. Auto Craft, 2612 Dipper Lane, Manhattan, Kan-sas. 537-5049. 8a.m.-5p.m. Mon.- Fri.

255

Other Services

PROMPT CONTRACEPTIVE and abortion services. Dale L. Clinton, M.D.,

(913)841-5716. EMPLOYMENT/ CAREERS

Help Wanted The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment/Career classification. Readers are advised to approach any such employment opportunity with reasonable caution. The Collegian urges our readers to contact the Better Business Bureau, 501 SE Jefferson, Topeka, KS 66607-1190. (913)232-0454.

$1500 WEEKLY possible mailing our circulars! No experience re-quired! Begin Now! For information call (202)298-8957.

ALASKA EMPLOYMENT-Fishing Industry, Earn up to $3000-$6000 plus per month. Room and Board! Transportation! Male/ female. No experience necessary! (206)545-4155 ext.

AMATURE PHOTOGRA-PHER, with decent equipment needed for wedding ceremony on Dec. 3, 1994. Price ne-gotible. Call Robert at 587-0845.

ATTENTION GROUPS and individuals! Raise up to $10,000 or more. Win $1000, free car or free Hawaii trip! No Invest-ment. 24-hour recorded message. (609)427-0777 Ext. 1562.

ATTENTION STUDENTS: EATHON STUDENTS:
Earn extra cash stuffing envelopes at home. All materials provided.
Send SASE to Central Distributors P.O. Box
10075, Olathe, KS
66051, Immediate re-

COACHES NEEDED for mens and/ or womens gymnastics. 15- 20 hours. Will train the right person. Gymnastics experience pre-ferred. Call 539-3613. COMPUTER NETWORK ADMINISTRATOR: part-ADMINISTRATOR: part time student position mostly regular sched-uled hours with some emergency trou bleshooting hours. Re sponsible for oversee-ing 55-computer Macin-tosh network, including hardware maintenance software backups, and records maintenance. Should be familiar with Macintosh operating systems 6 and 7. Client server networking for an ethernet network. TCP/IP experience a plus. Salary negotiable based on experience Pick up an applications in 113 or 103 Kedzie

COLLEGE GRADUATES

> I drive a Jaguar, earned $4,000 in my second month and am helping professionals cross the country do the same." Interviewing for dynamic, enthusiastic. money motivated individuals to represent a progressive Marketing and Training Company, creating a global change. Serious Inquiries

Only. Call for Appointment (913)776-7975.

CRUISE SHIPS NOW HIRING. Earn up to $2000 plus/ month working on Cruise Ships or Land-Tour companies. World travel (Hawaii, Mexico, the Caribbean, etc.) Seasonal and full-time employment available. No ployment available. No experience necessary. For more information call (206)634-0468 ext.

FRIENDS OF THE ENVI-RONMENT. Big prob-lems need big people! Big problems can earn you a big paycheck, if you are serious about creating a GLOBAL CHANGE. Major statewide expansion. 230 na-tionwide offices already breaking records across the country. *Explosive
Growth * Various Positions * Full Training **Travel Available *Excellent Income Potential *Relocation Optional Call 776-7975 for ap

KITCHEN HELP needed for a sorority house. Contact Edna Rush at 539-3424. MACINTOSH BLESHOOTER: part-time student position, mostly regular sched-uled hours with possi-ble emergency hours. Assists in overseeing 55-computer Macintosh network, including hardware and software troubleshooting and general maintenance. Should be familiar with Macintosh operating systems 6 and 7. Minimum wage to start Pick up an applications at 113 or 103 Kedzie

Application deadline is noon on Tues., Nov. 22. MALE MODELS up to $50 an hour for photography work. Send photo and description to P.O. Box 113 Salina, KS 67402-0113.

NANNY WANTED. Need loving, dependable per son to care for charm ing nine month old baby. Full-time posi-tion. Starts Jan. 1995. Submit letter of applica-tion to J. Kassebaum, 1816 Cassell, Manhat-tan, KS.

SANTAS WANTED, Man-

NTAS WANTED. Manhattan Town Center and Portraits by LBJ are looking for Santas. Day, night and weekend shifts available. Apply at Portraits by LBJ 1714 Fairlane, 539-7272, Tues.—Thurs. between 10a.m. and 60.m.

noon on Tuesday, Nov 22. plications will be accepted 9- 6p.m. cepted 9-through Nov. 11. SUMMER JOBS OUT-DOORS Over 10,000 openings! National Parks, Forests, Fire Crews. Send stamp for free details. Sullivan's 113 Fast Wyoning Ka-113 East Wyoming, Kalispell, MT 59901. VARNEY'S BOOK

PARKING

532-6555

532-7309

applications for tempo applications for tempor rary part-time full-time positions in the text-book department to assist with textbook buy-back. Possible employ-ment dates are Nov. 29 through Dec. 18. Day time, evening, and wee-kend hours are available. $4.30 per hour. Involves helping customers, moderate lifting and cleaning/ pricing books. All positions require diligence and a pleasant, service- ori-ented attitude. College ented attitude. College experience is strongly preferred. Apply in per-son downstairs at Var-ney's Book Store, 623 N. Manhattan Ave., Manhattan, KS. Dead line for application is Sunday, Nov. 13, 1994.

WANTED: WORK-STUDY student for office du-ties, 10- 12 hours/ week. Apply at the In-dustrial and Manufacturing Systems Engi-neering office, 206 Dur-land before Nov. 23.

330 Business

Opportunities

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment/Career classification. Readers are advised to approach any such business opportunity with reasonable caution. The Collegian urges our readers to urges our readers to contact the Better Busi-ness Bureau, 501 SE Jefferson, Topeka, KS 66607-1190. (913)232-0454.

INDEPENDENT telecommunications representa-tive looking for individ-uals interested in earn-ing extra income. Com-mission based. No in-ventory. Operate out of home or dorm room. If interested call 1interested call 1-238-7871. Leave name, phone number and ad-PROFESSIONAL. I need OFESSIONAL. I need the help of a local distributor who wants to earn up to $500 a day, from the comfort of your own home. Minimal investment required. For more information call 537–0837.

TURN YOUR FAX into a fast cash machine and generate over $3000 per month. Fax your name and Fax number to (817)997-2443 for

MARKET

SKI RESORT JOBS! Ever wanted to work in the Rockies? For fun and adventure call Ski-Ve-nture (619)683-2300. Wanted to Buy STUDENT INTERNS, part UDENT INTERNS, part-time, positions avail-able immediately for 10- 15 hours per week. Excellent English com-munication skills re-quired. $4.75 once trained. Applicants should apply in person at Veterinary Medical Li-brary, fourth floor Trot-ter Hall, KSU. EOE. Ap-plications will be ac-

COLLEGIAN CLASSIFIEDS

Kedzie Hali 103 Manhattan, Kan. 66506

OR WRITE

CHRISTMAS CASH? We buy used Air Jordans 85- 91 editions and late 70's and early 80's Nike running shoes, pay up to $200! 1-800-873-3538

WHITE WICKER furniture wanted. Don't store it for the winter. Let's deal! Call 537-4667

410

Items for Sale

FOR SALE: Acoustic guitar, new $150, or best offer. Stair Stepper, $50. Very old computer, $50, or best offer. Call 587-0431.

MICROWAVE, DESK, 12-speed women's bike, three bar stools, free standing kitchen cabi-net, student acoustic guitar. Best offer, 537-SOFA AND chair- matched set - $100; mountain bike- Bridgestone MB-Z $350; Kenmore air conditioner- one year old $225; Cannondale 3.0

alum. frame 21-inch-$100; 539-1777. TWO SMALL deep freezes for sale. 5.1 cubic foot chest for $100, 12.0 cubic foot upright for $150. Great to store meat from homel ( 537-5667 after 5p.m.

BONEPILE

RECORDS & DISCS YOUR HIGH-QUALITY SOUND RECYCLERS S CASH DAILY S FOR RECORDS, TURNTABLES. COMPACT DISCS

LOTS OF PARKING 1126 LARAMIE MANHATTAN

AND CD SINGLES

Furniture to Buy/Sell

FOR SALE: Queen set Re stonic mattress, founda-tion, steel bed frame, used one year. $350, 776-2433. 430

Antiques

TIME MACHINE Antique Maul and Geeb Empori-um, 6000 square feet, antiques, collectibles, estate jewelry, furni-ture, 4910 Skyway Dr. four blocks east of Manhattan Airport. Open Tues.- Sat. 12- 6p.m. 539-4684.

Computers

435

COMPUADD 386SX16, 3.5 and 5.25 floppy, 85 MB hard, 4 MB Ram, 2400 bds modem, two joy-sticks, SVGA monitor, MS DOS 6.0, $700, call Mo 776-4110.

MACINTOSH COMPUT-ER. Complete sys-tem including print-er only $500. Call

OFFICE HOURS MONDAY-FRIDAY 8 a.m.-5 p.m. (Except holidays)

Chris (800)289-5685

PARKING

UNION

SOUTH OF THE

Food Specials

CHINESE CABBAGE, orien tal radishes, greens, hot peppers, spinach, peanuts, squash, sweet pototoes. Barbra's Market. Juliette and Fort Riley Blvd. 539-1414.

450

Pets and

Supplies BABY FERRETS are in at Animal House Pets! We have everything you will need for your new baby! Come check it out at 210 N. 14th.

FOR SALE: Iguana, one and one-half - two years old, with heat rock and UV light. 537-0546.

SNAKE- BOA three feet long with big cage. $140, Dave 539-0169. 455

FOR SALE: solo-Flex, three years old, all attachments. Excellent condition. Call 539–4680.

Sporting

Equipment

Tickets to Buy/Sell FOUR TRAVIS Tritt tickets

third row. 539-1582.

PORTATION 510

Automobiles 1984 F250 XLT Supercab, four-speed diesel, one owner, $4500 owner, (316)896-2856.

cassette, cruise, $8700 or best offer. 1-(913)935-2593, W-1989 TOYOTA Camry LE,

1988 TOYOTA 4-runner air conditioned/ AM/FM

silver, sparkling new, very clean. 51K miles, excellent condition, sine owner. 537-8689 1991 CHEVROLET Beretta, 57,000 miles V6, A plus, air conditioner, cruise, AM/FM cassette, red, very sporty, $7300. (913)437-2208. FOR SALE: 1980 CJ7 4x4, six cylinder, auto, hard-top, $1800 or best offer. Wayne 537-7587.

TRIPS

Tour Package SPRING BREAK 94 Cancun, eight days, seven nights on the beach $499. Sign up early and save money. Classic Travel 1212 Moro, Ag-gieville, 537-7546.

ADVERTISING PRODUCTION

Publication Practice

IMC 360

Class size is limited so sign up now. Get training and gain experience while earning one hour of credit this spring. Attend class one day a week from 8:30-11:30 a.m. You pick the day of the week based on availability. The instructor's permission is required. The experience you gain in the spring would qualify you to apply for a paid position in the summer or fall.

> Come to 113 Kedzle 8 a.m.-4 p.m. for more information and syllabus.

This is an advertisement paid for by K-State SGA

Bigger, better Union in process

Imagine the new, improved Student Union, more study area, courtyard, barber shop / hair salon, computer store, bank and credit union, dry cleaners and franchise venders, to name just a few of the possibilities.

&State Union

Last spring, the Student Body voted in favor of the K-State Union Enhancement project. Fulltime students pay $25 per semester and part-time students pay $12.50 per semester for the renovation and expansion of the facilities, services and projects as part of their fees. These fees help finance a budget of $9.7 million for the Union's physical renovation/construction and $100,000 increase in Union Program Council's annual budget.

A good number of students have been involved with the Planning, Sub-Planning, and Steering committees. These committees are still looking for new ideas and are open to suggestions. Students are encouraged to get involved with this process which will in turn create a student union that is beneficial to all students. "This is a student union. It is the right and responsibility to make sure it consists of facilities and things that students need and want," said Becca Korphage. If you have any questions or would like to give ideas, please call the SGA office.

Since student input is the only way to create a random representation of student body will be selected to participate in the survey. This will allow for a wide range of student opinions. This survey will not be the only information that is taken into consideration, but will be one of many forms of student representation.

> committees have been working on plans but they are not final. preliminary plans call for an addition on the north and east sides of the Union and also a courtyard on the north side.

The

existing Union will remain the same. Many of the offices will be moved to provide for optimization of space. There are also hopes of attracting outside vendors into the Union. The number and types of venders has not been decided yet so student input is important. Even though the year to year and a half of construction will inconvenience students, administration will work to make the Union services available. "We will provide services one way or another, if we can. The last time construction took place, the food lines were moved to the ballroom for access," said Jack Sills, Union Director.

A lot of work has gone into the planning process of the Union Enhancement, but there continues to be a need for more students ideas. Please, if you have any questions or ideas, call the SGA office and let the committees know.

7-14 S.A.S.S. WEEK

STUDENT SENATE MEETING - 7 p.m. BIG EIGHT ROOM

CATS TRAMPLE TIGERS

S.A.S.S. SPECIAL STUDENT SERVICES MEETING -7:30 SGA OFFICE

STUDENT SENATE MEETING - 7 p.m. BIG EIGHT ROOM CATS SHOOT DOWN THE COWBOYS

Important Upcoming Dates

PARKING SURVEYS DUE

23-27 THANKSGIVING BREAK!!

CATS RUN UP THE SCORE ON THE REBS

DECEMBER

STUDENT SENATE MEETING - 7 p.m. BIG EIGHT ROOM PARKING SURVEY RESULTS COMPILED

STANDING COMMITTEE MEETING TIMES: IN SGA OFFICE

COMMUNICATIONS -- SUNDAYS AT 6:30 p.m. STUDENT AFFAIRS AND SOCIAL SERVICES -- SUNDAYS AT 7:30 p.m. LEGISLATIVE AFFAIRS -- SUNDAYS AT 9 p.m. SENATE OPERATIONS -- MONDAYS AT 7 p.m. PARKING AND CAMPUS SAFETY -- MONDAY AT 8 p.m. ACADEMIC AFFAIRS -- MONDAYS AT 8 pm. ELECTIONS COMMITTEE -- MONDAYS AT 8 p.m. IN UNION FINANCE COMMITTEE -- SUNDAYS AT 8 p.m. -- ROOM 203

Increasing tuition

The K-State student body president and the student body presidents of four regent universities agree that fighting record breaking tuition and maintaining open admissions are the keys to maintaining student access to higher education in Kansas.

In the last decade, the average cost of tuition at Kansas regents schools has increased nearly 7 percent per year. Ten years ago, student tuition accounted for 25 percent of the state universities' budgets. Because of steady tuition increases, today students contribute 35 percent.

"If tuition continues to increase at its present rate, people will be priced out of a quality education and eventually a quality future," said Jeff Peterson, student body president at Kansas State University.

Peterson said this trend is a bothersome one. "Students--and in many cases their parents-are paying more for higher education," he said.

"If tuition continues to increase at its present rate, higher education in Kansas will no longer be accessible to students. We can't afford to let that happen."

In the last decade tuition has spiraled in comparison to inflation. From 1984-1994 inflation has increased 44 percent, while in that same time period, tuition at regents schools has skyrocketed 92 percent. And there is no relief in sight. For the 1995-96 academic year the state Board of Regents has proposed a tuition increase between 3 percent and 7 percent at Kansas universities.

Frank Sabatini, chairman of the Board of Regents, said he had favored a smaller tuition hike. Sabatini said tuition rates can only be raised so much before the state's public universities become too expensive for the average resident to attend. To help offset tuition increases, Sabatini said it is important for universities to continue to find ways to assist students with the cost of higher education.

"We've got to find ways to raise more scholarships, grants and financial aid," he said. "It is a factor of accessibility."

Regent Sidney Warner said if accessibility is not maintained, high tuition fees will soon cause prospective students to say," Whoa! I'm going somewhere else."

Peterson said students may have the same reaction if Kansas does not maintain its open admissions policy to state universities. Peterson that for many years there has been a movement to restrict university enrollment by doing one of three things: 1) requiring students to complete a college preparatory curriculum determined by the Regents' system and to maintain a grade point average of 2.0; 2) to restrict enrollment to those students who score 23 or higher on the ACT; or 3) to enroll only those students who rank in the top 33 percent of their high school graduating classes.

"If the proponents of such legislation have their way, they will not only restrict students access to an education, but also their access to a bright future," he said.

"There are many people who have earned degrees from our state universities who would not even have been admitted if such restrictions were in place in the past."

William G. Fateley, professor of chemistry at K-State, is one of those people.

"The subject of open enrollment is a very personal one to me because I feel I would not have gained admission under the requirements you support, (restricted enrollment) Fateley said. "I believe my accomplishments in the scientific world speak in defense of the rights of other types of students to have the opportunity to pursue a higher education, and, yes, perhaps fail in the attempt."

Peterson said increased legislative funding and maintaining open admissions can be a reality if students are willing to take control of their future.

"We (students) can make a big difference if we are willing to do three things. First, we must exercise our right to vote in the upcoming elections. Second, we need to contact our local representatives and let them know where we stand on this issue. And third, we need to ask our family and friends to actively support increased legislative funding and open admissions for our regents schools."

In addition to student involvement, Brad Finkeldei, student body vice-president, said grass roots support from Kansas communities is vital if legislators are to give serious consideration to higher education issues.

"Parents from across Kansas need to tell their legislators that in order for their children to compete and prosper in the 21st century, it is necessary they have access to a high-quality, affordable college education,"

"If they don't, the future of our students and of our state will be in jeopardy."

Senator of the Month

There are many new senators in the Student Senate this year striving to improve our university. Because of this large amount, a great number of these new senators are filling a power vacuum in the senate. John Riedel is one such senator.

A senior majoring in accounting, Riedel is very enthusiastic about his first year as a College of Business Senator. He is already accepting responsibility as he takes on the position of Community Service Coordinator in the Communications Committee for the senate.

"I think I am making some impact, but I am learning more each day," Riedel said.

His biggest goal is to get students to play an active role in community services activities. One such activity that has already taken place this year is raising money for the United Way.

Another project that is currently under way is the Cats for Cans campaign. This is a function which collects canned food for the needy.

If you have any ideas for future community service projects or would like to become involved in Cats for Cans, please feel free to contact the SGA office for more information.

Student Senate is Working For You

Do you ever wonder what your student senators are up to? Now you can "track them down!" This week, in the Office of Student Activities and Services, a tracking chart was established to better serve our students. This chart shows all activities of all aspects of Student Senate; where we've been, where we are, and where we are heading.

If you are interested in what student senate is up to, feel free to visit the Office of Student Activities and Services located on the ground floor of the Union or visit the SGA Information Table set up every Thursday in the Union. Any suggestions are always welcome!

Parking Survey to be Administered

On November 7th a survey aimed at providing a solution to the parking problem will be distributed.

"This survey will be sent to 600 students, 300 classified employees, and 300 unclassified employees," said Michele Meier, parking and campus safety committee chairperson for the K-State Student Senate

The survey will provide participants with four choices to end the parking problem. They will choose to keep the status quo, to build a 1200car parking garage, to restrict the sales of parking permits, or to develop a campus wide shuttle system.

"Students participating in the survey need to realize it's importance and the impact they will have on a campus wide decision over this problem," Meier said.

Mike Zamrzla, chief of staff for the student body president, said, a solution will be provided to the administration on December 1st.

"The survey, hopefully will provide students with a lot of say on this issue," Zamrzla said. Further chaos has been added to the issue of parking with loss of over 219 general stalls.

"With the construction on Farrell Library and the Marianna Kistler Beach Museum of Arts, a lot of stalls in A1 and A2 were lost. Only 104 general stalls were replaced through restripping," Meier said.

Meier is worried that students will get bogged down in the issue of parking and miss other important changes around campus.

Parking should not be students' only concern, they need to be aware of the restripping of Mid-Campus Drive, opening it up to two lanes," Meier said.

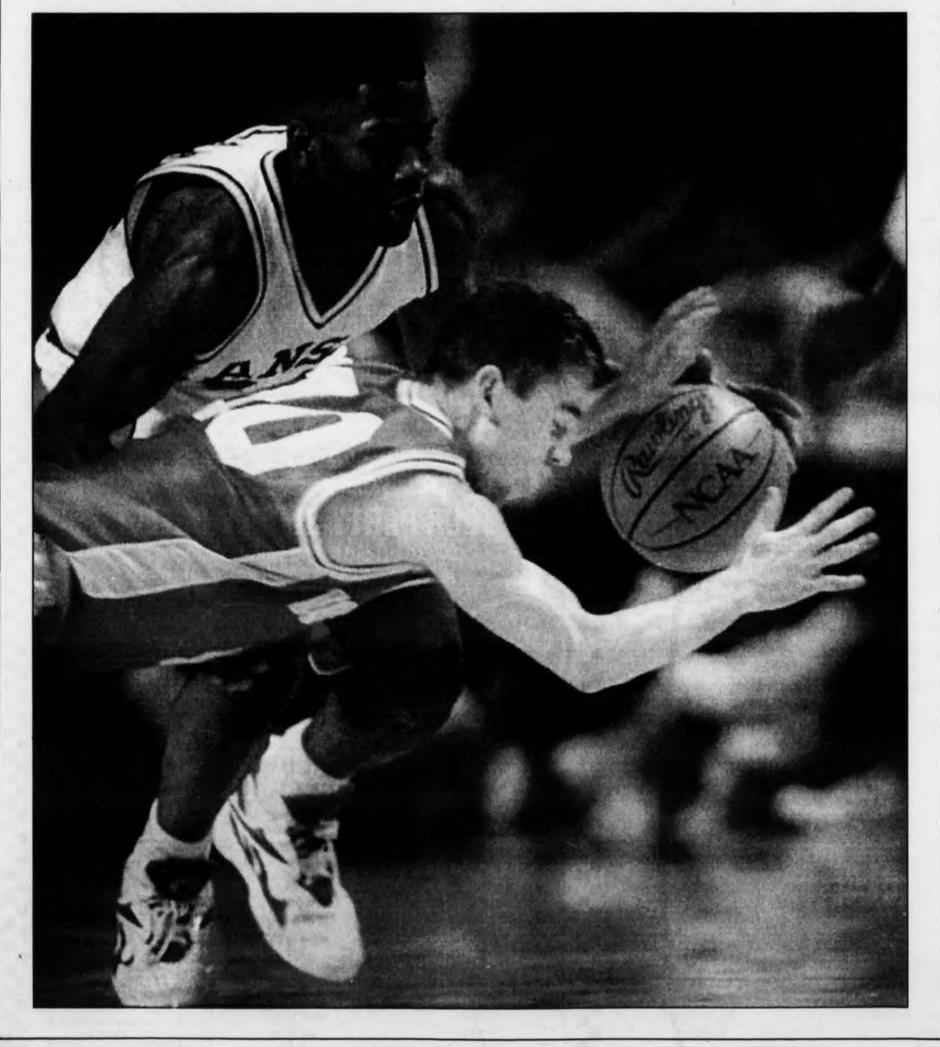

The administration is currently fixing a majority of the troubled lighting areas across campus. Not all areas have been singled out. My committee has walked the campus at night trying to find areas missed. We are then hoping to assemble this information and present it to the administration, Meier said.

"Every student who is mad, concerned, or just frustrated about parking or campus safety problems needs to contact their senator. The senate can be a lot more effective when they know exactly what the students concerns are," Meier said. "Everyone has their own concerns, and these need to be gelled together into a solution."

Student Senate Communications Committee members are the writers for SGA Unplugged. They are: Brian Bowen, Sarah Loise Engler, Paul Friedrichs, Michael Henry, Aaron Hurst, Tim Kukula, Douglas Lamunyon, Jeff Kleinschmidt, Melissa Miller, Andy Tomb, Stacy Schirmer, and Jamie Congrove.

BIG EIGHT ERS CONFERENCE BASKETBALL

WHAT'S INSIDE

IS THE WOMEN'S TEAM READY FOR NCAA'S?

The Cats are led by all-Big Eight selection Shanelle Stires and three-point shooting expert Shawnda DeCamp. Coach Brian Agler also brings in a highly touted recruiting class, which means the Cats could be ready to compete with the top teams in the Big Eight and in the country. The race for the league title could be close, as three teams have the talent to bring home the Big Eight crown.

Page 2

ARE THE CATS ABLE TO WIN WITHOUT SKI?

This will be a season of change for the K-State Wildcats as Dana Altman left for Creighton, and the Cats' leading scorers graduated. Tom Asbury takes over the reigns of this season's squad with only two returning starters. K-State has several huge holes to fill inside and at the point guard position. Will the Cats be able to regroup in time for the NCAA Tournament?

Page 4

CAN KANSAS RECLAIM THE BIG 8 TITLE?

- KU is led by all-Big Eight selection Jacque Vaughn but do they have enough firepower? Can the Tigers bounce back after losing four starters from last season's Big Eight
- Championship team?
   Nebraska is led by guard
  Jerod Boone. It could be this season's darkhorse.
- Bryant Reeves is the best player in the league, but can he lead the Cowboys to the championship?
- Colorado guard Donnie Boyce is one of the best around. The Buffs will still sit at the bottom, though.
- Iowa State has a trio of players that could lead them to the top under new coach Tim Floyd.
- Oklahoma has a new coach too. Forward Ryan Minor would help any new coach adjust.

Page 3

COVER PHOTO BY SHANE KEYSER/Collegian

Proud Sponsor of the Collegian Game Coverage

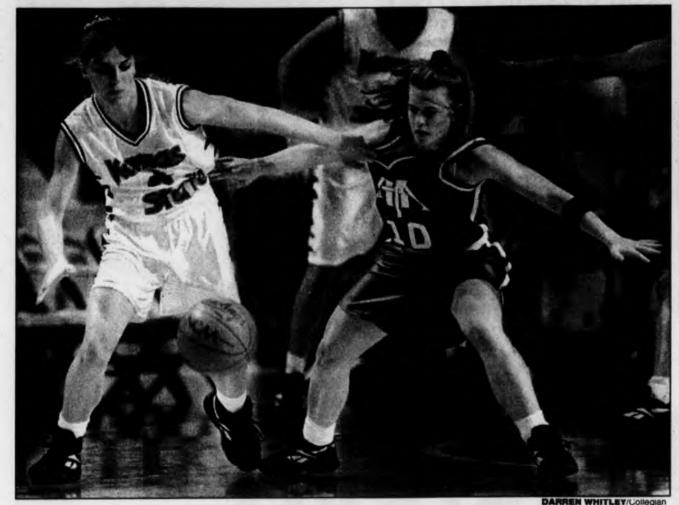

BONANZA

Where The Extras Don't Cost Extra

KSU vs. Missouri November 12, 1994 Proud Sponsor of the Collegian Game Coverage

BONANZA

Where The Extras Don't Cost Extra

Freshman wing Brit Jacobson snatches the ball away from a defender in the Cats' exhibition game earlier this season. Jacobson is considered by Coach Brian Agler to be the Cats' best athlete.

Slapping the ball away, K-State's Shawnda DeCamp makes a steal against Athletes in Action earlier this season. DeCamp was the Cats' leading scorer last season.

Stires and DeCamp ready to take Cats to next level

"Our goals are to win the Big Eight title and to receive a berth into the NCAA Tournament."

> BRIAN AGLER K-State women's basketball coach

CRESTON KUENZI

ith the return of second team all-Big Eighters Shanele Stires and Shawnda DeCamp, the K-State women's basketball team is looking toward the top.

After a sixth-place finish in the Big Eight Conference last year, the Wildcats have set their sights on the big prize.

Championship and to receive a berth into the NCAA tournament," Coach Brian Agler said. "To achieve the goals that we have set, we will have to be improved over last year.

"I think we have the ability to be better than we were last year."

Three weeks into practice and after beating game, the team has progressed, Agler said.

"Our team has definitely improved since the first practices," he said. "In order to be ready for the season, we need to continually improve.

"We certainly cannot afford a lull right now." Agler said his top two players from last year, Stires and DeCamp, have stepped into leadership

"They've gained the respect of their teammates," Agler said. "They contribute in big ways on both ends of the court.

"With their experience, they have the feel of "Our goals are to win the Big Eight the program and know what needs to be done out on the floor.'

> Against AIA, DeCamp threw in 29 points, including seven three-pointers.

> Stires added 20 points while making eight out of eight free throws.

> Agler said with the addition of freshmen Amanda Chamberlain, point guard, and Brit

Athletes in Action 79-72 in its first exhibition Jacobson, wing, there is a nice blend of turnovers, Jacobson came off the bench for eight experience and enthusiasm.

> 'I'm impressed with them," Agler said. "I really like their work ethic, intensity and enthusiasm that they bring to our team.

"They're exciting to be around, and they really make it fun for the coaches and the other

Starting in the AIA game were sophomores Andria Jones, a 6-foot, 1-inch post, and Missy Decker, a 5-foot, 10-inch wing.

Jones supplied eight points, and Decker had six in the game.

Both players received significant playing time last year, but Jones' best game came in the Big Eight Tournament.

That's when Jones came off of the bench and scored eight points for the Cats in the third

Chamberlain started at point guard for the Cats and supplied eight assists with only three Agler said the conference should be balanced from top to bottom.

"There are a lot of good teams," Agler said. "Obviously, Colorado, Kansas and Oklahoma State are the favorites after being one, two and three in the preseason poll.

"At the same time, Oklahoma should be very good since they have a lot of players returning after winning the NIT last year.'

Agler said the rest of the teams should be difficult opponents, also. "Missouri will also be tough after winning the Big Eight tournament last year," Agler said.

"Nebraska and Iowa State should also be much improved." Even with the other teams' talent, Agler said he thinks the Cats will do well. "Overall, I think we'll see a very competitive

Apply for next semester's Collegian

re you a good writer? Do you have media experience? Are you reliable and enthusiastic?

The Kansas State Collegian is now accepting applications for editor-in-chief and advertising manager for spring 1995. The deadline for these applications is 5 p.m. Friday, Nov. 11.

Interviews for ad manager will be at 8 a.m. Tuesday, Nov. 15. Interviews for editor will be at 8 a.m. Tuesday, Nov. 22.

Applications for other advertising staff positions are due by 5 p.m. Friday, Nov. 18, and applications for other news positions are due by 5 p.m. Wednesday, Nov. 23. Apply for:

- · desk editor
- photographer
- · columnist
- · copy editor
- · graphic artist · staff writer
- · ad representative · and more

Job descriptions are available in 103 Kedzie Hall. All applications are available in and should be returned to 103 Kedzie Hall from 8 a.m.-5 p.m. Monday through Friday. Please include supporting materials with your application.

Don't miss this opportunity to work on the awardwinning sixth largest morning daily in Kansas.

KANSAS STATE 103 Kedzie Hall (east of the Union)

720 N. 3rd Manhattan, KS 539-3510

Jayhawks favored to capture Big 8 title

Vaughn, Ostertag try to lead KU back to the NCAA Tournament

The Kansas Jayhawks will have to rely on a big "O" and a little "j" if they want to experience the same type of success of previous years.

Greg Ostertag and Jacque Vaughn will try to fill the voids created by the loss of Richard Scott, Steve Woodberry and Patrick Richey to

Also gone for the year with a knee injury is last year's sixth man, Calvin Rayford.

"It's like losing four of our top six," Coach Roy Williams said. "We know we have some major losses, and six of our top nine players may be freshmen or sophomores. "That inexperience actor is something that we have got to try to stay away

First team All-Big Eight

*Fred Hoiberg Iowa State

*Jacque Vaughn Kansas

*Donnie Boyce Colorado

Ryan Minor Oklahoma

*unanimous selection

Newcomer of the Year:

Jerod Haase, Kansas

Freshman of the Year:

Raef LaFrentz, Kansas

Tim Floyd, Iowa State

Player of the Year:

*Bryant Reeves Oklahoma State

Bryant Reeves, Oklahoma State

Preseason Coach of the Year:

from and not let that determine what kind of team we are going to have." Despite the losses of some key players, Williams said he knows he has talent on his

"We're not pretending by any means to act like the cupboard is bare," Williams said. "We feel like we've got some good players, but at the same time we've lost a heck of a lot.

"I've used this analogy before that some people who have been complementary players will have to step up and decide to be the main

Stepping into the spotlight will be Vaughn and Ostertag. Williams said he is very confident that the duo can step it up.

"There couldn't have been a coach in the country that was more comfortable with a point guard last year than I was with Jacque," Williams said. "With Jacque and Greg starting for us last year, it gives us a couple of guys that have definitely been there in crunch time.

With such a young team, Williams said several newcomers should have a big effect.

"I think both Raef Lafrentz and Billy Thomas will be able to add some things to our team," Williams said.

Joining Lafrentz and Thomas as first-year players will be University of California transfer Jerod Haase, who was selected Big Eight Conference newcomer-of-the-year in preseason

Williams said Haase's tenacious play could land him a starting position as shooting guard.

"It was very seldom that he left practice when he wasn't bleeding from somewhere," Williams said. "His intensity level is as consistently high as any young man I've ever coached.

"Our people will really enjoy watching him."

Big Eight

1. Kansas

Iowa State

Nebraska

Oklahoma

6. Missouri

7. K-State

8. Colorado

Oklahoma State

CRESTON KUENZI

A tenacious lowa State defense caused the Wildcats' offense problems in last season's game. This season, the Cyclones were picked to finish in 3rd place by the league's coaches, but the Collegian poll has them set for 2nd place.

SHANE KEYSER

MU looks to replace Big 8 Player of the Year

Missouri coach Norm Stewart said he believes in putting what the Tigers accomplished last season in the record books and move on to this season.

However, last season was a season that fans in Columbia won't soon forget.

It was a season that produced a 28-4 record and a 14-0 mark in league play, along with a Big Eight title.

It was a season that gave MU a top seed in the NCAA Tournament, and a season that produced an all-America guard and a Big Eight Conference Player-of-the-Year in guard Melvin Booker.

'We can't live in the past," Stewart said. "Last year was great and provided us with a lot of memories, but it's time to move on."

The task for Stewart will be who can replace Booker and his front line with the departure of three forwards, along with center Chris Heller.

"Eighty percent of our players from last season's squad are gone. We were picked fifth in the preseason poll, and I appreciate that with all the players we've lost," Stewart said.

Stewart said sophomore Jason Sutherland, who saw limited action in 30 games, is a strong candidate for the Sutherland averaged 2.1 points per game last year, and Stewart said he has good speed and leaping ability.

He will be joined at guard with senior Paul O'Liney. Last season, O'Liney was a mid-season transfer who immediately contributed, averaging 10.3 points per game and 2.6 rebounds.

O'Liney also earned all-Big Eight

Newcomer and Bench team honors.

A guard who can see action as a small forward is Julian Winfield, who averaged four points per game and three rebounds last season.

Winfield earned defensive team recognition last year and is considered to be the Tigers' top defensive performer.

Considerable talent from the community college ranks will also add to the hope of the Tigers' cause.

Seven-foot twins Sammie and Simeon Haley will bring rebounding skills to the squad as Sammie earned first-team Juco all-American and Simeon earned second-team honors.

"Without the numbers I can't tell which one is. They are good athletes." Stewart said.

Harrington said with five new players entering the system, four of which are freshmen, Colorado has a

"With the addition of five new players, it's difficult to evaluate this team,"

Cyclones will sneak up on the rest of the Big 8 with senior leadership

owa tate

WILDCAT WATCH ALL-BIG EIGHT POLL

Top Ten

Arkansas (5)

2. U.N.C. (1)

3. Arizona (1)

4. Kentucky

UMass

6. Duke

7. UCLA

8. Michigan

9. Florida

10. Kansas

16

13

"Heeeere's Timmy!"

Sure, it doesn't have the same effect as Johnny Orr's famous Iowa State introduction, but like it or not, the Cyclones are without their bald, beloved coach this year.

Instead, it's former New Orleans coach Tim Floyd taking over Hilton Coliseum, or "The House that Johnny Built.

But Floyd said replacing the legendary Orr doesn't intimidate him.

"Somebody was going to have to come in here and follow Johnny," he said. "I have a great deal of respect for him. But I just want to be judged on who Tim Floyd is. Cyclone fans are hoping "who Tim Floyd is."

is a coach who can make the most of a group of disagreed with that prediction. Williams has good reason to believe this. Actually, he has three good reasons - Fred Hoiberg, Julius Michalik, and Loren Meyer, the 'Clones strong senior lineup.

Leading the way is "Mayor" Hoiberg, who is already an all-America candidate. This 6-foot-4 senior guard averaged 20.2 points per game last year, shot 53.5 percent from the field, 86.4 percent from the free-throw line, and set a single-season school record with 59 three-

"Fred Hoiberg is as good a person and player that I've coached," Floyd said. "A lot of coaches in this position would say, 'I really don't know who's going to start at this point.' All I know is when you've got a player nicknamed Mayor, you start him, and you play him.

It took a train to stop senior Loren Meyer last year, but before the truck/train accident cut his season short, Meyer was putting up the big numbers for Iowa State, averaging 22.3 points and 9.5 rebounds a game and shooting 61 recovered from his train accident.

NICOLE POELL

CU's Boyce is one of the best in the Big 8

Colorado basketball begins and ends with senior guard Donnie Boyce.

Coach Joe Harrington said he believes Boyce is one of the top talents in the Big Eight Conference, if not the nation.

Donnie Boyce is one of the top guards in the nation, and we have some experience with Ted Allen and Sande Golgart," Harrington said.

Boyce averaged 22.4 points per game in all games last season and 26.8 in conference games, the highest total since Danny Manning's 26.9 mark in

Nebraska coach Danny Nee said this

"Pike is gone," Nee said. "We'll season will be the beginning of the post-

Additionally, Boyce ranked among the top 10 in five different statistical categories: scoring (second, 22.4); steals (second, 2.3); rebounds (10th 6.7); blocks (fourth, 1.5) and assists (sixth, out of the Big-Eight cellar, Allen and Golgart will have to offer more

Boyce and the pair of seniors bring the only significant experience to the Golgart was the only Colorado player to start in all 26 games last year.

He has played in 69 straight games the longest streak of any player on

Nebraska plays conference darkhorse role

"We expect a lot out of our four sophomores. Generally, we could be very athletic."

strong future ahead.

Harrington said.

The biggest newcomer influence could be seen in the backcourt.

Freshman Matt Daniel and Howard

Frier both were all-state selections in high school.

WESS HUDELSON

have to find someone that can replace experienced players already ranked among the "He gave up playing baseball this him as a shooter and top-three teams in the Big Eight. percent from the field. leader on the court." summer, so he's finally rested," Nee In a pre season media poll, Iowa State was "Loren Meyer's 'a talent," he said. "He's said. "This allows him to be rested and Last season picked in third place behind Kansas and 6'11", 260 pounds, and he appears to have Piatkowski was an allmore focused on playing basketball. I Oklahoma State, but KU coach Roy Williams

Big Eight selection, and he went in the first round of the NBA Draft. However, when Piatkowski left, he didn't leave the closet bare, as the Huskers return several players that will look to fill the void that was created when he left. Returning for the Huskers are guards Eric Strickland and Jaron Boone, Badgett. Of that group, Nee will look for the leadership role to fall onto Strickland's think that he's improved in every area of the game. The Huskers' top scoring threat will be Boone, who racked up 24 points, and against Michigan State he had 10 points along with eight assists.

Eric Piatkowski era.

"He can't be our point guard for 40 minutes for us to play like we want to," Nee said. "We need him to be able to score, and when he's at point guard that limits his scoring ability. He is a quality forwards Melvin Brooks and Terrance point guard though."

One area of concern for the Huskers is a lack of an inside player with some height. However, Nee said Nebraska can use that to its advantage. "I wouldn't be surprised if you see us go with a small line-up," Nee said. We're committed to playing full court. That means we'll have to go to a smaller line-up. We'll definitely do that sometime this season.

Nee said this team has the talent to jump into the upper echelon on the Big Eight Conference.

'Last season is gone," Nee said. "We've got a quiet confidence inside the program, especially the players that were with the program last season."

JEREMY CRABTREE

Big Country carries Cowboys back to the NCAA Tournament — again

Big Country is back.

Bryant Reeves, the 7-foot all-American is ready to once again terrorize opposing defenses during his senior campaign at Oklahoma State "There's no doubt that we league with Bryant Reeves," Coach Eddie Sutton said. "He's one of the premier have the best player in the centers in college basketball." Despite the high praises, Sutton said Reeves has some areas of his game that he can improve. "I challenged him this summer to work on his hook shot to help his offense," Sutton said. "I think he can be a better rebounder, and his defense can certainly improve. "He also worked on his outside shooting, so you may see Bryant shoot some treys this year." Sutton said the main concern for his basketball team is outside shooting. "I wouldn't want to play anybody else in our league in a game of horse," Sutton said.

"We lost four out of the best five perimeter shooters on our ball club from a year ago. "Sutton said he's got one player who he knows can hit from the perimeter.

"We've got Randy Rutherford, who's one of the best outside shooters and guards in our league," Sutton said. When you get past Rutherford right now, there are some real question marks.' Sutton said it's important to develop some perimeter shooters, or they will have difficulty getting the ball to Reeves inside. "If we don't hit from the outside, I'm going to feel sorry for him," Sutton said.

'You're going to see more sagging defenses we can't hit that shot. It's definitely going to be harder to get the ball to him than it has been in past years

After earning a starting spot in the 24th game of the season and being named to the Big Eight all-freshman team last year, Chianti Roberts returns for the Cowboys.

"I think Roberts has matured a lot and will be in a starting position," Sutton said. "Beyond that, I still don't have a handle on this season's basketball team."

CRESTON KUENZI

Sampson tries to get Sooners back on track

Like three other teams in the Big Eight this season, Oklahoma begins a new coaching era.

Kelvin Sampson replaces flamboyant coach Billy Tubbs as leader of the Sooners. Sampson spent the last eight seasons as coach of the Washington State Cougars. While at Washington State, he guided the Cougars to an NCAA tournament berth last season only to be knocked out in the first round by Boston College. "My style is my style. Billy's was Billy's," Sampson said. "At WSU, we've always been overachievers and more structured. This is the type of style that this program needs. It will be different."

As for the players returning to the Oklahoma squad, Sampson may have his work cut out for him. Gone are three starters from last season, including three of the top six scorers and two of the top three rebounders.

All of this is missing from a team that was somewhat disappointing with a 15-13 record.

However, two proven performers include preseason all-Big Eight selection Ryan Minor and Calvin Curry.

Minor, who also played on Oklahoma's national championship baseball team, has averaged 16.2 points per game last year and is strong defensively.

Curry poured 14.5 points per game last year and presents a significant three-point threat.

"I had to explain to him that there isn't a rule, that the further out you shoot, the more points that you get," Sampson said. "I told him that you don't have to shoot 30 feet away from the basket and that you have to be in the same county."

Curry is one of three seniors returning to the Sooners' squad this season along with last year's starting point guard John Ontjes and James Ontjes led the Big Eight in assists last season with 6.5 per game.

"He's a good point guard for us," Sampson said. "He makes a lot of the right plays."

WESS HUDELSON

MEN'S BASKETBALL

Wildcats begin new season with new coach

JEREMY CRABTREE

The Wildcats are on the brink of a new era - the Tom Asbury era. Asbury comes to K-State to replace Dana Altman, who left the Wildcats for Creighton, with an . impressive resume from Pepperdine.

With the Waves, Asbury finished with the fourth highest winning percentage in West Coast Conference history.

He also led Pepperdine to the NCAA Tournament three times in the past fix years.

"I don't see Madonna walking down the street anymore," Asbury said. "However, I do like Manhattan. I wanted a chance to coach in one of the best conferences in the country, and I think that the Big Eight Conference is one of those leagues.'

However, Asbury inherits a team that lost its leading scorer from last season, and they have been picked to finish seventh in the league by the local media.

Does that bother Asbury?

"I knew what I was getting into when I took the job," Asbury said. "We were picked seventh or eight in the polls. Would have rather been picked a little bit higher.

"When they pick you that low it means that they don't have respect for your personnel. This season we will build the foundation for the

To help build that foundation, Asbury will count on the Cats' only returning starters, Belvis Noland and Demond Davis.

Noland, a 6-foot, 4-inch swingman, averaged 7.5 points per game last season, while shooting 55 games last year. percent from the field.

"He will swing between the guard and forward positions. He had a good rookie year at K-State, but he also was bothered by some injuries. He is a quality player."

Davis was the Cats' defensive stopper last season. Most of the time, Davis found himself guarding the opponents, but he still managed to average six points per game.

"He is an undersized solid player," Asbury said. "He plays much bigger than he really is. He has done a nice job so far in practice."

After Davis and Noland, the Cats have to look hard to find a player with a vast amount of experience.

K-State's next leading player with experience is guard Brian Gavin. He averaged 11 minutes a

Even with the team's lack of playing experience, Asbury's biggest question mark coming into the season is in the post position.

"We have no experience with size," Asbury said.
"George Hill is our most experienced player, but he is limited on offense. He is a good defensive player though."

Other players fighting for playing time inside are Stanley Hamilton, Hamilton Strickland and Kevin Lewis.

New to K-State this season along with Asbury are Tyrone Davis, Elliot Hatcher, Ayome May and Aaron Swartzendruber.

However, K-State's most explosive recruit was Mark Young, a 6-foot, 6-inch swingman from Baton Rouge, La.

K-State's media guide said Young is the Cats' best recruit since Rolando Blackman.

Despite his preseason accolades, Young ran into trouble during the Cats' first practice. That's when he broke a bone in his foot.

"He should be back to full speed by now," Asbury said.

"Physically, he will be all right, but he missed a lot in learning. That cost us six weeks in his preparation."

With Asbury as the Cats' new coach, look for K-State to try and push the ball up the court with an up-tempo attack.

"Probably will have to play faster than I ever have had to before," Asbury said.

"We have to play with our talent, and one way to do that is with transition."

1994 ROSTEI lead Coach - Tom Asbury Asst. Coach - Steve Aggers Asst. Coach - David Campbell Asst. Coach - Mark Fox 24 Demond Davis 6-4 G/F 44 Tyrone Davis 6-8 25 Brian Gavin 6-1 G 4 Stanley Hamilton 6-6 3 Elliot Hatcher 6-0 G 33 George Hill 6-8 C 34 Kevin Lewis 6-10 C 12 Ayome May 6-6 G 41 Belvis Noland 6-4 G/F 00 Hamilton Strickland 6-9 21 Aaron Swartezdruber 6-2 G

6-6 G/F

5 Mark Young

Belvis Noland guards a player on the Croatia National Team last season. Noland returns as K-State's top scoring threat.

► K-STATE/ISU FOOTBALL GAME

Wildcats dissatisfied with blowout

JULIE KUHLMAN

It was a game that will go down in the history books

Not because of the K-State 38-20 dismantling of the Iowa State Cyclones Saturday, but because two significant records were broken during the

The Wildcats' victory led them to its first top-10 ranking in school history.

After the win, K-State moved up to No. 9 in the USA Today/CNN Coaches' Poll and to No. 11 in the Associated Press Poll.

It was also a game where K-State quarterback Chad May broke Lynn Dickey's school record for career touchdown passes

May has thrown for 30 touchdown passes in his career, while Dickey finished with 29.

"I'm happy that I was able to get the record personally," May said. "It doesn't mean much team-wise, but it is a great personal record."

Iowa State coach Jim Walden said if May was at UCLA, he would be getting twice the notoriety he is receiving now.

"We're not the best defensive team in the world by any stretch of the imagination, and giving too many opportunities to Chad May will lead to destruction," he said.

May collected four of his 30 career passes against the Cyclones on Saturday.

The first touchdown pass was to receiver Tyson Schwieger on K-State's first drive of the contest. That gave the Cats a 7-0 lead. Later in the first quarter, May connected for a 57-yard touchdown strike to Ron Brown with the help of a tip from an Iowa State defender. "He tipped it, and it just fell right in my hands. Six points," Brown, who finished with five receptions for 106 yards, said. K-State's offense produced 10 more points in the second quarter with a 9yard connection from May to Schwieger, and a 20-yard field goal from Martin Gramatica. Gramatica was perfect for the day going four-for-four in extra-point attempts, and one-for-one in field goal attempts.

The second half proved to be disappointing for the Cats.

"Opportunities were there, and we didn't take advantage of them, Snyder said.

The offense proved to be struggling when J.J. Smith was stopped short from the end zone at Iowa State's 5- yard line on fourth down.

However, the Cats did score offensively on a 9-yard May touchdown pass to Brian Lojka, which was his first touchdown catch.

The last points put on the board from K-State was from strong safety Mario Smith with a 38yard interception return for a touchdown and Gramatica's kick.

The score stood at 38-0.

Then came visions of the loss suffered in Ames, Iowa when the Cyclones scored 21 points in the second half en route to a 27-23 win over

There would be no shut-out.

Iowa State moved up and down the field almost at will in the fourth quarter, scoring 20 points.

"I can't really say what happened," Nyle Wiren, K-State defensive end, said. "I can't explain it."

Snyder can explain the breakdown.

"We completely came undone in the fourth quarter," he said.

May said not all of the blame should be on the defense. "I'm not really satisfied with the final score because in the fourth quarter, we didn't do anything offensively to keep the defense off the field," May said.

You've heard of Thelma and Louise

Wait until you meet Velma and Roxy

They're dangerous They're killers and everyone loves 'em!

CHICAGO

A Bob Fosse Musical

Presented by KSU Theatre and the Dept. of Music

Nov. 10 - 12 McCain Aud. 8pm

Tickets: McCain Box Office Noon to 5pm or oall 532-6428

LEGAL SERVICES FOR STUDENTS

Student Activities and Services (Formerly Student Government)

K-State Union 532-6541

Legal Counseling, Document Preparation, Limited Representation

> FOR ENROLLED STUDENTS PAYING ACTIVITY FEE

FREE AND CONFIDENTIAL

SUBWAY POSTERS TAPESTRIES INCENSE BEADS T-SHIRTS-TIE DYES GUAT. CLOTHING

MERCHANDISE

CREATE YOUR OWN JEWELRY BAJAS GRATEFUL DEAD

JAMAICAN STYLES SOPHISTO FUCT PERVERT SKUNK KILLER LOOPS SKATEBOARD ACCESSORIES

ON THE WILD SIDE 1128 MORO 776-BAJA MON.-FRI.11-7, THURS. 11-8 SAT. 10-6, SUN. NOON-5

1219 Bluemont Aggieville 537-5113 Dine-In or Carry-out Buy one breakfast item

HOURS: Mon. - Thurs. 7:30 a.m. - 9 p.m., Fri. & Sat. 7:30 a.m. - 10 p.m., Sun. 10:30 a.m. - 9 p.m.

and get a second breakfast item FREE!

7:30 a.m. - 10:30 a.m. Mon-Sat

Buy one daily special get one cup of soup FREE!

KANSAS STATE

People put on fake fat in order to fall at high rates of speed.

PAGE 8

WEATHER - PAGE 2

NOVEMBER 10, 1994

KANSAS STATE UNIVERSITY, MANHATTAN, KANSAS 66506

VOLUME 99B, NUMBER 58

David May, sophomore in mechanical engineering, lowers the flag from the Vietnam Veterans Memorial Wednesday afternoon during K-State's Army and Air Force ROTC annual Veteran's Day commemoration. The ceremony honors all veterans, past and present.

rmy, Air Force honor K-State vets

Soldiers' roles changing, Veterans Day still important

DOUG BASSETT

The Army and Air Force ROTC programs had their annual Veterans Day commemoration for all veterans, past and present, Wednesday.

The event took place at 4 p.m. at the K-State Vietnam Veterans Memorial. "It was for all veterans, but mostly it was for the living veterans of today,' Army Cadet Lt. David Beaver said. "This was a joint effort between the Army and the Air Force. It went pretty well, except it was a little short.

Mark Wetherill, Army ROTC and senior in public relations, said the ceremony was especially a tribute to K-State veterans.

The ceremony began with the the 21-gun salute," Wetherill said.

placing of a wreath on the memorial and a 21-gun salute.

Beaver gave a speech about the role of today's soldiers and yesterday's veterans, and the importance of Veterans Day.

About 75 soldiers from both the Army and the Air Force were present for the ceremony that lasted about five

"This is the first time we have had

"The 21-gun salute is the highest honor that can be bestowed on

Sean Crosby, Army ROTC and Color Guard Commander and senior in social science, said the soldiers who fired the guns were volunteers.

For the finale, Dennis Brooks, a member of the KSU Marching Band and senior in music education, played "Taps" while the color guard lowered the American and MIA-POW flags.

► MANHATTAN

Agency pulls through, helps needy resident

MIKE HIND

In a day where few put faith in government programs and agencies, the story of Fern Wittwer gives people a reason to smile.

Many college students can_identify with drafty college houses and a very limited income. Fern Wittwer

"I had trouble getting food to would get it to within about 6 inches. I made more work for

FERN WITTWER

Manhattan resident myself."

my mouth. I identifies with it. In February, it was hard for Fern to be sure of much. She was in the process of recovering from a stroke she'd suffered in late January. Right before she was hospitalized, she had someone look at the furnace in her house.

The plumber looked at my furnace and said it couldn't be fixed," Wittwer said.

They tried to sell me another furnace, but I couldn't afford it."

Wittwer then was hospitalized for the stroke and spent most of February in rehabilitation, but she hadn't been forgotten. Neither had her lame furnace. With limited use of both her right hand and leg, life at home would take on different dimensions. With her whole right side affected, Fern would have to learn how to do the basics of life all over again. She wasn't able to drive.

Even eating became a chore.

"I had trouble getting food to my mouth," Wittwer said. "I would get it to within about 6 inches. I made more work for myself."

"My brother called somebody, and they fixed the furnace.'

That somebody was the Northcentral Regional Planning Commission in Beloit, and Wittwer's furnace wouldn't be the only thing

During the next few months, she would also get central air, insulation and a new roof.

Fern's problems were brought to the attention of Dean Dagg, the rehabilitation specialist of Manhattan's community development department.

In the spring, Wittwer got a new roof. The shingles were paid for by the Manhattan Housing Rehabilitation program. The roofing was done by the National Society of

■ See STUDENTS Page 10

▶ GOVERNMENT

Changeover could signal return to Grand Old Party for Kansas

Look for campus views of election in Friday's Collegian.

CORI CORNELISON NOLAN SCHRAMM

The Democrats are getting the boot, and the Republicans are taking over the position as majority party in the U.S. House and Senate. "I think it's a step backwards," Robert Littrell,

Riley County Democratic chairman, said. Littrell said he doesn't know if he would interpret the change of power from Democrat to Republican as a signal of returning to old Reagan economics or not. "I guess what it will entail is the end of slashand-burn policies conducted by Dole," he said. Littrell said Republicans are going to be given a chance to do what they can do and that the Democrats would revisit them in a couple of years. "I think they [Republicans] have acted totally irresponsible as a minority party," he said.

Republicans, on the other hand, are elated at the return of the House and Senate to the Republican party after 40 years of Democratic control.

"It was a battle of new blood and new ideas versus experience. Some people obviously thought, 'Let's bring some new horses to the team,'" Hermann Donnert, K-State College Republicans Donnert said that reasonable Republican ackages would now have a chance to be noticed by Clinton and the Democrats.

The Republicans will now be able to get bills on the floor," he said. "It's Clinton's responsibility to sign or veto them.

interesting to see the Republican majority in the "It's an interesting mix, but I feel that certainly it's going to go conservative for a couple years,

Democrat Bill Kennedy said it will be and then you're going to see a flop," Kennedy said.

"Senator Dole has been saying for a long time,
'Give me a bunch of Republicans, and I'll clean things up," he said, "Let's see if it happens."

► THEATER

Chicago' winds blow through K-State

RUSSELL FORTMEYER

Feel like getting razzle-dazzled with all that jazz?

Take a trip to "Chicago," K-

State Theatre's production of the Bob Fosse musical this weekend in McCain Auditorium.

Fosse's musical romp is based on Maurine Dallas Watkin's 1926 play, "Chicago." The musical had its Broadway debut to rave reviews in 1975. Luke Kahlich, professor of speech and director/choreographer of "Chicago," saw the original

At Wednesday night's rehearsal of "Chicago," Roxie Hart, accused murderer of her lover, meets with her lawyer, Billy Flynn. Hart is played by Caisha Williams, junior in theater and elementary education, and Flynn is played by Travis Cloer, senior in theater. show in the mid-'70s.

"I thought it was one of the most exciting shows I have ever seen," Kahlich said.

"I have always admired Bob Fosse's work," he said.

The show is about a slick lawyer, Billy Flynn, who represents women successfully in court by razzle-dazzleing the jury and judge. He makes the women out to be victims and turns them into public celebrities.

Kahlich said the show is very topical, what with the O.J. Simpson, Lorena Bobbitt and Menendez trials this past year.

'The show is Fosse's way to indict the justice system," he said.

Fosse explores humankind's darker moments with humor, such as his movie version of the musical "Cabaret."

'There's something about human beings. We like to joke about things even though they are serious," Kahlich said.

Fosse wrote the book of the musical along with Fred Ebb.

Fosse has a pretty extensive résumé, including director and/or choreographer positions in the original Broadway versions of "Damn "Sweet Charity," Yankees" and "How to Succeed in Business Without Really Trying."

Fosse, as a director, realized theater must teach us something, but it also must entertain, Kahlich

Fosse was considered one of the main entertainer directors for about 20 to 30 years, Kahlich said.

John Kander wrote the music for Ebb's lyrics. Kander and Ebb

INSIDE

 K-State makes all costumes for "Chicago." Page 8 recently wowed Broadway with their musical, "Kiss of the Spider Woman."

"The music is incredible," Kahlich said. It has a real flavor of the 1920s and a contemporary jazz sound, he said. Bill Wingfield is conducting the orchestra, which Kahlich describes as a "jazz ensemble,"

"It's a real toe-tapping show bouncy and energetic," Kahlich and is positioned onstage.

Chicago, although a critical and popular success, didn't receive near the fame of another 1975 Broadway hit, "A Chorus Line."

Kahlich said his greatest worry about doing Chicago was casting the show. He said the lead roles are very challenging. "I have some really dynamic performances out of these students," Kahlich said.

Caisha Williams, junior in theater and elementary education, plays Roxie Hart, Billy Flynn's latest client, a wife accused of murdering her lover.

working on the show, since it is her first musical. The hardest part of performing Roxie is the dancing, she said.

Williams said she has enjoyed

■ See STRONG Page 10

NEWS BRIEFS

► REPRESENTATIVE-ELECT BROWNBACK, TO SPEAK ON MORALS, VALUES

Newly elected 2nd District Congressman Sam Brownback will be the fourth speaker for the Blue Key senior honorary Leadership Week

Brownback will present his speech, "Leading through morals and values," at 2:30 p.m. today in Waters Hall 328.

Paula Ansay, senior in marketing and co-director of Blue Key's Leadership Week said invitations to speak were extended to both John Carlin and Sam Brownback.

"Both are Blue Key alums, and we thought it would be exciting to have the two candidates here during election week. Unfortunately, Carlin had to decline due to previous scheduling commitments."

Jennifer Montgomery, senior in public relations and political science and coordinator of the Blue Key Leadership Vigil, said she believes every student should attend Brownback's speech.

"I don't necessarily want to make too big of a deal of his coming here, because I don't want to detract from our other speakers this week," she said.

"But I do feel like it's really cool that he will be here just two days after he was elected to be our representative in Congress," Montgomery said.

In addition to being a Blue Key alumni, Montgomery said Brownback is also an alumni of K-State.

"We have speakers coming here from across the country, and one thing that distinguishes Brownback from our other speakers this week is that he is up with the current issues that pertain to this area," Montgomery said. "Brownback is very familiar with K-State and what's currently going on here."

Montgomery said she was pleased Brownback was coming to

"This is a great opportunity for students to discover who their representative is, right after the election," she said.

"We knew that if he won or lost, he would be an excellent asset to our Leadership Week speaker schedule," she said.

STEFFANY CARREL

TOPEKA, Kan. (AP) Tuesday's voter turnout failed narrowly to set a record for a non-presidential election in Kansas.

The secretary of state's office said 836,251 people voted, unofficially. The final tally will come when the State Canvassing Board meets in about two weeks to certify official

The record for an off-year election is 840,604, set in 1986 when Kansans not only voted for governor and other state offices, but also had liquor-by-the-drink, pari-mutuel wagering and lottery propositions on the ballot.

► KANSAS VOTER TURNOUT FALLS SHORT OF SETTING ELECTION DAY RECORD

SOS officials said the Libertarian Party retained its official state recognition as a political party. It needed to get at least 1 percent of the vote in one statewide race, and got 4 percent in two races: Steven Rosile for secretary of state and Seth Warren for treasurer.

The Libertarians are the only minor party with state ballot posi-

They have just 0.4 percent of the state's registration.

POLICE REPORTS

These reports are taken directly from the daily logs of the K-State and Riley County Police departments. Because of space constraints, not all crimes are listed.

K-STATE POLICE

STATEMENT COMPANY OF THE STATE OF THE STATE

TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 8

At 6:10 p.m., Phil McDonald called the K-State Police Department regarding incidents relating to the disappearance of Nikki Jo Black, 104 Ford Hall, a K-State student last seen Friday at 5 n.m. Neither her roommate or parents have seen her. McDonald, Black's boyfriend, said she had received a death threat and obscene phone calls three to four weeks ago.

At 10:45 p.m., it was reported that the lights in front of Holton Hall were off. An officer responded to find the base of a light smoking. An electrician was called in.

At 1:52 p.m., Sateesh Magal eported a hit and run accident in lot D-1. Damage was under $500.

age was reported in lot B-3. A window valued at $75 was broken on a truck.

At 10:29 a.m., vehicle dam-

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 9 #

RILEY COUNTY POLICE TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 8

At 10:21 p.m., Denise Guyton, 9900 Roeser Rd., was arrested for driving under the influence. Bond was set at

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 9

At 2:23 a.m., Sheila Stokley, 600 N. Juliette Avenue #3, reported her ex-boyfriend was intoxicated and looking through her East window. When an officer arrived, the male had left the

At 3:14 a.m., Arthur Ellington, 931 Ratone Street #5, reported a domestic disturbance. Ellington was in a dispute with his wife over the disappearance of a gun. Settled for present. Gun in safe-keeping.

CAMPUS BULLETIN

Applications for Who's Who Among Students at American Colleges and Universities are now available in the Office of Student Activities and Services. Deadline is Nov. 18

Chimes junior honorary is awarding a scholarship to an outstanding junior. Applications are due at noon Nov. 14 and are available in the Office of Student Activities and Services.

Sign up for practice interviews for dental, medical and optometry programs in Eisenhower 113.

BULLETINS

- K-State Songham Tae Kwon Do Club will meet at 6:30 p.m. today in the Ecumenical Campus Ministry Building.
- K-State Aikido Club will meet today from 7 to 8:30 p.m. today in the Ecumenical Campus Ministry Building.
  - Al-Anon will meet from 5 to 6 p.m. in Union Stateroom 1.
  - Icthus will meet at 8 p.m. today in Union 212.
  - Rotaract will meet at 9 p.m. today in Union 205.
- Don Wildcat will speak on the American Indian peoples' environmental ethos at 1 p.m. today in the Little Theatre.
- There will be a meeting on Union Enhancement information from 6 to 7 p.m. today in the Union Big 8 Room.
- There will be a panel of health professionals to answer student questions at 8:30 p.m. today in Durland 152.
- Alpha Epsilon Delta will meet at 8:30 p.m. today in Durland
- The last oral defense of Chi Chen's dissertation is scheduled for 1:30 p.m. today in Durland 274.
- As a part of Student Affairs and Social Services Week, there will be an information table outside the Union Staterooms for Lafene Health Center.

The Kansas State Collegian (USPS 291 020), a student newspaper at Kansas State University, is published by Student Publications Inc., Kedzie Hall 103, Manhattan Kan., 66506. The Collegian is published weekdays during the school year and once a week through the summer. Second-class postage is paid at Manhattan, Kan., 66502. POSTMASTER: Send address changes to Kansas State Collegian, circulation desk, Kedzie 103, Manhattan,

C Kansas State Collegian, 1994

SENATE AGENDA

This is the agenda for the Student Senate meeting scheduled for 7 p.m. today in the K-State Union.

New Business

Opposition to Rec. use Expediting committee reports

■ Bill 94/95/37

Special allocation to UAB Closing of competition teams accounts

■ Bill 94/95/38

Unfinished Business Bill 94/95/33

■ Bill 94/95/35

By-laws: intern duties EOF

Reference of Legislation

Pulled by sponsors

- Res. 94/95/26
- Bill 94/95/30
- Held in Committee
- Bill 94/95/29 Campaign regulations
- Bill 94/95/31 Privilege Fee
- Bill 94/95/34

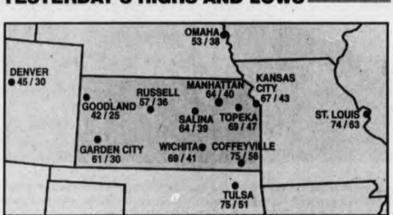

- Bill 94/95/36

By-laws revision: SGA financial Constitutional revisions: SGA

financial

WEATER

YESTERDAY'S HIGHS AND LOWS

STATE OUTLOOK

Kan. 66506-7167.

Mostly sunny with highs around 60 in the western part of the state and around 55 elsewhere. Lows in the

MANHATTAN OUTLOOK

TODAY I

Warmer and mostly sunny with a high around 55.

TOMORROW III

A slight chance for morning showers. becoming partly sunny later.

MMY BUFF NITE

> 99¢ Coronas Free Corona Prizes $1.50 Margaritas

CHEESE BURGERS IDN IPAURAUDIISIE 5-8

Come see Jeff Fellows

8.94 PARAMOUNT PICTURES PRESENTS A RICK BERMAN PRODUCTION STAR TREK GENERATIONS PATRICK STEWART

Justin Kastner, sophomore in food science and industry, is involved in many campus organizations.

A balancing act Activities keeps Blue Keyhonorary on fast track

KRISTA COZAD

If you think you're busy and have lots of responsibilities, try keeping up with Justin Kastner.

But you'll have to be prepared to move quickly, or you'll lose him to one of the activities or projects he's involved with on the K-State

Which is why Kastner, a sophomore in food science and industry, is being honored by Blue Key senior honorary for his leadership abilities.

Kastner is one of five people who is being honored during Blue Key Leadership Week.

Some of his activities include being a member of Student Alumni Board, Spurs, Tau Kappa Epsilon and a project funds committee board, which is involved with the distribution of tax money between K-State and the city of Manhattan.

But his involvement doesn't end with those activities. Kastner has also been working on a research project to try and find different ways of detecting and testing for a bacteria which causes food poisoning in the United States.

He said his work was somewhat successful, although he joked that the food industry won't be reeling from his insights. "I definitely didn't revolutionalize the food industry," he laundry or something." said, smiling. "But we did find that different chemicals give you different results and that certain chemicals were very effective in finding the bacteria.'

Randall Phebus, professor of food science and food microbiology. advised Kastner during the research

He said Kastner was an exceptional student because of his strong direction and motivation.

"Justin came in to see me before he had even enrolled for classes his freshman year, to talk about his possibilities and his direction," Phebus said.

Phebus also said Kastner had many attributes outside of the research project setting.

"He has a 4.0 grade point average, and he's taking 18 hours," Phebus said.

"One of his best assets is time management. He balances it all very On his balancing act, Kastner said he doesn't just study and go to meetings all the time. "I do a lot of things, but I don't think I'm overprogrammed to the point where I don't think I can function as a person," he said. "I go on dates, too. I'm not a social hermit. But it's not a big thing to sacrifice a Friday evening to do Kastner has also recently been chosen to intern for the Lou Douglas Lecture Series. He will be involved in the advertising and promoting through the University for the UFMsponsored series.

Advertising and promoting will once again come into play as Kastner helps with Democrat Jim Slattery's gubernatorial campaign, which some might think is strange because Kastner is a member of the College Republicans

Kastner doesn't think it's strange. "I think that Slattery's got more experience and is the right person for the job," he said.

"I don't think you can lock yourself into a partisan mindset. If you do, you're just being bullheaded, in my opinion. Of course, some people would say that about me, too."

However, Preston Barton, a fellow member of TKE, didn't say anything about Kastner's bullheadedness.

"He's one of the most loyal people I know, but he's also very approachable and very easy to get to know," Barton said.

"He's an outstanding person, not only in his motivation, but in his intentions as well," he said. "I have nothing but the highest regard for

"I go on dates, too. I'm not a social hermit. But it's not a big thing to sacrifice a Friday evening to do laundry or something." JUSTIN KASTNER sophomore in food science and industry

Blue Key campout to stir student involvement

CORI CORNELISON

It's no basketball campout, but the spirits are high.

Despite the cold weather, members of Blue Key senior honorary are camping out in the K-State Union Plaza for 94 hours to encourage student

Students are being asked to sign petitions for various campus issues and become more involved in the decisionmaking process, Becky Keller, president of Blue Key, said.

The Leadership Vigil began Sunday at midnight and will continue until 10 p.m. Thursday

Keller said it has gotten colder each day, but they'll still be outside the Union, rain or shine.

"We want students to come by and say, 'What are you doing?" she said. Keller said she thinks students are taking notice.

"We've had, at last count, over 800 students, and we want more," she said.

Keller said Blue Key encourages all students who have any ideas for a petition to come out to see them.

One student requested that Chester E. Peters Recreation Complex offer short-term child care, and he made up a petition for it, she said.

All of the petitions are going to be taken to Student Senate, Keller said.

Jennifer Montgomery, coordinator of the Leadership Vigil, said hopefully the vigil will create awareness for students.

Banners were made to attract students to the table, but it was too windy for them, she said.

Montgomery said the campout is not at all like the basketball campout.

"We aren't out here to throw a football and drink beer, although we'd like to be," she said. "We're doing it for the students."

LEADERSHIP VIGIL PETITIONS

Blue Key Seniors Honorary members recommended student involvement in the following issues:

Resolving bike lanes, racks and ticket problems.

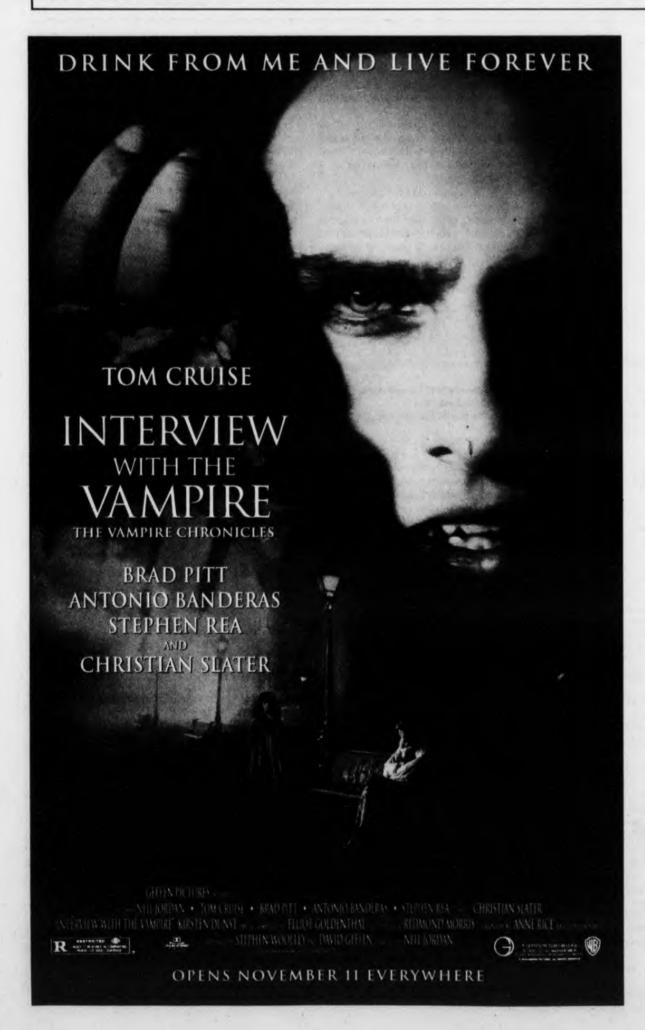

2. Utilize student planning committee to resolve parking

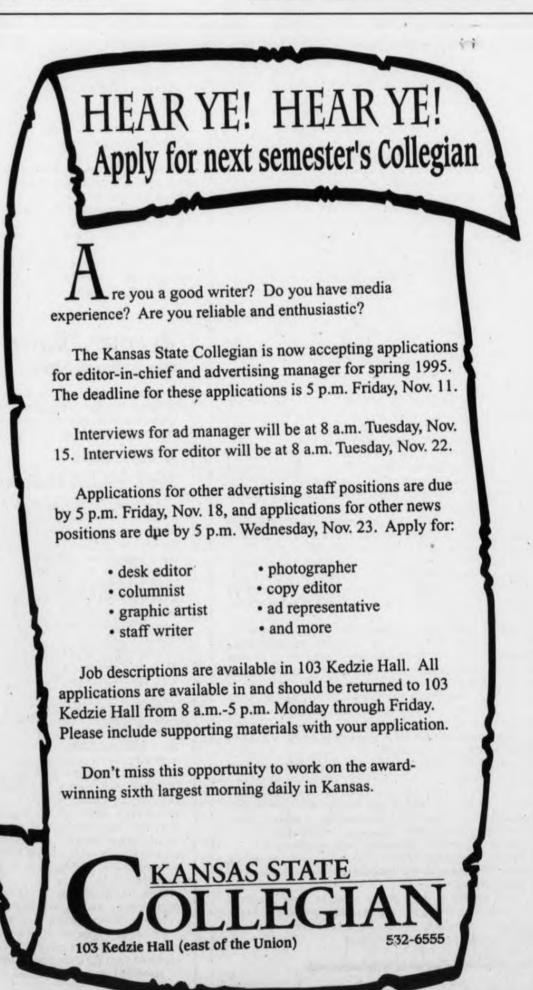

Resolve student financial aid problem.

4. Make campus safer.

5. Resolve tenure issue problem.

6. Have short-term child care at recreation complex.

ARE/FEATURES EDITOR .. Andrew Tomb SPORTS EDITOR......Wess Hudelson GRAPHICS EDITOR......Sara Smith COPY CHIEF ...... Robin Kickhaefer CITY-GOV. EDITOR.....Lola Shrimplin ASST. SPORTS EDITOR...Jeremy Crabtree ASST. PHOTO EDITOR...Mark Leffingwell

AD MANAGER ..... Ryndell Little ASST. MANAGER.....Ted Ellet SALES MANAGER ..... Jim Stothard TEARSHEETS MOR. Ivonne Zaldumbide NEWS ADVISER ..... Ron Johnson AD ADVISER ......Gloria Freeland

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

IN OUR OPINION

By the Collegian Editorial Board

County needs to find new location for jail

The Riley County jail proposal was defeated. But we still need a new jail.

Manhattan residents voted down Question No. 1 last night by a large majority - as they should have.

If the proposal would have passed, a new jail would have been built right next to a residential area, a school and a church.

The voters have spoken, and their vote wasn't against building a new jail. It was a vote against building the jail in that location.

Now it is up to the county commission to go back and find another suitable location to build the jail.

Doing this won't be easy, but the commission should be able to have another proposal for a site by next April when Manhattan will have city elections.

MILLER

That would give the commission five months to find a suitable jail site.

When the commission does come through with another proposal, Manhattan residents need to be ready to pay for the jail - even if that means a property-tax hike.

The need to build a new jail is there. The current jail is overcrowded and dangerous. There are possibilities that law uits could be brought up because of the jail's conditions, and that means a new jail is even more important.

Just remember that Riley County does need a new jail, but it has to be away from residential areas, and there must to be room to expand in the future.

TOLES

Sacred cow at KSU: greek organizations

Life — one long learning process. At K-State, you can learn many things.

You can learn the information you will need for a career. You can learn to get along with people different than yourself. You can learn ideas that will enrich your mind. You can also learn that to criticize a greek organization is the most politically incorrect thing anyone can do at K-State. What the heck. Go ahead and wear your "Silly Jayhawk - Dicks are for Chicks!" and "I'd rather go to K-Straight than Gay U" T-shirts. The people around here who are civilized enough to notice this ignorance probably don't have the intestinal fortitude to point out these sexual

But never, NEVER criticize a greek organization unless you pull the shades down, check for bugging devices and ave blackmail material whom you make the comments.

Whatever you do, don't criticize a greek organization in a

If you do write such a column, expect to get some phone calls at home, but not from people spouting angry diatribes, and certainly not from supporters. You'll just get your garden-variety prank phone calls and maybe the occasional caller claiming to be from Weight Watchers, offering you a discount weight-loss plan. (Weight Watchers doesn't do phone solicitations, folks.)

People will honk their horns at 1 a.m. in front of where you live and holler your name, trying to wake you up.

Even though K-State has its share of sacred cows (agriculture, homophobia, religion, feminism, the military, the academic status quo), publicly criticizing them will never render you the target of low-scale domestic terrorism.

For that special treatment, you have to publicly criticize, regardless of how fairly or constructively, a greek organization. The most sacred of all cows, the Most Hallowed Bovine, is the greek system at K-State.

The good news is that it's basically open season on anyone or anything else, right? Denigrate anybody or anything you want in any way you want, but don't make even the most valid criticism of a few greeks unless you wish to suffer the consequences.

Now you know. Nothing is politically incorrect at K-State except criticism of greeks. As long as everybody keeps their mouths shut about them, no one gets hurt, OK?

Most groups and individuals that are subjects of criticism, which for those of you who still don't seem to know, is one of the duties of columnists, either grow from it or respectfully disagree with it. That's what is supposed to happen when adults communicate.

Why is it, then, that a column about a single fraternity's choice of behavior is cause for defensive and retaliatory (criminal?) behavior? Are greeks above criticism by anyone outside the greek community? Are they exempt from taking their knocks, when deserved, like everyone else does?

No matter how specifically you make the criticism, some people insist that to criticize one greek organization is to criticize them all. This notion feeds into an erroneous "greek vs. them" mentality, so other greek organizations rally to support the one being criticized.

Conveniently, the actual criticism is ignored amidst the posturing that ensues.

When it's all over, the greeks are in one intransigent corner, and in the other corner are the non-greeks, left wondering why, in the name of a fraternity or sorority, some people flagrantly thumb their noses at everyone else. And we're left where we started, only more divided.

This can't continue. Harassment and intimidation do not substitute for dialogue, and stubbomness does not substitute for reconciliation.

If you are one of those people afraid to speak out about this, remember that if there's anything worse than being harassed for expressing an opinion, it has to be giving in to the threat of that harassment.

Scott Allen Miller is a junior in radio/television.

Make people responsible for their actions

omehow, the lamp fell to the floor and shattered. Our mother rushed into the living room, thinking, as most parents do, that someone was hurt, only to find two healthy kids and destruction. "Boys, how did this happen?"

"He did it. He pushed me," My 7-year-old brother yelled, pointing his finger. "He pushed me FIRST!" I yelled back with equal 7-year-old

"No I didn't." "Yes you did!"
"Did NOT!"

"Did TOO!" "Didn't!"

"Did!"

"DIDN'T." (push) "DID." (shove)

"HOLD IT YOU TWO!" My mother intervened. "Both of you find a seat and cool down - at opposite ends of the house. While you are there. I want you to think about what you have done and how you intend to correct it. More importantly, I want you to think about how your actions have consequences and how you can prevent something like this from happening again. THEN we will talk punishment."

SEABOURN

It is doubtful that a more disturbing series of events can be found than those of the past week. A young mother reported that her two children had been kidnapped in a carjacking. Tearful pleas by the parents, Susan and David Smith, for the safe return of their children, Michael and Alex, combined with thousands of hours of hunting and searching by hundreds of law-enforcement personnel and a multitude of others literally stirred an entire nation into a highly emotional, collective concern for the safe return of the two little boys. In the end, we found that not only were the boys killed, but their mother is now accused of killing them by drowning them in a lake.

Then came the defense - if you can call it that. And, like so many other recent cases, the defense consisted of "extenuating circumstances."

For Susan Smith, the mother of the two boys, it was depression over a failed marriage and the loss of a relationship with another man. The plea will likely be temporary insanity. Surely, no one will argue that a mother must certainly be insane to stand and watch as a child, one's own flesh and blood, struggles to escape death.

Eric and Lyle Menendez's parent were brutally murdered because Eric and Lyle feared further sexual abuse. Surely, no one will disagree that sexual abuse is reason enough to kill one's parents.

For a man in Texas recently acquitted of murdering his adulterous wife, it was the emotional shock of finding her in bed with another man. Surely no one will aroue that infidelity is a justifiable excuse for homicide.

For Pauline Zile, a 24-year-old Florida woman, it was fear of abuse by her new husband that caused her to helplessly watch as he beat her daughter to death. Surely, no one will disagree that fear of physical abuse is sufficient reason to condone

And the list goes on. Insanity, jealousy, physical or psychological abuse, the influence of drugs or alcohol, the loss of a job - you name it. If it isn't a syndrome, it will be. Anything to place the blame elsewhere. The message is: Nothing is our fault. We are helpless victims of someone or something. And the truly disturbing thing is the courts in this country are buying it.

The problem is we are failing as parents, as teachers, and as a society to instill personal responsibility for one's actions. Rarely, do we ever hear anyone claim responsibility for anything (unless of course the outcome is favorable). The common defense for nearly everything that goes wrong (or is wrong) is that it is someone else's fault or that something — be it human, or mechanical, or even supernatural - is responsible, but never the individual.

I am not suggesting we move to the other extreme. Surely each case must be weighed on its own merits. To do otherwise would be to destroy judicial flexibility. But we have to be willing as judges, as jurors, as law-enforcement officials, as parents and as citizens to stand up and point a finger and say, "Your actions have consequences, and YOU are responsible for your actions." Period.

"Mom, we are sorry we broke the lamp. We are going to earn the money to replace it, and it won't happen again."

"I am glad to hear that. You are also grounded from doing anything else until it is replaced."

Harsh punishment for two active 7-year-old boys, but it was a lesson that had to be learned.

For Susan Smith and too many others, it was a lesson never learned.

Brad Seabourn is a graduate student in grain

READERS WRITE

Drop letters off at Kedzie 116 or send them to Letters to the Editor, c/o John Meirowsky, Kansas State Collegian, Kedzie 116, Manhattan, KS 66506. We accept letters by e-mail also. Our address is letters@spub.ksu.edu. Letters should be addressed to the editor and include a name, address and phone number. A photo identification will be necessary for hand-delivered letters.

ADMISSIONS

Stop Legistature from passing bill

College. Getting in didn't seem to be a problem for us, but it could be for the future students if many of the upper-class faculty and politicians get their way. Kansas has had an open-admissions policy for almost 80 years. However, for the last 10 years, it has almost become an annual event to propose a bill to the legislature that would adopt a plan of qualified admissions, restricting students to attend a state university, unless they meet specific criteria.

Entering freshman must satisfy one of the following: score 19 or better on the ACT, graduate in the top third of his/her class, or enter a 15 percent window designed for students who don't qualify.

So far, this bill has been voted down. However, the vote gets closer and closer every year. We need to put a stop to this proposal once and for all, and college students are the only ones with the power to make it happen.

I realize that there are a few positive aspects to the proposal, such as less closed classes and a ranking of Kansas schools as higher-level universities. However, the negative aspects far outweigh the positives. For example, qualified admissions would require a complete restructuring of the high-school academic curriculum so all high-school grades will be weighed evenly.

This would also take away the initiative for high-school students to take the upper-level courses offered in many schools. This bill also restricts late bloomers, or people who take academics more seriously when they are removed from the high-school crowd.

Qualified admissions is also thought to save the state universities money by not paying college freshman dropouts' education. However, an estimated $200,000 would have to be spent to implement a system in which incoming students' qualifications could be analyzed.

There is only one way we will get our views turned into actions. That is by voicing our opinion to the people in power, our state senators and representatives. They must know how we feel. It is projected that a qualified admissions bill will be brought up before Kansas Legislature again in the next session.

Luckily, most of the Manhattan representatives are on our side, but we must influence the ones who are not. We must tell our hometown representatives our opinions on this issue. It is the duty of college students across the state to see that future students have the same rights to an education that we have today.

Lee Parker senior in agriculture technology management

THANK YOU

'37 seconds of silence' a success

I would like to thank the following people and organizations who helped with "37 seconds of silence" this weekend at the football game: Bruce van de Velde, Scott Elert, Coach Bill Snyder and the K-State cheerleading squad, Barb Leiker and the K-State Classy Cats, Joe Montgomery and Dennis Brooks. With your help, the demonstration went off without any problems. Again, thank you and never forget the 37.

Steve Barnum junior in social science/prevention

▶ RELIGION

Islam is for everyone

AMEENUDDIN

His emphatic

was prophetic

because over a

Islam is the fast century later,

est growing

America and religion in the world.'

declaration

convert to Islam, Mohammed Alexander Russell Webb, said that Islam was "so thoroughly applicable to all the needs of humanity that it seems it is the exact system we need in our At the first Parliament of World Religions in 1893, he declared that he had enough faith in the American intellect, intelligence and love of fair play that he would defy any intelligent person to understand Islam and not like it. NUSHEEN His emphatic declaration was prophetic because over a century later, Islam is the fastest growing religion in America and the world. This week marks the second annual Islam Awareness Week, sponsored by the Muslim Students Association. Appropriate to Webb's declaration, the theme is Islam: An Invitation to

I encourage anyone to take up that offer. After all, we are right in the middle of a veritable citadel of learning.

Given the fact that the world is becoming a global village, it is our responsibility to learn the truth about each other. The best way to do this is to go directly to the source. Thursday, the MSA will have an information table in the Union between 11 a.m. and 1:30 p.m. Feel free to stop by and ask us whatever you would like to know about Islam. Find out why more than I billion people worldwide have chosen Islam as their way of life.

Nusheen Ameenuddin

freshman in chemical engineering

November 10, 11, 12, 13 Thurs, Fri, Sat at 8 p.m.

Sunday at 2 p.m.

m Opéra House: 410 Poyntz

All performances Clean Air

All Seats Reserved

Mon - Sat, 11 am - 3 pm

Wheel chair accessible

call 539-6000

Box Office Hours

WOMEN'S KERRI

MEN'S BUCK OXFORD

RUGGED

OUTDOOR

REG. $59.95

WOMEN'S

$76

$89.95

Manhattan Civic Theatre presents

Joseph Kesselring's beloved comedy

nattan Civie Theatre is supported in part by the Kansas Arts Commission, and the

OVERLAND TRADING CO.

Anniversary SALE

Manhattan Town Center 537-6226

nents for the Arts, with additional funding from the City of Manhattan.

Big savings on America's favorite outdoor shoes, comfort casuals, and more!

► CAMPUS

Purple Santa raises money for United Way

TERRY SCRUTON

Collegian

No, it was not a hallucination. There actually was a purple Santa Claus outside the K-State Union Tuesday and Wednesday.

The Santa, along with his red counterpart, was helping to raise money for the United Way fund drive that began in September.

The project was sponsored by a special sub-committee of the Student Senate Community Committee.

In those two days, they managed to raise a little over

Lance Davidson, freshman in math and engineering, wore the purple Santa suit.

"It was my idea for the fundraising project," he said.

"We wanted something different, something fun. Something that would grab people's attention," Davidson

As if that weren't enough, Davidson and Lori Nelson, sophomore undecided who wore the red suit on Wednesday, took to singing their own versions of Christmas carols to attract passers-by.

The cold weather did not seem to bother these brave souls. "The pillows help keep us warm," Nelson said. "Yeah, and they're, great for slam-dancing," added Davidson,

"No Coupon" Specials

Everyday

Two-fers

PIZZAS with

- TOPPINGS each

COKES with ice

charging belly-first into his

Meanwhile, in another part of town, the United Way was having a celebration.

Wednesday afternoon, members of the United Way gathered to honor those who had helped raise funds.

Companies who donated joint corporate funds of $2,500 or more were honored with a special plaque, Ailleen Cray, campaign chair, said.

Cray said the group also elected Dirk Daveline to be the 1995 campaign chair.

This year's fund drive has raised $443,367.26, which is about 95 percent of the goal.

Cray said the K-State United Way committee was responsible for about 22 percent of that total.

Sue Peterson, co-chair of the K-State committee, said as of last week they were still waiting for some promised donations to come in.

"We appreciate all the volunteers," Peterson said. "And we'd like to thank all of those who donated their time and money."

Cray said she wants to remind those who have not gotten their contributions in that there is still time.

'We're so close to our goal," she said. "We would greatly appreciate it."

Everyday

Three-fers

- TOPPING each

- COKES with ice

3 - PIZZAS with

HOUSEPLANT SALE 33% Off Regular Price All Houseplants and Indoor Foliage In Stock

- Cactus
- Dracaena
- Croton

•

.

.

- Ivies Spathyphyllum
- Palms
- · Pothos · Ficus
- · Many other

varieties

Blooming Da

K-State Union

It Could Happen To You

November 9 8:00pm November 10 7:00 & 9:30pm Forum Hall

November 11 8:00pm Little Theatre

EVEWEAR FOR LESS . EVEWEAR FOR LESS VISION $39

Pizza Shuttle 776-5577

WE TAKE TIPS. 532-6556

THE BIRTHPLACE

IASTERCARD AM. EXPRESS DISCOVER

ı

.

Bringing Home

professional care

you enjoyed in

Memorial

Hospital's

Birthplace is still available to you.

If you live within a

I be day you bring your baby home ... you'll remember this day for the rest of your life. And it's comforting to know that the unique blend of and tender concern

short distance of Manhattan, you

There's no charge for our Home Visit Program it's just another part of the special service you know

Yesterday's values, tomorrow's technology

Sunset and Claffin

Manhattan

Birthplace nurse Mary Murray, RN, visits with Mary Lee Cochran and her son Tyler,

may have one of our experienced Mother/Baby Nurses visit you within a week after you go home to examine both you and your baby.

you can count on at The Birthplace.

You.

C - Canceled class

Updated 5:08 PM, November 9, 1994

1105 Waters . Across from Alco . 539-4751

Friday & Saturday, November 11 & 12 7:00 p.m. & 9:30 p.m. Forum Hall

The Pianc WK-State Union UPC Keleidoscop For more information, call the UPC Entertainment Line at 532-6570

CLOSED CLASS LIST

*Closed class list also available in Unicorn

10. Keystone Slammers

10. Fast Babes

NOVEMBER 10, 1994

▶ COLUMN

Jayhawks need Cats' support

Today, Wildcat fans, I'm going to ask you to do something unthinkable, something you've never done before, something you've been trained not to do.

Cheer for the Kansas Jayhawks this weekend.

Now before you start wondering, "What drug is this girl doing?" let me explain why the Jayhawks need our support more than ever.

The KU football team plays Colorado in Lawrence this Saturday, and both teams' post season plans will be affected by the outcome of

After Colorado's 24-7 loss against Nebraska and a weak 17-3 victory against Oklahoma State in Boulder, Colo., last weekend, the Buffaloes' spirits are seriously low.

KU, on the other hand, is sure to be fired up, knowing that a win on Saturday is probably its last hope in landing a bowl bid this year.

So here's my evaluation of the situation, keeping in mind that what I propose is simply in K-State's best interest.

We need a Jayhawk victory, (gulp, that's a tough thing to say), because if the Buffaloes lose, they would surely tumble out of the top 10 in the Bowl Coalition Poll, the one poll that means the most this time

POELL of year. While Colorado would still hold down second place in the conference (since they somehow beat K-State in Boulder), we would both hold the same winloss records These Big Eight Conference standings wouldn't matter too much anyway, since K-State would still be ranked as one of the top-10 teams in the nation, while the Buffaloes

NICOLE

K-State's losses were to two top-five opponents. If Kansas beats Colorado, the Buffaloes will have lost to a top-five team and an unranked opponent as well.

That, Cat fans, is what would make us more attractive to say, the Fiesta Bowl, where officials are already planning on a CU-Florida State matchup.

"At this point, we're pretty much predicting that it will be Colorado vs. FSU," Shawn Schoeffler, director of media relations for the Fiesta Bowl,

"Unless some unexpected development occurs, we're pretty much set on Colorado.

Well, Mr. Schoeffler, that "unexpected development" could occur this weekend, if indeed KU upsets the Buffaloes. The Jayhawks, of course, will need a little help from some "friendly" fans from

If you can't make it to Columbia, Mo., to cheer on the Cats when they play Missouri on Saturday, at least you could make the short drive to Lawrence to help them out indirectly.

Call up some of your KU buddies, start some serious tailgating before the game, (do enough tailgating to ease the pain for what you're about to do), and yell your little heart out when it's "Rock Chalk Jayhawk"

Heck, you could even paint your body crimson and blue. (OK, maybe that's taking it a bit too far, but you get the idea.)

Sure, in a perfect world, K-Staters would never want the Jayhawks to win, and we would love to see them stay home over the holidays and watch us play in a Coalition Bowl

But it's not a perfect world, and sometimes you have to sacrifice a little to get what you want. So swallow a bit of that purple pride, load up the car, and become a Jayhawk football fan Saturday

Go ChickenHawks! Whoops this may be harder than I thought it

Kathy Wylie, senior swing hitter, sets to a teammate during K-State's match Wednesday. The Wildcats' record dropped to 3-6 in the Big Eight. K-State is in fifth place with three matches remaining. The topfour teams in the conference advance to the Big Eight Tournament.

▶ VOLLEYBALL

lowa State drops Wildcats into 5th place

JULIE KUHLMAN

The Wildcats haven't beat the Cyclones since 1988, and Wednesday was no different.

Sometimes it's just chemistry, and sometimes it's not.

Wednesday was one of those times the chemistry wasn't there for K-State.

K-State was overpowered by Iowa State in the first two sets, losing 15-10 and 15-7. Then, the Wildcats fought hard in the third, being behind only 13-12, and the momentum was finally in their favor. But the Cats could score no more and fell 15-12.

Coach Jim Moore said the absence of setter Devon Ryning was a big reason for the team's not-so-sizzling evening.

Moore said Ryning adds chemistry to doubles competition.

We were down to the wire without her," Moore said.

Ryning has been out for the last two weeks suffering from mononucleosis.

"We didn't have real good hitting because the setting was not as accurate as it should be - that's a fact," Moore said.

However, Moore said he was happy with Kate DeClerk, who slammed down 13 kills for an average of .400 for the evening, and with Jill Dugan's play.

'Katie was just on fire tonight. I could see that even in the locker room," he said. Moore said the upcoming matches against Oklahoma and Kansas are vital to

K-State's postseason hopes. This really doesn't affect us getting into the Big Eight Tournament. We need to say

'so what' and move on," Moore said.

K-State travels to Oklahoma Saturday and will attempt to avenge a five-game loss to the Sooners earlier in the season.

The loss moves K-State a half game behind the Sooners into fifth place.

▶ TENNIS

Kuregian qualifies for nationals

Karina Kuregian has positioned herself among the top-12 collegiate tennis players in the nation.

Kuregian fought her way to the singles' finals of the Rolex Regional Championships, Sunday at Tucson,

"In my mind, she was the class of the tournament," Coach Steve Bietau

Kuregian ripped through the field of 96 singles competitors in five matches including a 6-3, 7-5 semifinal victory over third-seeded Chris Kaneshiro, of Brigham Young.

The finals, scheduled for Sunday, were called due to a BYU rule that does not allow its players to compete on a Sunday. Kuregian was to face secondseeded Jennifer

"We agreed not to play the match because she had already made it to nationals, and I didn't want her to miss anymore class," Bietau said.

Martine Shrubsole and Kuregian combined to finish second in the straight victories in the 40-team field despite being positioned at the No. 5 seed.

region.

the Rolex

said. "This tournament proved she could play with the best players in the

The tournament marked the first time the two had ever played together. However, they still posted four

K-State's championship run was

"She's (Martine) a senior who has ended by a team from Wichita State.

had limited success 'till now," Bietau

Kuregian and Shrubsole now face a 32-team field at Dallas in February at National Indoor Championships.

▶ CROSS COUNTRY

Delahanty recovers from injury in time

DEBO ADEJUNMOBI

The road back from a stress fracture is a particularly bumpy one for a cross country runner.

Just ask K-State's Geoff The junior from Redondo

Beach, Calif., suffered a stress fracture to his right foot last year while running at El Camino Junior College in Torrance, Calif., and basically did nothing in the way of training for the next four months. Delahanty said that it was a draining four months, both physically and "I wasn't working out, I wasn't going to the pool like I should have, and I wasn't keeping myself fit," he said. "Basically, I made my fitness level go down to zero.

"I was pretty depressed."
Things didn't get much better after he came here to K-State. He spent his summer doing a lot more "goofing off" than training, and with about two weeks left before the start of the fall semester, it showed.

"We ran a 10-mile steadystate (running 10 miles at a steady pace), and I quickly realized what miserable shape I was in," he said. "We were supposed to run 10 miles, and I couldn't even finish. I could only run about

Delahanty marks that humbling experience as the turning point in his racing

"I just woke up," he said. 'I decided that this was ridiculous, and if I wanted to be good, I had to turn things

That meant increasing his mileage, and to do what he needed to be more disciplined. He credits his new training partner, Ryan Clive-Smith who is redshirting this season, for helping him to do "I started hanging out with Ryan a lot more," Delahanty said. "He really turned me around and got me going. He is a very dedicated person. He does what he's supposed to do, does what he's told and just gets the job done. He's quite a role model to me."

Delahanty's new attitude has paid dividends.

On a rebuilding men's team, he has consistently run in the No. 2 spot all season behind senior standout Billy Wuggazer.

Two weeks ago at the Big Eight Championships, he broke through with a firstplace showing, prompting some optimism from Coach Terry Drake.

Geoff is starting to look like the athlete I wanted him to be after missing the whole summer with the injury,' Drake said. "It's been hard for him, but he's starting to show signs that he can compete on this level, and that what's we're looking for.

Delahanty agrees and thinks that his best is yet to

"I'm still not in the kind of shape that I was before I came here," he said. "There are things that I can do that people don't know and that I don't even know yet."

▶ INTRAMURALS

4 Moore remains unbeaten with win

DEBBIE PILANT

Collegian

In a battle of two undefeated teams, the 4 Moore co-rec volleyball team defeated the Goodnow 5 and 6 team 13-15, 17-15, 14-6 as time ran out in the third game at the Chester E. Peters Recreation Complex Wednesday night.

The match was a tough one for both sides. Bryan Sullivan, member of the 4 Moore team, said it was tougher than any match they've had this season. They had one guy who could get in the net and spike," he said. "Other teams just couldn't do that." Creighton Young, member of the Goodnow 5 and 6 team, said lost opportunities made the match difficult.

"We had chances to bump, set and spike, but we didn't take them," he said. In the first game, 4 Moore had difficulty with its hitting. Amnee Jahay, 4 Moore player, said that cost

She said they didn't have time to warm up, so they had no chance to practice hitting before the match

"We didn't have any practice, so we had to go out cold," she said. "It's always harder to play that way. We got better as we warmed up. Young said the match slipped away in the second game as the Goodnow 5 and 6 team went away from its game plan of bumping, setting and spiking. 'I think we tried to surprise them with hitting the ball over the net on the first hit, but it didn't work," he said. 4 Moore made an 8-0 run at the beginning of the third game, which Jahay said gave the team confidence. That run gave 4 Moore the cushion it needed to fend off any rally Goodnow 5 and 6 could create. Young said the run hurt the Goodnow team and damaged its confidence.

"Everyone knew the pressure we were under because when we got the ball back, there was about five minutes left," he said. "We just tried to serve as much as we could."

Young said the loss hurt the confidence of Goodnow 5 and 6 more than anything else. "We had confidence because we were on a roll," he said, "but we'll be all right for the next match." Jahay said being undefeated at this point was a surprise to her.

IVERSIONS

CANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

HOW TO GET A MIGRAINE

In order to see the image hidden in the Migraine picture below, you must not look directly at the patterns. You must be able to see through them, just like a politician. Unfocus your eyes — if it helps, pretend you have just spent six hours in Aggieville. If the Migraine persists after setting down the Collegian, induce vomiting immediately.

NOVEMBER 10, 1994

CROSSWORD EUGENE SHEFFER ACROSS distance 10 Partner maybe 53 Actor 1 Partner's 35 Comic 11 Dog's dog Richard fair share DeLuise 54 D.C. VIP 5 Bill's 36 Some partner 8 Item on 21 In need of statuary 55 Big Band singer Art DOWN 37 Transla refurbishstage 12 List-ending tion of 1 Argonauts' 23 Texas 22 Across 40 Megalomission patroness 24 IOU 13 Rudimen-3 Mongolian 25 Rock learning band's 14 Actress portrayal 26 Cabbage "Tres -5 Bakery Flynn Boyle concoction merci" array 47 Snitch 6 Kimono 16 First aid 49 Area 28 He's 50 Dogfight 7 World 17 Acknowlrevolting participants 51 "— for the edge Series time 32 Partners 18 Type of 8 Shopping in crime Road" 33 Guatemacabaret center 52 Off in the 9 Predaton lan money dance 35 Rep's rival 20 Leak slowly Solution time: 23 mins. 22 Moroccan 36 Prepared metropolis 26 Big rigs 38 High-strung 29 Played the 39 Author first card Sinclair 30 Resistance 42 Pseudocheese 31 Praise to 13 Brother

of Er

STUMPED? For answers to today's crossword, call 1-900-454-6873199¢ per minute, touchtone / rotary phones. (18+ only.) A King Features service, NYC.

CRYPTOQUIP

32 Gridlock

OQDKGY WQLOQC BDQBQTSA VQ RKT YKDUNDKSGA NKGZUUC ASWKASA

V Q T Z A A U S A Q L G .
Yesterday's Cryptoquip: I KNOW THAT THE BREAD BAKERS' GATHERING BEGAN WITH A TOAST.

Today's Cryptoquip clue: A equals D

► THE FAR SIDE GARY LARSON

"Look. You had five bones, right? Your friend Zooky have four bones, right? ... You don't have to be a 'Lassie' to figure this one out."

► CALVIN AND HOBBES

WHAT ARE YOU DOING ?! YOU'RE GOING TO BE HURRY UP AND PUT YOUR CLOTHES

IT'S SAD HOW SOME PEOPLE CAN'T HANDLE A LITTLE

BILL WATTERSON

▶ FOXTROT BILL AMEND COFFEEEE. COFFEEEE ROGER, THAT'S THE THE POT'S THE FRIDGE SEE THAT OVER BY OF THE IS OVER THING WITH DEAD.

Touching yourself doesn't make you a freak

Dear Cassandra,

Do you actually think that the people who read your advice actually care about a bunch of masturbating freaks? Don't you have anything better to print? Masturbation is not exactly a topic I like to read about in great detail while munching on my breakfast. No newspapers enter the home. loubt masturbation is a part of life, almost everyone I know does it. I just don't think it should be a predominating issue in your column.

I don't want to sound like a bitch, but could the students at K-State please write about things other than group masturbation and sock fetishes!!!

Sincerely, the Fluffy Bunny Crew

Dear Fluffy Bunny Crew,

You're right. Masturbation is a part of life. So are a lot of other issues that run in the newspaper, like death and other vicious atrocities people do to each other. Subject matter published in newspapers is controversial because ever, masturbating is part of life, and you're not a freak if you do it. You even admitted almost everyone you know does it. So why should a natural activity all humans take part in be so hard to read about? I could think of a lot of other other stuff I'd rather not read about, like politics.

If you have that weak of a stomach, don't read the Collegian before break-

▶ REVIEW

'Shawshank' delivers uplifting, saddening night

TRENT FRAGER

If you're looking for a cliché, sappy prison movie, "The Shawshank Redemption" is not it.

Adapted from Stephen King's "Rita Hayworth and Shawshank Redemption," this film is a classic, intelligent drama that entertains and astounds you. And with the literature of Stephen King, you know there will be some famously intriguing plot twists.

Tim Robbins is Andy Dufresne, a former banker who claims to have been wrongly convicted of murdering his wife and her lover.

Andy is sentenced to two life terms in Shawshank State Prison, a strict, corrupt New England reformatory, whose violent guards and domineering warden the inmates fear not to obey.

Enter clever inmate Red (Morgan Freeman), an internal smuggler of contraband, the guy who "can get things for people."

Put off by Andy's reserved demeanor, a group of fellow inmates target him as their boy toy/punching bag.

But Red and his pals learn there is more to Andy than a frigid, snobbish exterior, and the prison guards and Warden Norton (Bob Gunton) capitalize on Andy's financial expertise.

Then a transformation commences, as Andy attempts to civilize the uncivilized - the redemp-

"The Shawshank Redemption" is spiritual, saddening, clever, dramatic and very surprising. SHANK' IS A WINNER It supplies the *** viewer with a "The Shawshank Redemption" warmhearted feel-Rated 'R' ing for the inmates, whose

Now showing at Seth Child special bonds of Cinema, 2610 Farm Bureau Road. fraternity result from the stone Friday-Sunday - 6:50, 9:40 p.m. walls between Saturday-Sunday — 1, 4 p.m. Monday-Thursday — 7:30 p.m. them and the out-

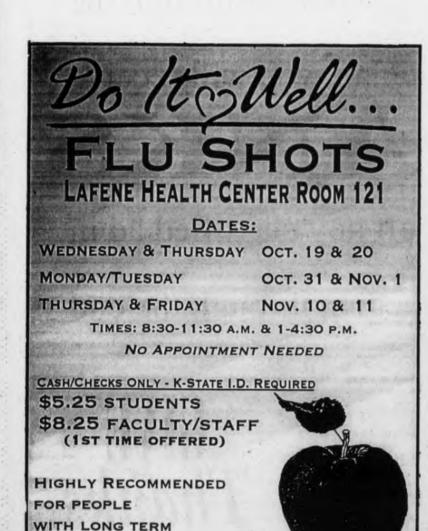

As Andy is reassigned from laundry to the prison library, a euphoric spirit of freedom prevails. With each new grant of freedom, the viewer is subtly affected, only to learn things in this film are not as they

And when the unraveling of this plot's yarn begins, the film redeems itself from typical, forced sentimentality, as would be the case in a lesser

Robbins and Freeman, assuredly two Oscar frontrunners, contrast each other exquisitely Robbins gives us a subtle, seemingly intelligent academic to admire and feel sympathy for, and Freeman gives us someone we would appreciate and find entertaining in such a situation.

"The Shawshank Redemption" is one of the few films this year to refrain from insulting the viewer with a sloppy sugar high. The film has a quiet, uplifting charisma that doesn't preach or manipu-

Congratulations to first-time director Frank Darabont.

HEALTH PROBLEMS

& ASTHMA

Jail CORP is deeply gratified at the outcome of the election. We wish to thank all the people who gave so generously to this campaign.

Now, we look forward to working with the County Commissioners to develop a solid plan for a suitable police/jail facility in an appropriate location and for a reasonable cost.

Political advertisement paid for by JAIL CORP. Richard Bachamp, Finance Chairman.

Chicago' costumes shine

K-State designer showcases ability, craftsmanship

STEFFANY CARREL

The Windy City is blowing into town tonight as the curtain rises on K-State Theatre's production of "Chicago."

"Chicago" showcases the abilities and craftsmanship of the theater's costume shop.

Dana Pinkston, assistant professor of speech, is the musical's costume designer and an alumna of K-State.

Pinkston said she started her research for "Chicago" in June, conducting some rather broadbased work.

"I did a lot of period research. I looked into gangsters and Vaudeville," she said. "I just accumulated tons and tons and tons of visual research."

August concluded the bulk of the research, and by that time she was already sketching, she said.

"At that point, I was trying to determine our costume needs within the different scene changes," Pinkston said

Luke Kahlich, professor of speech, and director and choreographer of "Chicago," said Pinkston had her work cut out for her.

"One of Dana's biggest challenges was tracking," Kahlich said. "We have 19 total people. Thirteen of those are the chorus, and each of those folks are playing as many as five different characters.

Kahlich said Pinkston had to figure out where all of those characters would be and when.

"She needed to ask herself, first, 'How much costume do I need to give a sense of that character?' and second, 'Can they get in and out of that costume in 30 seconds?"" Kahlich said.

After identifying the scene change requirements, Pinkston said she then met with the director and scene designer to share her research and costume designs.

"Basically all the people who design the show need to get together and agree," she said. "We whittle down a look."

Part of that look has meant the creation of opposing views, David Centers, assistant professor of speech and head of design, said.

"Our basic approach has been to create a cool set, something washed out and then have warm costumes," Centers said. "We did that so the costumes would stand out."

BECOME A STUDENT MARKETING MANAGER

Outgoing, goal-oriented student needed for marketing position. Learn management skills and marketing strategies while implementing oncampus promotions.

- ★ Excellent pay
- ★ Flexible hours
- ★ All work on campus
- ★ For the 1994-95 school year

For information, call Victoria at 1-800-487-2434 ext. 4116

Centers said as set designer he tries to go down to the costume shop as much as time permits.

For a variety of reasons, I have to work closely with the costume shop," he said. "All of what we do has to be coordinated, and we have to work on timing."

Centers said the way the two shops have worked together is really the mark of good design.

"The level, the quality and the output of both shops has surpassed most in recent memory. And it doesn't matter if my work is fabulous or her work is fabulous. It doesn't matter if they don't come together in a cohesive way.'

Both set designers and costume designers view the preparation for a production in much the same way, Pinkston said.

"Just as the set designers build the scenery, the costume shop builds the range of costumes, Pinkston said. "You call it a build."

Pinkston said this is one of the largest builds she has ever seen.

"I've never built as big of a show," she said. "All but one complete costume, one complete suit, a couple of dresses I pulled from stock and the tuxes that we rented - everything else we've made from scratch."

That translates into the creation of 85 to 90 percent of all the costumes, Pinkston said.

"What's typical for this shop for a musical is to build about eight to 10 dresses and rent and pull everything else," she said.

Pinkston said when a shop does this much of the costume building, the pieces cannot be too intricate, rather, they must be simple.

"It's a tradeoff," she said. Pinkston said budgeting for a production as large as this is a constant revisionary process.

'We have a very small shop, so Alison Funston, the costume shop manager, and I sit down and figure it all out and start budgeting,' Pinkston said. "We're constantly figuring out what's really important, asking, 'What do we really need to have?' figuring out where to trim the fat."

Another significant distinction of the costume shop is that they draft their own patterns for the costumes, Pinkston said.

"We create our own," shè said. "We do that because very simply, they don't make commercial patterns of what I draw.

Pinkston said working on 'Chicago" has been a really positive experience and that she is extremely proud of the work the costume shop has done.

"For the number of costumes, the amount of money and the size of the shop, I think it's pretty astounding.

Crown

JULIE KRAMER Collegian Sumo bull-riding has finally come to Kansas.

Seventeen Rodeo Club members participated in Kansas' first sumo bullriding competition Wednesday night at TW Longhorns.

RODEO

The 16 male contestants had to wear sumo suits. They worked through an elimination bracket to see who would ride against Toma Snyder, junior in early childhood education. Justin Lynn, senior in animal science and industry, won the competition but lost against Snyder, who didn't have to wear a suit.

"It was a good time and was for a good cause," Lynn said. Contestants had to crawl into their sumo suits and were snapped in while lying on the floor. They were then stood up, and a helmet was strapped on. About three people lifted them up

Bull-riders wear ultimate padding onto the mechanical bull.

Casey Burdick, junior in animal sciences, fights the weight of a sumo-wrestling suit while riding a mechanical bull Wednesday night at TW Longhorns. The event was for charity. Steve Frasier, coach of the rodeo team and Manhattan

resident, judged the contestants based on their ability to ride and

IARK LEFFINGWELL/Collegian

the clowning they did, he said. Frasier said they stayed on the bull by holding on to the rope and using their knees. "It's a deal where we can come out and make butts of ourselves," White said.

The event was to promote the Rodeo Club and to help support cerebral palsy. Proceeds will go to help with travel expenses and to United Cerebral Palsy, sponsored by Miller Lite. Monty Pyle, Miller Lite representative, said, 'We've got a lot of guys doing something good and having fun doing it."

Pyle said they've had competitions in Texas but never in Kansas. "We've never had anyone get hurt. There's so much padding in the suits you could probably jump on a person, and they would hardly feel it."

ANY 2 MEDIUM PIZZAS

2 LARGE $13.98

NOW GET - CAESARS SINGLES" ONI MEDIUM $5.99" ONE LARGE $7.99 Expires 11-24-94

VIOLENCE

in the Work Place

How Safe is Your Work Place?

Supervisors and employees in every job setting need to know the signs of impending violence and be prepared to de-escalate a threatening situation. At this seminar you will find out how the safety of your business or agency can be improved by management's approach, interviewing, screening, and firing procedures, and violence prevention/intervention teams.

Plan to attend Violence in the Work Place on November 16, 6 to 9 p.m., at Houston Street Ballroom, 427 Houston. The cost is $21.* (*Members of Manhattan Personnel Association may attend at no cost.) Three hours credit for some helping professionals. Please pre-register. For information call 587-4326.

Angela G. Hayes, M.S., Coordinator, Business Consultation Resources and Employee Assistance Program Plus Panel: Psychologist, Attorney, Police Officer

> Sponsored by Pawnee Mental Health Services Manhattan Personnel Association

If you

canned goods, toiletries, or household products, to the homeless through the

Collegian, you will receive

THANKS

and $1 off any classified ad in the Collegian through the end

of December.

Contributions go to Manhattan Emergency Shelter and Flint Hills Breadbasket

Bring items to the Student Publications Inc. office in Kedzie 103

November Special

♦ Weddings ♦ Bachelor & Bachelorette Parties
 ♦ Formals

Formal Dinners ◆ Birthdays & Anniversaries ◆ Date Dashes ◆

Buy 1 hour get 1 hour free!

Sunday-Thursday $40/hr

Friday-Saturday $50/hr

Open Mon.-Sat.

9:30 a.m.-5:30 p.m.

Thurs, til 8:30 p.m.

537-8636

1100 Westloop Place

Manhattan, KS 66502

LASSIFIEDS

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

20 words or less - $5 each word over 20 - $.20 per word

2 DAYS 20 words or less - $6.25 each word over 20 - $.25 per word 3 DAYS 20 words or less - $7.25

each word over 20 - $.30 per word 4 DAYS 20 words or less - $8

each word over 20 - $.35 per word

5 DAYS 20 words or less - $8.50 each word over 20 - $.40 per word (consecutive day rate)

HOW TO PAY

ck. MasterCard or Visa are re is a $10 service charge arve the right to edit, reject or classify any ad.

Own room, free laundry, utilities paid. $202.50. Jan. 1. Cam-

HEADLINES

DEADLINES

Classified ads must be placed by moon the day before the date you want your ad to run. Classified display ade must be placed by 4 p.m. two working days prior to the date you want your ad

FREE FOUND ADS As a service to you, we run for for three days free of charge.

ing days. nust call us before noon the day nust call us before noon the day the ad is to be pub

CANCELLATIONS

CORRECTIONS
If you find an error in your ed, pi call us. We accept responsibility of
for the first wrong insertion.

Call 532-6555 to place your classified.

GET THE WORD OUT

532-6555

532-7309

OR WRITE COLLEGIAN CLASSIFIEDS Kedzie Hall 103 Manhattan, Kan. 66506

OFFICE HOURS MONDAY-FRIDAY 8 a.m.-5 p.m. (Except holidays)

BOARD

Announcements

Earn $15 each time you donate plasma.

MANHATTAN BIOMEDICAL CENTER

1130 Gardenway 776-9177 .-Fri. 9 a.m.-6:30 p.m., Sat. 9 a.m.-2 p.m.

ADVANCED FLIGHT Training from 5000-hour ATP instructor. Private ATP multi-engine. Hugh Irvin, 539-3128.

ANTIQUE SHOW AND SALE. Nov. 12 and 13, Sat. 10-6p.m., Sun. 11-4p.m. Pottorf Hall CICO

COME FLY with us, K-State Flying Club has five air-planes. For best prices call Troy Brockway, 776-6735 after 5:30p.m.

Lost and Found

Found ads can be placed free for three

RING WITH seven keys and leather/ brass name tag. Left in Holton Hall

Personals

We require a form of picture ID (KSU, driv-er's license or other) when placing a per-

ASHLEY, THE surprise is almost over! Have a great week! AX Love, Mom.

AX JULIE H.- Roses are red, violets are blue, Keep on groovin' cause your Mom is too. AX Love, Your Mom.

AX'S LINDSAY and Julie S.- Soon you will see who your mommies will be. We are so excited to have you in our families. AX Love, Your

Parties-n-More

ADD A splash to your next bash. Great anytime. Birthdays, mid-terms and Wildcat victory par-ties. Wet-N-Wild Mobile Hot Tubs, 537–1825.

ADD AN extra touch of class to your next par-ty, Call Wayne's Water Party to rent a portable hot tub 537-7587, 539-7561.

REAL ESTATE

For Rent-Apts. Furnished

AVAILABLE FALL very nice one, two, three and four-bedroom apartment complexes and houses. Excellent locations with great prices 537-1666, 537-2919.

FOR JAN. across street Ford Hall deluxe two-bedroom. $485/ month. 539-2482. After 4p.m.

JAN. 1. One-bedrooms in complexes $280- $300. No pets, lease required

QUIET SURROUNDINGS imum seven month lease, no 537-8389.

For Rent-Unfurnished

AVAILABLE FALL very nice one, two, three and four-bedroom apartment complexes and houses. Excellent locations with great prices. 537–1666, 537–2919.

AVAILABLE JAN. 1. Close to campus. One-bedroom apartment and four- five-bedroom house. Both very nice. With air conditioner. No pets. Leave mes-sage. 539-4641.

CHASE MANHATTAN Apartments, two-bed-room apartments avail-able now, Corner of College and Claffin.

CAMBRIDGE SQ. APT. 2 BEDROOMS *FIREPLACE *POOL

> 537-9064 WEEKDAYS 9:00-4:30

ONE-BEDROOMS AVAIL ABLE at 1026 Sunset. $385- $395. Remodeled units. Central air/ heat. Laundry facilities. Three blocks west of campus 776-3804.

SPACIOUS TWO-BED ments, dishwasher, bal cony, on site laundry facilities. Available im-537-8775.

SUBLEASE ONE-BED ROOM basement apart-ment. Available for spring semester. Close to campus. 776–9566.

For Rent-Houses

NON-DRINKER smoker, for two-bed-room place. No pets. References. 539-1554.

TWO-BEDROOM, TWO car garage 5112 Murray, Near airport $500/ month. Two-bedroom duplex, 515 S. Manhat-539-7181 leave mes

Roommate Wanted

AVAILABLE JANUARY. Fe-AILABLE JANUARY, Fe-male non-smoking roommate. $145/ month plus one-half utilities. Super room-mate. two-bedrooms and one-half bath (all to yourself). Furnished liv-ing room and kitchen. Jennifer 587-0141 even-ings or leave message. ings or leave message

FEMALE ROOMMATE be ginning in January; right across the street from campus; share ween 5- 6p.m. 587-8430

FEMALE ROOMMATE to share two-bedroom trailer, available mid-December, $140/ month plus utilities, water and trash paid. 587-1915. FEMALE ROOMMATE to share house. smoker, pets considered. Available now or Dec. 1. $200, one-third utilities plus deposit. 537-1281.

FEMALE ROOMMATE to share two-bedroom apartment, $205/ month plus one-half utilities. Water and trash paid. Available Dec. 1. Call 587-9679.

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted to share two-bedroom apartment. Close to campus and Aggieville. Rent $220 but negotiable, one-half utilities (non-smoker). Available Dec. smoker). Available Dec. 15. Call 587–8618.

FEMALE TO share two bedroom apartment. For an extra charge, we'll put a readline above your ad to catch the reader's attention.

pus one 537-4532. FOR RENT at Chase Man-hattan Apartments, ground level, furnished apartment. Share with three males $200/ month plus utilities. (913)742-2743 after

MALE ROOMMATE for two-bedroom apart-ment, Williams Place in-side campus. Available immediately. $175/ month plus low electric-ity. Call 532-9094, leave

MALE, NON-SMOKING roommate for new Chase three-bedroom apartment. Own room, own bath, one-third KPL and phone. Reasonable rent. Message at 539-6571. NON-SMOKER, SHARE house, utilities with re-sponsible mostly male household. Large bed-room, laundry, $160. Available Nov. 15. 539–2468. Keep trying.

QUIET CONDITIONS. ample parking. Walk to campus and Aggieville. Male student to share large two-bedroom apartment. Begin any-time from now to Jan. 15. $190. 776–3624.

THREE GUYS looking for fourth roommate to share four-bedroom house with washer/ dry-er; across street from University. Private park-ing. Call 539–8388.

WANTED NON-SMOKING and non-drinking room mate for basement fur nished private bed-room. Walk to KSU. $150, Share utilities. 539-1554.

Sublease

ARE YOUR roommates an-noying? Well, I love mine, but I'm graduat-ing in Dec. and I need someone to take over my room. $160/ month. Across from Union, some bills paid.

AVAILABLE JANUARY 1 Very nice one-bedroom apartment, in quiet neighborhood. $315 a month, inexpensive bills. Call 776-5941.

AVAILABLE JANUARY. Female roommate. Non-smoker!!! $145/ month plus one-half utilities. Super roommate. You will have two-bed-rooms and one-half bath. Furnished living room and kitchen. Jen-nifer 587-0141 evenings

FOR SPRING semester-available end of Dec. One-bedroom apart-ment, two blocks from mpus. Call 537-4768. NICE, CLEAN, two-bedroom apartment, two blocks from campus and close to aggieville. Available after Dec. 19. Call 776-1324.

NICE, SPACIOUS, one-bed-room, available spring semester; across from campus; two balconies, new kitchen appliances; water and trash paid; Call 537-4011.

ONE ROOM for rent in large, beautiful, seven-bedroom home; $150/ month plus one-sev-enth utilities; kitchen and laundry available; four blocks from campus; January 1 to May 31 sublease available; 537-2497— ask for Russ

SUBLEASE A large one-bedroom apartment. Starting Dec. 15. Call now 'til midnight 587-8099. Two blocks

TWO-BEDROOM, CLOSE to City Park/ campus/ Aggieville; washer/ dry-er; furnished. Available Jan. 1. 587-8709.

DIRECTORY

Resume/ Typing

NEED SOMETHING typed? I'll type it for $1/ per page. Call 537-9480 after 5:30p.m. Ask for

by day would like typ-ing at night. Laser print-ing. Call Judy 539-7100 or 456-9642.

Pregnancy Testing

225

Pregnancy Testing Center 539-3338

· Free pregnarky

testing Totally confidential

·Same day results ·Call for appointment

Located across from campus in Anderson Village

Mon.-Fri.

9 a.m.-5 p.m.

Child Care

MOTHER OF two children looking to babysit in her home evenings and weekends. Call weekends. 776-5244.

Automotive

Repair NISSAN- DATSUN Repair SAN- DATSUN Repair Service. 22 years ex-perience. Mazdas, Hon-das and Toyotas also. Auto Craft, 2612 Dippor Lane, Manhattan, Kan-sas. 537-5049. 8a.m.-5p.m. Mon.- Fri.

Services

PROMPT CONTRACEPTIVE Dale L. Clinton, M.D. Lawrence, (913)841-5716.

EMPLOYMENT/ CAREERS

Help Wanted

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment/Cereer classification. Readers are advised to approach any such employment opportunity with reasonable caution. The Collegian urges our readers to contact the Better Business Bureau, 501 SE Jefferson, Topeka, KS 66607-1190. (913)232-0454.

$1500 WEEKLY possible mailing our circulars! No experience re-quired! Begin Now! For information (202)298-8957. call

ALASKA EMPLOYMENT Fishing Industry. Earn up to $3000- $6000 plus per month. Room and Board! Transportation! Male/ female. No experience necessary! (206)545-4155 ext. A57682

AMATURE PHOTOGRA PHER, with decent equipment needed for wedding ceremony on Dec. 3, 1994. Price negotible. Call Robert at 587-0845.

ATTENTION GROUPS and individuals! Raise up to $10,000 or more. Win $1000, free car or free Hawaii trip! No Invest-ment. 24-hour recorded message. (609)427-0777 Ext. 1562. ATTENTION STUDENTS

Earn extra cash stuffing envelopes at home. Al materials provided. Send SASE to Central Distributors P.O. Box 10075, Olathe, KS 66051. Immediate re-

CERTIFIED AEROBIC/ Step Instructor wanted. Call Mary Lou at 537-9227 or 776-1654. COACHES NEEDED' for mens and/ or womens gymnastics. 15- 20 hours. Will train the right person. Gymnastics experience pre-ferred. Call 539-3613.

COMPUTER NETWORK ADMINISTRATOR: part-time student position, mostly regular scheduled hours with some emergency trou-bleshooting hours. Re-sponsible for overseeing 55-computer Macin-tosh network, including hardware maintenance, software backups, and records maintenance. Should be familiar with Macintosh operating systems 6 and 7. Client systems of and 7. Clean server networking for an ethernet network. TCP/IP experience a plus. Salary negotiable based on experience. Pick up an applications in 113 or 103 Kedzie

CRUISE SHIPS NOW HIRING. Earn up to $2000 plus/ month working on Cruise Ships or Land-Tour companies. World travel (Hawaii, Mexico, the Caribbean, etc.) Seasonal and full-time employment available. No experience necessary. experience necessary. For more information call (206)634-0468 ext. C57682.

Application deadline is noon on Tuesday, Nov.

EARN $6- $7/ hour. Just Roses has part-time weekend and evening sales openings for outgoing people. Must be 18 years old and have transportation.

FRIENDS OF THE ENVI-ROMMENT. Big prob-lems need big people! Big problems can earn you a big paycheck, if you are serious about creating a GLOBAL CHANGE. Major statetionwide offices already breaking records across the country. "Explosive Growth " Various Posi-tions " Full Training "Travel Available "Ex-cellent Income Poten-tial "Relocation Option-al Call 776-7975 for ap-positement."

MACINTOSH - TROU-BLESHOOTER: part-time student position, mostly regular schedble emergency hours. Assists in overseeing 55-computer Macintosh network, including hardware and software troubleshooting and general maintenance. Should be familiar with Macintosh operating systems 6 and 7. Minimum wage to start. Pick up an applications at 113 or 103 Kedzie.

on on Tues., Nov. 22. MALE MODELS up to $50 an hour for pho-tography work. Send

SKI RESORT JOBSI Ever wanted to work in the Rockies? For fun and adventure call Ski-Ve-nure (619)683-2300.

STUDENT INTERNS, part time, positions avail-able immediately for 10- 15 hours per week. Excellent English communication skills required. $4.75 once trained. Applicants should apply in person at Veterinary Medical Library, fourth floor Trotter Hall, KSU. EOE. Applications will be acplications will be cepted 9- 6

SUMMER JOBS OUT-DOORS Over 10,000 openings! National Parks, Forests, Fire Crews. Send stamp for free details. Sullivan's 113 East Wyoming, Ka-lispell, MT 59901.

TECHNICAL SUPPORT have understanding of MS-DOS and Windows and operating high-tech mail equipment. Applications available, accepted through Nov. 15, 1994 in 211 Umbergand cleaning/ pricing books. All positions re-quire diligence and a pleasant, service- ori-ented attitude. College experience is strongly preferred. Apply in perpreferred. Apply in person downstairs at Var-ney's Book Store, 623 N. Manhattan Ave., Manhattan, KS. Dead-

VOLLEYBALL COACH for 15 year old girl during off season, Nov.— Jan. at two hours per week, $5/ hour. 776-2155.

WANTED: WORK-STUDY student for office du-ties, 10- 12 hours/ week. Apply at the In-dustrial and Manufac-turing Systems Engi-neering office, 206 Dur-land before Nov. 23.

Business

Opportunities

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment/Career classification. Readers are advised to approach any such business opportunity with reasonable caution. The Collegian urges our readers to urges our readers to contact the Better Business Bureau, 501 SE Jefferson, Topeka, KS 66607-1190. (913)232-0454.

INDEPENDENT telecommunications representa-tive looking for individ-uals interested in earn-ing extra income. Com-mission based. No inventory. Operate out of home or dorm room. If interested call 238-7871. Leave name the help of a local dis-tributor who wants to fributor who wants to earn up to $500 a day, from the comfort of your own home. Mini-mal investment re-quired. For more infor-mation call 537-0837. TURN YOUR FAX into a fast cash machine and generate over $3000 per month. Fax your name and Fax number

PROFESSIONAL. I need to (817)997-2443 for

WHITE WICKER furniture

after 5p.m.

Items for Sale

587-0431.

FOR SALE: Acoustic guitar, new $150, or best offer. Stair Stepper, $50. Very old computer, $50, or

MICROWAVE, DESK, 12-speed women's bike, three bar stools, free

SOFA AND chair- matched set - $100; mountain bike- Bridgestone MB-Z $350; Kenmore air con-ditioner- one year old $225; Cannondale 3.0 alum. frame 21-inch-$100; 539-1777.

offer.

standing kitchen cabinet, student acoustic guitar. Best offer. 537-7988 wanted. Don't store it for the winter. Let's deal! Call 537-4667

MARKET

photo and description to P.O. Box 113 Salina, Wanted to Buy CHRISTMAS CASH? We buy used Air Jordans 85- 91 editions and late 70's and early 80's. Nike runninng shoes, pay up to $2001 1-800-873-3538

6p.m through Nov. 11.

position available for K-State student with a variety of skills. Must have good interperson-al problem solving skills. Experience with PC's and popular soft-ware packages such as WordPerfect, Quattro-Pro and Windows appli-cations desired. Must Network experience helpful. Tasks include mail list conversions

VARNEY'S BOOK STORE is now taking applications for tempo-rary part-time full-time rary part-time full-time positions in the text-book department to assist with textbook buyback. Possible employment dates are Nov. 29 through Dec. 18. Daytime, evening, and weekend hours are available. $4.30 per hour. Involves helping customvolves helping customers, moderate lifting BONEPILE

RECORDS & DISCS YOUR HIGH-QUALITY SOUND RECYCLERS

$ CASH DAILY $ FOR RECORDS, TURNTABLES, AND CD SINGLES IN AGGIEVILLE

LOTS OF PARKING

1126 LARAMIE MANHATTAN

TWO SMALL deep freezes for sale. 5.1 cubic foot chest for $100. 12.0 cubic foot upright for $150. Great to store meat from home! Call 537-4667 after 5p.m.

Furniture to Buy/Sell FOR SALE: Queen set Re stonic mattress, founda-tion, steel bed frame, used one year. $350, 776-2433.

Antiques

TIME MACHINE Antique Maul and Geeb Empori-um, 6000 square feet, antiques, collectibles estate jewelry, furni-ture, 4910 Skyway Dr. four blocks east of Man-hattan Airport. Open Tues.- Sat. 12-6p.m. 539-4684.

Computers COMPUADD 386SX16, 3.5 hard, 4 MB Ram, 2400 bds modem, two joy-sticks. SVGA monitor.

MS DOS 6.0, $700, cal Mo 776-4110. MACINTOSH COMPUT ER. Complete sys-tem including print-er only $500. Call Chris (800)289-5685.

Food Specials CHINESE CABBAGE, orien tal radishes, greens, hot peppers, spinach peanuts, squash, swee pototoes. Barbara's Market. Juliette and GET THE WORD OUT.

Fort Riley 539-1414.

Pets and Supplies

BABY FERRETS are in at Animal House Pets! We have everything you will need for your new baby! Come check it out at 210 N. 14th.

FOR SALE: Iguana, one and one-half - two years old, with heat rock and UV light.

SNAKE- BOA three feet long with big cage. $140, Dave 539-0169.

Sporting Equipment

Tickets to

Buy/Sell

FOR SALE: solo-Flex, three years old, all attachments. Excellent condition. Call 539–4680.

FOR SALE: Student basket-ball tickets; $70. Call 537-8938. Leave mes-

PORTATION

Automobiles 1979 DATSUN 210, 100K miles, automatic de-pendable. $750, or best offer. 537-3219.

1984 F250 XLT Supercab, four-speed diesel, one owner, $4500 (316)896-2856. 1985 FORD Tempo. Great (11/26/94), $850 or best offer! 587-8817. 1988 TOYOTA 4-runner air conditioned/ AM/FM cassette, cruise, $8700 or best offer. H-1-(913)935-2593, W-1-(913)296-3630.

before UNLV game

1989 TOYOTA Camry LE, silver, sparkling new, very clean. 51K miles, excellent condition, sin-gle owner. 537-8689. 1991 CHEVROLET Beretta,

57,000 miles V6 Automatic transmission

FOR SALE: 1980 CJ7 4x4, six cylinder, auto, hard-top, $1800 or best offer. Wayne 537-7587.

OLDSMOBILE

Achieva five-speed,

tape, locks, wheels $7500 or best offer.

(316)665-3723 nights.

MUST SELL one: 1986
Buick Regal, 305 V-8, automatic transmission, air conditioned, two-door or 1982 Buick Park Avenue, 5.7 diesel, Park Avenue, 5.7 diesel, automatic transmis-sion, air conditioned, new tires. 532–1536 ask for Ken, after 5p.m. call (913)499–5335.

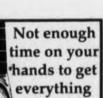

530

Motorcycles

1989 KAWASAKI Ninja 600R, good condition. 14K miles $2400 or best offer. Must sale. Call 539-5068 after 8p.m.

Car Pool RIDER/ DRIVER wanted. destination: Cheyenne Wyoming area. (Will accept rider to anywhere along I-80 in Nebraska). Nonsmoker! Leave: evening of Nov. 22. Come back: evening of Nov. 27. Split gas. 587-0141.

Tour Package SPRING BREAK 94 Can cun, eight days' seven nights on the beach $499. Sign up early and save money. Classic Travel 1212 Moro, Ag-gieville, 537-7546.

done? Check the Classifieds service directory.

AM/FM cassette, red OLLEGIAN very sporty, $7300. (913)437-2208. Kedzie 103 532-6555 We Take Tips! KANSAS STATE OLLEGIAN

532-6556

532-6555 ADVERTISING PRODUCTION

Publication Practice

IMC 360

Class size is limited so sign up now. Get training and gain experience while earning one hour of credit this spring. Attend class one day a week from 8:30-11:30 a.m. You pick the day of the week based on availability. The instructor's permission is required. The experience you gain in the spring would qualify you to apply for a paid position in the summer or fall.

> Come to 113 Kedzle 8 a.m.-4 p.m. for more information and syllabus.

CLASSIFIED DIRECTORY

Students help repair housing

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

Architectural Engineers at K-State. The equipment and tools were provided by Hi Plains and Chavey Construction.

"These people really deserve some recognition," Dagg said of the volunteer work done by the engineers and contractors.

Additional improvements were made when cracked plaster was fixed, insulation was blown in and central air was installed.

Wittwer is appreciative of all the work that went into weatherizing her home. "They came in and helped me fill out all the papers," she said.

Manhattan Housing Rehabilitation Program works in conjunction with other organizations to help repair substandard housing within Manhattan's city limits.

The maximum amount that is

SUEDE CHAIN THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 10 TH

UNION STATION

International Coffee

and Tea

Join us for a variety of

2:30pm - 4:30pm

Hours

Tuesday

afternoons

allowed for a house is $13,000 or 75 percent of the appraised value of the home, whichever is less.

Dagg said this amount is outdated. "That amount has been there for years," Dagg said. "The cost of living and building materials has gone up, so we really don't have enough to do a good job.' He also said that because the city of Manhattan didn't meet certain criteria, it wasn't awarded grants from for 1993 and 1994. Other cities rated higher in the need department for the grant money.

the Kansas Department of Commerce

"They rate each city on a points system," Dagg said.

So what's next for the Wittwer

They are going to put on paint yet, Wittwer said.

K.[. [ULTIJRE TRIP

Join the fun on December 3 & 4 for a fun filled weekend including:

one night lodging at the Fairfield Inn licket to dinner theatre tour of the Nelson-Alkins Art Gallery

The price is only $40.00

ravel expenses paid for by UPC TRAVEL

"I would like to make it oyster white and trim it in blue.'

off choreography

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

Fosse's original choreography is not simple, and Kahlich has recreated that choreography for this production.

"This is more of a vaudeville show - everything is really big and really glitzy,' Mandy Sneed, junior in theater, said.

Sneed plays the part of Velma Kelly, who opens the show with the sassy musical number "All That Jazz."

"With this type of show, you can't have easy dancing, and I'm not a dancer," Sneed

The choreography is a lot more complicated and stylistic, she said.

Travis Cloer, senior in

YOU CAN BE A WINNER

WITH UPC AND

'IT COULD HAPPEN TO YOU

To enter, take this form to the UPC office, or enter at Forum Half through Friday. You must be registered to win.

JPC Office, Festure Films, K-State Unic

ADDRESS HONE

AVORITE MOVIE

DECEMBER 2

CRESTED BUTTE

FOR ONLY

theater, plays the part of the greasy lawyer, Billy Flynn.

"We've never had such a strong cast," Cloer said.

"Practically every lead in the show is incredibly strong," Cloer said. The cast has been practicing for the past 10 weeks, with only two weeks McCain allotted Auditorium.

Kahlich said "Chicago" has been a real challenge for the

David Centers, set designer and assistant professor of speech, said "The basic look of the piece (Chicago) is an abstract art deco environment that has a heavy vaudevillian influence."

efter the 9:30 show

after the 9:30 showing of "IT COULD HAPPEN TO YOU" good for any six movies presented by UPC Feature Films or UPC Kaleidoscope Films.

rins a private screening of his or her FAVORITE MOVIE. You can invite 400 of your closest lends. Films are based on availability. You must

The trip includes: 2 days of skiling a

Information Meeting

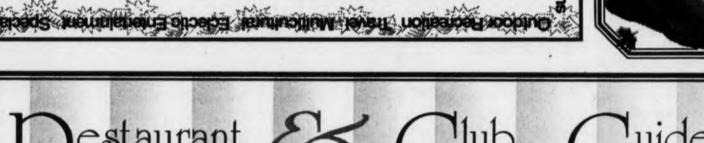

November 14, Union 209, 7 p.m.

tion, 2 nights lodgin

ts and ski, boot, pole

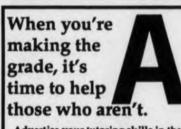

ter on the attached form, and if you ne is drawn, you are an instant winner

COLORADO with OUTDOOR RECREATION

Advertise your tutoring skills in the Classifieds. It's only $5 for 20 words.

COLLEGIAN

No Cover 776-1515 1800 Claflin

THURSDAYS

Burger & Beer Night every burger comes with a frosty

$1.75 Zimas 50€ Zima Shots

Free Jukebox

DISCO & DANCIN'

By CiCo Park Kimball & Seth Childs Candlewood Center

BEASTIE BOYS NIGHT

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 10TH

*$1 Brass Monkey Shots *50¢ DRAWS *$1 NATTIES

BEASTIE BOYS TRIVIA FOR LUCKY PRIZES

COME AND DANCE YOUR @#$ OFF WHILE DJ PALMER PLAYS YOUR FAVORITE BEASTIE BOYS TUNES EACH HOUR BEGINNING AT 11P.M.

COVER WILL BE ONE CANNED GOOD TO BENEFIT THE FLINTHILLS BREADBASKET

LUCKY BREWGRILLE AGGIEVILLE

776-9090

$4 Cover

Thursday 10:00 p.m.

$1 Draws

Coming Nov. 16th . Stick, Puke Weasel & Ten Thumb.

1122 Moro • 776-7726

KANSAS STATE

Godfather's V Pizza

Choose Your Favorite 2 Toppings

Sausage • Pepperoni Onion • Green Pepper

Your Choice of 1-Topping On Each

ALL-YOU-CAN-EAT Pizza • Salad Bar Breadsticks • Dessert Weekdays 11:30 am - 1:30 pm

KANSAS STATE UNIVERSITY, MANHATTAN, KANSAS 66506

NATIVE AMERICAN

INSIDE

PHILOSOPHY Daniel Wildcat speaks about traditional Native American beliefs and how they compare with western thought.

FRIDAY HIGH LOW WEATHER - PAGE 2

NOVEMBER 11, 1994

VOLUME 99B, NUMBER 59

TODD FEEBACK/Collegian

Tony Harding, junior in hotel and restaurant management, cleans the name of Steve W. Train on the Vietnam Veteran's Memorial Thursday. Train was a Delta Tau Delta fraternity member who died in Vietnam in 1968.

Delta Tau Delta remembers a brother

LISA ELLIOTT

teven W. Train died fighting for his country.

And to show respect for his memory and the memories of those who died while fighting in Vietnam, 23 members of the Delta Tau Delta fraternity pledge class cleaned the Vietnam Veteran's Memorial Thursday.

'We need to show our support for those who died for their country," said Rob Wells, freshman in pre-art therapy and pledge philanthropy chairman.

Wells said the pledge class decided to do the project for several reasons. The memorial needed to be cleaned, and they wanted to show their respect for those who died in Vietnam, he said.

That respect is also extended to Train, the fraternity brother whose name is on the wall, Wells said.

Kevin Peterson, freshman in marketing and business, said they wanted to make the memorial more presentable.

"It was the least we could do," Slade Deister, freshman in chemical engineering, said.

Tony Harding, junior in hotel and restaurant management, said one reason he thought the project was important is because his father served in Vietnam.

Kevin Johns, traveling consultant for the national Delta Tau Delta fraternity, helped the pledges clean the monument.

"I think it's really good that they've taken an interest," Johns said. "I'm sure a lot of people just walk by.'

Besides cleaning the monument, the Delts have a Mekong Delta party commemorating the veterans who served their country.

Johns said he thought the project brought awareness for the pledges. Chris Carter, freshman in sociology and criminal justice, said he knew several veterans, having been in the Marines for six months. "I've come in contact with a lot of people who've been to Vietnam or Korea," Carter said. "It's important to them that we respect

Carter said cleaning up the memorial was meaningful to him as "I feel like I can give something back to them," he said.

VETERANS DAY

Veterans Day always falls on Nov. 11.

■ The holiday is intended to honor American servicemen, past and

■ The holiday was designated by Woodrow Wilson to commemorate the end of World War I.

It falls at the same time as the signing of the Treaty of Versailles

- the 11hour of the 11th day of the 11th month. It was orginally called Armistice from this account.

money," he said.

suggestions.

Sunday.

"The Social Services

Committee of Student

Senate is undertaking a search of what the best plan is for spending this had a lot of student

Student Affairs Committee will make the decision on

Peterson said they've

Peterson said the

SARA SMITH/Collegian

▶ STUDENT SENATE

Jill Kolde, freshman in human ecology, listens to Karen McCulloh, assistant to the dean of Farrell Library, during a Student Senate forum Thursday at Rusty's Last Chance.

Senate AMY SIMON Collegian debates EOF fund

Student Governing Association debated how to spend money in the Educational Opportunity Fund at its meeting Thursday night.

EOF is a fund designed spending to assist underprivileged

Decision to be made Sunday expenditures can be made

KIM HALL

If you're wondering what will happen to the $17,000 overcharged to K-State students during fee payment, the decision will be made Sunday, Jeff Peterson, student body president said.

***********

Students discussed the possibilities of spending the midadjustment of fees in an open forum Wednesday evening at Rusty's Last Chance Restaurant & Saloon.

and underrepresented groups at K-State. This fund amounts to 1 percent decided how to allocate

$108,000 in EOF. Since last night was the second reading of the bill, senators had the opportunity to

Last night, senators of tuition collected.

"We've collected 50 cents extra on everybody's student-activity fee," Arts and Sciences Senator Brandon Clark said. "What to do with it now is a very complicated matter."

After a previous open discussion, he said Student Senate decided to create a student-life enrichment account.

"Students then decided on some guidelines for how the money would be spent," Clark said.

tutoring program. This money was taken away from the University-wide make amendments.

tutoring program.

three See FARRELL Page 10 said He

"The dean told me that Rodney York, veterinary he would not be able to find money for the tutoring medicine senator, offered an amendment to give the College of Veterinary Medicine $800 for its peer program anywhere else, York said. "Tutors in the University center do not have the knowledge to help our students with their

■ See SENATE Page 8

▶ GOVERNMENT

Message sent in '94 election

Elections indicate hatred of big government

RUSSELL FORTMEYER

Tuesday's sweeping Republican election victories have sparked much commentary, and even predictions, as to where American politics are headed.

Dale Herspring, head of the political science department, said the American people have sent the message they are fed up with President Clinton and the direction he is taking the country

Herspring said the elections are indicative of Americans' hatred of big government and their consensus that the power to do things should be brought down to the local level.

Proposition 187's success in California, which would cease entitlement programs for illegal immigrants, manifested voters' dislike in paying for things they don't want to pay for, Herspring

Herspring said having strong Republican leadership, especially Strom Thurmond from South Carolina as chairman of the Senate Armed Forces Committee in Washington, means the chances of Fort Riley closing are less, since the Republicans will favor a larger military.

Herspring said he didn't think Clinton got the message. Clinton addressed the nation, concerning the election's outcome, in a press conference Wednesday.

"It's not that people don't understand what Clinton wants to do. It's that Clinton doesn't understand what Americans want," Herspring said.

However, Herspring said the problem with voting out old people, especially strong leaders like Democrat Speaker of the House Tom Foley, of Washington, is that new people take about two years to become effective.

Herspring said it is up to Clinton now, but ultimately, the American people should now Republicans hold the responsible.

Herspring said the biggest surprise in the Kansas election outcomes was the defeat of incumbent Democrat representative Dan Glickman, of Wichita.

Glickman's problem was his association with Clinton, he said.

"If Jesus Christ was running here as a Democrat, he might have had problems," Herspring Student opinion concerning widely. Not surprisingly, the majority of students in the K-State Union did not vote. Brian Wika, senior in electrical engineering, who said he was a Democrat, said Tuesday's election will give the

the election results varied

Republicans their chance to put their agenda in place. "The American people will have a chance in two years to decide if they like the Republican agenda or if they want change," Wika said. "The Democrats can bounce back," he said.

CARY CONOVER/Collegian

Sam Brownback, 2nd District congressman elect, speaks to Blue Key senior honorary Thursday afternoon.

Brownback speaks about his KSU roots

SACHA HANES

It was standing room only Thursday afternoon as Sam Brownback, newly elected 2nd District congressman, stressed the importance of the individual in leadership.

Brownback was the fourth speaker for the Blue Key senior honorary Leadership Week.

He spoke for about 15 minutes on "Leading Through Morals and Values," then answered questions and explored topics from the audience. Brownback said the start of his leadership came at K-State when he was student body "Know yourself and what you seek. The time at college is the most critical time to learn that," he said.

Brownback said leadership comes from the internal qualities of the person.

"It is what the person feels, seeks and sees," he said. First off when leading, you have to know yourself.

What do you believe in?" Brownback said. "I think each of us sets the vector of our own life, directly or indirectly."

He explained that a vector is moving in a direction with force. This vector sets the cone of opportunities available to the individual. As the individual chooses to take the opportunity, the cone widens. If the person does not take advantage of the opportunities, the cone narrows, he said. "The more you invest in skills and opportunities, the wider the cone of opportunity is for you," he said.

Brownback said he was satisfied with the results of the election, but what was important was the journey along the way and the people he touched, positively and negatively.

Too often in campaigns, the exterior qualities are pushed, and pointing out the negatives of the opponent touches people in the wrong way, he said.

Brownback said the government has moved from a separation of church and state to the removal.

See DECISION Page 8

NEWS BRIEFS

▶ JERRY MANDER TO SPEAK AT FINAL LOU DOUGLAS LECTURE TONIGHT

The final Lou Douglas Lecture of the semester will be at 7:30 p.m. today in the Union Forum Hall.

Jerry Mander, senior fellow at the Public Media Center in San Francisco, will speak on "Questions We Should Have Asked About Technology."

"In our country, we seem to take technology for granted," said Al Zimmerman, Lou Douglas Lecture Series Committee member. "Just because we can do something, does it mean we should?"

Zimmerman said the goal of the committee is to get people to think about their world and see it in a dif-

"I think he will give people a different way to look at the world," he

The Public Media Center is the country's only non-profit, publicinterest advertising and communications agency.

The center runs national and international campaigns on environment, written the book "In the Absence of The Failure

women's rights, civil rights, trade

and democracy issues.

Most

recently,

Mander has of Technology and the Survival of the Indian Nations." The book is a critique of the failure of the technological society to live up to its Utopian promise. The book simultaneously argues in behalf of the native peoples of the planet who have resisted western technology and who continue to

"We need to take a look at the effects technology has on our society," Zimmerman said.

He said he thought Mander's lecture would show that the medium of television changes the perception

Mander is also program director for the Foundation for Deep Ecology in San Francisco and a council member for the Elmwood Institute in Berkeley, Calif.

LISA ELLIOTT

▶ 100 PEOPLE EXPECTED TO TAKE PART IN HABITAT HOME RUN BENEFIT

A 10K/5K run and a 1K walk will take place Saturday to benefit the K-State Chapter of Habitat for Humanity in Warner Park.

"We do several fundraisers a year and wanted a big event for the fall," Pam Jackson, president, said.

About 100 people are expected to participate in the Home Run, Matt Short, fund-raising committee,

Registration is at 9:30 a.m. Saturday. The events will start at

A $12 donation is being taken at registration. All participants will receive a T-shirt and be entered into a raffle for various prizes donated by sponsors.

"All proceeds go directly to the local affiliate," Short said. Habitat for Humanity is an international, non-profit organization ing in unlivable homes. The K-State chapter has three that builds houses for families stay-purposes: educate the public, provide funds and provide labor to the local chapter. Jackson said.

► K-STATE HALO MEMBERS ATTEND LEADERSHIP CONFERENCE IN CHICAGO

Members of K-State's Hispanic Leadership Organization attended the 1994 U.S. Hispanic Leadership Conference Oct. 28-30 in Chicago.

The USHLC is the largest annual Hispanic conference, and this year, 2.500 to 3.000 people attended. said Arleen Baiges, senior in industrial engineering and public relations officer for HALO.

Throughout the weekend, HALO members attended workshops, listened to keynote speakers, such as Vice President Al Gore, and met with role models for the Hispanic community.

"I liked the hero recognitions the best," said Adriana Luna, junior in management and marketing and president of HALO. Awards were presented to Hispanics that have had a lifetime commitment to their communities.

This year's conference focal points were pride, community and

The workshops were targeted to these points, Baiges said.

The conference was attended by college students and professionals. This helps form a network between the students and the people already out there working, Baiges

The mission of the conference is to promote diversity, community issues to Hispanic leaders and to focus on Hispanics of today, Luna

This is the fifth year HALO has attended the USHLC conference in Chicago, Baiges said.

The group earned money through having car washes and selling T-shirts, Luna said.

"Every year, at least 20 members of HALO attend this conference. and we are planning on it next fall, also," Baiges said.

TRACEY STINSON

These reports are taken directly from the daily logs of the K-State and Riley County Police departments.

Because of space constraints, not all crimes are listed.

K-STATE POLICE

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 9

At 1:52 p.m., a subject taken to the Riley County jail for reported hit-and-run damage to her car in Lot D-1. Loss was less

At 2:00 a.m., a subject was taken to the Riley County jail for At 1:56 a.m., a subject was

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 10 .

2546 Candle Crest Circle, reported damage done to her car,

At 1:15 p.m., Lisa Rhoden, which was parked on the west side of Wagner Field. Damage

RILEY COUNTY POLICE

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 9 At 8:03 p.m., the Crisis

Center reported locating a con-At 9:58 a.m., a large fight was reported at 1834 Laramie St. involving about 30 subjects. At 10:36 p.m., Lana Groom, 2250 Westchester Apartments, Apt. 5, reported burglary to her vehicle. Taken was a billfold and some clothing. Total loss was

At 10:48 p.m., a subject called Pawnee Mental Health

At 12:28 a.m., Stacie A. Schmidt, Moore 443, was given a notice to appear for unlawful use of a driver's license at TW

Longhorns.

and said he was going to end it

At 10:52 p.m., a loud party was reported at 1405 Hartman

At 10:58 p.m., a subject reported her tires slashed on her car parked at Manhattan Middle School. Damage to the four tires

At 11:03 p.m., the manager of the Westwood Motel, 2108 Fort Riley Blvd., was being pushed around in room 33. THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 10

At 12:32 a.m., a domestic disturbance was reported at 925 Denison St., Apt. 2. Jerry Elkins was escorted off the property and was told not to return

ANNOUNCEMENTS

The deadline for entries to the Sports Trivia Contest is 5 p.m. today in the Recreational Services Office at the Chester E. Peters Recreation Complex.

Grade reports for fall 1994 semester will be mailed to students' permanent addresses on Dec. 21. Any changes to permanent addresses need to be made by 5 p.m. Dec. 16 in the Registrar's

Applications for Who's Who Among Students at American Colleges and Universities are now available in the Office of Student Activities and Services. Deadline is Nov. 18.

Chimes junior honorary is awarding a scholarship to an outstanding junior. Applications are due at noon Nov. 14 and are available in the Office of Student Activities and Services.

Sign up for practice interviews for dental, medical and optome try programs in Eisenhower 113.

BULLETINS E

- InterVarsity Christian Fellowship will meet at 7:30 p.m. today in Throckmorton 1018.
- For Student Affairs and Social Services Week, there will be an information table set up for University Counseling Services outside the Union Staterooms
- James Heggie, director of the Office of Campus Diversity at the University of Texas - Houston Health Science Center, will present "Transforming your Leadership Skills from the University to your Career by Incorporating Diversity."
- There will be the last in a series of meetings on how to spend the $17,000 that students were overcharged at 7:30 p.m. Sunday in the Office of Student Activities and Services.
  - Collegiate 4H will meet at 7:30 p.m. Sunday at Clovia House.

The Kansas State Collegian USPS 291 020), a studen newspaper at Kansas State University, is published by Student Publications Inc., Kedzie Hall 103, Manhattar Kan., 66506. The Collegian is published weekdays during the class postage is paid at Manhattan, Kan., 66502 POSTMASTER: Send State Collegian, circulation desk, Kedzie 103, Manhattan,

Kan. 66506-7167.

Mostly cloudy with highs of 55 to 60 in the west and mid-50s elsewhere.

school year and once a week through the summer. Second-O Kansas State Collegian, 1994

Lows in the 30s.

YESTERDAY'S HIGHS AND LOWS

TODAY I

Increasingly cloudy with a high of 60 and low of 35.

TOMORROW I

A chance for rain with highs in the upper 50s and lows in the mid-

If you

canned goods, toiletries, or household products, to the homeless through the

Collegian, you will receive

THANKS

and $1 off any classified ad in the Collegian through the end

of December.

Contributions go to Manhattan Emergency Shelter and Flint Hills Breadbasket

Bring items to the Student Publications Inc. office in Kedzie 103

HEAR YE! HEAR YE! Apply for next semester's Collegian

re you a good writer? Do you have media experience? Are you reliable and enthusiastic?

The Kansas State Collegian is now accepting applications for editor-in-chief and advertising manager for spring 1995. The deadline for these applications is 5 p.m. Friday, Nov. 11.

Interviews for ad manager will be at 8 a.m. Tuesday, Nov. 15. Interviews for editor will be at 8 a.m. Tuesday, Nov. 22.

Applications for other advertising staff positions are due by 5 p.m. Friday, Nov. 18, and applications for other news positions are due by 5 p.m. Wednesday, Nov. 23. Apply for:

- desk editor
- columnist · graphic artist

· staff writer

- photographer · copy editor
- · ad representative · and more

Job descriptions are available in 103 Kedzie Hall. All applications are available in and should be returned to 103 Kedzie Hall from 8 a.m.-5 p.m. Monday through Friday. Please include supporting materials with your application.

Don't miss this opportunity to work on the awardwinning sixth largest morning daily in Kansas.

KANSAS STATE

STUDENT LEADERS

Matt Perrier, junior in animal sciences and industry, works on the Farmhouse fraternity's Homecoming float. Perrier has been involved in many activities while at K-State, including Block and Bridle, Student Senate and being an ambassador.

Time management key to leadership

MOLLY WEIGEL

Editor's note: These are the last in our series about student leaders at K-State.

Matt Perrier, junior in animal sciences and industry, has mastered the game of time management.

Perrier has devoted a great deal of his time to the College of Agriculture. He has been a student senator, ambassador and council representative for the college.

He is also a member of Student Alumni Board, Block and Bridle, Chimes junior honorary, FarmHouse fraternity and the K-State meats judging team.

The meats judging team, Perrier said, takes quite a bit of his time. They travel almost every weekend, he said.

Last year, they traveled to Dallas, Denver and upstate Pennsylvania, he said. They won the southwestern contest in Dallas. Perrier also spends time traveling throughout Kansas to promote K-State to prospective

"It's really neat to see the picture of university life through the high-school students' eyes," Perrier said.

Becky Klingler, director of constituent programs for the K-State Alumni Association, said Perrier is a hard worker.

"He always does what he's asked to do and is willing to put forth the time and effort,' Klingler, adviser for the Student Alumni Board, said.

Perrier said he tries to lead by

"I don't expect others to do what I don't do," he said. "I try to get people excited and having Jennifer Dunn, junior in food sciences, is involved in many of the same activities as Perrier. "You can always count on Matt to get the job done," Dunn said. "If someone in the group doesn't do it, he will."

Dunn said Perrier is a good listener, and no matter how busy he is, he will always make time for his friends.

"I'm at meetings a lot," Perrier said, "but I love to hang out with my friends." Perrier, who grew up on a ranch in Eureka, also likes to ride horses. He said he doesn't make it home enough to do it as much as Perrier said he never seriously considered any schools other than

"My parents went here," he said. "When I came to visit, I really liked the friendly atmosphere on campus. That's what solidified my decision."

Although Perrier said he is very goal-oriented, he likes to take life one day at a time.

"I'm not really sure what I want to do in the future," he said. "I'd like to get into the business aspect of the animal-agriculture industry.

Perrier said his secret to success is to not get stressed out.

"I just try to keep things in perspective," he said. "It's also really important to save a little bit of time for yourself."

Liz Ring, junior in history, started in leadership roles in her freshman year at K-State. Ring has recently become a finalist for a Rhodes

Public service, academics led to leadership experienes

JULIE KRAMER

Editor's note: These are the last in our series about student leaders

Liz Ring may be K-State's 19th Truman Scholar.

Ring, junior in history, is a finalist for the scholarship, which is based on public service, leadership and academics. Ring said she has always had an interest in public service and has gotten leadership experience through being a student senator.

Senate. Ring got started in Student Senate through a leadershiptraining class she took her freshman

Ring serves as vice-chair of Student year, she said. "Blue Key is the small group facilitator for the class," she said, "and both of my Blue Key students were in Senate.' She said they encouraged her to try for a Senate intern position the fall of her freshman year. She did, and she was accepted.

As an intern, Ring said she had every privilege the senators had, except for voting rights.

"I met a lot of people, which was one of my goals," she said. "I knew student government would be something I'd enjoy."

She ran for an arts and sciences seat the spring of her freshman year and was elected. She served her term her sophomore year as communications chair and ran again in the spring.

Ring was re-elected, and now as a junior serves as vice-chair of Senate. If the chair cannot be at a meeting or wants to debate on the floor, the vice-chair must take charge of the meeting.

"Student government is just like a job. I'm in the office two to four hours a day - I just don't get paid."

Ring said she wasn't sure if she would run for Senate again next

"I plan on staying involved in some aspect," she said. "There are a lot of projects being started this year. I want to make sure they're all completed."

One project Ring is working on with Senate is a grassroots campaign designed to inform communities about tuition costs.

Students are paying a higher percentage of their tuition now than they were a few years ago, she said.

K-State and other regents schools want to inform smaller communities on how important higher education is and the costs associated with it, she said.

Besides Senate, Ring is a member of Pi Beta Phi sorority, Arts and Sciences Council, Arts and Sciences Ambassadors and Marketing Club.

"I can't imagine going to school as just going to class," she said. "I enjoy being involved."

Manhattan Catholic Schools

Buttons 'n Bows

14th Annual Arts & Crafts Fair

Saturday · November 12 9 a.m. - 5 p.m.

Holiday Gifts and Decorations Baskets • Jewelry Furniture • Toys

150 Booths Lunch Served

SPONSORED BY THE MANHATTAN

CATHOLIC SCHOOLS P.T.O.

$1 adult admission makes you eligible for quilt drawing

Manhattan Civic Theatre presents Joseph Kesselring's beloved comedy

Dramatic Director - Beverly Face Stage Managor - Vesta Sorgent: Technical director - David Buckelty

November 10, 11, 12, 13 Thurs, Fri, Sat at 8 p.m. Sunday at 2 p.m.

> ham Opera House: 410 Poyntz All performances Clean Air Wheel chair accessible

> > All Seats Reserved call 539-6000

Box Office Hours - Sat, 11 am - 3 pm

1520 Poyntz

TO OFFICER TRAINING

Put your college degree to work in the Air Force Officer Training School. Then, after graduating from Officer Training School, become a commissioned Air Force officer with great starting pay, complete medical and dental care, 30 days of vacation with pay per year and management opportunities. Learn if you qualify for higher education in the Air Force. Call

AIR FORCE OPPORTUNITIES TOLL FREE 1-800-423-USAF

MCCAIN AUDITORIUM NOVEMBER 10 - 12 AT 8 PM

LYRICS BY FRED EBB MUSIC BY JOHN KANDER BOOK BY FRED EBB & BOB FOSSE

STUDENTS / SENIORS $8

GENERAL PUBLIC $10 FOR RESERVATIONS CALL MCCAIN BOX OFFICE 532 - 8428 NOON TO 5 PM

Manhattan Civic Theatre is supported in part by the Kansas Arts Commission, and the National Endowments for the Arts, with additional funding from the City of Manhattan.

Little Caesars® Pizza

Two great pizzas! One low price: Always! Always!

YOUR PARTY! SPECIALISTS  CALL 539-3333 WESTLOOP CENTER MANHATTAN, KS

PIZZA!PIZZA!" VALUE MENU

CREATE YOUR OWN

WITH ONE TOPPING ADD TOPPINGS OR EXTRA CHEESE FOR $1.00 EACH

EXPIRES: 11-12-94 Little Caesars CREATE YOUR OWN

WITH ONE TOPPING ADD TOPPINGS OR EXTRA CHEESE FOR $1.25 EACH

EXPIRES: 11-12-94 Little Caesars CREATE YOUR OWN

ADD TOPPINGS OR EXTRA CHEESE FOR $1.50 EACH

EXPIRES: 11-12-94 Little Caesars

NEW line of quality pizzas loaded with more of what you want!

ANY 2 MEDIUM PIZZAS

NOW GET - CAESARS SINGLES! ONE MEDIUM $5.99 * ONE LARGE $7.99 Offer valid of participating corry-out store. No coupon necessary. 21994 LCE, the

PLUS TAX 2 LARGE $13.98

Secretary of Agriculture Mike Espy talkingabout his department emphasizing enforcement of existing inspection laws and creating new laws for poultry.

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

IN OUR OPINION

By the Collegian Editorial Board

Remember why veterans fought and died

There are several places on campus dedicated to veterans. Take time today to find them.

Today is Veterans Day, and it's time to do some thinking.

Quickly name the plaques, buildings or memorials on campus that honor war veterans.

Can you name any? The K-State campus does have a few.

Next time you go to East Stadium to the KSU Police Department or the Purple Masque Theatre, think about the fact that the Memorial Stadium was built as a memorial to K-State students who died during World War I.

Next time you go to McCain Auditorium or All Faiths Chapel, walk a little farther down the sidewalk to see the Vietnam Veterans Memorial.

Next time you are in the K-State Union, look for the plaques dedicated to K-State students and alumni who died for our freedom or the cause of freedom.

The phrase "died for our freedom" or "died for us" has unfortunately turned into a cliché. Sometimes, we can take for granted what we enjoy every day.

Remember those who volunteered to defend or fight for their country.

Remember that if it wasn't for them, you might not be reading this newspaper, or wouldn't have been able to vote on Tuesday or complain openly about our leaders.

Remember what they died for.

TOLES

Tri-Pi bimbos meet their fate in horror flick

ou just can't have Halloween come and go without catching glimpses of really awful horror movies on television.

When I was younger, my dad would take about three hours deciding what movie to take home from the video store that my mom would voluntarily watch. I would stare at videocassette boxes in the horror section, alternately grossed out and fascinated by red-eyed demons, gluey creatures and morbidly dark houses.

There seemed to be a sub-category with these images intertwined with grotesquely overbuilt women with, foot-long eyelashes on the cover. I knew these horror movies were different; but at the time, I lacked the vocabulary I now have for those movies, which I call "bimbo horror." I saw some "bimbo horror" in flashes Halloween weekend, and it reminded me of an evening the summer before last that was spent with my boyfriend watching one of these peculiar

It was a rare evening when "Married With Children" was not on (the boyfriend's favorite), and we were searching for high-quality programming in our own ways: I was diligently "We're watching this."

checking the TV guide for titles, stars, durations, ratings and plot lines, while my boyfriend was flipping through my family's 40 cable channels over and over and over in complete faith that he would find something he liked.

I chuckled when I came to a movie listing. "Did you know there's a movie called 'Sorority Girl Massacre?" I said to him.

No reply. I looked at him, then the screen. Four girls in lingerie were playing with a Oujii

I narrowed my eyes, but he didn't notice. I bumped his arm until he looked at me (it took a while), then narrowed them again, for effect.

"Quit it," he said. "I want to watch this." I knew what "this" was. I began to read the plot summary from the TV Guide. "Four buxom, long-legged Tri-Pi beauties meet gruesome deaths

"Yeah, I know," he interrupted. "It's the second one." There ensued an argument of some volume in which I covered my eyes. He pulled my hands down and then reminded me that under my persuasion/blunt force we had recently watched Walt Disney's "Fantasia" and the critically acclaimed "Peter's Friends."

"You owe me, and you owe me big," he swore.

We watched the movie. The blond with the muscular thighs had all his attention. I looked regretfully down at my own thighs. "Wait!" I said. "I get it - she's not real! Nobody really looks like that."

"She's real, all right," he replied, perhaps a little condescendingly.

If she could tone her thighs like that, she possessed a wisdom I and millions dreamed of. I would watch and learn, I thought.

Christy the sleuth had a new insight a minute late. "Why are they wearing those little outfits? It's a big, drafty house, and there's snow outside."

"Because that's what sorority girls sleep in," the boyfriend said. "I'm a sorority girl, and no one in my house sleeps in that. We wear T-shirts." "Shhh," he said. "Let us drive by your house at night and dream a little." I let that go, but I added that those women didn't portray, well, women very well. "She could have ran out of the house by now. And she could have called the police. And I would have never dropped my knife in that situation. They just aren't portraying women the way they should. And where's the detective?" "He's investigating at a strip joint."

Of course, of course. The blonds were slain, and my heroine, the brunette, dodged "Colin" with the meathook for about an hour.

"I used to like horror," I said, "but I don't think I like this."

"It isn't the same," he said. "This isn't to scare you ... it's sort of a visual thing."

"Her thighs scare me," I said, pointing at the

"This isn't a thinking movie," he said. "It doesn't have theme or symbolism, or any of that stuff you read about in your lit classes.'

"How about plot?" I asked. He couldn't think

'Well," I said, trying to go along with this, 'there is character development. That blond said she'd slept with the other girl's boyfriend, so we know she's a slut. I wasn't surprised at all that she died first."

"Jealous much?" he asked.

"Maybe," I said. "I wouldn't star in one of those movies for a million dollars - not that anyone's offered. I lack ...'

"Thighs?" he suggested.

Well, yes. Among other things. "I'm sorry - we can stop watching," he bravely offered me. I thought it was really noble of him, especially since all the sorority girls had been slaughtered some 10 minutes ago. "Next time, we'll get 'Casablanca' just for Christy Little is a junior in secondary education.

READERS WRITE

Drop letters off at Kedzie 116 or send them to Letters to the Editor, c/o John Melrowsky, Kansas State Collegian, Kedzie 116, Manhattan, KS 66506. We accept letters by e-mail also. Our address is letters@spub.ksu.edu. Letters should be addressed to the editor and include a name, address and phone number. A photo identification will be necessary for hand-delivered letters.

▶ CHEATING

Class sizes should be smaller

The recent_events of cheating that have been reported (unfortunately, nationally) from this campus should be read as symptoms of a serious malfunction in the teaching mission of this University. Multiple or widespread cheating is not a recent development but neither does it occur in courses that are taught in individual sections of moderate size by instructors who are prepared by training and experience for classroom instruction.

Massive lectures, auto-tutorial learning, computer (or committee) graded multiple-choice exams and other mass production devices deliver a very clear message: the number of students getting by is more important than the amount of learning taking place. Students thus "justify" behaviors they no longer perceive to be "academic dishonesty."

Failure to provide high-quality instructional environments constitutes "academic dishonesty" on the part of the University and its faculty.

The quality of teaching at all levels of the University must be of equal importance to the quality of its research.

Courses offered and course enrollments should be restricted to the number of students that can be provided with a sound environment for learning. Greater respect (and financial reward?) accorded to the teaching component of faculty responsibilities could increase faculty teaching time without increasing the size of the faculty.

Greater use could be made of part-time/temporary faculty who can concentrate on quality instruction, free of the pressure of research.

More training and supervision could be given to graduate students used as classroom instructors, emphasizing that the quality of the instruction that they provide is just as important as the "luster" they bring to their research.

A University with high-academic standards of its own can demand — and expect to receive — higher academic standards in its students.

Carol O'Neill math skills specialist at the Academic Assistance

▶ GREEKS

No one responds to noise complaints

We wish to respond to the recent columns written by Scott Allen Miller and the events described in them. In short, we have been Manhattan residents, and we have seen and heard many problems related to greek organizations similar to the ones described by

We have sought the assistance of many people, but have seen few, if any, results.

The K-State administration responds with concern for our problems of noise, debris thrown onto our property, vandalism and harassment, but there is nothing they can do to explain that. Greek organizations are private corporations and are not under the jurisdiction of the University. Some administrators have gone so far as to say that we should have known better than to live where we do. Others imply that "boys will be boys."

The Riley County Police Department can do nothing unless they witness a crime. It is not enough to simply call them when the music from the fraternity house shakes our windows, or when a beer bottle sails over our fence. The police have to actually see it happen.

Calls to the fraternity houses and conversations with their residents are met with weak excuses, empty apologies and smug indifference. We are not surprised by the harassment that Miller has endured. The behavior he describes is typical of the arrogant disregard for neighbor's rights that we have become all too familiar with.

Instead of hiding behind a wall of silence and denial, the greek organizations, the greek affairs office and the Panhellenic Council should acknowledge the problem and hold individuals and groups responsible for their actions.

If they do not, it is time for the nearby residents to stand up for their rights.

An organized effort to establish new laws and ordinances could severely restrict the activities of greek organizations. We hope this will not be necessary and the residents of greek houses will act like adults.

Gerald C. Manke II graduate student in physical chemistry

RESPONSE

Greeks don't want special treatment

I am going to go out on a limb and dare to respond to the comments made by the supercolumnist, Scott Allen Miller. Logic and reason tell me not to, but my "intestinal fortitude" has forced me to action.

Let me start off by saying that I have seen the greek system here at K-State from both sides. I came here as an independent student, and now I am a member of a fraternity.

No one can deny that there is tension between the greeks and the "non-greeks," but the majority of these problems are generated in the imaginations of various people. I can assure you that the "us vs. them" mentality is present on both sides. However, this is not a greek/non-greek issue, even though some individuals seem to make it their goal in life to portray it as that.

None of the fraternities and sororities here at K-State receive nor want special treatment from anyone. In fact, the greek houses are under a much more watchful eye than any other living organizations. Greek Affairs, here at K-State, not only has stringent policies concerning hazing, alcohol and complaints, but it is also not afraid to enforce them.

The greek community is just that, a community. When a member of a community is attacked unjustly and without provocation, you can bet that its comrades will rush to its defense. Is this a foreign concept, or am I just wise beyond my years? I am terribly sorry Miller did not receive flowers and cards from every greek house on campus. What did he

I would like to thank Miller for blessing us with his very insightful comments and the high standards he sets for himself and those unfortunate enough to have to be around him.

Maybe if he could find the time to come down off his pedestal, we could have a couple of beers junior in management AS/finance

UNION EXPANSION

Whose side is SGA on?

I am writing in reference to the full-page advertisement in the Nov. 9 Collegian, SGA Unplugged, in which the SGA is attempting to lull the students into believing that the K-State Union expansion is a good idea.

I'm sorry, but of the long list of things to spend money on, Union expansion should not be on it. Does the term "waste of money" mean anything to the

If I recall, students did not vote in favor of the Union expansion project. Fifty-nine percent is exactly that, 59 percent. I commend the Collegian editorial board for bringing this issue to the students' attention, and I also wonder whose side the SGA is on.

Brian DeVader junior in political science

▶ COLORGUARD

Male member doesn't deserve criticism

At Saturday's game, I wasn't sure whether it was high school or college level. A select few felt the need to shout at Earl Laih (the male member of the colorguard). The entire band, including the colorguard, spends many hours each week so we can entertain the crowd. This isn't the kind of respect he should receive. I never hear anyone yelling sexist comments at the male members on the cheerleading squad, so why should Earl be any different?

Another complaint is with the Collegian. An article written about Earl made him out as "one of the girls." He is an equal member who deserves the same respect as anyone. And for those who felt the need to shout at him, he is twice the man any of you could ever be.

Gerri Vopata senior in sociology and a member of the colorguard

WILLIE THE WILDCAT

Mascot needs to be seen

Even though K-State won Saturday, the game was missing one important item: Willie the Wildcat. Where was Willie during the game? CHRIS ECKERT

Yes, Willie was there during the opening quarter, but he soon disappeared. I saw more of Iowa State's mascot than I did ours. Willie is just as vital to the football game as the students are. When the students are not excited, Willie should be there to build enthusiasm.

We as students need to look to Willie to unite spirit and keep energy at its peak.

We as students need to look to Willie to unite spirit and keep energy at its peak. It was bad enough that Willie was out of sight, but it was even worse for this to happen at Homecoming.

senior in human ecology and journalism and mass communications

Compiled from Collegian staff and Associated Press reports

You've heard of 'Robocop' - now meet 'Robotuna'

Then engineers began casting around for a more efficient means of driving submarines, they spied on nature.

And so, after three years of research, scientists have created an unmanned sub shaped like a fish. A bluefin tuna, to be precise Robotuna, they call it.

Sixty million years of evolution have made this the epitome of high-speed motion," said David S. Barrett, a graduate student in ocean engineering who is developing the robot fish.

The 4-foot-long prototype, dubbed Charlie, made its maiden voyage July 4.

It has 41 polystyrene ribs, compared to 48 ribs in a real tuna. Its tendons are made of stainless-steel aircraft cables and its skin of latex, foam and Lycra in a sort of neon-blue California beach design that makes it easier to see during testing.

It swims gracefully down a 110-foot testing tank, its tail oscillating and its body bending to cut down on drag, exactly like a living fish.

Plans are also afoot to build an entire series of war machines based on other favorite animals.

Another underwater craft, based on the duck-billed platypus will see production as early as next year, provided engineers develop a way to synthesize the duck bill out of the hoods of out-of-service volkswagens.

No, really!

I love you so much that I wanted you to have my kidney

ictoria Ingram-Curlee has finally made good on her wedding promise to her husband.

two 2-1/2-hour operations Wednesday, four doctors removed one of her kidneys and implanted it in Randall

"The operations, both of them, were quite successful," Dr. Robert Mendez said. Victoria gave a beautiful kidney to Randy, and after we were able to implant it and hook it up, it looked just beautiful, just as it did when it came out of her.'

Husband and wife were recuperating today in separate rooms at Sharp Memorial Hospital in San Francisco, Calif., where they were married Oct. 11. They should be able to go home as early as next wee doctors said.

Plans are also afoot for the couple to soon share another organ, though they are waiting for passage of a health-care reform bill so that the government will pay for it.

Put a leash on this guy, geez ... man bites dog!

man charged with biting his neighbor's dog said he was provoked.

'He was growling at me, and they let him run loose for at least four years," William Burgess, 39, said. "He was messing with my dogs and messing with me every time I walked by there.

Burgess was charged Monday with cru-elty to animals and public intoxication. He also was charged with two counts of battery for allegedly assaulting the dog's owner.

A police clerk said Wednesday she didn't know how serious the dog's injuries

The dog has obtained the services of a lawyer, and will be filing a lawsuit, citing that old thing they used to tell us about a man's mouth being dirtier than a dog's.

New scandal to shake powercat, athletic department

he powercat is again in another scandal. It seems that Andrew Tomb, creator of the hit comic panel, "Filler," is considering legal action against the powercat, as it looks suspiciously like the female character from his cartoon.

Internet Antics

Flames, pop runs are popular diversions for network users on and off campus

f you haven't been on an official pop run, you aren't a KSU Internet junkie.

"pop run"

"meet in n126 in 5"

Messages like this flash across the screen signaling the first pop run of the night. Pop runs are a very important part of the nightly internet ritual.

Tim Ramsey, Computing and Network Services assistant specialist, and other local users relay messages for pop runs to the Kwik Shop at the corner of Anderson Avenue and 14th Street on Internet Relay Chat, more commonly known as IRC.

A pop mug is a vital part of every self-respecting user's life, Ramsey said.

Users from off campus join the group at the Kwik Shop. The Nichols Hall user group walks over from the

CNS lab at least once a night. Although Wednesday night's pop-run group was fairly small, Ramsey said they often have as many as 10 people go at once. The graveyard shift cashiers at the Kwik Shop know them all by name Ramsey said at any given time there can be as many as 50 people on the Internet from K-State. Internet use at K-State is the highest in the Regents system. The University of Kansas comes in at a not-so-close second K-State is easily number 1. We use the network more than any other school," Ramsey said. One of the reasons Ramsey likes the Internet is because users can get to-the-minute reports on what is happening in other countries. 'During Desert Storm, when the Iraqis were throwing scuds at Israel, there were people in Israel giving up-to-the-minute reports over the Internet," he said. Ramsey said he was also communicating with users in Moscow during the coup in 1993. One guy was hanging out his apartment window watching the army fire on the hotel and sending what he saw around the world.

Richard Heflin, CNS daytime consultant, said K-State has 8,600 UNIX accounts for both faculty and stu"It used to be the computer people who had accounts," Heflin said. "Now # you can e-mail friends at other universi-

Heflin said computer accounts are popular because communication is much cheaper than long-distance phone calls, and the turnaround is better than mail.

Rachel Stigge, sophomore in vocal music, said she just started using the computers in the Nichols lab at the beginning of October.

"Since this one is in Nichols, I come in when I've got half an hour between classes and my lessons," she said.

IRC is interactive. Users can communicate with each other while communicating with other users at different sites. In order to receive messages, the user must be present and logged on to the system

CNS has been supporting IRC for about a year, Ramsey said.

"IRC is a good place to begin because there are a lot of beginners," Ramsey said.

Ramsey said some of the drawbacks for first-time users are the consequences of annoying experienced users. When an experienced user gets annoyed, the unsuspecting new user is likely to get flamed. Flaming is personally attacking people for the stupid words on the screen.

"A well-done flame is something that is humorous and really embarrassing for the flamee," Ramsey said. Sometimes, the experienced user forgets there is a person on the other end of the line. Many first-time users are discouraged by flaming. USENET News are loosely categorized discussions on any subject imaginable.

Once users becomes familiar with the system, they can maneuver in the USENET News system more efficiently. Users can talk about sighting the king of rock

'n' roll on alt.elvis.sighting or the finer points of everyone's favorite vice president on alt.fan.dan-Newsgroups are similar to a library. There are seven categories and numerous subcategories.

Ramsey said it is easy to find a newsgroup for "If I am interested in something, then I can join a newsgroup that is about that," Ramsey

Another aspect of the net is the World Wide Web. The web is a way of distributing information over the internet so that several different types of machines can read it. Ramsey said he spends a lot of time exploring the web, which he calls surfing the web. "I'll see a reference to something, so I'll go and I'll see," he said. "You can lose yourself." Ramsey said the culture can be attributed to how it began. The first Internet users were computerscience students and faculty. Now, all fields use the Internet to conduct business through e-mail, he said. The newsgroups aren't really user-friendly yet,

GETTING ON THE NET

Any K-State student can get onto the Internet free by filling out a simple form in Nichols 126D.

You will be asked to choose a user ID between three and seven characters and a password between five and eight characters. The password must contain at least four different characters. SARA SMITH/Collegis

Ramsey said. He said they still haven't found a good way to do it.

People adapt to the culture of the net with time and experience on the net, Ramsey said.

Tans are rare among users; high general intelligence

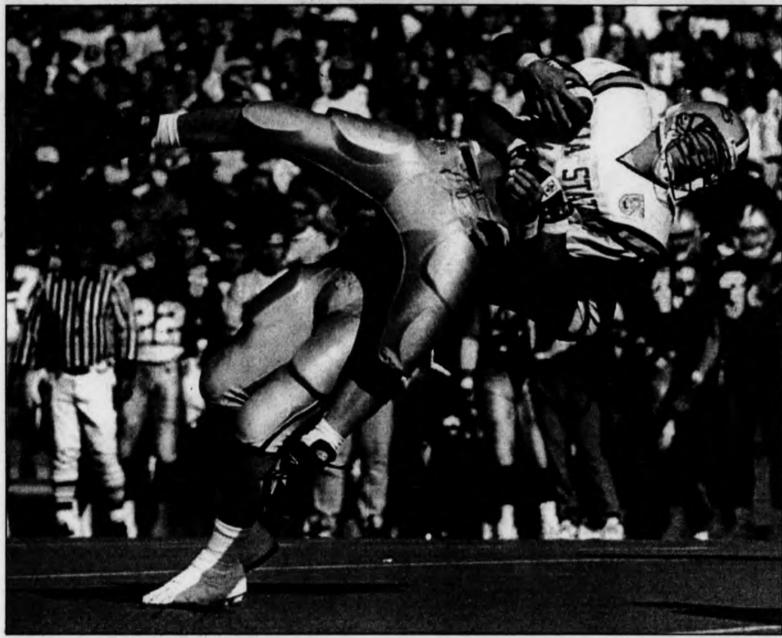

"Users are mostly 15- to 24-year-old males who have never left the house and never danced with a woman," Ramsey said.

> Story by Lisa Elliott Art by Mike Marlett Design by Dave Olson for boys and girls. Practices begin Jan. 4 on Monday evenings and Saturday mornings. Games are on Sunday afternoons Jan. 17 through March 7. People interested can call Mike Buchanan at 587-2757.

NOVEMBER 11, 1994

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Defensive end Nyle Wiren sacks lowa State quarterback Todd Doxzon last Saturday. Wiren sacked Doxzon three times during K-State's 38-20 win at KSU Stadium.

Cats defend ranking at Mizzou

WESS HUDELSON

K-State tries to defend a top-10 ranking for the first time in school history against Missouri.

The Wildcats travel to Columbia, Mo., to take on the Tigers at 1:08 p.m. Saturday at Faurot Field. If K-State defeats Missouri, it will be the first time since the 1970-71 seasons that the Cats have beaten the Tigers in two consecutive years.

"In all facets of the game, they have improved since game three or four," Coach Bill Snyder said.

The Tigers blocked a pair of extra points Saturday against Oklahoma, giving Missouri six blocked kicks for the season. Missouri lost to the Sooners 30-13.

This season, Missouri has blocked three extra points, two punts and a field goal.

"They've improved on offense, defense, and they're special teams are as good as we've played this year," Snyder said.

The offense is led by the Big Eight Conference's second career passing leader, Jeff Handy. Handy is second behind Mike Gundy in as Elway, but he's got every bit as career passing yardage with 6,456 yards in his career.

His favorite target throughout his career has been senior wide receiver Brian Sallee.

Sallee filling in at quarterback last victory over Iowa State. season when Handy was knocked out of the game. Despite Handy's ability, the Tigers still possess the worst offense in the conference.

Handy was knocked out of last week's contest against Oklahoma in the first half with a concussion. First year Missouri coach Larry Smith said Monday during the Big Eight teleconference it was too soon to decide if Handy would return for the K-State game. "I think he's coming along," Smith said. "He couldn't end practice yesterday (Sunday), so we'll just have to wait and see.'

Smith was impressed with the skills of K-State quarterback Chad

"I coached against John Elway for four years," Smith said. "He doesn't have as quick of a release much strength.

"He's just a great quarterback, and he's really doing it all." May was named Big Eight Offensive Player of the Week for K-State fans may remember his performance in K-State's 38-20

May completed 26 of his 36 pass attempts for 312 yards and four touchdown passes. He broke the K-State school record for touchdown passes in a career with

He surpassed Lynn Dickey's record of 29.

"I think he should be recognized as one of the best in the country," Snyder said. "I haven't seen a lot of the other players in the country, so I would be hard pressed to say whether or not he deserves to win the Heisman.'

Last season against Missouri, May threw for two touchdown passes and ran for another against Missouri in K-State's 31-13 win. The victory clinched a bowl berth for K-State.

Missouri has struggled on defense this season. The Tigers are ranked seventh in the conference ahead of only Iowa State. They have allowed an average of 191.8 yards passing per game.

The Tigers have lost five straight games at home dating back to last season. Snyder said it concerns him. 'Anytime a team hasn't won at home for a awhile, you run a tremendous risk," Snyder said.

GAME-DAY INFO

Date: Saturday, Nov. 12 Kickoff: 1:08 p.m. Place: Faurot Field

The opponent: Missouri Tigers

Tigers to watch: #11 Jeff Handy, QB

7 Brian Sallee, WR #38 Michael Washington, FB #55 Darryl Major, LB

#39 Travis McDonald, LB #15 Kevin McIntosh, CB

► VOLLEYBALL

K-State battles OU for tourney position

CRESTON KUENZI

The K-State volleyball team set a goal at the beginning of the

That goal was to be one of the four Big Eight Conference teams to advance to the postseason tournament in Omaha, Neb.

The Wildcats are in fifth place by a half game with a 3-6 record and need only to beat Oklahoma 4-6 Saturday night to tie the Sooners in fourth position.

Coach Jim Moore said in order to avenge the five-game loss to the Sooners earlier this year, his team will have to get back to the basics.

'We're going to have to block, play defense and terminate the ball on offense," Moore said.

Despite there being so much at stake in the match, Moore said he doesn't think his team will have difficulty playing well due to "The first time we went through the schedule, that might have been a problem," Moore said. "I guess we won't know until we get there, but I don't think it'll be a big deal.

"We're going to do some things to try to stop that from happening.

A key component to whether the Wildcats can get the victory is whether freshman setter Devon Ryning will be able to play.

Ryning has missed the last two weeks after coming down with mononucleosis. The determination of Ryning's status for the game will be made this afternoon.

Moore said a berth into the conference tournament would do wonders for his attempt in rebuilding the volleyball program.

"It would be very big to make this tournament," Moore said. "Anytime you accomplish your goals, no matter what you set out to do, it's a huge step.

Moore said a win against Oklahoma does not guarantee that the Wildcats will make the tournament, since the tie breaker consists of comparing the two teams' conference game records. However, the Cats play Kansas next week, a team the Cats beat soundly earlier in the year, in three games. The Cats will then finish off the regular season with a contest with nationally ranked Colorado.

Oklahoma, on the other hand, has only one more chance for a conference victory after K-State. That chance is a slim one, as they play the top-ranked team in the nation, Nebraska.

► CROSS COUNTRY

Harriers make run for NCAA Championship

DEBO ADEJUNMOBI

The 1994 cross country season has come down to two races.

The K-State men's and women's teams will travel to Springfield, Mo., this Saturday to compete in the NCAA District V Championships.

This meet is the qualifier for the NCAA Championships set for Nov. 21 in Fayetteville, Ark.

To make the 22-team field, the Wildcats must place first or second in the team standings this

The top three individuals not on a qualifying team will also make the field.

Coach Terry Drake is confident that his women's team will qualify.

"The anticipation is high, and all the girls are feeling good," Drake said.

"I think that we have to be considered one of the teams to beat. If we just go and run the same race that we ran at the Big Eight (Championships), we'll qualify.

The Wildcat women got a boost this week, breaking into the top 25 teams in the country. They are currently ranked 25th, second in the district behind 19th-ranked Nebraska.

Freshman Charity Swartz has been the team's top runner all season. She, along with Irma Betancourt, Jeanene Rugan and Lesley Wells, will form the nucleus that will be responsible for getting the team into the NCAA field.

Rugan, who has qualified for the national meet three times before, said she feels more pressure before districts than she does before nationals. "I think districts are more pressure-packed than nationals because you have to get to nationals first," she said. "You don't really want to try anything new because it could cost you a chance to qualify.' The men's team is a different

In a year when the team is rebuilding, the team is looking for individual qualifiers instead of a team bid. Senior Billy Wuggazer and junior Geoff Delahanty are the team's best bet to do that. Wuggazer has led the team in all but one race this season, and Delahanty has made steady improvement while recovering from a stress fracture in his foot. Both should be dangerous on Saturday "I'm feeling better than I ever have both physically and mentally," Delahanty said. "I'm just focusing on this race like it's the last one of my career."

► BASKETBALL

Marathon team to prove self in upcoming exhibition game

NICOLE POELL Collegian

Coming off a 37-point victory against the Shahter Russian Select team Tuesday, Tom Asbury's Wildcats are looking for tougher competition when they play the Marathon Basketball team Friday night.

Friday's contest is the Cats' last warm-up before their season opener in the Preseason NIT at Alabama next Wednesday.

Composed of three different teams, the Marathon squads will play several Division I teams throughout November and December. Friday night's matchup against the Cats will be the Marathon's first appearance

This year's Marathon team is made up of many former Division I and collegiate players, including Asad Ali, of Colorado;

Kevin Lynch, of Minnesota; Carroll Beaudreaux, of Southwestern Louisiana; and Dexter Howard, of Pepperdine.

K-State's win against the Russian team Tuesday night was Coach Tom Asbury's first victory at Bramlage Coliseum. His Cats dominated throughout the game, holding a 43-34 lead at the half and going on to win by a score of 99-62

Six K-Staters scored in double figures, with junior guard Brian Gavin leading the way with 18.

While Coach Asbury said he plans to start different lineups for each half, the five projected players to open the game include Stanley Hamilton, George Hill, Brian Gavin, Hamilton Strickland, and Mark Young.

Game time is at 7 p.m. at Bramlage Coliseum.

► FOOTBALL

ISU coach suspended

ASSOCIATED PRESS

AMES, Iowa - Jim Walden's lame-duck status as Iowa State's football coach didn't protect him after all.

The Big Eight Conference on Thursday suspended Walden for Iowa State's season finale at Colorado on Nov. 19 because he had criticized officials, breaking a league rule prohibiting such comments. The league also fined Iowa State

$5,000. If the suspension stands, Iowa State's home game with No. I Nebraska on Saturday will be Walden's last as Iowa State's coach.

"I will not have any further comment until I have been fully advised on any personal recourse I have regarding this entire matter," he said in a statement released by the university.

Walden sharply criticized Big Eight officiating after Iowa State's 38-20 loss at K-State last Saturday,

Walden declined to discuss his saying it was atrocious and inconsistent. Before launching into his tirade, he had said, "I'm quitting right? I've kept quiet too long. But since I'm leaving, there's nothing they can do about me." Prentice Gautt, the Big Eight's senior associate commissioner, said

Walden's resignation was not a factor in deciding the suspension. "We certainly didn't take under consideration that Coach Walden is no longer, technically speaking, working for the university," Gautt said. "The rule was violated, in the commissioner's opinion, and he responded as directed by the conference." Walden was suspended, and the university was fined because it was a second offense. The league reprimanded Walden last spring for remarks about officiating in Iowa State's loss to Missouri Oct. 30, University officials said they would seek compensation from Walden for the fine.

▶ GOLF

Team ends fall season

BILL MCHALLY

The K-State men's golf team is traveling to Dallas for the final tournament of the fall

The team moves into the contest a little on the rusty side. This particular team has not played in a tournament since Oct. 4, when it won the D.A. Weibring Invitational in Bloomington, Ill.

The team will consist of Troy Halterman, winner of the Weibring tournament, Jason Losch, Brett Waldman, Chad Buckridge and Scott Hovis, who will be taking Max Pinney's spot on the team this weekend. K-State coach Mark Elliott said he will take his top five players.

"This is the last tournament for the fall season for us, and we will have to play good to finish in the top spot of the tournament," Elliott said. K-State will be one of 18 schools competing in this tournament. K-State will play 36 holes on Monday and then finish final 18 holes of the tournament on Tuesday.

DIVERSIONS

WIN YOUR FAVORITE MOVIE

The Union Program Council is sponsoring "My Favorite Movie" contest. Winners will receive five $7 passes and a private screening of their favorite movie. The contest is at 11:15 p.m. Saturday in Union Forum Hall. Register at the movie "It Could Happen to You" at 9:30 p.m.

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

STUMPED? For answers to today's crossword, call 1-900-454-6873199¢ per minute, touchtone / rotary phones. (18+ only.) A King Features service, NYC.

1-11 CRYPTOQUIP

"UPDOXVXJ SDY-RTXJJ,"

GDVL TIO STZYPO, "VG

RIGZ ZVUP DXL POOTO."

Yesterday's Cryptoquip: BORING COWBOY PROPOSED TO HIS GIRLFRIEND; HE FINALLY DECIDED TO SADDLE DOWN.

Today's Cryptoquip clue: O equals R

Cassandra Duveaux is on a three-day vacation. She will return Monday.

THE FAR SIDE GARY LARSON

► MIGRAINE

The state of the s

The life and times of Captain Hazelwood

CALVIN AND HOBBES

BILL WATTERSON

KELLY CAMPBELL/COLLEGIAN

TIGER PUT ON EARTH. WHAT'S OUR PURPOSE? WHY ARE WE HERE?

FOXTROT

BILL AMEND

TODAY IN THE O.J. SIMPSON TRIAL...

► REVIEW

Movie doesn't measure up to hype

TRENT FRAGER

A Vietnam vet teaches his children the beauty in peaceful resolution in Jon Avnet's film "The Avnet, who directed the sentimental, yet likable "Fried Green Tomatoes," brings to the screen yet another sap-filled flick that doesn't measure up to the hype surrounding "The War."

Here's the premise: One summer in a poor
Mississippi town, two siblings, Stu and Lidia (Elijah Wood and Lexi Randall), have promised their father they will share the use of a tree-house fort

Unbeknownst to Stu, for furnishings, Lidia and her friends gradually pilfer items from a neighborhood junkyard, the forbidden land, unaware of potential conflict to result from a group of angry bullies.

Meanwhile, their father, Stephen (Kevin Costner), suffering from post-traumatic stress, struggles to keep a steady job and to instill in his children visions of hope, even though he has none left for himself.

When the bullies discover the thefts from their family junkyard, they seek vengeance and the retainment of their possessions. This tests their abilities to restrain from fighting, as their father has always discouraged physical combat.

Innovatively, yet uneffectively, the children are used as pawns in a rather unsophisticated plotline. They represent the good side in any war, and the junkyard brats, as an ensemble, represent the enemy. The story lacks sufficient inertia to keep the conflict significant.

There are, however, some sharp, sensitive moments in "The War," particularly between Stu and his father, which serve as the greatest moments in the film.

But as tear-jerking as these scenes are, they appear manipulative and inconsistent when contrasted with the trite good-vs.evil tale on which the film depends.

"The War"
is recommendable solely because of Costner's and Wood's genuine and convincing, perfor-

* * 1/2
"The War"
Rated PG-13
Now showing at Seth Child Cinema.
2610 Farm Bureau Road.

Friday-Sunday — 7, 9:50 p.m. Saturday-Sunday — 1:15, 4:10 p.m. Monday-Thursday — 7:45 p.m.

Stephen's scattered emotional make-up, coupling an immense caring for his family with a severe lack of self-worth, is heart-wrenching.

Here is a rather average film that is salvaged by the talent. Costner is an established pro, and Wood, in a strong leading role, is well on his way to stardom. ► REVIEW

'Chicago' may burn McCain to ground

NOVEMBER 11, 1994

RUSSELL FORTMEYER

Collegian Collegian

The great Chicago fire of 1871 has nothing on K-State Theatre's production of the musical "Chicago."

This show is hot!

From Mandy Sneed's drop-dead, over-the-top rendition of "All That Jazz" in the opener to Travis Cloer's "Razzle Dazzle," "Chicago" bustled with excitement, energy and pizzazz.

Perhaps the show-stealer, Mandy Sneed, as prison-celebrity-to-be (and, oh yeah, murderer) Velma Kelly, gives one hell of a performance. Sneed dances through number after number to the point of exhaustion, but she never lets her guard down. Kelly is a no-holds-barred baby with one thing on her mind — herself.

Sneed, along with the female chorus, sang her heart out through the smashing number "Cell Block Tango." Director Luke Kahlich's staging of this number is perfect.

Caisha Williams registers a 10.5 on the K-State Richter scale of performances, giving her best and then some as the scheming Roxie Hart.

Roxie is a selfish wanna-be, the ultimate celebrity just 2 inches out of the spotlight. Roxie doesn't even care about being freed from justice, but only the cheap, Warholian 15 minutes of fame a sensational trial can give her (does Lorena Bobbitt come to mind?).

Travis Cloer, playing the slime-ball lawyer Billy Flynn, performs with ease, knocking off a killer performance as a 1920s Robert Shapiro (O.J. Simpson's lawyer).

Much like Shapiro, Flynn takes cases for clout. He is interested in his own celebrity and earnings, instead of the legal case of his clients.

Cloer does some pretty impressive performing in this show. His two primary numbers, "All I Care About is Love" and "Razzle Dazzle," are two of the stronger vocal numbers in the show.

Bob Fosse co-wrote (with Fred Ebb), directed and choreographed the original 1975 Broadway show with music by John Kander and lyrics by Fred Ebb.

"Chicago" hasn't aged one ounce since its 1975 Broadway premiere. The show has an immediate topicality, commenting on the lapse of morals and the lack of justice in American society and its courtrooms. The show's plot takes a housewife, Roxie Hart, has her murder her lover, takes her to prison and then hires her a slick lawyer, Billy Flynn, to turn her into a national celebrity and vaudeville's next greatest star.

Along the way, Fosse has thrown in some unforgettable characters.

Karen Doerr's performance of Matron Mama Morton is top-notch with numbers like "When You're Good to Mama" and "Class."

Kevin Bishop, playing Amos Hart, Roxie's poor husband, will steal your heart and tickle your funny bone with his cheesy rendition of "Mr. Cellophane."

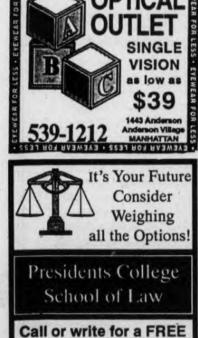

A big wow to J. Robbins excellent, um, cough, cough, falsetto in "A Little Bit of Good."

Director Luke Kahlich's non-stop choreography rests among the highlights of this year's art season. The suggestive, calculated dance moves exacted by the entire cast were testament to K-State's fine dance program.

With most jazzy scores, just listening to a band, directed in this production by William Wingfield, music instructor, is enough to make the evening, and Thursday night was no exception.

Cheers to scenic designer David Centers and lighting designer John Uthoff for making the show an incredible production. Dana Pinkston's costuming was marvelous, especially when coupled with excellent lighting effects.

"Chicago" is one metropolis of a production that all K-Staters should treat themselves to.

catalog and admission material.

115 South Glendale • Suite 208

Wichita, Kansas 67218

(316)682-0000

The MY FAVORITE MOVIE contest will be held at 11:15 p.m., Saturday, Nov. 12 after the 9:30 showing of "It Could Happen To You" at Forum Hall.

Simply register on the form below and if your name is drawn, you are an instant

Simply register on the form below and if your name is drawn, you are an instant winner.

Five lucky winners will receive UPC film passes good for any six free movies presented by UPC Feature Films or UPC Kaleidoscope Films.

The sixth person whose name is called wins a private screening of his or her FAVORITE MOVIE. You can invite up to 400 of your closest friends. Films are based on availability. You must be a K-State student to win. You must be present to win. Other restrictions apply. Questions, please contact UPC office.

Send in this form or take to UPC office, third floor of the K-State Union. You must be registered to win.

532-6571 NAME______ADDRESS______PHONE_______FAVORITE MOVIE_____

SEND BY NOV. 12: UPC OFFICE FEATURE FILMS K-STATE UNION

Daniel Wildcat, chairman of the Department of Natural and Social Sciences at Haskell Indian Nations University in Lawrence, delivers a speech Thursday afternoon in the K-State Union Little Theatre.

New series to compare views

Modern ecology new idea to Western science

DEBBIE PILANT

Modern science is beginning to catch up with traditional Native American beliefs, said a department head at Haskell Indian Nations University Thursday.

Daniel Wildcat, chairman of the Department of Natural and Social Sciences at the Lawrence-based college spoke as an introduction to a series of three seminars that will take place next semester.

The series will review the views that have created Western thought by comparing them to the world view of indigenous Native

"The whole field of modern ecology is only a new idea to Western science," he said. "They are very old ideas for the first Americans.

Wildcat said he was trying to paint a picture for the audience of the views Native Americans have of the world and their place in it.

"It is by and large a worldview many Native people adhere to," he said.

Wildcat made his comparisons by explaining the views Aristotle developed and those of the traditional Native American

He described those scholars as people who have no diplomas, but have a grasp of how their lives world around them

"They have a way of life wherein they inherit ceremonial responsibilities. They are the living repositories of our oral traditions. They are the true scholars of Native America," he said.

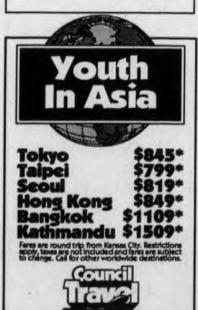

The basis of his comparison was that while Aristotle believed ethics and politics were separate ideas, Native Americans believe they are intertwined.

CATCH THE CATS Manhattan's Sports Leader

Coverage Sponsored By:

here The Extras Don't Cost Extra

1.800.2COUNCIL 1-800-226-8624 Call for a FREE Student Travels magazine!

"Aristotle makes the argument for how we are by nature political animals, but not necessarily born moral or ethical actors," he said. Wildcat said the strength in that argument is that he ties politics and ethics directly together, but he said that since man is a political animal and is a product of socialization and habit, anyone outside of that socialization was seen as either a beast or a god.

He said the way to live an ethical life under Aristotle's philosophy is to teach people, through tradition, to consider the greater good of society in deciding how they should live.

"It is a place in Aristotle's logic in the beginnings of Western thought where politics and ethics are intimately entwined through a complex set of social relationships," Wildcat said.

He then developed the Native view from the premise of an article he read by ethnolinguist Mary Durke, who writes mainly about the Iroquoian definition of personhood.

He said the article explained how the French Jesuits were confused about how the Iroquois defined persons.

"They were confused because in their language, they would sometimes talk as if plants and animals were persons.

"And when they gave the attributes that made plants and animals persons, they were confused because they seemed to be very similar to characteristic attributes that French Jesuits could understand," Wildcat said.

He said the confusion centered on the idea that people were supposed to be two-"The whole field legged creatures, and of modern plants and animals ecology is only a didn't fit that mold. The Iroquois tried new idea to to include all living Western science. things in their They are very old worldview, while the Jesuits focused on a first Americans." narrower definition of a person as human DANIEL WILDCAT beings alone. Department head, Haskell Indian Nations University

What we have with the Native people worldview that looks first at the inter-relatedness of the biology and chemistry of the world we live in," he said. "It isn't simplistic or romantic, but it blends well with modern science."

Parents important for morals

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

"I'd like to get back to the point that is a separated society," he said.

When asked about where values and morals should be instilled, Brownback said parents and family are an important source, but so is the environment and our surroundings.

"Each of us will influence others around us," he said.

On the recent election, Brownback said people are not sure what needs to be done, but they don't like what is happening now. That is why there was such a big change in Congress with the Tuesday elections.

"People don't think society is working right," he said.

Senate debates EOF amendments

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

Brad Finkeldei, student body vice president and chairman of the EOF Committee, recommended against giving this amendment because the dean had said he could find money for the program elsewhere.

Chris Avila, graduate senator, voted in favor of the amendment because veterinary-medicine students pay into EOF, but the college had not received money for four years.

This amendment passed, and the College of Veterinary Medicine received the money.

Dan Lewerenz, arts and sciences senator, then proposed an amendment to cut $6,000 from various items in the budget. This money would be added to the $4,000 account of Upward Bound, for a total of $10,000.

"This programs attracts students to K-State who may not otherwise apply," Lewerenz said. "These students will eventually come to K-State and pay into the EOF fund."

The amendment failed, and Upward Bound was left with the recommended $4,000.

Mr. Goodcents Subs & Pastas®

1317 Anderson (Behind Varney's Book Store)

We Deliver! (minimum $5limited delivery area)

539-1900

Sub Sandwiches Hot Pastas White or Wheat Bread) ite or red sa 1) Mr. Goodcents Combo 299 499 cents (Ham, Bologna, Salami, Pepperoni)
2) Centsable Sub 269 4 3) Penny Club (Roast Beef, Turkey, Ham) 5) Ham & Cheese 6) Pepperoni & Cheese 7) Salami 299 299 299 299 499 cents 499 cents 499 cents 8) Roast Beef 499 cents 499 cents

299 cent Chef Salad Chicken Salad 279 cent Tuna Salad 279 cent

Cheeses Available wiss-American-Mozzarella Cheddar-Provolone-

339

299

299

539 cent

9) Turkey

11) Capicola

13) Meatbal

14) Sausage

(green peppers & on 15) Chicken Salad

(6) Cheese Mix

CREF Stock Account . . . . . . .

CREF Bond Market Account . . .

**CREF Social Choice Account . . . . *

Tunafish

Standard Dressings Oregano Salt-Pepper-Oll-Vinegal Also Available Jalapenos-Spicy Mustard

499 cents 499 cents 499 cents 499 cents 30 cents 179 cent Potato Salad Chips Cookle 75 cents Large

Party Trays Available Prices are subject to change without prior notice

PRINCIPLES of SOUND RETIREMENT INVESTING

coming

ideas for the

R. Carlos Nakai and William Eaton

The Ying Quartet* Friday, November 18, 8 p.m.

Winner of the 1993 Naumburg Chamber Music Award, the Ying Quartet is a brothers and sister team of string virtuosos. For McCain audiences, the Yings will perform Mozart's "Hunt" quartet, Ralph Shapey's Quartet No. VIII, and Schubert's "Death and the Maiden."

R. Carlos Nakai and William Eaton* Friday, December 2, 8 p.m.

Nakai is a Navajo-Ute who honors tribal traditions while developing new musical expressions on his cedar flute. Eaton designs his own extraordinary instruments and composes music inspired by nature. The two come together to perform music that is haunting in its serenity and graceful in its simplicity.

Aladdin and the Magic Lamp Friday, December 9, 7:30 p.m.

An Arabian nights tale of a poor tailor's son, an evil sorcerer, the sultan's beautiful daughter, and a couple of genies. You won't need a flying carpet: the lively music, colorful costumes, and special effects will sweep you away!

For tickets call 532-6428 or come to the McCain box office. Box office hours: noon to 5 p.m. weekdays; from 1 p.m. before weekend matinees; and from 5 p.m. before weekend evenings. Tickets are also available at Manhattan Town Center customer service desk, K-State Union Bookstore, and ITR (Fort Riley). Persons with disabilities call 532-6428.

* Presented in part by the Kansas Arts Commission, a state agency, and the National Endowment for the Arts, a federal agency. Events in the McCain Performance Series are supported by the K-State Fine Arts Fee.

ISN'T IT NICE WHEN THE EXPERTS DISCOVER SOMETHING YOU'VE KNOWN ALL ALONG.

ver 1.6 million people in education and research know that choosing TIAA-CREF was a smart move. And now everyone else does too. Because Morningstar-one of the nation's leading sources of variable annuity and mutual fund information-has some stellar things to say about our retirement investment accounts.

This comfortable combination of tak and return has earned the CREF took Account a five-star rating."*

After studying CREF's performance history, Morningstar gave five-stars-its highest ratingto both the CREF Stock and Bond Market Accounts, and an impressive four-stars to the CREF Social Choice Account ** In fact, the CREF Stock Account was singled out as having "...one of the best 10-year records among variable annuities."*** Of course, past performance is no guarantee of future results.

Morningstar also called attention to CREF's "...rock-bottom" fees-something that can really add to the size of your nest-egg down the road.

What's more, TIAA's traditional annuitywhich offers guaranteed principal and interest plus the opportunity for dividends-was cited as having the highest fixed account interest rate among all annuities in its class.

We're happy to accept Morningstar's glowing ratings. But nice as it is to focus on stars, we'll keep focusing on something more down-to-earth: building the financial future you want and deserve.

For more information about our Morningstar ratings or TIAA-CREF, just call 1800 842-2776.

Ensuring the future for those who shape it.34

LASSIFIEDS

ANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

20 words or less - $5 each word over 20 - $.20 per word

2 DAYS 20 words or less - $6.25 each word over 20 - $.25 per word 3 DAYS 20 words or less - $7.25

each word over 20 - $.30 per word 4 DAYS 20 words or less - $8

each word over 20 - $.35 per word 5 DAYS 20 words or less - $8.50

each word over 20 — $.40 per word (consecutive day rate)

JAN. 1. One-bedrooms in complexes $280- $300. No pets, lease required

QUIET SURROUNDINGS

lease, no 537-8389.

AVAILABLE FALL very nice one, two, three and four-bedroom apart-

AVAILABLE JAN. 1. Close to campus. One-bed

ment complexes and houses. Excellent loca-tions with great prices. 537-1666, 537-2919.

room apartment and four- five-bedroom house. Both very nice. With air conditioner.

No pets. Leave mes-sage. 539-4641.

Apartments, two-bed-room apartments avail-able now, Corner of College and Claflin.

ABLE at 1026 Sunset. $385- $395. Remodeled units. Central air/ heat.

Laundry facilities. Three blocks west of campus 776-3804.

CAMBRIDGE

SQ. APT.

*FIREPLACE

*POOL

537-9064

WEEKDAYS

9:00-4:30

ROOM basement apart-ment. Available for 120

For Rent-

NON-DRINKER

Houses

spring semester. Close to campus. 776-9566.

N-DRINKER AND smoker, for two-bed-room place. No pets. References. 539-1554.

TWO-BEDROOM, TWO car garage 5112 Murray. Near airport $500/ month. Two-bedroom duplex, 515 S. Manhat-

TWO PLUS bedroom farm

AVAILABLE JANUARY, Fe

male non-smoking roommate. $145/

month plus one-half utilities. Super room-mate. two-bedrooms and one-half bath (all to yourself). Furnished liv-ing room and kitchen. Jennifer 587-0141 even-ings or leave message.

ings or leave message

roommate to share two-bedroom apartment at Woodway. Call 776-4901 leave mesginning in January; right across the street from campus; share with two very nice girls; please call Rebecca bet-ween 5- 6p.m. 587-8430.

share two-bedroom trailer, available mid-December, $140/ month plus utilities, water and trash paid. 587-1915.

share house. Non-smoker, pets consid-ered. Available now or Dec. 1. $200, one-third utilities plus deposit. 537-1281.

share two-bedroom apartment, $205/ month plus one-half utilities. Water and trash paid. Available Dec. 1. Call 587-9679.

FEMALE ROOMMATE to

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted to share two-bedroom apart-ment. Close to campus

FEMALE ROOMMATE to

FEMALE ROOMMATE to

FEMALE LOOKING for

FEMALE ROOMMATE be-

Roommate

Wanted

tan $425/ month 539-7181 leave mes house, close- in, $375 per month. 539-2357, business hours only.

2 BEDROOMS

ONE-BEDROOMS AVAIL

MANHATTAN

For Rent-

CHASE

Unfurnished

for study. Campus one mile, one-bedroom,

some utilities paid. Min

imum seven month

tions with great prices. 537-1666, 537-2919. FOR JAN. across street Ford Hall deluxe two-bedroom. $485/ month 539-2482. After 4p.m.

BULLETIN

BOARD

Announcements

ADVANCED FLIGHT Train ing from 5000-hour ATP instructor. Private single-engine through ATP multi-engine Hugh Irvin, 539-3128.

ANTIQUE SHOW AND SALE. Nov. 12 and 13, Sat. 10-6p.m., Sun. 11-4p.m. Pottorf Hall CICO Park. Sponsored by the Pilot Club of Manhattan.

Earn $15 each time you donate plasma.

MANHATTAN BIOMEDICAL

CENTER 1130 Gardenway 776-9177 .-Fri. 9 a.m.-6:30 p.m. Sat. 9 a.m.-2 p.m.

COME FLY with us, K-State Flying Club has five air-planes. For best prices call Troy Brockway, 776-8735 after 5:30p.m.

Lost and Found

Found ads can be placed free for three Found

RING WITH seven keys and leather/ brass name tag. Left in Holton Hall women's restroom. Re-ward. 532-6492.

Personals

We require a form of picture ID (KSU, driv-er's license or other) when placing a per-

AX KELSEY- After tonight we'll be sisters for a lifetime- I'm so happy for youll AX Love, Mys-

AXO RENE': Congratula-tions on Initiation! Re-member: Always shoot for the moon. Even if you miss, you'll be among the stars. Love, Beth.

CONGRATULATIONS JEN-NIFER, on becoming KSU Ambassador! We are all very proud to be represented by you! The Meats Team.

Parties-n-More

ADD A splash to your next bash. Great anytime. Birthdays, mid-terms and Wildcat victory par-ties. Wet-N-Wild Mobile

ADD AN extra touch of class to your next par-ty. Call Wayne's Water Party to rent a portable hot tub 537-7587, 539-7561.

Hot Tubs, 537-1825.

Apts. Furnished AVAILABLE FALL very nice one, two, three and four-bedroom apartHOW TO PAY

d. There is a $10 service charge erve the right to edit, reject or classify any ad.

and Aggieville. Rent $220 but negotiable, one-half utilities (non-smoker). Available Dec. 15. Call 587-8618.

bedroom apartment. Own room, free laun-dry, utilities paid. $202.50. Jan. 1. Cam-block

one

FOR RENT at Chase Man-hattan Apartments, ground level, furnished apartment. Share with three males $200/ month plus utilities. (913)742-2743 after form

LARGE, BRICK, four-bed room home is losing a female roommate. Needed- female to sub-lease spring semester. Washer/ dryer, all furnished except bed-room. Great environment, near campus. Call 532-9015 for ap-

two-bedroom apart-ment, Williams Place in-side campus. Available immediately. $175/ month plus low electric-ity. Call 532-9094, leave

MALE ROOMMATE for

MALE, NON-SMOKING

roommate for new Chase three-bedroom apartment. Own room, own bath, one-third KPL and phone. Rea-sonable rent. Message at 539-6571.

house, utilities with re-sponsible mostly male household. Large bed-room, laundry, $160.

15

Available Nov. 1: 539-2468. Keep trying.

ample parking. Walk to campus and Aggieville. Male student to share large two-bedroom apartment. Begin any time from now to Jan. 15. $190. 776-3624.

fourth roommate to share four-bedroom house with washer/ dry er; across street from University. Private park-ing. Call 539-8388.

and non-drinking room-mate for basement furnished private bed-room. Walk to KSU. $150. Share utilities. 539-1554.

WANTED NON-SMOKING

ARE YOUR roommates an noying? Well, I love mine, but I'm graduat-ing in Dec. and I need someone to take over my room. $160/ month. Across from Union, some bills paid. 587-0431. Females only.

Very nice one-bedroom apartment, in quiet neighborhood. $315 a month, inexpensive bills. Call 776-5941.

male roommate. Non-smoker!!! $145/ month

plus one-half utilities

Super roommate. You will have two-bed-rooms and one-half bath. Furnished living room and kitchen. Jennifer 587-0141 evenings or leave message

FOR SPRING semester— available end of Dec. One-bedroom apart-ment, two blocks from campus. Call 537-4768.

NICE, CLEAN, two-bed-room apartment, two blocks from campus

NICE, SPACIOUS, one-bed-room, available spring semester; across from campus; two balconies, new kitchen appliances;

ONE ROOM for rent in and close to aggieville. Available after Dec. 19. Call 776-1324.

water and trash paid; Call 537-4011.

large, beautiful, seven-bedroom home; $150/ month plus one-sev-enth utilities; kitchen and laundry available; four blocks from cam-pus; January 1 to May

pus; January 1 to May 31 sublease available; 537-2497— ask for Russ

SUBLEASE A large one bedroom apartment. Starting Dec. 15. Call now 'til midnight 587-8099. Two blocks

SUBLEASE STARTING Jan. 1. One-bedroom apartment in 12-plex on College Heights two blocks from campus. Call 587-9276.

TWO-BEDROOM, CLOSE to City Park/ campus/ Aggieville; washer/ dry-er; furnished. Available Jan. 1. 587-8709.

AVAILABLE JANUARY 1.

AVAILABLE JANUARY, Fe

Sublease

THREE GUYS looking for

CONDITIONS

QUIET

NON-SMOKER, SHARE

pus of 537-4532.

FEMALE TO share two-

For an extra charge, we'll put a headline above your ad to catch the reader's attention.

DEADLINES

ree found ads

CANCELLATIONS

the ad is to be put

CORRECTION

If you find an error in your ad, please call us. We accept responsibility only, for the first wrong insertion.

runninng shoes, pay up to $200! 1-800-873-3538

WHITE WICKER furniture

Items for Sale

best 587-0431

FOR SALE: Acoustic guitar, new $150, or best offer. Stair Stepper, $50. Very old computer, $50, or best offer. Call

MICROWAVE, DESK, 12-speed women's bike, three bar stools, free

SMALL DEEP freeze for

THRUSTMASTER JOY-STICK and WCS, $75 each. Car amplifiers, 90WXZ, $180, 45WXZ, $120 776-8923.

FOR SALE: Queen set Re

stonic mattress, founda-tion, steel bed frame, used one year. $350, 776-2433.

Furniture to

Garage/Yard

Buy/Sell

standing kitchen cabi-net, student acoustic guitar. Best offer. 537-7988.

sale. 12.0 cubic foot upright for $150. Great to store meat from home! Call 537-4667 wanted. Don't store it for the winter. Let's deal! Call 537-4667 after 5p.m.

Call 532-6555 to place your classified.

SERVICE

Resume/ Typing

DIRECTORY

NEED SOMETHING typed? I'll type it for $1/ per page. Call 537-9480 after 5:30p.m. Ask for

WELL EXPERIENCED typist by day would like typ-ing at night. Laser print-ing. Call Judy 539-7100 or 456-9642.

Automotive Repair

NISSAN- DATSUN Repair SAN- DATSUN Repair Service. 22 years ex-perience. Mazdas, Hon-das and Toyotas also. Auto Craft, 2612 Dipper Lane, Manhattan, Kan-sas. 537–5049. 8a.m.-5p.m. Mon.- Fri.

Other Services

PROMPT CONTRACEPTIVE and abortion services Dale L. Clinton, M.D. Lawrence, (913)841–5716.

EMPLOYMENT/ CAREERS

Help Wanted

$1500 WEEKLY possible No experience required Begin Nowl For information call (202)298–8957.

ALASKA EMPLOYMENT Fishing Industry. Earn up to $3000- $6000 plus per month. Room and Board! Transportation! Male/ female. No experience necessary (206)545-4155 ext

AMATURE PHOTOGRA-PHER, with decent equipment needed for wedding ceremony on Dec. 3, 1994. Price ne-ceptible Call Robert at gotible. Call Robert at 587-0845.

ATTENTION STUDENTS: Earn extra cash stuffing envelopes at home. All materials provided. Send SASE to Central Distributors P.O. Box 10075, Olathe, KS 66051. Immediate re-

CERTIFIED AEROBIC/ Step Instructor wanted. Call Mary Lou at 537–9227 or 776–1654.

COMPUTER NETWORK ADMINISTRATOR: parttime student position mostly regular sched-uled hours with some emergency trou-bleshooting hours. Re-sponsible for oversee-ing 55-computer Macin-tosh network, including software backups, and Macintosh operating systems 6 and 7. Client server networking for an ethernet network. TCP/IP experience a plus. Salary negotiable based on experience Pick up an applications in 113 or 103 Kedzie noon on Tuesday, Nov.

CRUISE SHIPS NOW HIRING. Earn up to $2000 plus/ month working on Cruise Ships or Land-Tour companies. World travel (Hawaii, Mexico, the Caribbean, etc.) Seasonal and full-time employment available. No experience necessary. For more information call (206)634–0468 ext. C57682.

MACINTOSH TROUBLESHOOTER: part BLESHOOTER: part-time student position, mostly regular sched-uled hours with possi-ble emergency hours. Assists in overseeing 55-computer Macintosh network, including hardware and software troubleshooting and general maintenance. ould be familiar with Macintosh operating systems 6 and 7. Mini mum wage to start. Pick up an applications at 113 or 103 Kedzie. Application deadline is noon on Tues., Nov. 22.

MALE MODELS up to $50 an hour for photography work. Send photo and description to P.O. Box 113 Salina, KS 67402-0113.

SKI RESORT JOBSI Ever wanted to work in the Rockies? For fun and adventure call Ski-Ve-nure (619)683-2300.

STUDENT INTERNS, part-JDENT INTERNS, part-time, positions avail-able immediately for 10- 15 hours per week. Excellent English com-munication skills re-quired. $4.75 once trained. Applicants should apply in person at Veterinary Medical Li-brary, fourth floor Trot-ter Hell, KSU. EOE. Ap-plications will be ac-cepted 9- 6p.m. through Nov. 11. cepted 9-through Nov. 11.

DOORS Over 10,000 openings! National Parks, Forests, Fire Crews. Send stamp for free details. Sullivan's 113 East Wyoming, Kalispell, MT 59901.

TECHNICAL SUPPORT position available for K-State student with a variety of skills. Must have good interperson-al problem solving skills. Experience with PC's and popular soft ware packages such as WordPerfect, Quattro-Pro and Windows appli-cations desired. Must have understanding o MS-DOS and Windows Network experience helpful. Tasks include mail list conversions and operating high-tech mail equipment. Applications available/ accepted through Nov. 15, 1994 in 211 Umberg-

Sales PARENTS- MOVED sale VARNEY'S BOOK STORE is now taking applications for tempowasher, dryer, couch, loveseat, chair, coffee and end tables, lamps, vacuum, typewriter, kitchen miscellaneous, rary part-time full-tim positions in the text-book department to ass-ist with textbook buyblankets, coats, gloves, sweaters, etc. Saturday, Nov. 12, 8a.m.- 1p.m. 1403 LeGore Lane back. Possible employ-ment dates are Nov. 29 through Dec. 18. Day-(Block east of campus) able. $4.30 per hour. Involves helping customers, moderate lifting and cleaning/ pricing books. All positions re-quire diligence and a pleasant, service- ori-ented attitude. College Antiques TIME MACHINE Antique Maul and Geeb Emporium, 6000 square feet,

antiques, collectibles,
estate jewelry, furniture, 4910 Skyway Dr.
four blocks east of Manexperience is strongly preferred. Apply in per-son downstairs at Var-ney's Book Store, 623 N. Manhattan Ave., Manhattan, KS. Deadline for application is Sunday, Nov. 13, 1994. hattan Airport. Open Tues.- Sat. 12- 6p.m. 539-4684.

Computers

HARDWARE FOR sale

LAPTOP COMPUTER, Pack-ard Bell 386, 80 hard drive, many extras. Call (913)263-1597.

MACINTOSH COMPUT

ER. Complete sys-tem including print-tem including printer only $500. Call Chris (800)289-5685.

Soundblaster, game-blaster, 5.25-inch high density, floppy disk drive. Call 776-7763.

VOLLEYBALL COACH for 15 year old girl during off season, Nov.- Jan. at two hours per week, $5/ hour. 776-2155.

WANTED: WORK-STUDY student for office du-ties, 10- 12 hours/ week. Apply at the In-dustrial and Manufacturing Systems Engi-neering office, 206 Dur-land before Nov. 23.

Business Opportunities

INDEPENDENT telecom munications representa tive looking for individuals interested in earn ing extra income. Com-mission based. No in-ventory. Operate out of home or dorm room. I interested call 238-7871. Leave name phone number and ad-

PROFESSIONAL. I need the help of a local dis-tributor who wants to earn up to $500 a day from the comfort of your own home. Mini-mal investment re-quired. For more infor-mation call 537-0837.

TURN YOUR FAX into a fast cash machine and generate over $3000 per month. Fax your name and Fax number to (817)997-2443 for

OPEN MARKET

Wanted to Buy

CHRISTMAS CASH? We buy used Air Jordans 85-91 editions and late 70's

GET THE WORD OUT

532-6555 532-7309

Food Specials

Fort R 539-1414.

450

Pets and Supplies

Sporting

Equipment

Tickets to

Buy/Sell

TRANS-

PORTATION

Automobiles

1979 DATSUN 210, 100k

fer. 537-3219

miles, automatic de-pendable. $750, or best

CHINESE CABBAGE, oriental radishes, greens, hot peppers, spinach, peanuts, squash, sweet pototoes. Barbara's Market. Juliette and

Riley

BABY FERRETS are in at

FOR SALE: Iguana, one and one-half - two years old, with heat rock and UV light. 537-0546.

SNAKE- BOA three feet

FOR SALE: solo-Flex, three

FOR SALE: Student basket-ball tickets; $70. Call

537-8938. Leave mes

years old, all attach ments. Excellent condi tion. Call 539-4680.

long with big cage $140, Dave 539-0169.

Animal House Pets! We have everything you will need for your new baby! Come check it out at 210 N. 14th.

OR WRITE COLLEGIAN CLASSIFIEDS Manhettan, Kan. 66506

OFFICE HOURS MONDAY-FRIDAY 8 a.m.-5 p.m.

1984 F250 XLT Supercab, four-speed diesel, one owner, $4500

1984 TOYOTA Tercel, two door. Air conditioner, AM/FM, excellent condi-tion 106K miles. Call Bhavani 587-9584 or Chandran 537-0677.

owner, (316)896-2856.

1985 FORD Tempo. Great school car! I must sell before UNLV game (11/26/94). $850 or best offer! 587-8817. 1988 TOYOTA 4-runner air conditioned/ AM/FM cassette, cruise, $8700 or best offer. H-1-(913)935-2593, W-1-(913)296-3630. 1989 TOYOTA Camry LE silver, sparkling new very clean. 51K miles excellent condition, sin gle owner. 537-8689.-1991 CHEVROLET Beretta, 57,000 miles V6, A plus, air conditioner, cruise, AM/FM cassette, red, very sporty, $7300. (913)437-2208. OLDSMOBILE Achieva five-speed, tape, locks, wheels $7500 or best offer. (316)665-3723 nights.

FOR SALE: 1980 CJ7 4x4 six cylinder, auto, hard-top, $1800 or best offer Wayne 537-7587.

MUST SELL one: 1986 Buick Regal, 305 V-8, automatic transmission, air conditioned two-door or 1982 Buick Park Avenue, 5.7 diesel, automatic transmission, air conditioned, new tires. 532-1536 ask for Ken, after 5p.m. call (913)499-5335.

Motorcycles 1989 KAWASAKI Ninja 600R, good condition. 14K miles $2400 or best offer. Must sale. Call 539-5068 after 8p.m.

540

Car Pool

RIDER/ DRIVER wanted.
Final destination:
Cheyenne Wyoming area. (Will accept rider to anywhere along I-80 in Nebraska). Nonsmoker! Leave: evening of Nov. 22. Come back:
evening of Nov. 27. evening of Nov. 27. Split gas. 587-0141.

What do you do if you see a fire? 1. Call 911

2. Then call us

News Tips 532-6556

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

ADVERTISING PRODUCTION

Publication Practice

IMC 360 Class size is limited so sign up now.

Get training and gain experience while earning one hour of credit this spring. Attend class one day a week from 8:30-11:30 a.m. You pick the day of the week based on availability. The instructor's permission is required. The experience you gain in the spring would qualify you to apply for a paid position in the summer or fall.

> Come to 113 Kedzle 8 a.m.-4 p.m. for more information and syllabus.

CLASSIFIED DIRECTORY

TIPS FOR WRITING A CLASSIFIED AD

Always put what item or service you are advertising first. This helps potential buyers find what they are looking for. Don't use abbreviations. Many buyers are confused by abbreviations.

Consider including the price. This tells buyers if they are looking at something in their price range.

CATEGORIES

To help you find what you are looking for, the classified ads have been arranged by category and sub-category. All categories are marked by one of the large images, and sub-categories are preceded by a number designation.

WE DO NOT USE PHONE NUMBERS OR LAST NAMES IN PERSONALS.

Speed key to dominance

domination relies on fast technology

CHRISTI WRIGHT

K-State graduate and leader in the semiconductor field said the key to dominating the market is to manufacture products of high technology faster than anyone else.

William Spencer is the president and CEO of SEMATECH, a research and development consortium that is jointly funded by semiconductor industry member companies and the U.S. Department of Defense

SEMATECH is a noncompetitive organization that is working to improve the U.S. status in the market of semiconductors. The company started in 1987 as an experimental corporation during a time when the United States was losing market shares. The member companies and government worked out an agreement to share in the research process.

Some member companies of SEMATECH include AT&T. Hewlett-Packard, Motorola, Texas

the U.S. Instruments and Department of Defense.

The semiconductor industry is a young business. The technology involved started around 1947. The industry has grown since 1970, but slowed down in 1977 and is now increasing, Spencer said. "By the year 2015, the semiconductor industry will be almost a one-half trillion dollar industry.'

Spencer left K-State in 1959 in his brand new Buick convertible with a master's degree in mathematics and his doctorate in physics and went to a job in Bell Telephone Laboratories in 1959.

There, he was involved in the building of timing circuits in the Telestar Satellite. It was about a $10-million telecommunications project, and Spencer built five timing circuits for the satellite.

That experience changed my whole life," Spencer said. "Before that, I was a physicist, and suddenly I was making devices and integrative circuits

In addition to Bell Laboratories, Spencer has also had key research positions at Sandia National Laboratories and Xerox Corporation where he was group vice president and senior technical officer in Stamford, Conn.

Though Spencer has not done much technical work in the last decade, he serves on several advisory boards for universities and institutes, and he is also a Research Professor of Medicine at the University of New Mexico.

SEMATECH has a program to aid the member companies.

"We have 250 assignees, which are member company employees that spend two to three years with us," Spencer said.

The assignees are moved around to different companies to receive training and experience in the field. SEMATECH pays for the moving and training of the people. It's a very expensive but effective program, Spencer said.

At SEMATECH, directors look for first-class graduates from universities. "A good background in physics really helps, especially in an industry that changes yearly and sometimes even by the minute.

Spencer said that his K-State education provided a good foundation for his career and research. "I owe a debt of gratitude to K-State," Spencer said.

Farrell staff asks for money donation for purchase of new library furniture

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

"Student Senate, hopefully, will get this decision solved, and you'll know where the money is going," he said.

Patrick Carney, arts and sciences senator, said the Farrell Library staff has asked them to donate the money to the library.

He said one particular area the money would be applied to is the student-study area that will be open 24 hours.

They asked that we use part of the $17,000 to purchase desks, chaits and other basic types of furniture so students could enjoy the study area of the library," he

Karen McCulloh, assistant to the dean of the library, said that because the K-State Union is not open 24 hours, students could relax in comfortable couches and chairs in the library study area.

The issue of bicycle racks and paths was brought up by Todd Jeffrey, junior in fine arts.

"What's the use of having bike

00100

00150

00200

00220

00550

00680

00840

01030

01060

03280

03370

03390

03430

03460

03480

03591

03592

03610

06130C 08550

08560

08580

08600

08610

08690

08710

08760

10690

10700

10710

10720

10730

10740

10800

10830

06140

06150

06160

06170

06310

06320

06330

06340

racks if there are no paths to get where you're going?" Jeffrey

Brad Finkeldei, student body vice president, said that a bikerack proposal had been brought

"The only drawback is that $17,000 makes a pretty short bike path," he said.

Nabeeha Kazi, public relations director for the Student Governing Association, said that students' money should not pay, for bike racks

"Why should we even be concerned about students paying for bike racks and bike paths?' she said. "Isn't that supposed to be what the administration is there for?'

Carney said the administration has dedicated $10,000 to the problem of bike racks and paths.

He said, however, because we need so many bike paths, racks and lighting around them, the projected amount is $300,000 during the next 10 years.

14070

14100

14110

14170

14190

14250

14260

14270C

14280C

15490

15570

15650

15660

15670

15750

15760

15830

19230

19240

19250

19260

19270

19320

19340

19350

21850

21890

21910

22030

22070

22080

22100

24090

24130

24160

24530

24540

24550

24560

24570

24590

24600

24630

24650

24660

24720

24730

24740

24800

24870

24880

24890

24910

24970

24980

25150

25170

25180

25200

25210

25220

25230

25240

25270

25280

25300

25320

25350

25360

25400

25410

25430

25440

25450

25611

25650

25670

25680 25700

25720

25750

25800

25820

26800

26810

26820

26830

26840

27190

27200

27210

27220

28090

28150

28160

28170

28180

28190

28270

28300

28340

28390

28420

28560

28730

28740

28780

28790

29010

30060

30070

30090

30150

30160

30210

Carney said the possibility of preserving an antique bell in Bluemont Hall and an antique printing press in Kedzie Hall has also been brought up. "We would take those items to the Union and show students the cultural side of the University."

But what about refunding the money to the students?

Clark said the Kansas Board of Regents considered this too small of an amount to refund.

They're not at liberty to change the fees or change the structure for this year," he said. Clark said it would be too expensive to write a check for 50 or 25 cents to every student. We asked if we could change it at semester so they wouldn't be charged both semesters," he said.

He said the regents will not review the fee until spring, and any change cannot go into effect. Kazi said students can still contact the SGA office at 532-6541 to offer more suggestions.

30400

30430

30480

30490

30520

30540

30910

30920

30930

30960

30980

31000

31110

31120

31150

31160

31180

31190

31220

31240

31270

31280

31580

31590

31630

31640

31660

31670

31690

31700

32730

32750

32780

32790

32810

32850

32870

32880

32900

32910

32930

32950

32980

32990

33100

33120

33140

33170

33180

33190

33200

33210

33230

33260

33270

33340

33350

33380

33450

33570

34070

34190

34230

34270

34310

34330

34340

34390

34420

34430

34440

34450

34460

34470

34520

34530

34540

34560

34570

34571

34572

-34573

34574

34681

35180

35250

35260

35290

35310

35350

35530

35570

35640

35742

35760

35790

35950

35960

36050

36190

36240

36420

36440

36480

36590

36770

36960

36970

37190

37230

37250

37300

37920

38340

80230

80920

People can make diversity work

JANELL COE

Remember the book about Dick and Jane? The one where the biggest word you ever had to learn was "Look?" George Cotton, a motivationalist and trainer from St. Louis, Missouri, said that everything a person needed to know was in that one word somewhere. Love, ecology, politics and sane living. Cotton returned for the Fourth Annual Cultural Diversity Conference by popular demand.

Danny Resnick, human resource professional for the SRS and chairperson for the conference committee, said that they have had a very positive response from Cotton spoke on diversity training and emphasized that people can make diversity work if they believe in its value.

"This isn't about us, our time has past," Cotton said. "This is about our children. We owe them more than the confrontation that we

The answer to the problem is to make sure that opportunity is provided for all, Cotton said.

"I believe that America is the greatest, but America can be better, and it must be better," Cotton said.

He said that the only way for America to be better is for us to do

Cotton said he came to the conference to offer some principles

'If you care enough to make a difference, you are going to half to make some sacrifices," Cotton said. He said that there was a lot of

"To deny the errors of the past and to try and cover up the wrong doesn't make it right," he said.

fixing to do.

The only way to stay on your toes is to learn from the errors of the past, Cotton said.

"We don't need to be accusatory, but we have to set history straight," Cotton said.

Cotton said that it is critical to realize that no diversity training is of any relevance if people choose to ignore the concept.

ពួលពេលពេលពេលពេលពេលពេលពេលព social worker from Wichita, said. The multiculturalism issue is a touchy subject, and Cotton has a way of making people open their

"No matter who you are, no matter how old you get, when you go out into the world, it's best to hold hands and stick together,"

An audience of more than 500

"George Cotton is just an people gave Cotton a standing ovation as he returned to his seat.

arms to it, Mason said.

Cotton said.

with this ad

SHOE REPAIR Three doors up the alley from 776-1193

exceptional speaker," Pam Mason,

$10 OFF regular price MANHATTAN

Downtown Burger King

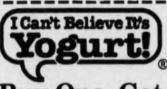

315 B-Poyntz

C - Canceled class

30370 25630C 30380 32940 35150 Updated 5:08 PM, November 10, 1994

African American Night Friday, Nov. 11 10p.m.-1a.m. UNION STATION ?

Saturday, Nov. 128 10p.m.-1a.m. UNION STATION

11th & Moro - Aggieville 537-1616

Buy One, Get One Free!

Buy one cup or cone and receive one of equal value FREE with this coupon.

New Hours: 7 a.m. - 11 p.m. Daily 10 a.m. - 11 p.m. Sunday

AUDITIONS

Open Auditions For

THE DINING ROOM

7 p.m., November 14 and 15 at Manhattan Arts Center 1520 Poyntz

> Parts for 3 men & 3 women Performance dates: February 3-5 and 9-12 (Rehearsals start December 26)

For information call David Smit, director, at 532-6716 or MCT office at 776-8591

Manhattan Civic Theatre

St. Isidore's UNITY CHURCH of MANHATTAN Catholic Student Center

Church School 9:45 a.m. For free transportation within city limits, call the church.

Pastors Karen & Alan Selig 2121 Blue Hills Rd. 539-8691 An American Baptist Congregation

Grace Baptist Church (2901 Dickens - 2 blks. E. of Seth Child)

◆ Sunday ◆ Three Unique Worship Opportunities

8:15 + 9:30 + 11 a.m. Bible Classes For All Ages - 9:30 a.m. All-Age Family Hour - 11 a.m. Body Life or Care Cells 6 p.m. 776-0424

Manhattan Mennonite Fellowship Sunday School 9:35 a.m., Worship 10:45 a.m. Pastor Harris Waltner Child Care Available

1021 Denison Ave. (E.C.M. Building) Meditation 10:15 a.m. Service 11 a.m.

"The Daily Word People"

WESTVIEW COMMUNITY CHURCH Welcome Back, Students Morning Worship 9 & 10:30 a.m.

Sunday School 9 & 10:30 a.m. Sunday Evening Worship 6 p.m. 1st, 3rd & 5th Sundays CARE CELLS (Small Groups) 6 p.m. 2nd & 4th Sundays 3001 Ft. Riley Blvd. 537-7173

ST. FRANCIS CANTERBURY EPISCOPAL CAMPUS MINISTRY

Eucharist & Guitar in Danforth Chapel every Sunday at 5 p.m. Call 532-9099

KANSAS STATE

Nursery provided for all services Omer G. Tittle, Pastor 612 Poyntz 776-8821

Masses: Sat. 5 p.m. Sun. 9:30., 11a.m. & 5 p.m. Confessions: Sat. 3:30 p.m.

FIRST UNITED

METHODIST CHURCH

8:30 & 11 a.m. Worship

9:45 a.m. Church School

711 Denison Chaplain: Father Keith Weber

DIAL-A-PRAYER 776-9569

ST. LUKE'S LUTHERAN CHURCH

Campus Pastor James Gau Sun. 8 and 10:45 a.m. Sat. Worship 6 p.m. Bible Class Sunday 9:30 a.m.

FIRST CHRISTIAN CHURCH 5th & Humboldt 776-8790 Worship & Praise 8:30 a.m. Traditional Worship 10:55 a.m.

330 N. Sunset Ave. 539-2604

Church School 9:45 a.m. COLLEGE FELLOWSHIP

Broadcast 11:30 a.m. Angel 95 (95.3 FM)

Ved. Eve. Bible Study & Youth Programs

PASTOR DR. DONALD E. BREZAVAR Unitarian-Universalist Fellowship

South over viaduct (Hwy. 177), turn left on Zaantiale Fid. (Hwy. 18), then about a % mile. Sunday Services, Sunday School 10:45 a.m.

First Congregational Church 700 Poyntz (Poyntz and Juliette) 537-7006

Sunday School 9:30 a.m. Worship 10:45 a.m. Sermon:

We have the answer to your pain." Sunday, Nov. 13 Rev. Donald Longbottom

WORSHIP Sundays 11 a.m. Danforth Chapel

Holy Communion celebrated every Sunday

+sing, pray, meditate +pursue your questions of faith +hear a word of acceptance and forgiveness +bring a friend

Pastor Jayne Thompson 539-4451

-Open to AII-

KANSAS STATE

NOVEMBER 14, 1994

KANSAS STATE UNIVERSITY, MANHATTAN, KANSAS 66506

DUMPING GROUNDS

The United States, along with other developed countries, are guilty of exporting their hazardous wastes to less-developed

STUDENT GOVERNMENT

Senate allocates EOF money

LOLA SHRIMPLIN

As some Student Senators sprawled on the floor, while others wandered in and out of the Union Big 8 Room, Student Senate allocated $208,500 in Educational Opportunity Funds. The EOF fund was approved on May 19, 1988, by the Kansas Board of Regents. Because of the fund, I percent of student fees are returned to the University to be allocated to underrepresented groups on campus.

All departments of the University are eligible to apply.

The EOF funds are to be used for scholarships and fellowships, needbased grants to groups that have been underrepresented, grants for students doing community service and salaries for students employed in campus student-services programs

Student Senate is responsible for allocating these funds.

Gerald Manke, graduate school senator, attempted to obtain money for the Child Development Center by taking money for scholarships from the Society of Black Engineers, International Student Scholarships and the allocations for a graduate assistant for Manke said. Multicultural Student Organizations.

This would bring the total allocation for the Child Care Center to $68,500.

Manke said the Child Development Center is the only full-service child center in Manhattan.

"The purpose is to get more bang for your buck," Manke said.

In discussion, Brenda Halinski, graduate school senator, asked Manke how he came to the decision of what programs to cut.

"I don't see how it's relevant,"

Last year, the Society of Black Engineers requested $5,000, and Student Senate gave them zero dollars, Brian Lee, engineering senator_said.

"Senate kind of screwed them," Lee said.

The amendment failed. Finally, Senate passed the Educational Opportunity fund, allocating money to 43 organizations.

In other business, Student Senate also discussed a bill that

■ See STUDENT Page 10

► SGA

$17,000 could fund bike racks, benches, lobbying

LEIGH BELLINGER

nearly $17,000 collected when K-State students were overcharged during fee payment will go toward three separate projects.

The Student Affairs and Social Services Committee voted on the spending of the money Sunday night.

Now the bill goes to the Student Senate meeting on Thursday. Final action will be taken at the Senate's Dec. 1

VOLUME 99B. NUMBER 60

meeting.
Matt Soldner, education senator, said the bill passed by the committee Sunday is not set in stone. The final bill could look a lot different.

"Keep in mind it's not like we're drafting the final legislation," Soldner said. "We're not saying there's no more room for debate on this."

See SENATE Page 10

CONCERT REVIEW

Travis

Country-music star entertains Bramlage Coliseum crowd

he sound of a Harley Davidson engine roared in a smoke-filled Bramlage Coliseum Saturday evening.

And while people were trying to see others surprised expressions through the smoke, a spectacular display of laser beams and lights distracted their curiosity.

No, it wasn't a group of Hells Angels firing stolen high-tech laser guns onstage - it was the fanfare for country-music star Travis Tritt.

The two-hour performance Tritt gave the audience opened with Tritt riding out on a Harley Davidson below his band, which stood on a raised platform.

He then made the audience go wild with "Put Some Pride in Your Country" - a song proclaiming the pride everyone associated with country music should feel.

He then sang four songs that helped make Tritt become a household name, with hits "Foolish Pride," a remake of the Eagles' "Take it Easy," "Old Habits are Hard to Break" and "Ten Feet Tall and Bulletproof."

After the set, Tritt's band disappeared, and it was Tritt all alone onstage with his guitar.

He used the spotlight to tell the audience of a vow he recently made to dedicate a portion of his show to those country-music artists who he said are the roots of country music.

He mentioned Merle Haggard, Johnny Cash, Waylon Jennings and George Jones as some of the artists he had looked up to all his life.

Tritt then sang some songs from those legends, and ended the set singing some of his own emotionstirring hits, "Can I Trust You With my Heart," and "Anymore."

He then turned over the stage to his band and let it have the spotlight while he disappeared. Tritt entered the stage again in a different outfit, including a cowboy hat, singing "Country Club" and ending his concert with "The Whiskey Ain't Working Anymore."

country

But it wasn't over. Tritt once again came back onstage in his third outfit of the evening for an encore. He sang a variety of rock 'n' roll songs and told the crowd he would play whatever it wanted to hear, and it was "Trouble."

The evening's entertainment also included two other country acts.

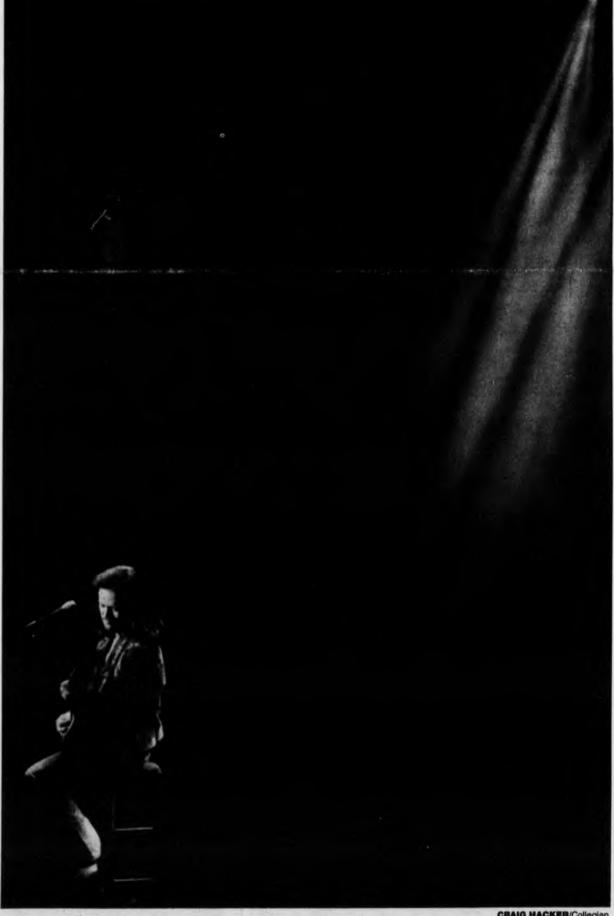

Tritt's opening acts consisted of country-music stars Joe Diffie and Lee Roy Parnell.

Diffie played an hour before Tritt, singing hits such as "Honky Tonk Attitude," "Light up an Old Flame," "For Ships that Don't Come In" and a crowd favorite, "John Deere Green."

He also played some new music, including "Juniors in Love," about a farmboy who is in love with a girl down the road but doesn't seem to quite catch her attention when he brings her flowers smelling like WD40.

Parnell began the evening's entertainment, singing No. 1 hits "Holding my Own," and "Tender Moment," along with hits "Love Without Mercy," and "On the Road," which is also the theme song for the country music show, "On the Road."

STORY BY JULIE KUHLMAN

Travis Tritt, country-music star, performs a solo tribute during the Ten Foot Tall Tour stop at Bramlage Collseum Saturday. The concert, which included Joe Diffie and Lee Roy Parnell, lasted nearly four hours.

► CAMPUS

24-hour meters, nightparking permits possible

TERRY SCRUTON

Just when you thought it couldn't get any worse.

Parking Services is considering extending the metered-parking areas on campus to 24 hours, or at least extending the cut-off time to 10 p.m. In addition, a permit would be required to park elsewhere on campus

Night-parking permits would be available for half the price of a general

Students who already have general permits would be allowed to park at Dwain Archer, director of Parking and Fire Safety, said no formal proposal on extended parking has been made at this point. "It was suggested in conversation," he said. "It has no validity at this Michelle Meier, chair of the Student Senate Parking Committee, said the idea is being taken into serious consideration.

"It is an idea that he (Archer) wants to become a reality," she said.

Meier, who along with other members of the committee spoke to Archer in a meeting last week, said Archer had his reasons for wanting the proposal.

"He feels that people who park on campus at night aren't paying for anything," she said.

"People who park during the day are paying for everything." In the proposal, people wishing to park on campus for just one night may purchase a single-day parking permit for $1, Meier said.

This is just one of the many problems the committee faces regarding campus parking.

Last year, more than $10,000 was spent by Student Senate on a study of the parking situation conducted by a graduate student in civil engineering.

Today, many people say the study was a waste of time.

"There is a big perception, even among student senators, that it (the study) was a waste of money," Brad Finkeldei, student body vice president,

"I think that's wrong." Finkeldei said the study, which ultimately suggested a shuttle system on campus, is to be used as a resource. "In and of itself, it's pretty useless," he said.

"Combined with the studentparking survey and other sources, it has value."

PARKING MEETING

The Parking Committee will meet at 3 p.m. Thursday in the K-State Union Room 208. Students are invited to come and voice their opinions on the parking situation.

"He feels that people who park on campus at night aren't paying for anything."

MICHELLE MEIER Student Senate Parking Committee chair

NEWS BRIEFS

► HOUSE AND SENATE REMAIN WHITE MALES DESPITE ELECTION TURN OVER

WASHINGTON (AP) - Doctors, football players, a former CIA analyst and '60s rock 'n' roll star Sonny Bono are sprinkled among the lawyers and businessmen in the wave of at least 83 Republican and 13 Democratic newcomers to Five House races still hadn't been called by the weekend.

No matter their outcome, the new House and Senate will remain a sea of mostly white male faces, just as it has always been.

And even though the newcomers generally claim to be "outsiders" intending to reform Congress, they are, in fact, mostly the same kind of people who usually get elected: local and state public office holders, party activists and aides to elected

"There is nothing in the new members' background that suggests they will be any different than those who came before them," said Ben Sheffner, assistant editor of The Cook Political Report, which analyzes Congress. "They do talk a different game. Twenty years ago, you wouldn't have heard the anti-Washington messages in their campaign."

And most of them are Republicans whose election brought Congress under GOP control for the first time in 40 years.

"The Republicans coming in are pretty conservative," he said.

ATLANTIS ASTRONAUTS CAPTURE GERMAN SATELLITE WITH ROBOT ARM

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) - Racing high over the South Seas, Atlantis' astronauts on Saturday captured a German satellite carrying vital measurements of Earth's shrinking ozone layer. Appropriately, the satellite was retrieved just north of Antarctica and its infamous ozone hole, south of New Zealand.

"Super! Super!" German scientists shouted in the satellite-control room at Kennedy Space Center as astronaut Ellen Ochoa grabbed the spacecraft with Atlantis' robot arm. They celebrated with coffee and gummy bears.

"It's not what you usually do when something important happens. You usually have a glass of champagne. We will do this on Monday," when Atlantis returns to Earth with the satellite. German physicist Klaus Grossmann said.

► STUDY SHOWS USAIR PLAGUED WITH SAFETY AND TRAINING PROBLEMS

NEW YORK (AP) - USAir has allowed jets to leave gates without enough fuel at least nine times and once used a jet for 13 days despite a dangerous crack on its wing flap, the New York Times reported Sunday.

Despite recent assurances from USAir and federal officials, a twomonth review of the nation's sixthlargest airline showed numerous safety and training problems, the Times said.

In one example, the pilots of a Washington-to-Boston flight didn't check to see if the plane had enough fuel. When they were forced to land at La Guardia Airport in New York, they lied and radioed the control tower that they had to land due to engine trouble. After they landed, the captain acknowledged there had been no engine trouble

Eight other USAir flights have left the gate without the federally required amount of fuel since the airline eliminated two pre-flight refueling checks 16 months ago, records showed. One of the planes returned to the airport, and another reached its destination. It was unclear what happened on the other flights.

The newspaper's report was based on interviews of airline employees and safety officials, and thousands of pages of court files and safety reports, obtained through the Freedom of Information Act

The investigation followed the Sept. 8 crash of a USAir Boeing 737 near Pittsburgh International Airport that killed all 132 aboard. In July, a USAir jet crashed in Charlotte, N.C., in a thunderstorm, killing 37 of 57 people aboard.

USAir executives told the Times that its accidents are not connected, and there is no reason to draw negative conclusions about safety.

POLICE REPORTS

These reports are taken directly from the daily logs of the K-State and Riley County Police departments. Because of space constraints, not all crimes are listed.

K-STATE POLICE

SUNDAY, NOVEMBER 13

AND STREET OF THE STREET STREET

At 12:30 p.m., Hekma Harrison, of Haymaker Hall, reported the theft of a Copper Bowl ring valued at $275. He reported that the ring was taken from his room. Two subjects were taken in for questioning about the incident.

RILEY COUNTY POLICE

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 12

At 10:39 p.m., police arrested John D. Yanek, 410 Butterfield Road, for DUI at 1000 Leavenworth St. Bond was set at $500.

At 10:45 p.m., officers issued Jennifer R. Binggeli, 1835 Todd Road, a notice to appear for being a minor in possession at the Aggie Lounge.

SUNDAY, NOVEMBER 13

At 3:10 a.m., officers received a report of a male subject passed out in a truck at the Holidome parking lot. Police woke the subject, and the subject called for a ride home.

At 3:52 a.m., police received report of an unwanted subject at 2217 Blaker Drive. The complainant's brother was the unwanted subject, and he was gone upon the officer's arrival.

ELECTRONIC COLLEGIAN

The Kansas State Collegian has gone electronic. Updated daily, you can find the Electronic Collegian on the World Wide Web @ http://www.spub.ksu.edu/

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

We accept letters to the editor by e-mail. Our address is collegn@ksu.ksu.edu. You m include your name, address, phore mun student ID number with the letter.

CAMPUS BULLET

ANNOUNCEMENTS |

Applications for Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities are now available in the Office of Student Activities and Services. Deadline is Nov. 18.

Chimes junior honorary is awarding a scholarship to an outstanding junior. Applications are due at noon Nov. 14. Applications are available in the Office of Student Activities and Services.

New members of Golden Key National Honor Society can pick up certificates in Bluemont 13.

BULLETINS

■ ASIA will meet at 5:30 p.m. today in the International Student K-State Songham Tae Kwon Do Club will meet at 8 p.m.

today in the Ecumenical Campus Ministry Building.

K-State Aikido Club will meet from 7 to 8:30 p.m. today in the Ecumenical Campus Ministry Building.

Chimes will meet at 8:30 p.m. today in Union 213.

KSU Republicans will meet at 7 p.m. today in Union 212.

■ Beta Alpha Psi will meet at 7 p.m. today in the Union Big 8 Room.

French Table will meet from noon to 1:30 p.m. today in Union Stateroom 2.

Students for the Right to Life will meet at 8:30 p.m. today in . Union 208.

Business Council will meet at 5:30 p.m. today in Calvin 202.

The Kansas State Collegian USPS 291 020), a student newspaper at Kansas State University, is published by Student Publications Inc., Kedzie Hall 103, Manhattan, Kan., 66506. The Collegian is published weekdays during the school year and once a week through the summer. Second-class postage is paid at Manhattan, Kan., 66502.

POSTMASTER: Send address changes to Kansas State Collegian, circulation desk, Kedzie 103, Manhattan, Kan. 66506-7167.

© Kansas State Collegian, 1994

CORRECTIONS

■ Tim Ramsey was misquoted in the "Internet Antics" story in Friday's Collegian.

The article said, "Users are mostly 15- to 25-yearold males who have never left the house and never danced with a woman."

Ramsey said, "Users were mostly 15- to 25-yearold males who had never left the house and never danced with a woman."

Due to an error, a mistake was made in a letter to the editor.

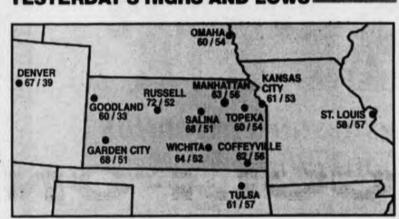

The Collegian printed, "The K-State administration responds with concern for our problems of noise, debris thrown onto our property, vandalism and harassment, but there is nothing they can do to

The original letter said, "The KSU administration responds with concern for our problems with noise, debris thrown onto our property, vandalism, and harassment, but explain that there is nothing they

■ The story on Jerry Mander's Lou Douglas Lecture in Friday's Collegian incorrectly said the speech was on Friday. The speech is 7:30 p.m. today in Forum Hall.

YESTERDAY'S HIGHS AND LOWS

STATE OUTLOG Mostly sunny and cooler with highs in the mid-40s in the northwest and

MANHATTAN OUT

around 55 in the east.

TODAY

Cooler and mostly sunny. Highs 50 to 55, lows in the upper 20s

TOMORROW !

Mostly sunny with a high of 55.

SUBWAY POSTERS TAPESTRIES INCENSE

BEADS

Manhattan, KS 66502

CREATE YOUR OWN JEWELRY T-SHIRTS-TIE DYES GUAT. CLOTHING BAJAS GRATEFUL DEAD MERCHANDISE

JAMAICAN STYLES FUCT PERVERT SKUNK KILLER LOOPS SKATEBOARD ACCESSORIES

1128 MORO 776-BAJA ON.-FRI.11-7, THURS. 11-8 SAT. 10-6, SUN. NOON-5

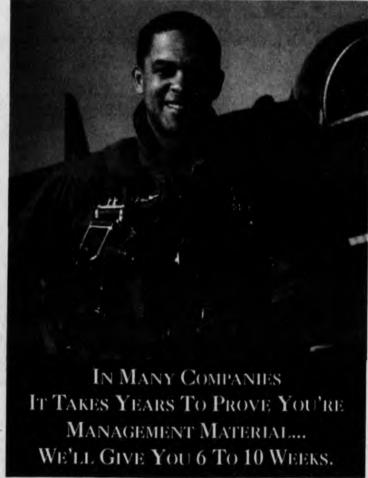

537-8636

Thurs, til 8:30 p.m.

Huser & Strong Attorneys at Law 537-4603 Serving K-State's students and faculty Free Initial Consultation Affordable Student Rates

FRESHMEN, SOPHOMORES AND JUNIORS

- Full-time students train during the summer only.
- Summer Pay $1,600 to $2,700.
- Disenroll from the program anytime after training.
- College Financial Aid $100 a month.
- Guaranteed Pilot Positions.
- Starting Salary $24,680 to $29,620.

Interview with the Marine Officer Selection Team 10 a.m. to 3 p.m., Monday & Tuesday, Nov. 14 & 15 in KSU Student Union

Call us in Kansas City at 1-800-531-1885 Women and Minorities are encouraged to apply.

coming

R. Carlos Nakai and William Eaton

The Ying Quartet* Friday, November 18, 8 p.m.

Winner of the 1993 Naumburg Chamber Music Award, the Ying Quartet is a brothers and sister team of string virtuosos. For McCain audiences, the Yings will perform Mozart's "Hunt" quartet, Ralph Shapey's Quartet No. VIII, and Schubert's "Death and the Maiden."

R. Carlos Nakai and William Eaton* Friday, December 2, 8 p.m.

Nakai is a Navajo-Ute who honors tribal traditions while developing new musical expressions on his cedar flute. Eaton designs his own extraordinary instruments and composes music inspired by nature. The two come together to perform music that is haunting in its serenity and graceful in its simplicity.

Aladdin and the Magic Lamp Friday, December 9, 7:30 p.m.

An Arabian nights tale of a poor tailor's son, an evil sorcerer, the sultan's beautiful daughter, and a couple of genies. You won't need a flying carpet: the lively music, colorful costumes, and special effects will sweep you away!

For tickets call 532-6428 or come to the McCain box office. Box office hours: noon to 5 p.m. weekdays; from 1 p.m. before weekend matinees; and from 5 p.m. before weekend evenings. Tickets are also available at Manhattan Town Center customer service desk, K-State Union Bookstore, and ITR (Fort Riley). Persons with disabilities call 532-6428.

* Presented in part by the Kansas Arts Commission, a state agency, and the National Endowment for the Arts, a federal agency. Events in the McCain Performance Series are supported by the K-State Fine Arts Fee.

Cathy Mohs, graduate student in chemistry, dunks a piece of paper towel with an ink dot into water during Chemistry Day Saturday afternoon at Manhattan Town Center. The paper towel eventually absorbed the water to separate the ink into its various colors, a process known as chromatography.

MANHATTAN

Grant will assist area flood victims

DEANA TESKE

Flood victims still suffering from the flood of 1993 will receive additional services through Pawnee Mental Health Services.

A Family Preservation Grant of $175,000 will provide services to people in 11 counties for the next eight months, Don Schreiner, executive director for Pawnee, said.

The grant was awarded by the Kansas Social and Rehabilitation Services Community Resource Development Unit.

The flood assistance will be available to flood victims in the area served by Pawnee's FEMA-funded Flood Recovery Services Program, which expires Nov. 14.

These counties are Clay, Cloud, Geary, Jewell, Marshall, Mitchell, Pottawatomie, Republic, Riley and Washington.

Even though Wabaunsee County isn't in Pawnee's catchment area, it will be included through contact with the Mental Health Center of East Central Kansas in Emporia, Schreiner said.

Angela Hayes, Family Preservation Grant Director for Pawnee, said most people are well on their way to recovery. But as the material losses are replaced and life is back to normal, the emotions begin to surface.

"Part of this money will go to counseling for victims as well as material needs that have not been met yet," she said.

Most people applied for FEMA funding last year and received assistance, but some people fell through the cracks because they didn't apply in time or communicate properly with FEMA.

"This grant is for those people who fell through the cracks and still have unmet needs," Jabou Seibert, financial assistance coordinator, said. "People tend to think it's over, but some people are still having Seibert also works as an outreach worker and visits people in their homes. She evaluates their situations and assesses damages.

One problem people are facing mold in their basements.

"After the flood, they cleaned, repainted and recarpeted their basements, but the wetness penetrated so deep that it is just now surfacing. Many people are sick because of the mold," she said.

The grant will also be used for medical bills, repairs, replacing clothing and food and rent bills while people waited to relocate, Hayes said.

'Some bills, especially medical bills, just couldn't be paid because of the other repairs," she said.

Those still troubled emotionally from the flood will be referred to counselors and receive services paid for by the grant, Hayes said.

She said the grant will hopefully cover everyone's needs in these counties based on their initial assessments.

► NATION

Doctors may assist the dying in suicide

ASSOCIATED PRESS

PORTLAND, Ore. - The world's first assisted suicide law is leaving many doctors and patients with one question: "Can I go through with it?"

"I intend to take that option," said Tim Shuck, a 45-year-old with AIDS who was given less than a year to live. "Can I change my mind? Sure. What I now have is the legal option. Whether I choose to fulfill that option, time will tell."

The law approved by voters Tuesday takes effect Dec. 8., and allows patients with less than six months to live to ask a doctor for a lethal prescription.

The request must be made at least twice, then again in writing, before doctors can supply the drugs. It is up to the patient to take the drugs, and only after all other alternatives have been rejected. A Eugene doctor who helped lead the fight against physicianassisted suicide predicted many doctors would not do it.

Mon.-Sat.

"I don't think there will be an uproar. But I think there will be a large number of physicians who refuse to cooperate," said Dr. Winston Maxwell, who has practiced in Oregon for 30 years.

Many doctors already have trouble dealing with the dying without being forced to hasten death, said Dr. Steven Miles, head of the Center for Biomedical Ethics at the University of Minnesota in Minneapolis.

Some people who have faced a deadly disease, such as cancer survivor Shelley Olson, say the new law allows patients to give up when they should keep fighting.

"We've taken a giant leap backwards into the Dark Ages," said Olson, a 44-year-old farmer who was given just three months to stomach cancer two years ago. Her doctors now say she's cancer-free.

"You feel guilty because of the emotional and financial stress you're putting on your family," she said. "It would be real easy to have those negative thoughts. You could talk yourself into doing this."

Oregon's assisted-suicide law is the first in the world. Physicianassisted suicide is allowed in the Netherlands, but it remains live when she was diagnosed with technically illegal in that country.

This coupon good for

Expires 11-29-94

BAKERY SCIENCE CLUB'S ANNUAL HOLIDAY SALE

COFFEE CAKE $3.90 BUBBLE ROLL BREAD $2.80 FRUIT CAKE $6.75

ORDER YOUR ITEMS NOVEMBER 9-22

CALL 539-1514

PICK UP ITEMS NOV. 30 FROM 3-5 P.M. IN SHELLENBERGER HALL FIRST FLOOR

both locations: 1911 Tuttle Creek Blvd.

2700 Anderson

CHICKEN CHOP SUEY $3.90 Dine-in & carryout Not valid with any other specials, coupons, or on deliveries. 537-0886

FREE DELIVERY (Minimum order $9)

11 a.m.-Midnight GOOD FOR A EXTRA LARGE CHOCOLATE CHIP COOKIE Limit 1 cookie per coupon

MR. GOODCENTS 539-1900

(With sub or pasta purchase. Not good with other specials. Only valid at Manhattan store.) Expires 12/23/94 (NO coupon needed. NONE accepted) "No Coupon" Specials

Pizza Shuttle 776-5577

Taco Burgers 2 for $1.59

(reg. $1.20 each)

Burrito Dinner $2.99

(reg. $3.90) Good through 11-19-94

2809 Claflin 539-2091 Open Sun Thurs 11 a.m. 10 p.m. Fn Sat 11 a.m. Midnight

esign lean

PRESENT SEASON TICKETS & GET

ANY SERVICE

OFF

Vationally Recognized Salor

1323 Anderson Aggleville

CAMPUS EDITOR.....J.R. Prather AAE/FEATURES EDITOR .. Andrew Tomb SPORTS EDITOR ...... Wess Hudelson GRAPHICS EDITOR......Sara Smith
COPY CHIEF......Robin Kickhaefer
CITY-GOV. EDITOR....Lola Shrimplin
ASST. SPORTS EDITOR...Jeremy Crabtree ASST. PHOTO EDITOR .. Mark Leffingwell

AD MANAGER .... Ryndell Little ASST. MANAGER .....Ted Ellet SALES MANAGER....Jim Stothard TEARSHEETS MOR. Ivonne Zaldumbide NEWS ADVISER ...... Ron Johnson AD ADVISER ......Gloria Freeland

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

IN OUR OPINION

NOVEMBER 14, 1994

By the Collegian Editorial Board

No need for night-time permits on campus

KSU Parking Services is considering requiring permits for parking at night.

If KSU Parking Services has its way, parking permits will be required to park on campus at night.

Although there has been no formal proposal for this idea, it is being considered seriously.

The reason Dwain Archer, director of parking and fire safety, gives is that people at night are not paying their fair share.

Fair share of what?

Most people who park at night are occasional users. They come for night tests, to study on campus, go to a meeting or see a theatrical performance. Unless these people are secretly ripping up the asphalt, they are not doing any damage to the lots. And, except for the K-State Union parking lots, most are pretty empty at night.

Some of the ideas that are being tossed around are half-price parking at night, $1 single-day-parking permits and expanding the hours of the metered lots.

For students who will spend just a few hours on campus a couple of nights a week, a $25 permit seems pretty expensive.

For Manhattanites who attend a weekend performance at McCain Auditorium, a $1 permit will seem like a great hassle.

Students need to rally against this proposal. The Parking Committee will meet at 3 p.m. Thursday in Union 208. Show up and voice your opposition to

TOLES

I SAY WE'VE BECOME TOO OBSESSED WITH DEFINING PEOPLE BY WHAT GROUP THEY'RE PART OF.

LOLA SHRIMPLIN

66 The murders

35 years ago.

Leave the

there alone.

L happened

people who live

Holcomb's Clutter house is still an attraction

HRIMPLIN

t was 35 years ago that something happened in Holcomb that people don't seem to want to forget.

And it amazes me still. In 1959, four of the members of the Clutter family were murdered by two killers who thought Mr. Clutter had thousands of dollars in the house. Thirty-five years ago. So what's the fascination with the house? It's a house like any house here in

The Maders live there now. They bought it from the Byrds. Traci Byrd was Manhattan. There's nothing special about in my class at school. I spent the night there several times.

So I am constantly amazed at the idiocy that is displayed by people who go there to just look at the house. Truman Capote's niece went there two summers ago.

Just to look at the house.

Excuse me, but isn't that a little bit intrusive?

People come from all over the world to see that house. I can just see the conversation in Europe about a future trip to the United States.

Parents: "So, do you want to go to Disney World, Hollywood or New York

Kids: "Let's go to the Clutter House!" Well, hell. I guess no well-rounded trip would be complete without it.

And the legends about it. Jesus.

There is supposed to be blood in the basement and a rope hanging in the furnace room. In fact, Lynda Byrd was supposed to have painted and painted it, but the blood kept showing through.

Yeah, right.

Truman Capote wrote a book about the place. It was supposed to be a "nonfiction novel," according to Capote.

According to a lot of people in Holcomb, it was a bunch of lies.

In the book, he tried to raise sympathy for one of the murderers. He couldn't get an interview with the person who found the family, so he went to court when the man was testifying and wrote down what he Perfectly legal.

And also terribly unethical.

The facination with the murder is still alive today because it happened at a time when people felt safer, and things like that didn't happen.

Now, whole families are killed every day, and no one thinks twice about it.

So, in a testament to our morbidity, people still go to look for blood stains on the walls and to see if they can actually get in the house to see the "crime scene."

All people are going to see in that town are some nice people who live in a house at the end of a lane of trees.

People who are possibly too nice to say how offensive it is to have a constant stream of tourists driving into their yard and treating it like a freakshow.

The murders happened 35 years ago. Leave the people who live there alone.

Lola Shrimplin is a senior in political science.

READERS WRITE

Drop letters off at Kedzie 116 or send them to Letters to the Editor, c/o John Meirowsky, Kansas State Collegian, Kedzie 116, Manhattan, KS 66506. We accept letters by e-mail also. Our address is letters@spub.ksu.edu. Letters should be addressed to the editor and include a name, address and phone number. A photo identification will be necessary for hand-delivered let

▶ INTERNET

Social activites a small part

The "Internet Antics" article (Nov. 11 Collegian) was quite entertaining, and I hope it encourages people at K-State to explore the Internet and all the wonderful resources it has to offer.

However, I'd like to point out that "flame wars" and "pop runs" are minor social activities of a relatively small group of computer users. Those activities have little relation to the majority of Internet use, which is much more exciting. The Internet allows access to vast information resources, real-time communications to other users worldwide, and exposure to diverse individuals and cultures.

Betsy Edwards Unicorn CWIS co-coordinator, newsletter editor

▶ INTERNET

Users not the same as in the past

Much to my dismay, I was grievously misquoted and quoted out of context in the "Internet Antics" article on page 5 of the Nov. 11 Collegian. This could have been avoided if the reporter had used a tape

What was printed:

"Users are mostly 15- to 25-year-old males who have never left the house and never danced with a

What I actually said:

"Users were mostly 15- to 25-year-old males who had never left the house ..." When I said this, I was referring to the early culture of the Internet as it was 10 years ago and how it was shaped by the large percentage of men on the net at that time.

The mix of Internet users has changed drastically from those earlier days. Home and business computer users have joined the Internet, and women now comprise a significant percentage of the online population. At K-State, everyone is encouraged to develop computer literacy and enhance their knowledge of technology.

I encourage everyone to become familiar with the Internet and the almost unlimited resources it has to offer. Any K-State student or employee can get access to the Internet via the free computing accounts available in the CNS Consulting Office in Nichols 126D. Finally, nightly pop runs are just a good way to take a break away from the computer screen. The article failed to mention that food and drink are not allowed in K-State's public computing labs.

Unix system administrator, Computing and Network Services

- CHEATING

Blame lies with the admission office

I was interested in the various theories about where the blame lies for the biology-cheating scandal: in the laziness of the instructor - who failed to write a second exam for the students who wanted to cheat, in the large-class sizes and "failure to provide a high-quality instructional environment," etc. My own opinion is that the fault rests entirely with the admissions office for not admitting only honest students to the University. Instead of pestering students (who already have too many things to worry about) to retake courses, why don't we just solve the problem by firing the admissions-office staff?

professor in modern languages

CHEATING

Just punish the individuals, not the class

When I first heard the news about the Natural Disaster geology exam, I was baffled by the behavior in that classroom. Hello, people! We're all in college now. We, as undergraduates, supposedly know the proper behavior in an exam. For the students who were talking and discussing the test, you should be ashamed to show up in class again. If I were a class member who had studied my butt off, I think I'd have a lot to say to you if you had ruined my hopes for a good grade. Even though I feel that the students who were talking should have the

DONNA TRANTHAM

66The cheaters

are the ones who should be punished.

decency to be silent during a test, the behavior of the GTAs is something I have not been able to fathom.

If I had been administering that test, I would have seen that the talking/cheating was stopped. How difficult is it to tear up the tests and answer cards of those who are talking? All it would have taken is a little responsibility and action on the part of the GTAs. (There were THREE present at the test!) If you're intimidated by undergraduate students, maybe you are not worthy of your position at this University. What it all comes down to is this: we, the honest students, are going to have to take the responsibility to end the cheating. Obviously being honest does not have many advantages around here. Honesty should pay off in the end. The cheaters are the ones who should be punished.

Donna Trantham junior in elementary education

CHEATING

Biology is an informative class

I'd like to take the opportunity to respond to some of the comments being made in regards to the recent cheating incidents. (I'll keep it short and sweet.)

Just because a group of students makes a choice to compromise their academic integrity does not mean it has to hurt the academic integrity of the entire University. As a pre-med student in engineering, I found the Biology 198 class very informative. I learned a lot from it, and I feel that the instructors helped me to accomplish my goals in applying for medical school. If there's one thing I've learned in college, it is the fact that I alone am ultimately responsible for the quality of education I receive.

No one else can learn it for me. So instead of blaming everyone involved for these recent matters of cheating, let us learn from the mistakes made and do our best to correct them. This seems to be the best way for us to keep our reputation as a good institution of higher learning. Take it easy!

Marc Scarbrough

REAGAN

Took courage to release information

Like many Americans, I was shocked and saddened to hear the report released a week ago indicating that former President Ronald Reagan is suffering from Alzheimer's disease.

I would like to take this opportunity to commend President Reagan for having the courage to publicly release this information and the generosity to try to turn his personal misfortune into an opportunity to increase public awareness of this incurable disease.

In the six years that have transpired since President Reagan left office, many revisionist historians have tried to personally blame President Reagan for everything that allegedly "went wrong" in the 1980s.

Regardless of how one feels personally about President Reagan, we should all remember that he gave our country an enormous boost when it badly needed it. He did this through his simple belief in the essential goodness of the American character and his constant encouragement that convinced Americans that our nation's best days were still yet to come.

It is reassuring to see that President Reagan's letter to the press disclosing his illness still preserves some of his optimism and grace. I hope all fellow Americans join me in keeping President Reagan and his family in our prayers in the difficult times that lie

Patrick Robben senior in political science

CHEATING

1 test assured same level of difficulty

The inflammatory letter from Professor Thomas, Economics, requires a reply. First, the rationale for giving exactly the same questions on the early exam as those on the regular exam has not been discussed. It definitely was not because it was too much trouble to make up a different exam. Rather, it was our effort at fairness to those students who because of weekly jobs and other commitments are always unable to attend the regular exam: use of the same questions assured those very hard-working students that their exam was exactly as hard (or as easy) as the regular exam. That system relied upon a functional K-State honor system, a responsibility shared by both students and faculty. I would remind Professor Thomas that the honor system is a required part of K-State policy (p. 25 of faculty handbook, and p. 98 of the K-State campus directory) - we are not at liberty to cynically dismiss it as nonfunctional; rather, as faculty and students, we are required to uphold it. An honor system, like democracy, is open to abuse. Faculty and students who do not support this system should find a university other than K-State to attend. I have been a faculty member in biology for 23 years, and I reject Professor Thomas' cynical appraisal of K-State students and their ethics.

Second, Professor Thomas seems eager to link the cheating incident with the success of the division of biology in research. That's pretty contrived and reveals a fundamental misunderstanding of how scholarly activity occurs in science. For the last 23 years, research and teaching have been linked and interwoven in the division of biology at both graduate and undergraduate levels. They are not mutually exclusive, competing activities. Rather, they mutually support and synergistically stimulate one another, all to the benefit of students and faculty alike. Even freshmen have opportunities for joining research labs in the division of biology. Students therefore are not simply being presented with static, out-of-date information, but instead learn biology by doing it.

Gary W. Conrad professor in biology

Mevin Hooten, freshman in parks resource management, takes a cup of water from Sheri Davidson, junior in social work. Saturday morning during Habitat for Humanity's Home Run 10K race at Warner Park. The events were to raise funds for the K-State chapter.

Race benefits area's low-income housing

SACHA HANES

About 50 people braved the cold Saturday to raise money for low-income housing in the Habitat for Humanity Home Run. The K-State chapter of Habitat for Humanity put on the 5K/10K run and IK walk at Warner Park to raise money for the local

"We were kind of hoping a few more would straggle in," Sara Blecke, vice president, said.

"I believe in Habitat for Humanity, and I wanted to run, Armando Rodriguez, of Fort Riley, said he was always up for a good race. The 10K was started first, and all other participants were told the 5K run and 1K walk would start upon the completion of the 10K.

Not wanting to wait an hour in the cold, some of the 5K runners went ahead and started with the 10K. A group of eight walkers also started on their own, not wanting to stand in the wind and

"People are too cold to stand around. It's too bad, you can tell they went to a lot of work to get it ready," Angie Copeland, sophomore in architectural engineering,

"I'm just glad it's over, I'm so tired," Kathleen Boland, senior in social work, said after completing

As participants completed the events, they cooled down and enjoyed the fresh fruit, muffins

We were told we should stay for the prizes at the end,'

Prizes donated from sponsors were given away after the completion of the runs and walk.

There were 15 to 20 volunteers from the K-State and the local chapters that helped set up and work the event, Matt Short, fundraising chair, said.

Pam Jackson, president, said the K-State chapter's purpose is to support the local affiliate. It educates the public and provides labor and funds.

The Manhattan Chapter of Habitat for Humanity is hoping to build its first house within a year.

► NATION

Hamlet put on trial, judged depressed

ASSOCIATED PRESS

CHICAGO - There was method to his madness.

At least that's what a majority of Hamlet's jury decided.

Supreme Court Justice Anthony Kennedy presided as top lawyers and doctors gathered to put Shakespeare's melancholy Dane on trial for murder.

In a rhapsody of words, Chicago attorneys George Cotsirilos and James Montgomery led the defense, arguing that the prince was clinically depressed and hallucinating when he killed Polonius, who says in the play: "Though this be madness, yet there is method in 't."

The prosecution, led by Cook County Board President Richard Phelan and William Bauer, former chief judge of the 7th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals, argued Hamlet was a brilliant tactician plotting to avenge his father's murder.

Almost 700 people paid $200 each to attend the sold-out trial Saturday night at the Art Institute of Chicago. The event was part of the fifth annual Chicago Humanities Festival, and the money will be used to subsidize other festival events. Kennedy, who devised the idea, said he intended the show to be educational.

Lawyers presented opening statements, questioned two expert witnesses and gave closing arguments before a jury of local government officials and intellectuals. The panel ruled 10-2 that Hamlet was sane and, thus, responsible for his actions.

The defendant, played by an actor in a fur-lined tunic, sat glumly and uttered no "to be, or not to be" soliloquies.

He was surrounded by "the heartache and the thousand natural shocks" of lawyers wearing expensive suits and sipping mineral water, resisting any urge to call them "arrant knaves, all."

The often whimsical trial focused on the scene in Shakespeare's tragedy when Hamlet heard rustling behind a curtain, lunged with his sword and killed the hiding Polonius.

The prosecution argued Hamlet rationally tried to kill Claudius to avenge his father and only feigned madness to protect himself.

"At the time of the actual slaying, Prince Hamlet knew precisely what he was doing,' Phelan said. "He was not suffering from any mental disorder."

Dr. Alan Stone, a professor of law and psychiatry at Harvard, testified that the prince was sane, even though the play depicts Hamlet conversing with the ghost of his dead father.

Hamlet was not hallucinating the ghost because the ghost was real, Stone said. Nor was Hamlet paranoid, he said, because everyone in the play really was against him, and he was not suicidal, only philosophical.

"Those speeches are not about suicide. They are about a situation of a man caught in an immoral world," Stone said. "Those are reflections on the human condition.'

In one of the evening's solemn moments, Montgomery gave an impassioned closing argument, describing Hamlet as a man driven mad by the loss of his father.

"What I have described to you is man overwhelmed by intense feelings and emotions," Montgomery said.

PERSONAL HEALTH CARE FOR WOMEN CONFIDENTIAL ABORTION SERVICES

· Complete GYN Care · Pregnancy Testing

• Depo Provera & Norplant • Tubal Ligation Licensed Physicians/Caring Staff
 Modern State-Licensed Facility PROVIDING QUALITY HEALTH CARE TO WOMEN SINCE 1974

COMPREHENSIVE 345-1400 health for women outside KCAREA

VISA

4401 W. 109th (I-435 & Rose) Overland Park, KS

1-800-227-1918

TOLL FREE

The Ying Quartet

Friday, November 18, 8 p.m. McCain Auditorium Kansas State University

General Public/Faculty: $14 Senior Citizen: $10 Student/Child: $7

Since their debut in 1989, this brothers-and-sister team has been profiled on "CBS Sunday Morning," featured on "St. Paul Sunday Morning," and won the Naumburg Chamber Music Award. Scott Cantrell of the Kansas City Star said,

"It was, quite simply, the most amazing string quartet playing I've ever heard." Hear for yourself when they play:

Mozart's "Hunt" Quartet Ralph Shapey's Quartet No. VIII Schubert's "Death and the Maiden"

For tickets call 532-5428 or come to the McCain box office. Box office hours: noon to 5 p.m. weekdays; from 1 p.m. before weekend matinees; and from 5 p.m. before weekend evenings. Tickets are also available at Manhattan Town Center customer service desk, K-State Union Bookstore, and ITR (Fort Riley). Persons with disabilities call 532-6428.

* Presented in part by the Kansas Arts Commission, a state agency, and the National Endowment for the Arts, a federal agency. Events in the McCain Performance Series are supported by the K-State Fine Arts Fee.

Women vote democratic

going into the '80s.'

Democratic women.

Gender gap divides vote in governor's seats ASSOCIATED PRESS

WASHINGTON - If women voters had prevailed in the midterm elections, the Senate would have remained in Democratic hands, and several governor's seats would have gone to Democrats instead of Republicans The election saw one of the strongest gender gaps in years, exit polls indicated, as men hardened their conservative views and showed more affinity for the Republican message of smaller government, less spending on social programs and anti-taxation.

Across the country, men predominantly white men - voted heavily Republican.

Democrats sifting through the lessons of last week's election are faced with a reality that men are steadily defecting. In exit polls, men identified themselves as 37percent Republican, 31-percent Democratic and 31-percent independent.

Women, however, are 42percent Democratic, 32-percent Republican and 26-percent independent - roughly the same split as in the 1990 elections.

"This is something that's been building over the past decade and a half ... as the parties became more polarized around issues and the choices became clear," said Susan Carroll, senior research associate at the Rutgers University Center for the American Woman and Politics. "Through the 1980s and into the 90s, men have become more conservative and more Republican, and women have stayed as tied to the Democratic Party as they were In virtually every gubernatorial and Senate race last week, women supported Democrats more strongly than men did - even in the cases where women ended up voting overall to elect the Republican. The GOP takeover of the House was helped by the 57-percent male preference for Republicans Sousaphonist Gene Ziegler, junior in electrical engineering, polishes his sousaphone Sunday morning outside the Kansas City Chiefs' practice facility. Ziegler was getting ready to practice with the K-State Marching Band for its halftime performance during the Chiefs' and San Diego Chargers' football game. Band members started their day at 5 a.m. for a noon-kickoff game.

▶ 1996 ELECTION

Republicans ready for 1996 presidential race

ASSOCIATED PRESS

DES MOINES, Iowa - With the passing of the midterm elections, Republicans wasted no time turning to the next campaign - the fight for the nomination to oppose President Clinton in 1996.

Bob Dole is a man in a hurry these days, but he cooled his heels for half an hour to share a podium with Iowa's Republican Gov. Terry Branstad.

Iowa's precinct caucuses, the first stop in that pursuit, are still 15 months away, but the chase took on new urgency in the Republican landslide, which many saw as a sign of Clinton's vulnerability.

"The value of the Republican nomination for president just went up." veteran Iowa Republican operative David Oman said. "That caucus effort starts very quickly."

compared with a 54-percent preference by women for Democrats. Democratic men crossed over more often to vote for Republican candidates than did

Senate races in Washington,

Michigan and Minnesota would have gone Democratic instead of Republican, based on the women's vote alone, preventing the Republican takeover of the Senate.

Governors' seats in Connecticut,

Alabama, Maine and New York

would have been won by

Democrats if not for male votes that put them in Republican hands.

The swing by Dole, from neighboring Kansas, came just two days after the election. Sens. Phil Gramm, of Texas, and Arlen Specter, of Pennsylvania, were hard on their heels.

Gramm was already in Iowa on Friday, and on Sunday, he said he would file candidacy papers with the Federal Election Commission this week. Appearing on NBC's "Meet the Press," Gramm also took a swipe at Dole when he said, "I think that I am more committed to changing government fundamentally than Bob Dole is." Specter is announcing his interest in a presidential bid with scheduled exploratory travels Monday. He planned stops in both New Hampshire, which holds the first primary of the campaign season in early 1996, and Iowa.

"There's big-time interest, believe me," Dole said. "You can tell by the people coming out here." In many ways, even though the Iowa caucuses are in February 1996, there's little time to waste. The caucuses differ sharply from primary elections and demand early, heavy organizational work. Many of those interested in seeking the nomination spent considerable time in Iowa campaigning for state candidates and now are free to work more directly for themselves.

Much of former President Bush's cabinet has been spotted on the Iowa campaign trail, including Dick Cheney, Jack Kemp and Lamar Alexander. Former Vice President Dan Quayle showed up as well, and Tuesday's election returns stirred speculation that several Republican governors — Massachusetts' William Weld foremost among them - could be considering a run.

Iowa Republican activists were quick to begin handicapping the field and eager to begin reaping the benefits of a drawn-out campaign for the party's nomination.

Dole won the precinct caucuses when he unsuccessfully sought the 1988 GOP nomination.

"I think Senator Dole clearly starts with an edge," said former Iowa Republican Chairman Steve Roberts. He hastened to add that Dole's previous victory was a long time ago, and no candidate has locked up the caucuses.

2. Penn State

6. Florida State

8. K-State 9. Oregon 10. Colorado St. 11. Virginia Tech 13. Michigan

14. Virginia

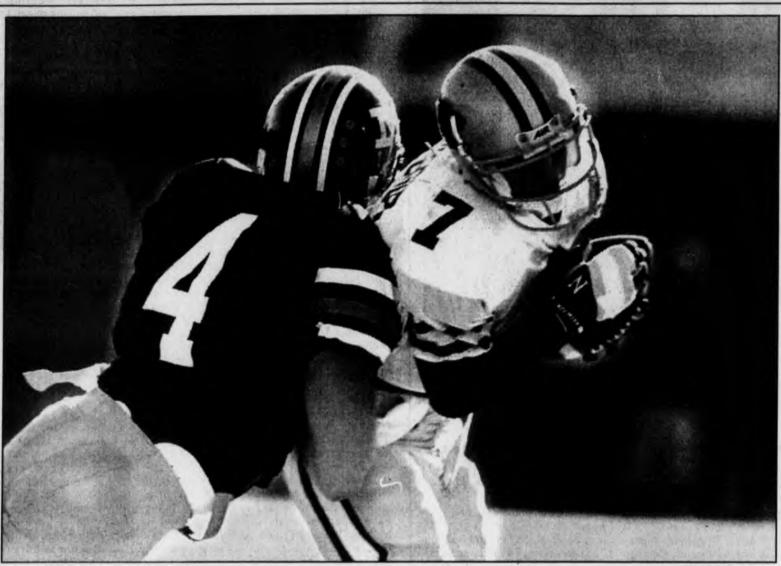

12. Southern Cal

15. Brigham Young 16. Ohio State 17. Boston College 18. Arizona 20. Utah

24. Syracuse 25. Baylor

K-State is ranked No. 11 in the Associated Press college football poll. 21. North Carolina

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

MARK LEFFINGWELL/Collegian

Wide receiver Tyson Schwieger tries to avoid Missouri defensive back Bo Adams at the end of a 25-yard reception. The catch was Schwieger's only reception of the game.

► FOOTBALL

Missouri denied win on last play

WESS HUDELSON

Whew

K-State breathed a collective sigh of relief Saturday after Chris Canty batted down Jeff Handy's pass in the corner of the end zone on fourth down and three.

K-State pushed its record to 7-2 Saturday with a 21-18 win over Missouri at Columbia, Mo.

"I couldn't even watch the play," wide receiver Ron Brown said. "I was kneeling and saying a prayer during the play, and I heard he crowd yelling. I couldn't tell if it was our crowd or theirs, so I still didn't look.

Brown didn't have to wait long to find out as jubilation soon engulfed the Wildcats' sideline.

The 11th-ranked team probably shouldn't have played so close to the 3-6 Tigers, but Coach Bill Snyder said he was happy with the

"Special teams make special plays in special situations," Snyder said. "I'm pleased that we won.

We did some good things, and we made some mistakes that we'll try to get corrected."

Missouri got its chance to win the game after an 18-yard punt by Eric Hardy, giving the Tigers the ball on K-State's 48-yard line.

Quarterback Jeff Handy completed four passes in a row, and freshman running back Brock Olivo ran for 15 yards on the drive, moving Missouri into position for the possible game-winning play.

"It was a great effort, nobody questions that — a lot of emotion, citement and hard Missouri coach Larry Smith said.

K-State appeared to have the contest in hand after running back J.J. Smith scored from 5 yards out with 7:07 remaining in the game.

The score capped off a 10-play drive that took four minutes off the clock and put the Cats ahead 21-

Smith carried the ball eight times on the drive for 48 yards. He finished the game with career highs of 138 yards and 34 carries.

"I was ready to go," Smith said. "I would've run the ball on every play if I could. It's a lot of fun to get that many carries.

Missouri immediately fired back on its drive, moving 70 yards down the field for a touchdown in 1:43, slicing the lead to 21-16.

Handy then connected with receiver Rahsetnu Jenkins for a two-point conversion, making the score 21-18 and setting up the dramatic finish.

"They have proven before this game that they were good athletes," Snyder said. "They have proven they are a good team, and they proved it again today."

The K-State defense may have won the game on the third play in the fourth quarter when Olivo was stopped on fourth and one at the Cats' 22-yard line. The Cats were leading 14-10 at that point.

"I think the real difference was the fourth and one we didn't make," Smith said.

K-State trailed 10-7 after the Tigers took their first drive of the second half 56 yards for a 49-yard field goal by Jeff Pooler, putting the Tigers ahead 10-7.

Chad May brought K-State back on its next possession by hitting Brian Lojka with a 1-yard pass.

The drive took 12 plays and nearly six minutes off the clock.

Ron Brown scored a 35-yard pass play in the first quarter. Brown escaped the grasp of three defenders on the sideline and scampered down the sideline for

"I just kept running," Brown spun away from and another grabbed my face mask, and I just took off down the sideline.

Missouri tied the game in the second quarter behind the arm of second-team quarterback Brandon Corso. He fired a 39-yard strike to Lou Shepherd over defensive back Joe Gordon on his first attempt of the game.

Two plays later, Olivo scored from 21 yards out. Olivo finished with 151 yards on 27 carries.

▶ FOOTBALL

K-State answers calling at Mizzou

JEREMY CRABTREE

COLUMBIA, Mo. - K-State's prayers were answered.

Missouri was shredding through the Wildcats' defense as the Tigers were making a furious comeback attempt in the final minutes of Saturday's game at Faurot Field.

However, Missouri's drive stalled at K-State's 3-yard line.

That left the Tigers faced with a fourth-down play, in which Mizzou could have kicked a field goal to tie the game, and thus probably ending the Cats' chances at a New Year's Day bowl game.

However, Mizzou coach Larry Smith decided to go for the win.

'We decided we were going to go for it," Smith said. "We asked the players if they wanted to go for the win. There was no hesitation. We're going to go for the win."

It all came down to one play.

"I told the fellas that this is what it's all about," K-State linebacker Mike Ekeler said. "I told them to put all that they got into this one snap. Actually, I was praying to myself for them not to

As Missouri began to line up for the deciding play, K-State called its final timeout to set its defense up.

"The coaches told us what to expect," cornerback Joe Gordon said. "We were expecting them to run some type of pick play or some type of bootleg.

K-State's coaches were correct as Tiger quarterback Jeff Handy took the snap and began to roll to the right on a bootleg.

Defensive end Nyle Wiren forced Handy to stop rolling as he beat guard Mike Norris' block. When Wiren took out Norris, Handy was not able to get to his intended receiver, which was fullback Ron James.

"I was blitzing to the right side," safety Mario Smith said. 'Handy started to roll to the right side. I couldn't get to him, but Nyle stopped his roll, and he wasn't able to find the fullback."

Once Handy wasn't able to find his No. 1 receiver, he was forced to go to his secondary receiver Brian Sallee, who was running an out route. Handy lofted the ball in the air to Sallee, who was in the corner of the end zone with K-State cornerback Chris Canty covering.

"They came out in the formation, and I picked Sallee out," Canty said. "I saw the bootleg action. He (Sallee) went in first and then back out. Handy then threw the ball.

"After that, my mind went blank.

As Handy floated the ball toward Sallee, Ekeler said he thought the ball would never come down.

"The ball seemed to be up in the air for at least an hour," Ekeler said. "It was like a car wreck, when everything is in slow motion. I heard fans screaming, but I couldn't tell if it was K-State fans or Missouri fans. I was still praying inside."

Ekeler's prayers were finally answered when he finally realized that it was the K-State fans that were cheering.

That's because as the ball neared the end zone, Canty, who is only 5 foot 10 inches, leaped up and slapped the ball away from Sallee, who is 6 foot 3 inches.

"They kept going at me all day with Sallee, because he had a height advantage over me," Canty

GAME AT A GLANCE

MU 22 First downs 20 Rushes/Yards 45/115 42/190 152 Passing 94 Return Yards Passes Attempted 29 Passes Completed 15 Punts: Number/Yards 6/232 6/260 1/0 0/0 Penalties: Number/Yards 14/132 9/71 Possession Time: 32:10 27:50

▶ BASKETBALL

Marathon victorious in exhibition contest

NICOLE POELL

The Wildcats shouldn't have let the red warm-up T-shirts fool them.

Wearing outdated uniforms and Converse sneakers, the Marathon basketball players may have looked like a Little League team, but they sure didn't play like one.

The Wildcats learned this the hard way, losing to Marathon Basketball in exhibition play Friday night, 89-83.

K-State got off to a somewhat slow start, as Marathon scored four points in the first two minutes of the game. It was the Cats' Brian Gavin who put K-State on the board, nailing a three-pointer with 18:38 on the clock. Both teams battled for the lead throughout the next nine minutes, but it was K-State ahead with a 18-12 advantage when Marathon took its first time out with 9:56 remaining in the first half. But the scrappy Marathon team, led by former University of Minnesota player Kevin Lynch, didn't let up. Marathon was only behind by three points when it used its second time out of the game with 4:45 left on the clock.

The Cats, however, came to life after the time-out, as seniors Demond Davis and Belvis Noland each knocked down three-pointers in the final minutes.

K-State newcomer Tyrone Davis finished the Cats' scoring drive with a free throw and a drive up the lane that put the Cats up, 40-31, at the half.

Any momentum K-State had in the first half, however, quickly disappeared when the Cats returned to the court.

Marathon went on a 20-2 run in the first five minutes of the second half, which was enough to take K-State out of the game for good.

'We self-destructed in the first five minutes of the second half," K-State coach Tom Asbury said. "We just don't have the experience to sustain that kind of run. With the 20-to-2 run, you are not going to win very many

K-State's Noland saved his best for last, pouring in 11 points in the final 50 seconds of the game, but it was too little, too late, as Marathon picked up its first victory of the year while the Cats got their first taste of defeat.

But this defeat wasn't enough to See K-STATE Page 10

▶ CROSS COUNTRY

Swartz waiting for national invitation

DEBO ADEJUNMOBI

If there is a word to describe the K-State cross country team's performance this past Saturday at the NCAA District V Championships, it would be "disappointing." The women's and men's teams finished qualify for the NCAA Championships. "There were some highlights, but in the end it was pretty disappointing," Coach Terry Drake seventh and 12th. Neither of the teams will said. "We didn't run very well." One highlight was the performance of freshman Charity Swartz. She finished sixth overall, running a personal record of 17:45. Drake said Swartz has a chance to make the NCAA field individually.

"Charity ran a great race," Drake said. "She'll probably qualify for nationals, but we won't know officially until Monday." On the men's side, things didn't go much better as senior Billy Wuggazer just missed out on his nationals bid. With 600 meters left in the men's race, Wuggazer was in seventh place and in good position to get an individual NCAA invitation. Then he got a cramp in his side, causing him to finish 12th and out of nationals contention. Drake was sympathetic.

"Billy ran almost the perfect race," Drake said. "He deserves to be in nationals, but it probably won't work out."

► VOLLEYBALL

Wildcats' tournament hopes die

There will be no royal purple and white at the Big Eight volleyball postseason

K-State lost to Oklahoma Saturday and watched its hopes of traveling to Omaha, Neb., for the Big Eight Tournament slip away. K-State lost in three sets, 15-12, 15-5 and

With the loss, K-State fell to 14-11 overall and 3-7 in Big Eight play while Oklahoma improved to 16-13 on the year and 5-6 in the

The difference appeared to be the hitting percentage in the match.

K-State hit .089 for the match, while Oklahoma fired at will with a .417 average.

Yolanda Young, Jill Dugan and Kate DeClerk led the Cats' offense with nine kills

Freshman setter Devon Ryning, who has missed the last three weeks of play suffering from mononucleosis, played for the Cats and dished out 33 assists.

The top four teams in the conference, Colorado, Iowa State, Oklahoma and unbeaten Nebraska, will play for the Big Eight Championship Nov. 25-26.

Monday

Lecture by Stan Wagon *Problem Addiction" - 4:30 p.m. in Cardwell 131.

Nothing is going on. Stay at Slaughterhouse-Five" - 8 p.m. in Union Forum Hall.

NOVEMBER 14, 1994

▶ CROSSWORD EUGENE SHEFFER ACROSS 2 Pitch borough cludes 19 Desire 1 Greek classic 3 Pub 20 Schlepp 21 Semite 34 Layer potation 35 Bedazzle 5 Eccentric 4 Does a 36 Counterfeit 37 Decapitate 8 Child's 22 Floss play 12 Spacious Winkle structure 40 Enemy 5 Spheres 23 Gourd 6 Through indoor 41 Commen-25 Alter the tators' page 7 Concerned 14 British 42 Bowl money occupants only with allotments servative 47 Member-26 Exchange 15 Packers' present premium 48 Ribless 8 Mono 27 Adoleshome 16 Malefic 49 Leander's alternacent 17 Asner and 29 Bristle Begley 18 Vehement 50 Dance 9 PBS 31 Have a go at 33 Did, once science 51 Insult or show speech 10 Saharan 20 Light 34 Robberies rebuff DOWN 36 Space-11 Journalist sources 23 Speck 1 Quiche Ernie 24 "Exodus" 13 Conbase compart-Solution time: 25 min. author ments 25 Revolu-37 "Nonsense!' invader 38 Duel tool 28 Guy's 39 Perceive 40 Dud 29 Mysteri-43 Guadala jara goose 44 Ending for Psalms 45 Depot: 30 Appre-32 Gains-Yesterday's answer 11-12

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

STUMPED? For answers to today's crossword, call 1-900-454-6873 | 99¢ per minute, touchtone / rotary phones. (18+ only.) A King Features service, NYC. CRYPTOQUIP

XAEJSK XEJZEA

CET EPAEZL

M P R Z T M C K T R E L A M S .

Saturday's Cryptoquip: AT POSH BEACH CLUB POOL, INSTRUCTOR AND HIS STUDENTS ALWAYS GOT ALONG SWIMMINGLY.

Today's Cryptoquip clue: C equals W

THE FAR SIDE

GARY LARSON

► MIGRAINE KELLY CAMPBELL/COLLEGIAN

The answer to Friday's Migraine is the PowerCat logo.

► CALVIN AND HOBBES

TAKING MESSAGES

BILL WATTERSON

▶ FOXTROT

BILL AMEND MOM, IS IT OK IF I STAY OVER ACTUALLY, I YOU HAVEN'T FINISHED MEANT FOR WEEK?? OPENS PROMISED YOU'D HELP WITH DINNER ...

Penis fits your size; like it for what it is

Duveaux

Dear Cassandra,

I know you get a lot of false letters, but I've got a serious one for you that you may have to do some research on.

I have seen advertisements in magazines that claim you can increase your penis size by using creams or by using suction devices.

My question to you is, are they true? Can a male honestly increase his penis size if he is not happy with it, or are they a hoax to get you to waste your

And second, what determines your penis size, and what is an adequate length?

Sincerely, Penis Envee  Dear Penis Envee,

There is no set size on what an adequate penis length is. It's like a shoe size; your feet should fit the size of the rest of your body. You'd look idiotic if you were 5 foot 4 inches with an 11 shoe-size. Well, the same applies if you're 5 foot 4 inches with a 7-inch penis. Your build determines your size. For example, if you're a smaller guy, you'll probably have a smaller penis, but anything else would look awkward.

As far as creams go, there's no product available that will increase your penis size. Don't try to change your body because society stresses "the bigger the better." Women will be happy with whatever size you were given, and you should be, too.

Vampire movie morbid, gory

TRENT FRAGER

Immortality. A taste for blood. The way of the Director Neil Jordan ("The Crying Game") explores the darkest villain of them all in "Interview with the Vampire," adapted from Anne Rice's popular novel.

Brad Pitt is Louis, a 230-year-old vampire who has agreed to tell his story to an inquisitive writer

In this interview, Louis reveals his climactic socialization into the world of the bloodthirsty, a tale that spans 200 years.

Tom Cruise plays Lestat, Louis' more experienced creator and mentor, who introduces him to immortality and the proper way to strike with a fatal bite.

Reluctant to humans, Louis needs further encouragement, and Lestat is honored to offer his counsel.

"God kills indiscriminately," Lestat tells Louis, "and so shall we." The Friday-Sunday - 7:15, 10 p.m. Saturday-Sunday — 1:15, 4:15 p.m. Monday-Thursday — 7:30 p.m. "adopt" a young orphan named Claudia (Kirsten Dunst). Lestat gives her immortality, and Louis 2610 Farm Bureau Road.

'VAMPIRE' SHOWTIMES

***1/2

'Interview with the Vampire"

Rated R

Now showing at Seth Child Cinema,

develops a father-daughter relationship with her. But Claudia will only mature as a vampire, never becoming a woman. Her rage is explosive after the revelation is made to her, temporarily hindering her fondness for Louis and permanently augmenting her disgust for Lestat.

This pits vampire vs. vampire, and each is determined to emerge victorious.

"Interview with the Vampire" is forgivingly morbid and gory. The story is engaging, and the visual elements are superb.

Lestat is menacing only because of his understood wickedness and the uncompromising quality of the make-up and costume design used, not so much because of Cruise's so-so performance in a preordained challenging role.

On the other hand, Pitt is the glue of this film's holes. He is stunningly focused in a role that seems to have been made for him. He is young, naive and compassionate. You see the fear, anger and love in his expressive face throughout the pivots of the

It is Dunst, however, who steals the show. A lot of superfluous chit-chat occurred as a result of the changing of Claudia's age from a small child in the novel to a preteen in the film.

Be this as it may, Claudia's profound frustration is very much central to the heart of this story, and Dunst is responsible for the intrigue. It is intoxicating to watch her acquire a taste for blood and the capacity to become dangerous.

This film is a frightening, elaborate visual masterpiece. The storyline is fresh and exciting, and, for the most part, the acting is consistent with each actor's potential.

"Interview with the Vampire" is sure to impress you if you can stand the blood.

AUDITIONS

Open Auditions For

THE DINING ROOM

7 p.m., November 14 and 15 at Manhattan Arts Center 1520 Poyntz

> Parts for 3 men & 3 women Performance dates: February 3-5 and 9-12 (Rehearsals start December 26)

For information call David Smit, director, at 532-6716 or MCT office at 776-8591

Manhattan Civic Theatre

VIOLENCE

in the Work Place

How Safe is Your Work Place?

Supervisors and employees in every job setting need to know the signs of impending violence and be prepared to de-escalate a threatening situation. At this seminar you will find out how the safety of your business or agency can be improved by management's approach, interviewing, screening, and firing procedures, and violence prevention/intervention teams.

Plan to attend Violence in the Work Place on November 16, 6 to 9 p.m., at Houston Street Ballroom, 427 Houston. The cost is $21.* (*Members of Manhattan Personnel Association may attend at no cost.) Three hours credit for some helping professionals. Please pre-register. For information call 587-4326.

Angela G. Hayes, M.S., Coordinator, Business Consultation Resources and Employee Assistance Program Plus Panel: Psychologist, Attorney, Police Officer

> Sponsored by Pawnee Mental Health Services Manhattan Personnel Association

► HAZARDOUS WASTE

Better solutions for control of waste disposal needed

KIMBERLY WISHART

The United States is guilty.

The United States, along with other developed countries like Germany, Switzerland and Japan, are guilty of exporting their hazardous wastes to less developed countries.

This problem of international traffic in hazardous wastes is the topic Scott Frey, associate sociology. professor in anthropology and social work, has expanded on in a paper he has written for the Journal of Environmental Systems.

In Frey's paper, which will be published this month, he defined hazardous waste as a waste possessing chemical, physical or biological characteristics that threaten the environment of human

"The overall scope and assessment of the nature of the problem is lacking," Frey said. "There is not a lot known about the because there were really no government groups that concentrated on exporting hazardous wastes.

"Greenpeace tries to track the export of hazardous wastes, but there is no well-orchestrated tracking system," Frey said.

He said he found that from 1986 to 1990, Greenpeace claimed that 3 million tons of hazardous wastes, like dioxin-laced incinerator ash and nuclear wastes. PCBs, acids, sludge, used batteries and paint solvents, flowed to the less-developed countries.

"When we say hazardous wastes, this also includes pesticides, tobacco and hazardous production processes," Frey said.

Frey said the developed countries think they have found the solution to their hazardous wastes by shipping it to the lessdeveloped countries, which accept the waste in trade for money.

Stan Grant, associate director at the Center for Hazardous

Frey said this was in part Substance Research, said international trafficking of hazardous waste has risen to a substantial degree.

> "Once it's out of our hands, we view it as no longer our responsibility," Grant said. "We put it in the hands of less scrupulous countries who take it to get hard currency."

He said these industrialized countries sell their hazardous wastes by advertising the material as something the country may be

"It's not sufficient. They're buying a substandard product," Grant said. "They may just dig a hole and bury it because they don't care whether it's in their ground water or streams. They're making

Solutions to help reduce the effect of hazardous wastes exported have not been very effective.

"We need to outlaw the export of hazardous wastes," Frey said. Some of the other proposed INTERNATIONAL HAZARDOUS WASTE SITÉS nuclear waste from the United States, Austria. Switzerland and W Sermany in the Gobi Desert, China. Lebanon. Ils in Mexico. Koko, Nigeria Sudan Aozambique.

actions in Frey's paper include efforts to implement production, establish restrictions on exports and disseminate appropriate information about hazardous wastes to receiving countries.

"Some people refer to this issue as the export of death," Frey said.

"The problem is so pervasive that an individual cannot change the amount of hazardous wastes

TRISHA BENNINGA/Colle

► LEADERSHIP WEEK

Diversity skills important to leadership

Alumnus urges students to embrace diversity

CORI CORNELISON

A K-State all-America track athlete and alumnus returned to Manhattan Friday to urge students to embrace diversity and become.

James Heggie, director of the office of campus diversity at the University of Texas-Houston, gave the final speech of Leadership Week, sponsored by the Blue Key senior honorary.

was about His speech transforming leadership skills from university to career by incorporating diversity.

Heggie said diversity is a challenge everyone embarks on

"There's diversity up the street and down the street," he said.

Heggie said one solution to creating a more diverse environment is leadership.

"Everyone is born to lead, but one must become a leader," he said. Participation is a key part of transferring skills of diversity and preparing one's self to become a leader, Heggie said. "The most important ingredient for leadership is inspiration," he said. "Inspiration is opposite of intimidation.' Heggie said students should network with other students, teachers and organizations that are dissimilar to themselves to become "Sometimes, students' issues and concerns aren't the issues of the faculty," he said. Leadership and growth comes into effect when these issues arise, Heggie said. He said he is still growing at the

"I feel I personally grew up and developed here (at K-State)," he Heggie said K-State gave him numerous opportunities, and he thanks the many people who were instrumental in his achievements.

"It's a pleasure, but it's an honor to come back to the city of purple and white - K-State," he said. "I owe K-State, and I hope this isn't my last opportunity to say something nice about K-State."

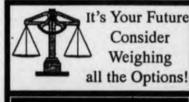

Jake McCanless, senior in human resource management, said he was interested in the diversity and affirmative action that Heggie spoke about.

"They're all important issues I'm real interested in," McCanless

Paula Ansay, co-director of Leadership Week, said Blue Key talked with various administrators on campus for advice before deciding on the speakers for Leadership Week.

Heggie was someone Blue Key wanted to speak because he had a lot of experience with leadership, Ansay said.

Presidents College School of Law

Call or write for a FREE catalog and admission material.

115 South Glendale • Suite 208 Wichita, Kansas 67218 (316)682-0000

If you

LCO Advantage

EVERY TUESDAY!

SECOND SET OF PRINTS

Receive a second set of 3" prints FREE with any exposure roll of 35mm, disc, 110 or 126 color print film left for developing and printing at our everyday prices! C-41 process only. Exludes larger 4" size prints and photo galaxy.

Daily 9 to 9, Sunday 11 to 6 • 3007 Anderson Ave.

Advertise in the Collegian

532-6560

CLOSED CLASS LIST

00110													20120
00110	03430	06010	08560	10320	13550	15100	18290	20970	23630	25280	30130	32850	35180
00150	03460	06020	08580	10330	13560	15120	18300	21000	23660	25300	30150	32870	35190
00200	03470	06130C	08600	10340	13790	15140	18320	21040	23670	25320	30160	32880	35250
00220	03480	06140	08610	10360	13820	15180	18330	21050	23680	25350	30210	32900	35260
00450	03591	06150	08630	10380	13840	15240	18340	21060	23690	25360	30310	32910	35290
00550	03592	06160	08680	10400	13930	15290	18370	21080	23710	25400	30320	32920	35310
00680	03630	06170	08690	10410	13950	15350	18380	21110	23760	25410	30330	32930	35350
00840	03700	06290	08710	10530	13960	15390	18500	21120	23770	25430	30340	32940	35500
01000	03720	06310	08720	10540	13980	15400	19140	21130	23890	25440	30360	32950	35530
01030	03740	06320	08760	10640	13990	15420	19150	21190	23900	25450	30370	32980	35570
01060	03780	06330	08780	10650	14000	15450	19160	21230	23910	25470	30380	32990	35640
01070	03810	06340	09120	10660	14010	15480	19170	21450	23920	25611	30400	33000	35742
01150	03820	06380	09130	10670	14020	15490	19180	21460	23930	25630C	30430	33100	35760
01230	04290	06390	09410	10680	14050	15570	19200	21510	23940	25640	30480	33120	35790
01250	04490	06420	09870	10690	14070	15650	19210	21590	23950	25650	30490	33140	35950
01360	04660	06620	09880	10700	14100	15660	19220	21620	23960	25670	30520	33150	35960
01370	04760	06970	09890	10710	14110	15670	19230	21680	23970	25680	30540	33170	35990
01770	04770	06980	09900	10720	14170	15680	19240	21690	23980	25700	30590	33180	36050
01900	04840	07000	09910	10730	14190	15690	19250	21730	24010	25720	30600	33190	36060
01920	05050	07010	09920	10740	14250	15700	19260	21770	24020	25750	30630	33200	36180
01930	05300	07020	09930	10760	14260	15750	19270	21850	24080	25770	30910	33210	36190
01940	05320	07030	09940	10800	14270C	15760	19320	21890	24090	25800	30920	33230	36240
01970	05330	07040	09950	10830	14280C	15830	19340	21910	24100	25820	30930	33260	36280
01980	05390	07060	09960	10840	14360	15860	19350	21920	24130	26800	30940	33270	36420
01990 -	05450	07070	09970	10850	14370	15900	19400	22030	24530	26810	30960	33340	36440
02280	05460	07080	09980	10860	14380	15960	19460	22070	24540	26820	30980	33350	36460
02300	05470	07090	09990	10870	14390	15980	19480	22080	24550	26830	31000	33380	36480
02350	05480	07100	10000	11021	14400	16070	19580	22090	24560	26840	31030	33450	36590
02450	05490	07130	10010	11520	14440	16210	19590	22100	24570	27190	31110	33570	36770
02500	05500	07200	10020	11530	14450	16310	19600	22110	24580	27200	31120	34070	36960
02600	05510	07210	10030	11560	14460	16500	19640	22190	24590	27210	31150	34190	36970
02620	05520	07220	10040	11740	14590	16560	19650	22210	24600	27220	31160	34200	37190
02670	05530	07230	10050	11750	14640	16800	19660	22230	24630	28000	31180	34230	37230
02700C	05540	07240	10060	12061	14700	16820	19670	22390	24650	28010	31190	34270	37250
02710	05570	07250	10070	12330	14760	16830	19680	22430	24660	28050	31220	34310	37300
02730	05580	07260	10080	12370	14840	16860	19690	22440	24670	28090	31240	34330	37920
02930	05590	07310	10090	12380	14860	16960	19710	22450	24720	28150	31270	34340	38340
02940	05600	07320	10100	12440	14870	16990	19740	22490	24730	28160	31280	34390	80230
02950	05610	07330	10110	12450	14880	17010	19750	22540	24740	28170	31570	34420	80920
02960	05640	07360	10120	12830	14890	17020	19760	22550	24800	28180	31580	34430
02970	05650	07390	10130	12850	14900	17050	19770	22840	24870	28190	31590	34440	82270
02980	05670	07410	10140	12870	14910	17060	19800	23210	24880	28270	31600	34450
02990	05690	07450	10150	13310	14920	17070	19810	23280	24890	28300	31630
03000	05710	07480	10160	13320	14950	17080	19820	23290	24910	28340		34460
03010	05740	07620	10170	13330	14960	17110	19830	23300	24970	28390	31640	34470
03020	05760	07770	10180	13360	14970	17130	19840	23310	25130		31660	34520
03030	05780	07790	10190	13370	14990	17200	19850			28420	31670	34530
03040	05790	07940	10240	13380	15000	17220	19900	23350 23360	25150	28560	31690	34540
03050	05800	08160	10250	13400	15010	17450	20160		25170	28730	31700	34560
03060	05810	08170	10260	13410	15020			23370	25180	28740	31870	34570
03210	05820	08220	10270	13420	15030	17550	20170	23400	25200	28780	32210	34571
03250	05830	08270	10270	13430	15040	17670	20180	23440	25210	28790	32730	34572
03280	05940	08350	10280	13450	15050	17770	20280	23570	25220	29010	32750	34573
03280	05940	08330	10290	13430	15050	17880	20290	23580	25230	30060	32780	34574

C - Canceled class

Updated 5:16 PM, November 11, 1994

*Closed class list also available in Unicorn

canned goods, toiletries, or household products, to the

homeless through the

Collegian, you will receive

THANKS

and $1 off any classified ad in the Collegian through the end

of December.

Contributions go to Manhattan Emergency Shelter and Flint Hills Breadbasket

Bring items to the Student Publications Inc. office in Kedzie 103

LASSIFIEDS

ANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

1 DAY 20 words or less - $5 each word over 20 - $.20 per word

2 DAYS 20 words or less - $6.25 each word over 20 - $.25 per word 3 DAYS 20 words or less - $7.25

each word over 20 - $.30 per word 4 DAYS 20 words or less - $8 each word over 20 - $.35 per word

5 DAYS 20 words or less — $8.50 each word over 20 — $.40 per word (consecutive day rate)

HOW TO PAY All classifieds must be peid in advan-unless you have an established accou-with Student Publications. Cash, check, MasterCard or Vise are d. There is a $10 service charge

We reserve the right to edit, reject or properly classify any ad.

HEADLINES

For an extra charge, we'll put a needline above your ad to catch the needer's attention.

DEADLINES

Classified ade must be placed by noon the day before the date you wan your ad to run. Classified display ade must be placed by 4 p.m. two working days prior to the date you want your a to run.

FREE FOUND ADS

CANCELLATIONS

If you self your item before your ad has expired, we will refund you for the remaining days.

You must call us before noon the day the ad is to be published.

CORRECTIONS'

If you find an error in your ad, p call us. We accept responsibility of for the first wrong insertion.

Call 532-6555 to place your classified.

GET THE WORD O

532-6555 FAX 532-7309 OR WRITE COLLEGIAN CLASSIFIEDS K-State Collegi Kedzie Hall 103

OFFICE HOURS 8 a.m.-5 p.m. (Except holidays)

BOARD

Announcements

Earn $15 each time you donate

plasma.

MANHATTAN BIOMEDICAL CENTER 1130 Gardenway 776-9177

.-Fri. 9 a.m.-6:30 p.m., Sat. 9 a.m.-2 p.m.

ADVANCED FLIGHT Train-ing from 5000-hour ATP instructor. Private single-engine through ATP multi-engine. Hugh Irvin, 539-3128.

COME FLY with us, K-State Flying Club has five air-planes. For best prices call Troy Brockway, 776-6735 after 5:30p.m.

VISUALIZATION WORKSHOP

SATURDAY, NOV. 19 10 AM - 12:30 P.M.

HEALTH AND HARMONY PATHWAYS 537-8946

Parties-n-More

ADD A splash to your next bash. Great anytime. Birthdays, mid-terms and Wildcat victory par-ties. Wet-N-Wild Mobile Hot Tubs, 537-1825.

ADD AN extra touch of class to your next par-ty. Call Wayne's Water Party to rent a portable hot tub 537-7587,

REAL ESTATE

For Rent-

Apts. Furnished

AVAILABLE FALL very nice one, two, three and four-bedroom apartment complexes and houses. Excellent loca-tions with great prices. 537–1666, 537–2919.

JAN. 1. One-bedrooms in complexes $280- $300. No pets, lease required

ONE-BEDROOM APART-MENT. Close to cam-pus. Available January 95. Hot water and heat-ing free. Rent $230. Call Sebastian, 539–3048.

QUIET SURROUNDINGS for study. Campus one mile, one-bedroom, some utilities paid. Min-imum seven month lease, no pets. 537-8389.

Apt. Unfurnished

AVAILABLE FALL very nic one, two, three and four-bedroom apart-

ent complexes and

ONE-BEDROOM AVAIL-ABLE January. Nice, quiet for study. Next to laundry, pool area. Campus one mile. $330/ month, 537–4821.

ONE-BEDROOMS AVAIL-ABLE at 1026 Sunset. $385- $395. Remodeled units. Central air/ heat. Laundry facilities. Three blocks west of campus 776-3804.

houses. Excellent locations with great prices. 537-1666, 537-2919.

AILABLE JAN. 1. Close

**** CAMBRIDGE SQ. APT. 2 BEDROOMS *FIREPLACE *POOL 537-9064 WEEKDAYS

For Rent-Houses

NON-DRINKER AND

9:00-4:30

Roommate

Wanted AVAILABLE JANUARY.
Male non-smoking roommate. $175/

month plus one-third utilities. Large bed-room, laundry, pool. Close to campus. Call 776-6401.

FEMALE LOOKING for bedroom apartment at Woodway. Call 776-4901 leave mes-

FEMALE ROOMMATE beginning in January; right across the street from campus; share with two very nice girls; please call Rebecca beten 5-6p.m. 587-8430.

FEMALE ROOMMATE needed for spring se-mester. Two-bedroom apartment one block from campus. $215/ month. 587-9431, leave message.

FEMALE ROOMMATE to share two-bedroom trailer, available mid-December, $140/ month plus utilities, water and trash paid. 587-1915.

ROOMMATE FEMALE wanted to share two-bedroom apart-ment. Close to campus and Aggieville. Rent $220 but negotiable, one-half utilities (nonsmoker). Available Dec. 15. Call 587-8618.

ROOMMATE: FEMALE three blocks from cam-pus, furnished, dish-washer. $210 plus half utilities. Call 776-3445 or 587-9597.

FOR RENT at Chase Manhattan Apartments, ground level, furnished apartment. Share with three males $200/ month plus utilities. (913)742-2743 after

LARGE, BRICK, four-bed-room home is losing a female roommate. Needed- female to sublease spring semester. Washer/ dryer, all furnished except bed-room. Great environment, near campus Call 532-9015 for ap-

NON-SMOKER, SHARE house, utilities with re-sponsible mostly male household. Large bed-room, laundry, $160. Available Nov. 15. 539-2468. Keep trying.

CONDITIONS ample parking. Walk to campus and Aggieville. Male student to share large two-bedroom apartment. Begin any-time from now to Jan. 15. $190. 776-3624.

WANTED NON-SMOKING and non-drinking room-mate for basement fur-nished private bed-room. Walk to KSU. $150. Share utilities. 539–1554.

WANTED ROOMMATES to share nice four-bed-room house for spring and/ or fall '95 semesters call Shauna (776-3130).

NLABLE JAN. 1. Close to campus. One-bed-room apartment and four— five-bedroom house. Both very nice. With air conditioner. No pets. Leave mes-sage. 539-4641. Sublease ARE YOUR roommates annoying? Well, I love mine, but I'm graduating in Dec. and I need someone to take over my room. $160/ month. Across from Union, some bills paid. 587-0431. Females only.

AVAILABLE JANUARY 1. Very nice one-bedroom apartment, in quiet neighborhood. $315 a month, inexpensive bills. Call 776-5941. FOR SPRING semesteravailable end of Dec. One-bedroom apart-ment, two blocks from campus. Call 537-4768.

NICE, CLEAN, two-bedroom apartment, two-blocks from campus and close to aggieville. Available after Dec. 19. Call 776-1324.

NICE. SPACIOUS, one-bedroom, available spring semester; across from campus; two balconies, new kitchen appliance

ONE ROOM for rent in large, beautiful, seven-bedroom home; $150/ month plus one-sev-enth utilities; kitchen and laundry available; four blocks from campus; January 1 to May 31 sublease available; 537-2497— ask for Russ or leave message

SUBLEASE A large one bedroom apartment. Starting Dec. 15. Call now 'til midnight 587-8099. Two blocks

SUBLEASE STARTING Jan. 1. One-bedroom apartment in 12-plex on College Heights two blocks from campus. Call 587-9276.

THREE-REDROOM, ONE and one-half bath apart-ment. Two blocks from campus, $220, mostly furnished. Move in after finals or Jan. 1. 776-0293 o

TWO-BEDROOM, CLOSE to City Park/ campus/ Aggieville; washer/ dry er; furnished. Available Jan. 1. 587-8709.

776-7004 leave mes

DIRECTORY

Resume/

Typing

BRING YOUR papers, resumes, and projects to life at The Computer Help Desk. Top- quality printing, with graphics if desired. Great stuff at great prices! Call 537-3018.

WELL EXPERIENCED typist by day would like typing at night. Laser printing. Call Judy 539-7100 or 456-9642.

Pregnancy Testing

Pregnancy Testing Center 539-3338

·Free pregnancy testing

Totally confidential

·Same day results ·Call for appointment

Located across from campus in Anderson Village

Mon.-Fri. 9 a.m.-5 p.m.

250 Automotive

Repair NISSAN- DATSUN Repair Service. 22 years ex-perience. Mazdas, Hondas and Toyotas also. Auto Craft, 2612 Dipper Lane, Manhattan, Kan-sas. 537-5049. 8a.m.-5p.m. Mon.- Fri.

Other Services

255

PROMPT CONTRACEPTIVE and abortion services. Dale L. Clinton, M.D., (913)841-5716.

EMPLOYMENT/ CAREERS

Help Wanted

$1500 WEEKLY possible mailing our circulars!
No experience required! Begin Now! For information call (202)298-8957.

ALASKA EMPLOYMENT-Fishing Industry. Earn up to $3000- $6000 plus per month. Room and Boardl Transporta-tion! Male/ female. No experience necessary! (206)545-4155 ext. A57682

AMATURE PHOTOGRA-PHER, with decent equipment needed for wedding ceremony on Dec. 3, 1994. Price ne-gotible. Call Robert at 587-0845.

ATTENTION STUDENTS: Earn extra cash stuffing envelopes at home. All materials provided. Send SASE to Central Distributors P.O. Box 10075, Olathe, KS 66051. Immediate re-

CERTIFIED AEROBIC/ Step Instructor wanted. Call Mary Lou at 537–9227 or 776–1654.

COMPUTER NETWORK
ADMINISTRATOR: parttime student position, mostly regular sched uled hours with some emergency trou-bleshooting hours. Re-sponsible for overseeing 55-computer Macin-tosh network, including hardware maintenance, software backups, and records maintenance Should be familiar with Macintosh operating systems 6 and 7. Client server networking for an ethernet network. TCP/IP experience a plus. Salary negotiable based on experience. in 113 or 103 Kedzie. Application deadline is noon on Tuesday, Nov. 22.

CRUISE SHIPS NOW HIRING. Earn up to $2000 plus/ month working on Cruise Ships or Land-Tour companies. World trav-el (Hawaii, Mexico, the Caribban et al. See Caribbean, etc.) Sea-sonal and full-time em-ployment available. No experience necessary. For more information call (206)634-0468 ext.

MACINTOSH BLESHOOTER: time student position, mostly regular sched-uled hours with possi-ble emergency hours. Assists in overseeing 55-computer Macintosh network, including hardware and software troubleshooting and general maintenance Should be familiar with Macintosh operating systems 6 and 7. Minimum wage to start. Pick up an applications at 113 or 103 Kedzie. Application deadline is noon on Tues., Nov. 22.

MALE MODELS up to $50 an hour for photography work. Send photo and description to P.O. Box 113 Salina, KS 67402-0113.

NATIONAL
JOBS- Over 25,000
openings! (including
hotel staff, tour guides, etc.) Benefits plus bonuses! Apply now for best positions. Call:
(206)545-4804 ext.
N57681

NEED A sitter, three times weekly, M, T, F. Must work hard and not be meekly. Cook our din-ner, imop our floors watch our boys and do some chores. Want to hear some more you say, call this number right away. Reliable transportation needed. Call 539-8016 evenings.

RESIDENTIAL ASSISTANT: Part-time position avail-able for a five bed male residential facility for the severe and persist-ent mentally ill. Duties include monitoring su-pervision of daily living skills, and planning su-pervising recreational activities. Must be available to attend a team staff meeting weekly. Contact the Community Support Program Su-pervisor at Pawnee Mental Health Services, Phone: 587–43333. EOE.

SKI RESORT JOBS! Ever wanted to work in the Rockies? For fun and adventure call Ski-Ve-nure (619)683-2300.

STUDENT WORKER- Typ-ing, filing and related business office duties; dBase and/ or word processing experience helpful. 15- 20 hours week during school, 30– 40 hours during sum-mer. Apply to Carol, Ex-tension Business and Finance, 121 Umberger through 11/17/94.

STUDENTS! WORK even-ings now until Christ-mas break. Four hours/ night, M- F, $5.50/ hour. and up. Need good strong phone voice. De-pendable. Randy or Pam 539-2121.

COLLEGE GRADUATES

do the same."

dynamic,

enthusiastic,

money motivated individuals to represent a progressive

Marketing and Training

Company,

creating a global change.

Serious Inquiries

'I drive a Jaguar, earned $4,000 Items for Sale in my second month and am FOR SALE: Acoustic guitar, new $150, or best offer. Stair Stepper, $50. Very old computer, $50, or best offer. Call helping professionals best 0 587-0431. across the country

Interviewing for SMALL DEEP freeze for sale. 12.0 cubic foot upright for $150. Great to store meat from home! Call 537-4667 after 5p.m.

THRUSTMASTER STICK and WCS, $75 each. Car amplifiers, 90WXZ, $180, 45WXZ, $120 776-8923.

Only. Buy/Sell Call for Appointment (913)

SUMMER JOBS OUT-DOORS Over 10,000 openings! National Parks, Forests, Fire Crews. Send stamp for free details. Sullivan's 113 East Wyoming, Ka-lispell, MT 59901.

776-7975.

TECHNICAL SUPPORT position available for K-

15 year old girl during off season, Nov.- Jan. at two hours per week, $5/ hour. 776-2155.

Rusinass Opportunities

INDEPENDENT telecom munications representa-tive looking for individuals interested in earn ventory. Operate out of home or dorm room. If interested call 1-238-7871. Leave name, phone number and ad-

MAKE $3900 first Needs managers, sales reps, trainers. Small investment required. Training provided. Call Jeaneane (800)977-6836

MARKET

Wanted to Buy CHRISTMAS CASH? We buy used Air Jordans 85- 91 editions and late 70's and early 80's. Nike runninng shoes, pay up to $200! 1-800-873-3538

WHITE WICKER furniture wanted. Don't store it for the winter. Let's deal! Call 537-4667

MICROWAVE, DESK, 12speed women's bike. three bar stools, free standing kitchen cabi-net, student acoustic guitar. Best offer. 537-

MOTORCYCLE HELMET and cover, both like new. Call after 5p.m. 537-2342.

Maul and Geeb Empori-um, 6000 square feet,

Furniture to

FOR SALE: Queen set Restonic mattress, founda-tion, steel bed frame, used one year. $350, 776-2433.

Antiques

TIME MACHINE Antique

State student with a variety of skills. Must have good interperson-al problem solving skills. Experience with PC's and popular soft-ware packages such as WordPerfect, Quattro-Pro and Windows appli-cations desired. Must have understanding of MS-DOS and Windows. Network experience helpful. Tasks include mail list conversions and operating high-tech mail equipment. Applications available accepted through Nov. 15, 1994 in 211 Umberg estate jewelry, furni-ture, 4910 Skyway Dr. four blocks east of Manhattan Airport. Open Tues.- Sat. 12- 6p.m. 539-4684.

VOLLEYBALL COACH for

WANTED: WORK-STUDY student for office du-ties, 10- 12 hours/ week. Apply at the In-dustrial and Manufacturing Systems Engi-neering office, 206 Dur-land before Nov. 23.

Computers

HARDWARE FOR sale: Soundblaster, game-blaster, 5.25-inch high density, floppy disk drive. Call 776-7763.

IBM COMPATABLE computer with color monitor, keyboard, printer and software. Great for pa-pers. $400 or best offer. Contact Mike at 587-0269.

LAPTOP COMPUTER, Pack-ard Bell 386, 80 hard drive, many extras. Call (913)263-1597.

MACINTOSH COMPUT-ER. Complete system including printer only $500. Call Chris at (800)289-5685.

Food Specials

CHINESE CARRAGE, orien tal radishes, greens, hot peppers, spinach, peanuts, squash, sweet pototoes. Barbara's Market. Juliette and Fort Riley Blvd. 539-1414.

Pets and Supplies

SNAKE- BOA three feet long with big cage. $140, Dave 539-0169.

455 Sporting Equipment

Tickets to

Buy/Sell SALE: Student basket-ball tickets; $70. Call 537-8938. Leave mesyears old, all attach-ments. Excellent condition. Call 539-4680

PORTATION

TRANS-

Automobiles 1979 DATSUN 210, 100K miles, automatic de-pendable. $750, or best offer. 537-3219.

1984 F250 XLT Supercab, four-speed diesel, one owner, $4500 owner, (316)896–2856. 1984 TOYOTA Tercel, two-door. Air conditioner, AM/FM, excellent condi-tion 106K miles. Call Bhavani 587-9584 or Chandran 537-0677. 1985 FORD Tempo. Great school car! I must sell before UNLV game (11/26/94). $850 or best offer! 587-8817. 1988 TOYOTA 4-runner air conditioned/ AM/FM cassette, cruise, $8700 or best offer. H-1-(913)935-2593, W-

1989 TOYOTA Camry LE, silver, sparkling new, very clean. 51K miles, excellent condition, sin-gle owner. 537-8689. 1991 NISSAN NX 2000. Burgundy color, five-speed manual transmis-sion. AM/FM stereo cassette, fog lights, rear window wiper/ defog-ger, T-top extractable sunroof with remov-able sun shields. 51,000 miles (military and home, Georgia, travel). Owner is PCSing to Ko-rea. Price $8000. rea. Price 776-1082. OLDSMOBILE 2 OLDSMOBILE Achieva five-speed, tape, locks, wheels $7500 or best offer. (316)665-3723 nights.

FOR SALE: 1980 CJ7 4x4 six cylinder, auto, hard-top, $1800 or best offer

ST SELL Buick Regal, 305 V-8, automatic transmission, air conditioned, two-door or 1982 Buick Park Avenue, 5.7 diesel, automatic transmis sion, air conditioned, new tires. 532-1536 ask for Ken, after 5p.m. call (913)499-5335.

Motorcycles

1989 KAWASAKI Ninja 600R, good condition. 14K miles $2400 or best

TRAVEL/

Tour Packages

BRIVE YOURSELF & SAVE!

SOUTH PADRE ISLAND PANAMA CITY BEACH DAYTONA BEACH KEY WEST

VAIL/BEAVER CREEK 1-800-SUNCHASE

STEAMBOAT

~~~~~~ GET THE WORD OUT.

532-6555

ADVERTISING PRODUCTION Publication Practice

IMC 360 Class size is limited so sign up now. Get training and gain experience while earning one hour of credit this spring. Attend class one day a week from 8:30-apply for a paid position in the summer or fall. Come to 113 Kedzle 8 a.m.-4 p.m.

for more information and syllabus.

11:30 a.m. You pick the day of the week based on

The experience you gain in the spring would qualify you to availability. The instructor's permission is required.

CLASSIFIED DIRECTORY

buyers if they are looking at something in their price range

TIPS FOR WRITING A

CLASSIFIED AD Always put what item or service you To help you find what you are are advertising first. This helps potential looking for, the classified ads buyers find what they are looking for. Don't use abbreviations. Many buyers are confused by abbreviations. Consider including the price. This tells have been arranged by category and sub-category. All categories are marked by one of the large images, and sub-categories are preceded by a number designation

CATEGORIES

WE DO NOT USE PHONE NUMBERS OR LAST NAMES IN PERSONALS.

K-State still adjusting with new system

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 6

discourage Coach Asbury.

"I'm not discouraged," Asbury said.

"We're fine — we're on schedule.

"It is so early, and we are just so new. This exhibition play, though, is a time for experimenting and testing a lot of different lineups, so in a game like this, we are looking for everything. We look for offense, defense, the press and who can compete."

Among those who did compete in Friday's game were Noland, who led all scorers with 22 points, and Demond Davis, who added 13.

Also finishing in double figures was Stanley Hamilton, who had 10 points on the night. Rounding out the scorers were Kevin Lewis and Mark Young, with nine points apiece, Elliot Hatcher with seven, Tyrone Davis with six, George Hill with four and Gavin with three. Hill and Tyrone Davis led the Cats on the defensive end, each with five rebounds in the game.

rebounds in the game.

So what did Coach Asbury learn from his first loss as a Wildcat? Plenty, he said.

"You learn more from playing a team like this than after winning in a blow-out like we did lost Tuesday." he said did last Tuesday," he said.

"We just need to improve in every area, but I'm pleased with all my players. They're all working hard, and they want to win. We will get better."

Student Senate opposes proposed use of rec complex

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

would state Senate's opposition to the use of the Chester E. Peters Recreation Complex by the employees of Cessna.

Usage of the Recreation Complex passed the Recreation Services board, but Mark Tomb, arts and sciences senator, and Trent LeDoux, agriculture senator, proposed a bill that would state Student Senate opposed the usage.

"The Rec is not a public gymnasium," Tomb said.

If Cessna were to locate here, employees could use the Recreation Center.

For a family of three, with an employee at Cessna, it would cost $76 a month to use the Rec Complex.

There was some debate about the makeup of the Recreation Services board

"The day the vote was taken, only one student was there," Tricia Nolfe, coordinator of student activities, said.

There are approximately seven students and six faculty members on the board.
"Well, who's fault was that?" Phil Anderson, faculty representative to student senate, said.

The bill was kept for second

Senate to debate committee's bill

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

At Sunday's meeting, the committee approved 10-4 a bill sponsored by Arts and Sciences Sen. Dan Lewerenz that calls for spending the $16,656 on three separate projects.

The first priority would be spending $7,500 on the Chester E. Peters campus-enhancement project that would include building benches and placing sculptures near the sundial located north of Farrell Library.

Secondly, the bill calls for $8,000 to be given to the Access the Future lobbying campaign. Access the Future is an effort to fight tuition increases and qualified admissions through a letter-writing campaign aimed at students' parents and the Kansas Legislatures.

Student Body President Jeff Peterson, who presented the proposal to the committee, said that for each dollar K-State puts toward Access the Future, an individual has promised to match that with 25 cents.

The third project in the bill is bike racks, in which $1,156 would go toward the new racks, including the racks, the base and lighting.

Any remaining money would be returned to the bike-rack project.

Lewerenz said he wanted to focus on the enhancement project because it is something all students can use, and the project could be finished between the fall and spring semester.

"In my opinion, I'm not elected to do what students want," Lewerenz said, "but to do what's in the best interest of the students."

During the three-hour meeting, Becca Korphage, arts and sciences senator, said she had a problem with the Student Governing Association paying for capital improvements on campus.

"Personally, I think the administration should pay for everything that's been laid out on the table," Korphage said. "I don't think any of it is our responsibility."

After the meeting, Soldner said the committee members can go to Thursday's Student Senate meeting and pass on some good information about the bill.

"We've looked at the future. We've looked at the students right now. We've looked at the cost," Soldner said. "We've examined these things pretty much to death, at least in our minds."

BECOME A STUDENT MARKETING MANAGER

Outgoing, goal-oriented student needed for marketing position. Learn management skills and marketing strategies while implementing oncampus promotions.

- ★ Excellent pay
- ★ Flexible hours
- ★ All work on campus
- ★ For the 1994-95 school year

For information, call Victoria at 1-800-487-2434 ext. 4116

THIS SPACE IS RESERVED

(for you!)

Collegian Advertising 532-6560

WARNING: Dialing Zero to Call Your Family Collect Can Be Hazardous to Their Wealth.

1-800-COLLECT

Dial it instead of "O" and save them up to 44%.

Kansas State Historical Society

'Mr. Dedication' retires

Kansas' extension dairyman is retiring after 42 years with K-State.

LOW

TUESDAY

WEATHER - PAGE 2

NOVEMBER 15, 1994

KANSAS STATE UNIVERSITY, MANHATTAN, KANSAS 66506

VOLUME 99B. NUMBER 61

► CAMPUS

Task force attempts to find solution

Students surveyed for possible answers to parking problem

SERA L. TANK

K-State is looking past administration and Student Senate to solve the increasingly frustrating parking

A task force, made to help solve the dilemma, mailed more than 1,000 surveys to randomly selected students, faculty and staff in hopes of finding some kind of solution.

There were four given solutions on the survey from which to choose: Restrict the sale of parking permits on the central campus, implement a limited shuttle service, construct a parking garage or do nothing.

Dwain Archer, director of parking services, said what will be done not only rests in the hands of the survey results, but also on the amount of money available.

"The determining factor is money. It may also be a deterrent in choosing some of the options," he said.

Darell Edie, parking council for the task force, said there are pluses and minuses to each of the solutions.

"Restrictive permit would definitely cut down on the number of parking permits we give out," he said

The down side of restrictive permits would be deciding who would be restricted from buying them, Edie

"The primary idea is to restrict those students who live within three blocks of campus from getting permits," he said.

Another problem in singling out those students who live within the three block radius is the tendency for students to change their residence frequently, Edie said.

"It's very difficult to track the living habitats of students because of students moving all the time," he said.

Edie also does not believe that restricting students who live nearby from buying parking permits will do much to solve the parking problem.

"There are only 550 students who live within the three or four block radius, and we have 2,500 more students with parking permits than we do parking stalls," he said.

The possibility of a shuttle service has the potential of becoming more than just a campus shuttle system, Edie said.

"It was my hope that the shuttle system could coordinate with the city of Manhattan," he said.

Edie said the plan for the shuttle would be for students to park their cars near Bramlage Coliseum and have the shuttle drive them to their

"The cost for students who use the system would decrease," he said.

On the negative side, Edie said the cost of some parking permits would increase from $160 the first year to $240 after five years.

■ See ALTERNATIVE Page 12

▶ OBITUARY

Former professor dies Monday

PRUDENCE SIEBERT

Floyd W. Smith Sr., former K-State professor and head of the agronomy department, died Monday morning at the St. Joseph Senior Community in Manhattan after suffering a heart attack. He was 74.

Smith, who was at K-State for more than four decades, served as a student, teacher, researcher and administrator.

Smith graduated in 1942 from K-State with a bachelor's degree in agriculture.

He served in the U.S. Army Air Corps during World War II before returning to school. He received his master's degree in soil science from Michigan State University in 1946.

While a faculty member in agronomy at K-State in 1949, Smith earned his doctorate, also in soil science, from Michigan State.

He was director of the Kansas Water Resources Research Institute and director of the Kansas Agricultural Experimental Station.

"He saw the need for research in areas such as basic chemistry and biology, as well as in traditional agriculture," said Kurt Feltner, executive director for the North Central Association of Experimental Station Directors.

Stanley Leland Jr., emeritus

associate director of the experimental station, said Smith was very active in the experimental stations.

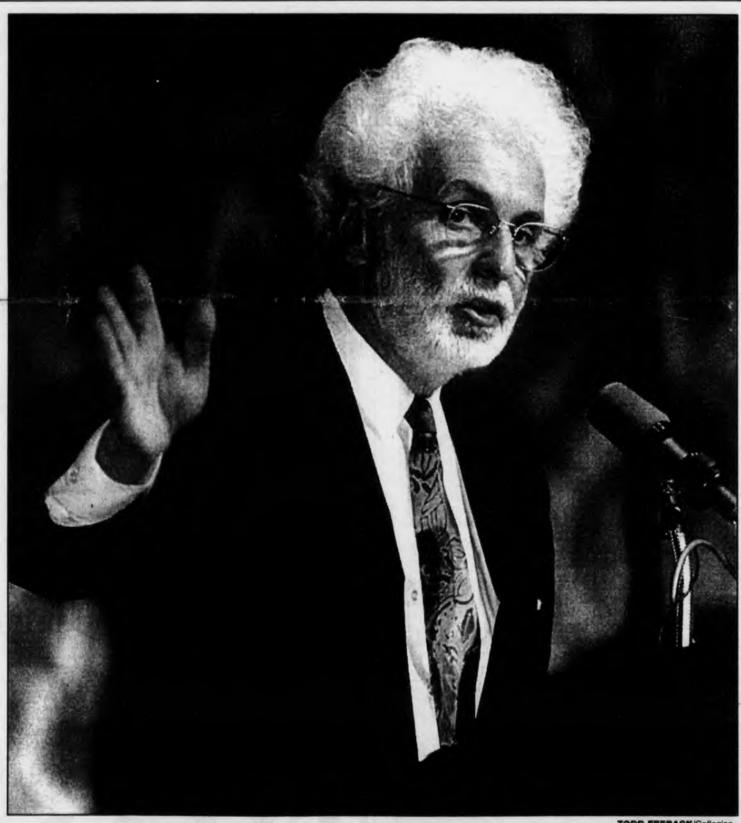

"He was instrumental in affecting very successful agriculture programs during his tenure with the Agricultural Experimental Station," Leland said. "He was responsible for not only 300 scientists in the experimental station in Manhattan, but also the branch stations in Colby, Garden City, Hays, Parsons and Tribune.

"He realized the value of research," he said. "He understood the ingredients for good research, and

See SMITH Page 12

SMITH SERVICE

- A vigil service will be at 7 p.m. Wednesday at the Irvin-Parkway Funeral Home, 1317 Poyntz Avenue.
- Mass of Christian Burial will be at 10 a.m. Thursday at the St. Thomas More Catholic Church, 2900 Kimball Avenue, with Rev. Kerry Ninemire as celebrant. Burial will follow in the Sunrise Cemetery, Manhattan.

Jerry Mander, senior fellow at the Public Media Center In San Francisco, spoke on "Questions We Should Have Asked About Technology" Monday night at the Union Forum Hall. Mander's speech marked the final Lou Douglas Lecture of the year.

Mander delivers lecture

Audience crowds in to hear final Lou Douglas Lecture

STEFFANY CARREL

A near-capacity crowd filled the K-State Forum Hall Monday night as Jerry Mander, senior fellow at the Public Media Center in San Francisco, delivered the final Lou Douglas Lecture of the semester.

Mander spoke for about 45 minutes on "Questions We Should Have Asked About Technology," then answered questions from the audience.

Throughout his speech, Mander addressed the systemic effect of today's technology, including automobiles, computers and television.

"We have to start asking whether our technological society has lived up to its original promise," he said. "When we start asking, we may find some surprising answers.

Mander said he doesn't think technology has lived up to its "technotopia" promise.

"Technology has not brought comfort to all," he said. "Further, it has not brought prosperity, equality or security to all, as it originally promised." Instead, the technological society has produced a high level of alienation, Mander said.

"In technological societies like our own, the primary modus operandi now is related to machines. Our physical world today is interaction with non-human processes," he said.

"The presence of the natural world is virtually gone. We are living in our concrete world, and we've become like astronauts, afloat and unconnected, encased in a metallic reality," he said.

See RATE Page 10

CORRECTED FINAL EXAM SCHEDULE

Examination Time 7:30 to 9:20 p.m.

Monday, Dec. 12

Tuesday, Dec. 13

Family Relations Expository Writing 1-2 Mechanical Material

Public Speaking 1-1A

Statics Economics 1-2

Dynamics

Wednesday, Dec. 14

Thursday, Dec. 15

Fundamentals of Computer Programming

Principles of Biology Elementary Survey Engineering

Friday, Dec. 16

Introduction of Human Development Engineering Physics 1 & 2

► MANHATTAN

Manhattanites' tires slashed; activity possibly gang related

KIMBERLY HEFLING

At least 15 Manhattan residents reported to the Riley County Police Department on Sunday that the tires on their automobiles had been slashed outside of their homes.

The tire-slashing incidents reported varied from homes located on the 1000 block of Bluemont Avenue to the 400 block of Moro Street, according to RCPD reports.

Donna Rusher, senior in dietetics, had the tires on her automobile slashed outside of her home on 615 N. 4th St.

"I was lucky," Rusher said. "One neighbor, two houses down, had all four of their tires slashed."

Rusher said she believes the incidents were gang-related because of gang-related graffiti spray-painted on garages and buildings in the same area earlier in the week. "I feel like my hands are tied about the situation. I reported it to the police, but the police kind of blew it off along with the garage and spray paint. They kind of expect it now," she said.

"I thought by reporting the tire slashing to the police, we would have increased surveillance in the neighborhood, but I doubt it." Rusher said.

Rusher said because she parks in a carport, she thought she'd be unlikely to ever have vandalism done to her automobile.

'This is the first time we've had any problems," she said.

"In Wichita, where I'm from, things like this happen all the time. You just expect it and park your cars in a well-lit area. I lock my doors here but never thought this type of thing would would be much of a problem.'

Phil Speer, 714 Moro St., said he

■ See RESIDENT Page 12

► CAMPUS

Sorority, fraternity members gather for AIDS seminar

MANDY HANSON

The final installment of Greek 101 featured two speakers who have first-hand knowledge of how dangerous habits formed in college can lead to the contraction of the HIV virus and

"Most of the estimated 1 million Americans that are infected with the HIV virus, the virus which causes AIDS, contracted the virus during their Mike McRee. Interfraternity Council president, said as he opened the seminar Monday evening in McCain Auditorium.

New members of sororities and fraternities listened to a presentation that was developed to educate the crowd of young college students.

"An American dies every 16 minutes from AIDS-related causes, but many of us think AIDS is something which other people get," McRee said.,

The presentation, "Friendship in the Age of AIDS," was conducted by T.J. Sullivan and Joel Goldman, former students of Indiana University, who talk to student groups about HIV and

AIDS. Sullivan began the

See AIDS Page 10

NEWS BRIEFS

COACH PLEADS NO CONTEST TO TAKING INDECENT LIBERTIES WITH GIRL

WICHITA (AP) - A former Wichita East High School basketball coach has pleaded no contest to charges of having sex with a

Ed Southern, 39, of Wichita, is scheduled for sentencing Dec. 21. in Sedgwick County District Court.

Southern was charged with taking indecent liberties with a 15year-old girl on two occasions. He was suspended and then resigned.

The no-contest plea, entered Thursday, means Southern neither admits nor denies the crime but agrees to accept the punishment

▶ HOME OF STABBED WICHITA GIRL BECOMES TARGET OF DRIVE-BY SHOOTING

WICHITA (AP) - A 14-year-old girl stabbed at Wichita East High School remained hospitalized in critical condition as police investigated an apparent drive-by shooting at her house.

Tanisha Lee was on life-support machines Monday in Wesley Medical Center following the Friday stabbing, police Capt. Ron West

Sunday night, three or four young men in a car sprayed gunshots at the teen's home, West said. No one was injured, he said.

West refused to speculate about the reason for the drive-by shooting, but he said the stabbing was

"This was a tragic, immature situation," he said.

▶ EMERGENCY HATCH COMES APART FROM AIRPLANE; ALL PASSENGERS SAFE

NEW YORK (AP) - The cockpit emergency hatch fell off an American Eagle commuter plane Monday on takeoff from Kennedy Airport, but the aircraft landed safely, and none of the 16 people aboard were hurt.

The ceiling hatch fell off the twin turboprop a few seconds after the plane took off for Albany, said D. Joy Faber, spokeswoman for the Port Authority of New York and New Jersey, which runs the airport.

The loss of the hatch caused noise in the cabin and probably let more air in, but it did not create dangerous suction because the aircraft flies too low to be pressurized, American Eagle spokesman Marty

The plane was a Shorts 360, manufactured by Shorts of Belfast. The model, with a capacity of about 36 passengers, has been flying

The incident occurred two weeks after all 68 people aboard a different American Eagle model were killed in a crash in Indiana.

► FLORIDA YOUTHS SUSPECTED OF KILLING TOURIST TO GO TO TRIAL SOON

MONTICELLO, Fla. (AP) - A area outside Monticello, Jagger, 36, 17-year-old charged with shooting an English tourist to death during a botched robbery will be the first of two teen-agers to go on trial in the Jury selection was to begin Monday for John Crumitie, who is charged in the Sept. 14, 1993, death of Gary Colley at a highway rest stop 35 miles east of Tallahassee

The slaying attracted worldwide attention, damaged Florida's tourism industry and prompted lawmakers to beef up the state's juvenile justice system. Colley, 34, was the ninth foreign visitor killed in Florida in a year.

Colley and Margaret Jagger were headed from New Orleans to southern Florida when they stopped at the Interstate 10 rest was wounded.

If convicted of murder and attempted murder, Crumitie could face the electric chair. In August, he rejected an agreement that would have sent him to prison for 40 years for pleading guilty to second-degree murder and attempted Another youth, 15-year-old Aundra Akins, also will be tried in the slaying. A trial date has not been set. Two others, Deron Spear, 18, and Cedrick Green, 14, pleaded guilty to lesser charges and are awaiting sentencing.

Jagger will fly from her home in West Yorkshire, England, to testify. In police lineups, she identified Akins but not Crumitie

The state is expected to introduce as evidence a rap song that several of the suspects were supposed to have been listening to a month before the slaying.

The lyrics of the song by the group Poison Clan talk about robbing tourists, including: "Downtown looking for the dummies, Y tags and a purse full of money, asking for directions, busting U-turns in the middle of the intersection."

Defense lawyers say authorities haven't found the guns used in the shooting and have little physical evidence linking the youths to the crime scene.

Circuit Judge F.E. Steinmeyer hopes to seat a jury in Jefferson County. If he can't, he plans to pick 12 jurors in another county and bring them to Monticello. Crumitie's lawyer, Dwight Wells, wanted to move the trial.

Night By Cico Park

Kimball & Seth Childs

Candlewood Center

You'd have to be

Because we have: The Best Futons, The Best Selection, The Best Service, The Best Prices. Period.

> 1126 Moro • 776.5950 In Historic Aggieville Open 7 days a week

Joseph Downey

Dow Chemical V.P. Friday, Nov. 18, 11 a.m. Union Little Theatre

Legacy Lecture Series

4,000 concentrated programs • more than 1,000 graduate schools

over 300 credentialling programs • 500 professional organizations plus: school catalog service . . . we send the catalogs to you!

Why spend hours researching what school has what concentration, in what area of the country. We have all the information right here, the most extensive database available, and we even mail you the catalogs from the schools you choose. Information packets are available for students and resource centers.

2210 Mt. Carmel Avenue

Suite 110, Dept. 10-5 Glenside, PA 19038 (215) 572-7670 FAX (215) 576-8354

ASSOCIATES,

These reports are taken directly from the daily logs of the K-State and Riley County Police departments Because of space constraints, not all crimes are listed.

K-STATE POLICE

MONDAY, NOVEMBER 14

At 10:39 a.m., Joann Utter reported criminal damage to property last Thursday at Boyd Hall. Unwanted subjects egged a wall in the living room.

At 11:09 a.m., a vehicle acci-

RILEY COUNTY POLICE SUNDAY, NOVEMBER 13

At 10:39 p.m., Jeremy Houghton, 1430 Watson Place, Apt. 13, reported a past theft. Victim was Melody Merrick, same address. Taken were four wheel covers. Loss was $90.

MONDAY, NOVEMBER 14

At 12:02 a.m., Jason Grames, 1919 Hunting Ave., Phi Gamma Delta fraternity, reported his tires stolen off his car. He reported seeing an older blue or gray room. An officer arrived and retrieved a 2-foot boa constrictor. Chevy Nova leaving southbound on Sunset Avenue approximately five minutes earlier. Taken were four tires, four wheels and 16 lug nuts. Loss was $940.

At 11:14 p.m., Toni Dewey.

1215 Thurston St., Apt. I, reported a 3-foot snake in her living dent was reported at campus and Claflin Road. Krista Bond's vehicle struck the vehicle belonging to Joseph Silva of Emporia Wholesale Coffee Co.

Damage was more than $500.

The Kansas State Collegian (USPS 291 020), a student

ity, is published by Kedzie Hall 103, Manhattar Kan., 66506. The Collegian is published weekdays during the school year and once a week through the summer. Secondclass postage is paid at Manhattan, Kan., 66502. POSTMASTER: Send address changes to Kansas State Collegian, circulation desk, Kedzie 103, Manhattan, Kan. 66506-7167.

C Kansas State Collegian, 1994

CAMPUS BULLET

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Applications for Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities are now available in the Office of Student Activities and Services. Deadline is Nov. 18.

All undergraduate students in health-related degree programs are eligible to apply for the Student Cancer Research Award of $500. Applications are now available in the Center for Basic Cancer Research in Ackert 234. Application deadline is Dec. 2.

BULLETINS IN

- Circle K International will meet 9 p.m. today in Union 206.
- German Table will meet 11:30 a.m. today in Union Stateroom 3. Anyone interested in German conversation is welcomed.
- Hispanic American Leadership Organization will meet 6:30
- p.m. today at the Ecumenical Campus Ministry Building. Sailing Club will meet at 8 p.m. today in Union 205.
- KSU Student Foundation will meet from 6 to 7 p.m. today on the third floor of the KSU Foundation Building.
- Board of Student Publications will meet from 8 to 9 a.m. today in Union 204.
- Christian Science Organization will meet at 4 p.m. today in Danforth Chapel.
- Kappa Omicron Nu will have a chapter meeting from 6 to 7 p.m. today in Justin 253. ■ Kansas Center for Rural Initiatives will present "Communities
- on the Move," an examination of communities in change, from 11:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. today in Union 204.
- Adult Student Services will have a brown-bag lunch from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. today in Union Stateroom 1.
- Education Council will meet at 7 p.m. today in Bluemont 106. ■ Habitat for Humanity will meet at 9 p.m. today in the Union

ELECTRONIC COLLEGIAN

The Kansas State Collegian has gor actronic. Updated daily, you can find to deglan on the World Wide Web © http://www.spub.ksu.edu

YESTERDAY'S HIGHS AND LOWS

A slight chance for rain early, then mostly sunny statewide. Highs around 45 to 55.

Partly cloudy with a high of 50 to 55 and a low of 25.

TOMORROW I

Sunny with a high of 50 to 55.

If you

canned goods, toiletries, or

household products, to the

homeless through the

Collegian, you will receive

THANKS

and $1 off any classified ad in the Collegian through the end

of December.

Contributions go to Manhattan Emergency Shelter and Flint Hills Breadbasket

Bring items to the Student Publications Inc. office in Kedzie 103

Ed Call, K-State's extension dairyman, retired after 42 years of work with the Department of Animal Sciences and Industry. In 1993, Call received the Alfa Laval Agri Dairy Extension Award, the highest honor given by the American Dairy Science Association to a person in extension.

Dairyman says goodbye to K-State

JANET McPHERSON

After 42 years with K-State, Ed Call said it will take him a month of half-days to clean out his office and write thank-you notes.

Call retired Nov. 1 from the Department of Animal Sciences and Industry as Kansas' extension dairyman, a title he said is "old school," but a title he prefers.

"Cows aren't impressed with titles," he said.

Call said he chose to retire Nov. 1 so that he would still be on staff to help with the 1994 Dairy Day on Oct. 28 and give the department a couple of months to find his replacement before the busy season for dairy extension.

Dick Dunham, professor of animal sciences and industry, said one of Call's greatest contributions has been his work and with dairy communication producers.

"They valued his judgment and advice," Dunham said.

Jack Riley, department head of animal sciences and industry, agreed that Call had a good relationship with producers.

"It doesn't matter whether producers were large or small scale. Ed always had plenty of time," Riley said. "I think that's why so many dairy producers think so highly of

Riley said he has been on a couple of fishing trips to Canada with him, and he said Call really takes things seriously. "He's Mr. Dedication," Riley said. "Whatever suits the occassion, Call is first-rate on a professional Call was named Kansas Dairy Leader in 1985 and Friend of Kansas County Agents in 1991. He was awarded the Alfa Laval Agri Dairy Extension Award in 1993, the highest honor given by the American Dairy Science Association to a person in extension.

Call is quick to credit his colleagues for the advancements in research and successes during his

K-State greeks will be going door to door in the Manhattan Community

"All I do is ride people's coattails," Call said.

Dr. Jeff Stevenson, professor of animal sciences and industry, wrote a dedication to Call in the Dairy Day

"Ed always credits his success to his colleagues, friends and especially to his wife, Jo, their three children, and six grandchildren," Stevenson

"Although Ed is quick to offer his thanks to others, everyone in the Department of Animal Sciences will miss his humor, kindness and gentlemanly manner. In his often

■ See RETIREE Page 12

► CAMPUS

Opening for college addition Wednesday

The College of Human Ecology will celebrate the opening of its newest addition, the Galichia Institute for Gerontology and Family Studies, at 9:30 a.m. Wednesday in Justin Hall.

The institute will be dedicated to improving the quality of life for the elderly, particularly in Kansas, said John Murray, head of the Department of Human Development and Family Studies,

The dedication ceremony will feature a guest speaker, Vern Bengtson, professor of gerontology for the University of Southern California.

GALICHIA

EVENTS

Nov. 15

Nov. 16

10 a.m.

opening remarks

DEDICATION

2:30 p.m. "Twenty-five Years of Change and Continuity in Families:

Dedication of the Galichia Institute

Recognition of Donors

Tour of the Galachia

9:30 a.m. Refreshments and

The USC Longitudinal Study of Generations" in Justin 253

The inauguration will also recognize financial donors and will conclude with a tour of the institute at II a.m.

As part of the festivities, Bengtson will also be speaking at a special colloquium on gerontology and family studies at 2:30 p.m. today in Justin 253.

The topic of the speech will be inter-generational relationships and how they've changed over the past quarter of a century, Murray said.

The institute, which is interconnected between the Early Childhood Lab and the Family Center, will officially open after the ceremony.

Personal Actions to Health, a program which focuses on healthy lifestyles for the elderly, will be housed in the new building.

An evaluation of the Senior Care Act for Kansas will also be focused on at the institute, as well as a number of offshoots from these programs, Murray said.

Murray said a number of undergraduate and graduate students would be working on gerontology projects at the institute, as well as other related family projects.

The building will also have consultation rooms and clinic rooms which will be used for marriage and family therapy.

Barbara Stowe, dean of human ecology, said private donations made the institute possible.

"It's wonderful. The remarkable thing to me is this really demonstrates the generosity of our alumni and friends," she said. "This will give the college a chance for research and education programs for two key sectors of our society - one being the elderly and one being young children."

Jim Carrey

Friday & Saturday, November 18 &19 7:00 & 9:30 pm Forum Hall

Admission: $1.75

K-State Union UPC Feeture Film

KURT VONNEGUT, JR.'s SLOUGUTEBBOUSE-

*WINNER* 1972 CANNES FILM PRIZE AWARD

One of the most daring, original, off-beat, and totally fescinating pictures ever made...'

REH REED Wednesday & Thursday, November 16 & 17 7:00 & 9:30 pm FORUM HALL Friday, November 19

8:00pm LITTLE THEATRE

this week to collect canned food for Operation Turkey Order of Omega greek honorary appreciates all donations to the Flint Hills Breadbasket, at 905 Yuma. Men's Glee Club Women's Glee Club K-State Singers Sunday, Nov. 19, 1994 8 p.m. McCain Auditorium Admission $6 Reserved seats 532-6428 or McCain Auditorium Box Office Noon to 5 p.m.

MEATSA!MEATSA!

PEPPERONI! PEPPERONI! Pizzas Loaded With Nearl 100 Pieces Of Pepperoni

SUPREME!SUPREME!

2 Pizzas With Pepperoni. Onion, talian Style Sausage, Mushrooms Green Pepper & Beef Topping ANY 2 MEDIUM PIZZAS

PLUS TAX 2 LARGE $13.98 NOW GET - CAESARS SINGLES" ONE MEDIUM $5.99" ONE LARGE $7.99

Expires 11-30-94

BECOME A STUDENT MARKETING MANAGER

Outgoing, goal-oriented student needed for marketing position. Learn management skills and marketing strategies while implementing oncampus promotions.

- ★ Excellent pay
- ★ Flexible hours
- * All work on campus
- ★ For the 1994-95 school year

For information, call Victoria at 1-800-487-2434 ext. 4116

"Our Business is Exhausting"

•GLASS TINTING SERVICES AVAILABLE MUFFLERS-TAILPIPES DUAL SYSTEMS AUTO (AMERICAN & FOREIGN) RVs*LIGHT & HEAVY DUTY TRUCKS CUSTOM PIPE BENDING

•U-HAUL TRUCKS & TRAILERS

FREE ESTIMATES

Open Mon.-Fri. 7 a.m. to 6 p.m., Sat. til Noon

2049 Ft. Riley Blvd. 1-800-439-8956 776-8955 about the Asian population and the Hispanic population in Garden City.

NOVEMBER 15, 1994

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

IN OUR OPINION

By the Collegian Editorial Board

Proposal didn't use students' suggestions

If Student Senate went to the trouble to get student input, then it should have used it.

During the last month, Student Senate has sponsored several forums to generate ideas about the use of the $17,000 overcharged at fee payment.

The students suggested that the money should be used for lighting, new furniture in the library, self-defense courses, police escorts and possibly bike

A Senate committee has finally made a proposal regarding the uses of this money. It has proposed that this money be spent on lobbying, park benches and bike racks. Sadly, only one of these ideas was suggested at student forums. Why have forums to increase student input, if you have no intention of listening to the ideas proposed?

Senate made a vain attempt to increase student participation in spending the money overcharged.

Senate asked students to bring their ideas forward so that the overcharged money would be spent on things the students wanted. In the end, Senate didn't listen to but two words the students said, bike racks.

Giving students the opportunity to vocalize their thoughts was an excellent idea, but not acting on students' desires was a big mistake.

Senate is an organization for the students. It isn't working for the students if the members don't listen when students present their wishes.

TOLES

Americans are tired of liberal politics

new national holiday should be declared on Nov. 8, the day in the year 1994 when voters across the nation repudiated liberalism and ended the Democrats' 40-year reign in the House of Representatives.

The true measure of this proposed holiday will be, however, the Republicans' ability to capitalize on their historic opportunity to revitalize The tidal wave of Republican resurgence dramatically altered America's political landscape. Republicans now control both branches of Congress and possess a majority of governor seats.

In the current House, Democrats have a 256-178 advantage over Republicans. After the election. in a comfortable 230-204 majority. In the current Senate, Democrats outnumber Republicans 56-44. In the next Congress, Republicans will have a 53-47 advantage over Democrats, including Sen. Richard Shelby from Alabama who switched parties after the Republican sweep.

One of the most surprising aspects of the election were the number of old-guard liberal icons who were booted out of power. The most startling shift came when Speaker of the House Tom Foley lost his congressional seat. The last time a standing speaker lost his seat was almost 150 years ago.

Gone from power are many other enduring icons of liberalism. Mario Cuomo, governor of New York, lost his reelection bid as did Ann Richards, governor of Texas. Also gone is Dan Rostenkowski, chairman of the House Ways and Means committee, who has 17 federal indictments stacked Kansas stands to benefit from this transfer of power. Sen. Bob Dole will be the Senate Majority Leader. Sen. Nancy Kassebaum will chair the Senate Labor and Education Committee. Rep. Jan Meyers will chair the House Small Business Committee and Rep. Pat Roberts will chair the House Agriculture Committee.

The Republican sweep demonstrates that voters have recognized that the liberal ideas of the past are bankrupt and that the liberal policies of a Democratic Congress have failed. A key theme in the Republican's Contract for America is fixing problems the old Congress created, especially the

JOHN HART

66 The tidal I wave of Republican resurgence dramatically altered America's political landscape. Republicans now control both branches ... "

This election also showed that voters are tired of the poverty of values in this country. It's clear from Clinton's abysmal approval ratings and the country's negative attitude toward government that an improving economy is not enough to overcome greater concerns the country has.

Republican Sam Brownback, who will be the new congressmen from this district, encapsulated the feeling of many voters when he promised to return America to the values which have made it great.

Democrats are reeling from this election, and rightly so. Their ideological base has been thoroughly rejected by voters and if the new Republican Congress enjoys even modest success they might never recover.

President Clinton and other liberals view the Republican sweep as regressive. The fundamental problem with Clinton's analysis is the fact that for the past several decades, liberals have arrogantly made the prior conclusion that their ideas are progressive. Experience shows, however, that the big government psuedo-socialist programs of the liberal Congress have failed. It is the Republicans, not Democrats, who have the resources and power to keep hope alive.

John Hart is a senior in political science.

Remember the homeless year-round

RIGHTON

s Thanksgiving approaches, we suddenly begin to receive numerous philanthropy requests.

This kind of becomes irritating, not because we do not want to give, but because the holidays usually find us short on cash, and every organization begins its drives around the same time.

Every event you go to, you are asked to bring a can of food for the hungry. Every time you make a trip to the grocery store or mall, you encounter a Santa of varying weights and ages ringing a bell and asking for donations to the Salvation Army. And finally, your Jerry Lewis pledge envelope

One begins to wonder why neediness becomes most prevalent around the holidays. Are there more people in need around this time of year, or are organizations just playing on the "Peace on Earth, good will to men," ideology of the season?

Well, we at the Collegian are jumping on the bandwagon and are asking people to give canned goods, toiletries and household products to help the homeless and the hungry. Contributions are being accepted in Kedzie 103 in return for $1 off a classified ad, and all the donations will be delivered to the Flint Hills Breadbasket and the Manhattan Emergency Shelter along with the results of similar programs all over

Since from my observation only, it seems most philanthropic drives in this community benefit the Breadbasket, I was pleased to see the Emergency Shelter included as a benefactor of these efforts.

I visited the shelter last summer basically because I needed a topic to write a story about for a class.

I came away from my visit with an empathy and an appreciation for the people who must turn to the shelter and the people who dedicate their lives to it.

I have to admit, going in, I had no idea what the shelter did. I thought I would find a bunch of old drunken bums sitting on their fannies recovering from their latest escapade:

I was wrong.

Little did I suspect when I arrived that I'd find the homeless playing volleyball with the staff hired to assist them

I couldn't tell the clients from the staff. hese people looked just like you and me. As I researched the homeless and the hardships they face, I learned a valuable lesson about my own stereotypes, easily summed up in this statement by a member of the shelter's staff:

"Most people think of a burn with a bottle of booze, but that is not what they look like. Homeless people look like you and me and your next door neighbor.'

The shelter is a temporary refuge for people who need short-term housing. Unlike common assumptions, most of the homeless are people who want to better their lives. They just need assistance to do it.

That's the main role of the shelter. It is there as a tool to help teach people the lessons they lack. Some of its residents have mental disorders or haven't learned coping skills like how to resolve conflicts in the workplace. Others need to learn personal skills, like how to properly answer the Still other people turn to the shelter for help learning to budget their money properly.

Some just can't handle credit cards or have a problem with impulsive spending. The shelter steps in and helps people change their lives by teaching life-skills classes to help them live better independently.

But the staff cannot do it alone.

Please give of yourself this holiday season. But in June or July, these agencies still need assistance. And they need more

They need people. Shelter staff said the homeless often need people to talk to, to take interest in them and to teach life-skills classes like budget cooking.

Yes, they need items like toothpaste and sheets, but more importantly they need the concern of the community.

And contrary to popular opinion, they do not need us just around Christmas and Thanksgiving when our guilty consciences

They need our help year-round.

Kristin Brighton is a sophomore in mass communications and English.

READERS WRITE

Drop letters off at Kedzie 116 or send them to Letters to the Editor, c/o John Melrowsky, Kansas State Collegian, Kedzie 116, Manhattan, KS 66506. We accept letters by e-mail also. Our address is letters@spub.ksu.edu. Letters should be addressed to the editor and include a name, address and phone number. A photo identification will be necessary for hand-delivered letters.

ABORTION

Mother did same as many others

Recent events in South Carolina have shocked the nation. A mother of two small children strapped them into their car seats, plunged her car into a lake and watched as they drowned to death. People everywhere are searching for answers. Why would she do this? How could any mother kill two innocent children?

I, myself, am not amazed at all. This type of thing happens hundreds, maybe thousands of times each day in our nation. A mother decides she cannot deal with the burden of becoming a mother. The father of the children is gone. Money is tight, and things are not going well in general for her, so she kills the children to eliminate part of the problem.

Of coursr, for thousands of women, this process is an abortion. It is safe, legal and ordinarily there is very little public outcry directed toward the individual woman who has an abortion.

say the woman in South Carolina is no different. All she did was decide to have her abortion a little later than most. When she realized that she was not going to be a good mom, that her life was in shambles and the quality for her kids wasn't going to be the greatest, (all reasons people use to justify abortions), she decided to eliminate the children before they decided to suffer any more.

What's the difference? Some would say she could have given them up for adoption, taken them to a relative, or just grown up and raised them herself. Maybe she could have read Brad Seabourn's column last week and taken responsibility for her actions. Maybe she would have learned to live with the consequences of her choices, children in this case, and learn to get on with her life.

She did none of these, however. Like millions of other women, she took the way out: an

Clayton Walenta senior in mechanical engineering

▶ CHILD CARE

K-State behind in the Big 8

In the Nov. 7 issue of the Collegian, Jina Kugler, a student in secondary education, raised a very important issue. The Child Development Center at K-State starts accepting children at 12 months of age. Six schools in the Big Eight accept children at the respective universities at 6 weeks of age - University of Missouri, University of Nebraska, University of Oklahoma, Oklahoma State University and Iowa State University all accept children at 6 weeks of age. The University of Kansas accepts children at 3 months of age. The University of Nebraska and Colorado University accept children 6 months of age at their respective recreational complexes.

According to the office of the Vice President of Institutional Advancement at K-State, we have the biggest-child-care system in the state of Kansas. Why don't we accept children at least 6 months of age? Every school in the Big Eight accepts children below the age of 6 months except K-State. Let's get on the ball, K-State.

Charles Allen IV junior in journalism and mass communication

Tricia Allen senior in art

HUNGER

Community support was awesome

It is not often when an entire community pulls together to help needy families. More specifically, it's extremely rare when communities raise six truckloads of loads in 48 hours.

Last weekend, countless individuals throughout northeast Kansas donated over four tons of food to the Flint Hills Breadbasket. Yep,

FRANK SERENO

I had been there to cover compassionate, buried alive for without food or responsive story. A disc jockey was 48 hours

water at a local auto dealership."

66 T wish you

this

that's right. Four tons of non-perishable food went to help feed hungry families right here in our own backyard.

But where was the crack Collegian staff? I wish you had been there to cover this compassionate, responsive story. A disc jockey was buried alive for 48 hours without food or water at a local auto dealership. He laid in his sealed coffin for food donations, asking for food donations via the Folks from as far as Topeka and Junction City gave what they could. It was an eerie, yet heartwarming sight. Since you failed to cover the story, I guess the event wasn't that important. Oh well, so much for random acts of kindness.

By the way, nice front page review of Travis Tritt. It sure was pretty important stuff.

Frank Sereno K-Rock promotions coordinator

NEW YORK (AP) - Baseball owners are putting together a new collective-bargaining proposal, their first offer since June 14. Whether or not it includes a salary cap is the big question.

The new proposal will be unveiled Thursday when the owners and players resume talks near Dulles Airport in Washington under the guidance of mediator W.J. Usery.

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

NOVEMBER 15, 1994

► FOOTBALL

Walden finished at Iowa State

CRESTON KUENZI

Jim Walden only has one game remaining in his tenure as the head coach of Iowa State.

However, no one will see him along the sidelines when Iowa State takes on Colorado Saturday.

Walden has been suspended after making several comments about the officials in the K-State game Nov. 5 at Manhattan.

"The only thing that I've done is stand up for one of my players and criticize a group of people that didn't protect one of my players," Walden said. "I guess I don't mind being guilty of that, because way back when, I was told that one of my main responsibilities is to stand by and for your young people."

Walden said he was not wellinformed throughout the suspension

"I had a lawyer call the office and get the specifics," Walden said. They keep coaches in the dark. I've never received anything personally from the Big Eight office.

"It's kind of a tough way to go out after 17 years of being a head football coach. Several of Walden's Big Eight Conference colleagues said they agreed that his situation is unfortunate.

"I don't feel good about it," K-State coach Bill Snyder said. "I'm sorry that he's going to have to finish his career out at Iowa State

"There are rules that we're all subject to, good or bad," he said.

Nebraska coach Tom Osborne said the punishment should have been limited to a fine.

"It's probably not right that he doesn't get to coach his last game," Osborne said. "When you fine a guy $5,000, that ought to make enough of a point, particularly when he's already been let go.'

Walden said a comparison of his suspension to that of the major league baseball and National Basketball Association coaches being suspended is unfounded.

"Comparing this to the NBA or baseball is ludicrous, because they play so many games," Walden said.

Sometimes, I think they try to get kicked out of one.

"They're bored, and they want to go get a hamburger or something."

As Walden prepares to leave Iowa State, he said he wouldn't have changed a thing, despite the troubles.

"As far as the effort and energy that we tried to do it with, I truly can't say that I would change anything," Walden said. "We tried to do everything humanly possible to coach the young men we have

Walden said he's not sure whether there will be a true head coach at the Colorado game.

"I don't have any reason to pick a head coach, and if I do, I'll do it late in the week," Walden said.

"I've talked to the staff, and to tell you the truth, none of them want

"It's the last game for this staff to be together, and they would just assume leave well enough alone and let things go.'

Oklahoma State coach Pat Jones said Walden will be missed. "You kind of hate to see a guy go out like this," Jones said.

"I've always been quite fond of Jimmy. I think everyone in this

"We really respect him as a person and a football coach."

■ K-State coach Bill Snyder said his secondary's impressive play this year hasn't surprised him.

"During the course of the spring, the secondary seemed to be a major concern of a lot of people," Snyder said. "That wasn't necessarily a major concern for us.

"We knew we had quality young people coming back with quickness, athletic ability and decent depth."

Snyder said he admits he was nervous about one thing in the secondary.

"Obviously, we were concerned that we didn't have the experience that we needed, but we knew it would just take some time," Snyder said. "That's exactly the way the course of the season has been played

"They have gotten better and better as time has gone on."

■ Iowa State middle linebacker Matt Nitchie is the Big Eight defensive player-of-the-week. Nitchie had 18 tackles in the 28-12 loss to Nebraska.

Offensive player-of-the-week oes to Oklahoma sophomore fullback Jerald Moore, who scored five touchdowns in the Sooners' win against Oklahoma State.

MONDAY NIGHT FOOTBALL

Woodson carries Steelers to victory

ASSOCIATED PRESS

PITTSBURGH - If Rod Woodson hadn't been voted to the NFL's all-time team, the league might be demanding a recount.

Woodson, single-handedly accounting for more scoring the last two weeks than Pittsburgh' offense, returned an interception for a touchdown and forced a fumble for another to lead the Steelers past the Buffalo Bills 23-10 Monday night.

Gary Anderson, again the only productive member of the Steelers' no-go offense, kicked three field goals to move into sixth place on the NFL's alltime list with 302 as Pittsburgh won for the second-straight week without an offensive

Woodson stepped in front of intended receiver Bill Brooks for a 37-yard interception return touchdown - the third of his career - to put Pittsburgh up 10-0 in the final minute of the first quarter.

Later, with Buffalo down only a touchdown after Jim Kelly's 19-yard scoring pass to Andre Reed, a blitzing Woodson dislodged the ball from Kelly near the goal line, and defensive end Gerald Williams fell on it for his first touchdown in nine NFL seasons.

Rookie defensive tackle Brentson Buckner added to the Bills' growing frustration, blocking a 32-yard field goal attempt by Steve Christie later in the fourth quarter.

The kick was Christie's first miss in 18 attempts so far this

Anderson, who last week kicked a field goal in overtime after Woodson forced a critical fumble in the Steelers' 12-9 victory over Houston, is 7-for-7 the last two weeks, 17-for-18 this season and 45-for-48 the last two seasons.

Charity Swartz runs alone during the Big Eight Championships. Swartz led the Wildcats throughout the season as a freshman. DARREN WHITLEY Collegian

▶ CROSS COUNTRY

Swartz packing for Arkansas

DEBO ADEJUNMOBI

If there is a bright side to K-State's poor performance at the NCAA District V Championships last Saturday, Charity Swartz is it.

The freshman from Andover, Kan., officially learned yesterday that her 6thplace finish at the district meet earned her a trip to the NCAA Championships in Fayetteville, Ark.

The meet will take place on Monday, Nov. 21, and Swartz will be the Wildcats' lone runner, which she said came as a bit of a surprise to her.

"I thought I would make it with the team, not individually," Swartz said. "But after Jeanene (Rugan) got hurt, I knew we probably wouldn't."

Swartz earned her way into the meet by virtue of an at-large bid.

One of three criteria must be met to qualify for the national meet. The top two teams, including all of its members, qualify. Then the top three runners not on a qualifying team within the district are selected. Then the NCAA selects the sixhighest finishers according to place within all districts.

Rugan reinjured her hip during the district meet and was barely able to finish in 52nd place.

Coach Terry Drake said that one of Rugan's hips is three-fourths of an inch shorter than the other, consequently making one leg shorter.

He said that years of running with this condition has led to the pain that she is suffering now Swartz said that seeing Rugan struggle was disturbing. "Jeanene is always so happy," she said. That was the first time I've ever seen her

Swartz has led the the women in every race this season. "I expected to be the fourth or fifth runner on the team when I came here,' Swartz said. "I really didn't expect to be upset.'

runners in the country might scare some freshmen half to death. But Drake said Swartz will be just fine.

found out she could do it.

leading the team."

out" faster.

the country.

"She can just go out and run and have a good time," Drake said. "She has nothing to lose."

Drake said that Swartz's success at the

"I've been on her all year about getting

"She ran with some of the best girls in Running alone against 140 of the top district meet came as a result of "getting out with the leaders," Drake said. "She took a risk with Jeanene's injury and

▶ FOOTBALL

Oklahoma coach denies resignation rumors

ASSOCIATED PRESS

NORMAN, Okla. — Oklahoma football coach Gary Gibbs tersely denied Monday that he plans to resign, saying his efforts are directed at trying to beat No. 1 Nebraska.

At a team meeting later Monday, he told his players the same thing.

"He said he's going to be with us through Nebraska and the bowl game, and he has no intention of resigning," linebacker Brent DeQuasie said.

Speculation that has been swirling about the fate of the sixthyear coach escalated during the weekend.

The Tulsa World reported Saturday that university officials were trying to work out a settlement in which Gibbs would resign before Thursday, when David Boren takes over as school president.

Then Sunday, the Daily Oklahoman said Gibbs would have a team meeting Sunday or Monday to inform his players of his decision, which would be effective at the end of the season. Boren said late Monday that Gibbs' status "will be evaluated in due course at the proper time with the balance of consideration of the coach's contributions.

"We shouldn't rush into this or make a decision in the heat of a moment or the middle of a season,' he said.

On the weekly Big Eight conference call, Gibbs was asked if there was any truth to the published

"No," he said without elaborating.

Does he expect to be back next "I'm focusing on Nebraska right now. That's my sole focus," he said. The players, who voted during the meeting to go to a bowl, said they took Gibbs at his word that he has no plans to resign. "What he says is pretty straightforward," DeQuasie said. 'We've been hearing so many different things, I figure he would tell us the real deal," defensive back

Anthony Fogle said. DeQuasie was one of several players who said Gibbs told them he would take care of his situation and they should take care of theirs, which is preparing for the Nebraska Cornhuskers.

Noseguard Fred Lewis was asked what he thought of the continuing reports about Gibbs' future.

"I think it's B.S., myself. Let the man finish," he said.

The Oklahoman report said Gibbs is expected to agree to a buyout of his contract and likely will go into private business to spend more time with his family. Gibbs, 42, has a rollover contract that pays him $115,000 per year.

Merv Johnson, assistant head coach and a 15-year colleague of Gibbs' on the Sooner staff, said Gibbs has given no indication to the coaches that he plans to resign at the end of the season.

"Absolutely not. None of us to my knowledge have received any word of that," Johnson said Sunday. "That's the gospel truth."

Athletic director Donnie Duncan has steadfastly refused to comment, referring to a statement issued by the university regents in October that said Gibbs' status would be evaluated at a later time.

▶ HOCKEY Possiblity of salvaging season looking hopeless

ASSOCIATED PRESS

TORONTO - NHL general managers are to be briefed on negotiations Tuesday, with one executive saying he sees no hope of ending the lockout and salvaging the season.

"Grim, I would say, it is pretty grim," Boston Bruins general manager Harry Sinden said. "It is a terrible situation, and I do not like it at all."

The work stoppage, the longest in league history, is entering its 46th day.

"I have not seen any rays of hope," Sinden told the Canadian Press. "I haven't really. I have not seen anybody show any optimism about settling this

Added Vancouver general manager Pat Quinn: "We all know there is damage already done we will not recover. Talking with some of our players, I can tell we are a long way away from resolving anything.'

The meeting of the general managers coincides with the Hockey Hall of Fame induction ceremonies.

The general managers are to be asked for input regarding a counter-proposal that is supposedly going to be made to union head Bob Goodenow on Tuesday or Wednesday. Unidentified sources told CP that Goodenow had dinner Monday night with NHL commissioner Gary Bettman, although there was no word on what they discussed.

K-State dining halls planning special Thanksgiving dinner for Thursday night

RUSSELL FORTMEYER

hen it comes to Thanksgiving, some might think about Snoopy's hastily thrown together popcorn dinner for

Charlie and the gang. Well, the KSU Dining Halls have planned a Thursday evening celebration that might out-turkey, or dog, if you will, Snoopy's dinner party According to Sherry Bonawitz, secretary at Kramer Dining Center, the Thanksgiving menu planned for Thursday is quite extensive. Besides hot, mulled cider, traditional turkey will be served (in the guise of breasts and drumsticks), whipped covered with linen tablecloths and potatoes, dressing, giblet gravy, orzo pasta, green beans and harvest vegetable melange.

Seafood pasta salad, cranberries, Waldorf salad, a vegetable dip, Caesar salad dressing and bleu cheese dressing will be served on the salad bar.

Bonawitz said whole turkeys and ham will be served in the main dining rooms

Desserts include traditional pumpkin pie, Granny Smith apple pie, praline pecan cheesecake, French vanilla cream, and chocolate brownie delight, Bonawitz

Those Pilgrims never had it so good. Come on, cheesecake? Eat your heart out. Squanto.

On top of the special dinner items, the dining centers are decorated with Thanksgiving decorations, including pumpkins and gourds. The tables are also adorned with candles.

"It's a nice change of pace," Barbara Scheule, administrative dietitian and menu and special events planner, said. Scheule said students must sign their guests 24 hours in advance. However, she said unsigned guests may typically be served after 6 p.m. For non-residence hall residents, the cost of the dinner is $5.75. Scheule said she expects a larger crowd than usual dinners. Van Zile Hall dining center is a little more crowded than the other centers, so there may be a cap on the amount of guests that can eat there, she said. Scheule said the dining centers have run out of food in the past, but their estimate of needed food is usually accurate.

She said the different selection offered (in this case, ham or turkey) can be tricky, because you never know what people are going to like. She said she usually refers to past years' menus so as to get an idea of what works and what doesn't.

All right, skip the menu planning. How much can I stuff in my face until I bloat out like a wet sponge?

Scheule said these dinners typically have lots of food available. Practically everything is all-you-can-eat, she said. One of the more popular items is the praline pecan cheesecake, which is made on the premises, Scheule said. "At K-State, there is an emphasis on home-cooked food," she said.

"We make mostly everything from scratch," she said.

That includes breads, salads, entrees, lasagna and even mashed potatoes.

"It's something we feel proud about. I bet people can tell the difference," Scheule said.

Jennifer Cole, sophomore in biology and Boyd Hall president, said the Thanksgiving dinner is like a family

"People go in big groups," she said. "It's like a family affair."

Cole admitted the cheesecake was her favorite part of the dinner. OK. But, does the food compare to mom's home cooking? "It think home is your real family, so you get a different feeling, but the food is every bit as good [here]," she said. If you are planning on taking a guest to dinner with you, as a convenience to the staff and to your guest, make reservations with the dining center prior to the day of the dinner. So, all you off-campus students who want to skip the old, nightly microwave burrito and macaroni and cheese can make reservations with a friend for a real

Not going home for Thanksgiving? Thinking about nuking that bird? See the holiday recipes, page 7

The first Thanksgiving dinner was drastically different from today's. See how the Pilgrims ate, page 8

Thanksgiving recipes

Cooking Thanksgiving dinner for the first time? Here are some traditional and not so traditional recipes for you to try. Cookbooks can also be bought at local bookstores, or you can check them out from the Manhattan Public Library.

Cranberry-Orange Salad

INGREDIENTS:

I cup of sugar

1/2 cup chopped walnuts

1 12-oz. package fresh or frozen cranberries, finely chopped

1 11-oz can of mandarin orange segments, drained

I 6-oz. package orange-flavored gelatin

2 cups boiling water

In a large bowl, combine sugar, walnuts, cranberries and oranges; set aside.

In another large bowl, dissolve gelatin in boiling water. Refrigerate until slightly thickened, about 25 minutes.

Stir cranberry-orange mixture into thickened gelatin.

Spoon into a greased pan. Cover and refrigerate about three hours or until firm.

Easy Frosty Pumpkin Pie

INGREDIENTS:

Crust:

1/4 cup margarine or butter 1 1/2 cups crushed gingersnap cookies

1 16-oz can (2 cups) of pumpkin I pint (2 cups) vanilla ice cream

l cup powered sugar

1 1/2 teaspoons pumpkin pie spice

1/8 teaspoon salt I teaspoon vanilla

2 cups frozen whipped topping, thawed

In small saucepan, melt margarine. Remove from heat; stir in crushed cookies. Press mixture evenly in bottom and up sides of 9-inch pie pan; refrigerate.

In large bowl, combine all filling ingredients except whipped topping; blend until smooth. Fold whipped topping into pumpkin mixture. Pour into prepared crust. Freeze several hours until firm.

Smoke Turkey

INGREDIENTS:

1 12-14 pound turkey

1/4 cup vegetable oil

1/2 cup salt 1/4 cup pepper

I cup vinegar

Remove giblets and neck from turkey, save for other uses. Rinse turkey thoroughly with cold water; pat dry. Rub oil over surface of turkey. Combine salt and pepper and sprinkle over surface and cavity.

Close cavity of turkey with skewers. Tie ends of tail with string or tuck under band of skin at tail. Lift wingtips up and over back, tucking under bird.

Prepare charcoal fire in smoker and let burn 10 to 15 minutes. Place water pan in smoker and fill with Place turkey on food rack. Cover with smoker lid. Cook about 16 hours, refilling water pan when needed. Turkey is done when drumsticks move

Pumpkin Bread

INGREDIENTS:

1 3/4 cup flour

3/4 teaspoon salt

1/4 teaspoon baking powder

I teaspoon salt

1/2 teaspoon each cloves, cinnamon, allspice, ginger, nutmeg

1 1/2 cup sugar 1/2 cup salad oil

2 eggs

1/3 cup water

I cup pumpkin 1/2 cup raisins or dates

1/2 cup chopped nuts

Sift flour, salt, baking powder, soda and spices together. Cream sugar and oil; beat in eggs, one at a time. Add water and pumpkin alternately with dry ingredients; stir in raisins and nuts. Place in two small greased and floured pans. Bake at 350 degrees Farenheit for 45 to 50 minutes.

INGREDIENTS:

2 tablespoons oil

1/4 teaspoon onion powder

1/8 teaspoon garlic powder

1 fresh or frozen turkey, thawed

I teaspoon dried thyme leaves salt and pepper

ORANGE GLAZE

I tablespoon margarine or butter 1/2 cup marmalade

1/3 cup frozen orange juice concentrate, thawed

1/2 teaspoon ginger

Heat oven to 350 degrees Farenheit. In small bowl, combine oil, onion powder and garlic powder; brush turkey on all sides with mixture. Rub thyme over all sides; sprinkle with salt and peppers. Place turkey, skin side up, on rack in roasting pan. Bake at 350 degrees Farenheit for 2 1/2 to 3 hours, or until internal temperature reaches 170 degrees.

In small saucepan, combine glaze ingredients. Cook over medium heat until smooth, stirring constantly.

Remove turkey from oven. Brush with glaze. Let turkey stand for 15 minutes before slicing.

Roast Turkey with Orange Savory Fruit Stuffing

INGREDIENTS:

1/2 cup margarine

1/4 cup chopped celery

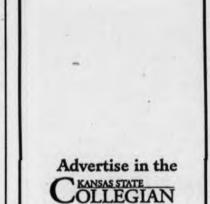

1/4 cup chopped onion

1/8 teaspoon allspice

4 cups dried bread cubes 1/2 cups dried fruit bits

1/2 cup water

Melt margarine in large saucepan over mediumhigh heat. Stir in celery, onion and allspice; cook and stir until vegetables are tender. Stir in remaining ingredients; cook until thoroughly heated.

Be Seen.

Thanksgiving

S•A•L•E

Selected Fall and Winter Merchandise

Up To 60% Off Now through November 28 ALL REGULAR PRICED

1225 Moro Aggieville

539-7701

Mon.-Sat. 9:30 a.m.-5:30 p.m. Thurs. 'til 8 p.m.

Sun. 1-5 p.m.

DAYTON THOROBRED

40.000 Mile All Season Steel Belted Radials

185/75R14..35.95 195/75R14...38.95 205/75R14..37.95 215/75R14..40.95 205/75R15..39.95 215/75R15..40.95 225/75R15..41.95

185/80R13..30.95

175/80R13..31.95

185/80R13..32.95

235/75R15..42.95

Pre-Winter Check-up Complete Auto Safety Inspection: Includes electricl system check

Most Cars & Light Trucks

CARE CENTERS LIGHT TRUCK/UTILI

TIRE AND CAR

All Season

RAISED WHITE LETTERS P205/75R14 P205/75R15 52.86 P215/75R15 54.85 59.95 P235/75R15 17235/75R15C 89.95 30/950R15C 69.95 BLACKWALL LT225/85R16D 80.95 78.85 LT245/75R16E

Winter Flush & Fill

Drain & Flush Cooling System up to 2 gallons of anti-freeze. Inspect cooling system, belts &

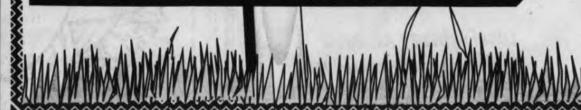

Most Cars& Light Trucks

1001 North 3rd - 776-4081 • 2829 Anderson - 537-2170 MANHATTAN

Open Thanksgiving Day!

No Cover, Never Had It, Never Will!!

Gals Perms $30-$38

-Includes cut & style Haircuts

Guys $8.50

Gals $12.50

Kids (under 10) $6.50

Gobble Gobble Gobble

We Tame the Tough Ones!

2026 Tuttle Creek Blvd. • 539-TAME

Group works for safety

Fearless group strives to prevent gender-based crime

CRESTON KUENZI

Let's say you're driving home for Thanksgiving and your car breaks down.

You're alone on a dark, deserted road and there's no sign

What would you do?

Ashley Weekly, freshman in pre-physical therapy and president of a club called Fearless, said she wants to make sure everybody is prepared for

"Our club was established this year at K-State to prevent gender-based crime," Weekly said. "Since many roads are not patrolled well at all, we feel like it's important to get the word

Weekly said the first club was established at Grinnell University after a safety incident.

"It was started in 1991 on the behalf of a girl at Grinnell who was abducted and killed," Weekly

Among Fearless' short-term goals are to get call boxes installed on interstates every five miles, the educating of students on safety issues and the enstatement of more effective law enforcement methods and procedures

Weekly said they have also been consulting with public officials to boost highway

"We've been working hard with Joan Wagnon to increase highway safety by getting the roads better patrolled to hinder crime," Weekly said.

The long term goals of Fearless include making the world a safe place for men and women and allowing men and women to trust each other on an equal basis.

HOW TO HANDLE CAR PROBLEMS ON THE ROAD

- Park your car as far off the traveled part of the road as possible to avoid a collision.
- Turn on your emergency flashers (hazard lights) and prop open the car's hood.
- Tie a light-colored cloth to the antenna or traffic
- Place a "send help" card in a window visible to
- Stay with the vehicle until help arrives, especially in bad weather. This lessens your risk of abduction or being hit by another car.
- If a motorist stops and offers to help, stay in your - car with the doors locked. Open the window just encuch to ask them to call the police for assistance.
- If you decide you must absolutely leave your car, leave a note with the following information on the
  - Name
  - Date and time
  - What happened
- Whom you left with, their license plate number and a description of the car and person
- What you were wearing
- Call the police if you abandon your vehicle to let them know the arrangements for having it towed.

SARA SMITH/Collegian

THE FIRST THANKSGIVING

American history as flavorful as potato pie

SERA L. TANK

When you sit down with your family next Thursday to celebrate a traditional Thanksgiving dinner, you may want to think about how traditional turkey and sweet potato pie really are.

Louise Breen, assistant professor for early American history, said while many of the general conceptions of the first Thanksgiving in 1620 are accurate. some of the traditions and beliefs we have as a part of Thanksgiving are very different.

"When the people that we call Pilgrims first arrived, they suffered a 50 percent death rate because the journey was so harsh," Breen said.

"When they finally did accomplish their first harvest, this was a pretty big achievement, hence the celebration," she said.

Breen said the Indians came into the Thanksgiving scene through an alliance between the Pilgrims and the Wampanoag Indians.

They made a treaty with each other the March before the first Thanksgiving," she said.

An Indian named Squanto, probably a familiar name to most who attended public schools, served as the go between for the Wampanoags and the Pilgrims.

Breen said our image of Squanto is also tainted. Squanto is often portrayed as a subservient man who too. is there only to serve the Pilgrims and their needs.

"Thanksgiving myth portrays Indians and Squanto in a way that they are just there to serve, when in fact they also had their own interest in the treaty," she said.

Breen said the treaty was overall, unfair to the Wampanoags. One clause said if Indians did something wrong to a Pilgrim, they were tried in an English court. If Pilgrims did something to an Indian, they were also tried in an English court.

"The treaty was written to put the English in a superior position, which may demonstrate their aims for the future," she said.

The actual Thanksgiving dinner may be different than you thought, Breen said the meal and festivities lasted at least three days, and the main foods were lobster, ■ See FIRST Page 12

Families' dilemma: Where

CORI CORNELISON

to eat

Turkey, pumpkin pies, sweet potatoes, dressing and hot rolls were all prepared to celebrate a traditional sit-down Thanksgiving meal, but the absence of your spouse's side of the family places a damper on the celebration.

Some K-State married couples find it hard to please both the inlaws and the parents when contemplating who to spend Thanksgiving and other holidays with, while other couples try to find a happy medium.

Bronson Farmer, junior in prevet, said it is hard to please both the in-laws and the parents when deciding which set of parents to spend the holiday season with.

Farmer said he and his wife are going to spend Thanksgiving with his parents because his birthday falls on Thanksgiving, but it is not so easy to decide on where to spend Christmas.

Tonya Peters, junior in elementary education, said she and her husband George have decided to trade-off with which set of parents to spend holidays with.

"That works with our parents, but not with our grandparents," she

Peters said she and her husband only get to see their grandparents every four years, and it poses a

"I already feel like I don't see my grandparents enough because I used to see them a lot," she said.

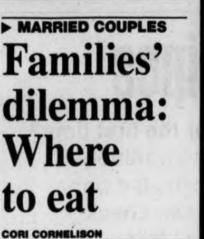

Peters said while taking turns spending the holiday season with each side of the family does solve the problem for the most part, it is

"We've kinda figured it out, but we fight a lot about it," she said.

On other hand, some K-State married students find a way around the holiday problem.

See DECISION Page 12

NO COUPON SPECIA

EVERYDAY! 2 FOR KSU $699+TAX

GET TWO 10" 1- TOPPING PIZZAS FOR JUST $6.99 + TAX. ADDITIONAL TOPPINGS FOR $1

AND THAT COVERS BOTH PIZZAS. SUNDAY INSANITY GET A 15" PIZZA FOR

THE PRICE OF AN EQUIVALENT 10" PIZZA. VALID SUNDAYS ONLY.

PARTY!! NO COUPON SPECIAL. 10-10" PIZZA = 785 SQUARE INCHES. 5-15" PIZZA = 875 SQUARE INCHES.
3 DOMINATORS = 900 SQUARE INCHES.

WEDNESDAY SPECIAL

$599 +TAX
GET ONE LARGE 1-TOPPING
PIZZA FOR JUST $5.99+TAX.

VALID WEDNESDAYS ONLY.

ONE TOPPING $30.00+TAX. SPECIALS EXPIRE 12/23/94. NOT VALID WITH OTHER OFFERS. PLEASE MENTION SPECIAL WHEN ORDERING.

WE DELIVER TO ALL OF MANHATTAN NEW HOURS: 11 A.M.

OPEN FOR LUNCH

TO ORDER, CALL: 776-7788

Cozy warmthhead to toe

from your outdoor equipment specialists!

Hats • Headbands Sweaters • Shirts Long Underwear Ski Jackets • Parkas Mittens • Gloves

Pants • Ski Pants Wool Socks

Sorel Boots • Hiking Boots Acorn Slipper Socks

Layaway now for Christmas.

304 Poyntz, Downtown 539-5639

Check

Mon.-Sat. 9 a.m.-6 p.m., Thurs. 'til 8 p.m., Sat. 9 a.m.-6 p.m.

Steves Floral

Come and see our complete line of holiday gifts, flowers, balloons, cards and so much more!

Local Delivery Available

Steve's Floral found inside Angel Alley 1204 Moro • 778-5800

Stick, Puke Weasel - 8 p.m. at Snookies.

Love Bites" — 8 p.m. at the Purple Masque

● / The Mask* - 7 and 9:30 p.m. in Union Forum Hall

NOVEMBER 15, 1994

CANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN CROSSWORD EUGENE SHEFFER ACROSS Campbell denizen cousin 37 Orchestra DOWN 1 Corvine 21 New Testa ment book 1 Golfer's section 5 Barbershop 38 Elsa 22 Persian target bigwig 23 Eulogy request Klensch's 2 — glance 3 Hardly 9 Legume field 24 Calendar 40 Kublai or holder ruddy 12 Colorado abbr. Genghis 4 Formed 26 British gun 42 Average neighbor 5 Subse-43 Comprequently 6 Depend 27 "- the 13 50 perfields we cent: prefix hensive, 14 Honest as a view (on) "- Little 28 Newspapolitician 48 "The 15 Long, per page Greatest Teapot" 29 Capone's 49 Satan's 8 Lost temspecialty porarily 50 Spike the 9 Commedia 31 lvy, for one old-style dell'arte 34 The whole punch 51 Fun 'n' character enchilada games, for short 10 Last writes? 35 Curtain-19 Gambling 11 Showroom 21 Schuss car, e.g. 16 Cask 37 1940s mecca 20 Barn headline puddy tatl' Solution time: 24 mins grabber 25 African 38 Mast 39 Story nation 26 Clear broth GREE 40 Heal, 30 Beach osteally goer's goal 31 Nicene, 44 Gardner of screendom for one 45 Navi-32 Unclose gator's aid in verse 46 Kerrigan's 33 Norma and Moira 35 Enemies 47 Average 36 Singer Yesterday's answer 11-15

CRYPTOQUIP ON FXI SIL XIK XN NOSP - tone / rotary phones. (18+ only.) A King Features service, NYC.

PED? For answers to today's crossword, call 1-900-454-6873 | 99¢ per minute, touch-

JTWVP, JTPWBP KSF

V W K W - T X M B IBOLM Yesterday's Cryptoquip: THE CRAVEN CAVIAR DEVOTEE WAS AFRAID OF HIS OWN SHAD ROE.

Today's Cryptoquip clue: T equals L

7."Doll Parts," Hole 8. "Self-Esteem," Offspring 9. "Feel the Pain," Dinosaur Jr. 10."Welcome to Paradise," Green

11. "Spin the Black Circle," Pearl

12. "Seether," Veruca Salt

15. "Buddy Holly," Weezer 16."Can't Even Tell," Soul Asylum 17."I Alone," Live

18. "My Wave," Soundgarden 19. "Something's Always Wrong," Toad the Wet Sprocket

20. "Fell on Black Days," Soundgarden

SARA SMITH/Collegian

THE FAR SIDE

GARY LARSON

► MIGRAINE

MIKE MARLETT/COLLEGIAN

CALVIN AND HOBBES

BILL WATTERSON

▶ FOXTROT

BILL AMEND

IT'S GOT ALL THESE AMAZIN ND-THE-SCENES PHOTOS. HERE'S BRENT "DATA" SPINER HERE'S WORF SITTING IN BEVERLY CRUSHER'S DIRECTOR'S CHAIR ... HERE'S PATRICK STEWART EATING A BAGEL BETWEEN

Cassie counsels man who thinks he's a slut, gives info to voter who missed elections

CASSIE.

Duveaux

Write to Cassandra: 116 Kedzie Hall Manhattan, KS 66506

E-Mail: cassandra @spub.ksu.edu

I wanted to ask your advice about a problem-why else would I write?

Well, here is the problem. I had a girlfriend for more than 2-1/2 years, during which time we never had sex. Now that we are broken up, I seem to be becoming a male slut. I was not a virgin when my ex and I started dating, but we decided not to have sex.

I have had sex with 10 different women in the last five months since we

I like to think that I have morals, but every single time that I am around a new woman, I end up having sex with

Please help.

Signed, Worried About Being a Slut

Dear Worried About Being a Slut,

You can't compare your past relationship with your new ones. They all will be different.

It may be a little strange being involved in so much sexual activity after deciding not to have sex with your girlfriend of two years. Nevertheless, that doesn't mean you are now a "male

Just because you're sexually active does not mean you have no morals. Sex is a natural desire among humans, and it feels good. You shouldn't feel guilty or think you're going to burn in hell if you decide to have sex before you're married or even with someone you don't love. It's the second-most basic desire behind

If you don't feel good about having sex with gals you hardly know, maybe you should take things slower.

Don't put yourself in a situation where the opportunity is going to arise. Stay with a group of people, don't accept the offer to go to her house at 2 a.m. after you've had a few drinks, and don't invite women back to your house until you're sure you can handle the possible consequences.

If sex is in the cards for you, remember to use protection. Your sexual activities could hurt you even more than your conscience

Dear Cassandra,

I am confused. I would like to vote but have not yet registered because I would like to vote in my home county. How do I register if I am here?

How do I vote by absentee ballot? Could you find this out for me as soon as possible?

Your Comrade, J. Finney

Dear J. Finney,

You are very confused. The elections actually occurred a week ago. While you have missed the latest election, you can register in Riley County at the County Clerk's office downtown, at the SGA office in the K-State Union, or even at Dillons.

If you want to register at home or vote absentee, you will need to call your home County Clerk's office.

Our own County Clerk's office would be happy to help you get the answers to these questions. You can give it a call at 537-6300.

▶ LETTER

Reader: No 'Cool Hand Luke' in review is uncool

Dear Editor:

This letter is in response to Russell Fortmeyer's review of "Apocalypse Now." I was completely dismayed to find that there was no mention of Paul Newman's role in "Cool Hand Luke." To my deep discouragement, Mr. Fortmeyer didn't even include any short anecdotes from Cool Hand Luke. For example, Luke and Dragline (played by George Kennedy) were involved in a nearimpossible event that had Luke eating fifty eggs in an hour. Perhaps Russell could have quoted the famous words: "What we've got here is a failure to communicate."

Sure, Mr. Fortmeyer gave much insight to 'Apocalypse Now,' but without making reference to Cool Hand Luke, the article was all for naught. Maybe in future articles he will be able to avoid the same mistakes. Please allow Russell to review my letter.

Yours truly, I.M. Concerned

Dear I.M. Concerned,

I usually don't do this sort of column, I save that for Cassandra (that bastion of high morals) and the Opinion page (that bastion of censored commentary).

RUSSELL

FORTMEYER

However, in this case, I'm willing to make an Mike, I mean, I.M., I think you have failed to point out in your letter that Rodney Dangerfield's "Easy Money" ranks with some of the best comedies in Hollywood history. That movie just gets

"no respect. Some of the best comedic lines ever uttered on screen passed from Dangerfield's (a.k.a. Monty Capuletti) lips in this film: "You're the inspiration for twin beds!" Ouch!

So, why no mention of "Easy Money"

Okay. Now, I'll admit Cool Hand Luke is a good flick. I haven't seen it for years, maybe I should rent it. Is it the best movie ever made? I don't think so. I think we'll reserve that honor for such grandiose Hollywood fare as last year's "Cabin Boy" and my personal favorite, "Ishtar."

However, I think we are entirely missing the boat on the real issue at hand. I think we have a real "failure to communicate."

Perhaps your real concern about my 'Apocalypse Now' review is not that it doesn't mention Cool Hand Luke, but that it doesn't mention myself enough. Instead of talking about Marlon Brando (ho-hum), I should have discussed my social life at length. Like, just the other night, I was watching the movie "Runaway Train" with a few close companions. We were munching on some of that new Orville Redenbudder's Movie Theater Style Popcorn ... mmm, delicious. It's definitely worth checking out (the movie, of course).

Do you see how boring the aforementioned musings on my life are? I can't bore the Collegian's readers with that sort of nonsense. That would be nonsense.

Instead, I'll give my current, must-see movies list 'o' the week (may be current releases or videos):

RUSSELL'S PICKS:

- "Ed Wood" -funny, be prepared for cross-dressing
   "Easy Money" -piss-your-pants funny
   "What's Eating Gilbert Grape?" -funny, yet sensitive
   "Cool Hand Luke" -worth a look (if time permits)

- 5. "Indochine" -had to throw a (good) foreign film in

Sincerely, Russell Fortmeyer A&E Staff Writer

Russell Fortmeyer is a professional art critic. These manuevers should not be attempted at home, and as always, no wagering.

BREA

Cancun from 1-800-235-TRIP

Spring Fever!

Manhattan house home to youth needing shelter

SACHA HANES

The four-bedroom house at 1201 N. 12th St., one block from campus, looks like all the others in the area.

The only difference is its occupants.

Instead of being occupied by college students, it is a youth shelter housing up to seven

The Helping Hands Home is emergency care for youths ages 12-18, managed by the Central Kansas Youth for Christ.

These kids can be runaways, the physically or sexually abused, non-criminal offenders, abandoned children or any other ward of the court that is in need of care.

The home is one of 13 such facilities in Kansas.

Susie and A.J. Nash live in the home and serve as house parents to the children.

They said the home opened last May and has seen about 50 youths come and go.

Susie Nash said the majority of the kids are juvenile offenders or abused children. The only children they refuse are ones that are physically dangerous to themselves or others.

The youths may stay up to 90

"The kids either come here between foster homes or other shelters," she said.

While the shelter is managed by Youth for Christ, religion is not forced on the kids, she said.

They must attend one meeting with a Youth for Christ counselor upon entering the home, but after that it is up to the individual to continue or not.

When the kids enters the home, they start on level one of a three-level privilege system, area.

Susie Nash said. They must prove to the staff that they deserve to move up to a different level and more privileges.

To do this, they earn points by doing chores and petitioning the staff each week to explain why they feel they should move up.

"They have a lot of energy," A.J. Nash said. "If you keep them busy, they stay out of trouble."

Karen Durham, placement coordinator-said the purpose of the priviledge system is to teach the kids how to have long-term and short-term goals.

Part of earning points means setting weekly goals and trying to meet them. Some of the goal are behavior-based, like not complaining, and others may be getting certain chores done.

In order for the kids to stay at the home, they must be in school or working toward a GED.

"One thing we supply is a tutor." A.J. Nash said. He said that in Kansas if a child gets suspended from one school, they are suspended from all schools in Kansas.

The tutor is provided for these kids who are unable to attend school, are having trouble getting enrolled and to provide afterschool assistance.

Out of the 13 staff members, Susie and A.J. Nash are two of the three full-time staff. They are on duty from 8 a.m. to 10 p.m. Monday through Friday.

One of the part-time staff members comes in and watches the house and kids when the Nashes are off-duty.

Durham, the third full-time staff member, is responsible for selecting the children to be placed at the home.

Currently, only one youth at the home is from the Manhattan

"We are looking to gear more toward our community," Durham

The home takes youths from an eight-county service area of the Child and Protective Services division of Social and Rehabilitation Services, but tries to keep one bed open for someone from Manhattan.

SRS provides operational costs based on a per-child, perday basis. This funds the day-today costs of housing, utilities, food, staff, transportation, insurance, administration and daily needs of the kids.

Other funding comes from donations and grants.

Ultimately, Durham said, they want to get the kids back home, into a family unit.

Susie Nash said that is not usually the case. Most go back to foster homes, other shelters or even jail.

"We try to create as much of a loving environment as possible," A.J. said.

"The biggest thing is building an instant relationship," he said.

"We've had a lot of success stories with kids who come in here with an attitude but have slowly adjusted," Susie Nash

"This house isn't huge, so we work on personal relationship skills," she said.

A.J. Nash said a lot of the kids don't know how to control their emotions and let them out in inappropriate ways.

He said they try to teach the kids discipline and control over individual emotions.

Durham said another thing the shelter wants them to leave with is a higher self-esteem. "We try to treat them all the same," Susie Nash said. "Everyone is important here."

AIDS sufferers teach greeks

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

presentation by saying that in college he believed HIV didn't affect him; he didn't know anyone who had HIV or AIDS.

"HIV was something somebody else got," Sullivan said.

He reminisced to the crowd about the fateful call he got two summers ago from his friend Goldman.

"I don't remember the exact words he used, but for the first time in my life, one of my very best friends told me he was HIVpositive, and I was blown away," Sullivan said.

Sullivan then introduced Goldman, who told his story.

"I decided to tell my story because there are so many people with backgrounds similar to mine that think that HIV and AIDS can never affect them," Goldman said.

He said he grew up in the Midwest and was raised in an father a Rabbi, and his mother a

Goldman said his parents took the time to discuss sex, drugs, alcohol and peer pressure with their

"I do believe that if AIDS had been discovered, they would have told me how it is and isn't transmitted, how to protect myself and, most importantly, how to be compassionate to those who have it," Goldman said.

He attended Indiana University in the early 1980s, when AIDS was barely a word yet. The first statistic he remembered hearing about AIDS was that only one in 10,000 college students would ever be infected with the HIV virus, he said.

"It was not a disease of the educated, they told me, and I believed them," Goldman said.

College equaled freedom for him, he said. He could stay out all upper-middle-class family - his night and drink if he wanted and then skip class the next day.

Besides learning how to become involved in college, he also said college was the place he learned to abuse alcohol. Goldman said he contracted the HIV virus by mixing alcohol and Now, he said, he wants to have an effect on others' lives by educating them about the ways to protect themselves.

'We know today that one in 200 college students is carrying HIV," Goldman said.

Members of the Panhellenic and Interfraternity councils also said they had positive feelings about the presentation.

"I think it was one of the most effective sessions," Deborah Gill, Panhellenic Council president, said. It was entertaining, and Joel and T.J. talked to the new members in ways they could understand."

Rate of technological advance has been astounding, speaker says

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

Born in 1936, Mander said he came into a very different world than the one of today.

"I was born before electronic typewriters, compact discs, satellites, jet travel, atomic bombs, videos or CD roms," he said. "In my lifetime of 57 years, all this has changed."

Mander said the rate of technological acceleration in the last 50 years has been astounding.

"This set of physical and technological changes is at least as important as who gets elected," he said. "Yet there has never been any public vote, no referenda. All of this technology has taken place without any meaningful public

Further, Mander said the public has only been presented the positive side of technology.

The technological society itself was a kind of advertising program,' he said. "It was a sales pitch for a lifestyle - a Utopian lifestyle, and we bought it."

When asked whether there was any hope, Mander used a metaphor.

"In order to not go over the cliff, we have to stop the car," Mander said. "And it's a good thing. It's a good thing to stop the car without actually knowing what to do after we stop it." Bonnie Zack, manager of the Espresso Royale Cafe, said she thought Mander had a lot of valid points. "I personally have not had a television for 25 years and have raised four children without it,"

Zack said. "I don't like television. And I find the advertisements very intrusive and bothersome."

Zack said she thought stopping technology seems like such a huge

"In terms of stopping the car, it's probably about individual people making individual choices," she said. "It boils down to a personal decision on how you want to spend your life and what you what to spend it doing."

Mander said the seemingly difficult task of turning the tide of advancing technology was worthwhile and that it must begin at the individual and local level.

"It's a battle we have to fight," he said. "You do it because you have to, not because you may not win."

ALZHEIMER'S DISEASE

Reagan's illness to increase awareness

Person can live from 2 to 20 years with disease

DEANA TESKE Collegian

Former president Ronald Reagan's announcement of his having Alzheimer's disease may bring a new awareness of this baffling disease.

Alzheimer's begins with memory loss, especially for recent events. It progresses slowly to include profound forgetfulness, disorientation, confusion and functional decline, such as forgetting how to drive a car.

Alzheimer's disease is not just another name for "senility," and it isn't a part of normal aging. The symptoms of AD are caused by damage to nerve cells in the brain. The only way to diagnose the disease with 100 percent accuracy is by looking at a sample of brain tissue under the microscope to identify the presence of abnormal structures, called plaques and tangles, according to reports by the Center on Aging at the University of Kansas Medical Center. This procedure is done after the patient

A person can live two to 20 years with the disease before death.

A doctor makes the diagnosis of "probable AD" while a person is still living by ruling out all other known causes of the symptoms. Many of the same symptoms are caused by other conditions that are treatable.

Most people will never develop AD, but the longer the life-span, the greater the chances. While only 4 percent of persons aged 65-74 are suspected of having "probable AD," about 48 percent of persons aged 85 and older may be affected by the disease, according to KU Medical Center reports.

Jan Skelton, sophomore in animal science/business, has experienced the suffering caused by AD because her grandfather has it. Her grandfather, 72, was diagnosed with AD four years ago. "I remember how he was forgetting how to do things; things he'd done for years, like driving a tractor," she said. After extensive tests, he was diagnosed and told he'd probably had it for a couple of years without knowing it.

"My grandma went through a stage of denial at first," Skelton

"It was very stressful for my family, not only mentally but financially.

Since then, her grandparents have moved to Florida so he could live in a home just for Alzheimer's His condition has declined rapidly after diagnosis and is in the final phases. He can't walk or talk, he has to be fed and has lost most control of bodily functions, Skelton "It's really sad because he can remember things from when he was wouldn't remember, even if he watched the game. Skelton said their family has adjusted to his condition now, a kid, but if you asked him who won the Chiefs' game yesterday, he because there is nothing that can be done for him.

There are several locations Kansas throughout Alzheimer's Association chapters and support groups for families and friends of people with AD.

for sports WILDCAT WATCH Every Wednesday in the Collegian

Your source

KSU HIV/AIDS Awareness Week

Families Living with HIV/AIDS: Nov. 28 noon-1p.m. Union Courtyard Panel of Speakers Candlelight Ceremony Danforth Chapel The Johnsons Union Courtyard The Johnsons Forum Hall Nov. 29 7-9p.m. AIDS Quilt Video Union Courtyard Salute to Life Walk Dec. 1 4-6p.m. Ahearn

Join the walk featuring 1000 flags in recognition of some of the Kansans known to be living with HIV-AIDS.

Sponsored By: Lafene Health Center Communicable Disease Committee Housing and Dining Services Association of Residence Halls

Boyd Hall Ford Hall Goodnow Hall Haymaker Hall

Moore Hall Putnam Hall VanZile hall West Hall

The Ying Quartet

Friday, November 18, 8 p.m. McCain Auditorium Kansas State University General Public/Faculty: $14 Senior Citizen: $10 Student/Child: $7

Since their debut in 1989, this brothers-and-sister team has been profiled on "CBS Sunday Morning," featured on "St. Paul Sunday Morning," and won the Naumburg Chamber Music Award. Scott Cantrell of the Kansas City Star said, "It was, quite simply, the most amazing string quartet playing I've ever heard." Hear for yourself when they play: Mozart's "Hunt" Quartet

Ralph Shapey's Quartet No. VIII

Schubert's "Death and the Maiden" For tickets call 532-5428 or come to the McCain box office. Box office hours: noon to 5 p.m. weekdays; from 1 p.m. before weekend matinees; and from 5 p.m. before weekend evenings. Tickets are also available at Manhattan Town Center customer service desk, K-State Union Bookstore, and ITR (Fort Riley). Persons with disabilities call 532-6428. * Presented in part by the Kansas Arts Commission, a state agency, and the National Endowment for the Arts, a federal agency. Events in the McCain Performance Series are supported by the K-State Fine Arts Fee.

532-6550 = 532-6550 = 532-6550

Advertise in the Collegian

$2 PITCHERS

100

34

MA

K-STATE UNION

HALL ROOM 103

KEDZIE

GET THE WORD OUT

PLACE YOUR CLASSIFIED AD IN KEDZIE 103

LASSIFIEDS

CANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

1 DAY 20 words or less - $5 each word over 20 - $.20 per word 2 DAYS 20 words or less - $6.25 each word over 20 - $.25 per word

3 DAYS 20 words or less - $7.25 each word over 20 — $.30 per word DAYS 20 words or less - $8 each word over 20 - $.35 per word

5 DAYS 20 words or less — $8.50 each word over 20 - $.40 per word

BULLETIN

Announcements

ADVANCED FLIGHT Training from 5000-hour ATP instructor. Private

ATP multi-engine

ATP multi-engine. Hugh Irvin, 539-3128.

Broke?

Earn $15

each time

plasma.

you donate

MANHATTAN

BIOMEDICAL

CENTER 1130 Gardenway

776-9177

COME FLY with us, K-State Flying Club has five air-planes. For best prices call Troy Brockway, 776-6735 after 5:30p.m.

ADD A splash to your next

ADD AN extra touch of

HOUSING/

For Rent-

REAL ESTATE

Apts. Furnished

AVAILABLE FALL very nice one, two, three and four-bedroom apart-ment complexes and

JAN. 1. One-bedrooms in complexes $280- $300. No pets, lease required 587-0399.

ONE-BEDROOM APART-MENT. Close to cam-pus. Available January '95. Hot water and heat-ing free. Rent $230. Call Sebastian, 539–3048.

ONE-BEDROOM, KITCHEN, bath, furnished or un-furnished. Close to campus. 537-0687. Leave message.

QUIET SURROUNDINGS

tions with great prices 537-1666, 537-2919.

bash. Great anytime.
Birthdays, mid-terms and Wildcat victory parties. Wet-N-Wild Mobile
Hot Tubs, 537–1825.

Party to rent a portable hot tub 537-7587, 539-7561.

.-Fri. 9 a.m.-6:30 p.m. Sat. 9 a.m.-2 p.m.

BOARD

ONE-BEDROOMS AVAIL-ABLE at 1026 Sunset. $385- $395. Remodeled units. Central air/ heat. Laundry facilities. Three blocks west of campus. 776-3804.

> SQ. APT. *FIREPLACE *POOL 537-9064 WEEKDAYS

STUDIO ONE block from campus. 776-0761.

For Rent-Houses

AVAILABLE JAN. through May or July. Furnished six-bedroom house. West- side City Park. Walk to campus. Non-smokers. No pets. $950 per month plus electric. 776-6396.

NON-DRINKER smoker, for two-bed-room place. No pets. References 539-1554

Roommate Wanted

AVAILABLE JANUARY. Male non-smoking roommate. $175/ month plus one-third utilities. Large bednon-smoking

FEMALE LOOKING for roommate to share two-bedroom apartment at Woodway. Cal 776-4901 leave mes

ROOMMATE FEMALE mester. Two-bedroom apartment one block from campus. $215/ month. 587-9431, leave FEMALE ROOMMATE to share two-bedroom trailer, available mid-December, $140/ month plus utilities, water and trash paid. 587-1915.

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted to share two-bedroom apart-ment. Close to campus

FEMALE ROOMMATE:

hattan Apartments, ground level, furnished apartment. Share with three males $200/ month plus utilities. (913)742-2743 after nished except bed-room. Great environ-ment, near campus. Call 532-9015 for ap-large two-bedroom apartment. Begin any-time from now to Jan. 15. $190. 776–3624. ROOMMATE WANTED.

Available Nov. 19 539-2468. Keep trying. CONDITIONS.

Non-smoking male col-lege student needed to share nice two-bed-room apartment. About 10 minute walk About 10 minute waits to campus. Close to Aggieville too. $210/month plus utilities. Sorry, no pets! Lease starts when you move in. Call John right away at 776–9559.

ROOMMATE WANTED: Wanted, responsible male to share new four-bedroom Chase apartment. Jan.- July occu-pancy, $200/ month, one-fourth utilities and cable. Call 776-9365. HOW TO PAY

d. There is a $10 service charge We reserve the right to edit, reject or HEADLINES

For an extra charge, we'll put a headline above your ad to catch the reader's attention.

DEADLINES

Classified ada must be placed by noon the day before the date you wan your ad to run. Classified display ada must be placed by 4 p.m. two working days prior to the date you want your a

FREE FOUND ADS
As a service to you, we run found ade
for three days free of charge.

CANCELLATIONS

If you sell your item before your ad has expired, we will refund you for the remaining days.

You must call us before noon the day the ad is to be published.

CORRECTIONS If you find an error in your ad, picall us. We accept responsibility of for the first wrong insertion.

Call 532-6555 to place your classified.

255 Other

PROMPT CONTRACEPTIVE and abortion services. Dale L. Clinton, M.D., Lawrence, (913)841–5716.

EMPLOYMENT/

$1500 WEEKLY possible mailing our circulars!
No experience required! Begin Now! For information call (202)298–8957.

Fishing Industry. Earn up to $3000-$6000 plus per month. Room and Board! Transporta-tion! Male/ female. No experience necessary! A57682.

AMATURE PHOTOGRA-PHER, with decent equipment needed for wedding ceremony on Dec. 3, 1994. Price ne-gotible. Call Robert at 587-0845.

ATTENTION STUDENTS: Earn extra cash stuffing envelopes at home. All materials provided. Send SASE to Central Distributors P.O. Box 10075, Olathe, KS 66051. Immediate re-

COMPUTER NETWORK ADMINISTRATOR: parthardware maintenance

Application deadline is noon on Tuesday, Nov. CRUISE SHIPS NOW HIRING. Earn up to $2000 plus/ month working on Cruise Ships or Land-Tour companies. World trav-el (Hawaii, Mexico, the Caribban et al. See

MACINTOSH TROUBLESHOOTER: parttime student position, mostly regular scheduled hours with possible emergency hours.
Assists in overseeing
55-computer Macintosh network, including
hardware and software
troubleshooting and
general maintenance.
Should be familiar with Macintosh operating systems 6 and 7. Minimum wage to start. mum wage to start. Pick up an applications at 113 or 103 Kedzie. Application deadline is noon on Tues., Nov. 22.

NATIONAL
JOBS- Over 25,000
openings! (including
hotel staff, tour guides,
etc.) Benefits plus bonuses! Apply now for best positions. Call:
(206)545-4804 ext.
N5781

facility for the severe and persistent mentally ill. Duties include moni-toring/ supervision of daily living skills, and gainy living skills, and planning/ supervising recreational activities. Must be available to attend a team staff meeting weekly. Contact the Community Support Program Supervisor at Pawnee Mental Health Services. Services, 587-4333. EOE.

SKI RESORT JOBSI Ever

Rockies? For fun and adventure call Ski-Venure (619)683-2300.

nure (619)683-2300.

STUDENT COMPUTER Operator (2nd shift) 10-30 hrs. per week. Must be willing to work hours indicated and work every other weekend. Must be enrolled in at least six resident semester hours during spring semester and willing to work during student recesses and summer months. Applications will be accepted until 5:00pm, Nov. 18, in rm. 28 Farrell Library. Undergraduates with employment potential for two years will be given two years will be given preference. STUDENT WORKER- Typing, filing and related business office duties, dBase and/ or word pro dBase and/ or word pro-cessing experience helpful. 15– 20 hours/ week during school, 30– 40 hours during sum-mer. Apply to Carol, Ex-tension Business and Finance, 121 Umberger through 11/17/94.

STUDENTSI WORK even-ings now until Christ-mas break. Four hours/ night, M- F, $5.50/ hour and up. Need good strong phone voice. De-pendable. Randy or Pam 539-2121.

DOORS Over 10,000 openings! National Parks, Forests, Fire Crews. Send stamp for free details. Sullivan's 113 East Wyoming, Kalispell, MT 59901.

TECHNICAL SUPPORT position available for K-State student with a variety of skills. Must have good interperson-al problem solving skills. Experience with PC's and popular soft ware packages such as ware packages such as WordPerfect, Quattro-Pro and Windows appli-cations desired. Must have understanding of MS-DOS and Windows. Network experience helpful. Tasks include mail list conversions and operating high-tech mail equipment. Applications available/ accepted through Nov. 15, 1994 in 211 Umberg-

THIRD SHIFT Student Computer Operator: 20 hours per week. Must be willing to work hours indicated: Tues. and Thurs, and every other Sat. Must be en-rolled in at least six resident semester hours during spring semes-ter. Willing to work dur-ing student recesses and summer months Applications will be ac Applications will be accepted until 5:00pm, Nov. 18, in room 28 Far-rell Library. Undergrad-uates with employment potential for two years will be given preference.

15 year old girl during off season, Nov.- Jan. at two hours per week, $5/ hour. 776-2155.

VOLLEYBALL COACH for Opportunities

Business

DON'T BE fooled by a scheme or ads that FLASH DOLLAR AMOUNTS. Call Stratton Enterprises to start your own business in We operate with MORE THAN JUST ONE LONG DISTANCE CARRIER. Get paid commission on your commission on your customers usage. Call 1-238-7871. Leave message and phone MAKE $3900 first month. Telecommunications Company expanding into area. Needs managers, sales reps, trainers. Small investment reqired. Training provided. Call Jeaneane (800)977–6836 for interview.

OPEN MARKET

Wanted to Buy CHRISTMAS CASH? We buy used Air Jordans 85- 91 editions and late 70's and early 80's. Nike runninng shoes, pay up to $2001 1-800-873-3538

Items for Sale

FOR SALE: Gorgeous black formal, size 7, strapless, three-quarter length, Perfect for upcoming Christmas formal or dinner. Reasonable price. Call 539-8870 after 4:30 or leave message for Cristy.

MICROWAVE, DESK, 12-speed women's bike, three bar stools, free standing kitchen cabi-net, student acoustic guitar. Best offer. 537-7988.

MOTORCYCLE HELMET and cover, both like new. Call after 5p.m. 537-2342.

STICK and WCS, $75 each. Car amplifiers, 90WXZ, $180, 45WXZ, $120 776-8923. THRUSTMASTER

Furniture to Buy/Sell

FOR SALE: Queen set Re stonic mattress, founda-tion, steel bed frame, used one year. $350, 776-2433.

Antiques

TIME MACHINE Antique Maul and Geeb Empori-um, 6000 square feet, antiques, collectibles, estate jewelry, furni-ture, 4910 Skyway Dr. four blocks east of Man-hattan Airport. Open Tues.- Sat. 12- 6p.m. 539-4684.

Computers HARDWARE FOR sale Soundblaster, game-blaster, 5.25-inch high density, floppy disk drive. Call 776-7763.

IBM COMPATABLE comtor, keyboard, printer and software. Great for papers. $400 or best off-er. Contact Mike at 587-0269.

LAPTOP COMPUTER, Pack-ard Bell 386, 80 hard drive, many extras. Call (913)263-1597. MACINTOSH COMPUT-ER. Complete system including printer only $500. Call Chris at (800)289-5685.

Food Specials CHINESE CABBAGE, orien tal radishes, greens hot peppers, spinach peanuts, squash, sweet pototoes. Barbara's Market, Juliette and Fort Riley Blvd. 539-1414.

Instruments

ACOUSTICAL- ELECTRI-CAL Bass guitar for sale. $200. 395-4805.

OR WRITE

COLLEGIAN CLASSIFIEDS Kedzie Hall 103 Manhattan, Kan. 66506

OFFICE HOURS MONDAY-FRIDAY 8 a.m.-5 p.m. (Except holidays)

PARKING

SOUTH OF THE

Tour Packages

BETVE YOURSELF & SAVE!

Pets and

PARKING

532-6555

532-7309

450

Supplies SNAKE- BOA three feet

long with big cage. $140, Dave 539-0169.

Sporting Equipment

FOR SALE: solo-Flex, three years old, all attach ments. Excellent condition. Call 539-4680.

Tickets to Buy/Sell

FOR SALE: Student basket ball tickets; $70. Call 537-8938. Leave mes-

TWO KANSAS City Chiefs football tickets for Nov 20 game. 539-7377 Leave message.

WANTED: TWO student Tickets for OSU game. Please call 776-4908.

TRANS-PORTATION

Automobiles

1979 DATSUN 210, 100K miles, automatic de-pendable. $750, or best offer. 537-3219. 1983 HONDA Accord, four door, automatic, air, stereo, cruise. Excellent condition. Asking $1685. Call 776-3410, eave message. 1984 TOYOTA Tercel, two door. Air conditioner, AM/FM, excellent condition 106K miles. Call Bhavani 587-9584 or Chandran 537-0677.

conditioned/ AM/FM cassette, cruise, $8700 or best offer. H-1-(913)935-2593, W-1-(913)296-3630.

1988 TOYOTA 4-runner

1991 NISSAN NX 2000 Burgundy color, five speed manual transmis sion. AM/FM stereo cas sion. AM/FM stereo cas-sette, fog lights, rear window wiper/ defog-ger, T-top extractable sunroof with remov-able sun shields. 51,000 miles (military and home, Georgia, travel). Owner is PCSing to Ko-rea. Price $8000. 276-1082 TRIPS

rea. Pr 776-1082. FOR SALE: 1980 CJ7 4x4, six cylinder, auto, hard-top, $1800 or best offer. Wayne 537-7587.

MUST SELL one: 1986 Buick Regal, 305 V-8, automatic transmission, air conditioned two-door or 1982 Buick Park Avenue, 5.7 diesel automatic transmis sion, air conditioned new tires. 532-1536 asi for Ken, after 5p.m. call (913)499-5335.

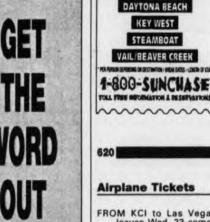

530

Motorcycles

1989 KAWASAKI Ninja 600R, good condition. 14K miles $2400 or best offer. Must sale. Call 539-5068 after 8p.m.

Car Pool

NEED A ride to Lincoln, NE. Nov. 22- 27. Emily 395-3868. Will pay one-SOUTH PADRE ISLAND PANAMA CITY BEACH

FROM KCI to Las Vegas

leaves Wed. 23 comes back Sun. 27, $250 or best offer. Leave mes-sage 776-1930.

ADVERTISING PRODUCTION Publication Practice

COLLEGIAN CLASSIFIEDS

532-6556

JMC 360 Class size is limited so sign up now.

Get training and gain experience while earning one hour of credit this spring. Attend class one day a week from 8:30-11:30 a.m. You pick the day of the week based on availability. The instructor's permission is required. The experience you gain in the spring would qualify you to apply for a paid position in the summer or fall.

Come to 113 Kedzle 8 a.m.-4 p.m. for more information and syllabus.

CLASSIFIED DIRECTORY

TIPS FOR WRITING A

are advertising first. This helps potential buyers find what they are looking for. Don't use abbreviations. Many buyers are confused by abbreviations.

CATEGORIES

looking for, the classified ads have been arranged by category and sub-category. All categories are marked by one of the large images, and sub-categories are preceded by a number designation.

AVAILABLE FALL very nice one, two, three and four-bedroom apart-ment complexes and houses. Excellent loca-tions with great prices. 537-1666, 537-2919. LARGE, CLEAN, two-bed-

Apt. Unfurnished

room apartment. Available in December. $300 month. Call or leave

ONE-BEDROOM IN Aggleville available Jan. 1. $290/ month. Call 537–1587.

CAMBRIDGE 2 BEDROOMS

9:00-4:30 *****

room, laundry, pool Close to campus. Call sand Aggieville. Rent $220 but negotiable, one-half utilities (non-smoker). Available Dec. 15. Call 587–8618.

three blocks from cam-pus, furnished, dish-washer. $210 plus half utilities. Call 587-9597. FOR RENT at Chase Man-

LARGE, BRICK, four-bedroom home is losing a female roommate. Needed- female to sub-lease spring semester. Washer/ dryer, all fur-

MALE STUDENT room-mate wanted Jan. 1. $180 per month. Call Brad 537-4186.

NON-SMOKER, SHARE house, utilities with re-sponsible mostly male household. Large bed-room, laundry, $160.

ample parking. Walk to campus and Aggieville. Male student to share ssifieds must be peid in adva miess you have an established account the Student Publications.

Cash, check, MasterCard or Vise are

WANTED NON-SMOKING and non-drinking room-mate for basement fur-nished private bed-room. Walk to KSU. $150. Share utilities. 539-1554.

ANTED ROOMMATES to share nice four-bed-room house for spring and/ or fall '95 semes-ters call Shauna (776-3130). WOODWAY APARTMENT for sublease. Female roommate needed to sublease furnished apartment in January or before. $208/ month plus one-third utilities. Please call 776-9587 if interested- Leave a

Sublease AVAILABLE JANUARY 1. Very nice one-bedroom apartment, in quiet neighborhood. $315 a month, inexpensive bills. Call 776-5941.

FOR SPRING semester-available end of Dec. One-bedroom apartmpus. Call 537-4768 NICE, CLEAN, two-bedroom apartment, two blocks from campus and close to aggieville. Available after Dec. 19. Call 776-1324. ONE ROOM for rent in large, beautiful, seven-bedroom home; $150/ month plus one-sev-enth utilities; kitchen and laundry available; four blocks from cam-pus; January 1 to May 31 sublease available;

537-2497- ask for Russ

THREE-BEDROOM, ONE and one-half bath apartment. Two blocks from campus, $220, mostly furnished. Move in after finals or Jan. 1. Call Amy 776–0293 or 776–7004, leave mes-

TWO-BEDROOM, CLOSE

or leave message.

DIRECTORY

Resume/ Typing BRING YOUR papers, resumes, and projects to life at The Computer Help Desk. Top- quality printing, with graphics if desired. Great stuff at great prices! Call 537-3018. WELL EXPERIENCED typist by day would like typ-ing at night. Laser print-ing. Call Judy 539-7100 or 456-9642.

Pregnancy Testing Pregnancy Testing Center

539-3338 ·Free pregnancy testing Totally confidential

STVICE Same day results ·Call for appointment

Located across from

Anderson Village Mon.-Fri. 9 a.m.-5 p.m.

Automotive Repair

NISSAN- DATSUN Repair Service. 22 years ex-perience. Mazdas, Hon-das and Toyotas also. Auto Craft, 2612 Dipper Lane, Manhattan, Kan-sas. 537-5049. 8a.m.-5p.m. Mon.- Fri

Services

CAREERS

Help Wanted

ALASKA EMPLOYMENT-

time student position, mostly regular sched-uled hours with some emergency trou-bleshooting hours. Re-sponsible for oversee-ing 55-computer Macin-tosh network, including software backups, and Macintosh operating systems 6 and 7. Client server networking for an ethernet network. TCP/IP experience a plus. Salary negotiable based on experience in 113 or 103 Kedzie.

Caribbean, etc.) Sea-sonal and full-time em-ployment available. No experience necessary. For more information call (206)634-0468 ext. C57682.

MALE MODELS up to $50 an hour for photography work. Send photo and description to P.O. Box 113 Salina, KS 67402-0113.

RESIDENTIAL ASSIS-TANT: Part-time posi-tion available for a five bed male residential

CLASSIFIED AD Always put what item or service you

Consider including the price. This tells buyers if they are looking at something in their price range.

To help you find what you are

WE DO NOT USE PHONE NUMBERS OR LAST NAMES IN PERSONALS.

MULTICULTURALISM

Speaker offers ideas, wisdom

be a multicultural university, a school needs to have an autonomous ethnic studies department, said a keynote speaker at the Regents Conference on Diversity and Multiculturalism in University Curriculum.

Evelyn Hu-DeHart, history professor and director of the Center for Studies of Ethnicity and Race in America at the University of Colorado, said she is on a mission to promote the institutionalization of ethnic studies and multiculturism in universities.

In her speech, Hu-DeHart shared her personal observations of the attempt to institutionalize multiculturism in universities.

Hu-DeHart said the three components of the issue are the students, faculty and the curriculum.

The students are the most diverse group on campus and see the greatest progress in the journey to greater diversity, she

"President Wefald said he is proud of the diversity achievements in Manhattan, which is far from civilization. But the colleges can't claim the credit," Hu-DeHart said.

Demographic changes are responsible and account for the great changes in racial diversity on college campuses - student diversity would happen no matter what, she said.

Hu-DeHart said it is one thing for schools to recruit ethnic students to campuses. It is also important for the students to stay in school and graduate.

"The challenge is retention," she said

"With the exception of Asian-American students, the graduation rates of students of color are below those of white students.

Universities have a long way to go to retain students of color in school.'

While the doors to higher education are opening wider for students of color, everyone must take advantage of it, she said.

Ethnic faculty also face a battle of their own, not only for ethnic studies courses in the curriculum, but for tenureship and advancement in the department. To network minorities into the faculty positions, "target of opportunity positions" were developed to ensure minorities a position, Hu-DeHart said. If the job is filled with a qualified person, the program is enlarged and enhanced.

"With this, the department kills two birds with one stone,"

But this doesn't always work, and the department can take away other positions of value or can sabotage the program, she said.

In order to have an ethnic studies curriculum, the university needs serious faculty and diversity, she said.

"The faculty must be willing and equipped to take on this massive project," she said.

Hu-DeHart said the strategy that schools like K-State are taking is the strategy of integration.

"This is an incentive system to incorporate minorities' contributions into established courses or to make new ones," she said.

This involves not only teaching the content, but considering and teaching the perspective of the ethnic-related

The Regent's Conference is being sponsored by Emporia State University, Fort Hays State University, K-State, Pittsburg State University, Wichita State University, the University of Kansas, the Kansas Board of Regents and the Council of Chief Academic Officers.

Today's activities include two key-note speakers and panel discussions

"The theme of the morning is infusion, and the afternoon will focus on the specific courses, issues and the ethnic groups studied," Harriet Ottenheimer, professor of sociology, anthropology and social work,

After the speakers, the conference guests will be able to participate in group discussions to discuss the issues further.

"Most of the guests are faculty from the various schools and have experience to share," Ottenheimer said.

So far the conference has run smoothly, she said.

We have a lively group that is much larger than expected,"

Resident: Youths responsible for vandalism

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

discovered Sunday morning that his car had a flat tire, along with his wife's car, and his neighbor's car across the street and his next-door

Speer said he's not sure who slashed the tires, but it could be gang-related.

"I live on Moro," Speer said. "I'm not putting down college students, but when you live on Moro, things happen.'

Speer said he believes the person who slashed the tires in his neighborhood is a kid not accustomed to paying $100 for a tire, or they would have thought twice before slashing them.

Speer said he worries about his children's safety because he has noticed several gang-related activities near his home, such as spray-painted graffiti and suspicious-looking people walking in the alley behind his house.

"I thought Manhattan was quiet and calm," Speer said, "But now we're starting to have problems with spray-painting and tireslashing.'

Dave Bly, 416 Moro St., said he and his son's automobiles, along with two automobiles that belonged to his neighbors across the street were each targets for the tire slashing Saturday night. Bly said he's not sure who is responsible, but he too said there is a possibility that is was gang-

"I think it's kids, because most people, when they mature, quit doing things like this.'

Bly said the slashings also could have been committed by someone with bad luck at the bars or from someone at a party close to his house that night

"It was random, and whatever the guy felt like poking after.

'Maybe it was some guys with bottles in their hands saying, 'You poke a tire, and you can have a drink," Bly said. "It could've been something like that, I guess."

Bly said in the 37 years he has lived in Manhattan, there has been a definite increase in the number of gang-related incidences.

Recently, Bly said, his 11-yearold son was chased out of the arcade in the Manhattan Town Center by gang members.

"If you call the cops, what are they going to do?" Bly said. hands and turn them loose."

Events involving vandalism costs taxpayers extra money that could be used to solve other crimes, Speer said.

"This incident cost me $150. If you add up the dollars, plus the policeman's time, it's a lot of money," Speer said. "Those punks are tying up police and tax dollars."

Rusher said community action is necessary to solve this type of problem.

"I think it takes the reaction of the community to be responsible and report incidents like this," Rusher said.

"Both the community and police department need to work hand-inhand to combat this type of

Smith remembered for aggressive leadership

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1 that's important at a university and an experiment station.' Feltner said Smith was appointed to numerous state and federal posts.

He was president of Faculty Senate, chairman of the North Central Association of Agricultural Experimental Station Directors. chairman of the Great Plains Agricultural Council and member of the U.S. Secretary of Agriculture Advisory Committee.

"He was active in promoting Kansas agricultural products in Western Europe, Eastern block countries, Latin America and Southeast Asia," Feltner said.

"He was always eager to spend time with visiting (agricultural) teams from foreign countries," he Feltner said he had called upon Smith's considerable knowledge about Kansas agriculture.

'His aggressive leadership on behalf of Kansas agriculture is felt even today and remembered and appreciated by many who are privileged to have worked with him," Feltner said.

"He had over 1,000 students in his undergraduate and graduate courses, many of whom have distinguished themselves in agriculture and related areas," he

Smith is survived by his wife,

June Smith; a son, Floyd Smith Jr. of Racine, Wis.; two daughters, Diane Washam, Vail, Ariz., and Sharon Urbanek, Manhattan; one brother, George Smith, Tonganoxie, Kan.; one sister, Virginia Meyer, Powhattan, Kan.; grandchildren and one stepgrandchild.

Memorial contributions can be made to the Alzheimer's Disease Foundation and left in care of the funeral home.

Alternatives in parking situation include restrictive permits, garage

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

"Costs for students who want to park in the center of campus would increase substantially," he

Archer said the shuttle and the restrictive permits could be used

"We would restrict permits to those students who live further from campus, but we would offer them the option of taking the shuttle," he said.

A parking garage would create more parking stalls, Edie said.

"It would also enable more students to park closer to the heart of campus," he said Edie said one drawback would be the cost of the parking permits and traffic problems replacing parking problems. "Permits would range from $160 to $240 a year," he said. Edie also said some possible locations for the garage would be near Shellenberger Hall or

Memorial Stadium. Those

locations could turn the parking problems into traffic problems. "No matter where you put it, I can't see that there wouldn't be a traffic congestion problem," he

As for the do nothing option, Edie said he is not expecting a lot of surveys will come back with that checked. "People will just mark that if they are not satisfied with any of the other options," he said. Edie said the surveys will not begin to be tallied until Tuesday, but he has already gotten some feedback from a few people. "I've gotten two things from the few people I've spoken with. First, they like the idea of the shuttle, but are not willing to support it. Second, doing nothing is not an option," he said. Edie also thinks that increasing class time would help the parking problem.

"Instead of having the core of classes between 9:30 and 1:30,

00110

03630

061300

08550

08560

spread them out during the day. That would also spread out the usage of campus parking.'

Ron Dowdy, technical consultant for the task force, said the results will not be tabulated and released until sometime after Thanksgiving break.

"We are predicting 700 plus surveys will be returned and that will take quite a while to calculate," he said.

Archer said the administration will attempt to implement whatever the majority of respondents of the survey want. Whatever the outcomes are, that's what we'll base the decision on. It'll be interesting to see what people want and are willing to pay for," he said.

Edie said he has his ideas of which options would work best.

"The restrictive parking would be the lowest option. I would push for the shuttle system simply because of the possible incorporation with the city."

Decision can be difficult

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 8

"My wife's family is coming to Manhattan to spend Thanksgiving with us," Mac Crossett, senior in mechanical engineering, said.

Becky Katzenmeier, junior in Spanish education, said it is frustrating sometimes when deciding which parents to spend holidays with, but they don't really have any problems.

Katzenmeier said Thanksgiving she and her husband are going to spend Tuesday and Thursday in Kansas City at her parents' home and then drive to Wichita to visit his parents.

"I think both of us want to be with our families during the holidays, so we choose to drive the distance," she said.

Katzenmeier said, Christmas is more difficult for them, but they've decided to spend Christmas Eve in Wichita and Christmas Day in Kansas City.

"I miss not having the entire break (at her parents' house), but it's not a problem It could be much

34572

32050 32210

First dinner different from today

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 8

eel, venison, goose, ducks and maybe some turkey.

"English people in the 17th century viewed seafood as the food that poor people eat, so they weren't all together pleased with having to eat the lobster and other shellfish," she said.

Chances are that pumpkin pie was not at the dinner, Breen said. "They were too exotic. They had only been there a year and didn't know what to do with the pumpkins The vegetables were your basic corn and squash, which is another thing that disappointed the Pilgrims, Breen said. They really missed the idea of having wheat and their other English vegetables," she said. Breen said beloved cranberry sauce wasn't present because there was no sugar, but the Indians did bring some cranberry pudding. The idea of celebrating

Thanksgiving on the same day of every year was unthought of and considered sacrilegious in 1620.

"They only declared a thanksgiving when they truly had something to be thankful for, and it would be considered self-indulgent to declare a thanksgiving without a good cause," she said. It was not until the end of the Civil War when Abraham Lincoln declared it a national holiday, that it was decided Thanksgiving would be celebrated on the fourth Thursday of every November. With the country divided over the Civil War, he wanted something that would establish national unity," Breen said.

The Thanksgiving that most European-Americans celebrate as a festive holiday to give thanks, Native Americans mourn as a day of loss, Harald Prins, associate professor of anthropology, said. "For the hospitality they showed the newcomers, they paid dearly."

Prins said after the Pilgrims came, Native Americans lost 97 percent of their land and 90 percent of their people.

Indians gave the Pilgrims were not actually gifts at all.

The Pilgrims were wandering in the cold and found an abandoned Indian village. In the village, they actually a gift for the dead. 'The first gifts weren't from Indians, they were from grave

Americans who are celebrating Thanksgiving need to be aware that there are others who are not, he Prins said.

CLOSED CLASS LIST

18290 18300

20300 20710

23360 23370

25130 25150

28780

15120 15140

10380 10390

13490 13550

C - Canceled class

Updated 5:17 PM, November 14, 1994

*Closed class list also available in Unicorn

Retiring dairyman fondly thought of by faculty CONTINUED FROM PAGE 3

quiet ways, behind the scenes, Ed has always sought to help others." Call said his No. 1 achievement has been a lot of little things that have generated knowledge to allow successful. He came to K-State to work for the Kansas Artificial Breeding people in the dairy industry to be

Service Unit on Dec. 1, 1952. Call later earned his Ph.D. and taught genetics, dairy science and animal reproductive physiology

He said that some of what he taught in the 1970s is antiquated, but the basic fundamentals and principles are still the same,

Call said instilling the ability to think and solve problems is most important in teaching.

During his eight years in the classroom, Call also researched dairy cattle fertility.

"Ed's research work has always been a very practical, applicable type of research," Dunham said.

Since 1979, Call and Dunham have worked with dairy producers through the Cooperative Extension

Call said he has also worked with bankers and agricultural economists, who have called him with questions to get background information or to determine if facilities will cash flow. "Extension is the greatest system in the world," said Call.

'After losing all that, there is not much to be thankful for," he said.

Prins also said the first gifts the found several mounds of dirt with corn in them. The mounds were actually graves and the corn was robbers," Prins said.

"Without ruining every one's meal, it's not only time to think of your own bellies, but it's also time we should reach out to the less fortunate just as the Indians did,"

"The biggest problem is that we

Dunham, who has worked in the

He also said Call has an

"He's been one of the most

Riley said the department, as well as producers and extension

"He's a really, really special faculty member," Riley said.

made him, they pretty much broke

"As the saying goes, when they communicators I've ever been extension department for about 25 years, said

Call has always had a very effective don't brag too much about it."

program in dairy extension.

excellent sense of humor.

around," Dunham said.

people, will miss Call.

outstanding

the mold.

KANSAS STATE W 10th

Exp. Date 00/00 Kansas State Historical Section

AIDS.

A story of a woman with HIGH.

NOVEMBER 16, 1994

KANSAS STATE UNIVERSITY, MANHATTAN, KANSAS 66506

WEATHER - PAGE 2

► LIVESTOCK JUDGING

K-State captures national judging title

The K-State Livestock Judging Team won a national championship in Louisville. Ky.

JANET McPHERSON

Debate team, move over. K-State has a reason to request more room on Interstate 70's signposts publicizing a national championship.

The K-State Livestock Judging Team won the 1994 National Livestock Judging Championship at the North American International Livestock Exposition in Louisville, Ky.

Will the new win appear along the interstate highway?

"I suppose that is something we could take a look at," President Jon Wefald said.

the title and traveling trophy at a Tuesdaymorning banquet in Louisville, Dave Nichols, associate professor of animal sciences and

"I'm just tickled to death that they won it," Nichols said. "Very few kids spend as much time perfecting their talents as these people do, and it's nice to see it pay off with a win."

industry, said.

"This is the first time since 1983 that K-State's the won national championship for livestock judging," Nichols said.

Nichols said team coach Scott Schaake, assistant professor of animal sciences of the 1983 winning K-State team and won in the high-individual category in Louisville that year.

The judging team also placed first overall Nov. 5 at the American Royal in Kansas City, Mo.

"The last time to our knowledge, at least, that a team has won both contests was in 1974, when K-State won them both," Jack Riley, department head of animal sciences and industry, said.

Riley said the team is undefeated this fall, having won the Mid-America contest in Wichita in September.

Four of the five team

Louisville also judged at the American Royal in Kansas City, Mo., Riley said.

Out of eight team members, Riley said the five who judged at Louisville are all seniors in animal sciences and industry.

Team member Brandon Anderson earned third-high individual honors at Louisville and was high individual at the American Royal. Kevin Kuhlmann finished as fifth-high individual at Louisville.

Steve McNorton, Jeff Sleichter and Matt Nelson also judged for K-State's championship win.

Nichols said the team judged beef cattle, sheep and hogs. The team placed first in sheep and third in oral reasons.

About 40 teams from all across the United States compete in the four-year division, Nichols said. Junior colleges compete in a separate division.

The team members and faculty involved with the livestock-judging program will be invited to a special luncheon to honor the championship win, Wefald said.

"This 1994 K-State Livestock Judging Team is made up of eight outstanding students and an outstanding coach," Wefald

FINALS SCHEDULE

VOLUME 99B. NUMBER 62

Yesterday's graphic incorrectly stated the time as 7:30 to 9:20 p.m. The correct time is 7:30 to 9:20 a.m. The Collegian regrets the error.

Monday, Dec. 12 Family Relations Expository Writing 1-2 Mechanical Material

Tuesday, Dec. 13 Public Speaking 1-1A Dynamics

Statics

Economics 1-2 Wednesday, Dec. 14

Fundamentals of Computer Thursday, Dec. 15

Programming Principles of Biology Elementary Survey

Friday, Dec. 16 Introduction of Human Development Engineering Physics 1 & 2

"I began to alter course content and students with definitions I challenged with in my institutional affiliation."

"We need to university, not

The institution change the curriculum.

should feel like home for everybody."

just the

CHERYL LESTER

English at KU challenge wasn't

Educators from across Kansas and the United States gather at K-State to discuss multiculturalism in universities

"We need to have students broadly exposed to diverse issues we're concerned about."

GAYLE DAVIS WSU women's studies instructor

"We're creating a presence on campus. Faculty and students are being sought out as visiting speakers."

> HARRIET OTTENHEIMER

professor of American ethnic studies and anthropology at K-State

Keynote speakers for the Kansas Board of Regents conference on Diversity and Multiculturalism in the University Curriculum, James Williams, Evelyn Hu-DeHart and director of affirmative action and diversity at the University of Nebraska

ERIC JOLLY

DIVERSITY CONFERENCE

Ethnic-studies classes growing

Universities share views on multiculturalism

PRUDENCE SIEBERT

The implementation multiculturalism into the classroom is necessary, a panel of various university faculty said Tuesday. As part of the Regents Conference on Diversity and Multiculturalism in the University Curriculum, faculty from Wichita State University, K-State, Fort Hays State University and the University of Kansas shared their views Tuesday in the K-State Union Big 8

Gayle Davis, from the women's studies department at Wichita State, said class structure is important.

She said that although things are being done, such as the addition of new scholarship areas, there is not much overall change.

"New disciplinary focal areas can be in terms of new knowledge creation in mainstream where diversity is important," she said. "A very diverse faculty is required."

If a general-education curriculum areas they might pursue further, Davis said ethnic studies and the like would be less likely to be considered strange or targeted for political correctness. "We need to have students broadly exposed to diverse issues we're concerned about." Harriet Ottenheimer, professor of American ethnic studies and anthropology at K-State, said she has seen the ethnic-studies classes being offered each semester grow from two to at least 12.

"Students are finding out interesting stuff that will be useful to them," she said.

'What American-ethnic studies does here is semi-autonomous in the sense that it has a budget, affiliated faculty, a couple of endowed scholarships, a major, its own course prefix and secretarial support," she Ottenheimer said the program is migrating toward autononomous state.

"This whole subject matter tends to be seen as fringe in our society," she said. "What we've done is pay a lot of attention to campus culture.

"We're creating a presence on campus. Faculty and students are existed that introduced students to being sought out as visiting speakers."

Eric Jolly, answer questions from representatives of the Regents schools during the closing ceremonies Tuesday afternoon in the K-State Union Big 8 room.

Placido Hoernicke, from the education department at Fort Hays, said there is a need for evaluation of multiculturalism in special education.

Hoernicke said IQ tests that were administered to immigrants in 1917 provided faulty findings, but these kinds of instruments are still being used today.

Two standard deviations below the mean is considered mentally retarded. Two above is considered

"How many of us would score two standard deviations below the mean if the test was given in a language we can't speak?" he said.

Hoernicke said multiculturalism and the disabled should be dealt with on a University level, as well as in public schools.

"In one second, we could join the ranks of those people with disabilities," he said. "Make sure we include in our own thinking these things that affect 15 percent of the population."

Cheryl Lester, assistant professor of English at KU, said producing

See EXPRESSION Page 10

FACULTY DIVERSITY

Faculty groups should unite

LOLA SHRIMPLIN

Faculty diversity was one of the significant themes of the closing remarks at the Kansas Board of Regents conference on diversity at K-State this Groups of faculty should form a connection, said Evelyn Hu-DeHart, professor of history and director of the Center for Studies of Ethnicity and Race in America at the say when minorities were hired University of Colorado at Boulder.

"Latino faculty might form a network," she said. She said she had met two Puerto Ricans while at the conference, and neither knew of the other. Hu-DeHart said there were hiring practices on campuses. She said she heard people cases of internalized racism in they weren't sure the hirees were the best qualified. The equal-opportunity law mandates that only the best people are hired, said Eric Jolly, assistant to the chancellor and director of affirmative action and diversity programs at the University of Nebraska.

■ See PROFESSOR Page 10

DIVERSITY ENRICHMENT

Ethnic variety gives different views

CHRISTI WRIGHT

Diversity isn't about doing good. It is about knowing and feeling good, a speaker at the Regents Conference on Diversity and Multiculturalism in the University Curriculum, said Tuesday

Eric Jolly is the assistant to the chancellor and director of Affirmative Action and Diversity Programs at the University of Nebraska. He has worked in the Native American community and shared tales of his Cherokee background.

"I'm a Cherokee national story teller, so there's no such thing as a brief answer," Jolly

There are many components to bringing diversity to universities, he said.

Tokenism is one phase that means putting one of everybody on each committee, Jolly said.

With committee members of different ethnic backgrounds, different perspectives are shared with the group, he said. The success of this phase is limited because there is only so much one person can do.

'They're just one voice and one vote," he said.

■ See STUDENTS Page 10

News Briefs

▶ RESEARCH FINDS PARENT-CHILD RELATIONSHIPS DIMINISHING WITH TIME

A distinguished professor from the University of Southern California spoke about intergenerational family relationships Tuesday as part of the dedication ceremonies for the Galichia Institute for Gerontology and Family Studies.

Families are complex entities whose intergenerational workings affect every area of life in different, but often constant ways during time, said Vern Bengtson, distinquished professor of gerontology for the University of Southern California

Bengtson has been following these families longitudinally for the past 20 years, he said.

He has tracked approximately 1.000 people from 1971 to 1994 in three-year intervals to see how much the family's intergenerational relationships have changed or remained stable. He also has looked at conflict in the family.

By tracking the attitudes of great-grandparents, grandparents, parents and children during this time, Bengtson has had the chance to watch 19-year-olds age into their mid-40s with surprising results.

"We start with a question that asks what has happened in the last three years," Bengtson said. "This question has led to an astonishing revelation and insight into the fami

Bengtson said most family members report relationships between the child/parent have improved during the past three years. However, when all of the data is analyzed, it appears that the relationship is getting slightly worse.

This phenomena can probably be attributed to a theory called cognitive dissonance, he said.

"There are some things that are so important that we distort the reality - we wish to believe all the time that things are improving," he said

Bengtson said that parents consistently reported higher levels of affection toward their children than children did toward their parents.

Children also tended to see their parents as more conservative than parents saw themselves, while parents saw their children as more radical than children thought of themselves, he said.

Parents also said their children were more like them than the children reported.

Lisa Meiergerd, junior in human development and family studies, commented on a point Bengtson brought up that the father/daughter relationship influences the daughter's self-esteem throughout life.

"I felt that that was very interesting and very true," she said. "I know that's true in my relationship with my father. If you have good selfesteem, you will have a good relationship with your parents.

KRISTA COZAD

▶ PHELPS DEMONSTRATION RATTLES POET; EMPORIA SPEECH POSTPONED

EMPORIA (AP) - Poet Maya Angelou postponed a sold-out speech at Emporia State University on Monday in response to a weekend encounter with an anti-homosexual crusader in Topeka.

Angelou was visibly shaken by the Rev. Fred Phelps and fellow picketers near the entrance to the Topeka Performing Arts Center on Sunday, said a spokeswoman for the Jane C. Stormont Women's Center, which sponsored the Topeka appearance

Phelps, pastor of the Westboro Baptist Church in Topeka, and a small group of his followers often show up at appearances in Kansas and elsewhere by those they judge as being supportive of homosexual-

Last year, the City Council in Kansas City, Mo., adopted a limited anti-picketing ordinance when Phelps vowed to picket the funeral of a young composer who had died

Angelou, who read her poetry at President Clinton's inauguration, was targeted in Topeka because of her affiliation with Clinton and the left-wing liberal fringe, Phelps' son, Fred Phelps Jr., said.

Mistee Leighty, spokeswoman for Stormont-Vail Regional Medical Center, where the women's center is located, said Angelou appeared rattled by the picketers.

Leighty said she couldn't read the signs the protesters were carrying or hear what they shouted. Angelou's lecture at Emporia

State was postponed until the spring semester, a school official Rueben Perez, director of student organizations and activities at Emporia State, said the encounter with the Phelps group was something Angelou needs time to process through.

"It prevented her from being able to give us the type of performance she's used to giving," Perez said.

Angelou's two sold-out Topeka performances drew nearly 5,000

► STABBING VICTIM DIES; 14-YEAR-OLD SUSPECT STILL RETAINED IN JAIL

WICHITA (AP) - A 14-year-old girl died Tuesday of knife wounds she suffered last week during a fight at Wichita East High School.

Tanisha B. Lee of Wichita was pronounced dead at 3:30 p.m., a spokeswoman for Wesley Medical Center said.

Another 14-year-old girl remained in custody pending the possible filing of charges.

Sedgwick County District Judge James Burgess said he presided at a detention hearing Tuesday and ordered the girl retained until at least Friday to allow prosecutors to determine what charges to file against the girl. Lee was stabbed in the throat

Friday and underwent several hours of reconstructive surgery. She was in critical condition and living on life-support equipment following the surgery.

Judy Hammond, a district attorney's spokeswoman, said Lee still was on a respirator when she died Tuesday

Two other girls suffered minor abdomen and hand wounds during the Friday altercation, which police said was the continuation of an earlier argument over a boy.

Investigators said Lee, a freshman, was involved in a fistfight with the suspect Thursday night away from school grounds.

The Friday fight erupted just after the two girls got off a bus and walked into a first-floor hallway at the school, witnesses said.

A Wichita School District spokesman said grief counseling would be made available at Wichita East High School.

POLICE REPORTS

These reports are taken directly from the daily logs of the K-State and Riley County Police departments. Because of space constraints, not all crimes are listed.

K-STATE POLICE

MONDAY, NOVEMBER 14

At 11:09 a.m., a vehicle driven by Krista Bond struck a vehicle driven by Joseph Silva. The two-vehicle accident occurred at Mid Campus Drive and Claflin Road. Damage was more than $500.

At 11:23 a.m., James Buster of Jardine Terrace Apartments, Apt. C7, reported the theft of bicycle parts from his bike, which was locked at the rack between the K-State Union and Seaton Hall. Loss was $566.

At 10:39 a.m., Joann Utter reported a past criminal-damageto-property incident. Last Thursday, some unwanted subjects egged walls in the living area of Boyd Hall. Approximate damage was $25.

At 8:42 p.m., Mr. Wang reported a burning smell coming from a lab in Shellenberger Hall. Manhattan Fire Department and an officer responded. It was found to be a light ballast that was smoking. An electrician was called to take care of the prob-

At 8:06 p.m., a subject was issued a notice to appear for operating a vehicle with a suspended driver's license.

TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 15

At 12:04 a.m., Marci Anderson reported a fire alarm sounding at Van Zile Hall in the basement. The Manhattan Fire

RILEY COUNTY POLICE

Department and officers responded. A housing troubleshooter was called in to reset

MONDAY, NOVEMBER 14

At 7:40 a.m., a theft report was filed by Dick Edwards Ford on Kansas Highway 18, 5040 Fort Riley Blvd. Taken was a white canvas ragtop. Loss was $600.

At 8:02 a.m., Janet Lee, of 1580 Waterford Place, Apt. 2, reported an unwanted ex-husband at her home. An officer met with both parties. Larry Hart was advised to either not return or be arrested for criminal trespassing.

00100

03630

06020 07910

At 10:24 a.m., Gregory Alan Mitchell, of 1509 Oxford Place, Apt. 28, was arrested on a Riley County warrant for failure to appear. The subject was confined in lieu of $500.

At 1:10 p.m., Douglas Ryan, of 1010 Laramie St., reported damage to his car. Two tires were punctured. Loss was $140. A criminal-damage-to-property report was filed.

CAMPUS BULLETIN

ANNOUNCEMENTS ******

Applications for Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities are now available in the Office of Student Activities and Services. Deadline is Nov. 18.

All undergraduate students in a health-related degree program are eligible to apply for a Student Cancer Research Award of $500. Applications are now available in the Center for Basic Cancer Research in Ackert 234. Application deadline is Dec. 2.

The world is getting smaller. Make yours larger. Volunteer to tutor an international student in the Conversational English Program. Contact Kathy Hund at the International Student Center at

BULLETINS INC.

■ There will be a gay, lesbian and bisexual coffee hour at 7 p.m. today in Union Station

■ The last oral defense of Carrie Lynn Davis' doctoral dissertation, "An Expert Computer System Developed for Serviceware Selection in School Foodservice" is scheduled for 4:30 p.m. today in

■ The last oral defense of Rosa Bell Baldwin's doctoral dissertation, "Multicultural Curriculum and Instructional Perspectives of Elementary Teachers Serving Multiethnic Populations," is scheduled for 8 a.m. today in Bluemont 257.

■ Audubon Society will meet at 7:30 p.m. today in Ackert 221.

■ Adult Student Services will have a brown-bag lunch from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. today in Union Stateroom 1.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

We accept letters to the editor by e-mail. Our address is letters@spub.ksu.edu. We need your name address, phone number and student ID number.

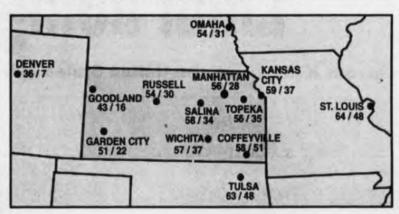

The Kansas State Collegian (USPS 291 020), a student newspaper at Kansas State University, is published by Student Publications Inc., Kedzie Hall 103, Manhattan, Kan., 66506. The Collegian is published weekdays during the school year and once a week through the summer. Second-class postage is paid at Manhattan, Kan., 66502. POSTMASTER: Send address changes to Kansas State Collegian, circulation desk. Kedzie 103, Manhattan. Kan. 66506-7167

C Kansas State Collegian, 1994

WEATHER

YESTERDAY'S HIGHS AND LOWS

10270 12920

Windy in the west with mostly cloudy skies statewide. Highs around 55 and lows of 35.

STATE OUTLOOK

MANHATTAN OUTLOOK

TOMORROW I

14880 17190 20070 ·22610 24650 28300 31920 35150

Windy with a 30percent chance for showers. Highs in the mid-50s.

and a low around 40.

EYEWEAR FOR LESS . EYEWEAR FOR LESS . SINGLE VISION as low as

Joseph Downey

Dow Chemical V.P.

Friday, Nov. 18, 11 a.m. Union Little Theatre

Legacy Lecture Series

November 7 - December 16 K-State Union Copy Center K-State Union Copy Center 532-6596

coming

R. Carlos Nakai and William Eaton

The Ying Quartet* Friday, November 18, 8 p.m.

Winner of the 1993 Naumburg Chamber Music Award, the Ying Quartet is a brothers and sister team of string virtuosos. For McCain audiences, the Yings will perform Mozart's "Hunt" quartet, Ralph Shapey's Quartet No. VIII, and Schubert's "Death and the Maiden."

R. Carlos Nakai and William Eaton* Friday, December 2, 8 p.m.

Nakai is a Navajo-Ute who honors tribal traditions while developing new musical expressions on his cedar flute. Eaton designs his own extraordinary instruments and composes music inspired by nature. The two come together to perform music that is haunting in its serenity and graceful in its simplicity.

Aladdin and the Magic Lamp Friday, December 9, 7:30 p.m.

An Arabian nights tale of a poor tailor's son, an evil sorcerer, the sultan's beautiful daughter, and a couple of genies. You won't need a flying carpet: the lively music, colorful costumes, and special effects will sweep you away!

For tickets call 532-6428 or come to the McCain box office. Box office hours: noon to 5 p.m. weekdays; from 1 p.m. before weekend matinees; and from 5 p.m. before weekend evenings. Tickets are also available at Manhattan Town Center customer service desk, K-State Union Bookstore, and ITR (Fort Riley). Persons with disabilities call 532-6428.

* Presented in part by the Kansas Arts Commission, a state agency, and the National Endowment for the Arts, a federal agency. Events in the McCain Performance Series are supported by the K-State Fine Arts Fee.

| 00110  | 03700 | 06110  | 07940 | 10280 | 12940  | 14890  | 17200  | 20100 | 22820                                  | 24660  | 28340 | 31950 | 35180 |   |
|--------|-------|--------|-------|-------|--------|--------|--------|-------|----------------------------------------|--------|-------|-------|-------|---|
| 00150  | 03720 | 06130C | 07970 | 10290 | 12950  | 14900  | 17220  | 20120 | 22840                                  | 24710  | 28390 | 31960 | 35190 |   |
| 00200  | 03760 | 06140  | 08160 | 10300 | 12960  | 14910  | 17440  | 20160 | 22850                                  | 24720  | 28420 | 32050 | 35260 |   |
| 00220  | 03780 | 06150  | 08170 | 10310 | 12970  | 14920  |        |       |                                        |        |       |       |       |   |
|        |       |        |       |       |        |        | 17450  | 20170 | 23000                                  | 24730  | 28560 | 32060 | 35290 |   |
| 00450  | 03810 | 06160  | 08180 | 10320 | 12980  | 14930  | 17550  | 20180 | 23080                                  | 24740  | 28730 | 32170 | 35310 |   |
| 00460  | 03820 | 06170  | 08190 | 10330 | 13280  | 14940  | 17670  | 20190 | 23110                                  | 24800  | 28740 | 32210 | 35350 |   |
| 00550  | 04280 | 06290  | 08220 | 10340 | 13290  | 14950  | 17770  | 20240 | 23120                                  | 24810  | 28780 | 32700 | 35490 |   |
| 00840  | 04290 | 06310  | 08230 | 10350 | 13310  | 14960  | 17880  | 20250 | 23130                                  | 24870  | 28790 | 32720 | 35500 |   |
| 00980  | 04301 | 06320  | 08270 | 10360 | 13320  | 14970  | 18270  | 20260 | 23150                                  | 24880  | 29010 | 32730 | 35530 |   |
| 01000  | 04370 | 06330  | 08280 | 10370 | 13330  | 14980  | 18280  | 20280 | 23200                                  | 24890  | 30060 | 32750 | 35570 |   |
| 01030  | 04490 | 06340  | 08290 | 10380 | 13360  | 14990  | 18290  | 20290 | 23210                                  | 24910  |       |       |       |   |
| 01060  | 04660 | 06350  | 08300 | 10390 | 13370  | 15000  | 18300  |       | 23220                                  |        | 30070 | 32780 | 35640 |   |
|        |       |        |       |       |        |        |        | 20300 |                                        | 24970  | 30090 | 32790 | 35742 |   |
| 01070  | 04690 | 06380  | 08350 | 10400 | 13380  | 15010  | 18320  | 20710 | 23230                                  | 25130  | 30130 | 32800 | 35760 |   |
| 01150  | 04750 | 06390  | 08460 | 10410 | 13400  | 15020  | 18330  | 20930 | 23280                                  | 25150  | 30150 | 32810 | 35790 |   |
| 01160  | 04760 | 06420  | 08540 | 10520 | 13410  | 15030  | 18340  | 20950 | 23290                                  | 25180  | 30160 | 32850 | 35950 |   |
| 01230  | 04770 | 06540  | 08550 | 10530 | 13420  | 15040  | 18370  | 21000 | 23300                                  | 25200  | 30210 | 32870 | 35960 |   |
| 01250  | 04780 | 06550  | 08560 | 10540 | 13430  | 15050  | 18380  | 21010 | 23310                                  | 25210  | 30280 | 32880 | 35970 |   |
| 01360  | 04790 | 06560  | 08565 | 10640 | 13450  | 15060  | 18500  | 21020 | 23350                                  | 25220  | 30310 | 32900 | 35990 |   |
| 01370  | 04800 | 06590  | 08580 | 10650 | 13470  | 15070  | 19140  | 21040 | 23360                                  | 25230  | 30320 | 32910 | 36000 | 1 |
| 01630  | 04840 | 06620  | 08600 | 10660 | 13490  | 15100  | 19150  | 21050 | 23370                                  | 25240  | 30330 | 32920 | 36010 | ۱ |
| 01820  | 05050 | 06630  | 08610 | 10670 | 13550  | 15120  | 19160  | 21060 | 23380                                  | 25270  | 30340 | 32930 | 36030 |   |
| 01890  | 05060 | 06650  | 08630 | 10680 | 13560  | 15180  | 19170  | 21080 | 23400                                  | 25280  | 30360 | 32940 |       |   |
| 01900  | 05070 | 06660  |       |       |        |        |        |       |                                        |        |       |       | 36040 | ۱ |
|        |       |        | 08680 | 10690 | 13790  | 15240  | 19180  | 21110 | 23440                                  | 25300  | 30370 | 32950 | 36050 |   |
| 01910  | 05170 | 06670  | 08690 | 10700 | 13820  | 15290  | 19190  | 21130 | 23460                                  | 25320  | 30380 | 32980 | 36060 |   |
| 01920  | 05220 | 06680  | 08710 | 10710 | 13840  | 15350  | 19200  | 21190 | 23560                                  | 25350  | 30400 | 32990 | 36180 | ۱ |
| 01930  | 05250 | 06690  | 08720 | 10720 | 13930  | 15390  | 19210  | 21230 | 23570                                  | 25360  | 30430 | 33000 | 36190 |   |
| 01940  | 05290 | 06700  | 08740 | 10730 | 13950  | 15400  | 19220  | 21450 | 23580                                  | 25400  | 30480 | 33040 | 36240 | ١ |
| 01970  | 05300 | 06720  | 08760 | 10740 | 13970  | 15420  | 19230  | 21460 | 23590                                  | 25410  | 30490 | 33100 | 36250 | ۱ |
| 01980  | 05310 | 06860  | 08780 | 10760 | 13980  | 15450  | 19240  | 21470 | 23600                                  | 25430  | 30520 | 33120 | 36260 |   |
| 01990  | 05320 | 06870  | 09120 | 10800 | 13990  | 15480  | 19250  | 21510 | 23610                                  | 25440  | 30540 | 33170 | 36270 |   |
| 02230  | 05330 | 06920  | 09130 | 10830 | 14000  | 15490  | 19260  | 21520 | 23630                                  | 25450  | 30600 | 33180 | 36280 |   |
| 02240  | 05370 | 06930  | 09200 | 10840 | 14010  | 15570  | 19270  | 21530 | 23660                                  | 25470  | 30630 | 33190 | 36290 |   |
| 02280  | 05390 | 06970  | 09410 | 10850 | 14020  | 15650  | 19320  | 21540 | 23670                                  | 25611  | 30910 | 33200 | 36310 |   |
| 02300  | 05450 | 06980  | 09870 | 10860 | 14030  |        | 19340  |       |                                        |        |       |       |       |   |
|        |       |        |       |       |        | 15660  |        | 21550 | 23680                                  | 25630C | 30920 | 33210 | 36380 |   |
| 02450  | 05460 | 07000  | 09880 | 10870 | 14040  | 15670  | 19350  | 21590 | 23690                                  | 25650  | 30930 | 33230 | 36390 |   |
| 02500  | 05470 | 07020  | 09890 | 11021 | 14050  | 15680  | 19400  | 21600 | 23710                                  | 25670  | 30940 | 33260 | 36400 |   |
| 02600  | 05480 | 07030  | 09900 | 11230 | 14070  | 15690  | 19460  | 21610 | 23760                                  | 25680  | 30950 | 33270 | 36420 |   |
| 02610  | 05490 | 07040  | 09910 | 11240 | 14110  | 15700  | 19480  | 21620 | 23770                                  | 25700  | 30960 | 33340 | 36440 |   |
| 02620  | 05500 | 07060  | 09920 | 11520 | 14120  | 15750  | 19570  | 21630 | 23890                                  | 25720  | 30980 | 33350 | 36460 |   |
| 02670  | 05510 | 07070  | 09930 | 11530 | 14130  | 15760  | 19580  | 21640 | 23900                                  | 25730  | 31000 | 33380 | 36480 |   |
| 02700C | 05520 | 07080  | 09940 | 11560 | 14150  | 15830  | 19590  | 21680 | 23910                                  | 25750  | 31030 | 33440 | 36590 |   |
| 02710  | 05530 | 07090  | 09950 | 11690 | 14170  | 15860  | 19600  | 21690 | 23920                                  | 25770  | 31040 | 33450 | 36770 |   |
| 02730  | 05540 | 07100  | 09960 | 11700 | 14190  | 15900  | 19610  | 21700 | 23930                                  | 25800  | 31110 | 33570 | 36960 |   |
| 02920  | 05550 | 07130  | 09970 | 11740 | 14270C | 15960  | 19620  | 21720 | 23940                                  | 26800  | 31120 | 34070 | 36970 |   |
| 02930  | 05570 | 07140  | 09980 | 11750 | 14280C | 15980  | 19640  | 21770 | 23950                                  | 26810  | 31150 | 34110 | 37190 |   |
| 02940  | 05580 | 07200  | 09990 | 11760 | 14360  |        | 935-54 |       |                                        |        |       |       |       |   |
|        |       |        |       |       |        | 16070  | 19650  | 21850 | 23960                                  | 26820  | 31160 | 34190 | 37230 |   |
| 02950  | 05590 | 07210  | 10000 | 11770 | 14370  | 16210  | 19660  | 21890 | 23970                                  | 26830  | 31180 | 34200 | 37250 |   |
| 02960  | 05600 | 07220  | 10010 | 11780 | 14380  | 16310  | 19670  | 21910 | 23980                                  | 26840  | 31190 | 34230 | 37300 |   |
| 02970  | 05610 | 07230  | 10020 | 11790 | 14390  | 16340  | 19680  | 21920 | 24000                                  | 27190  | 31220 | 34270 | 37700 |   |
| 02980  | 05630 | 07240  | 10030 | 11800 | 14400  | 16500  | 19690  | 22030 | 24010                                  | 27200  | 31240 | 34310 | 37770 |   |
| 02990  | 05640 | 07250  | 10040 | 12061 | 14440  | 16560  | 19700  | 22070 | 24020                                  | 27210  | 31270 | 34330 | 37920 |   |
| 03000  | 05650 | 07260  | 10050 | 12190 | 14450  | 16820  | 19710  | 22080 | 24030                                  | 27220  | 31280 | 34340 | 38340 |   |
| 03010  | 05660 | 07310  | 10060 | 12240 | 14460  | 16830  | 19720  | 22090 | 24060                                  | 28000  | 31560 | 34390 | 80230 |   |
| 03020  | 05670 | 07320  | 10070 | 12260 | 14470  | 16840  | 19730  | 22100 | 24070                                  | 28010  | 31570 | 34420 | 80920 |   |
| 03030  | 05690 | 07330  | 10080 | 12330 | 14590  | 16850  | 19740  | 22110 | 24080                                  | 28020  | 31580 | 34430 | 82270 |   |
| 03040  | 05710 | 07360  | 10090 | 12370 | 14600  | 16860  | 19750  | 22120 | 24090                                  | 28030  | 31590 | 34440 | 82280 |   |
| 03050  | 05740 | 07390  | 10100 | 12380 | 14610  | 16890  | 19760  |       |                                        |        |       |       | 02200 |   |
|        | 05760 |        |       |       |        |        |        | 22190 | 24100                                  | 28040  | 31600 | 34450 |       | ١ |
| 03060  |       | 07410  | 10110 | 12440 | 14630  | 16900  | 19770  | 22210 | 24120                                  | 28050  | 31630 | 34460 |       | 1 |
| 03070  | 05780 | 07450  | 10120 | 12450 | 14640  | 16910  | 19800  | 22230 | 24130                                  | 28060  | 31640 | 34470 |       |   |
| 03250  | 05790 | 07480  | 10130 | 12780 | 14650  | 16950  | 19810  | 22390 | 24530                                  | 28070  | 31660 | 34520 |       |   |
| 03280  | 05800 | 07620  | 10140 | 12790 | 14700  | 16960  | 19830  | 22400 | 24540                                  | 28080  | 31670 | 34530 |       |   |
| 03370  | 05810 | 07750  | 10150 | 12810 | 14720  | 16990  | 19840  | 22430 | 24550                                  | 28090  | 31690 | 34540 |       |   |
| 03390  | 05820 | 07770  | 10160 | 12820 | 14740  | 17000  | 19850  | 22440 | 24560                                  | 28120  | 31700 | 34560 |       |   |
| 03421  | 05830 | 07780  | 10170 | 12830 | 14760  | 17050  | 19900  | 22450 | 24570                                  | 28150  | 31820 | 34570 |       |   |
| 03430  | 05940 | 07790  | 10180 | 12840 | 14820  | 17060  | 19910  | 22490 | 24580                                  | 28160  | 31830 | 34571 |       |   |
| 03460  | 05950 | 07800  | 10190 | 12850 | 14840  | 17070  | 19940  | 22540 | 24590                                  | 28170  | 31860 | 34572 |       |   |
| 03480  | 05970 | 07810  | 10240 | 12860 | 14850  | 17080  | 19960  | 22550 | 24600                                  | 28180  | 31870 | 34573 |       |   |
| 03400  | 00010 | 01010  | 10240 | 12000 | 14020  | 1/1/00 | 13300  | 24330 | Z* | 40100  | 310/0 | 343/3 |       |   |

07850 06010 07860 10260 C - Canceled class

10250

12870

12880

14860

14870

Updated 5:06 PM, November 15, 1994

20020 22600 24630

28190

28270 31910

*Closed class list also available in Unicorn

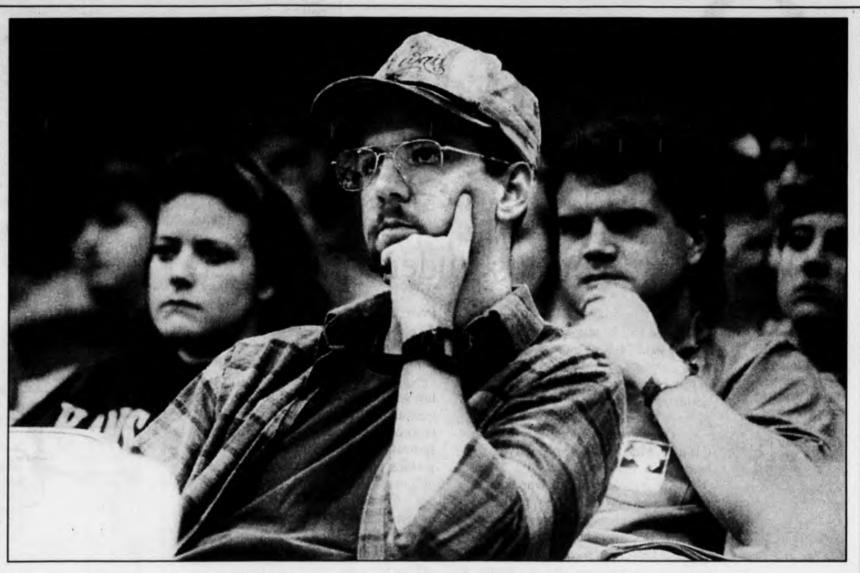

17110

17130

Sean Carlisle, freshman in architecture, listens to the questions and comments during John C.K. Daly's speech, "Who Lost Russia," in the K-State Union Little Theatre Tuesday afternoon. PHOTOS BY SHANE KEYSER

John C.K. Daly, associate professor of history, speaks on the current state of affairs in Russia. Daly said that the time to help Russia is now, and "Our window of opportunity to make a difference is drawing to a close." Daly also said that the general consensus of the work force in Russia is resentful of capitalism due to hyperinflation and a loss of jobs.

Lecture paints poor picture of Russia; lack of awareness, rise of capitalism cited

SACHA HANES

A K-State associate professor spoke on his personal experiences of traveling to Russia more than eight times in the last four years.

About 80 people filled the K-State Union Little Theatre Tuesday afternoon as Robert C. K. Daly presented "Who Lost Russia" as part of the Faculty Lecture Series, sponsored by the UPC Issues and Ideas Committee.

"Go to Poland, turn right, and there it is," Daly, associate professor of history, said in response to the title of his lecture.

He discussed the environmental, political, cultural and economical problems Russia is currently faced

The situation in Russia is a shambles, he said.

"There are many problems in immediate need of solutions.' Daly said he felt there was a lack of awareness in the West of the conditions in Russia.

"One reason is that we have a problem with perceptions."

He said that in the past, Russia had strictly monitored outside contacts, limiting what was known about the country.

He shared his ideas on what roles the United States could play to promote Russia.

He suggested the United States move to open all markets to Russian goods, as well as subsidize others who are willing to open their markets to Russia.

with improved telecommunications and transportation.

Other suggestions included help

Daly said that the time to help Russia is now.

"Our window of opportunity to make a difference is drawing to a close," he said.

Since capitalism hit Russia, many changes have occurred.

"I'm here to tell you capitalism has blown Russia wide open.'

There has been a huge increase in crime, drugs and prostitution, as well as an increase in the appearance of rock music and even TV evangelists.

Daly said that in a recent opinion poll in Russia, 65 percent of schoolgirls said they wanted to be hard-currency prostitutes because they can make more money in one night than doing anything else for six months. The two groups that are most vulnerable to capitalism are pensioners and young children, he said, because they don't contribute to the working force.

The working force is resentful of the hyperinflation and loss of jobs that capitalism is causing, he said.

These people see the West as taking and not giving, Daly said. 'Many Russians feel the West is basement rates," he said. Daly said he did not perceive any short-term American attitude stealing their resources at bargain-changes toward Russia. He detailed the history of Russia's politics and leaders. He talked about what each leader did to bring Russia to its present situation. He said that brutal rulers led while the weak rulers fell.

'Russia has had only short periods of democracy," Daly said.

The most recent was with the fall of the Soviet Union.

Members of the audience asked Daly about his beliefs on various topics related to Russia.

One audience member suggested America send over its machines that are no longer in use so the farmers there will have a supply of parts available to fix machines that sit in the fields because there is no means of fixing them.

He said that people cannot get a good idea of what life is like in Russia unless they go there and live in the environment, not by staying in a fancy hotel for a few days.

"The best way to get a handle on Russia is to go there," he said.

If You Smell Gas, What Do You Reach For To Save Your Life?

Wrong. Even the low voltage of a

Absolutely Wrong. Any kind of spark or flame near a gas leak could be hazardous, not just to your health, but to your neighborhood as well. Clear the area, call KPL, and we'll come investigate.

Wrong again. If gas has leaked into your home, the spark in a light switch could cause a problem. Don't look for the trouble; that's our job. Clear out and call KPL.

telephone switch could be dangerous if gas has leaked in your home. Go to a neighbor's home and call KPL

If You Smell Gas, Call 1-800-794-4780

to report any gas leak.

RIGHT! If you ever smell the telltale "rotten eggs" odor we add to our natural gas, get everyone out of the house and call us from a neighbor's phone.

The second secon

We'll come anytime, day or night, to keep your home safe.

CAMPUS EDITOR.....J.R. Prather A&E/FEATURES EDITOR .. Andrew Tomb SPORTS EDITOR ...... Wess Hudelson GRAPHICS EDITOR.....Sara Smith COPY CHIEF......Robin Kickhaefer CITY-GOV. EDITOR.....Lola Shrimplin ASST. SPORTS EDITOR...Jeremy Crabtree ASST. PHOTO EDITOR...Mark Leffingwell

AD MANAGER ..... Ryndell Little ASST. MANAGER.....Ted Ellet SALES MANAGER .... Jim Stothard TEARSHEETS MGR. . Ivonne Zaldumbide NEWS ADVISER ..... Ron Johnson AD ADVISER ......Gloria Freeland

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

IN OUR OPINION

By the Collegian Editorial Board

KANSAS STATE

Parking meeting needs student attendance

You can express your displeasure with this plan by attending the meeting at 3 p.m. on Thursday in Union 208.

This Thursday, the Parking Committee will be considering a proposal to have paid 24-hour-parking on campus.

Students should attend this meeting in full force to demonstrate that we are against this plan. As students, we can make or break this proposal.

There are several reasons to oppose this idea. First, the issue of safety has hardly been addressed.

Some of the students who take night classes may live within walking distance of campus. However, for safety reasons, they may choose to park on campus. Having to pay for parking may prevent them from parking on campus. It would be a tragedy if only one student were harmed because of discouragement from parking on campus.

By voicing our opinions on this topic, we will prevent another rule from being passed without student support.

A similar committee was formed last year to discuss bicyclists riding on campus sidewalks before it was strictly enforced. If students show they have serious reservations about a 24-hourparking plan, there is a chance that we will make a difference.

Certainly, if no students protest this action, there will be a 24-hour-parking proposal. This proposal could be another way for Parking Services to make money off the students, parents and area residents who attend evening functions and classes at K-State.

TOLES

A lost friend — Pedro Zamaro

As soon as I heard about it, I wanted to just lie down on the cool and dirty newsroom floor and cry. There was pain. Actual physical pain. Not like the proverbial punch to the stomach, but more like a well-placed jab to the fleshy part of my arm right below the hard knob of my elbow. You know, that place you only ever remember exists when you hit it on something that won't bend, and it sends little lightning bolts of pain all over your body.

Sera, the young woman who told me the news, had this watery look in her eyes like maybe she had been crying. (But she always looks like she's on the verge of tears.) All I could do was ask "Is it true?" I must have said that once or twice. When she said "yes," I saw she was really upset about it. Then I felt really upset about it. It just kept going through my mind: God, Pedro is dead. My friend is dead.

't matter that I had n met the man; that he was, in fact, a face on television. Pedro Zamora was one of seven people on MTV's "A Real World" who were paid to live in a house in San Francisco and have every moment of their lives together recorded for a TV broadcast.

MITH

I have never been into voyeurism, so I wasn't a regular watcher of the show, but if I was flipping through the channels, and I saw it was on, I would watch it. Because Pedro made me feel something every time I saw him and heard him speak. He was intelligent, articulate and sensitive. He seemed to be thoughtful and just the kind of person I would really like to get know and become friends with.

Pedro seemed to be a lot of fun to be around and, in a way, I envied the people who knew him.

The fact that he had AIDS didn't faze me or even surprise me. It was obvious he was seriously ill. The man was so thin he didn't even cast a shadow! Also, Pedro's skin seemed to be covered with a fine sheen of Elmer's glue, and that white aura only got brighter and brighter as he got sicker and sicker. By the time the show went off the air, it was blazing like sunshine off new snow.

I knew he had pneumonia. I'd heard they were having a fundraiser to help him with his medical bills, but after that, I heard very little until the news that he had died.

I can almost hear you say "so what, right? I mean, it's tragic Pedro Zamora died of a disease that could have been prevented. What has that got to do with me?" Look, I could throw facts at you, numbers, statistics. I

ERIN MANSUR-SMITH 66 Tt's not going to humanize the disease for you. It's not going to touch you, move you to do anything what you are already doing.'

could have a picture of a dying AIDS patient or nifty graphics of dancing condoms and safe-sex ads. I could stand on the roof of Eisenhower Hall and scream "abstinence" at the top of my lungs. But it's not going to change anything, is it? It's not going to humanize the disease for you. It's not going to touch you, move you to do anything beyond what you are already doing. It's not going to stop the "fag" jokes or the hate spread around about AIDS and Frankly, I got pretty tired of trying to make a difference. I got sick of 22-year-olds dying and feeling a responsibility to shove it in your face, to make you see beyond those numbers, words, pictures to the human being that lay behind them; human beings that had families and friends and a life that was interrupted.

Pedro Zamora wasn't a TV character. He was a man who used the five years since he was diagnosed with AIDS until the time he died of the disease to be a spokeperson against ignorance and hate. He spoke to everyone from high schools to Congress. Pedro made a difference, and if it was only to me, it was enough.

I am not letting up, you all out there. Be warned. I'm not going to let anyone die faceless. I'm not letting any of you die without a fight. For Pedro.

Erin Mansur-Smith is a senior in English, pre-law and theater.

The basics of the $17,000 plan

emember that extra 50 cents you paid with your fees at the beginning of the semester? The 50 cents that translated into a Student Life Enrichment Account totaling $16,656? Well, the time has come.

After soliciting suggestions from everybody in a 50-mile radius, the Student Affairs and Social Services Committee has introduced legislation recommending how Senate spend the money.

In the final committee meeting before the legislation was written, four suggestions survived the cut. The bill, to be read for the first time at the Student Senate meeting in Salina Thursday, proposed to fund three of them to one degree or another.

The bill recommends $7,500 be spent on the Chester E. Peters Campus Enhancement Project, $8,000 be spent on the "Access the Future" campaign, and $1,156 be spent on the purchase of bike racks. Because of the likelihood of saving money on the Chester E. Peters Campus Enhancement Project, a clause was included stipulating that money saved would be transferred to the bike-rack allocation.

Part 1: The Chester E. Peters Campus Enhancement Project

ROBYN STONE

66 V ou may be abortion, but you have no right to use that mother in South Carolina

strengthen your

as a means to anti-choice argument."

against

Back in 1860, two honey-locust trees ago when I arrived. Peterson's campaign. were planted in what is now the quad between Farrell Library and Waters, Cardwell, Willard and Leasure halls. One had to be removed a couple of years back after being struck by lightning.

Chester Peters, the father of student activities at K-State, used the wood from that tree to make three sculptures, each representing one of the three functions of the University: teaching, research and outreach.

This project would build small seating areas around the sundial in the quad, highlighted by these sculptures. Each area would have several benches centered around its respective sculpture.

While the total cost of the project has been estimated at $7,500, Senate anticipates being able to save some money on this project. K-State vice president Tom Rawson has indicated that he will donate the labor, potentially cutting $1,500 off the cost.

Part 2: Access to the Future campaign

Student Body President Jeff Peterson, in keeping with his campaign promises, has taken on perhaps the greatest grass roots campaign in the history of Kansas higher education. His "Access the Future" project seeks to educate K-State students and their parents about the rising cost of tuition in an effort to keep tuition down.

Students now pay a significantly higher percent of tuition than we did just four years estimated to require more than $25,000, will seek to inform Kansans and lobby the Legislature directly to prevent any further

Student Affairs and Social Services was asked for $8,000 to support this effort, and the bill, in its current form, pays that amount.

Part 3: Bike racks

Several weeks ago, the administration committed $10,000 to the purchase of new bike racks and pads on campus. In addition, Rawson stated that he would match any contribution Senate made toward the purchase of more bike racks, up to $5,000.

The current bill provides $1,156 from the Student Life Enrichment Account, to be matched by the administration. Additionally, any money saved on the first two projects will be added to the pot, also to be matched Anderson Hall.

A final decision will not be made on the Senate meeting on Dec. 1. If you have any input, now is the time to contribute. Because neither Senate nor the Collegian wants to hear you whining after the decision has been made.

Dan Lewerenz is a senior in philosophy and is a member of the Student Affairs and Social Services Committee.

READERS WRITE

Drop letters off at Kedzie 116 or send them to Letters to the Editor, c/o John Meirowsky, Kansas State Collegian, Kedzie 116, Manhattan, KS 66506. We accept letters by e-mail also. Our address is letters@spub.ksu.edu. Letters should be addressed to the editor and include a name, address and phone number. A photo identification will be necessary for hand-delivered letters.

ABORTION

Don't use murder as an argument

How dare you compare what that mother in South Carolina did to her children to a woman's decision to end her pregnancy? It's not the same thing at all.

As a man, you could never understand what it is like to have an unwanted pregnancy. Not every woman who exercises her right to choose to end a pregnancy simply because she "decides she cannot deal with the burden of becoming a mother." Many women are raped or are the victims of incest.

Do you honestly believe that these women should be forced to endure the pregnancy and the stigmatism that goes along with being an unwed mother? That pregnancy would be a constant reminder of the horror that woman faced. Granted, some women who have abortions are not the victims of rape or incest. These women, however, have every right to make that choice to end the pregnancy according to Roe v. Wade. Who are you to tell me what to do with my body? This is not a communistic society. Are you suggesting we outlaw abortions, thus forcing women into back alleys where many have lost their lives already? If you have a suggestion as to how to deal with the problem of unplanned or unwanted pregnancies, let's hear it. I seriously doubt that you yourself would be willing to adopt a child that was the result of an unwanted pregnancy. I don't believe that abortion is the answer in every case, but I do believe that the decision of whether or not to have an abortion is mine - my body, my choice!

You may be against abortion, but you have no right to use that mother in South Carolina as a means to strengthen your anti-choice argument. A woman's right to choose and what that mother in South Carolina is are not one and the same. By comparing them, you degrade every woman in her right to choose, a right that has been granted by the Supreme Court of the United States.

Robyn Stone sophomore in kinesiology

ABORTION

Melissa J. Anderson

Woman's action was murder

I am appalled to see in Tuesday's Collegian a letter written by Clayton Walenta concerning the murder of Susan Smith's two children. He states, "All she did was decide to have her abortion a little later than most." He later goes on to say, "She took the way out: an abortion."

I am sorry, but she did not have an abortion. She committed murder. Abortion only applies to fetuses before they are born - not after. It is people like you blowing smoke that make abortion such a volatile issue.

Susan Smith committed murder and in the end will decide her fate even though she did not let Michael and Alex decide theirs.

senior in horticulture and agronomy

KSUARH

Marlatt took wrong approach

After reading the Collegian concerning Marlatt's threat of secession from the Kansas State University Association of Residence Halls, we thought it was time that another side was presented. Not every hall is against ARH, contrary to the perception that many of your readers may now have. Everything printed in the Collegian has been either extremely biased towards Marlatt or tried to remain impartial. We personally support ARH and think it has done an excellent job so far this year.

Granted, ARH is not perfect. No organization ever is. The best it can do is correct problems it encounters. ARH has listened to Marlatt's grievances and responded to them at a two-anda-half-hour meeting. The Collegian's portrayal of this meeting was also in error. We attended this meeting and felt the reason nothing was accomplished was because the Marlatt HGB refused to discuss topics other than the Alcohol Policy, which had not yet been voted on, and to accept any of ARH's reasonable responses.

We would also like to say Marlatt took the wrong approach to solve its problems. Secession should be a last-ditch effort to solve problems, not the first. This is the first time that many of these problems have been brought up by Marlatt. We know that Goodnow Hall has had some problems with ARH this year, but it took care of those problems by working with ARH, not against it.

We also wonder if it is all of Marlatt that is upset with ARH, or if it's just its HGB. An issue as serious as secession should not be voted on by 13 individuals elected last spring; it should be brought up before a vote of the entire hall. Marlatt's HGB should also let its residents know what will happen if Marlatt does secede from

Paul Colwell, president Haymaker Hall Governing Board

Stephanie Elliott, secretary Moore Hall Governing Board

Tidbits .

DIAGNOSIS

AIDS, or acquired immune deficiency syndrome, was first identified in 1979.

Tidbits

FRIGHTENING STATISTICS

It is now estimated that one in 12 people in the United States is HIV positive, a higher percentage of people than have red hair.

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

66 My car has been vandalized, and my house has been robbed. People say I should be afraid of dying, but sometimes I'm afraid to be alive.

66 can't further my education, work, own my own home or anything of value. I lost my friends, too. The doctors gave me three years to live.

Loving, Losing

Speeches, education occupy time of local AIDS sufferer lizabeth is a 27-year-old member of the Manhattan community, and she has AIDS. She recently lost her child to the fatal

Elizabeth found out that she had AIDS when her baby son was about three months old. Even though she tested negative during her pregnancy, she came in contact with the disease sometime before the child

"I heard about AIDS on TV, and I thought I should go and get tested. I came here (Riley County Heath Department) for the test, and I didn't think that I had it," Elizabeth said.

She said she didn't really worry about the disease until her son started showing the symptoms.

"The first thing wrong was my son started getting ear infections. The only treatment available for him was two or three hours away. No one in this area knew how to deal with it," she said.

The ear infections put Elizabeth's son in the hospital for three days, and he later underwent earsurgery. By this point, over-the-counter drugs were not strong enough to help the baby.

Except for the occasional cold, he was healthy until he was about I year old.

"He got pneumonia when he was about 1. He started getting sick, and he spent 24 hours in the hospital here, then went by ambulance to the specialists in Kansas City because he didn't respond to the treatment or medicine," Elizabeth said.

The baby spent 26 days in the hospital and underwent every kind of testing possible.

"They ran every test known to man on him. They did a lung biopsy, spinal tap, bone-marrow tests, blood work, five blood transfusions and four platelets," she said.

uring this hospital visit, the doctors also put a Hickman in the baby's chest. A Hickman is an I.V. that is hooked into the main heart artery that comes out into a double port. He also got a feeding tube because he was too weak to eat on his own.

When Elizabeth finally got to bring her baby home, Homecare nurses had to visit three times a week to help her care for him. Few people had the knowledge and training to take care of the baby. "If I needed to go somewhere, I had to plan three days in advance to leave," she said.

The baby was fed a high-calorie formula to keep his weight up. For his age, he was an average-sized baby. "He was even a little chunkier than normal,"

Most of the time, the baby didn't look sick. "I hid the fact he was sick for a long time. He was a very active baby, and people couldn't tell. He even learned to walk holding on to an I.V. pole," she said.

Since the baby had no immune system, his life was at risk from almost anything.

"I was risking his life just by taking him to Wal-Mart with me," Elizabeth said.

During the holidays, Elizabeth took the baby home, which was about a five-hour drive.

"He got pneumonia again, and we took him to the emergency room there at 10 p.m., and they needed the past x-rays of him and didn't know how to treat him. We were told to bring the baby to his regular doctor, so we drove all the way back here," she said.

He was on I.V.s for a week, and Homecare nurses had to visit every day to help with the I.V. and give him medicine. Elizabeth was told to take the baby to Kansas City because the facilities there were better equipped to care for a baby with AIDS.

"At the hospital there, they ran every test known, again to determine what was wrong with him," she

Most of the test results were negative, but the baby was treated for infections, even if he did not test positive. He also received another spinal tap, bone-marrow testing, 10 more blood transfusions and eight more platelets.

The baby's platelets were too low. Platelets prevent a person from bleeding to death internally, so he could not undergo any surgeries.

At that point, the baby had at least three infections and was at risk of bleeding to death.

With all these problems and no immune system to fight off infection, the baby couldn't hang on any longer.

He bled to death as a result of AIDS. The baby was known to have three or so infections, but he didn't die from pneumonia.

lizabeth fought to keep her son alive and is now fighting her own battle for

"Last December, I was diagnosed as having fullsaid. "The doctors gave me three years to live.

"I am more tired than usual, and I'm on megamedications. I sleep a lot and go to the doctor about twice a month."

One thing AIDS patients face in everyday life is loss. "I can't further my education. work, own my own home or anything of any value," Elizabeth said. "I lost my friends, too."

Elizabeth has also been the victim of vandalism and personal threats.

"My car has been vandalized, and my house has been robbed," she said.

"I have been threatened verbally and over the phone, and the Health Department gets threats, here is a prejudice against people with AIDS, and people have gone as far as to say she should wear a sign around her neck, or she should just shoot

Elizabeth is currently visiting groups and sharing her story of her bout with AIDS.

"I feel well enough to visit about three groups a week teaching and promoting AIDS prevention," Elizabeth said.

3,000 people. Elizabeth and the Health Department have talked to church groups, girl scouts, classes and even beauty parlors. Elizabeth and the Health Department will talk to just about any group, but there is always security present, even though they aren't always visible.

Elizabeth is an active member of the Kansas AIDS Networking Project and Manhattan AIDS Projects. She also went to a conference last summer in Washington, D.C.

Elizabeth is very susceptible to infections and takes risks by visiting with groups every week. "I just tell them that I am more at risk from them than they are to me," Elizabeth said. "People say I should be afraid of dying, but sometimes I'm afraid to be alive."

story by Christi Wright = art by Mike Marlett = design by Derek Simmons

The K-State football program is promoting a "Bucks for Books" campaign Saturday at the Oklahoma State game in an effort to help raise money for books at the new Farrell Library.

Collection boxes will be set up by each gate at KSU Stadium, and fans are encouraged to donate at least $1 as they enter the stadium. The money raised Saturday will be matched by the National Endowment for the Center Tyrone Davis lunges toward the hoop between two Marathon Basketball defenders. Davis is entering his first game as a Wildcat tonight at Alabama after transferring from Baylor last season.

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

K-State embarks on new season

Belvis Noland and George Hill will be playing in their first away game Wednesday night at the Preseason NIT Tournament, but it will actually feel more like a homecoming for the two Alabama natives. Noland is originally from Tuscaloosa, Ala., while Hill calls Fairhope, Ala., his home. While both players said they will have family and friends watching them, they said they're going to treat this like any other game.

"I'm going to look at this just like any other game," Hill said. "I'm just going to go out there and play hard.'

"It will be a little different, though, since I'll be playing in front of my hometown fans. It'll kind of feel like a high school game.'

The stands will also be filled with members of the Noland family, since most of Belvis' relatives live close to the Alabama campus.

"I only live about two or three minutes away from the campus, so it's going to be a big thing for me and my family," Noland said.

"But the key thing is just to go down

Winning is the main thing on K-State coach Tom Asbury's mind, too.

"It would be the greatest thing in the world to beat Alabama," Asbury said. "Forget practice - there is some merit to having a sustained practice schedule, but we would be way better off winning and not practicing. But pulling off a win against the Crimson Tide won't be easy.

Alabama returns four starters and 11 lettermen from last year's team that finished the season with a 20-10 record.

The Tide also captured the secondplace position in the SEC's Western Division with a 12-4 conference record that included victories against NCAA champion Arkansas and Final Four participant Florida.

Alabama's season came to an end only after the team reached the second round of the NCAA Tournament falling Coach Asbury said he knows what kind of challenge his Cats are up against.

"Alabama is just a quality team," Asbury said. "They could get to the good and deep."

Asbury even had former K-State, coach and current Florida coach Lon Kruger calling him about the game.

Lon called me Monday morning to wish us luck," Asbury said. "He also said Alabama is darn good. Thanks,

The Cats are looking to rebound after their first loss of the year last Friday night to Marathon Basketball in an exhibition game.

While K-State built a nine-point halftime lead, Marathon went on a 20-2 run in the opening minutes of the second half to shut out the Cats for the rest of the night in their 89-83 loss.

Asbury said he has been encouraged by how quickly his players have picked up on his system, and he said he feels confident that the offense will be clicking by the time the Big Eight season rolls around.

"We've been doing so much teaching in practice, and after watching us in our two exhibition games, I really think that we're more far ahead offensively than I had initially expected," Asbury said.

"It's just awfully early right now, but I think it'll be mid-December or the first of January when we do get everything running smoothly. But we're fine — we're on schedule. I'm not discouraged."

NIT PAIRINGS K-State at Alabama New Mexico St. at Southern Cal George Washington at Syracuse Canisius at Pennsylvania Ohio at Ohio State Old Dominion at Virginia San Francisco at New Mexico Southwestern Louisiana at Memphis

► FOOTBALL

OSU looking for revenge

JULIE KUHLMAN

Oklahoma State will also be out to avenge what K-State offensive tackle Jim Hmielewski calls a "real heart-stopper" game in Stillwater, Okla., last year.

It wasn't a ride-off-into-thesunset day for the Cowboys

However, it looked to be that way after a Lawson Vaughn 43yard field goal that gave the Cowboys a 17-14 lead with 58 seconds remaining in the game.

But the Wildcats delivered at crunch time with a six-play 80-yard drive resulting in a touchdown pass from Chad May to Brad Seib, giving the Cats a 21-17 win.

Coach Bill Snyder said the Cowboys have other motivators aside from last season's game.

Snyder said he knows winning is extremely important to the seniors on both teams as well as himself.

"You hate to lose the last one," Snyder said. "Losing the last one is the nastiest thing, because you've got to live with it for 10 months until you have a chance to make up for it.

But for the seniors, there is no next season.

"It will be a very emotional Saturday for them," Snyder said. "I get to look at them right in the eye individually before it happens it's right there.

These seniors have hung on when everything wasn't the best in the world and have taken us to a great deal of success."

Snyder said the game will be just as important to the Cowboy seniors. The Cowboys are 0-5-1 in the conference, and Saturday is their last chance to stop a two-year winless streak in the Big Eight Conference.

"They are going to want to win a ballgame," Snyder said.

'They've got some seniors who are good players that they don't want that to happen to. Snyder said playing to potential must happen. He said it's something the Cats haven't done consistently this year.

"In six of our last eight football games this year, we've struggled and virtually had to go to the wire to win," Snyder said. Snyder said the reason is not because his team overlooks others. It is because it isn't consistent.

"Nothing is going to affect us except how we play," he said.

Fatigue is one of those reasons the Cats have been recently dragging a little at the end of games, Snyder said.

"I can't tell you in all honesty that it doesn't have some impact," Snyder said.

However, he said the thinness the team is experiencing with linebacker injuries is not a factor.

He said the players he uses to replace injured DeShawn Fogle and Percell Gaskins practice every day like everyone else.

"When somebody gets hurt, they can step up and make plays, Snyder said.

Kirby Hocutt said the team is adjusting well to the change.

"I don't think it had that much effect on us. We want to be out there playing. Mike Ekeler and I were fighting over who should get into the game," Hocutt said. Ekeler is just happy to get in the game more.

"It's been a lot of fun," he said. "It's hard for me to stand on the sidelines.

► VOLLEYBALL

Wildcats trying to salvage season against Jayhawks at Lawrence

Four days ago, the K-State women's volleyball team had its goal of making the Big Eight Conference tournament shattered when it was defeated by Oklahoma.

The team plays Kansas tonight, and despite the rivalry, Coach Jim Moore said it will be tough to get his team motivated.

"We just have to try to remind them it is important from the program's standpoint," Moore said. "We haven't finished above Kansas in a long

"We haven't finished above anybody in a long time.

A win tonight would guarantee the Wildcats a fifth-place finish in the conference standings. This would be the highest finish since the 1988 team placed fifth. After beating Kansas handily 15-11, 15-12 and 15-1 earlier in the year, the Cats should be fairly confident going into the match. Moore said this is 'Right now our psyche is fragile at best, and we need this win to get some confidence back," Moore said. "So, it's very important as far as our mental

"We need to start winning the games that we should win.'

Moore said he would like to see some red in his player's eyes after Saturday's disappointing loss, but he would be satisfied with a win.

"It would be nice for us to play angry, but all I want is for us to play well enough to win," Moore said. "We're fighting right now to get back to a higher level of play."

Moore said his team still has something to prove. "They have lots to prove to me, anyway," Moore

"They're (KU) building this into a big match, so we need to go there and win. The Cats are currently 14-11 overall and 3-7 in conference play. The match is at 7:30 p.m. today in

COLLEGIAN BOWL PREDICTIONS

Notre Dame will win its last two games and accept a Sugar Bowl Invitation. This will free up the Cotton Bowl for K-State.

Nebraska vs. Miami Penn State vs. Oregon Colorado vs. Florida State Florida vs. Notre Dame Texas Tech vs. K-State Alabama vs. Ohio State Mississippi State vs. Virginia Tech Baylor vs. USC Colorado State vs. Michigan

Orange Bowl Rose Bowl Fiesta Bowl Sugar Bowl Cotton Bowl Citrus Bowl Gator Bowl Sun Bowl Holiday Bowl

DAVE OLSON/Collegia

▶ GOLF

Halterman collects 2nd tournament title ment, I just wasn't sure if I could

BILL MCNALLY

Troy Halterman has captured his second tournament win in a row.

The last time Halterman played, he captured the D.A. Weibring Invitational.

Halterman ended up in the firstplace position at the UTA/United Sports Technologies Invitational in Dallas after a shaky start and a playoff at the end of the second round.

"After I won the first tourna-win again. Unquestionably, this was a great win for me," Halterman Halterman started the second round in a tie for 10th place. However, his play was hot, shooting two under par after the first nine holes.

Halterman finished two under par for the day and par for the tournament.

Halterman then found himself in a playoff with Troy Prusky, of Northwestern State University.

The playoff started at the first hole, which was a par five. Halterman was on the fringe of the greens after two shots and chipped the ball within 15 feet of the hole to set up a birdie putt. After Halterman putted the ball, it hung on the lip of the hole for a fraction of a second before dropping into the hole. The team finished in seventh place out of 18 teams, shooting a total score of 604 (303-301).

ARTS AND ENTERTAINMENT CALENDAR

Today

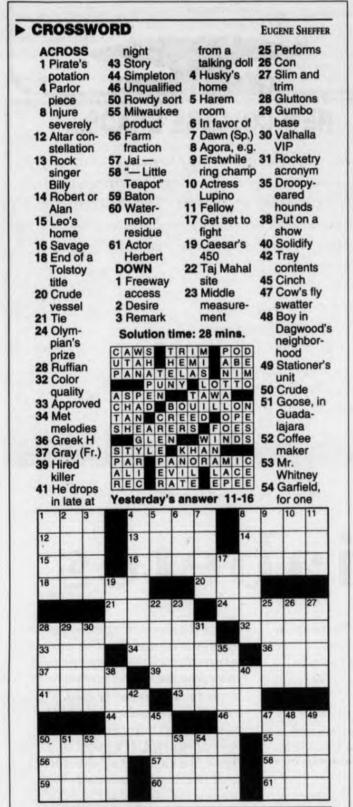

Stick, Puke Weasel - 8 p.m. at Snookies. Tickets are $8.

Thursday Slaughterhouse-Five" - 7 and 9:30 p.m. in Union Forum Hall.

Bosom, Six Penny — 9 p.m. at Charlie's Neighborhood Bar Free for 21 and older.

NOVEMBER 16, 1994

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

MPED? For answers to today's crossword, call tone / rotary phones. (18+ only.) A King Features service, NYC. CRYPTOQUIP 11-16

BAAWH-ZSNNTRVX,

TRHM BVL NQSP

RV JUW UNQPW Yesterday's Cryptoquip: IF YOU RUN OUT OF FUEL FOR YOUR FIREPLACE, PLEASE TRY USING CATA-LOGS.

Today's Cryptoquip clue: X equals G

NEW CRYPTOQUIP BOOK! Send $4.50 (check/m.o.) to CryptoClassics Book 2, PO Box 6411, Riverton NJ 08077.

The Cryptoquip is a substitution cipher in which one letter stands for another. If you think that X equals O, it will equal O throughout the puzzle. Single letters, short words and words using an apostrophe give you clues to locating vowels. Solution is by trial and error.

► THE FAR SIDE

GARY LARSON

► MIGRAINE

IVERSIONS

Monday's Lou Douglas lecturer

► CALVIN AND HOBBES

WOW, MOM SURE TURNED INTO THE CONNIPTION QUEEN WHEN SHE FOUND OUT I HADN'T EVEN STARTED MY DIORAMA ALREADY DUE TODAY

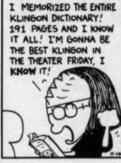

BILL AMEND

BILL WATTERSON

▶ FOXTROT

Reader warns rage can destroy what is left

DEAR CASSIE.

Cassandra Duveaux

Write to Cassandra: 116 Kedzie Hall Manhattan, KS 66506

Dear Cassandra,

This letter is in regards to Fighting the Edge.

About three years ago, I lost my father. The only difference was that I saw him die and could not help.

Your letter described the last three years of my life. as really shocking. See, I never really talk to anybody about my three years plus of internal rage. Seek counseling immediately. Pretty soon, the rage turns to violence. You or somebody else could get hurt. I live in rage One important thing to remember is suicide is never the answer. You have to live for yourself and your family right

Make sure your family and friends have your love, and live your life day by

It does get better.

On the Rebound, Wormazoid

Dear Wormazoid,

You've come a long way and have undoubtedly been through some difficult times as well.

You've given some great advice, and I wonder if you've used some of it your-

Hopefully, you're still not living in e because you don t Unfortunately, people lose loved ones every day, and although there is no way to replace them, there are ways to cope. There are professionals specifically trained to help people with these types

Take advantage of them; that's what they are there for.

Watching your father die is nothing less than devastating. I am unsure of the circumstances, but I am sure you did all you could to try and help your dad.

Don't beat yourself up over something you had absolutely no control

You need to forgive yourself. I'm sure your dad would have.

▶ REVIEW

Film not meeting fans' expectations as good sci-fi flick

'Slaughterhouse-Five' won Cannes but not as good as book on which it was based

RUSSELL FORTMEYER

The

Sacks, becomes unstuck in time,

"Slaughterhouse-Five" isn't your typical movie

Probably the only tinge of credibility that muddles its way out of this wretched vehicle is the fact it was based on a novel written by the celebrated, contemporary American writer Kurt Vonnegut.

Union Program Council's advertisement proclaiming "Slaughterhouse-Five" as the 1972 Cannes Film Festival Jury Prize Award is somewhat misleading.

It didn't win the coveted Palm d'Or first prize, but the second banana, proverbial pat-on-the-back,

Coming from Cannes, it really doesn't mean that much!

The best way to describe this movie would be to call it a bizarre, science-fiction excerpt exploring the tragedies of the everyman, namely war. "Slaughterhouse-Five" is sometimes draggy, and once in awhile on target.

'SLAUGHTER' SHOWTIMES film breaks itself into three blocks, so "Slaughterhouse-Five" to speak. Billy Now showing at the K-State Union. Pilgrim, played Admission to all shows is $1.75 Michael Wednesday — 8 p.m. in Forum Hall Thursday — 7, 9:30 p.m. in Forum Hall

Friday - 7:30 p.m. in Little Theatre thereby enabling himself to visit his past (his duty as an American soldier during the World War II bombing of Dresden), visit his current life (polished suburban life), and to ponder his future, or perhaps dream life (citizen of the planet Tralfamadore). Pilgrim is supposed to be the "everyman," but comes off as an uninteresting no-man.

In this flashback-flashforward plot style, the movie can easily lose you.

Time flashes are completely over used to the point of triteness in cinema (reminds one of a "Fantasy Island" episode), and "Slaughterhouse-Five" is no exception.

The gripping war scenes are unattestably human, but Pilgrim's life in suburbia is nothing more than a banal cartoon.

"Slaughterhouse-Five" is at best an anti-war ovie, perhaps sending the message that or space beings know the "meaning to life" and look down on us poor, lowly, war-torn earthlings.

I don't know. The movie fails to establish a rock-hard theme.

If you are a sci-fi fan and think you may enjoy the futuristic scenes, don't hold your breath.

The creators of this movie haven't even created a world half as credible as anything seen on the television series "Star Trek." Maybe you could get a good laugh out of the movie.

Is "Slaughterhouse-Five a cult movie?" Why resurrect it from the film crypt of the 1970s?

This movie can be summed up with a comment made in 1972 by a prominent film critic: "A lot of good making in this picture, but very little is

Order of Omega would like to thank...

Aggieville Pizza

Pyramid Pizza

Bonanza Cactus Jack's Subway Vista

Dilly's Deli

Wendy's

Old Chicago

Lucky Brewgrille

Rusty's Last Chance

for your help with Operation Turkey!

Women's Fastpitch Informational Meeting Wednesday Nov. 16 7:00 p.m. Union 213

If unable to attend call Tondo 532-7951 for info

AUDITIONS

for KSU Theatre Spring Productions:

THE HEIDI CHRONICLES - This witty and touching play covers the coming of age of Heidi Holland and some friends from the '60s through the present. (Roles for men and women.)

STREET SCENE - is an American opera set in a poor immigrant neighborhood in the late 1930s New York. The plot revolves around Anna and Frank Maurrant and their daughter Rose. (There are numerous singing roles and some non-singing roles.)

> WHEN: November 20 at 2-5 p.m. Calibacks: Monday 7 p.m.

WHERE: Nichols Hall Lobby for "Heidi Chronicles" All Faith's Chapel for "Street Scene"

Scripts are available for reading in 128 Nichols Hall. You may bring a prepared song for the opera audition.

OPEN TO ALL KRU STUDENTS. WE ENCOURAGE STUDENTS OF ALL ETHNIC BACKGROUND

FOR MORE INFO CALL 532-6875.

The following merchants invite you to come by on Sunday, Nov 20, 1-5 p.m. to begin your holiday shopping in earnest.

Ben Franklin Crafts Borck Brothers Children's Discovery Museum Exotic Aquatics Fashion Shop Little Apple Brewing Co. Little Caesar's Pizza Office World/Bookshop Rod's Hallmark The Frame Maker Waters True Value Hardware

NATION

Gunman told family of intentions to kill

ASSOCIATED PRESS

SAN FRANCISCO — A drifter who died in a fierce, 25-minute gun battle that also claimed the life of a police officer had warned his family in the days before the rampage: "You're going to be surprised at what I'm going to do."

Wearing fatigues and a bulletproof vest, 37-year-old Vic Lee Boutwell hijacked three cars and sprayed a quiet neighborhood with more than 100 rounds from four weapons Sunday night. Holding off scores of officers, he shot out restaurant windows, pierced a gas line and hit a seventh-floor window in a hotel blocks away.

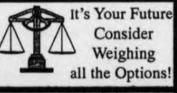

Boutwell was eventually shot to death by police. A police officer was killed, and a paramedic and a bystander were wounded.

"One of the family members said he was possibly suicidal," police inspector Tom Walsh said Monday.

Boutwell had called relatives at least twice in the week before, telling them first that he was going to a hospital, and later saying he was in Mexico and needed money, police said.

He also told his family, "You're going to be surprised at what I'm going to do," Walsh said. No one heard from him again, the inspector said.

Boutwell was carrying two assault rifles and three semiautomatic pistols. An estimated 1,000 rounds of ammo

Presidents College School of Law

Call or write for a FREE catalog and admission material.

115 South Glendale • Suite 208 Wichita, Kansas 67218 (316)682-0000

SPRING BREAK

Cancun $499

1-800-235-TRIP

Spring Fever!

were stuffed into belts and clips on his body and in a car he had hijacked. Four of the weapons had been fired, police said.

He also had fuses and black powder but left no clues what he planned to do with it, Police Chief Anthony Ribera said.

Police found a scanner and a notebook with police frequencies written in it but no other notes.

During the rampage, Boutwell even fired at cars passing blocks away.

Raymond Dutton was eating at the Gourmet Carousel when shots riddled the plate-glass window.

"There were bullets going off all over the place," he said. "Everybody dove on the ground, but only after a couple of minutes."

Paul Chow, a restaurant patron, said he thought Boutwell was heading toward them at one point.

"There were three policemen standing in the door, and that saved us," he said. "If he had gotten into the restaurant, it would have been horrible."

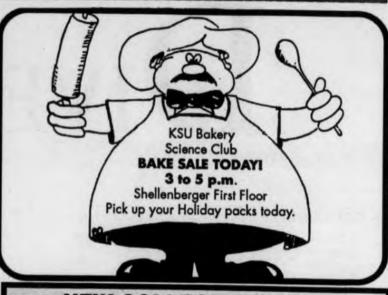

Boutwell' had a long-time fascination with guns, Walsh said. In 1988, San Jose police confiscated weapons from Boutwell's home and arrested him. After that arrest, Boutwell moved out of his family home.

We can provide sound, lighting and live bands for your party.
Graphics with lights.

For more INFORMATION and BOOKINGS Call 776-7726

NEW COLLEGE GRADS...

Chance of a lifetime opportunity with the most successful, fastest-growing consulting company in the Kansas City metro area. Sales marketing and business skills development opportunity is offered in exchange for motivated individuals who are driven to succeed.

Please forward resume to:
Human Resources
Century Computer Consultants
9200 Indian Creek Parkway
Overland Park, KS 66210
or fax to: (913) 451-7665.

Partners in Care

Living with Diabetes

Norma Slagle, RD, LD, and Merlene Hougland

Symptoms of diabetes include fatigue, increased urination, thirst, blurred vision, weight loss or gain and dry skin. Diabetes affects about 12 million people in the U.S. and nearly 6 million people

For information about Memorial Hospital's "Partners in Care" Diabetes Program, call Wini Schaedel, RN, Certified Diabetes Educator at 913-587-4275. he news is out. Controlling your diabetes makes a difference for life. A recent 10-year study proves that you can slow the onset and progression of long-term diabetes complications, including eye, kidney and nerve disease.

"I was sure that someday I would face serious complications of diabetes," says Merlene Hougland, a 28year-old who has had diabetes since she was a teenager, "but now I know I can keep myself healthy. The education classes at Memorial Hospital gave me the basic tools to control my diabetes. For the past three years, the ongoing support I get from the diabetes educators at Memorial gives me confidence to manage my disease."

Memorial Hospital's "Partners in Care" Diabetes Education Program helps people learn to live with their diabetes. We provide educational opportunities and support for children, pregnant women and adults of all ages. The education includes:

- •medication and insulin therapy
- nutrition and exercise
- handling emergenciesstress management
- prevention and management of diabetes complications

Ken Filby was diagnosed with diabetes at age 72. The education classes taught him the importance of self-care. "I need to eat properly and exercise every day," he says. "Since I will do this for the rest of my life, it's good to have the support of the doctor and the health team at Memorial Hospital."

Wini Schaedel, RN, with Ken

MEMORIAL

Yesterday's values, tomorrow's technology

Sunset and Claflin

Manhattan

913-776-3300

K.[. Culture TRIP

Join the fun on December 3 & 4 for a fun filled weekend including:

-one night lodging at the Fairfield Inn -tour of the Nelson-Atkins Art Gallery -ticket to dinner theatre

-other activities include shopping at Plaza and a movie at the Tivoli in Westport

The price is only $40.00

Travel expenses paid for by UPC TRAVEL

Union Program Council - Third Floor of the K-State Union More Bang for your Buck

Do you want to travel and see the world?

Let UPC help!

Get your International Student
I.D. Card for only $16 in the UPC office
Third floor of the K-State Union

rts Eclectic Entertainment

Multicultural Committee invites you to INTERNATIONAL COFFEE

AND TEA HOURS Enjoy a variety of coffees from around the world!

UNION STATION 2:30PM - 4:30PM TUESDAY AFTERNOONS Come listen to live acoustic guitar music

TODAY!

in the Union Courtyard 12:00pm - 1:00pm

Featuring Manhattan favorite

JEFF BARRETT

Brought to you by Special Events

KI CCLCFFCC with OUTDOOR RECREATION

DECEMBER 2 - 4

CRESTED BUTTE

FOR ONLY

$65!

Sign

The trip includes: 2 days of skiling at Crested Butte, round-trip transportation, 2 nights lodging, lift tickets and ski, boot,

Sign up now in the UPC office

pole rental.

LASSIFIEDS

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

20 words or less - $5 1 DAY each word over 20 - $.20 per word

2 DAYS 20 words or less - $6.25 each word over 20 - $.25 per word

3 DAYS 20 words or less - $7.25 each word over 20 - $.30 per word

4 DAYS 20 words or less - $8 each word over 20 - $.35 per word

5 DAYS 20 words or less - $8.50 each word over 20 - $.40 per word

ONE-BEDROOM APART

ONE-BEDROOM, KITCHEN, bath, furnished or un-furnished. Close to campus. 537-0687.

QUIET SURROUNDINGS

1219 KEARNEY. Large two-

814 THURSTON, studio. No pets. Water/ gar-bage included. Avail-able Jan. 1, $275. 539-5136.

AVAILABLE FALL very nice one, two, three and four-bedroom apart-ment complexes and houses. Excellent locations with great prices. 537-1666, 537-2919.

bedroom, $375/ month plus utilities. No pets

539-7336 for appoint-

room apartment. Avail-able in December. $300 month. Call or leave

MENT apartment. Large bedroom. $240/ month. 1006 Fremont.

nessage. 539-6034.

ONE-BEDROOM BASE

ONE-BEDROOM IN Aggieville available Jan. 1. $290/ month. Call 537-1587.

ONE-BEDROOMS AVAIL

STUDIO ONE block from campus. 776-0761.

******

CAMBRIDGE

2 BEDROOMS

SQ. APT.

*FIREPLACE

*POOL

537-9064

WEEKDAYS

9:00-4:30

AVAILABLE JAN. 2 through May or July. Furnished six-bedroom house. West- side City Park. Walk to campus.

Non-smokers. No pets. $950 per month plus electric. 776-6396.

N-DRINKER AND smoker, for two-bedroom place. No pets. References. 539-1554.

venient location. Eugene Field School. Call 539-1265 after 5:30p.m.

weekdays or after 9a.m. weekends.

AVAILABLE JANUARY

FEMALE LOOKING for

Male non-smoking roommate. $175/ month plus one-third utilities. Large bed-room, laundry, pool. Close to campus. Call 776-6401.

roommate to share two-bedroom apartment at Woodway. Cal 776-4901 leave mes three-bedroom house, $200/ month, one-third utilities, washer/ dryer, close to campus. 776-1890.

NEEDED fo

Roommate Wanted

FEMALE

For Rent-

NON-DRINKER

Houses

ABLE at 1026 Sunset

units. Central air/ heat.

Laundry facilities. Three blocks west of campus 776-3804.

Fremont. Cal

AVAILABLE JAN. 1. Two

LARGE, CLEAN, two-bed-bedroom, no pets. Water/ garbage included. Available Jan. 1, $495. Close to campus. 539–5136.

lease, 537-8389.

Unfurnished

for study. Campus one mile, one-bedroom,

some utilities paid. Min

imum seven month

MENT. Close to cam-pus. Available January '95. Hot water and heat-ing free. Rent $230. Call Sebastian, 539–3048.

(consecutive day rate) JAN. 1. One-bedrooms in complexes $280- $300. No pets, lease required

BOARD

Announcements

ADVANCED FLIGHT Train ing from 5000-hour ATP instructor. Private single-engine through ATP multi-engine. Hugh Irvin, 539-3128.

S Financial Aid S

Over $5 Billion in FREE Financial Aid is now available for students nationwide from private sector grants & scholarships! All students are eligible regardless of grades, income, or parent's income. For now information, and 1-800-959-1605 ext. F57681

COME FLY with us, K-State Flying Club has five air-planes. For best prices call Troy Brockway, 776-6735 after 5:30p.m.

BD MONEY FOR SCHOOL. Scholar-ships, grants, awards. Nationwide search, current, accurate information. D&D Enterprises. (913)587-1802, ask for Donna.

Broke?

Earn $15 each time you donate plasma.

MANHATTAN BIOMEDICAL CENTER 1130 Gardenway

776-9177

Mon.-Fri. 9 a.m.-6:30 p.m. Sat. 9 a.m.-2 p.m.

Lost and Found

Found ads can be placed free for three days.

Personals

We require a form of picture ID (KSU, driv-er's license or other) when placing a per

CONGRATULATIONS TO Jennafer N. on being elected Central region VP of FFA. We're proud of youl Love your KKG

Parties-n-More For Sale-Houses

ADD A splash to your next bash. Great anytime. Birthdays, mid-terms and Wildcat victory par-ties. Wet-N-Wild Mobile FOR SALE: beautifully re-modeled home in cen-tral part of town. Con-Hot Tubs, 537-1825.

ADD AN extra touch of class to your next par-ty. Call Wayne's Water Party to rent a portable not tub 537-7587, hot tub 539-7561.

REAL ESTATE

Apts. Furnished

AVAILABLE FALL very nice one, two, three and four-bedroom apart-ment complexes and houses. Excellent locations with great prices 537-1666, 537-2919.

HOW TO PAY

Cash, check, MasterCard or Vise are ed. There is a $10 service charge We reserve the right to edit, reject or

EADLINES For an extra charge, we'll put a leadline above your ad to catch the roommate wanted. Two-bedrooms and one-fourth bath of own. $145/ month plus one-half utilities. Wash-er/ dryer. Available Jan. Colonial Gardens, needed for spring se-mester. Two-bedroom

FEMALE NON-SMOKING

FEMALE ROOMMATE to

plus utilities, water and trash paid. 587-1915.

wanted to share spa-cious two-bedroom du-plex near Westloop Rent $238 plus one-half utilities. Available Dec.

MALE ROOMMATE

wanted to share two-bedroom apartment. Close to campus and Aggieville. Rent $220 but negotiable, one-half utilities (non-smoker). Available Dec. 15. Call 587-8618.

1. 537-6017.

ROOMMATE

587-0141.

message.

FEMALE

FEMALE

FEMALE

FEMALE

DEADLINES

Classified ade must be placed by noon the day before the data you want your ad to run. Classifed display ade must be placed by 4 p.m. two working days prior to the date you want your ad

FREE FOUND ADS

As a service to you, we run for three days free of charge.

THREE-BEDROOM, ONE and one-half bath apartment. Two blocks from campus, $220, mostly furnished. Move in after finals or Jan. 1. Call Amy 776–0293 or 776–7004, leave mes-

TWO-BEDROOM, CLOSE to City Park/ campus/ Aggieville; washer/ dry-er; furnished. Available Jan. 1. 587-8709.

Resume/ Typing

BRING YOUR papers resumes, and projects to life at The Computer Help Desk. Top- quality printing, with graphics if desired. Great stuff at great prices! Call 537-3018.

Pregnancy Testing

Pregnancy

Testing Center

539-3338

Totally confidential

·Same day results

Call for appointment

ocated across from campus in

Anderson Village

Mon.-Fri.

9 a.m.-5 p.m.

NISSAN- DATSUN Repair

Service. 22 years ex-perience. Mazdas, Hon-das and Toyotas also. Auto Craft, 2612 Dipper Lane, Manhattan, Kansas. 537–5049. 8a.m.-5p.m. Mon.- Fri.

PROMPT CONTRACEPTIVE

(913)841-5716.

EMPLOYMENT/

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment/Career classification. Readers are advised to approach any such employment opportunity with reasonable caution. The Collegian urges our read-

legian urges our read-ers to contact the Bet-ter Business Bureau, 501 SE Jefferson, To-peka, KS 66607-1190. (913)232-0454.

$1500 WEEKLY possible mailing our circulars! No experience re-quired Begin Now! For

ALASKA EMPLOYMENT

ATTENTION STUDENTS

Earn extra cash stuffing envelopes at home. Al

Fishing Industry. Earn up to $3000 - $6000 plus per month. Room and Boardl Transportation! Male/ female. No experience necessary! (206)545 - 4155 ext. A57682 information (202)298-8957.

CAREERS

Help Wanted

and abortion services. Dale L. Clinton, M.D.,

Automotive

Repair

255

Other

Services

Free pregnancy

testing

service

ROOMMATE: WELL EXPERIENCED typist three blocks from cam pus, furnished, dish by day would like typ-ing at night. Laser print-ing. Call Judy 539-7100 or 456-9642. washer. $210 plus half utilities. Call 587-9597.

FOR RENT at Chase Manhattan Apartments, ground level, furnished apartment. Share with three males $200/ month plus utilities. (913)742-2743 after

LARGE, BRICK, four-bedroom home is losing a female roommate. Needed- female to sublease spring semester Washer/ dryer, all fur-nished except bed-room. Great environment, near campus. Call 532-9015 for ap-

MALE STUDENT room mate wanted Jan. 1. $180 per month. Call Brad 537-4186.

NON-SMOKER, SHARE house, utilities with re-sponsible mostly male household. Large bedroom, laundry, $160 Available Nov. 15.

539-2468. Keep trying. ROOMMATE NEEDED, at Brittnay Ridge, for sec ond semester lease Will pay first months rent. Call 539-5664, ask for Shawn, or leave message. ROOMMATE WANTED Non-smoking male col-lege student needed to share nice two-bedroom apartment. About 10 minute walk to campus. Close to Aggieville too. $210/month plus utilities. Sorry, no pets! Lease starts when you move in. Call John right away at 776-9559.

ROOMMATE WANTED: Wanted, responsible male to share new four-bedroom Chase apart-ment. Jan.- July occu-pancy, $200/ month cable. Call 776-9365

WANTED NON-SMOKING and non-drinking room-mate for basement furnished private bed-room. Walk to KSU. $150. Share utilities. 539-1554.

WANTED ROOMMATES to share nice four-bed-room house for spring and/ or fall '95 semes-ters call Shauna (776-3130).

WOODWAY APARTMENT for sublease. Female roommate needed to sublease furnished apartment in January or before. $208/ month plus one-third utilities. Please call 776-9587 if interested Leave a

Sublease

EXTREMELY NICE two-bedroom apartment. New carpet and floors, deck, one and one-half baths and lots of stor-age Jan. 1- May 31. Sublease. 537-3073.

ONE ROOM for rent in large, beautiful, seven-bedroom home; $150/ month plus one-seventh utilities; kitchen and laundry available; four blocks from campus; January 1 to May 31 sublease available; 537-2497— ask for Russ or leave message.

ONE-BEDROOM APART-Within walking distance of campus and Ag-gieville. No deposit re-quired. Call 537-4768. materials provided. Send SASE to Central Distributors P.O. Box 10075, Olathe, KS 66051. Immediate re-

COMPUTER NETWORK
ADMINISTRATOR: parttime student position,
mostly regular scheduled hours with some emergency trou-bleshooting hours. Re-sponsible for oversee-ing 55-computer Macin-tosh network, including hardware maintenance records maintenance, records maintenance. Should be familiar with Macintosh operating systems 6 and 7. Client systems 6 and 7. Clent server networking for an ethernet network. TCP/IP experience a plus. Salary negotiable based on experience. Pick up an applications in 113 or 103 Kedzie Application deadline is noon on Tuesday, Nov.

CRUISE SHIPS NOW HIRING. Earn up to $2000 plus/ month working on Cruise Ships or Land-Tour companies. World trav-el (Hawaii, Mexico, tra-Caribbean, etc.) Sea-sonal and full-time emsonal and full-time employment available. No experience necessary. For more information call (206)634–0468 ext.

KKSU RADIO needs part-time reporter. Must be full-time student. Ex-perience preferred. Call Richard. Baker. Richard 532-5851.

MACINTOSH TROU-BLESHOOTER: part-time student position, mostly regular sched-uled hours with possible emergency hours. Assists in overseeing 55-computer Macintosh network, including hardware and software troubleshooting and general maintenance. Should be familiar with Macintosh operating systems 6 and 7. Mininum wage to start. Pick up an applications at 113 or 103 Kedzie noon on Tues., Nov. 22. NATIONAL JOBS- Over 25,000 openings! (including hotel staff, tour guides, etc.) Benefits plus bonuses! Apply now for best positions. Call: (206)545-4804 ext. N57681.

NOW HIRING Students to work spring 1995 se-mester fee payment Jan. 9 and 10, 1995. Contact Tammie Campbell at 210 Willard Hall.

RESIDENTIAL ASSIS-TANT: Part-time posi-tion available for a five bed male residential facility for the severe and persistent mentally ill. Duties include monitoring/ supervision of daily living skills, and planning/ supervising recreational activities. Must be available to at tend a team staff meet-ing weekly. Contact the Community Support Program Supervisor at Pawnee Mental Health Services, 587–4333. EOE.

SKI RESORT JOBS! Ever wanted to work in the Rockies? For fun and adventure call Ski-Ve-nure (619)683-2300.

STUDENT COMPUTER Op-erator (2nd shift) 10-30 hrs. per week. Must be willing to work hours in-dicated and work every other weekend. Must be enrolled in at least six resident semester hours during spring se-mester and willing to mester and willing to work during student re-cesses and summer months. Applications will be accepted until 5:00pm, Nov. 18, in rm. 2B Farrell Library. Un-dergraduates with em-ployment potential for ployment potential for two years will be given

STUDENT WORKER- Typ-ing, filing and related business office duties; dBase and/ or word pro dBase and/ or word pro-cessing experience helpful. 15– 20 hours/ week during school, 30-40 hours during sum-mer. Apply to Carol, Ex-tension Business and Finance, 121 Umberger through 11/17/94.

STUDENTSI WORK even-ings now until Christ-mas break. Four hours/ night, M-F, $5.50/ hour and up. Need good strong phone voice. De-pendable. Randy or Pam 539-2121.

SUMMER JOBS OUT-DOORS Over 10,000 openings! National Parks, Forests, Fire Crews. Send stamp for free details. Sullivan's 113 East Wyoming, Ka-lispell, MT 59901.

THIRD SHIFT Student Computer Operator: 20

you sell your item before your ad expired, we will refund you for the remaining days.

You must call us before noon the day
the ad is to be published.

CANCELLATIONS

CORRECTIONS
If you find an error in your ed, pleas call us. We eccept responsibility only for the first wrong insertion.

Call 532-6555 to place your classified

hours per week. Must be willing to work hours indicated: Tues. and Thurs, and every other Sat. Must be en-rolled in at least six resi-dent semester hours during spring semester. Willing to work during student recesses and summer months. Applications will be accepted until 5:00pm Nov. 18, in room 2B Far-rell Library. Undergrad uates with employment potential for two years will be given preference.

VOLLEYBALL COACH for 15 year old girl during off season, Nov. – Jan. at two hours per week $5/ hour. 776-2155.

WAIT PERSONS needed Apply in person Mon., Wed., Fri. 11- 5p.m. at Kickers 2315 Tuttle Creek Blvd.

Business Opportunities

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment/Career classification. Readers are advised to approach any such business opportunity with reasonable caution. The Collegian urges our readers to contact the Better Business Bureau, 501 SE ness Bureau, 501 SE Jefferson, Topeka, KS 66607-1190. (913)232-0454.

DON'T BE fooled by a GET- RICH- QUICK scheme or ads that MOUNTS. Call Strat ton Enterprises to start your own business in MORE THAN JUST

ONE LONG DISTANCE CARRIER. Get paid commission on your customers usage. Call 1–238–7871. Leave message and number. MAKE $3900 first month. Telecommuni-cations Company expanding into area. Needs managers, sales reps, trainers. Small investment regired. Training provided. Call Jeaneane (800)977-6836

MARKET

Wanted to Buy

CHRISTMAS CASH? We buy used Air Jordans 85- 91 editions and late 70's and early 80's. Nike runninng shoes, pay up to $2001 1-800-873-3538

Items for Sale

FOR SALE: 19-inch Sanyo color TV $130. Dee Zee running boards for long bed Chevy pick-up. Best offer. 539-1735.

FOR SALE: Gorgeous black formal, size 7, strapless, three-quarter length. Perfect for upcoming Christmas formal or dinner. Reasonable price. Call 539-8870 after 4:30 or leave mes-sage for Cristy. MOTORCYCLE HELMET and cover, both like new. Call after 5p.m. 537-2342.

Antiques

TIME MACHINE Antique Maul and Geeb Empori-um, 6000 square feet, antiques, collectibles, estate jewelry, furni-ture, 4910 Skyway Dr. four blocks east of Man-

CLASSIFIED AD

Always put what item or service you are advertising first. This helps potential buyers find what they are looking for. Don't use abbreviations. Many buyers are confused by abbreviations. their price range.

GET THE WORD OU PLACE YOUR CLASSIFIED AD IN KEDZIE 103

PHONE 532-6555

532-7309

OR WRITE COLLEGIAN CLASSIFIEDS K-State Collegian Kedzie Hall 103 Manhattan, Kan. 66506

OFFICE HOURS MONDAY-FRIDAY

8 a.m.-5 p.m. (Except holidays)

Research

and Relaxation

in London, Bath

and the English

Countryside

Spring Intersession 1995

May 15-28

Galleries, theatre,

The Tower, Stonehenge,

Bath Music Festival

History, Art,

Architecture

$1,650 from KCI

includes everything but

lunch. Sign up now to assure 1994 price.

Dept. of Art, 532-1757 or

Landscape Architecture,

532-1093 or 537-0197.

Airplane Tickets

FROM KCI to Las Vegas

A LOT CAN BE

SAID ABOUT A

LITTLE BIT OF

SPACE:

It works

JOLLEGIAN

Classifieds

532-6555

leaves Wed. 23 comes back Sun. 27. $250 or best offer. Leave mes-sage 776–1930.

539-6947, or Prof. Rick for more detailed information, contact

Prof. Diane Dollar,

Forsyth, Dept. of

hattan Airport, Open Tues.- Sat. 12- 6p.m. 539-4684.

Computers

486DX 25 4MEG RAM, 340 MEG hard drive, CD ROM, 14.4 Kbps mo-dem, SVGA monitor, Win 3.11, DOS 6.22, lots of software, 539-5606.

IBM COMPATABLE computer with color moni-tor, keyboard, printer and software. Great for papers. $400 or best off-er. Contact Mike at

LAPTOP COMPUTER, Pack-ard Bell 386, 80 hard drive, many extras. Call (913)263-1597.

MACINTOSH COMPUT-ER. Complete sys-tem including print-er only $500. Call Chris (800)289-5685.

Music Instruments

ACOUSTICAL- ELECTRI-CAL Bass guitar for sale. $200. 395-4805.

Sporting Equipment

FOR SALE: solo-Flex, three years old, all attach-ments. Excellent condi-tion. Call 539-4680.

Tickets to

Buy/Sell FOR SALE: Student basket ball tickets; $70. Call 537-8938. Leave mes-

TWO KANSAS City Chiefs football tickets for Nov. 20 game. 539-7377.

Leave message WANTED: TWO student

Tickets for OSU game. Please call 776-4908. TRANS-PORTATION

Automobiles

1979 DATSUN 210, 100K miles, automatic de-pendable. $750, or best offer. 537-3219.

1983 HONDA Accord. fourdoor, automatic, air, stereo, cruise. Excellent condition. Asking $1685. Call 776-3410,

1984 TOYOTA Tercel, twodoor. Air conditioner, AM/FM, excellent condi-tion 106K miles. Call Bhavani 587-9584 or Chandran 537-0677.

1986 RED Mazda RX-7.

clutch and brakes. 70,000 miles, $5000. Call 539-2920.

1991 NISSAN NX 2000 Burgundy color, five-speed manual transmis-sion. AM/FM stereo cas-sette, fog lights, rear window wiper/ defog-ger, T-top extractable sunroof with remov-able sun shields. 51,000 miles (military and home, Georgia, travel). Owner is PCSing to Ko-rea. Price $8000. 776-1082.

SILVER TWO door Honda Accord EX extremely nice has 58,000 miles, fully loaded. 537–3073.

Car Pool

NEED A ride to Lincoln, NE. Nov. 22- 27. Emily 395-3868. Will pay one-

TRIPS

Tour Packages

DRIVE YOURSELF & SAVE! YEAR

SOUTH PADRE ISLAND

PANAMA CITY BEACH DAYTONA BEACH KEY WEST STEAMBOAT VAIL/BEAVER CREEK

1-800-SUNCHASE

COLLEGIAN CLASSIFIEDS 532-6556

hamman We Take Tips! KANSAS STATE OLLEGIAN 532-6556

ADVERTISING PRODUCTION

Publication Practice

IMC 360

Class size is limited so sign up now.

Get training and gain experience while earning one hour of credit this spring. Attend class one day a week from 8:30-11:30 a.m. You pick the day of the week based on availability. The instructor's permission is required. The experience you gain in the spring would qualify you to apply for a paid position in the summer or fall.

> Come to 113 Kedzle 8 a.m.-4 p.m. for more information and syllabus.

TIPS FOR WRITING A

Consider including the price. This tells buyers if they are looking at something in CATEGORIES

To help you find what you are looking for, the classified ads have been arranged by category and sub-category. All categories are marked by one of the large images, and sub-categories are preceded by a number designation.

WE DO NOT USE PHONE NUMBERS OR LAST NAMES IN PERSONALS.

Expression vital to culture change

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

change is difficult in one's self, but it is especially difficult to produce change for a group. She said she has tried to provide alternate opportunities for expression.

"I introduced personal content into the classroom to encourage not only more learning, assimilation," she said. "They (students) have to get things on their own terms.

"I've tried to continually play less of a central role in my classrooms," Lester said. "I began to alter course content and challenge students with definitions I wasn't challenged with in my institutional affiliation."

Lester said she felt entitled to introduce discourse and began asking questions.

"What do we mean when we say we study American literature and culture? What is literature? What cultural function does it serve?"

She said culture is a complex process that isn't something you do at 11 at night when you are tired and read a book, or on a Saturday night when you go to a

One audience member from Fort Hays State said she was concerned about how to reach more conservative students who are opposed to the diversity being taught, rather than only those who are accepting.

Ottenheimer said the likelihood of not coming across people who are different is very

"The more we get that out, the more students are believing it," she said.

Hoernicke said that, although it may seem like most of the students on campus are from the same background, Kansas is rich in diversity.

"Our service area services the highest group of Hispanics in the state, and it's a growing group," he said.

News Digest

STATE OF KANSAS RAKES IN EXTRA REVENUE

TOPEKA (AP) - The state should collect $11.6 million more than previously expected in the current budget year and see revenues grow $121.2 million after that, fiscal forecasters predicted today.

The Consensus Estimating Group released its semiannual estimates for state-revenue collections. It revised an April estimate for fiscal year 1995, which began July 1, and released the first estimate for fiscal 1996. The estimators predicted that tax revenues would grow by 4.6 percent in fiscal 1996, aided by a relatively stable economy. The governor and Legislature will base the fiscal 1996 budget on the consensus group's numbers. The group revised its fiscal but revenue collections through October already were ahead of the old estimate by $25.8 million.

1995 estimate by $37.4 million,

The group is forecasting that the state will collect another $11.6 million on top of that.

"I think the economy is holding its own right now," said state budget director Gloria Timmer, a member of the group.

The group predicted that the state will collect almost $3.29 billion in revenues in its general fund by the end of the current fiscal year. It predicted that revenues would grow to almost $3.41 billion in fiscal 1996.

The group is made up of Timmer, the secretary of revenue, the director of the Legislative Research Department and three university economists.

SLATTERY LOOKS FOR JOB IN PRIVATE SECTOR

WASHINGTON (AP) -Kansas native Jim Slattery, who gave up his seat in the U.S. House to run for governor, said he's through with politics and is job hunting in the private sector.

"Right now, I have no plans to run for public office in the foreseeable future," Slattery told The Kansas City Star.

Slattery, 46, said he is neither looking for a job in the Clinton administration nor seeking work as a lobbyist. Instead, he wants to work in business or law.

Slattery said he'd like to stay in the Midwest, perhaps Kansas, and wants to use the expertise he's developed in the areas of telecommunications, health care, insurance or railroads. He said he has several prospects.

This would be the second time the Good Intent, Kan., native is leaving public life and starting over. In 1979, Slattery, then 30, left the Kansas House after six years and built a real-estate business. Three years later, he won a seat in the U.S. House. This year, Slattery gave up that spot to run for Kansas governor and was defeated by Republican Bill Graves, the Kansas secretary of state.

"I probably would have stood a better chance of getting elected governor if I'd never set foot in Washington," Slattery

Slattery said he does not expect to run for the Senate in 1996, when Republican U.S. Sen. Nancy Kassebaum's term

Professor says University, not curriculum, needs help We need to change the

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

The lowest point is reached at a time of a critical event in the institution when it's time to stop and examine the situation.

"This is the realignment phase when people need to stop and see the cause to be angry and look at their own actions and attitudes," Jolly said. "People need to work together and listen."

Jolly said the University should be a home for all students and faculty, and everyone should feel welcome.

University, not just the curriculum. The institution should feel like a home for everybody," he said.

Jolly brought eight program ideas to help universities work with diversity.

One includes teleconferencing, which Jolly has used in some of his classes. His class studied the works of a scientist, then called the person and asked the scientist questions on a conference call.

Another idea Jolly suggested was for professors to use international students as speakers in "This brings some of the students that usually sit in the back of the room up to the front," Jolly said. "This also shows professors that there are experts in their classrooms and that the students have something to say."

K-State Union

Jolly encouraged the conference members to personally reach out and try to add to the campaign of bringing diversity to campuses.

"Try to reach out and add one idea, or say something that will provoke one thought," Jolly said.

Just the smallest efforts can change the world, he said.

DIRIU Sale

November 14-20

at the K-State Union Bookstore

Select —

T-Shirts . . . 93.95 (valued up to $15.95)

Sweetshirts . . . 919.95

Shop at the store that gives back to you

Students should be on search committees

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

"Why don't we ask when a white person gets hired, are they the best or just the buddy," he said.

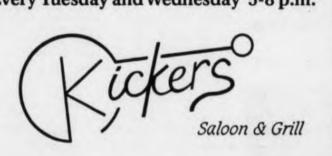

Jolly said the search committees are searching for applicants the same way that they did when they were hiring white people 95 percent of the time.

He said the committees need to broaden their bases for searching for qualified applicants.

When the search committees are looking for new applicants, students ought to be involved, said James Williams, dean of the College of Arts and professor of ethnic and women's studies at California Polytechnic University at Pomona.

"Every search committee ought to have student representatives diverse student representatives," Williams said.

539-KICK • 2315 TUTTLE CREEK

KSU Theatre

> presents BITES

by Lisa Doty Directed by Deidre Ensz

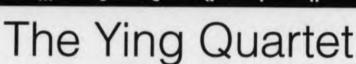

Purple Masque Theatre 8 p.m.

Thursday, Nov. 17 Friday, Nov. 18 Saturday, Nov. 19 Tickets available at McCain Box Office Students $2, Adults $3, Senior Citizens $2

The K-State Union Bookstore Presents...

Stories and videos daily at the K-State Union Bookstore

K-State Union

Friday, November 18, 8 p.m. McCain Auditorium

Kansas State University

General Public/Faculty: $14 Senior Citizen: $10 Student/Child: $7

Since their debut in 1989, this brothers-and-sister team has been profiled on "CBS Sunday Morning," featured on "St. Paul Sunday Morning," and won the Naumburg Chamber Music Award. Scott Cantrell of the Kansas City Star said, "It was, quite simply, the most amazing string quartet playing I've ever heard." Hear for yourself when they play:

> Mozart's "Hunt" Quartet Ralph Shapey's Quartet No. VIII Schubert's "Death and the Maiden"

For tickets call 532-5428 or come to the McCain box office. Box office hours: noon to 5 p.m. weekdays; from 1 p.m. before weekend matinees; and from 5 p.m. before weekend evenings. Tickets are also available at Manhattan Town Center customer service desk, K-State Union Bookstore, and ITR (Fort Riley). Persons with disabilities call 532-6428.

* Presented in part by the Kansas Arts Commission, a state agency, and the National Endowment for the Arts, a federal agency. Events in the McCain Performance Series are supported by the K-State Fine Arts Fee.

Collegiate Agri-Women want you to ...

Dance Contest with Prizes!

DANCE! DANCE! DANCE!

at

T.W. LONGHORNS

NOVEMBER 18

8 p.m.

WILDCAT WATCH

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN WEEKLY SPORTS SECTION

NOVEMBER 16, 1994

Running back J.J. Smith ran wild on the Tigers' defense last Saturday. Smith finished with 138 yards on 34 carries, which were career

BIG 8 FOOTBALL

PREVIEW FOR Nov. 19-25

Kansas at Missouri

When: 1 p.m. Saturday, Nov. 19 Where: Faurot Field (73,650)

About the Jayhawks: Kansas isn't going to a post-season bowl this year. However, it can manage to still finish with a winning record, with a victory against Mizzou. KU had problems on offense last week, and the Jayhawks' defense allowed Colorado to run all over it.

About the Tigers: Missouri put a huge scare into K-State last week. The Tigers used an effective rushing attack along with an opportunistic passing attack. The Tigers defense also played really well. Mizzou still hasn't won at home this season, but the Tigers have a great opportunity to win against the Jayhawks. This game will decide who will finish in fifth place.

Iowa State at Colorado

When: 1:10 p.m. Saturday, Nov. 19 Where: Folsom Field (51,748)

About the Cyclones: ISU hung tough with the Cornhuskers for three quarters last week; however, it wasn't good enough for the victory. Halfback Calvin Branch continued to catch the ball well with his second 50-yard plus touchdown catch in two games.

About the Buffaloes: Colorado has rebounded from the loss at Nebraska with two wins against OSU and KU. In fact, the Buffs smashed the Jayhawks behind Heisman trophy candidate Rashaan Salaam's 200 yards. Defensive tackle Shannon Clavelle continues to smash through opposing defenses.

Nebraska at Oklahoma

When: 12:30 p.m. Saturday, Nov. 25 Where: Memorial Stadium (75,004) About the Cornhuskers: The Big Red had some trouble with Iowa State last week, but it still pulled out the win in the fourth quarter. Lawrence Phillips racked up more than 180 yards against the Cyclone defense. Brook Berringer had another premiere passing day.

About the Sooners: It's not official, but a whole lot closer as OU's coach Garry Gibbs is probably on his way out of Norman. According to newspapers in Tulsa, the administration has asked Gibbs to resign. However, OU did manage to defeat interstate rival OSU last week. Quarterback Garrick McGee still has had trouble running the Sooners' offense.

WATCH TAKES A WEEK OFF

Since K-State will be closed for the Thanksgiving holiday, the Wildcat Watch will not run on Wednesday, Nov. 23. However, the Watch will be back in two weeks with K-State's Players of the Year.

_____

Cats turn back Missouri's upset bid

JEREMY CRABTREE
Collegian

-State's defense came through when it all counted against the Tigers.

Missouri was making a last-minute comeback attempt, as the Tigers were down 21-18, and it had a first down and goal at the K-State 10-yard line.

INSIDE

▶ Running backs steal

the spotlight in the

Cats-Tigers

match-up.

Page 4

dive to Mike
Washington.
There was a gain of 2 yards.
On second down, the Tigers went with a pass to Rahsetnu Jenkins from quarterback Jeff

The Tigers' first play was a Handy. Gain of 4 yards. Then on third down, the Tigers ran up the middle with Brock

Olivo, which resulted in a gain of 1 yard.
The fourth down came from the 3-yard

The game and the Cats' hopes of a New Years' Day bowl game all rested on

"I told the fellas that this is what it's all about," K-State linebacker Mike Ekeler said. "I told them to put all that they got into this one snap. Actually, I was praying to myself for them not to make it."

To help set up the defense, K-State's coaches called time-out, which was their last in the game.

"The coaches told us what to expect," cornerback Joe Gordon said. "We were expecting them to run some type of pick play or some type of bootleg."

That's exactly what Missouri did, as it lined up in the I-formation with Brian

MARK LEFFINGWELL/Collegian

Missouri running back Brock Olivo fumbles a handoff from quarterback Jeff Handy. Olivo finished with 151 yards rushing, but he couldn't score on a crucial fourth-down play in the fourth quarter.

Sallee flanked to the right side.

After taking the snap, Handy rolled to his right and lofted a pass toward the right corner of the end zone.

The pass was intended for Sallee, but before he could make the game-winning grab, K-State cornerback Chris Canty slapped the ball away.

"Special teams make special plays in special situations," K-State coach Bill Snyder said. "I'm pleased that we won." "It was a great play," K-State safety

Mario Smith said.
"We knew that we had to stop them. It was just a great play."

Canty said he had hoped that Mizzou came at him.

"You hope that they come at you in these types of situations," Canty said. "He gave an in fake, and then he went out.

"I saw the boot and the pass in the air. After that, my mind went blank."

The Missouri drive was dead, along with the Tigers' chances for the upset.

However, the Tigers would have had

However, the Tigers would have had the opportunity to run the clock out and escape with the upset if it wasn't for another fourth-down stop by the defense early in the fourth quarter.

Mizzou was faced with fourth down at the K-State 22-yard line. Instead of going through the air as they would in the final drive, the Tigers tried a dive play to Oliva. He was stuffed by safety Chuck Marlowe and Nyle Wiren for a no-gain.

"It was the turning point of the game," Marlowe said. "A lot of people will probably forget about that play, because of the final drive."

While the defense was playing tough when it counted, the K-State passing attack was grounded by the Tigers' defense.

K-State, which had been averaging more than 200 yards a game passing, finished with only 163 yards.

Quarterback Chad May also had his worst day of the season, as he finished with only eight completions on 20 attempts.

"I knew that they would be up for this game," May said. "They really didn't do anything special. We figured that our line could get them blocked, but they got in too far sometimes, and I had to throw it over their hands."

However, May did have two touchdown passes. One was a 35 yarder to Ron Brown, and the other came on a 1-yard strike to Brad Seib.

Despite the struggling passing game, K-State running back J.J. Smith was having a career day. Smith finished with 138 yards rushing on 34 attempts. Both were career highs for Smith.

"I was ready to go," Smith said. "I would run the ball on every play if I could."

With the win the Cats jumped up to

With the win, the Cats jumped up to No. 8 in the CNN/USA Today Coaches Poll, and they remained at 11th in the Associated Press Poll.

As for the bowl outlook, it appears that at the worst, the Cats could end up in the Aloha Bowl in Honolulu, Hawaii.

However, the Cats don't have their sights set on Hawaii.
"We want to play on New Years' Day."

"We want to play on New Years' Day," Mario Smith said. "We also want to play at a place where all of our fans can travel to see us at.

"If we went to Hawaii, then only a few of our fans would be able to go to the game. I think that we deserve to go to a Coalition Bowl."

"We are still a top-10 team," he said. "A win is still a win."

Proud Sponsor of the Collegian Game Coverage

KSU vs. Oklahoma State November 19, 1994 Proud Sponsor of the Collegian Game Coverage

Intensity runs in the family

oaching is a family affair for co-defensive coordinator Bob Stoops.

The Youngstown, Ohio, native coaches alongside his brother Mike Stoops, who is the defensive ends coach for K-State.

The Stoops brothers learned the coaching profession from their father, Ron, a high-school coach in Youngstown. "I guess you could say I was like a gym rat in basketball growing up," Stoops said. "I was always around football with my Stoops' father was a three-sport athlete at Youngstown State.

However, he said football and athletics were never forced on him and his three brothers and two sisters when he was growing up.

"He never forced anything on us," Stoops said.

"He didn't have to. I loved the game, and I always wanted to Stoops went on to earn all-America honors as a strong safety at the University of Iowa.

His senior season at Iowa, he earned all-America status as a defensive back and was voted most valuable player on the Hawkeyes'

During his junior year, in 1981, he was a member of Iowa's Big Ten Championship team and played in the Rose Bowl.

"I have some great memories from those days," Stoops said.

"The Rose Bowl especially. All the excitement that surrounds the game - it was just a great experience."

Now Stoops is in the business of developing championship football teams and all-America defensive backs.

Both came last season, with K-State's Copper Bowl victory and two all-Americans in K-State's defensive backfield, Jaime Mendez and Thomas Randolph.

"I can't say which I enjoyed most between my playing days and developing players," Stoops said. "I'll never forget what I accomplished as a player, but those memories fade after awhile.

"The most fun thing there is to see a guy fulfill his goals as a player and get patted on the back

Stoops said when the Cats were in the locker room basking in the glow of their Copper Bowl, that was the best part of being a coach.

CARY CONOVER/Colleg

Co-defensive coordinator Bob Stoops Instructs players during a recent practice. Stoops earned all-America honors as a safety at lowa. Stoops Isn't the only football coach in his family, as his father coached high-school football in New York, and his brother Mike is the defensive ends coach at K-State.

"When I saw how happy the seniors were after the game, knowing they had accomplished a goal of theirs, it was really great to be a part of it," he said.

The only way to accomplish goals for Stoops is through extreme intensity.

That is the way Stoops said he played the game, and that is the only way he said his players can learn to play football.

"I'm an extremely intense individual," Stoops said. "I don't think there's any other way to play and I express that to my players."

Most fans don't see Stoops' intensity because he sits in the press box during games. However, those who are in the press box know firsthand how seriously Stoops takes his job. Stoops communicates with co-defensive coordinator Jim Leavitt ' on the field.

Most fans see Leavitt jumping around grabbing players. What they don't see is Stoops in the coaches' booth pounding on the desk and screaming expletives that cannot be repeated.

"Jim and I work well together, I think," Stoops said.

"We understand what players can do what. I think we've done a good job of getting right players on the field in the right situations."

Despite his intensity on the practice field and in the booth, the most exciting thing to Stoops is not the big hits, but turnovers.

"To me, there is nothing more exciting than when the defense scores," Stoops said. "You always want turnovers.

While in college working on a marketing degree, Stoops said he realized his career was going to be in coaching.

He said he had a great relationship with Iowa's defensive coordinator Bob Brazier. "I knew by watching him while I was an assistant that I wanted to be a coach," Stoops said.

"I really can't see myself doing anything else." The coach perhaps faced the biggest challenge this season in developing the young defensive backs starting for the Cats this

He had to replace all four starters in the defensive backfield this season.

"They all have amazing potential," Stoops said.

"I have people starting as freshmen and sophomores, and they just don't care. They line up against some of the best receivers in the country and play them

Stoops served as a volunteer assistant at Iowa for two years, three seasons as a graduate assistant and one season at Kent State before coming to K-State with Bill Snyder in 1989.

I'm an extremely intense individual. I don't think there is any other way to play, and I express that to my players.

> BOB STOOPS Co-defensive

Advertise in the 532-6560

4,000 concentrated Programs • More than 1,000 Graduate Schools • Over 300 Credentialling Programs • 500 Professional Oraganizations

Plus: School Catalog Service...we send the catalogs to you! Why spend hours researching what school has what concetration, in what area of the country. We have all the information right here, the most extensive database available, and we even mail you the catalogs from the schools you choose. Information packets are available for students and Resource Centers.

AREER VETWORK ASSOCIAT

2210 Mt. Carmel Avenue, Suite 110, Dept. 10-5 Glenside, PA 19038 (215) 572-7670

FAX (215) 576-8354

'No Coupon" Specials

(NO coupon needed, NONE accepted)

Everyday Two-fers - PIZZAS with 2 - TOPPINGS each 2 - COKES with ice

Three-fers - PIZZAS with

- TOPPING each - COKES with ice $10.34

Pizza Shuttle

2 LARGE $13.98

NOW GET - CAESARS SINGLES™ ONE MEDIUM $5.99°ONE LARGE $7.99

Expires 11-24-94

SUBWAY POSTERS TAPESTRIES INCENSE BEADS CREATE YOUR OWN JEWELRY T-SHIRTS-TIE DYES GUAT. CLOTHING BAJAS GRATEFUL DEAD

MERCHANDISE

SOPHISTO FUCT PERVERT SKUNK KILLER LOOPS SKATEBOARD ACCESSORIES

JAMAICAN STYLES

ON THE WILD SIVE 1128 MORO 776-BAJA MON.-FRI.11-7, THURS. 11-SAT. 10-6, SUN. NOON-5 If you canned goods, toiletries, or household products, to the homeless through the

Collegian, you will receive

THANKS

and $1 off any classified ad in the Collegian through the end

of December.

Contributions go to Manhattan Emergency Shelter and Flint Hills Breadbasket

Bring items to the Student Publications Inc. office in Kedzie 103

All-American overshadows improved team

"Karina gets so much attention because she's so strong. The others end up being overshadowed by Karina."

> STEVE BIETAU tennis coach

CRESTON KUENZI

The fall season of tennis is over, and when one looks at the results, it's easy to concentrate on Karina Kuregian. After all, Kuregian is an all-American and finished the season by reaching the finals of the Rolex Regional Championships in not only the singles competition, but also in doubles.

Coach Steve Bietau said there's no doubt who the best player on the team is, but the other players deserve some recognition, also.

"Karina gets so much attention because she's so strong," Bietau said. "The others end up being overshadowed by Martine Shrubsole, a senior on the team, finally gained some respect when she teamed with Kuregian and made it to the finals of the Rolex doubles' Championships.

Bietau said Shrubsole's success has been a long time in coming.

"It seems like there was always one or two things that kept her from putting everything together," Bietau said.

"She came into this fall with a different attitude, and it showed as she starting winning some singles matches at the end of the year."

Bietau said Shrubsole had success in doubles' play, thanks to many factors.

"Obviously, she had a pretty good partner to help her make it to the finals," Bietau said. "However, she brought something to that team that was very valuable.

"She's a solid doubles player and makes good decisions.'

The remaining five members of the team include two freshmen and three sophomores. Bietau said despite the inexperience, the players showed potential throughout the fall.

Fighting for the No. 2 position on the team going into the spring season will be freshman Dinah Watson and sophomore Karen Lagerstrom's work ethic.

Nicholson.

"Dinah's struggling through the changes that freshmen always do," Bietau said.

"What's impressive about her is that she's still had some pretty good results during that

"She's beaten two players that are No. 1 on their respective teams, Indiana and Arkansas." Bietau said after missing much of the spring season last year, Nicholson is just starting to

"She has struggled this fall," Bietau said.

"It's bad because the results aren't there that she's capable of, but good because we feel like it's essential for her to go through this period."

Bietau said freshman Chris Shulte and sophomore Nikki Lagerstrom are still making adjustments in their games, but should be good

'Chris has made tactical changes this fall," Bietau said. "She's a very competitive girl."

"She's had decent results this year, but we tried not to press it so early in the season."

Bietau said he has been impressed with

"Nikki improved more than any other player on our team this fall," Bietau said. "She stayed here and worked hard over the summer, which really laid the groundwork for the results that she's having right now.

"She's been the hardest worker on the team and played her best tennis at the Rolex."

The final member of the team is Brooke Brundige. Bietau said although Brundige didn't compete in the fall, she has developed as a player.

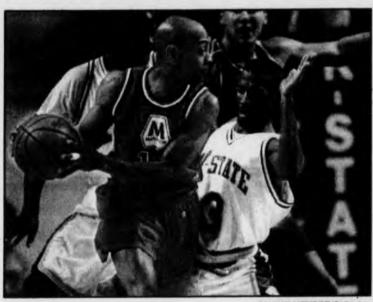

"She assumed a different role this fall as one of the team leaders," Bietau said.

"She's helped establish a real positive environment, and I would expect her to play some matches this spring."

Overall, Bietau said he has been very satisfied with his team's effort.

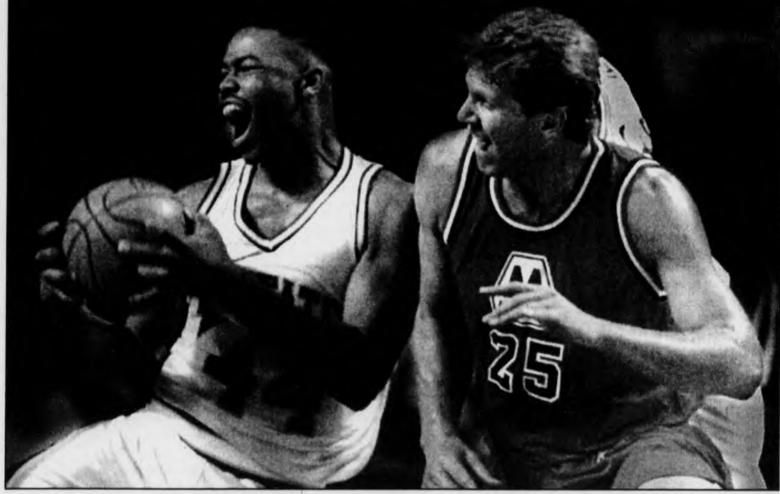

"This has been one of the best falls we have had," Bietau said.

"The work ethic has been good, and the progress over the season I would rate as very ▲ K-State guard Elliot Hatcher defends an Athletes in Action player in the Cats' exhibition game last week. Hatcher comes into the season opener as the Cats' starting point guard, after transferring from Grayson Community College in Texas.

Baylor transfer Tyrone Davis grabs a rebound against Athletes in Action last week. Davis is originally from Kansas City, Mo., but he played at Baylor before coming to K-State. In the two exhibition games Davis has averaged 7.5 points.

Cats begin Asbury era at NIT Preseason Tournament

K-State will face Alabama in the first round of the tournament tonight at 7:30.

NICOLE POELL

K-State basketball coach Tom Asbury has already been warned about Alabama, the first regular-season opponent his Wildcats face Wednesday night in the Preseason NIT Tournament.

"Lon Kruger called me this morning and wished me luck,' Asbury said. "He also told me that Alabama is darn good. Thanks, Lon.

bit This information wasn't anything Asbury didn't already know.

"Alabama is a very big, quick and athletic team," he said. "They're just a quality team and could very possibly get to the Final 8 in the country - they're that good and deep."

The Crimson Tide does look good on paper. They return four starters and 11 lettermen from last year's team, a team that went 20-10 and lasted through the second round of the NCAA Tournament before losing to No. 1 seed

Alabama also finished second in the West Division of the SEC Conference with home victories against NCAA champion Arkansas and Kruger's Final Four Florida Gators, boosting the team's league record to 12-4.

While the Tide look to be the favorites going into Wednesday night's contest, Asbury said playing a team like Alabama will ultimately benefit the Cats more than just another week of

"Sure, there is some merit to having a sustained practice schedule, but we would be much better off winning and not practicing," he

"It would be the greatest thing in the world if we go in there and beat Alabama - forget practice.' But before the Cats pull off a win in Mobile, Ala., Asbury said they need to regroup and evaluate their performances after last Friday's exhibition loss at home against Marathon

K-State was holding a nine-point halftime lead in Friday night's action before Marathon went on a 20-2 run in the first five minutes of the second half.

The Cats never recovered.

"We panicked," Asbury said. "That 20-2 run just did us in. It wasn't so much that we lost the game, it's just how we didn't respond during While Asbury said he and his players were disappointed with the loss, he himself wasn't overly discouraged.

"It is just so early, and we are just so new,"

"In an exhibition game like that, we're just doing a lot of experimenting and working with a lot of line-ups. We're just basically looking for everything. We look for offense, defense, the press and who can compete."

"I'm not discouraged - we're fine; we're on schedule. We will get better."

Asbury said he has noticed some players who have already gotten better over the last couple of weeks and may have earned starting assignments for the Alabama game.

Thinking about some starters for Wednesday's game, Kevin Lewis and Demond Davis come to mind," Asbury said.

"Those two guys have gone out there and established themselves and played well enough to gain starting jobs.

But evaluating his overall team, Asbury said he's seen one important quality that all of his players possess.

| ALABAMA (0-0)        | PPG  | RPG |
|----------------------|------|-----|
| F 11 Anthony Browne  | 3.6  | 1.0 |
| F 30 Jamai Faulkner  | 13.5 | 6.1 |
| C 24 Antonio McDyess | 11.4 | 8.1 |
| G 15 Marvin Orange   | 10.1 | 2.1 |
| G 25 Artie Griffin   | 7.4  | 2.6 |
| K-STATE (0-0)        | PPG  | RPG |
| F 24 Demond Davis    | 6.0  | 6.1 |
| F 44 Tyrone Davis    | -    |     |
| C 34 Kevin Lewis     | 1.7  | 1.3 |
| G 3 Elliot Hatcher   | -    |     |
| G 41 Belvis Noland   | 7.5  | 3.9 |

"The effort is there," he said.

"We need great effort and great intensity this year, and it has been there. Obviously, we're looking for results to go along with that effort, and I think we'll eventually get them."

► VOLLEYBALL

Cats drop to Sooners

COLLEGIAN STAFF

There will be no royal purple and white at the Big Eight Conference volleyball

K-State lost to Oklahoma Saturday and watched its hopes of traveling to Omaha, Neb., for the Big Eight Tournament slip away. K-State lost in three sets, 15-12, 15-5 and 15-8.

With the loss, K-State fell to 14-11 overall and 3-7 in Big Eight play.
Oklahoma improved to 16-13 on the year and 5-6 in the

The difference appeared to be the hitting percentage in the K-State hit .089 for the match, while Oklahoma fired at will with a .417 average

Yolanda Young, Jill Dugan and Kate DeClerk led the Cats' offense with nine kills each.

Freshman setter Devon Ryning, who has missed the last three weeks of play suffering from mononucleosis, played for the Cats and dished out 33

The top four teams in the conference, Colorado, Iowa State, Oklahoma and unbeaten Nebraska, will play for the Big Eight Championship Nov. 25-26 in Omaha, Neb.

CROSS COUNTRY

Freshman qualifies for NCAA Championships

WESS HUDELSON

It's official. Freshman Charity Swartz has qualified for the NCAA Championships.

Swartz will be K-State's lone representative at Fayetteville, Ark., on Monday, Nov. 21.

"That's the only thing I'm worried about with her," Coach Terry Drake said. "Nationals is such a hard place to run by yourself."

Swartz earned her way into the meet by virtue of an at-large bid.

One of three criteria must be met to qualify for the national meet. The top two teams, including all of its members, qualify. Then the top three runners not on a qualifying team within the district are selected. After that, the NCAA selects the six-highest finishers according to place within all districts. Swartz was one of the six runners selected by the NCAA. She will join 140 runners at

Fayetteville, Ark,

"There is so many people running in this meet - it is a little intimidating," Swartz said.

The course at Fayetteville, Ark., is a fast one, Swartz said. She said the course is flat, which benefits her, because she doesn't have to contend with hills. Swartz has led the Wildcats in every meet this season, including NCAA Championships Premeet at Fayetteville earlier this season. Senior Jeanene Rugan entered the season as a probable candidate to lead K-State.

"I expected to be about the fourth or fifth runner on the team when I came here," Swartz said. "I really didn't expect to be leading the team.' Jeanene Rugan struggled with a hip injury and finished 52nd at the District V Championships. Drake said Rugan never should have started the race.

"It was gallant, gutsy effort," Drake said.

Drake said one of Rugan's hips is about three-quarters of an inch

"She probably shouldn't have below the other. Consequently, one of her legs is shorter than the other. 'She's had this condition for a long time, but the constant grinding over her running career may have finally caught up with her," Drake said. "She's had three different doctors tell her three different things, so we don't know when she can return. "One thing's for sure - I know she's got a lot of rehabilitation ahead of her," he said. Drake said Rugan's injury had an effect on the team. Swartz said it changed her attitude toward the race as well. "I thought we would make it as a team, but after Jeanene (Rugan) got hurt, I knew we probably wouldn't," Swartz said.

MARK LEFFINGWELL/Colle

VIVA LAS WILDCATS

K-State will travel to Las Vegas, Nev.,

to face the UNLV Runnin' Rebels at 3 p.m. on Sept. 26 at the Silver Bowl.

Last season the Cats defeated the Rebels 36-20 at KSU Stadium.

■ Jeff Horton has taken over the coaching duties for the Rebels.

■ The Rebels top offensive threat is season, Bailey set a NCA'A record for

On defense, UNLV is led by safety

Look for complete coverage in the State injury list against Missouri.

Greenwood underwent knee surgery over the weekend and is likely finished

The nature of Gaskins' injury was

■ Up next for the No. 8-ranked Cats

The Cowboys have a 3-6-1 record so will be their final home game against far this season, and they haven't won a next edition of the Wildcat Watch.

receiver Henry Bailey. Earlier this receptions.

for the season.

Oklahoma State.

Big Eight game.

not reported at press time.

Rodney Mazion.

Slipping through Missouri defenders, K-State running back J.J. Smith rushes for 11 of his 138 yards in the Cats' 21-18 victory against Missouri in Columbia. The 138 yards were a career high for Smith.

Smith breaks personal best with 138 yards at MU

"We were forced to play a nickel defense most of the game. At times, we had only two guys who could play."

MIKE EKELER K-State WESS HUDELSON

COLUMBIA, MO. - Fans entering the K-State and Missouri game Saturday at Columbia, Mo., may have suspected an aerial shootout.

What they saw was a duel between an established Big Eight Conference running back and a freshman making his mark on a rebuilding team.

Freshman Brock Olivo and J.J. Smith both recorded career-high performances in the Wildcats' 21-18 victory.

Olivo, who had his first 100-yard rushing game against Oklahoma Nov. 5, rushed for 151 yards against K-State.

"He ran pretty hard," K-State defensive back Chuck Marlowe said.

"He made some good cuts to get into our secondary, and we had to step up to make some tackles."

The Tigers may have turned to the running game, trying to take advantage of the Cats' depleting linebacking corps.

Second-team linebacker DeShawn Fogle underwent knee surgery last week as a result of colliding with defensive end Nyle Wiren.

Wiren and Fogle were sacking Iowa State quarterback Todd Doxzon.

Starting linebacker Percell Gaskins was also injured against Iowa State and did not make the trip to Columbia, Mo.

"We were forced to play a nickel defense most of the game," linebacker

Mike Ekeler said. "At times, we only had two guys Greenwood added his name to the K-who could play."

Missouri's defense forced the Wildcat offense away from its usual passing game

Smith took over, carrying the ball a career-high 34 times for 138 yards.

"They did a good job on us man-toman," Coach Bill Snyder said.

"They moved some people around and had us confused a little bit in our passing game." Smith said he was glad to fill in. "I was ready to go," Smith said. "I would've run the ball on every play if I could've. It was a lot of fun." Smith had rushed for 137 yards on two occasions before finally breaking through with his career-best performance against the Tigers.

"We felt like we could run on them," Snyder said.

"We had some trouble passing the ball, and our line came through for us in the second half." Despite Olivo's stellar performance, it was the running game which ultimately may have cost the Tigers a Missouri was stopped short on a fourth and one play from K-State's 22 yard line in the closing quarter, ending a possible scoring drive.

"I think the real difference was the fourth and one we didn't make,"

Missouri coach Larry Smith said. K-State offensive guard Ross

JEREMY CRABTREE

This weekend's match-up with 3-6-1 Oklahoma State will be the last home game for 17 K-State senior football players.

▶ OKLAHOMA STATE PREVIEW

Cowboys stand in Cats'

way for Coalition bowl

During their four-year stint with the Wildcats, they have compiled a 28-14 record, a top-10 ranking, and two bowl berths. With a victory over the Cowboys, the Cats would finish in third place in the Big Eight for the second-straight season.

However, the Cats have their sights set on their first New Year's Day bowl game ever, and a victory over OSU would go a long way toward that goal.

"I think that we deserve to play on New Years' Day," K-State safety Mario Smith said. "We're a top-10 team, and usually a top-10 team gets to play on New Year's Day.

"I would rather be able to play somewhere where our fans can travel to see us."

Standing in the way of the Cats and a New Year's Day bowl game is the Oklahoma State Cowboys, who come into KSU Stadium without a Big Eight victory in almost two seasons.

Two weeks ago, OSU lost by 14 points to Colorado, but it was smashed by Oklahoma last week at

However, instead of losses, all that OSU football coach Pat Jones wants to talk about before the game is the Cats' talent.

"This is a pretty complete football team," Jones said. "They're like 19th in the country in throwing the ball, 29th in total defense, and I think ninth in the nation in turnover

"Without question, Chad May has been the marquee guy, but both those receivers and the backs are good players," he said.

Leading the way for the Cowboys this season has been sophomore quarterback Toné Jones.

Jones became OSU's starting quarterback just four games into the season last year. However, a separated shoulder sidelined him for most of the remainder of the

Jones still managed to complete 48 percent of his passes for 608 yards last season, and this year, he's the Cowboys' leading passer and near the top on the OSU rushing charts.

Running back David Thompson and freshman sensation Andre Richardson have been tearing through the Big Eight Conference on the ground this season - which has impressed the K-State coaching

"They've got a couple of guys down there that I consider extremely fine running backs," K-State coach Bill Snyder said.

"They might not tremendously big, but they have great quickness and carry the ball very well."

Jones said he thought Richardson will win some postseason honors for his performances so far this season.

"Andre Richardson could likely be the offensive newcomer-of-theyear," Jones said.

"He's a tough runner."

Oklahoma State has another big play man in receiver Rafael Denson. He is OSU's speedy go-toguy in the clutch situations.

This season and last season, Denson has been the team's leading receiver.

On defense, the Cowboys are led by defensive end Jevon Langford, who recorded 32 tackles last

He was pre-season all-Big Eight selection this season, and he was selected the Big Eight's defensive Player of the Week earlier this season.

The game is scheduled to start at 1:10 p.m. at KSU Stadium.

BAKERY SCIENCE CLUB'S ANNUAL HOLIDAY SALE

COFFEE CAKE $3.90 BUBBLE ROLL BREAD $2.80 FRUIT CAKE $6.75

ORDER YOUR ITEMS NOVEMBER 9-22

CALL 539-1514

PICK UP ITEMS NOV. 30 FROM 3-5 P.M. IN SHELLENBERGER HALL FIRST FLOOR

Advertise in the Wildcat Watch

532-6550 - 532-6550 - 532-6550 - 532-6550 - 532-6550 - 532-6550

MANHATTAN BIOMEDICA

CENTER

776-9177

1130 Gardenway

Mon.-Fri. 9 a.m

Mr. Goodcents gives you... Sub specials everyday w/ choice of chips, potato salad or pasta salad.

1317 Anderson (Behind Varney's Book Store) • 539-1900

XPRESS 1116 Moro 537-0886 Mon.-Sat. 11 a.m.-1 a.m.

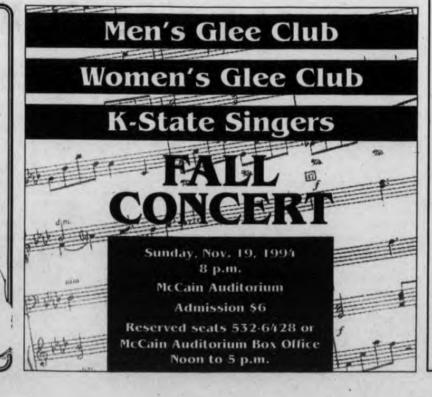

Sun.

Not valid with any other specials, coupons, or on deliveries.

FREE DELIVERY (Minimum order $9)

Expires 11-29-94

Earn $15 each time you donate plasma.

KSU HIV/AIDS Awareness Week

Families Living with HIV/AIDS: Nov. 28 noon-1p.m. Union Courtyard Panel of Speakers Candlelight Ceremony Danforth Chapel The Johnsons noon-1p.m. Union Courtyard The Johnsons Nov. 29 7-9p.m. Forum Hall AIDS Quilt Video noon-1p.m. Union Courtyard Salute to Life Walk Dec. 1 4-6p.m. Ahearn

Join the walk featuring 1000 flags in recognition of some of the Kansans known to be living with HIV-AIDS.

Sponsored By: Lafene Health Center Communicable Disease Committee Housing and Dining Services Association of Residence Halls

Boyd Hall Ford Hall Goodnow Hall Haymaker Hall

Moore Hall Putnam Hall VanZile hall West Hall

KANSAS STATE OLLEGIAN

A K-State graduate student has written a book about sexuality for girls ages 11-17.

THURSDAY HIGH LOW

WEATHER - PAGE 2

NOVEMBER 17, 1994

KANSAS STATE UNIVERSITY, MANHATTAN, KANSAS 66506

VOLUME 99B. NUMBER 63

Bunch o' bricks

Joe Myers, KSU Facilities Crew member, hammers in one of the last bricks to be laid on the new addition to the sidewalk outside the Union Wednesday afternoon. The extra bricks from the construction of the Manhattan Town Center were donated by the city to complete this project. STEVE HEBERT

► CAMPUS

Galichia Institute breaks new ground for human ecology

KRISTA COZAD

The College of Human Ecology celebrated its newest edition Wednesday, as the Galichia Institute for Gerontology and Family Studies opened its doors for the first time to the public.

A dedication of the institute, whose purpose is improving the quality of life for the elderly, was in Justin Hall.

Many donors, as well as students and faculty, attended the dedication, which featured keynote speaker Vern Bengtson, professor of gerontology at the University of Southern California.

The dean of human ecology, Barbara Stowe, opened the ceremony with thanks to the donors and a special thanks to the lead contributors, Dr. Joseph and Kathy Galichia, who contributed $400,000 to the funding for the new building.

Patricia Meier, graduate student in speech pathology, human development and family studies, spoke as well, thanking donors on behalf of the students and expressing the positive effect the institute would have on research issues of gerontology.

"Having the Galichia Institute between the Family Center and the Early Childhood Lab gives us the unique opportunity to study aging and other issues with a holistic approach," she Murray also spoke about the continuity between the buildings.

"This new building brings the programs together physically and conceptually. We're delighted to have this new facility," he said.

Bengtson's address focused on the effect aging has on a society, which is living longer, together. He said greater solidarity, as well as conflicts, come out of spending more and more years of shared life between generations.

Because of this new intergenerational exchange, he said gerontology issues would be of great importance in the future, and the institute is a good step in addressing these pertinent issues.

Bengtson said gerontology would be a key industry and concern in the 21st century

"Never before have so many people lived so long," he said. "The age wave is upon us. That is the future. And we must prepare the next generation for that

The dedication concluded with a tour of the new building, which has offices, classrooms and consultation rooms.

Two programs are already underway at the institute: an evaluation of the Senior Care Act for Kansas and Personal Actions to Health, a program that focuses on healthy lifestyles for the

► CAMPUS

Required PE may get the boot

JULIE KRAMER

A physical-education class may not be required for all K-State students next year.

The Academic Affairs Committee of Student Senate, headed by Scott Rottinghaus, senior in biology and classics, is working on a proposal to restructure Kinesiology 101, Principles of Physical Fitness, a required class for all students.

Rottinghaus said the proposal should be before Student Senate the week after Thanksgiving. Senate would vote on the proposal the following week

If passed, the proposal would go on to Faculty Senate, where the final decision would be made.

"We don't want to destroy the class, but we think it needs to be restructured," Rottinghaus said. He said the committee wants to change the class so that it is not a requirement for graduation. Students across the University seem to dislike the P.E. requirement, he said, and don't see it as being on the same level as other required courses. · Rottinghaus said a positive aspect to the course is the lifetime fitness information students learn. "But, it seems like you could learn a lot of this on your own," he said.

Larry Noble, head of the kinesiology department, said one faculty member and about 12 graduate. teaching assistants work with the program.

He said if it was dropped, about 50 to 60 percent of the students would still have to take it. Noble said dropping the requirement would not hurt the department. Noble said a proposal like this comes up every three to four years. "I think the things we do in this course does further the education of students at K-State," Noble said. "A land grant school is remiss if it doesn't offer this

Brent Varzaly, junior in business administration, said the committee took a different approach from other attempts to remove the P.E. requirement.

He said the committee was trying to draw quiet support, rather than protest the requirement.

Shawna Kerr, senior in kinesiology, said she thinks P.E. should be a requirement.

"It's (students') only exposure to health and fitness

"They teach you things you can use the rest of your

She said the requirement shouldn't be removed due to students not liking the class. There are other required classes that students don't like, but they still have to take them, she said. "It's all a part of a liberal education," she said.

'We're not at vo-tech school."

Casey Carlson, sophomore in accounting and finance, said she didn't agree with removing the requirement.

She said the Faculty Senate supports more diversity within each major so that students get a broader education. This is the opposite of what the committee is

Noble said about two-thirds of the institutions in the United States require a P.E. course. Most are two to three-hour courses, he said. K-State's is a one-hour

Among Big Eight schools, K-State is the only one with a P.E. requirement, Rottinghaus said.

However, the University of Kansas is the only Kansas regents school to not have the requirement, he

► CAMPUS

Infant child care not yet available for students

MANDY HANSON

Many K-State students who have infant children are having trouble finding affordable facilities to place them in while they attend classes.

"Infant child care is not available on the K-State campus for K-State students and their families," Jina Kugler, senior in secondary education, said.

Up to 30 percent of the K-State total student body is nontraditional, Nancy Bolsen, director of Adult Student Services, said.

Nontraditional typically means a student that is either married, over the age of 25, has children, or is returning to school after a period of time, Bolsen said.

However, K-State does not keep records of how many students have children, she In 1992, the Adult Student Services office conducted a survey of 400 nontraditional students, Kugler said. "This survey showed 53 percent of nontraditional students are parents," Kugler

See CAMPUS Page 10

EDUCATION

Schools cooperate to teach children fundamental skills

KRISTA COZAD

College-aged students aren't the only ones who attend K-State.

There's also a group of typical and special needs students who attend classes Monday through Thursday for half a day - and they're all 3 to 5 years old.

Of course, you won't see these students walking from class to class or sitting in large lecture halls.

Instead, they're sitting on carpet squares in the middle of the Early Childhood Lab, singing songs and learning how to chew with their mouths closed during snack

They are also learning fundamental skills that aid them in getting along with their peers and expressing themselves appropriately, in addition to motor, language and cognitive skills. The lab is a coordinated effort between K-State and Manhattan school district. It is staffed by public school-district teachers and K-State students who are working toward their degrees in education, Trish Jellen, lead teacher for the lab, said.

About 40 percent of the children in ECL are termed special needs."

However, the specialneeds children and the normally developing children are not segregated from each other. Instead, they are

See SPECIAL Page 10

SENATE AGENDA

This is the agenda for the Student Senate meeting scheduled for 7 p.m. today in Salina.

Teacher evaluations

BSU special allocation

BSU special allocation

Kandance special allocation

Aikido Club special allocation

Commendation to Gov. Finney

Opposition to parking changes

Student life enrichment allocation

New Business Recommendation for student meetings

Res. 94/95/32

Res. 94/95/33 ■ Res. 94/95/34

■ Bill 94/95/39

■ Bill 94/95/40 ■ Bill 94/95/41

■ Bill 94/95/42

■ Bill 94/95/43 ■ Bill 94/95/44

■ Bill 94/95/45

Students For The Right To Life special

■ Bill 94/95/46 ■ Bill 94/95/47

allocation Constitutional amendments — elections

By-laws amendment — elections

SGA publications and payments

Unfinished Business

Res. 94/95/28

Opposition to rec use

Res. 94/95/29 Expediating committee reports ■ Bill 94/95/38

Closing of 1993-94 competition teams accounts

NEWS BRIEFS

► FORT RILEY NEW HOME FOR 80 SOLDIERS OF 568TH ENGINEER COMPANY

FORT RILEY (AP) - The 568th Engineer Company has officially transferred from Fort Carson, Colo.,

On Wednesday, about 80 soldiers and 120 pieces of equipment joined 100 soldiers already at Fort

Most of the Fort Riley soldiers that will become part of the 568th are former members of the 34th Engineer Battalion, which was deactivated in mid-July.

The unit officially becomes part of the 937th Engineer Group.

The company will support combat operations with construction equipment such as dump trucks, scoop loaders, buildozers, scrapers, graders, small emplacement excavators and support vehicles.

► TEACHER, COPS CONFISCATE LITTLE GIRL'S SHOW-AND-TELL PAPERWEIGHT

PRAIRIE VILLAGE (AP) - A second-grader's show-and-tell offering drew quite a response from the teacher who confiscated it and turned it over to police.

The 7-year-old girl brought a 30mm projectile, a piece of military ordinance that is a large bullet, to Belinder Elementary School on Monday.

Police turned it over to military authorities, along with other projec tiles provided by the girl's parents. The rounds were inert, Army officials said, and posed no danger. The child apparently took the device to school without her parents' permission, Principal Karen Faucher said.

The girl's father told police he bought the projectiles about 10 years ago, and the one the girl took to school was used as a paper-

MAN GUNNED DOWN WHILE ADULTS, CHILDREN HELD HOSTAGE IN HIS HOME

KANSAS CITY, Kan. (AP) - A group of men burst into a home. bound the two adults and two children inside and waited more than three hours before they killed a man as he returned home, police

Curtis Nelson, 34, was shot in the head as he approached his home about 2 a.m. Tuesday. He was pronounced dead at the

A woman who said she lived at the home told officers she was showing a guest out at about 11 p.m. when four or five men brandished weapons and forced their way inside.

"They herded her, him (the visitor) and two children into a back bedroom, bundled them up with duct tape and covered their mouths," Bill Sanders, a police spokesman said.

The intruders spent the next several hours roaming the house, apparently waiting for Nelson to 2 a.m., and Nelson was shot. His friend ran to a neighbor's house, and the neighbor called

Nelson and a friend arrived afte

No description of the suspects was available, and police had no suspect or motive, Sanders said.

TOO MUCH OF A GOOD THING Studies have shown that drinking Average death rate: oderate amounts of alcohol reduces the risk of dying from heart 50 percent higher ase. Researchers at Harvard Medical School, however, have Non-drinkers ound that the overall risk of dying may increase when too much cohol is consumed. The study 50 percent lower ned the effects of drinking 6 8 12 on all causes of death in 22,071 male doctors. DAVE OLSON/Collegi

POLICE REPORTS

These reports are taken directly from the daily logs of the K-State and Riley County Police departments

Because of space constraints, not all crimes are listed.

THE RESERVE OF THE PARTY OF THE

K-STATE POLICE

TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 15

At 11:12 p.m., Crystal and unattended vehicle. Damage Goering, 1221 Ratone, reported a was less than $500. hit and run involving her parked

TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 15

At 6:30 a.m., the custodial supervisor for Weber Hall reported broken eggs in Weber 151. The supervisor didn't know if they were there by accident or on purpose.

At 7:28 a.m., a non-injury vehicle accident involving Jason Russell and Marcia Voet was reported. Damage was estimated

At 8:55 a.m., Al Blubaugh reported his wallet and other items stolen from his office in East Stadium 107B. Loss was

RILEY COUNTY POLICE

TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 15

At 4:39 p.m., a non-injury vehicle accident was filed involving Shannon Clawson, 838 Moore Hall, and Rance Cooke, 1606 Fairchild Ave.

At 4:46 p.m., Billy Compton Jr., 1421 Monticello, Apt. 7, was arrested for DUI. Bond set at $10,000

At 4:54 p.m., a non-injury vehicle accident was filed involving Skylar Swords and David Lucking.

At 8:55 a.m., Susan Rolfs reported food items and a pop stolen from a hall refrigerator in the telecommunications hallway in East Stadium. Estimated loss reported graffiti on the outside of 228 Goodnow Hall, reported theft of a parking permit and three tapes from his vehicle parked in Lot D-5. Loss was $20.

Ward Hall. Damage was $100.

At 11:05 a.m., facilities

At 2:00 p.m., Alan Sarabia, was $2.50.

At 7:59 p.m., Theresa Burks, 1522 Colorado St., reported shots fired at the 1600 block of Colorado. An officer responded to find no activity.

CAMPUS BULLET

Applications for Who's Who Among Students at American Colleges and Universities are now available in the Office of Student Activities and Services. Deadline is Nov. 18.

BULLETINS IM

- K-State Songham Tae Kwon Do Club will meet at 6:30 p.m. today in the Ecumenical Campus Ministry Building.
- K-State Aikido Club will meet today from 7 to 8:30 p.m. today in the Ecumenical Campus Ministry Building.
- Al-Anon will meet from 5 to 6 p.m. today in Union Stateroom
- Icthus will meet at 8 p.m. today in Union 212.
- Rotaract will meet at 9 p.m. today in Union 205.
- The last oral defense of Joung-Jwa Ahn's doctoral dissertation
- is scheduled for 8:30 a.m. today in Justin 146 KSU Horseman's Association officers will meet at 6 p.m. today in Weber 146. The general meeting will be at 6:30 p.m.
- Association of Collegiate Entrepreneurs will meet at 6 p.m. today in the Union Council Chamber.
- Society and Criminal Justice Club will meet at 6 p.m. today in
- Horticulture Club will at 6:30 p.m. today in Throckmorton

CORRECTIONS

- The Men's and Women's Glee Club and K-State Singers fall concert was incorrectly said to be Sunday in an advertisement in Wednesday's Wildcat Watch. The concert will be at 8 p.m. Saturday in McCain Auditorium.
- The Parking Committee meeting today was incorrectly said to be in Union 208. The meeting will be at 3 p.m. today in Union 205.

The Collegian regrets the errors.

WEATHER

YESTERDAY'S HIGHS AND LOWS

state. Highs around 55 and lows of Windy in the west with possible showers in the north part of the Windy and mild with a 20-percent chance for showers. High of 65, low of 30.

TOMORROW |

Cooler with sunny skies and a high around 55.

the 60's, 70's, 80's, & 90's

Next Monday & Tuesday SUBMYTION

If you

canned goods, toiletries, or

household products, to the

homeless through the

Collegian, you will receive

THANKS

and $1 off any classified ad in the Collegian through the end

of December.

Contributions go to Manhattan Emergency Shelter and Flint Hills Breadbasket

Bring items to the Student Publications Inc. office in Kedzie 103

MARK LEFFINGWELL/Collegia

Cynthia Akagi, graduate student in family life education and consultation, has written about sexuality for teenage girls. The book is meant to help parents talk about sex with their daughters.

▶ BOOKS

'Dear Larissa' helps girls understand sex

LISA ELLIOTT

Collegian

A graduate student at K-State has written a book about sexuality for girls ages 11-17.

"Dear Larissa: Sexuality Education for Girls Ages 11-17," was written by Cynthia Akagi, graduate student in family life education and consultation.

One of Akagi's goals was to open the lines of communication between parents and their daughters.

Through her personal experiences and working with teens in Shawnee County, she said she discovered parents aren't talking to their children about sex education.

"The attitude is, 'Schools are teaching it, so we don't have to,'" Akagi said.

Since every school is different, parents are not always correct in assuming that their child is getting sex education, she said.

Often, sex education is not a required course, so teens are really getting less sex education than they were before schools began teaching it, she said.

Most teens get the information from friends, in the hallway at school or the locker room, and 90 percent of it is wrong, Akagi said.

BOOK INFO

"Dear Larissa" can be purchased from bookstores for $12.95 at the K-State Union Bookstore, Walden Books in Manhattan Town Center and the Children's Bookstore in Appieville

Teens aren't going to learn their families' values at school.

"I tried to present accurate information in a loving manner, so a daughter can feel that she can talk to her mom about it," she Akagi said she wrote the book because there are few resources available to parents about dating and relationships. Part of the book focuses on dating relationships and the difference between sex and love.

"I tried to write it in a way that parents could insert their values," she said. "I really am conservative in my own approach to it."

Akagi's book is written in the form of letters from a mother to her daughter and is designed to

■ See BOOK Page 10

▶ GOVERNMENT

Finney: Graves' takeover disrupts business

ASSOCIATED PRESS

TOPEKA — Outgoing Democratic Gov. Joan Finney accused Republican Gov.-elect Bill Graves on Wednesday of trying to interfere with the business of state government for political reasons.

Finney's office released a copy of a letter sent by Graves to Finney on Tuesday. In it, Graves asked her not to allow big purchases by state agencies without his input and to discuss hiring decisions with his transition team.

In response, Finney sent Graves a curt letter on Wednesday denying both of his requests.

"I will not disrupt the normal course of business for state government," Finney wrote. "Civil service personnel decisions made by state agencies will continue to be made at the agency level."

Later, Finney issued a statement:
"I am concerned that he has attempted to interfere with decisions affecting the jobs of thousands of state workers. I will not tolerate political interference with the civil-service system."

Graves said he is disappointed with Finney's response.

"What should be a matter-of-fact and confidential discussion of a very important matter has to be played out in the media," Graves said.

Mike Matson, Graves' press secretary, said Graves wanted to prevent irresponsible spending.

"We were suggesting to the governor that to enter into contracts and long-term personnel arrangements could inhibit our ability to form our own team and to carry out the mandate that the people of Kansas made clear last Tuesday: to get control over state government spending," Graves said.

Finney had pledged to make the transition before Graves' Jan. 9 inauguration smooth. But the exchange of letters indicates distrust between Finney and her Democratic staffers and Graves and his Republican aides.

It is unusual for such tensions to become public during a transition period. There was no such public exchange between Finney and Republican Gov. Mike Hayden, whom she defeated in the 1990 election, or between Hayden and his Democratic predecessor, John Carlin.

Mary Holladay, Finney's daughter and top adviser, said there is no effort to transfer employees who are not in the civil-service system into the system, so that they cannot be fired by Graves' appointees. Such a practice is common during transitions.

"To my knowledge, there is nothing fishy going on in the classified civil service," she said.

In his letter, Graves said, "First, I ask that any non-routine expenditures be stopped unless they have my input. That includes any and all contracts that bind my administration."

Holladay said, "She is not going to make any decision that would bind anyone in the future."

Graves' letter also said "Second, I ask that all personne changes affecting classified (civi service) positions and new hires be discussed with my office and receive my approval."

Holladay said the letter from Graves "appears to be directly asking her to disrupt state government business."

"She has very strong feeling about political interference," Holladay said.

Graves said, "We were asking as a courtesy to be fully advised on decisions that could have implications affecting the incoming administration."

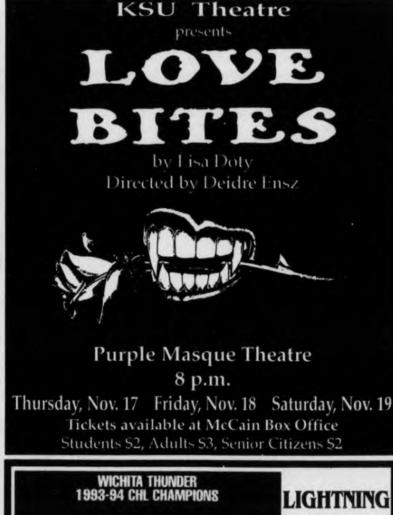

Haircut, Shampoo, Style §5.75

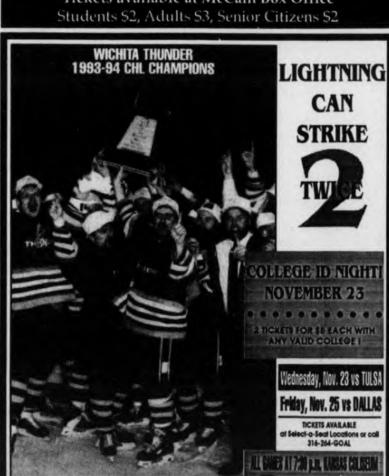

SPECIALS

*2.50 off any perm wave, receive *4 reconditioner (*6.50 savings)

> Sculptured nails 515 full set

Call 776-4794 for appointment

CLOSED CLASS LIST

| 00110  | 04301  | 06330  | 07970 | 10270   | 12940    | 14860 | 17060 | 20100   | 22850 | 24590  | 28390       | 32383   | 35490 |
|--------|--------|--------|-------|---------|----------|-------|-------|---------|-------|--------|-------------|---------|-------|
|        |        |        |       |         |          |       |       |         |       |        |             |         |       |
| 00150  | 04370  | 06340  | 08000 | 10280   | 12950    | 14870 | 17070 | 20120   | 22860 | 24600  | 28420       | 32700   | 35500 |
| 00200  | 04490  | 06350  | 08140 | 10290   | 12960    | 14880 | 17080 | 20160   | 22870 | 24610  | 28560       | 32720   | 35530 |
| 00220  | 04660  | 06380  | 08160 | 10300   | 12970    | 14890 | 17110 | 20170   | 22880 | 24630  | 28730       | 32730   | 35570 |
| 00450  | 04690  | 06390  | 08170 | 10310   | 12980    | 14900 | 17130 | 20180   | 22960 | 24650  | 28740       | 32750   | 35640 |
|        |        |        |       |         |          |       |       |         |       |        |             |         |       |
| 00460  | 04750  | 06420  | 08180 | 10320   | 12990    | 14910 | 17190 | 20190   | 22980 | 24660  | 28780       | 32780   | 35742 |
| 00550  | 04760  | 06530  | 08190 | 10330   | 13100    | 14920 | 17200 | 20240   | 23000 | 24670  | 28790       | 32790   | 35760 |
| 00840  | 04770  | 06540  | 08220 | 10340   | 13280    | 14930 | 17210 | 20250   | 23010 | 24710  | 29010       | 32800   | 35790 |
| 00980  | 04780  | 06550  | 08230 | 10350   | 13290    | 14940 | 17220 | 20260   | 23020 | 24720  | 30060       | 32810   | 35950 |
|        |        |        |       |         |          |       |       |         |       |        |             |         |       |
| 01000  | 04790  | 06560  | 08270 | 10360   | 13310    | 14950 | 17230 | 20280   | 23060 | 24730  | 30070       | 32850   | 35960 |
| 01030  | 04800  | 06590  | 08280 | 10370   | 13320    | 14960 | 17440 | 20290   | 23080 | 24740  | 30090       | 32870   | 35970 |
| 01060  | 04840  | 06600  | 08290 | 10380   | 13330    | 14970 | 17450 | 20300   | 23090 | 24800  | 30130       | 32880   | 35990 |
| 01070  | 05050  | 06620  | 08300 | 10390   | 13360    | 14980 | 17550 | 20710   | 23100 | 24810  | 30150       | 32900   | 36000 |
|        |        |        |       |         |          |       |       |         |       |        |             |         |       |
| 01150  | 05060  | 06630  | 08310 | 10400   | 13370    | 14990 | 17590 | 20930   | 23110 | 24870  | 30160       | 32910   | 36010 |
| 01160  | 05070  | 06640  | 08320 | 10410   | 13380    | 15000 | 17670 | 20950   | 23120 | 24880  | 30210       | 32920   | 36030 |
| 01200  | 05170  | 06650  | 08350 | 10520   | 13400    | 15010 | 17770 | 20970   | 23130 | 24890  | 30310       | 32930   | 36040 |
| 01230  | 05220  | 06660  | 08360 | 10530   | 13410    | 15020 | 17780 | 21000   | 23140 | 24910  | 30320       | 32940   | 36050 |
|        |        |        |       |         |          |       |       |         |       |        |             |         |       |
| 01250  | 05240  | 06670  | 08370 | 10540   | 13420    | 15030 | 17880 | 21010   | 23150 | 25130  | 30330       | 32950   | 36060 |
| 01360  | 05250  | 06680  | 08460 | 10640   | 13430    | 15040 | 18270 | 21020   | 23160 | 25150  | 30340       | 32960   | 36160 |
| 01370  | 05260  | 06690  | 08470 | 10650   | 13450    | 15050 | 18280 | 21050   | 23170 | 25180  | 30360       | 32980   | 36180 |
| 01630  | 05270  | 06700  | 08520 | 10660   | 13470    | 15060 | 18300 | 21060   | 23180 | 25200  | 30370       | 32990   | 36190 |
|        |        |        |       |         |          |       |       |         |       |        |             |         |       |
| 01820  | 05280  | 06710  | 08540 | 10670   | 13490    | 15070 | 18320 | 21080   | 23200 | 25210  | 30380       | 33000   | 36200 |
| 01890  | 05290  | 06720  | 08550 | 10680   | 13550    | 15100 | 18330 | 21110   | 23210 | 25220  | 30400       | 33040   | 36220 |
| 01900  | 05300  | 06730  | 08560 | 10690   | 13560    | 15120 | 18340 | 21120   | 23220 | 25230  | 30430       | 33100   | 36240 |
| 01910  | 05310  | 06830  | 08565 | 10700   | 13790    | 15140 | 18370 | 21130   | 23230 | 25240  | 30480       | 33120   | 36250 |
|        |        |        |       |         |          |       |       |         |       |        |             |         |       |
| 01920  | 05320  | 06860  | 08580 | 10710   | 13820    | 15180 | 18380 | 21190   | 23280 | 25270  | 30490       | 33130   | 36260 |
| 01930  | 05330  | 06870  | 08610 | 10720   | 13840    | 15240 | 18500 | 21230   | 23290 | 25280  | 30520       | 33170   | 36270 |
| 01940  | 05370  | 06890  | 08630 | 10730   | 13930    | 15290 | 19140 | 21450   | 23300 | 25300  | 30540       | 33180   | 36280 |
| 01970  | 05390  | 06900  | 08680 | 10740   | 13940    | 15350 | 19150 | 21460   | 23310 | 25320  | 30600       | 33190   | 36290 |
|        |        |        |       |         |          |       |       |         |       |        |             |         |       |
| 01980  | 05450  | 06920  | 08690 | 10750   | 13950    | 15390 | 19160 | 21470   | 23350 | 25350  | 30630       | 33200   | 36300 |
| 01990  | 05460  | 06930  | 08710 | 10760   | 13970    | 15400 | 19170 | 21480   | 23360 | 25360  | 30910       | 33210   | 36310 |
| 02230  | 05470  | 06950  | 08720 | 10800   | 13980    | 15420 | 19180 | 21510   | 23370 | 25400  | 30920       | 33230   | 36380 |
| 02240  | 05480  | 06960  | 08740 | 10830   | 13990    | 15450 | 19190 | 21520   | 23380 | 25410  | 30930       | 33260   | 36390 |
|        |        |        |       |         |          |       |       |         |       |        |             |         |       |
| 02280  | 05490  | 06970  | 08760 | 10840   | 14000    | 15480 | 19200 | 21530   | 23400 | 25430  | 30940       | 33270   | 36400 |
| 02300  | 05500  | 06980  | 08780 | 10850   | 14010    | 15490 | 19210 | 21540   | 23440 | 25440  | 30950       | 33290   | 36420 |
| 02450  | 05510  | 06990  | 08980 | 10860   | 14020    | 15570 | 19220 | 21550   | 23460 | 25450  | 30960       | 33330   | 36440 |
| 02500  | 05520  | 07000  | 09120 | 10870   | 14030    | 15650 | 19230 | 21560   | 23560 | 25470  | 30980       | 33340   | 36460 |
|        |        |        |       |         |          |       |       |         |       |        |             |         |       |
| 02600  | 05530  | 07010  | 09130 | 11021   | 14040    | 15660 | 19240 | 21590   | 23570 | 25611  | 31000       | 33350   | 36480 |
| 02610  | 05540  | 07020  | 09200 | 11230   | 14050    | 15670 | 19250 | 21600   | 23580 | 25630C | 31030       | 33380   | 36590 |
| 02620  | 05550  | 07030  | 09410 | 11240   | 14060    | 15680 | 19260 | 21610   | 23590 | 25640  | 31040       | 33440   | 36770 |
| 02670  | 05570  | 07040  | 09870 | 11250   | 14070    | 15690 | 19270 | 21620   | 23600 | 25650  | 31110       | 33450   | 36960 |
|        |        |        |       |         |          |       |       |         |       |        |             |         |       |
| 02700C | 05580  | 07050  | 09880 | 11520   | 14110    | 15700 | 19290 | 21630   | 23610 | 25670  | 31120       | 33470   | 36970 |
| 02710  | 05590  | 07060  | 09890 | 11530   | 14120    | 15750 | 19320 | 21640   | 23630 | 25680  | 31150       | 33570   | 37190 |
| 02730  | 05600  | 07070  | 09900 | 11560   | 14130    | 15760 | 19340 | 21650   | 23660 | 25700  | 31160       | 34070   | 37230 |
| 02920  | 05610  | 07080  | 09910 | 11690   | 14150    | 15830 | 19350 | 21680   | 23670 | 25720  | 31180       | 34110   | 37250 |
|        |        |        |       |         |          |       |       |         |       |        |             |         |       |
| 02930  | 05620  | 07090  | 09920 | 11740   | 14160    | 15860 | 19400 | 21690   | 23680 | 25730  | 31190       | 34150   | 37300 |
| 02940  | 05630  | 07100  | 09930 | 11750   | 14170    | 15900 | 19460 | 21700   | 23690 | 25750  | 31220       | 34190   | 37700 |
| 02950  | 05650  | 07130  | 09940 | 11760   | 14180    | 15960 | 19470 | 21720   | 23710 | 25770  | 31240       | 34200   | 37770 |
| 02960  | 05660  | 07140  | 09950 | 11770   | 14190    | 15980 | 19480 | 21770   | 23760 | 25800  | 31270       | 34230   | 37920 |
|        |        |        |       |         |          |       |       |         |       |        |             |         |       |
| 02970  | 05670  | 07200  | 09960 | 11780   | 14270C   | 16070 | 19540 | 21800   | 23770 | 26800  | 31280       | 34270   | 38340 |
| 02980  | 05690  | 07210  | 09970 | 11790   | 14280C   | 16210 | 19640 | 21850   | 23890 | 26810  | 31560       | . 34310 | 80210 |
| 02990  | 05710  | 07220  | 09980 | 11800   | 14360    | 16280 | 19650 | 21890   | 23900 | 26820  | 31570       | 34330   | 80230 |
| 03000  | 05740  | 07230  | 09990 | 12061   | 14370    | 16310 | 19660 | 21910   | 23910 | 26830  | 31580       | 34340   | 80510 |
|        |        |        |       |         |          |       |       |         |       |        |             |         | 00310 |
| 03010  | 05750  | 07240  | 10000 | 12190   | 14380    | 16340 | 19680 | 22030   | 23920 | 26840  | 31590       | 34390   |       |
| 03020  | 05760  | 07250  | 10010 | 12240   | 14390    | 16500 | 19690 | 22070   | 23930 | 27190  | 31600       | 34420   |       |
| 03030  | 05780  | 07260  | 10020 | 12260   | 14400    | 16560 | 19700 | 22080   | 23940 | 27200  | 31630       | 34430   |       |
| 03040  | 05790  | 07310  | 10030 | 12330   | 14440    | 16790 | 19710 | 22090   | 23950 | 27210  | 31640       | 34440   |       |
|        |        |        |       |         |          |       |       |         |       |        |             |         |       |
| 03050  | 05800  | 07320  | 10040 | 12370   | 14450    | 16800 | 19720 | 22100   | 23960 | 27220  | 31660       | 34450   |       |
| 03060  | 05810  | 07330  | 10050 | 12380   | 14460    | 16810 | 19730 | 22110   | 23970 | 28000  | 31670       | 34460   |       |
| 03070  | 05820  | 07360  | 10060 | 12440   | 14470    | 16820 | 19740 | 22120   | 23980 | 28010  | 31690       | 34470   |       |
|        | 05830  |        |       |         |          |       |       | 22190   |       | 28020  | 31700       | 34520   |       |
| 03100  |        | 07390  | 10070 | 12450   | 14480    | 16830 | 19760 |         | 24000 |        |             |         |       |
| 03250  | 05940  | 07410  | 10080 | 12780   | 14590    | 16840 | 19770 | 22210   | 24010 | 28030  | 31820       | 34530   |       |
| 03280  | 05950  | 07450  | 10090 | 12790   | 14600    | 16850 | 19800 | 22230   | 24020 | 28040  | 31830       | 34540   |       |
| 03370  | 05970  | 07480  | 10100 | 12800   | 14610    | 16860 | 19810 | 22380   | 24030 | 28050  | 31840       | 34560   |       |
|        |        |        |       |         |          |       |       |         |       |        |             |         |       |
| 03390  | 05990  | 07620  | 10110 | 12810   | 14630    | 16880 | 19830 | 22390   | 24060 | 28060  | 31860       | 34570   |       |
| 03421  | 06010  | 07750  | 10120 | 12820   | 14640    | 16890 | 19840 | 22400   | 24070 | 28070  | 31870       | 34571   |       |
| 03430  | 06020  | 07770  | 10130 | 12830   | 14650    | 16900 | 19850 | 22430   | 24080 | 28080  | 31880       | 34572   |       |
| 03450  | 06080  | 07780  | 10140 | 12840   | 14700    | 16910 | 19860 | 22440   | 24090 | 28090  | 31890       | 34573   |       |
|        |        |        |       |         |          |       |       |         |       | 28120  | 31900       |         | 1.4   |
| 03460  | 06110  | 07790  | 10150 | 12850   | 14710    | 16920 | 19900 | 22450   | 24100 |        |             | 34574   |       |
| 03591  | 06130C | 07800  | 10160 | 12860   | 14720    | 16930 | 19910 | 22490   | 24120 | 28150  | 31910       | 34681   |       |
| 03592  | 06140  | 07810  | 10170 | 12870   | 14730    | 16950 | 19920 | 22540   | 24130 | 28160  | 31920       | 35150   |       |
| 03630  | 06150  | 07830  | 10180 | 12880   | 14740    | 16960 | 19940 | 22550   | 24530 | 28170  | 31950       | 35180   |       |
| 40000  | 40.100 | 201200 | 10100 | 1 11000 | 1 41 411 | 10,00 | 10000 | www.ner |       |        | and a super |         |       |

C - Canceled class

07850

07910

10190

10240

12910

06160

Updated 5:12 PM, November 16, 1994

28190

28270

32050

35260

24550

24560

*Closed class list also available in Unicorn

17010

22600

22610

14750

14760

14820

IN OUR OPINION

By the Collegian Editorial Board

Lobbying Legislature starts with students

All students have the ability to lobby the Legislature about increases in tuition.

With elections still fresh in everyone's minds, now is the time to strike the Kansas Legislature with a lobbying campaign.

Student Body President Jeff
Peterson is trying to follow through on a campaign promise by fighting tuition hikes and qualified admissions in the Legislature with a lobbying campaign. Peterson would like to have $25,000 to fund this campaign.

A proposal going to Student Senate is asking for $8,000 for the Access the Future fund from the $17,000 received from the overcharging of students at fee payment.

What can you do with $8,000? You can do quite a bit with $8,000. Do you need $8,000 to have a successful lobbying campaign? No.

SEABOURN

A lobbying campaign should start now. It shouldn't wait until the Legislature starts its next session.

A massive letter writing campaign aimed at the whole legislature would not sway the representatives and senators. They wouldn't care about X number of letters from students and alumni.

A lobbying campaign needs one thing more than anything else — organization.

This involves organizing students to write and travel to Topeka.

So get your stationery and your Topeka map, and let's get ready to

TOLES

You can't butt-surf with clothes on

"Would you listen to this," I said to my wife as I began to read from the newspaper. "Mandatory showers after gym class strip high-school students of their privacy.

"And, whoa, get a load of this, 'Girls no longer have to open their towels to teachers to prove they didn't wear underwear into the shower."

"WHAT?" my wife said loud enough to make our two dogs roll over on their backs and whine. Apparently they thought they were about to get yesterday's dinner kicked out of them. (Not that we actually kick our dogs—this is simply a typical canine defense mechanism expertly honed to perfection through millions of years of evolution while watching the TV show, "Lassie.")

Apparently, some students at Hollidaysburg Area Senior High School, Hollidaysburg, Pa, don't want to get naked in front of their peers and have asked the American Civil Liberties Union to look into the school's shower requirement. "For the government to compel you to expose your body, they must have a compelling reason," said Vic Walczak, executive director of its Pittsburgh chapter.

Well, I can think of no other compelling reason than Bubba Jones. Bubba was the biggest kid in seventh grade. In fact, he was bigger than most small cities. Bubba needed three shower spigots just to get his feet wet. And Bubba could sweat buckets just sitting there chewing gum. The only thing that could rival Bubba in the stinky sweat category would be a herd of waterbuffalo during mating season, which if the truth were known, are probably his close cousins. So, I say whatever was good for Bubba is good for everyone.

Besides, there are tremendous educational opportunities to be gained from communal showering, despite the embarrassment claimed by some. For instance — butt surfing. Where else could you have 20 naked kids sliding around in the soap-lime on their posteriors in an open-bay shower? As long as you avoided the drain — and this was crucial for the guys who liked to live dangerously and do "inverted butt-surfing" (on your stomach) — it was great fun.

And foot powder. We had a big box full of foot powder in our locker room, and it was required to stomp around in the powder box before putting on socks and shoes. This was done to prevent the ever-present and highly feared ATHLETE'S FOOT FUNGUS, which as our gym coach frequently pointed out, had been known to cause sterility and impotency in boys. We didn't know what sterility or impotency meant, but it just SOUNDED awful enough to scare us into using foot powder every chance we got.

We were so diligent with this requirement that occasionally we even stomped around in the foot powder AFTER we put our socks and shoes on, which created a grayish-white, smog-like atmosphere not unlike that which presently hangs over big industrial cities. In fact, I would be willing to bet that most big-city smog is a direct result of seventh-grade children stomping around in the locker-room foot powder.

Then there were the numerous vats of Atomic Balm, to be used for the aches and pains, which can sometimes arise from rigorous butt-surfing ... I mean calisthenics. This stuff was bright orange and smelled just like my Aunt Hazel's perfume. Beside the fact that it could be used to soothe sore muscles and is a common ingredient in pop-tart filling, it had the added benefit of being an effective weapon against upperclassmen who liked to pop lowerclassmen with their towels as they went by. This weapon, of course, was the "Atomic Balm in the underwear" trick. You have not lived until you have unsuspectingly worn underwear laced with Atomic Balm. Nor do you know the meaning of the word "hot."

Yes, all in all, I must say that open, communal showers are essential to a well-rounded public education.

Honey, I don't understand why girls would take a shower with their underwear on. I don't think I ever met a girl in school who took a shower with her underwear on.

"Never mind. I had better go outside and check on the dogs. I think I hear them whining."

Brad Seabourn is a graduate student in grain science.

Conservatives flood talk-radio airwaves

MILLER

ast week's election results were dramatic, with Democratic challengers and incumbents alike losing most elections nationwide, while no incumbent Republican gubernatorial or congressional candidate lost.

Clearly this election was not a response to incumbents but instead a response to Democrats.

What does it all mean? Political pundits have been sorting that one out with the same deficit of wisdom that failed to predict the sweeping changes of election night '94.

What it really means is that talk radio has a more powerful influence than the pundits previously thought. About 70 percent of America's radio talk-show hosts are conservative, which is no surprise considering that talk-radio audiences are for the most part composed of older listeners with a lot of time on their hands, a population segment also known for voting in greater numbers.

Manhattan's KMAN-AM 1350 carries the talk show of conservative Rush Limbaugh, the most popular radio program in history. KMAN also carries part of libertarian Gene Burns' talk show, who, while not as far right as Limbaugh, is certainly more economically conservative than most Democrats. KMAN carries no programs by liberal hosts; at best, late-night host Jim Bohannon can be best described as a moderate.

Topeka's WIBW-AM 580 carries hosts from the People's Radio Network, whose hosts, despite the Marxist-sounding name of the network, are best described as conservative populists. This right-wing domination of talk radio in Manhattan is consistent with the talk format all across the country in which stations might carry token liberals like Larry King, Jerry Brown, or a local host, but mainly feature Limbaugh, Burns, G. Gordon Liddy, and/or Pat Buchanan.

Talk radio isn't just the domain of old folks, though. Many middle-aged people listen to it as well. Even if these listeners don't have as much time to devote to listening as older Americans, the conservative momentum of the airwaves is motivating people to action. As a matter of fact, CNN reported that exit polls from last week's election showed that the only demographic group in which most voters favored Democrats was so-called Generation X. Guess which demographic group listens to talk radio least.

Unfortunately, the new Republican Congress will do little to change the system (prediction No.1) because they, like all governments throughout history, are by nature corrupt and corrupting. Ironically, the party that has run on the dispicability of government will be the government.

Conservative talk-show hosts will no doubt blame President Clinton for Republican failures and campaign for a Republican President (prediction No.2). Americans, the lemmings that they are, will elect a moderate Republican to the White House in 1996 (prediction No.3) and re-elect the members of Congress who grandfathered exemptions for themselves from term limits (prediction No.4 and No.5). The corruption and inertia in Washington won't change then either.

With a Republican Congress and White House, more Americans will finally realize that, despite the rhetoric, there isn't a scintilla of real difference between Democrats and Republicans (prediction No.6). Both parties seek to expand the influence of the government, both parties either raise taxes or spend on credit, and both are corrupt. In 2000, this Incumbent Party will finally begin to lose its grip on power. That's when the structure of the federal government will begin to radically change by the introduction of new political coalitions and parties (prediction No.7).

Who will make these changes? We will. By then, Generation X will be voting more, holding more offices, and controlling the mass media (including talk shows). The future will belong to our generation. It will be up to us to fix the mess our parents and grandparents, liberals and conservatives alike, bequeathed to us. Until then, expect the faces to change and the problems to remain. You know where you heard the predictions first.

Scott Allen Miller is a junior in radio/television.

READERS WRITE

Drop letters off at Kedzie 116 or send them to Letters to the Editor, c/o John Meirowsky, Kansas State Collegian, Kedzie 116, Manhattan, KS 66506. We accept letters by e-mail also. Our address is letters@spub.ksu.edu. Letters should be addressed to the editor and include a name, address and phone number. A photo identification will be necessary for hand-delivered letters.

RESPONSE

Republicans ... blah, blah, blah

ARGH! That was my initial reaction to Tuesday's Collegian. Two articles, one written by the consummate Russell Fortmeyer, and another by public pundit John Hart, stand out as an example to all who aspire to conceit in journalism. John Hart's commentary on the large Republican victory in the last election was, obviously written with a great deal of satisfaction.

Yes, Democrats have had most of the political power where it counts the most in Congress for a long time, perhaps too long. Now that the 'liberals' have been ousted, Bob Dole, Newt Gingrich, and everyone else in the Republican Party can go to work trying to rebuild the country, blah blah yak yak. Whether you actually believe this is irrelevant. The arrogance conveyed in this article most certainly hurts the credibility of the Republicans, making them look incredibly self-righteous and self-centered. So Fine. Let's wait until they actually do something before we celebrate. Mr. Hart, I would also advise you, a little humility goes a long way. Now we have Mr. Fortmeyer. Still miffed that there are actually critics who would criticize his criticisms, he uncorks an old whine by analyzing a supposed letter from one of his said critics. Again, whether you believe that letter is genuine (yeah, right,) is irrelevant. I thought we were all done with this last week. Yes, Mr. Fortmeyer, there are people out there who disagree with you and feel strongly enough about it to let you know.

Complaining about it once is understandable. Satirizing it twice is sometimes funny, but that has to be a conscious effort. What we have here is a slanderous slap in the face of the Collegian's Mythical Average Reader. Take heart, since the Collegian is a free paper, you won't have that great a loss of readers.

John L. Henderson undecided freshman

▶ PARKING

Parking Services has a goal, right?

When I first read about Parking Services' desire to charge people money to park on campus at night, I was livid.

"It's appalling enough that I can't walk to

ANGELA LAMBLEY

1 be trying to capitalize on my unfortunate

66 They can't medical condition."

campus at night simply because I'm female," I thought, "but to try to profit from that fact is reprehensible."

Now, I have seen the light. Parking Services serves the students' interests. They can't be trying to capitalize on my unfortunate medical condition, nor can they be trying to financially penalize students with night exams or projects too big to carry. Parking Services must have some nobler goal in mind (although I must admit I am unsure as to what it is — protecting the habitat of the rare and endangered asphalt quail, perhaps?) I'm looking forward to Thursday's 3 p.m. meeting in Union 205. I'm sure Mr. Archer is ready and willing to share his noble goal.

Angela M. Lambley senior in microbiology

▶ PARKING

judging up to you.

Come early for good spot

Parking on campus is like general admission. If you get concert tickets in general seating and show up five minutes before the performance, your seats will generally suck.

complaining are lazy whiners. I'll leave the

The same goes for parking on campus. If you're running late in the morning, try parking behind Weber or in one of the other less-popular lots. There are generally plenty of spots. Sure, it may take you a few minutes to walk to class, but waiting for a good spot will usually take much longer. I can get from Weber to any building on campus in less than 10 minutes, and I'm no power walker. If I can do it, then chances are most of the whiners can, too.

Some people refuse to park in the more distant lots when it gets cold or on rainy days. Here is a clue, for those of you that need to get one, you can buy coats and umbrellas at most of our local retail stores.

For those of you that complain about the "long" walk, I've generally found that the people who complain the most about getting a little exercise are the people who need it the most.

In closing, I would like to comment on the parking survey. If the committee administering this survey decides that we do have a parking problem and that we're going to take action. I sincerely hope that they put any student financial contributions to the remedy up to a campus-wide vote. If students are going to pay to fix a supposed problem, then all students involved should have a chance to voice their opinions, not just a selected few.

Shawn Harris junior in electrical engineering

Dissecting frogs questionable in entrylevel biology class

"It's important to see the effects of the various secretions of hormones released by the nervous system to control heart rate and how it then affects the internal environment."

> JOHN ZIMMERMAN professor of biology

"While this procedure allows students to observe a beating heart and watch electrical stimulation of muscles, I feel that this message carries little weight in the careers of nonbiology majors."

> Dr. SMITH professor of biology

Due to the sensitive nature of this story, the name of the biologist has been changed to Dr. Smith to protect that person's

A student's steady hand makes the incision on the inside torso of the specimen, and the organs are revealed

The outer layer of skin is pinned open so the organs are more visible. Classmates observe the heart of the recently deceased specimen, which is still beating.

Science is being conducted. Frog dissection is part of Principles of Biology, an introductory biology class offered

One K-State biologist, who wishes to remain anonymous, questions, however, whether frog dissection in an entry-level biology class is ethical and if the supply company where the specimens come from can be trusted.

The frogs used for dissection at K-State come from the Carolina Biological Supply Co., a prominent supply house, Diane Post, instructor of biology, said.

Dr. Smith said supply houses like Carolina Biological Supply Co. may breed frogs for the purpose of dissection, but also probably make up shortages by collecting from the

"I have heard that the latest groups of frogs were caught wild," Dr. Smith said.

Dr. Smith said even if the frogs used this year were 100-percent laboratory-raised, it is questionable that in some years, many or all of the frogs shipped to universities were caught in the wild.

Post said if the information on the Carolina Biological Supply Co. proves to be true, the biology department would reconsider whether to continue using them as a frog source.

Dr. Smith said the lives of the frogs dissected are uselessly wasted.

"I think biology, and certainly pre-med majors, should be exposed to this, because they will build on what they have seen," Dr. Smith said. "I don't think that this procedure is essential to an advertising or business major."

Dr. Smith said frog dissection has no place in an introductory

"I think it's more important to tell these students about the ecology that affects them and that which they assuredly affect in return," Dr. Smith said. "The future advertiser and business person more likely needs to know why frogs and other amphibians are disappearing.'

Dr. Smith suggested that if the Principles of Biology course were changed, then the section involving dissection of the frogs would be dropped, and the focus be on fetalpig dissection.

Students would not witness a beating heart; they would instead study a dead one.

"This would not require the destruction of 200 animals per semester, and the people who might get a lasting influence from this will get it," Dr. Smith said.

Post said there is a variety of reasons why they do the frog dissection.

"If you went into surgery, would you want a surgeon who only operated on a computer?" she said.

It's also important for people to know, even if they're not biology majors, what their insides look like, Post said.

She said this experience is a good way for people to learn how to communicate effectively about personal health.

"I think students who have been through this exercise are more scientifically literate, so when issues of animal rights or models come up, without the experiment, you're not as educated as you could be," Post said.

Frogs are nice animals to work with, easily obtainable and demonstrate clearly, John Zimmerman, professor of biology,

A plastic model doesn't react like the live model, he said.

"It's important to see the effects of the various secretions of hormones released by the nervous system to control heart rate and how it then affects the internal environment," Zimmerman said.

The frog dissection also ■ See BIOLOGY Page 8 ► NATION

Gambling going to Supreme Court

ASSOCIATED PRESS

SANTA FE - The state of New Mexico plans to take its fight over Indian gambling to the U.S. Supreme Court, a lawyer for Gov. Bruce King said Wednesday.

Paul Bardacke, an Albuquerque lawyer representing the state, said New Mexico will challenge a federal appeals court ruling that upheld the rights of Indian tribes to sue states that fail to negotiate gambling compacts.

The ruling by the 10th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals also involved Indian gambling cases from Kansas and Oklahoma. Bardacke said those states would join New Mexico in the appeal to the U.S. Supreme Court.

Bardacke said the state has until early December to file a petition with the Supreme Court, asking it to review the 10th Circuit's ruling.

Last week, the appeals court agreed to put its ruling on hold until New Mexico and two other states file their challenge with the Supreme Court.

Indian tribes in New Mexico won a victory in September when the appeals court in Denver ruled that Indians have the right to sue in federal court if a state fails to negotiate in good faith to develop a gaming compact.

The state of New Mexico had argued that the 11th Amendment of the U.S. Constitution shields state governments from such lawsuits.

However, another federal appeals court has ruled differently on that legal question The 11th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals, in cases involving Alabama and Florida, concluded that Congress lacked the power to strip away the states' traditional 11th Amendment immunity from being sued without their consent. That case already has been appealed to the U.S. Supreme Court.

Earlier this month, the appeals court in Denver rejected a request by New Mexico for a rehearing of the case involving Sandia Pueblo and the Mescalero Apache Tribe.

If the Supreme Court agrees to consider the New Mexico case, Bardacke said, then the 10th Circuit ruling would remain on hold pending the outcome of the appeal.

Under its initial ruling, the lawsuit by Sandia Pueblo and the Mescalero Apaches was to return to a federal court in New Mexico to determine whether the state had negotiated properly. That won't happen until the Supreme Court appeal is resolved,

In a related development, the 9th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in San Francisco issued a ruling this week that's viewed as a victory for the state of California and its effort to restrict the expansion of Indian gambling.

The 9th Circuit ruled on Tuesday that tribes in California cannot offer casino-style electronic gambling and card games that are banned elsewhere in the state. It's uncertain what effect the California case could have on Indian gambling in New Mexico. King has refused to sign gambling compacts with tribes and has argued that he lacked the power to permit gambling on Indian lands that wasn't allowed elsewhere in the state.

But Gov.-elect Gary Johnson has pledged to negotiate and sign Indian gambling compacts.

Richard Hughes, a lawyer for Santa Ana and Tesuque pueblos, both of which operate gambling casinos, said New Mexico tribes have made different legal arguments than those involved in the California case.

The tribes contend in New Mexico that there shouldn't be restrictions on the scope of gaming because state law allows charities to operate all kinds of casino-style gambling twice a year.

But Hughes emphasized that the election of a new governor could end the legal fighting about Indian gambling in New Mexico.

"If Gov.-elect Johnson follows through on his commitment to the tribes to negotiate in good faith, and these negotiations led to compacts that are approved, none of these issues (in pending court cases) are of any consequence," Hughes said.

NATIVE AMERICANS

Shaman charged in selling bird parts

Undercover agent, accused, tell different stories

ASSOCIATED PRESS

TOPEKA - Indians and other supporters filled a fourth-floor corridor of the Frank Carlson Federal Building in a demonstration for an 80-year-old Kickapoo shaman charged with selling migratory bird parts to non-Indians.

Louis "Roecloud" Jessepe appeared Tuesday before U.S. Magistrate Ronald L. Newman for selling feathers and feet from different birds to an undercover federal game agent. The agent represented himself as a buyer planning to resell the Indian items to

It is legal for tribe members to buy and sell such items among themselves, but it is a misdemeanor to sell them to people who are not members of the tribe Jessepe, represented by federal public defender Marilyn M. Trubey, was released on his own recognizance. If convicted, he faces a fine of up to $5,000 and six months in jail. The trial is expected to be sometime next year.

U.S. Attorney Randy Rathbun said evidence showed Jessepe was involved in three sales, the first in July 1992. 'We get a number of these cases, because people can obviously make big money selling these things," he said.

Supporters tell a different story.

Davidah Walker, of Kansas City, Kan., a friend of the Jessepe family, said an undercover officer came to Jessepe's home on the Potawatomi Indian reservation near Horton four times to try to buy Indian craft items. Although Jessepe is Kickapoo, he lives on the Potawatomi Reservation.

Jessepe finally sold the officer a fan of magpie feathers to get rid of him, Walker said. Walker and Eva Booker, aunt of longtime federal prisoner Leonard Peltier, convicted of murdering two FBI agents, said the federal agents broke into Jessepe's home in his absence and without the knowledge of tribal authorities.

Rathbun denied the federal agents broke into Jessepe's house, adding that they had a search warrant.

Rex R. Fisher, MD F.A.C.O.G.

Mid American Office Supplies

Benkleman & Muller, DDS,

Cottonwood Racquet Club

Buchanan & Company

Ben Franklin Crafts

Steve's Floral

Oral & Surgery Maxillofacial

Mark D. Hungerford, DDS, P.A.

Dlabal, Feltner & Sheehee DDS

The Phone Connection of Kansas

Nautilus Fitness & Aerobics Center

Michael D. Wangsgaard, DDS, P.A.

Anne Wigglesworth, MD

PERSONAL HEALTH CARE FOR WOMEN CONFIDENTIAL ABORTION SERVICES

• Complete GYN Care • Pregnancy Testing • Depo Provera & Norplant • Tubal Ligation · Licensed Physicians/Caring Staff · Modern State-Licensed Facility

PROVIDING QUALITY HEALTH CARE TO WOMEN SINCE 1974

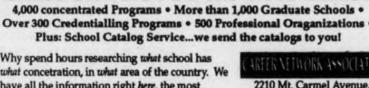

COMPREHENSIVE

VISA

e a | f h f o r w o m e n outside kcarea 4401 W. 109th (I-435 & Rose) 1-800-227-191 1-800-227-1918

Overland Park, KS

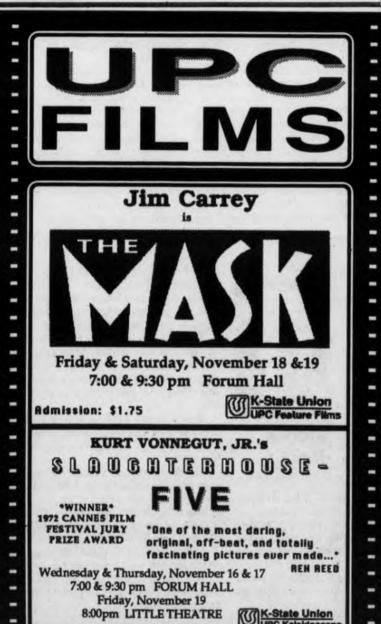

TOLL FREE

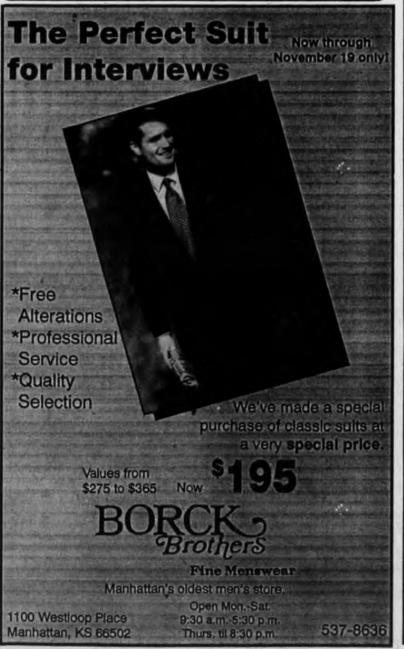

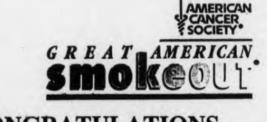

what concetration, in what area of the country. We have all the information right here, the most extensive database available, and we even mail you the catalogs from the schools you choose. Information packets are available for students and Resource Centers.

AREER VETWORK ASSOCIATI

2210 Mt. Carmel Avenue, Suite 110, Dept. 10-5 Glenside, PA 19038 (215) 572-7670 FAX (215) 576-8354

CONGRATULATIONS ... to the following businesses who care enough to be SMOKE FREE.

Manhattan Family Physicians

Peterson Clinical Laboratory

Little Apple Veterinary Clinic

The Ladies Club

Taco Bell

St. Mary Hospital

Memorial Hospital

Lafene Health Center

Riley County Health Department

Dunne's Pharmacy

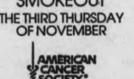

Dr. Paul Bullock - Optometrist

Hansen Nutrition Center Dr. Janasek, Dr. Oberhelman -

Optometrists Heirloom Portraits

Homecare and Hospice

JOIN THE GREAT AMERICAN SMOKEOUT THE THIRD THURSDAY OF NOVEMBER

HERNDON, Va. (AP) - Baseball owners worked on their new "tax" plan Wednesday, a proposal that already has created doubts among the striking players.

Talks between the two sides are to resume Thursday under mediator W.J. Usery at a hotel in suburban Washington. The owners will put forth their first new proposal in five months. It asks for a so-called tax on team payrolls above a certain level and a tax on the teams with the highest revenues. The money would be used to subsidize small-market teams.

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

We got whipped. We were in the game in the first half. In the second half we self-destructed. We panicked.

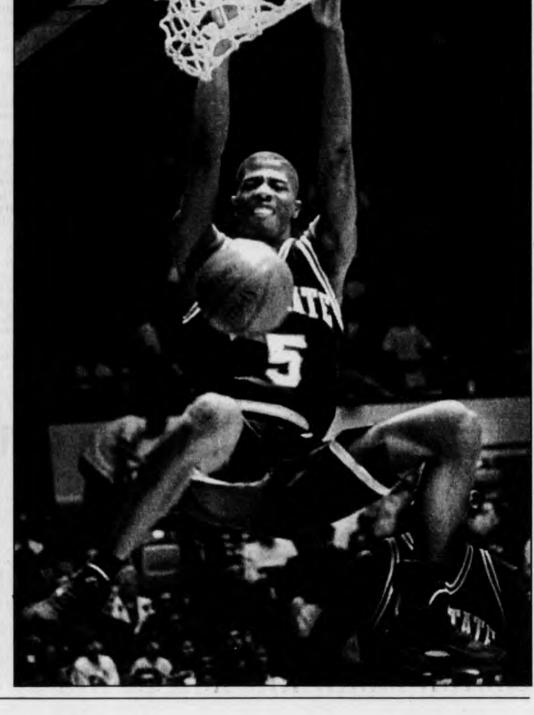

TOM ASBURY basketball coach

Mark Young dunks the ball against Alabama Wednesday night. Young finished with six points in his first game ▼ Coach Tom Asbury expresses some displeasure during K-State's 79-48 loss. He said the team can learn from the game.

JASON HARLESS The Crimson White

K-State rolled over by Tide

EDWIN STANTON

It wasn't quite the coaching debut Tom Asbury expected. The Wildcats couldn't find the basketball goal even when they tried against the University of Alabama Crimson Tide in the first round of the Preseason NIT

Wednesday night at Coleman Coliseum.

The Cats shot just 31 percent in the second half and didn't score their first points until the halfway mark in the Crimson Tide's 79-48 win. Alabama will play either New Mexico State or USC in the second round of the NIT. "We got whipped," Asbury said after the game. "We were in the game in the first half. In the second half, we just selfdestructed. We panicked. We didn't have the maturity and leadership out there."

The Cats got beat on the boards in the second half, pulling down only eight offensive and five defensive rebounds. "The only way we could play with (Alabama) was to rebound. and we did that in the first half," team like Alabama, we have to rebound, and we didn't (in the second half)."

The Tide led the Cats 28-23 with about three minutes remaining in the first half and led 34-24 at intermission.

The Tide came out of the locker room with a vengeance and went on to roll up 11 unanswered points to go on a 17-point run before Mark Young hit a twopoint jump shot to score the Cats' first points in more than 11 minutes of play. "Everybody was out of control," senior guard Belvis Noland, who scored nine points, said. "We couldn't get set up on offense, and we didn't take very good shots." K-State's defense kept the Tide at bay inside the paint, but beyond the three-point arc was another

The Tide drained nine threepointers, five coming from sophomore guard Eric Washing-

"They outworked us on

Asbury said. "If we're going to offense," Noland said. "They took point guard should have, but I'm execute against an experienced us out of our game. We lost our still learning my role," the junior focus, and we just didn't execute very well — and that's what gets you in trouble." For the Cats, Stanley Hamilton led all scorers with 10 points. Noland was second, and Elliott Hatcher hit two field goals and three free throws for seven points. Hatcher said he should have done a better job of trying to settle his team down when the Tide started its offensive tear.

"I didn't take control like a guard said.

Asbury said although the loss was obviously disappointing, a lot can be learned from the experience.

'We are not going to worry about this loss," Asbury said. "We just have to go back to practice and work."

The Cats will have two weeks to get ready for their next opponent, Wisconsin-Parkside, Nov. 29 at home.

| 83593 | . 0000         | 305              | 79                                    | NameOrangeGriffin                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      | FQ2-82-7                                                                                                                     | 0-01-3                                                                                                                                                                                          | 4 9                                                                                                                                                                                                            | 4                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      | 0 2                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    | in.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
|-----------------------|----------------|--------------------------|-------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| -                     | 0              | 0                        | 9                                         | Griffin                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        | 2-7                                                                                                                                  |                                                                                                                                                                                                     | 4                                                                                                                                                                                                              | 4                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        | 1                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| 5 9 3                 | 0              | 0                        | 9                                         | - Secure C                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |                                                                                                                                      | 1-3                                                                                                                                                                                                 | 9                                                                                                                                                                                                              | 4                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      | 2                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
| 3                     | -              | 5                        | 2                                         | The State of the S |                                                                                                                                      |                                                                                                                                                                                                     |                                                                                                                                                                                                                | -                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      | 2                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
| 3                     | -              |                          | -                                         | Brown                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          | 1-2                                                                                                                                  | 0-0                                                                                                                                                                                                 | 2                                                                                                                                                                                                              | 0                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      | 0                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      | 13                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
|                       | 0              | 2                        | 6                                         | Faulkner                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       | 9-18                                                                                                                                 | 0.0                                                                                                                                                                                                 | 9                                                                                                                                                                                                              | 1                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      | 6                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      | 20                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
| 3                     | 0              | 0                        | 0                                         | McDyess                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        | 4-9                                                                                                                                  | 3-4                                                                                                                                                                                                 | 9                                                                                                                                                                                                              | 1                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      | 3                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      | 1                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| 1                     | 0              | 3                        | 2                                         | Bethel                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         | 1-3                                                                                                                                  | 0-0                                                                                                                                                                                                 | 2                                                                                                                                                                                                              | 2                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      | - 2                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    | 1                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| 2                     | 0              | 1                        | 10                                        | Whitfield                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      | 0-0                                                                                                                                  | 0-0                                                                                                                                                                                                 | 0                                                                                                                                                                                                              | 2                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      | 1                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      | 100                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| 5                     | 0              | 3                        | 6                                         | Washington                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | 9-15                                                                                                                                 | 0-0                                                                                                                                                                                                 | 4                                                                                                                                                                                                              | 1                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      | 0                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      | 2                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| 1                     | 1              | 0                        | 0                                         | Passink                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        | 2-3                                                                                                                                  | 0-0                                                                                                                                                                                                 | 1                                                                                                                                                                                                              | 2                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      | 2                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      | 1                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| 2                     | 1              | 1                        | 3                                         | Hamilton                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       | 1-1                                                                                                                                  | 0-0                                                                                                                                                                                                 | 0                                                                                                                                                                                                              | 0                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      | 0                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
| 3                     | 0              | :0                       | 3                                         | Rogers                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         | 2-2                                                                                                                                  | 0-0                                                                                                                                                                                                 | 3                                                                                                                                                                                                              | 1                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      | 0                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      | 10                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
| 42                    | 2              | 20                       | 48                                        | TOTALS                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         | 33-68                                                                                                                                | 4-7                                                                                                                                                                                                 | 45                                                                                                                                                                                                             | 18                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | 16                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | 7                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
|                       | 1 2 5 1 2 3 42 | 2 05 01 12 1 | 2 0 15 0 31 1 02 1 13 0 0 | 1 0 3 22 0 1 105 0 3 61 1 0 02 1 1 33 0 0 3                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | 1 0 3 2 Bethel 2 0 1 10 Whitfield 5 0 3 6 Washington 1 1 0 0 Passink 2 1 1 3 Hamilton 3 0 0 3 Rogers 42 2 20 46 TOTALS 3-POINTERS, F | 1 0 3 2 Bethel 1-3 2 0 1 10 Whittleld 0-0 5 0 3 6 Washington 9-15 1 1 0 0 Passink 2-3 2 1 1 3 Hamilton 1-1 3 0 0 3 Rogers 2-2 42 2 20 48 TOTALS 33-68 3-POINTERS, K-State 4-1-1) Alabama 9-24 (Wash | 1 0 3 2 Bethel 1-3 0-0 2 0 1 10 Whitfield 0-0 0-0 5 0 3 6 Washington 9-15 0-0 1 1 0 0 Passink 2-3 0-0 2 1 1 3 Hamilton 1-1 0-0 3 0 0 3 Rogers 2-2 0-0 42 2 20 48 TOTALS 33-68 4-7 3-POINTERS, K-State 4-19 (No | 1 0 3 2 Bethel 1-3 0-0 2 2 2 0 1 10 Whiteleld 0-0 0-0 0 5 0 3 6 Washington 9-15 0-0 4 1 1 0 0 Passink 2-3 0-0 1 2 1 1 3 Hamilton 1-1 0-0 0 3 0 0 3 Rogers 2-2 0-0 3 42 2 20 48 TOTALS 33-68 4-7 45 3-POINTERS, K-State 4-19 (Noland 1-1) Alabama 9-24 (Washington 9-24 | 1 0 3 2 Bethel 1-3 0-0 2 2 2 2 2 0 1 10 Whittleld 0-0 0-0 0 2 5 5 0 3 6 Washington 9-15 0-0 4 1 1 1 0 0 Passink 2-3 0-0 1 2 2 1 1 1 3 Hamilton 1-1 0-0 0 0 3 3 0 0 3 Rogers 2-2 0-0 3 1 42 2 20 48 TOTALS 33-68 4-7 45 18 3-POINTERS, K-State 4-19 (Noland 3-7, 1-1) Alabama 9-24 (Washington 9-24, Fa | 1 0 3 2 Bethel 1-3 0-0 2 2 2 2 2 2 0 1 10 Whittleld 0-0 0-0 0 2 1 1 5 0 3 6 Washington 9-15 0-0 4 1 0 1 1 0 0 Passink 2-3 0-0 1 2 2 2 1 1 3 Hamilton 1-1 0-0 0 0 0 0 3 3 0 0 3 Rogers 2-2 0-0 3 1 0 7 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 |

► FOOTBALL

Class of '94 trying to become best ever

DEREK SIMMONS

History

can be easily overlooked. Take K-State's football program for example. Not many people are willing to sit around and talk about the Futility U. days.

Wins were scarce. But not anymore.

If the Wildcats win their last three contests, including a bowl game, the seniors that have played for four seasons will have won 31 games in their careers. No other senior in the school's history would be able to say that in a period that stretches over some nine decades.

The closest margin to this year was from 1909 to 1912. where a senior class under Coach Mike Ahearn, and then Guy Lowman, won 30 games. Some of the wins during that stretch came against teams like William Jewell, Baker, Emporia and Washburn.

Saturday's contest with Oklahoma State will mark the final home game for 17 seniors. While not all 17 have been through four years with the Wildcats, they have all contributed to K-State's continued success.

"These are all guys who have been through almost all of it," Coach Bill Snyder said. "They have meant so much to the community and to Kansas State.

They are special young guys."

Among the seniors is Mike Ekeler, a player who worked his way up from a walk-on role his freshman year to a starting linebacker today.

"It's going to be insane," Ekeler said.

"It's amazing to think that we will be running out onto that field for the last time in our lives as players. I've sat up at night just thinking about it.'

This year's seniors have also contributed to other records during their stint with K-State.

Achieved the highest ranking in school history this year. The Wildcats now stand at No. 8 in the USA Today/CNN Coaches' Poll and No. 11 in the Associated Press Poll - both K-State bests.

Part of a squad that won K-State's first ever bowl game, a 52-17 win against Wyoming in last year's Copper Bowl.

K-State has now been ranked 11-straight weeks in the Coaches' Poll, yet another

The list goes on and on.

"They have hung on when things weren't the best in the world. They've taken us through difficult times," Snyder said. 'They've given us a chance to have a certain degree of success. As I've told them, this will be an emotional Saturday. It will be emotional for all of us."

► FOOTBALL

Aloha Bowl ready for K-State's arrival

JEREMY CRABTREE

Collegian

If the Aloha Bowl has its way, the K-State Wildcats will be spending their Christmas in paradise. "We want Kansas State and expect them to be here," Marcia Cherner, executive director of the Aloha Bowl, said. 'We've been in contact with the athletic department for a couple of weeks, and my assistant spoke with Coach (Bill)

Snyder yesterday. 'We've sent them our packet with details about the game," she said. Cherner said she saw the Cats play earlier this season, and she was impressed with their talent.

saw them in Manhattan, when they played Nebraska," Cherner said. "They were into that game right up until the third quarter. They are a very solid team, and we want them.

The Aloha Bowl is played in Honolulu on Christmas Day, and it is contracted to the third-place team from the Big Eight Conference.

The Cats currently sit in third place in the Big Eight, and a victory over Oklahoma State this weekend would ensure them that

However, many K-State fans are hoping that the Cats will be picked up by a Coalition Bowl, but Cherner said those hopes are going to come down to how Notre Dame does in its last two games.

"It's always a possibility that they could be picked up by a Coalition Bowl," Cherner said. "I think that it is really possible if Notre Dame loses its last two games. That would leave a vacant spot open in the Coalition, and K-State could go there."

This news could be disheartening to K-State players who have their sights set on playing on New Year's Day.

"We want to play on New Year's Day," Safety Mario Smith said. "That's been our goal all along. "I also want to play somewhere where our fans can see us play, and if we go to Hawaii, they won't." Cherner said they have already been working on ways to have K-State fans make the trip to Hawaii. "We've already got a plane chartered," Cherner said. "We're working on packages with the hotels in town to make things

■ For Beano Cook of ESPN — early retirement. Beano, you're a sweet guy, but you predicted that Notre Dame quarterback

Ron Powlus would win the Heisman two kind of shape this poor boy's shaved and colored hair will be in after the football season ends. A new piranha would be nice,

For K-State linebacker Mike Ekeler - lots and lots of hats. Who knows what years in a row, beginning this year.

▶ COLUMN

Santa Claus coming to sports

It's that time of year.

The weather is getting colder, the aisles at Dillons are stocked with Christmas goodies, and "It's a Wonderful Life" is already playing on cable.

I know, I know, we haven't even stuffed our Thanksgiving turkeys yet, but it's almost Christmas, and that means it's time for letters to Santa. I've always faithfully written to St.

Nick every year, telling him what a good girl I've been and asking for the usual items Barbie dolls, white go-go boots, records of the Captain and Tenille, autographed pictures of George Brett - you get the

But now that I'm older, I thought I would ask Santa to bring gifts to some people who won't have time to write to him themselves - some of the nation's top sports figures and personalities. They can thank me later.

For K-State football coach Bill Snyder — an invitation to a Coalition Bowl, preferably the Cotton or Sun Bowl. Besides, who would want to spend Christmas in Hawaii? But Santa, don't bring Bill any unexpected little surprises, like a Christmas Eve DUI for one of his

For Kansas City Chiefs' quarterback Joe Montana — a one-way ticket back to San Francisco. Poor Joe deserves to lead a better team than the overrated Chiefs.

For former Iowa State football coach Jim Walden, and soon-to-be former Oklahoma football coach Gary Gibbs

Here's an idea. If they get their applications in now, maybe they could be Big Eight football officials just in time for next season.

■ For the Nebraska football team — a tropical storm to cancel the Orange Bowl. It's either that or a Roto-Rooter to clear up Tommy Frazier's blood clot in his leg.

For K-State basketball coach Tom Asbury — a couple of 7-footers.

For O.J. Simpson — a miracle. ■ For the KU football team — a dose of reality. Guys, quit whining about not going to a bowl game this year and accept this little news flash — YOU AREN'T ANY GOOD. For Barry Switzer and the Dallas Cowboys - just give them the Super Bowl rings now. For K-State quarterback Chad May some recognition. May is twice the quarterback of Alabama's Jay Barker or

Georgia's Eric Zeier, yet he still can't seem to make ESPN's little "Heisman Watch." ■ For ESPN — a map. K-State is in Manhattan, not Lawrence, and we are the Wildcats, not the Jayhawks.

For former heavyweight champion Mike Tyson a male judge. It's either that or another five years in the Gray Bar Hotel. For Roy Firestone — a list of good questions to ask his "Up Close" guests.

For Dwight Gooden — a Major League Drug team to play on, so he won't have to worry about those troublesome

He's a lock for Most Valuable Player in his first season. Daryl Strawberry finishes in a close second.

NICOLE POELL

■ For Texas Tech — a new mascot to replace their deceased horse. How about Mike Ekeler — he likes ramming his head into walls. For the Royals' Vince Coleman - his own fireworks stand along I-70, just in case next season is canceled. Finally, Santa, for me - I know, I wasn't going to ask for anything, but I couldn't help it. I have been really good this year, Santa, so I'll just ask for a couple things.

A dinner date and interview with George Brett, and a stun gun to protect me from grabby KU fans.

FEMALE ARTISTS FEATURED IN EXHIBIT

The art department continues its streak of exhibits in the Willard Art Gallery by offering a show of work by three women artists. "Recent Work," featuring Lisa Houha Bailey, Sylvia Beeman and Vera Trachta, will be in the Gallery until Friday. Gallery hours are 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through

NOVEMBER 17, 1994

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

STUMPED? For answers to today's crossword, call 1-900-454-6873! 99¢ per minute, touchtone / rotary phones. (18+ only.) A King Features service, NYC.

11-17

CRYPTOQUIP

HPSDFSMTPS XFIZA YIWPLR HPWFATISR

XIDTSB MPAIC." Yesterday's Cryptoquip: A DROOLING, AFFEC-TIONATE DOG LIKE OURS CAN LICK ANY GUY IN

Today's Cryptoquip clue: S equals N

► MIGRAINE KELLY CAMPBELL/COLLEGIAN

Yesterday's Migraine depicted the Collegian's own A&E editor, Andrew Tomb, who's Birthday was yesterday.

CALVIN AND HOBBES

THIS IS HOPELESS! HOW AM I SUPPOSED TO CREATE A DESERT SCENE IN THIS SHOE BOX WHEN I DON'T EVEN KNOW WHAT A DESERT LOOK LIKE ?

IVE NEVER BEEN TO A DESERT! MOM AND DAD NEVER TAKE ME ANYWHERE THEY'D TAKEN ME TO A DESERT SOMETIME, I'D KNOW THIS STUFF

A BOOK

AND GO TO ALL RIGHT. WHY WASTE TIME THAT TROUBLE? AON GEL ONL LEARNING, WHEN YEAH, SURE! LOOK I'M A BUSY GUY! IGNORANCE IS I'VE GOT OTHER INSTANTANEOUS THINGS TO DO WITH MY LIFE

HELP ME OR NOT ▶ FOXTROT BILL AMEND

MOM, HURRY UP! છ

EVERYBODY IN THE UNI-VERSE IS GOING TO WANT TO SEE THIS "STAR TREK" MOVIE! IT'S PROBABLY SOLD-OUT ALREADY! HERE!

MOVIE DOESN' MARCUS WE'D PICK HIM UP OPEN UNTIL 10 MINUTES AGO! I'VE GOT

BILL WATTERSON

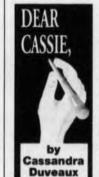

MY TV SHOW

STARTS IN

20 MINUTES

GOING TO

Breaking chain not end of life

Write to: Dear Cassie. 116 Kedzie Hall Manhattan. Kan., 66506

Dear Cassie,

I received this letter in the mail from someone I've never met. I myself am only a little superstitious, and after reading the letter, my curiosity was stirred - would luck come to me? In the end, I've decided to take this letter with "a grain of salt" and ask you to do the same. Who knows, luck may happen ... and in this day and age, we could all use some help.

Getting Lucky in Kansas

(Silly chain letter deleted.)

Dear Getting Lucky in Kansas,

I've received plenty of those chain letters, and they all wind up in the same place. The garbage can.

I did not send any of them on, and I lived to tell about it. Nothing horrible happened to me or anyone I knew.

If you really think a silly letter can determine your future, you would probably be better off joining the circus than going to college.

If you end up breaking the chain, I wouldn't lose any sleep over it.

▶ COLUMN

Talk show tabloids won't find Elvis

Heated discussions about women with five husbands, transvestites, and body piercing have taken place on the world of daytime television.

A person can turn on the television anytime during the midafternoon and see anything from sumo wrestlers to grandmas with a passion for Harleys.

Talk shows have multiplied faster than Gremlins who are fed after midnight. Phil Donahue, Oprah and Geraldo have led the talk show competition, but others such as Ricki Lake and Jenny Jones have also carved out their niche on the screen.

The guests for these shows become more outrageous as every minute goes by. Every time I turn one of those shows on, I wonder where they get these talk show guests If I was a crossdressing priest, the last thing I would want is for thousands of viewers to click on their television and see me talking about my lifestyle.

ZIEGLER

The talk show guests throw themselves in the spotlight for different reasons, but I've always wondered how people who know the guests react when they see them on the talk shows.

The parents, friends, and acquaintances of these talk show guests must be humiliated to see their loved one confessing the story of how they contracted AIDS from an alien.

If you want to talk about your past lives or discuss your sighting of Elvis, chances are that there's a talk show that wants to hear about it and there's a television viewer who's intrigued.

Talk shows are tabloids on a television screen.

Sometimes they focus on real problems, but most of the time, their function is to entertain the typical couch potato. When I'm flipping through the channels and see three women bodybuilders sitting up on a stage, it usually gets my attention.

lem, unusual lifestyle, and issue known to man, but every time I see another one, I realize that they will never run out of ideas for shows. The talk show hosts love ratings, so if they can get a controversial host or focus on a burning topic, they'll go for it. The people in the audience add to the bizarre flavor of the talk shows. As the host walks up the aisle, people get their opportunity to talk on national television. When the audience starts to take sides, the fun begins. An audience member grilling a guest or praising her efforts is a humorous event to witness. Sometimes they will rip the talk show guest to shreds, and other times they will glorify the ground the guest walks on. The guest often get frazzled by: the attacks, but they have to understand that if they voluntarily get up on the stage, they put themselves in the path of public criticism. Talk shows give America a way to laugh and show us not to take who we are or what we have in our lives for granted. If you're stressed out with a project, or working three jobs to pay your tuition, look at it this way - it could be worse. You could have given birth to ten iguanas or. eloped with Elvis.

I thought talk shows had covered every prob-

LAS VEGAS & K-STATE FOOTBALL

$259 quad. occupancy

Package includes:

- Three nights hotel accommodations
- ·K-State vs. UNLV football game ticket
- Round-trip transfers

CALL: 539-CATS

Classic Travel & Tours

1212 Moro Aggieville

539-CATS 537-7546

Sponsored by K&U Student Foundation Manhattan 1-800-842-1570

Chance of a lifetime opportunity with the most successful, fastest-growing consulting company in the Kansas City metro area. Sales marketing and business skills development opportunity is offered in exchange for motivated individuals who are driven to succeed.

NEW COLLEGE GRADS...

Please forward resume to:

Human Resources Century Computer Consultants 9200 Indian Creek Parkway Overland Park, KS 66210 or fax to: (913) 451-7665.

Men's Glee Club Women's Glee Club K-State Singers SATURDAY, Nov. 19, 1994 8 p.m. McCain Auditorium Admission $6 Reserved seats 532-6428 or McCain Auditorium Box Office Noon to 5 p.m.

Joseph Downey

K&U Alumni '59

Legacy Lecture &cries

Union Little Theatre

Friday, Nov. 18 at 11 a.m.

The Air Force Has Jobs

We're hiring. And we'll train you in one of more than 250 high-tech skills. Then when your enlistment is up, your skills will be in demand in a civilian job. Plus, we'll help you pay for college while you're in the Air Force. We also have a plan for you to have money for school when your Air Force tour is over.

For more information call 1-800-423-USAF or contact your local Air Force recruiter.

Eric Rice, senior in elementary education, gets his hand-made kite in the air during Science Methods Education class Wednesday afternoon in the field east of President Jon Wefald's house.

Ying Quartet sets up Midwest headquarters

Brothers, sister strive for excellence in their performance

RUSSELL FORTMEYER

ot many criticallyacclaimed quartets take up residency in a small, Midwestern town.

Of course, the Ying Quartet is one of the few string quartets to be composed of brothers and sisters, so breaking molds is something the Yings are well accustomed to doing

Phillip Ying said he doesn't think too much about being in a quartet with family members.

"It's really a unique experience, and one I think is very special," Ying said. "It's not something that we planned."

The quartet is composed of violinists Timothy Ying and Janet Ying, violist Phillip Ying and cellist David Ying.

Ying said the group strives for excellence in performing, but also to introduce classical music to younger audiences that may not have the chance to experience it.

The Yings recently finished a residency in Jesup, Iowa (population 2,000), under the auspices of the National Endowment for the Arts Rural Residency Initiative. During their residency, the Yings performed in just about every place in Jesup they could: business meetings, schools, living rooms, social clubs and hospitals.

At first, Ying said he was skeptical of the idea of taking up residency in a small town.

"It was one of the best things that happened to us," he said.

"It really stretched us as artists and people.

Ying said initially, the townspeople were very curious and didn't really know what to expect, but after the Yings moved into

SHOW INFO

The Ying Quartet will perform at 8 p.m. on Friday in McCain Auditorium. Tickets are available at the box office or by calling 532-town, they were welcomed wholeheartedly.

"They got to know us as people and artists," he said.

"We didn't just perform there, we lived there and they got to know

Besides their residence in Jesup, the Yings have performed in 1991 at New York's Lincoln Center and have performed in countless other cities across the United States and the world.

They have also taken summer residences, including the Aspen Music Festival.

Ying said the quartet enjoys smaller-town performances because there is less of a formal atmosphere to the show.

For instance, in New York, Ying said, you can't talk about the music or the quartet to the audience, where in a small town you can break that barrier.

Ying said the quartet's parents got each of the kids into music lessons as a way of completing their education.

Ying said they probably never thought their kids would seek careers in music. Formed in 1988 at the Eastman

School of Music in Rochester, New York, the Yings won the 1989 International Cleveland Quartet Competition.

On the program for Friday's performance is Schubert's "Death and the Maiden," Mozart's "The Hunt," and Ralph Shapey's "Quartet No. VIII."

The Ying Quartet will also perform for the K-State music department at 12:30 p.m. qn Thursday in All Faiths Chapel and will perform at 2 p.m. the same day for senior citizens at Stoneybrook Health Center.

► STATE

► NATIO

ASSOCIATED PRESS

Positive financial plan allows Graves flexible budget

ASSOCIATED PRESS

TOPEKA - Gov.-elect Bill Graves said a positive state financial picture may help him fulfill one of his campaign promises early next year.

The state's consensus estimators on Tuesday raised their projections on state revenue growth by $132.8 million for the rest of this fiscal year and next.

That means Graves will have flexibility in his first budget, which he will submit to the Legislature in early January, and he'll have money to spend for things he discussed during his campaign.

MONTPELIER, Vt. - Seventeen states say MCI is misleading consumers when it charges them for calls on certain "800" telephone lines, which most people have come to expect will be toll free.

So the states telecommunications giant AT&T

MCI misleads consumers

on certain 800 numbers

"These new projections provide the incoming Graves administration an opportunity to live within our means and to search for opportunities to reduce tax reliance," Graves said in a statement.

"Higher than expected revenue could provide some flexibility to offer tax relief."

Mike Matson, Graves' transition press secretary, said the governorelect was referring to his campaign pledge to remove the 2-1/2-percent sales tax on labor used in new construction - which has been particularly unpopular in Johnson

Corp. are asking the federal

AT&T's cause Tuesday with a friend-of-the-court brief filed before the Federal Communications

Commission seeking to stop MCI

Telecommunications Corp. from charging for its new "1-800-CALL-INFO" directory assistance service.

Attorneys general joined government to put an end to it.

from that tax last fiscal year and was expected to collect $15 million to $20 million a year from it this year and into the future. The new administration also faces possible added costs in correcting a low-enrollment funding problem in the state school-finance law and addressing juvenile crime problems.

The state collected $10.2 million

The Consensus Estimating Group, made up of three state government financial planners and three university economists, held its regular November meeting at the Statehouse.

The group meets again in April,

"MCI's directory assistance information service is misleading to consumers who equate 800 numbers with a free call," said Vermont Attorney General Jeffrey Amestoy, whose staff prepared the

"This may be a useful service for some," Amestoy said, "but there appears to be an enormous opportunity for consumers and businesses to be harmed by unauthorized charges.

Tuesday's filing came amid growing concern by consumer advocates that traditionally toll-free "800" numbers are being used to attract calls that are then switched to "900" pay-per-call services.

setting the final projection of what the state can expect to take in during the fiscal year that begins in July. That figure must be used to set

The group said the state should collect $11.6 million more than previously expected in the current budget year, and sees revenues growing by $121.2 million next fiscal year.

The estimators predicted tax revenues would grow by 4.6 percent in fiscal 1996, aided by a relatively stable economy.

The group revised its fiscal 1995 estimate upward by $37.4 million, but revenue collections through

Callers who dial the MCI number are charged 75 cents for one or two phone numbers and addresses in the United States. For international directory assistance, the charge is $3.95 per request.

MCI spokesman Paul Luthringer said the cost matches AT&T's directory assistance and adds two new features: The caller doesn't need to know the area code of the person who is to be called. And by dialing an additional "1," the number being sought can be dialed automatically.

But Julie Brill, an assistant attorney general in Vermont, said the service violated federal laws requiring that consumers sign a

Call 776-3654

October already were ahead of the old estimate by $25.8 million. The group forecast the state will collect $11.6 million more during the final seven months of this fiscal year.

"I think the economy is holding its own right now," said state Budget Director Gloria Timmer, a member of the group. "We're doing

"The new administration should have a little flexibility to decide how they want to address the things discussed during the campaign."

Timmer said she has submitted a bare-bones budget outline to the incoming administration, and now that the new consensus figures are written agreement or give a credit card number before they can be billed in connection with "800"

Instead, said papers filed with the FCC, the MCI service in most instances uses "automatic number identification" to bill the incoming "800" call to the phone from which it was placed.

Papers filed with the FCC by MCI argue that directory assistance services are exempted from the law because they are not information services but a "basic common carrier communications service' offered by MCI and others.

Luthringer said automatic number identification was a out, "that gives them additional flexibility.'

The group predicted the state will collect almost $3.29 billion in revenues in its general fund by the end of the current fiscal year. It predicted revenues would grow to almost $3.41 billion in fiscal 1996.

Those figures account for another $19.5 million payment in the settlement of a lawsuit with retired military veterans whose pensions were taxed illegally by the state before 1992.

They also account for a decrease in the mineral severance tax on natural gas, approved by the 1994 Legislature.

consumer convenience because it removed the need for credit card

He noted consumers were told at the start of the call that it would cost 75 cents, and said the "800" number was offered to make access to the service easier. "It's access. It gets you into the store." He said a "900" number was not used because many consumers block calls from their phones to those numbers.

The attorneys general said if MCI were allowed to charge for "800" calls," other illegitimate providers will argue that their 800 number services should also be allowed.

Cancun from

November Special  ♦ Weddings ◆ Bachelor & Bachelorette Parties ◆ Formals ◆ Formal Dinners → Birthdays & Anniversaries → Date Dashes → Buy 1 hour get 1 hour free! Sunday-Thursday $40/hr Friday-Saturday $50/hr Crown Limo Service To Make a Reservation

LASSIFIEDS

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

20 words or less - $5 each word over 20 - $.20 per word

2 DAYS 20 words or less - $6.25 each word over 20 - $.25 per word

3 DAYS 20 words or less - $7.25 each word over 20 — $.30 per word

4 DAYS 20 words or less - $8 each word over 20 - $.35 per word

5 DAYS 20 words or less — $8.50 each word over 20 — $.40 per word (consecutive day rate)

HOW TO PAY

lessifieds must be paid in advance I you have an established account fudent Publications reck, MasterCard or Viss are There is a $10 service charge med checks.

Classified ads must be placed by noon the day before the date you want your ad to run. Classifed display ads must be placed by 4 p.m. two working days prior to the date you want your ad

FREE FOUND ADS

CANCELLATIONS

If you sell your item before your ad has expired, we will refund you for the remaining days.

You must call us before noon the day the ad is to be published.

CORRECTIONS
If you find an error in your ad, pl call us. We accept responsibility to for the first wrong insertiors.

GET THE WORD OUT PLACE YOUR CLASSIFIED AD IN KEDZIE 103

532-6555

OR WRITE
COLLEGIAN CLASSIFIEDS K-State Collegian Kedzie Hall 103 532-7309 Manhattan, Kan. 66506

OFFICE HOURS MONDAY-FRIDAY 8 a.m.-5 p.m. (Except holidays)

Tour Packages

610

BOARD

Announcements

S Financial Aid S

Attention All Students!

Over $5 Billion in FREE Financial Aid is now available for students nationwide from private sector grants & scholarships! All students are eligible regardless of grades, income, or parent's income. For more information, and more information, call: 1-800-959-1605 ext. F57681

50 PERCENT off single sportscards! Just in-'94- '95 Basketball and Hockey. Bases Loaded Sportscards. Poyntz, 537-4141.

ADVANCED FLIGHT Training from 5000-hour ATP instructor. Private ATP multi-engine. Hugh Irvin, 539-3128.

Earn $15 each time you donate

plasma.

MANHATTAN BIOMEDICAL CENTER

1130 Gardenway 776-9177 -Fri. 9 a.m.-6:30 p.m., Sat. 9 a.m.-2 p.m.

COME FLY with us, K-State Flying Club has five air-planes. For best prices call Troy Brockway, 776-6735 after 5:30p.m.

COUNTRY WESTERN or Country Rock, single or 7 For Sauturday nights 6- 9p.m. (plus?). Call (913)293-5737 9a.m.-9p.m. except Sundays, 9a.m. 3p.m., for alco-hol free restaurant per-formance and/ or "Club

PROFESSIONAL PET PHOTOGRAPHS, $19.95 includes $5 donation to Humane Society. Sunday, Nov. 20 at Animal House Pets 210 N. 4th. Call 537-6111 for appoint-

Lost and Found

Found ads can be placed free for three

Personals

We require a form of picture ID (KSU, driv-er's license or other) when placing a per-

YOU- GREEN shirt: Me-Bass Pro T-shirt: talked 11/14 Willard before 3:15 enrollment, need to meet you! RSVP in

Parties-n-More

ADD A splash to your next bash. Great anytime. Birthdays, mid-terms and Wildcat victory par-ties. Wet-N-Wild Mobile Hot Tubs, 537-1825.

ADD AN extra touch of

GET THE WORD OUT. 532-6555

hot tub 537-7587, 539-7561.

HOUSING/ REAL ESTATE

For Rent-Apts. Furnished

AVAILABLE FALL very nice one, two, three and four-bedroom apart-ment complexes and houses. Excellent locations with great prices. 537-1666, 537-2919.

JAN. 1. One-bedrooms in complexes $280- $300. No pets, lease required 587-0399.

ONE-BEDROOM APART-MENT. Close to cam-pus. Available January '95. Hot water and heat-ing free. Rent $230. Call stian, 539-3048.

ONE-BEDROOM FUR-NISHED, one and one-half blocks from cam-pus, carport, $300. Pets on approval. Call M- F, 9-6,537-4720. ONE-BEDROOM, KITCHEN bath, furnished or un-furnished. Close to campus. 537-0687. Leave message. QUIET SURROUNDINGS for study. Campus one mile, one-bedroom, some utilities paid. Min-imum seven month lease, no 537-8389. For Rent-Apt. Unfurnished

1219 KEARNEY. Large two-bedroom, no pets. Wa-ter/ garbage included. Available Jan. 1, $495. Close to campus. 539-5136.

814 THURSTON, studio No pets. Water/ gar-bage included. Avail-able Jan. 1, $275. 539-5136

AVAILABLE FALL very nice one, two, three and four-bedroom apartment complexes and houses. Excellent loca tions with great prices. 537-1666, 537-2919.

AVAILABLE JAN. 1. Two bedroom, $375/ month, plus utilities. No pets. 900 Fremont. Call 900 Fremont. Call 539-7336 for appoint

ONE-BEDROOM BASE MENT apartment. Large bedroom. $240/ month. 1006 Fremont, 587–8568.

ONE-BEDROOM IN Ag-

CAMBRIDGE SQ. APT. 2 BEDROOMS *FIREPLACE *POOL 537-9064 WEEKDAYS

9:00-4:30 $290/ month. Call 537-1587.

ONE-BEDROOMS AVAIL-ABLE at 1026 Sunset. $385- $395: Remodeled units. Central air/ heat. Laundry facilities. Three blocks west of campus. 776-3804.

Available

TWO ROOMS for rent, $160/ month, one-fourth utilities. Close to campus, available im-mediately. Call Laura at 776–4546.

Houses AVAILABLE JAN. through May or July. Furnished six-bedroom house. West- side City Park. Walk to campus.

$950 per month plus electric. 776-6396. NON-DRINKER AND smoker, for two-bed-room place. No pets. References. 539-1554.

n-smokers. No pets.

125

For Sale-

Roommate

AVAILABLE JANUARY

Male non-smoking roommate. $175/ month plus one-third

utilities. Large bed-room, laundry, pool. Close to campus. Call 776-6401.

roommate to share two-bedroom apartment at Woodway. Call 776-4901 leave mes-

FEMALE LOOKING for

FEMALE NEEDED for

FEMALE NON-SMOKING

Colonial 587-0141.

FEMALE

FEMALE

message.

three-bedroom house, $200/ month, one-third utilities, washer/ dryer

close to campus. 776-1890.

roommate wanted.
Two-bedrooms and one-fourth bath of
own. $145/ month plus one-half utilities. Washer/ dryer. Available Jan.

ROOMMATE

needed for spring se-mester. Two-bedroom apartment one block from campus. $215/ month. 587-9431, leave

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted to live at Brit-tnay Ridge. $215/ month, own room, washer/ dryer, dishwasher, two and one-half baths, one-fourth utilities. Available mid-Dec. or Jan. 1. 587-8622.

wanted to share spa cious two-bedroom du-plex near Westloop. Rent $238 plus one-half utilities. Available Dec.

MALE ROOMMATE: three blocks from cam-pus, furnished, dish-washer. $210 plus half utilities. Call 587-9597.

share cozy three-bed-room house. Very close

MALE TO share three-bed

one-third 776-0618.

1. 537-6017.

FEMALE WANTED

FEMALE

ROOMMATE

Wanted

Houses

reserve the right to edit, reject or ty classify any ad.

HEADLINES For an extra charge, we'll put a readline above your ad to catch the reader's attention. DEADLINES

Call 532-6555 to place your classified.

Please call 776-9587 if interested- Leave a

Sublease

FOR SALE: beautifully re-modeled home in cen-tral part of town. Con-venient location. Eu-gene Field School. Call 539-1265 after 5:30p.m. weekdays or after 9a.m. AVAILABLE NOW, nice big two-bedroom balcony, pools, hot tub. West-loop area. Rent $435, weekdays or after 9a.m. water, trash paid. Call Shannon 587-8890.

> EXTREMELY NICE twobedroom apartment. New carpet and floors, deck, one and one-half baths and lots of stor-age Jan. 1- May 31. Sublease. 537-3073.

> FOUR-BEDROOM, TWO bath, available Dec. or Jan. $ negotiable, 587-4120. ONE-BEDROOM APART-

> MENT, one block from Aggieville and campus. First month paid. Start January 1. Leave mes-sage, 537–3596. ONE-BEDROOM APART-MENT with balcony. Within walking distance of campus and Aggieville. No deposit required. Call 537-4768.

> ONE-BEDROOM IN Three bedroom, one and one half bath apartment Two blocks from cam pus, $220. mostly furnished. Move-in after finals or Jan. 1. Amy 776-0293 or 776-7004, Gardens, SPRING SEMESTER, One bedroom furnished, one block from cam-pus, $380/ month. 776-5439 NALE ROOMMATE needed for two-bed-room apartment. Pool included, close to cam-pus. Call 587-4184. pus, $38 776-5439.

SUBLEASE STARTING Dec. 19. Nice one-bedroom apartment; one and one-half blocks from campus! Includes new kitchen appliances; central air; and laundry facility in building. $370 a month (water and trash paid). Call 587-1921.

DIRECTORY

Resume/ Typing

BRING YOUR papers resumes, and projects to life at The Computer Help Desk. Top- quality printing, with graphics if desired. Great stuff at great prices! Call 537-3018.

to campus, utilities in-cluded in rent. Call Jen-nifer or Susannah 537-7872. 225 MALE STUDENT room-mate wanted Jan. 1. $180 per month. Call Brad 537-4186.

Pregnancy Testing Pregnancy Testing Center 539-3338

Located across from

Anderson Village

Mon.-Fri. 9 a.m.-5 p.m.

NISSAN- DATSUN Repai

5p.m. Mon.- Fri.

PROMPT CONTRACEPTIVE

You'll never

Lawrence, (913)841-5716.

Dale L. Clinton, M.D.

Service. 22 years ex-perience. Mazdas, Hon-das and Toyotas also. Auto Craft, 2612 Dipper Lane, Manhattan, Kan-sas. 537-5049. 8a.m.-

Automotive

Repair

255

Other

Services

room, very nice, clean house. Washer/ dryer, dishwasher, etc. Close to campus. Begin Janu-ary. $220/ month plus utilities ·Free pregnancy NON-SMOKER, SHARE house, utilities with responsible mostly male testing Totally confidential household. Large bed-room, laundry, $160. Available Now. 539–2468. Keep trying. Same day results ROOMMATE NEEDED, at Call for appointment

Brittnay Ridge, for sec-ond semester lease. Will pay first months rent. Call 539-5664, ask for Shawn, or leave ROOMMATE WANTED close to campus, washer/ dryer. Available Jan. 1 or sooner. $237.50 us one-half utilities,

ROOMMATE WANTED. Non-smoking male col-lege student needed to share nice two-bedshare nice two-bed-room apartment. About 10 minute walk to campus. Close to Ag-gieville too. $210/ month plus utilities. Sorry, no pets! Lease starts when you move starts when you move in. Call John right away

WANTED NON-SMOKING and non-drinking room mate for basement fur nished private bed-room. Walk to KSU. $150. Share utilities. 539-1554.

WANTED ROOMMATES to share nice four-bed-room house for spring and/ or fall '95 semes-ters call Shauna (776-3130).

WOODWAY APARTMENT know unless you for sublease. Female roommate needed to sublease furnished apartment in January or before. $208/ month try...advertising. COLLEGIAN plus one-third utilities.

EMPLOYMENT/

Help Wanted

CAREERS

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment/Career classification. Readers are advised to approach any such employment opportunity with reasonable caution. The Collegian urges our readers to contact the Better Business Bureau, 501 SE Jefferson, Topeka, KS 66607-1190. [913)232-0454.

$1500 WEEKLY possible mailing our circulars! No experience re-quired! Begin Now! For information call (202)298-8957.

ALASKA EMPLOYMENT-ASKA EMPLOYMENT-Fishing Industry. Earn up to $3000- $6000 plus per month. Room and Board! Transporta-tion! Male/ female. No experience necessary! (206)545-4155 ext. A57682.

ATTENTION STUDENTS: EATH EATH CASH STUDENTS: Earn extra cash stuffing envelopes at home. All materials provided. Send SASE to Central Distributors P.O. Box 10075, Olathe, KS 66051. Immediate re-

COMPUTER NETWORK
ADMINISTRATOR: parttime student position, mostly regular schedmostly regular screen used hours with some emergency troubleshooting hours. Responsible for overseeing 55-computer Macintosh network, including hardware maintenance. hardware maintenance, software backups, and records maintenance. Should be familiar with Macintosh operating systems 6 and 7. Client server networking for an ethernet network. TCP/IP experience a plus. Salary negotiable based on experience. Pick up an application in 113 or 103 Kedzie Application deadline is noon on Tuesday, Nov. 22.

CRUISE SHIPS NOW HIRING. Earn up to $2000 plus/ month working on Cruise Ships or Land-Tour companies. World trav-el (Hawaii, Mexico, the Caribbean, etc.) Seael (Hawaii, Mexico, the Caribbean, etc.) Sea-sonal and full-time employment available. No experience necessary. For more information call (206)634-0468 ext.

KKSU RADIO needs part-time reporter. Must be full-time student. Ex-perience preferred. Call Richard Baker, MACINTOSH TROU-BLESHOOTER: part-time student position, mostly regular sched-uled hours with possi-ble emergency hours. Assists in overseeing 55-computer Macintosh network, including hardware and software troubleshooting and general maintenance. Should be familiar with Macintosh operating systems 6 and 7. Minimum wage to start. Pick up an applications at 113 or 103 Kedzie. Application deadline is noon on Tues., Nov. 22.

NATIONAL PARK
JOBS- Over 25,000
openings! (including
hotel staff, tour guides, etc.) Benefits plus bonussel Apply now for best positions. Call: best positions. Call: (206)545-4804 ext.

NOW HIRING Students to w HIMNG Students to work spring 1995 se-mester fee payment Jan. 9 and 10, 1995. Contact Tammie Camp-bell at 210 Willard Hall.

SKI RESORT JOBS- Hir

ing for many positions for winter quarter. Over 15,000 open-ings! For more information (206)634-0469 ext. SKI RESORT JOBS! Ever wanted to work in the Rockies? For fun and adventure call Ski-Ve-nure (619)683-2300.

STUDENT COMPUTER Op-erator (2nd shift) 10-30 hrs. per week. Must be willing to work hours in-dicated and work every other weekend. Must be enrolled in at least six resident semester hours during spring sehours during spring se-mester and willing to work during student re-cesses and summer resses and summer months. Applications will be accepted until 5:00pm, Nov. 18, in rm. 28 Farrell Library. Undergraduates with employment potential for two years will be given preference.

STUDENTSI WORK even-ings now until Christ-mes break. Four hours/ night, M- F, $5.50/ hour and up. Need good strong phone voice. De-pendable. Randy or Pam 539-2121. m 539-2121.

SUMMER JOBS OUT-DOORS Over 10,000 openings! National Parks, Forests, Fire Crews. Send stamp for free details. Sullivan's 113 East Wyoming, Ka-lispell, MT 59901.

THIRD SHIFT Student Computer Operator: 20 hours per week. Must be willing to work
hours indicated: Tues.
and Thurs. and every other Sat. Must be enrolled in at least six resirolled in at least six resident semester hours during spring semester. Willing to work during student recesses and summer months. Applications will be accepted until 5:00pm, Nov. 18, in room 28 Farstell Library Lindersed. rell Library. Undergrad-uates with employment potential for two years will be given preference.

WAIT PERSONS needed. Apply in person Mon., Wed., Fri. 11-5p.m. at Kickers 2315 Tuttle Creek Blvd.

Opportunities

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment/Career classification. Readers are advised to approach any such business opportunity with reasonable caution. The Collegian urges our readers to contact the Better Business Bureau, 501 SE Jefferson, Topeka, KS 66607-1190. (913)232-0454.

DON'T BE fooled by a GET- RICH- QUICK scheme or ads that MOUNTS. Call Strat ton Enterprises to start our own business in MORE THAN JUST ONE LONG DISTANCE CARRIER. Get paid commission on your commission on your customers usage. Call 1-238-7871. Leave message and phone number. MAKE $3900 first month. Telecommunications Company expanding into area. Needs managers, sales reps, trainers. Small investment regired. Training provided. Call Jeaneane (800)977-6836

MARKET

Wanted to Buy

CHRISTMAS CASH? We buy used Air Jordans 85- 91 editions and late 70's and early 80's. Nike runninng shoes, pay up to $2001 1-800-873-3538

Items for Sale

FOR SALE: 19-inch Sanyo color TV $130. Dee Zee running boards for long bed Chevy pick-up. Best offer. 539–1735. FOR SALE: Gorgeous black formal, size 7, strapless, three-quarter length. Perfect for upcoming Christmas formal or dinner. Reasonable price. Call 539-8870 after 4:30 or leave mes-sage for Cristy. sage for Cristy.

MOTORCYCLE HELMET and cover, both like new. Call after 5p.m. 537-2342.

Antiques

430

TIME MACHINE Antique Maul and Geeb Empori-um, 6000 square feet, antiques, collectibles estate jewelry, furni-ture, 4910 Skyway Dr. four blocks east of Man-

435

Computers

486DX 25 4MEG RAM, 340 MEG hard drive, CD ROM, 14.4 Kbps mo-dem, SVGA monitor, Win 3.11, DOS 6.22, lots of software, 539-5606.

hattan Airport. Open Tues.- Sat. 12- 6p.m. 539-4684.

IBM COMPATABLE com puter with color moni-tor, keyboard, printer and software. Great for papers. $400 or best off-er. Contact Mike at

LAPTOP COMPUTER, Pack-ard Bell 386, 80 hard drive, many extras. Call (913)263-1597. MACINTOSH COMPUT-ER. Complete system including printer only $500. Call Chris at (800)289-5685.

445 Music

ACOUSTICAL- ELECTRI-CAL Bass guitar for sale. $200. 395-4805. 450 E

Pets and

Instruments

Supplies EMERGENCY: PUPPIES and dogs all ages and breeds, desperately need homes immediately or will be destroyed (913)456-2592, (913)494-8415.

PROFESSIONAL PET PHOTOGRAPHS, $19.95 includes $5 donation to Humane So-ciety. Sunday, Nov. 20 at Animal House Pets 4th. 537-6111 for appoint-

Sporting Equipment SALE: solo-Flex, three years old, all attach ments. Excellent condi-tion. Call 539-4680.

Tickets to Buy/Sell TWO KANSAS City Chiefs football tickets for Nov. 20 game. 539-7377.

Leave message WANTED: TWO student Tickets for OSU game Please call 776-4908.

PORTATION

Automobiles

1983 HONDA Accord, fourdoor, automatic, air, stereo, cruise. Excellent condition. Asking $1685. Call 776-3410, leave message 1984 TOYOTA Tercel, two-door. Air conditioner, AM/FM, excellent condi-tion 106K miles. Call Bhavani 587-9584 or Chandran 537-0677. 1986 RED Mazda RX-7 Electric sunroof, new clutch and brakes. 70,000 miles, $5000.

Call 539-2920. 1987 DODGE Aries-K, automatic, four-door, power steering and brakes, AM/FM stereo, air conditioner, 113K plus, excellent condi-tion, $1500 (negotiable) 587-9294.

1991 NISSAN NX 2000. Burgundy color, five-speed manual transmis-sion. AM/FM stereo cassette, fog lights, rear window wiper/ defog-ger, T-top extractable sunroof with remov-able sun shields. 51,000 Spring Intersession 1995 May 15-28 miles (military and home, Georgia, travel). Owner is PCSing to Ko-rea. Price $8000.

rea. Pr 776-1082. SILVER TWO door Honda nice has 58,000 miles fully loaded. 537-3073.

A LOT CAN BE SAID ABOUT A LITTLE BIT OF SPACE: it works

OLLEGIAN

Classifieds

532-6555

DRIVE YOURSELF & SAVE

SOUTH PADRE ISLAND PANAMA CITY BEACH DAYTONA BEACH KEY WEST

VAIL/BEAVER CREEK 1-800-SUNCHASE

h

Research

STEAMBOAT

and Relaxation in London, Bath and the English Countryside

Galleries, theatre, The Tower, Stonehenge, Bath Music Festival

History, Art, Architecture $1,650 from KCI includes everything but lunch. Sign up now to assure 1994 price.

For more detailed information, contact Prof. Diane Dollar, Dept. of Art, 532-1757 or 539-6947, or Prof. Rick Forsyth, Dept. of Landscape Architecture, 532-1093 or 537-0197.

Airplane Tickets

FROM KCI to Las Vegas leaves Wed. 23 comes back Sun. 27. $250 or best offer. Leave mes-sage 776–1930.

ADVERTISING PRODUCTION

Publication Practice IMC 360

Class size is limited so sign up now.

Get training and gain experience while earning one hour of credit this spring. Attend class one day a week from 8:30-11:30 a.m. You pick the day of the week based on availability. The instructor's permission is required. The experience you gain in the spring would qualify you to apply for a paid position in the summer or fall.

> Come to 113 Kedzie 8 a.m.-4 p.m. for more information and syllabus.

CLASSIFIED DIRECTORY

Book intended to help interaction

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 3 enable mothers and daughters to communicate about sexuality issues in a positive manner. Akagi said pregnant teens often tell her they couldn't talk to their mothers about sexuality issues. She for the same reason. "I knew from high school and college that I needed to talk to them," she said.

said she talked to her own sisters

One weekend, when her sisters visited her at Fort Hays State University, Akagi talked with them and realized she should have had the talk with them two years before.

The foreword to "Dear Larissa" was written by K-State sexuality professor, Betsy Bergen.

"The mother's letters to Larissa do not advocate teen sexual intercourse; neither do they say 'just say no.' The message is: sex changes dating and the rules of dating, impressing upon Larissa that her decisions about sexual activity should not be made lightly," Bergen wrote.

For most parents, talking with their kids about values and attitudes concerning growing up, dating, relationships and sex is difficult.

Bergen wrote. Parents are the first and foremost sexuality educators of their daughters, whether they teach poorly or well, or even if the topic is never mentioned aloud.

The book targets girls between the ages of 11 and 17. Akagi said she chose the age range for several reasons.

The younger girls will not understand the more complicated information that doesn't apply to them, she said, but they can get what they need to know about their bodies' developments. Akagi included personal health and hygiene topics as well as sexuality issues in the book. Parents of younger girls may decide to use the book as a reference and then give the book to her later, she said. Teens need to have accurate information on birth control and sexually transmitted diseases, she

The numbers of teens with sexually transmitted diseases is frightening, she said.

"In larger cities, a lot of teens have had intercourse by their freshman year," Akagi said.

Teen-pregnancy rates are increasing in rural areas, too, she

"Dear Larissa" is available at Waldenbooks in the Manhattan Town Center, the Children's Bookstore in Aggieville and the K-State Union Bookstore.

"We've had a lot of really good comments from people who have bought it," Angel Jones, Children's Bookstore employee, said.

Jones said she thought "Dear Larissa" would be a good book for opening communication between parents and their daughters.

Carol Buchheister, also an employee of the Children's Bookstore, said she hadn't sold any copies, but she had read "Dear

"We put it on the shelf because we thought it would be a good book," Buchheister said.

She said she didn't agree with everything the book said, but she thought it could be adapted to the personal beliefs of the parents.

"If you're a parent that's uncomfortable knowing where to start, it gives you a place," Buchheister said.

Akagi also gives presentations on "Love vs. Sex" and "How to Tell the Difference in Dating" and writes a sexuality column, "Talking with Teens.

Akagi is also assistant director of the Shawnee County Teen Pregnancy Prevention program sponsored by the YMCA in

She is working on a book for boys called "Dear Michael," which she is hoping to get published in

Many of the same principles she used in "Dear Larissa" will be used in "Dear Michael," she said.

Since mothers often notice their children developing more quickly than fathers, the mother will be writing the letters to Michael.

Akagi said she will include statements referring the boys to their fathers or other male relatives for advice and answers.

"I'm going to work at knocking down that double standard," she said. "Who are all the guys supposed to be getting the experience from if girls aren't supposed to get the experience?"

Two key points Akagi hopes to make are that it is all right for boys to say no to sex and that relationships are about trust, responsibility and honesty.

Biology students have choice: to pith or not

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 5

cause the heart to beat faster or being in shock makes it goes slower, Zimmerman said. Before frogs can be used in biology labs, they must be pithed, or killed, in order to prepare them for dissection.

Post said there are two methods of pithing a frog.

The first is the blind double pith, in which one quickly inserts a dissecting needle into the frog's head to destroy the brain tissue. Then, the needle is inserted down the spinal column to kill all nerves.

The second method is cutting the frog's head very quickly, and the brain is gone before the frog knows what has happened.

While this procedure allows students to observe a beating heart and watch electrical stimulation of muscles, I feel that this message carries little weight in the careers of nonbiology majors," Dr. Smith said.

Post said she insists staff members who work with the frogs do so in a professional manner and are knowledgeable in the procedure of pithing the

'The only people who pith the frogs are staff who are experienced and comfortable with doing it," Post said. "Most (methods) are extra quick and painless, depending on which you choose.

Post said she doesn't know of any methods that are more humane thAn those the biology department uses.

'The older department professors probably see pithing and frog abuse of this sort as a necessary part of this introductory course," Dr. Smith

The newer faculty might not be too sure of that, Dr. Smith said.

An alternative offered to students who do not wish to partake in the actual dissection of a frog is a plastic-model frog exercise. Post said.

She said if students do not wish to partake in the frog dissection, they are asked to join a group and watch. If they decide they can't take it, they can do the plastic model frog exercise.

Most students change their minds and end up participating in the actual dissection of the frog, she said.

Post said they have a limited amount of computer-simulated frog dissection software, but that it could not replace the real

Some students chose to watch the frogs get pithed.

"I thought it would be interesting because I've never seen it done before," Nikki Wilson, sophomore in athletic training, said. "He cut off his head, and I heard a crunch, and blood went everywhere."

Other students choose not to watch the frogs get pithed.

"I refuse to watch them kill the frogs," Jenny Palmer, sophomore in pre-journalism and mass communications, said. "I think it's kind of cruel."

Dr. Smith said animal rights should be considered when handling the frogs.

"I think that the way we treat animals says a lot about how we might treat our fellow human beings," Dr. Smith said.

"I don't believe that animals have no feelings," Dr. Smith said. "I witnessed male frogs scream when scissor blades were put into their mouths in order to sever their heads."

Special needs met

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1 taught all together in what is called an inclusive classroom, which is required by state laws.

Darci Liston and Holly Pomeroy, both seniors in early childhood education who are student teaching at the lab, said they wanted to be a part of the ELC program because they wanted to work with specialneeds children.

"I wanted that practice and knowledge in how to work with these (special needs) children," Liston said.

Liston said the ECL special needs children have a variety of different conditions, but that many of them are autistic. However, the children don't treat each other differently even if their peers are at different stages emotionally and developmentally, she said. "By having special needs kids at such early ages, the other children are very accepting. They don't know they have a special need or handicap," Liston said. "Most of them don't interact any differently than the normal children. They may not interact as much, but when they do

THURSDAYS

interact, it's pretty much the same," she said.

Pomeroy said working with the special-needs children isn't

"You have to maybe adapt what you're doing, but it's not that different," Pomeroy said. "Basically, you have to do the same things as you do with all kids. You find out what level they're at, and then you do what you can to help them at that level.'

Besides working with specialneeds children, both student teachers are expected to make up a plan for the week's activities.

Pomeroy puts together a language and cognitive activity, and two total group activities, which may be singing or a flannel board lesson, which the kids work on together.

Liston plans out what the children will do during free time, as well as creative art, gross and fine motor activities and sensory and cognitive activities.

"I haven't had any problems, and I'm learning a lot. I have wonderful role models, and I'm learning all the time. I really am a student teacher," Liston said.

THURSDAY NIGHT SPECIALS

Campus infants uncared for said. "Over 30 percent of the people surveyed said they would like to see more child care on Kugler said there are not adequate alternatives to campus provided infant care in the Manhattan community.

"There are three child-care facilities on campus, and none of them offer infant care," Kugler

K-State considers an infant to be any child under the age of 12 months, she said. Kugler said she had a difficult time trying to locate anywhere in Manhattan that offers infant care. "I did find that Kindercare offers infant care, but there are only six openings for infants, and it costs $134 a week," she said. Another possibility for infant care is an in-home provider.

Kugler said, in her experiences, only about one out of five registered or licensed providers will accept infants. licensing "Because of restrictions, they can keep more toddlers than infants," she said. In the past, K-State provided an infant room at the KSU Child Care Facility, Lorna Ford, director of the facility, said.

"We had to close it because it was too costly for the parents,' Ford said.

The room is currently being used as a resource room for teachers, Ford said.

Kugler suggested that the University could provide incentives to students to work as infant care

"Perhaps the University could provide college credit to students who work at the facility, possibly students earning degrees in early childhood studies," Kugler said.

Pat Bosco, dean of student life, would not comment extensively on

"It's unfortunate that we can't be all things to all people," Bosco

Cats attack the competition!

FOOTBALL K-State vs. Oklahoma State

Kick-off is at 1:10 p.m., Don't miss your chance to see the senior football players in their last home game! Please help the K-State football team in helping Farrell Library raise "Bucks for Books"!

WOMEN'S BASKETBALL K-State vs. Puerto Rican National Team The Cats will be hooping it up starting at 6:00 p.m. in Bramlage Coliseum!

VOLLEYBALL K-State vs. Colorado The match-up begins at 7:30 p.m. in Ahearn!

Corporate Sponsors: DL Smith Electrical Contractors Martin Tractor Security Benefit Group of Companies

Here's your charges former Kansas Boys' State Delegates from KSU. You can be a part of the exciting changes

Friday, Nov. 18 7-9 p.m.

Chase Manhattan Apartments Clubhouse Chase & Claffin

Refreshments provided.

For more information, call 537-5035.

ALL-YOU-CAN-EAT

Choose Your Favorite 2 Toppings Your Choice of 1-Topping On Each Sausage • Pepperoni Onion • Green Pepper

KANSAS STATE I.F.G.I.A.

Weekend examines how to buy just the right Christmas

WEATHER - PAGE 2

NOVEMBER 18, 1994

KANSAS STATE UNIVERSITY, MANHATTAN, KANSAS 66506

VOLUME 99B, NUMBER 64

Jane Alexander, chairwoman of the National Endowment for the Arts, answers questions from the press in a newly renovated dressing room at the Columbia Theatre in Wamego. Alexander will have visited all 50 states by the end of the year. Kansas is the 47th state she had visited since she was sworn in last October. During her tour. Alexander is local, public and private funding partnerships for the arts.

seeking examples

affect the lives of exploring avenues

for strengthening of how the arts

citizens and is

federal, state,

National leader visits art center

Columbia Theater honored with visitor, speech

CHRISTI WRIGHT

Collegian Five years of hard work and a lot of money resulted in the renovated Columbia Theater for Wamego - last night, the community was honored with the presence of the leader in the national arts community.

Jane Alexander, the chairwoman of the National Endowment for the Arts, visited Wamego last night in a public town meeting on her tour of the United States promoting the arts.

Alexander came to Wamego to visit the Columbia theater, which is heavily funded by grants from the NEA, and to speak to the community members who have worked for several years to get the Columbia project off the ground.

"This is such an honor to have Jane Alexander here, considering the theater has only been open 10 days now," Terry Thibodeau, executive director of the Columbia, said.

This is Alexander's first trip to Kansas, and she said that it made her think of the song "Home on

"You just can't help but feel at home on the great plains. There's no place like home, and there's no place like Kansas," Alexander with the Columbia project in Wamego from the beginning. Along with the Kansas Arts Commission, the theater has received around $125,000 in grants. The commission also provided advice, personal counseling and support, Thibodeau said. The NEA supports the arts nationwide and has given a great deal of Kansas projects.

"The NEA has given about 85 grants to Kansas totaling $4.3 in the last five years," she said. The money the NEA gave the Columbia went to the murals from the 1893 World's Fair in Chicago. "I think they (the murals) are remarkable. I haven't seen anything like them in America," Alexander said.

Alexander proudly spoke of the grants the NEA has given to groups. Even though the organization has supported some controversial artwork, overall, the NEA has a good-looking record,

"We have given 120,000 grants in the past 29 years, and less than 40 of them have caused problems. No other agency could match that ratio, certainly not the Defense Department," she said.

One audience member expressed concern to Alexander about some controversial art and questioned the NEA's method of choosing what groups to sponsor.

Alexander said some of the art

The NEA has been involved was offensive to some people, but said the organization must embrace the whole art project.

"We try to find only the best. We realize that we will offend people sometimes, and I'm sorry," Alexander said.

The goal of the tour is to promote the NEA and its projects because the image of the NEA has been skewed by the media, she

"The media focused on the few controversies, not the 900,000 good projects. We wanted people to know that we're not funding dirty art," she said.

Alexander also stressed the importance of art in the education process.

"I think the arts are a good .investment in education. If you teach a child to draw, you teach them to see," Alexander said. "If you teach a child music, you teach them to listen. If you teach a child to read and write, they learn the metaphors of present and past societies.'

She said that in her experience in theater in school, she received the encouragement and became motivated to continue her career as an actress. "It gave me the skills necessary for the life I lead today," Alexander said.

Alexander had a fulfilling career as an actress before she was nominated by President Clinton for the Chairman of the NEA in "The Great White Hope," an Emmy Award for "Playing for Time" and a Circle Award for her portrayal of Eleanor Roosevelt in the film "Eleanor and Franklin: The White House Years." She also appeared in 40 films and over 100 plays.

Alexander is currently touring the country, promoting the NEA's role in the art community.

The NEA's tour has brought Alexander to 47 states in the country. She plans to visit all 50 states and the six provinces by the end of the year.

One of the goals of the tour includes turning around the image of the arts. The government can't cure society's ills, but it can support and encourage the arts in America, Alexander said.

The second goal is to bring the best art to the people, she said. The NEA is promoting the people to become activists for the arts. The people are the key to a community's renewal. Community projects, like the Columbia, bring the town together and spark an interest in the people. This theater is a community builder that gets everybody to work together. And don't forget the volunteers - they're the backbone of the project, she said.

"Art is a part of America's renewal," Alexander said.

"You all should be very proud to be a part of an organization that 93. does so much for the She received a Tony Award for community."

► PARKING SERVICES

Evening permits a misunderstanding

JENNIFER PETERSON

No, parking fans, Parking Services will not pursue the issue of evening-parking permits. It was all a misunderstanding.

"The information leak about night-parking permits came out of a sub-committee meeting," Dwaine Archer, director of parking and fire safety, said.

Archer said the sub-committee was simply exploring ideas to enhance badly needed revenue, and the suggestion of evening-parking permits was thrown out.

"Somehow, that information got out of that committee and went somewhere else," Archer said.

After researching the issue, Archer said that he discovered that there are approximately 400 students that only attend classes in the evening

"We're talking about 400 students, and that would be roughly only $3,000," Archer said.

"It's not worth it," he said.

The idea of implementing a night-parking permit was so daytime users would not have to incur the cost of people parking at night, John Lambert, director of public safety, said.

"Our budget is hurting," Lambert said.

He said that the new parking lot at the Chester E. Peters Recreation Complex will cost Parking Services $150,000 next summer.

"We're chronically being drained of our resources," Archer

"Our budget has to absorb the costs of keeping the lots in good shape, equipped with cameras and snow removal," Lambert said.

He said that K-State does not receive any money from the state for parking.

Lambert said the only money Parking Services receives is from the purchase of parking permits and for misuse fees. 'No matter if you're talking about a parking garage or a shuttle service, it's going to cost," Archer

"If you want to play, you've got to pay," he said.

Concerned students packed themselves into Union 205 to voice their opinions about the parking situation.

Parking fees and the availability of parking were also discussed.

"I don't want to pay more money for my parking spot,' Shawn Harris, junior in electrical engineering, said.

"Our problems all boil down to the same thing - insufficient parking," Rawlings Racey, senior in medical technology and microbiology, said. Vickie Choitz, senior in political science and secondary education, said that there is generally poor student attendance at the meetings. "If students want to have a voice, they need to start showing up at these meetings," Choitz said. Also addressed at the Parking Services meeting was the issue of long-term meter parking. We were only considering longer-term meter parking outside the residence halls," Archer said. Archer said that long-term meters were not being considered for the Union parking lot. Even after extensive parking surveys and studies, Archer said that the parking situation is not improving. "We've done something, but I feel like we're spinning our wheels in mud," Archer said. "It's time to get something done," he said.

Student Senate denies Cessna Rec privileges

Collegia

SALINA - Student senators exercised their debate skills as they considered whether to support the use of the Chester E. Peters Recreation Complex by Cessna employees.

Student Senate decided to oppose use of the Rec Complex by Cessna employees during Thursday night's meeting in Salina.

The resolution passed by Student Senate will be delivered to the Recreational Services Council for their consideration.

Under the current agreement, Cessna employees would be able to use the Rec Complex for $76 per month for a three-person membership.

Mark Tomb, arts and sciences senator, said this agreement also waives the $500 amount charged alumni to use the Rec Complex.

"It upsets me that we, as alumni, have to pay to use facilities after we have paid money here," Brenda Halinski, graduate senator, said. "Letting Cessna use the Rec does not send a good message to Patrick Carney, arts and sciences senator, said he favors opening the Rec Complex to Cessna employees because of the partnership between Manhattan and K-State. He said the health of Manhattan is tied to the health of K-State. "Let me be crystal clear. I want Cessna in Manhattan," Trent LeDoux, agriculture senator said. 'My concern is that students are being used as a bargaining chip."

The resolution opposing the use of the Rec Complex by Cessna employees passed in a 39-15 roll-

In other business, Michele Meier, Parking and Campus Safety Committee chair, said the administration is no longer considering night-parking permits.

■ See SENATE Page 8

Successful alternative concert ensures additional show for the spring

AMY ZIEGLER Collegian

The success of the recent Live/Weezer concert ensures that another alternativemusic band will rock Manhattan during the spring semester.

The Union Program Council Eclectic Entertainment Committee broke even on the Live/Weezer concert, and as a result, committe members say they will deliver more alternative music to K-State.

The Live concert wasn't good — it was exceptional," Sean Beaver, UPC vice president of membership and sophomore in construction science, said.

Beaver said seeing the swarm of people rush toward the stage during Weezer's performance of the "Sweater Song" demonstrated Manhattan's need for alternative music.

"It showed how much more Manhattan wants a live-music scene," Beaver said. The students are starved for it.

Melissa Wells, chairman of the Eclectic Entertainment Committee, said her mission is to get more alternative music in Manhattan. "I'm trying to bring in a different kind of music scene. There's a lot of country here, so we've tried not to book any country acts," Wells said.

Wells said the committee is considering booking a band named Life in General for the spring concert.

Wells saw the alternative band at the National Association of College Activities, and she said she was impressed. "They were one of the coolest bands there," Wells said. Wells said the band features three musicians who switch around instruments such as bongo drums, acoustic guitars, a harmonica and electric guitars.

Life in General describes its music as happy, aggressive folk-pop.

Life in General has recently released a compact disc titled "Long Forgotten Toys," and the band's music has been compared to Toad the Wet Sprocket and the Gin Blossoms.

The committee is also considering co-sponsoring a jazz festival with the K-State jazz club, New Currents, and scheduling local bands to perform at two other rock concerts next semester.

Wells said the committee would like to bring in well-known bands, but the cost involved in the booking and production is an obstacle.

"People can't understand why we can't bring in bands like Pearl Jam, but it depends on the record sales. Music is expensive to bring here," Wells said.

Wells said that UPC brought in Live for $9,000, and if it can book Big Head Todd and the Monsters or Toad the Wet Sprocket for less than $10,000, they will consider them for the spring semester.

Annie Gilliam, UPC program adviser, said UPC should bring in a band that does not play in cities surrounding Manhattan.

"The key to having something successful is making sure the band is not making a stop in Lawrence or Wichita," Gilliam said.

Wells said the committee is not only deciding on what bands to bring in but also where the bands will perform in Manhattan.

Beaver said he would like to use Memorial Stadium for the spring concert and Bramlage Coliseum as a backup if it rains. Wells said she would also like the concert to be outdoors, but she is concerned about the security.

NEWS BRIEFS

▶ RECRUITMENT OF ADOPTIVE FAMILLIES NEEDS IMPROVEMENT IN KANSAS

TOPEKA (AP) - A task force on adoption has concluded that Kansas needs to do a better job of recruiting adoptive families.

Donna Whiteman, secretary of social and rehabilitation services, told a legislative committee on Thursday that the pool of potential adoptive families for children in state custody is inadequate.

Whiteman, testifying before the Joint Committee on Children and Families, cited the increased number of families with both parents working as one of the reasons for the shrinking number of adoptive

The recommendation for better recruiting was contained in a preliminary draft of the Governor's Adoption Reform Task Force's report. The task force is studying ways to streamline adoptions to reduce the time children are kept in temporary foster homes before going into permanent homes.

"For successful placements, an adequate pool of appropriately trained families needs to be available," Whiteman said. "Time is of the essence for children."

The report suggested that grants be made available to agencies, corporations and other public groups so that they can recruit families.

Whiteman said the task force also concluded the state should make it easier for relatives uncles, aunts, grandparents - to assume responsibility for children.

"Families should be involved in the decision making," Whiteman

Most children in custody of the state are there because their parents are abusive or addicted to drugs, Whiteman said. At any one time, about 800 children are in state custody because their mothers and fathers no longer have parental rights, she said.

Whiteman said reform of the adoption system is necessary to prevent children from being lost in the system.

"Once in the child-welfare system, it is not unusual for a child to be moved frequently," Whiteman said. "The temporary nature of foster care offers these children little security during very important formative years."

The 21-member Adoption Reform Task Force was formed in April. Its chairman is Howard Fricke, chief executive officer of Security Benefits Group of Companies.

The task force also recommended that the Legislature pass measures that would give adoptive families current information on available medical and mental-health services for adopted children, provide families with more post-adoption support services and promote expansion of adoption services in underserved, rural areas.

► HAITIANS LIVING ILLEGALLY IN UNITED STATES READY TO BE DEPORTED

MIAMI (AP) - With the return of Haitian President Jean-Bertrand Aristide, the United States is ready to resume deporting Haitians who are living in this country illegally, The Miami Herald reported.

The Immigration and Naturalization Services stopped repatriating such refugees a year ago, saying deportation would resume once the violence on Haiti's streets stopped.

"Now that Aristide has returned to power, there is no reason to not deport those with final orders," INS representative Lemar Wooley said.

Thousands of U.S. soldiers landed in Haiti in September to help restore the elected government of Aristide, ousted in a 1991 coup.

The INS has not officially changed its policy, but word spread after a Haitian was detained for deportation when he stopped by an INS office to ask a question. An estimated 100,000 Haitians, legal and illegal, live in South Florida.

Haitian advocates call the decision premature.

"There is still repression in Haiti," said Steven Forester, supervising lawyer for the Haitian Refugee Center. "There are still people being killed. It just makes more sense to continue the moratorium for a reasonable period of time to see if repression significantly diminishes."

The INS won't deport anyone without reviewing each case and without approval from headquarters in Washington, D.C., and will only detain refugees as they come to agents' attention, Wooley said.

"We're not going to start rounding them up in the street," he said.

► NEW INSURANCE COMMISSIONER WANTS SUGGESTIONS FOR IMPROVEMENT

TOPEKA (AP) - Insurance Commissioner-elect Kathleen Sebelius announced she will conduct a listening tour of the state, with stops in six cities.

Sebelius said she wants individuals and business representatives to offer suggestions to improve the Insurance Department's consumer

She said she would like to identify the problems people encounter frequently with insurance compa-

At 9 a.m. on Nov. 28, Sebelius will be at the Roeland Park Community Center, at Central Park Pavilion at Chanute at 1:30 p.m. and at North High School Auditorium in Wichita at 7 p.m.

She will conduct a press conference at 8:30 a.m. on Tuesday, Nov. 29 at the Sedgwick County Courthouse.

She will then have public meetings at 10 a.m. that same day at the Mennonite Friendship Manor in Hutchinson, at 2 p.m. at the Garden City Senior Center and later at 5 p.m. at the Hays Public Library.

LICE REPORTS

These reports are taken directly from the daily logs of the K-State and Riley County Police departments. Because of space constraints, not all crimes are listed.

K-STATE POLICE

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 17 At 9:56 a.m., Pam Griffin,

Shellenberger Hall, reported a slashed tire on a state van. Damage was reported at approximately $100.

At 10:01 a.m., a gray Honda was wheellocked in Lot A-24 for

At 11:04 a.m., Nellie Veracruz reported a burglary theft at Throckmorton 1018D. Taken was $25 cash from a wal-

RILEY COUNTY POLICE

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 16

At 8:18 p.m., a suspiciousactivity report was filed at Sunset Cemetery. Mike Moeller, cemetery sexton, reported nine vehicles pulled into the cemetery. The subjects told the investigating officer they were on a scavenger hunt, and they found what they were looking for.

At 11:12 p.m., an employee of Mini Mart, 301 Riley in

Ogden, reported a subject

At 12:06 a.m., a battery was without paying. Loss was $3.01.

pumped gasoline and drove off

At 11:43 p.m., loud music was reported at 1430 Watson Place, Apt. 6. An officer met with the subjects, who complied with the officer's request.

At 11:56 p.m., loud music was reported at 1800 Platt St., above Apt. 4. An officer met with the residents; who complied with the officer's request.

TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 15

reported by Pam Williams, 5920 Zeandale Road. The caller reported her boyfriend was battered and driving a white Dodge truck. The officer made contact with the victim, who declined to

At 12:21 a.m., loud music was reported at 1800 Platt St., Apt. 9. It was the second call. Responding officer said the music was not on, and the party was breaking up.

CAMPUS BULLET

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Grade reports for the fall 1994 semester will be mailed to students' permanent addresses on Dec. 21. Any changes to permanent addresses need to be done by 5 p.m. Dec. 16 in the Registrar's Fall 1994 grades will be available on transcript Jan. 3. Fall 1994 candidates for degrees should clear the University delinquencies before Jan. 6. Fall 1994 degrees are available on transcipt Jan. 6. Fall 1994 undergraduate diplomas will be mailed to non-delinquent graduates between Jan. 16 and Jan. 20.

Applications for Who's Who Among Students at American Colleges and Universities are now available in the Office of Student Activities and Services. Deadline is today.

Eleven stalls in Lot A-17, and 15 stalls in Lot A-29, the K-state Union metered-parking lot, will be closed today. The information booth will be closed Wednesday.

BULLETINS

- KSU Women's Union will meet at 8 p.m. Sunday in Union
- SPURS will meet at 4 p.m. Sunday in front of the Union.
- The last oral defense of Haobo Jiang's dissertation is scheduled for 9 a.m. Monday in Chemistry/Biochemistry 437.

The Kansas State Collegian (USPS 291 020), a student newspaper at Kansas State University, is published by Student Publications Inc., Kedzie Hall 103, Manhattan, Kan., 66506. The Collegian is published weekdays during the school year and once a week

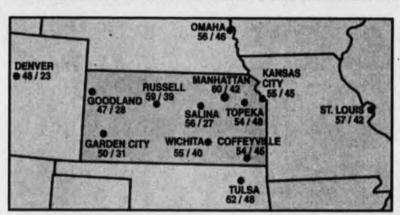

class postage is paid at Manhattan, Kan., 66502. POSTMASTER: Send address changes to Kansas State Collegian, circulation desk, Kedzie 103, Manhattan, Kan. 66506-7167.

O Kansas State Collegian, 1994

WEATHE

YESTERDAY'S HIGHS AND LOWS

Mostly sunny with a chance of rain at night, possibly turning to snow in the northwestern part of the state.

TODAY I

Sunny with a high around 60 and a low around 30.

TOMORROW

A 30-percent chance for showers late in the day, otherwise cloudy. Highs around 40.

If you

canned goods, toiletries, or

household products, to the

homeless through the

Collegian, you will receive

THANKS

and $1 off any classified ad in the Collegian through the end

of December.

Contributions go to Manhattan Emergency Shelter and Flint Hills Breadbasket

Bring items to the Student Publications Inc. office in Kedzie 103

▶ CAMPUS

Changes in store for biology course, dissections

"We are going to present a series of options to him. For all we know, they may choose to keep the course the same."

> STEVE UPTON Associate professor

New director plans to revise class format

AMY ZIEGLER

Computerized dissections and lecture sections may possibly lie in the future of Principles of Biology.

A committee of six biology professors has been working to renovate the course since Brian Spooner took over as the director of the division of biology this semester.

The course has been designed in the same format for 25 years, and the committee is exploring other options for organizing the

"The committee was formed because Principles of Biology is in need of work," Steve Upton, associate professor of biology, said.

"The auto-tutorial system is getting very outdated, and we are now trying to decide what the future will be for the course.'

The committee plans to propose a document outlining the costs and details of the new course design to Spooner by the end of the fall semester, Upton

"We are going to present a series of options to him. For all we know, they may choose to keep the course the same," he said.

Zimmerman, John professor of assistant biology, said he thinks the philosophy of the course won't change because the AT lab is the most effective way for students to learn.

'It allows students to go at their own pace and spend time to complete certain clearly defined objectives," Zimmerman said.

Upton said three of the options the committee is considering are breaking the course into lecture and recitation sections, building a computer system and using a combination of tapes and 'We are looking at all the options and costs involved and the pros and cons of each," Upton said.

He said if the department decided to have a complete computer system, around 50 computers would have to be purchased for a total cost of $100,000 to $150,000.

The department would also have to come up with funding for the yearly maintenance of the computer lab, Upton said.

One advantage of setting up the course on computers, he said, is that it will expand the learning opportunities for the students.

The students would be required to do outside lab work, but they also could view text, videos and dissections on the computer.

Upton said a computer program exists on the Internet that allows a person to visually peel off a frog's muscles and examine the internal skeleton.

"There are a lot of free biology programs on the information superhighway," Upton said.

Zimmerman said he doesn't think performing dissections on a computer would be an appropriate experience for the students.

'We don't do pictures we do the real thing," he said, "Computer dissection is really abstract, but abstract ideas can be supported with concrete evidence.

Upton said if the lecture format is set up, it will cut down on the expenses.

"In a large lecture, the cost involved will be minimalized because the department wouldn't have to purchase any major new equipment," Upton said.

He said a lecture section of 200 to 400 students would also be more familiar to the students than using the computers.

One of the problems with setting up the lecture course is the unavailability of room in Ackert Hall, he said.

"We only have half a dozen lecture halls. We're running out of room quickly," Upton said.

David Rintoul, associate professor of biology, said another concern about revamping the biology course is obtaining the funds. Rintoul said only 20 percent of the costs of running the University come from tuition.

"The Legislature of the state is not about to give us that kind of money. We are going to find some other way to attract outside money, Rintoul said.

Zimmerman also said the state funds will not help finance the course.

"The state is not going to education," support Zimmerman said.

► CAMPUS

Vet med proposes health center

HOLLY CHEGWIDDEN

K-State's College of Veterinary Medicine is proposing a center to study good health and management of food and Management would be directed by Jerry Gillespie, former head of clinical sciences at the College of Veterinary Medicine.

The Center for Food Animal Health

The proposed center includes research and post-graduate education in the health and management aspects of food animals from conception to consumption, Gillespie said.

"The creation of the center will have a positive contribution to economic impact in Kansas," said Ronald Marler, dean of the College of Veterinary

"It's an opportunity to reach out to constituents of the state of Kansas and the north-central region of United States, in addressing their research needs," he said.

The center still needs to be approved by the Kansas Board of Regents, Gillespie said.

He said he is confident that the center will be approved.

Most of this academic year will be used to convince the regents, legislators and citizens of Kansas that this center is the right thing to do, he said.

Gillespie said no other veterinary college has the number of livestock surrounding it as K-State does.

"In order to compete, we must be the very best in something," he said.

That something in this area, Gillespie said, is beef cattle.

Bob Krause, vice president of institutional advancement, said the University is trying to pull together to focus on food animal production as a priority at the vet school.

Gillespie said that faculty is an important factor to go with the program. Faculty will be appointed for one year to work in the center on a trial basis.

If the faculty performs well, they will continue to work at the center, he said.

highly qualified faculty and graduate students," Marler said.

The initial thrust of the center will be in research, Gillespie said. Preharvest food safety will be the focus.

We will be working with farmers and ranchers to help assure that good beef and other food animals leave their farm," Gillespie said.

He said the center wants to serve the community by finding the best way to handle animals and also environmental aspects that affect the safety of food animals. Gillespie said the farmers and ranchers in Kansas will participate in the research as well.

After the research program is started, then the graduate and post-doctorate education curriculum will be developed, he said. So far, Gillespie said the center has no funding commitments yet.

After the regents approves the program, then the search for funding will begin, he said.

The-projected budget for the center is estimated at $1.5 million per year, "The center allows us to recruit Gillespie said.

NAME BOARD OF REGENTS

Regents recommends evaluations

The top issues on the Kansas Board of Regents agenda Thursday were faculty evaluations and a shortfall in tuition revenue.

In 1990, the regents raised questions about tenure, posttenure review and merit evaluations.

Due to continuing concerns about the meritevaluation process, a task force was formed to examine the annual review of merit.

After hearing a description of campus practices, the regents made recommendations for a system to evaluate faculty.

Included were the recommendations that all campuses ensure that each college develop a plan to financially recognize faculty

The regents also suggested that each campus define chronic low performance and examine dismissal policies to include chronic low performance as an indicator of incompetence.

Dianna Konerner, faculty senate president at Fort Hays State University, said the faculty senate presidents of the regents schools were in agreement with the document in its latest draft, except for item No. 6.

"It dealt with the situation of identifying faculty receiving zero to 1 percent for three consecutive years with regards to merit, like zero to I percent merit," Konerner said.

The merit scale is based on the regents granting wage increases to the regents

FROM IVAN REITMAN, THE DIRECTOR OF "GHOSTBUSTERS," "TWINS" AND "DAVE."

SCHWARZENEGGER DEVITO

schools. The increases are then taken and divided by the various universities into different wage increases for the professors at those universities.

The wage increases are supposed to be divided by merit, with each professor having to prove his or her If the regents grants no wage increase for one year, then increase wages by I percent for the next two years, all the professors would fall under the criteria to be reevaluated.

She said if they only get 2 percent every year, half the faculty on the average would get below the 1 percent.

"That provides us with what we feel is meaningless information," she said.

■ See GRANTING Page 8

31 Moro • 776-7373

ay Streetsmart, Shop Streetside

4 A D

20 Best Sellers on sale every day $10.88<sub>cds</sub>, state of the art technology.

DUE WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 23RD AT A THEATRE NEAR YOU.

CAMPUS EDITOR.....J.R. Prather A&E/FEATURES EDITOR .. Andrew Tomb SPORTS EDITOR ...... Wess Hudelson GRAPHICS EDITOR ...... Sara Smith COPY CHIEF ...... Robin Kickhaefer CITY-QOV. EDITOR.....Lola Shrimplin ASST. SPORTS EDITOR...Jeremy Crabtree ASST. PHOTO EDITOR...Mark Leffingwell

AD MANAGER ..... Ryndell Little ASST. MANAGER.....Ted Ellet SALES MANAGER ..... Jim Stothard TEARSHEETS MGR... Ivonne Zaldumbide NEWS ADVISER...... Ron Johnson AD ADVISER ......Gloria Freeland

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

IN OUR OPINION

By the Collegian Editorial Board

Students overcome apathy with meeting

Students spoke out at a parking meeting and stopped a parking idea.

K-Staters now have a solid reason to voice their opinions to try to change their campus.

It works.

Thanks to students, Parking Services will not be changing the nightparking situation for the worse. Parking Services was considering making people pay to park at night and making drivers plug meters around the clock. Now all that has been thrown out - all thanks to the students who cared enough to come to the meeting and say what they thought about it.

That kind of student initiative is hard to come by. In this era when we have no wars to protest, it's easy to think that everything is OK and that yelling about the little things would be a waste of time. But that's not true.

CHRISTY

LITTLE

K-State has a problem with student apathy. The pitiful voter turnout for the last student election proves that. What K-Staters need to realize is that they can effect change if they speak up. All it takes is an effort.

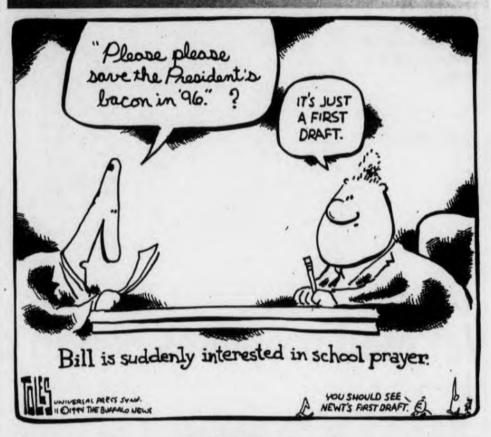

One of the main gripes on campus is the establishment doesn't care about the needs and wants of students. If nobody makes their opinion known, nobody will listen. It's as simple as that.

Apathy has hurt us before, from Union enhancement to the wall being torn down. If we want something, we have to say so. When we do it, often, it

▶ GUEST

TEPHENS

TOLES

Benches, lobbying not our suggestions

his week, I've heard puzzled voices everywhere. I've heard them in my house, at the newsroom, in the classroom. Sometimes, I feel like I'm hearing things.

"Benches?" the voices mumble. "Benches?" Give a normally responsible committee $17,000 to play with, and it thinks of benches. The actual name for this plan is the Chester E. Peters Campus Enhancement Project. It will use $7,500 of our $17,000 overcharge toward building seating areas around the sundial located in the quad in the middle of Farrell Library and Waters, Cardwell, Willard and Leasure halls. That way, you can sit and enjoy a peaceful, quiet morning right next to the bulldozers that are digging a hole to China right by the quad.

Look downward to your left, and you can actually see China. Or, you can look straight ahead at the orange tape, and if you lean over a bit and squint, you can probably read the "WARNING: ASBESTOS" signs along Lafene Health Center. This will make for a much more pleasant outside seating area than the benches by Cardwell Hall (which is mere yards away), and the ones by Eisenhower and Denison halls, also in extraordinarily close proximity to the new benches.

Not only does the Student Affairs and Social Services Committee know we need these new benches, it also knows we need them right now in order to beautify our campus, because a new seating area will hide the fact that construction has created some five or six gigantic holes on campus that look as though God dropped a freight train on it.

The rest of the money in this proposal has been somewhat reasonably allocated. Student Body President Jeff Peterson will receive $8,000 for his Access the Future campaign an attempt to keep tuition down for future K-Staters. Finally, a president set on following through on a campaign promise! But it's too bad the money for his campaign can't come from whatever sources he thought he could get it from before this whole overcharge dilemma came up. It is not really Peterson's money. It's for us.

Of that huge chunk of money, the committee set aside a measly $1,556 for bike racks, the only student suggestion that made the committee's cut. I would actually contribute to the bike racks, because it's something students want (and need).

CHRISTY LITTLE 66 Tt's the I quality of the suggestions, not the quantity, that matter.

It's our money, and we should get what we want. Maybe the Student Affairs and Social Services Committee didn't get as many suggestions as it liked, but it's the quality of the suggestions, not the quantity, that matter. And there were some quality suggestions. If this passes, I really hope all the student senators who voted for it will be sure to add in their campaign platform during elections that they voted to spend this $7,500 on park benches instead of safety measures, self-defense programs, lights, tutoring (I'll never let it go!), an indoor study area in the library. What about all those things? Did the committee forget what the students wanted?

Did even one student here request for more park benches? The final decision on these allocations for our $17,000 will be Dec. 1. Students, call your senators about this and tell them what it is you really, really want, because I think they missed the message. And committee members, a message for you: we didn't vote you in so you could spend our money on park benches or other pet projects. You can put an end to

If it passes, I welcome everyone to join me when I go to the Student Governing Association office and ask for my 50 cents back.

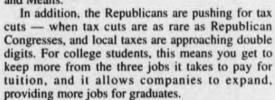

Christy Little is a junior in secondary education.

merous theories for GOP takeover

After the most peaceful transfer of power since 1992 (i.e. the 1994 elections), many students, like myself, are probably wondering what happened, and more importantly, why it happened. By staying informed throughout Election

Day, I learned that the Republicans had gained the majority in Congress. The last time they did this was 1954.

At this point, I asked the very logical question, "So what?" So I educated myself, as I encourage you to do, and I learned that the Republicans not only took control of Congress, but that the entire Kansas delegation is Republican and arguably the most well-placed with Bob Dole, Nancy Kassebaum and Pat Roberts in senior positions and Sam Brownback on the fast track for a seat on Ways and Means.

Possessing an inquiring mind, I wanted to know why an event as rare as a funny episode of the cartoon strip "Blondie" occurred. For obvious reasons, I turned to the media to find out. However, the media's explanations didn't add up, so I decided to think for myself. I found that the best theories put forth by the media to date are: the Anti-incumbent Theory, the Talk-Show Theory, the Angry-White-Men Theory, the Clinton-Factor Theory, and the ever-popular Alien Theory. These are all legitimate theories, even though the last one was developed by a janitor at an obscure tabloid after recovering from severe ammonia inhalation.

According to the Anti-Incumbent Theory, voters got tired of re-electing someone who signed the Constitution, and thus, elected a new face, oblivious to the fact that this meant sending home the senior leadership of Congress and the pork spending that goes with it. The big problem with this theory is that not a single Republican incumbent lost. Every incumbent loser was a Democrat, and not even Dan Rostenkowski could rally enough dead voters in Chicago to keep his seat. In addition, not a single pro-life candidate, whether Democrat or GOP, lost in any congressional or gubernatorial race, flying in the face of every current poll on this issue.

The Talk-Show Theory originated in the newspapers and on television in response to the rapidly growing audience of talk radio in an attempt to curtail this trend. It states that Americans are learning too much from talk radio, which makes them uninformed voters. This theory quickly shoots itself in the foot.

The Angry-White-Men Theory was recently put forth by USA Today. In essence, it states that a bunch of white men watched reruns of C-Span and read old issues of Newsweek until they were foaming at the mouth, and then went to vote for Republicans. However, when I went to vote, everyone I saw was very calm and collected, and not a single voting place had to call for a police back-up to deal with angry voters, so this theory does not agree with observed data.

The Clinton-Factor Theory proposes the election was a backlash against Clinton for either not doing enough or doing too much. What he has or hasn't done is irrelevant until 1996, at which time, he will take credit for everything he has done and some things he hasn't. However, many Democrats that sided with Clinton did lose. This has to do with legislation that individual candidates voted for or

The Alien Theory received no attention from the press, mostly to the fact that it was developed by an obscure tabloid. It states that because of reasons beyond the comprehension of humans, aliens took over the world on Nov. 8, voted and brainwashed everyone so no one would remember it happened, and went home laughing while watching the returns on CNN. Right. And Roseanne Arnold is going to raise O.J.'s kids with Elvis.

Now that we have approached the absurd, what did happen in the elections? What happened in the elections cannot be documented by exit polls, charts, graphs or scientific research. When people go to the polls, they make an individual decision based on what they think is the best course for the country, no matter how uninformed, misguided or disadvantaged they are. The election indicates that voters want a Re-deal on the New Deal.

After 70 years of "Government knows best," beginning with FDR and his restructuring of government, there are still the same number of poor, uneducated and disadvantaged people at the cost of making everyone else poorer (taxes), more uneducated (the public-school system), and disadvantaged (the welfare state).

If we have learned anything during the past 70 years, it is that the best government is less of it, which is the message that the Republicans brought to the people.

Jeremy Stephens is a sophomore in business.

READERS WRITE

Drop letters off at Kedzie 116 or send them to Letters to the Editor, c/o John Meirowsky, Kansas State Collegian, Kedzie 116, Manhattan, KS 66506. We accept letters by e-mail also. Our address is letters@spub.ksu.edu. Letters should be addressed to the editor and include a name, address and phone number. A photo identification will be necessary for hand-delivered letters.

SUGGESTIONS

Take it out of the Collegian

Let me make a suggestion. There are no doubt countless folks reading the Collegian letters' page who have strong opinions on both sides of the abortion issue. Why don't we move this discussion away from the precious space in the Collegian that needs to be reserved for discussions that stand a chance of being dealt with and producing some light, and not just heat. Not that discussion of abortion isn't important, or that people's opinions are irrelevant, I just think that it would be much more productive if we didn't take up time and space by printing all these letters on the letters page.

A couple of years ago, the pro-choice and prolife groups on campus sponsored a discussion. Both sides were presented, and an open dialogue followed. I found it very helpful, and I think it would be a good time to try it again.

Andrew Burden senior in psychology

ADMISSIONS

Slackers aren't ready for college

In a letter in last week's Collegian, Lee Parker states that we should fight to keep Kansas' open-admissions policy. The policy is bad. It basically means anyone with a highschool diploma can attend any university in Kansas with low grades or ACT scores.

A high-school student can slack off, graduate with a D average and still be admitted into K-State. Then when they are here, of course, they are academically unprepared. College can be challenging even for those who worked hard in high school. For those who didn't (and I bet this includes those 85 biology students everybody's talking about), the only way to pass may be cheating.

Gwen Lupfer sophomore in journalism and mass communications

L CATS FOR CANS

Organizations line up to help

Last year, more than 40,000 pounds of food were collected by K-Staters to assist low-income families in Manhattan that need help in feeding their families. This food drive, Cats for Cans, included such activities as collection of food at one football and two basketball games, Order of the Omega's Operation Turkey activities, the Union Bookstore's discount for the donation of a can of food, the Derby Food Services Mayflower Moving Van elegant dinner won by folks who had donated to the food drive, the Collegian's discount on classified ads for donations of cans of food, and the College of Education's pie-inthe-face contest between students and faculty (winners were those who raised the most food).

This year, we all will have many of the same opportunities to participate in this worthwhile effort. Please take every opportunity to join the Cats for Cans food drive. For instance, you can bring a can of food to two December basketball games - on Dec. 2 and Dec. 7. The best holidays are remembered by what we give rather than what we get.

Let's all help to brighten the holidays for lessfortunate families in our community. They will be blessed, and so will we.

Ruth Ann Wefald

POLITICS

Republicans put us in this mess

John, isn't this campus conservative enough for you? I would love (underlined) to know exactly what these values of Americans that Republicans supposedly represent and will return the country

You mean, like Ronald Reagan? So they will deregulate the banks again and slap a huge (underlined) bill to us taxpayers when the banks abuse it? Will they sell arms to the Middle East to finance revolutions in Central America? Or perhaps we will

PAUL ENGLISH

66 Tt led to the

L greatest depression

ever- and all that under a Republican

rule."

see the CIA firmly reentrenched in domestic and foreign policy making again? Oh, but this isn't the first time Democrats have been voted out of office to make way for Republicans. Try looking at the period after World War I. We suffer a slight recession, so the Republicans take office. Sure, the 1920s were a period of great economic growth, but it was also the greatest period of speculation and bad government.

It led to the greatest depression ever - and all that under a Republican rule. Gee, who brought us out of that one ... Hmm, FDR maybe?! I don't give a damn what Rush Limbaugh and the rest of you conservatives say. FDR turned a country on the brink of despair into one of the two most powerful nations on the planet.

So enjoy your success for now. When the Republicans fuck things up within the next few years, we liberals will be there to help the country back on its feet. We always have.

Paul F. English sophomore in secondary education and history

TODD FEEBACK/Collegian

Cass Reynolds, junior in agricultural economics, practices calf roping Thursday evening in Weber Arena. Reynolds is a member of the K-State Rodeo Club. This was the last Rodeo Club practice for this semester.

► MANHATTAN

Victims' rights still a problem

HOLLY CHEGWIDDEN

Bob Stephan said he is leaving his position as Kansas attorney general with positive feelings. Stephan spoke at the Manhattan Rotary Club meeting Thursday at the Ramada Inn.

"I've appreciated every opportunity I've had as attorney general," Stephan said. Stephan said he has been Kansas' attorney general for 16 years. He said he has worked for the rights of crime victims. It is still a problem, he said. Crime was the No. 1 issue in the past election,

Stephan said the problem is not in getting crime bills passed. A bill giving victims the right to be present at the trial and sentencing of the criminal passed with more than 80 percent of the votes, he said. "The problem is funding the bill," Stephan said. "We expect the government to do something about crime, but we don't want to pay for it." The new crime bill will provide 100,000 more police officers but doesn't provide more jails, he

Our jails are almost filled to capacity now, Stephan said.

We must build new jails if we want to put more criminals away," he said.

Stephan said the tragedy of it is that many people believe the answer is to simply build more

"We must get to the children at risk," he said. Stephan said people should support programs like Healthy Start to assist children who are likely to end up in jail. Indian gaming is another large issue; Stephan said.

"I believe Indians have a right to determine gaming on their reservations," he said.

Stephan asked why the state of Kansas should decide when Indians should expand gaming on their own reservations.

He said prior decisions on Indian gaming limited the gaming on reservations.

"I believe Indians have a right to determine gaming on their reservations."

BOB STEPHAN

Kansas attorney gerneral

Food, water, shelter important in winterizing pets

SERA L. TANK

Dr. Bill Fortney, assistant professor of veterinary medicine, said there are three primary things you should be concerned about when it comes to getting your pets ready for winter - food, water and shelter.

Fortney also said to remember that outdoor and indoor pets have very different needs when it comes to winterization.

"Outside pets need to increase their weight by about 25 percent so they can have a good layer of fat," he said.

Fortney said the process of putting weight on your animals should begin before the temperature begins to get too cold.

"Around Thanksgiving is a good time to start putting weight on pets. They need that extra layer of fat before the temperatures get below freezing," he said.

It's just the opposite for indoor pets, Fortney said.

"Inside pets need to decrease their weight by about 25 percent because they are less active," he

Kelly Johnson, shelter attendant at the Riley County Humane Society, said most pets will begin to eat more during the fall and winter months on their own.

mammals automatically increase their food intake," she said.

Pets also need fresh water twice a day. Outdoor pets' water may freeze, Fortney said.

"Owners need to go and replace frozen water with fresh, warm water as needed," he said.

Johnson said twice is actually the minimum that water should be changed.

"Change it at least twice a day, but probably much more than that,"

Fortney said indoor pets will also need an increase of their water

"The dry air makes them thirstier," he said. As for shelter, dogs with dog houses aren't necessarily protected from the cold. For pets without shelter, owners should use their best

Even pets who have shelter should come inside when the temperature gets down to about 15 degrees," he said.

Some dogs with heavy coats may be too cold outside, but too hot inside, Fortney said.

"If they look uncomfortable, put them in the garage or in the basement. Those are cool places, but not as cold as outside," he said.

If you have an outdoor cat, you will not have to worry about it as much as you will your dog, Fortney

"Cats actually do better than dogs during the wintertime. It's easier for them to find warm hiding places," he said.

Johnson said owners need to be

See CATS Page 8 Source: Humane Society

WAYS TO WINTERIZE YOUR PET

Do not stop watering your pet just because there is snow on the ground. Animals cannot eat enough ice or snow to maintain good health in winter.

Mixing canned food with warm water is a good way to help your dog retain more water. Dehydration is more common among pets in the winter.

If the temperature drops like it did recently, don't run risks. Bring your pet inside.

A dog's coat is one of the most important factors in warmth. It responds to three things:

. Decrease in daylight hours as the season changes

2. Temperature changes 3. Genetics for your dog's particular breed

If you have an outdoor cat during the winter, it may climb up into your engine during the night for warmth. Honk your horn or bang on the hood of your car before starting the engine.

700 Poyntz (Poyntz and Juliette) 537-7006

Sunday School 9:30 a.m.

Worship 10:45 a.m.

Sermon:

"Root-Down or Die"

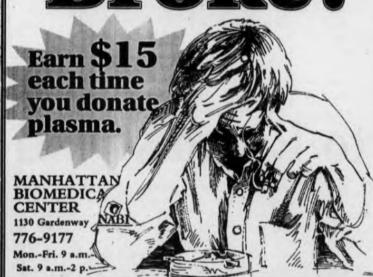

Sunday, Nov. 20

Rev. Donald Longbottom

Lutheran

Campus

Ministries

Collegiate Agri-Women want you to...

Dance Contest with Prizes!

DANCE! DANCE! DANCE!

at

T.W. LONGHORNS

NOVEMBER 18 8 p.m.

Sunday Worship 11 a.m. Church School 9:45 a.m. For free transportation within city limits, call the church.

Pastors Karen & Alan Selig 2121 Blue Hills Rd. 539-8691 An American Baptist Congregation

Grace Baptist Church (2901 Dickens - 2 blks. E. of Seth Child)

◆ Sunday ◆

Three Unique Worship Opportunities 8:15 + 9:30 + 11 a.m.

Bible Classes For All Ages - 9:30 a.m. All-Age Family Hour - 11 a.m. Body Life or Care Cells 6 p.m. 776-0424

> Manhattan Mennonite Fellowship

Sunday School 9:35 a.m., Worship 10:45 a.m. Pastor Harris Waltne Child Care Available

UNITY CHURCH of MANHATTAN

1021 Denison Ave. (E.C.M. Building) Meditation 10:15 a.m. Service 11 a.m. "The Daily Word People"

Welcome Back, Students Morning Worship 9 & 10:30 a.m.

Sunday School 9 & 10:30 a.m. Sunday Evening Worship 6 p.m. 1st, 3rd & 5th Sundays CARE CELLS (Small Groups)

3001 Ft. Riley Blvd. ST. FRANCIS CANTERBURY EPISCOPAL CAMPUS MINISTRY

6 p.m. 2nd & 4th Sundays

Eucharist & Guitar in Danforth Chapel every Sunday at 5 p.m.

Call 532-9099

KANSAS STATE

St. Isidore's First Congregational Church

Masses: Sat. 5 p.m. Sun. 9:30., 11a.m. & 5 p.m. Confessions: Sat. 3:30 p.m.

Catholic Student Center

711 Denison Chaplain: Father Keith Weber

FIRST UNITED METHODIST CHURCH

8:30 & 11 a.m. Worship 9:45 a.m. Church School Nursery provided for all services Omer G. Tittle, Pastor

776-8821 612 Poyntz DIAL-A-PRAYER 776-9569

ST. LUKE'S LUTHERAN CHURCH

(LCMS) Campus Pastor James Gau

Sun. 8 and 10:45 a.m. Sat. Worship 6 p.m. Bible Class Sunday 9:30 a.m.

330 N. Sunset Ave.

FIRST CHRISTIAN CHURCH 5th & Humboldt 776-8790 Norship & Praise 8:30 a.m. Traditional Worship 10:55 a.m.

539-2604

Church School 9:45 a.m.
COLLEGE FELLOWSHIP
we Broadcast 11:30 a.m. Angel 95 (95.3 FM)
Wed. Eve. Bible Study & Youth Programs
PASTOR DR. DONALD E. BREZAVAR

Unitarian-Universalist Fellowship South over visduct (Hwy. 177), turn left on Zeandale Rd. (Hwy. 18), then about a ½ mile. Sunday Services, Sunday School 10:45 a.m Nursery
Rev. David Grimm
NFORMATION CALL 536-9369 or 537-9616

WORSHIP Sundays 11 a.m. Danforth Chapel

Holy Communion celebrated

every Sunday +sing, pray, meditate

+pursue your questions of faith +hear a word of acceptance and forgiveness

+bring a friend Pastor Jayne Thompson

539-4451

-Open to AII-

The K-State volleyball team saw its record drop to 14-12 on the season as the Cats lost a five-game affair to the University of Kansas last night at Allen Fieldhouse by scores of 15-8, 2-15, 15-2, 8-15 and 13-15. Jill Dugan led K-State with 13 kills. Yolanda Young had 11 kills, and Kathryn Wylie and Debbie Miller added nine each. Kansas got 17 kills from Katie Walsh and 14 from Warnego product Leslie Purkeypile. Devon Ryning led K-State with 48 assists. Defensively, Dugan was the stopper with 16 digs, two solo blocks and seven block assists.

NOVEMBER 18, 1994

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

► BASKETBALL

Asbury signs 3 recruits

ASSOCIATED PRESS

Coach Tom Asbury officially announced the signing of three players Thursday to national letters of intent to play for K-State.

The trio includes Manny Dies, a 6-foot, 8inch, 230-pound forward from Wichita South; Shawn Rhodes, a 6'10", 220-pound forward from Wichita Northwest; and Johnnie Williams, a 6'9", 245-pound center from Cloud County Community College.

"We're on the verge of a terrific recruiting

"We're on the recruiting year.

We've added strength up

center."

front with the addition of two forwards and a

TOM ASBURY

basketball coach

some size and verge of a terrific

year," Asbury said. "We've added some size and strength up front with the addition of two forwards and a center."

Dies has helped Wichita South to back-to-back 6A state titles and was the team's leading scorer and rebounder, averaging 13.8 points and 5.8 rebounds for the 25-0 Titans last

"Manny is the premier player in the state," Asbury said. "He's destined for a great career at Kansas State, and we expect him to play a great deal as a freshman."

Meanwhile, Rhodes has played on backto-back 6A runner-up teams and averaged 12 points and 7.3 rebounds per game as a junior. Rhodes averaged 15.3 points per game in last year's state tournament.

"Shawn is a multidimensional player with a lot of different skills," Asbury said. "His best basketball is ahead of him, and we're excited about that.'

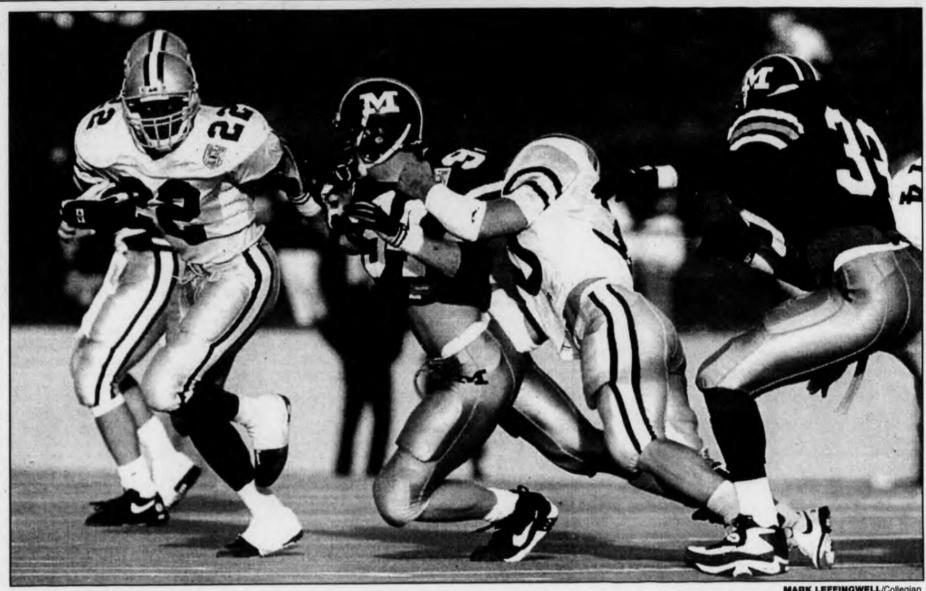

From the junior-college ranks, K-State added the powerful Williams, who has been listed as the third-best junior-college center in the country by Basketball Times. Williams averaged 9.6 points and 6.8 rebounds as a freshman at Cloud County Community College last year.

"Johnnie is a powerful player," Asbury said. "He's an inside force who can score and defend inside.

Asbury also said he plans to offer a scholarship to Reggie McFerren, who is currently attending K-State as a part-time student while fulfilling NCAA academic requirements. That will leave K-State with one scholarship to give in the spring.

"In the spring, we'll just go after the best available player," Asbury said. "We're excited to get two high- school players from Wichita. We thought they were the two best high-school players in the state that fit our

"When we came here, we said we were going to recruit close to home and work our way out, and we've done that."

Running Back J.J. Smith scampers around several Missouri defenders Saturday in the Wildcats 21-18 victory at Columbia, Mo. Smith finished the game with career highs of 138 yards and 35 carries.

Cowboys try to break losing slide

WESS HUDELSON

Oklahoma State descends on Manhattan Saturday, trying to break a 16-game winless streak in the Big Eight Conference.

The Cowboys appeared to have the streak broken last season after kicker Lawson Vaughn nailed a 43-yard field goal, giving OSU a 17-14 lead with 58 seconds remaining in the contest

Then Chad May led K-State on an 80-yard drive culminating with a touchdown pass to Brad

Seib. "The comeback against Oklahoma State was a real heart stopper last year," offensive tackle Jim Hmielewski said. We put it in our minds we could score. If you get everyone believing you can score, it's going to help.' However, Coach Bill Snyder said the Cowboys will have other motivators aside from what happened last season.

Both squads will want to win their last game, Snyder said.

"You hate to lose that last one," Snyder said. "Losing the last one is the nastiest thing. because you've got to live with it for 10 months until you have a chance to make up for it.

The game also marks the last home contest for the Wildcat seniors.

'It will be a very emotional Saturday for them," Snyder said. "I get to look at them individually right in the eye before it happens - it's right

"These seniors have hung on when everything wasn't the best in the world and have taken us to a great deal of success.'

Something else in the back of K-State's mind is a chance at a

New Year's Day Bowl. "I think that we deserve to play on New Years's Day," safety Mario Smith said. "We're a top-10 team, and usually, a top-10 team gets to play on New

"I would rather be able to play somewhere where our fans can travel to see us.'

The Cowboys could spoil all dreams of New Year's Day with an upset and end an ugly streak of their own.

Oklahoma State coach Pat Jones said at the Big Eight Teleconference Monday he isn't concerned about the losses, but with K-State's talent.

"This is a pretty complete football team," Jones said.
"They're like 19th in the country in throwing the ball, 29th in total defense, and I think ninth in the nation in turnover margin.

"Without question, Chad May has been the marquee guy, but both those receivers and the backs are good players," he said. Coach Snyder said the Cowboys' talent isn't bad,

"Jones has really become more comfortable in their offense," Snyder said.

Jones became OSU's starting quarterback just four games into the season last year. However, a separated shoulder sidelined him for most of the remainder of the season. He completed 48 percent of his passes for 608 yards last season. This season, he's led his team in passing and is among the team's leading rushers. Running Thompson and freshman sensation Andre Richardson have torn through the Big Eight Conference on the ground this season, which has impressed the K-State coaching staff.

"They've got a couple of guys down there that I consider extremely fine running backs," Snyder said.

"They might not be tremendously big, but they have great quickness and carry the ball very well."

Jones said Richardson may be in line for postseason

"Andre Richardson could likely be the offensive newcomer of the year," Jones said. "He's a tough runner."

Receiver Rafael Denson also presents a significant offensive threat as well. He's led the team in receiving this season and last

GAME DAY INFO

Date: Saturday, Nov. 18 Kickoff: 1:10 p.m. Place: KSU Stadium Oklahoma State (3-6-1) 0-5-1 No. 11 K-State (7-2) 4-2

Players to watch: #22 WR Rafael Denson #9 QB Toné Jones

#28 TB David Thompson #25 TB Andre Richardson #89 DE Jevon Langford #42 LB Eric Hobbs

▶ VOLLEYBALL

K-State concludes season against CU

WESS HUDELSON

The volleyball team wraps up its season Saturday night at 7:30 in Ahearn Field House against the Colorado Buffaloes.

The Buffaloes have locked up second place in the Big Eight Conference with their only two losses coming to the top-ranked and undefeated Nebraska Cornhuskers.

After back-to-back losses to Oklahoma and Kansas, the Wildcats are no longer in running for a berth in the Big Eight Conference Tournament in Omaha, Nebraska, Nov. 25-26.

Despite a disappointing finish, the Cats' three conference wins broke a 31-game conference losing streak.

Coach Jim Moore said he was pleased with the team's early improvement, but he isn't pleased with how the team failed to take advantage of good situations. "There comes a time in everyone's life when you have to take advantage of opportunities that come your way," Moore said.

"We need to learn from it, and I hate to sound like the Brooklyn Dodgers, but we have to wait till next year to try

K-State fell to Kansas in five games for its fourth-straight loss.

Moore said before the game, he felt motivation would be a

"I tried saying everything to saying nothing," Moore said. "I do feel like they got motivated for that match. It was obvious in the first game."

The Jayhawks beat K-State 8-15, 15-2, 2-15, 15-8 and 15-13. Jill Dugan led K-State in kills with 13, followed by Yolanda

Young with 11. K-State's record stands at 3-8 in the conference. A win would give K-State its best conference record since

► WOMEN'S BASKETBALL

Cats take on Puerto Rican squad

K-State women's basketball coach Brian Agler doesn't know much about his team's next opponent, Puerto Rico, but that doesn't really bother him.

"All I really know about them is that they've played Miami and lost, they've played Iowa State and lost, and they play Iowa tonight," Agler said. "But we've gotten off to a good start, so I hope our confidence carries over for this game.

The Cats' good start came against a talented Athletes in Action team, defeating them by the score of 79-72 on Nov. 3.

"Athletes in Action thumped us pretty good last year, so beating them this year gave our confidence a boost and gave our new people a chance to get off to a good start," Agler said.

Some of those new players who Agler said especially impressed him in the first game included freshmen Amanda Chamberlain and Brit Jacobson.

"I really didn't know what to expect from my freshmen going into the season," Agler said. "But after watching Amanda and Brit in the first game, I think they'll both get lots of playing time. I may even start them on Saturday.'

Despite his team's strong performance in its first game of the year. Agler said there are some weaknesses that need correcting.

"Our defense was not that good in the first game, so we've been emphasizing that for the last two weeks," he said. "We also need to sharpen our offensive execution, especially our offensive post play."

The Wildcats' game against the Puerto Rican squad begins at 6 p.m. Saturday in Bramlage Coliseum.

While Agler has spent most of his time preparing his team for the start of the regular season, he has also been busy with his recruiting

Agler recently announced the addition of two players. Kayla Hester and Jenny Coalson, in the early signing period. Hester, a native of Beaver, Okla., is a sophomore at Seward County Community College after playing at Southwestern Oklahoma State College her freshman year.

So far this season, Hester is averaging 20 points and 14 rebounds for Seward and has already set a single-game scoring record with a 36-point performance against Colby Community College.

Coalson is a senior at Ellicott High School in Colorado, where she averaged 22 points and 12 rebounds as a junior. She also earned honors last year as the state's 2A Player of the Year and the 2A Ms. Basketball title.

▶ BASKETBALL

Webber, Howard reunite in Washington

ASSOCIATED PRESS

OAKLAND, Calif. - Chris Webber, whose differences with Golden State coach Don Nelson escalated during a contract dispute, was traded to the Washington Bullets on Thursday, less than a day after re-signing with the Golden

In exchange for the power forward who was last season's NBA rookie of the year, the Warriors received small forward Tom Gugliotta and the Bullets' first-round draft picks in 1996,

1998 and 2000. The move came after the Bullets earlier in the day had signed firstround draft pick Juwan Howard, who as a "Fab Five" teammate of Webber's, led Michigan to the NCAA championship game in 1992

And it came some 20 hours after the Warriors re-signed Webber, who exercised his option to terminate a 15-year, $74-million contract in the offseason and became a restricted free agent last

The Warriors had to sign Webber to trade him.

Webber said he was unhappy playing for Nelson, and the hard feelings intensified during the contract stalemate when Nelson said he'd quit if that would help bring Webber back to the team.

► CAMPUS

KSU playwright reads excerpts from his work

CORI CORNELISON

A K-State playwright captivated a room full of people with his personal interpretation of his works Thursday night. Norman Fedder, distinguished professor of theater, presented the third University Lecture Series in Humanities on "To repair the world: Confessions of an American Jewish playwright."

He said the Hebrew injunction 'tikkun olam,' which means to "repair the world," has been the essence of Jewish faith and a guide of his plays.

"I have come to realize that 'tikkun olam' has been the guiding principle of all my writing," Fedder said.

He read parts of three of his 30 plays, which focused on biblical, historical and modern times. Fedder began his lecture with some scenes from one of his biblical plays, "No Other Gods: A Midrash on Moses."

In the play, Moses is demanded by God to heal the world and provide justice for all people.

"The figure of Moses is recurrent in my work - as it is in my heritage: his tragicomic struggle with both oppressor and oppressed — between those who enslave his people and the 'stiffnecked' ones themselves,"

The second play Fedder read was the opening scenes of a historical play, "A Jew in Kansas," whose title got a chuckle from the audience.

Fedder said the play begins as a speech delivered by a professor much like himself who is interrupted by two audience members, a pacifist and a militant.

"His (professor) subject is August Bondi, a Jewish follower in Kansas of the pre-Civil war abolitionist, John Brown," he said.

The militant, pacifist and the speaker have conflicting views, and there are scenes in which the three play the roles of Bondi, Brown and Mahala Doyle, whose family was murdered, Fedder said.

Bondi dedicates his life to blacks' freedom and his own, he said. The final reading was a modern play that was based on an actual incident about a rabbi who was murdered in the 1960s, called "A Light To The Nations," Fedder said.

"He was killed in his synagogue while conducting services by a student who read a speech denouncing the congregation and then committed suicide," he said.

Upon finishing his lecture, Fedder invited audience members to share their questions and comments.

"It's a special treat for us to be able to hear him read his own work," Harriet Ottenheimer, director of American Ethnic Studies and professor of anthropology, said.

Ottenheimer said it was important that Fedder helped the audience comprehend the important issues he talked about by personalizing them.

It would be nice to see actors act out Fedder's plays, who aren't coming from the origin as he did, Freeman Davis, parttime instructor, coordinator and adviser to multicultural student organizations and National Pan-Hellenic council, said.

"I was very impressed that we have such talent on campus, not surprised," he said.

► NAFTA

Trade agreement to be discussed

Researchers will study effects of NAFTA on Mexico

J.R. PRATHER

Four Mexican researchers will discuss the effects of the North American Free Trade Agreement on Mexico in a day-long workshop Monday.

"The Mexican View of NAFTA: Problems and Prospects" looks back on the first year of the trade agreement from the Mexican perspective, said Marcial Riquelme, director of the Latin American studies program at K-State.

"We want to have an evaluation of one year of the contract," Riquelme said. "What we want to do here is start out from a general framework of NAFTA going into the Mexican point of view — how does it affect Mexicans?"

Mexico is the second-largest U.S. trading partner, after Canada, he said, and a large importer of U.S. agricultural products.

'This is very important for Kansas. This is an agricultural region. Mexico is buying wheat, corn and sorghum from the U.S.," VEMBER, FRIDAY 18 3

UNION STATION 3

don't miss out.

10p.m.-1a.m.

"It's anticipated that NAFTA will be good business for Kansas farmers," Riquelme said. "It's important to be aware and follow what's going on with NAFTA."

Participating in the workshop will be four professors from El Colegio de la Frontera Norte, translated as the University of the Northern Border, which specializes in scientific research of the regions bordering the United States.

At 10:30 a.m., Gustavo del Castillo will present "Challenges and Opportunities: NAFTA's Impact on Mexico."

Riquelme said del Castillo would speak about the general framework of NAFTA and how it is affecting Mexico, particularly in the first

At 1:30 p.m., Eduardo Zepeda will discuss the flow of capital into Mexico and the establishment of the more than 2,000 maquiladoras factories along the border, Riquelme said.

Victor Zuniga will present his study of Monterrey, the secondlargest industrial city in Mexico and the effects of NAFTA at 3:15 p.m.

The fourth workshop, presented by Rudolfo Cruz at 4:30 p.m., will will replace

African-Amer

5aturdau

BOYS' STATE

ALUMNI

Here's your chance to meet with

Delegates from KSU. You can be

Friday, Nov. 18

7-9 p.m.

Chase Manhattan Apartments Clubhouse

Chase & Claffin

Refreshments provided.

For more information, call 537-5035

a part of the exciting changes happening with Boys' State, so former Kansas Boys' State

focus on Mexican labor markets, especially female employment and legal and illegal migration.

Riquelme said he anticipates a great deal of discussion at this workshop, where Cruz will also talk about California's recently passed Proposition 187.

Wayne Nafziger, professor of economics, is one of the commentators scheduled to participate in del Castillo's workshop.

"I'll be commentating on his paper, which looks at why free trade is advantageous for NAFTA parties," Nafziger said.

"He looks at the Mexican and Canadian relationship to the U.S. as that of a spoke in a hub. The U.S. is the hub, and Mexico and Canada are the spokes," he said.

"He's tried to emphasize that Mexico and Canada cooperate politically in support of each other to make sure they aren't the victims of U.S. unilateralism," Nafziger

Riquelme said another goal of the workshop is to establish an exchange program with El Colegio de la Frontera, such as it has with other universities. "One of the desired outcomes is to sign an agreement with the Colegio to send graduate students and researches there and receive students here," he said.

WORKSHOP

Four researchers of NAFTA will be sponsoring a workshop from 10 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Monday in K-State Union 212.

The Ying Quartet

Friday, November 18, 8 p.m. McCain Auditorium

Kansas State University

General Public/Faculty: $14 Senior Citizen: $1 Since their debut in 1989, this

Paul Sunday Music ie Kansas City Star said, most amazing string quartet playing lear for yourself when they play: Mozart's "Hunt" Quartet

Ralph Shapey's Quartet No. VIII Schubert's "Death and the Maiden"

For tickets call 532-5428 or come to the McCain box office. Box office hours: noon to 5 p.m. weekdays; from 1 p.m. before weekend matinees; and from 5 p.m. before weekend evenings. Tickets are also available at Manhattan Town Center customer service desk, K-State Union Bookstore, and ITR (Fort Riley). Persons with disabilities call 532-6428.

*Presented in part by the Kansas Arts Commission, a state agency, and the National Endowment for the Arts, a federal agency. Events in the McCain Performance Series are supported by the K-State Fine Arts Fee.

Byers' Choice Carolers® figurines

These charming characters, individually handcrafted, delight all who see them. Certain to become cherished heirlooms, their "merry spirit" brings the joyfulness of Christmas to all.

To collect piece by piece, yours to give or receive.

Byens' Choice Ltd.

776-9067

5th & Poyntz

Manhattan

9-5:30 9-7:30

Open Sundays 1-5 Now thru Christmas

Little Caesars Pizza

Two great pizzas! One low price: Always! Always! YOUR

PARTY! SPECIALISTS  CALL 539-3333 WESTLOOP CENTER MANHATTAN, KS

PIZZA!PIZZA!" VALUE MENU

CREATE YOUR OWN

ADD TOPPINGS OR EXTRA CHEESE FOR $1.00

EXPIRES: 12-2-94

Little Caesars

WITH ONE TOPPING ADD TOPPINGS OR EXTRA CHEESE FOR $1.25

CREATE YOUR OWN

EXPIRES: 12-2-94 Little Caesars CREATE YOUR OWN

ADD TOPPINGS OR

EXPIRES: 12-2-94

Little Caesars

NEW line of quality pizzas loaded with more of what you want!

ANY 2 MEDIUM PIZZAS

NOW GET - CAESARS SINGLES!" ONE MEDIUM S5.99 * ONE LARGE 57.99 Offer valid or partic paring carry-out stores No coupon necessary, 21994 LCE, Inc.

2 LARGE $13.98

► CAMPUS

Group studies high-energy physics

KIMBERLY WISHART

In the basement of Cardwell Hall, every door has a sticker with a purple design, green lettering and a yellow sunflower on it that reads KSU HEP.

This sticker represents the K-State High Energy Physics group that started here during the summer of 1993.

"I call us the Sunflowers from the Sunflower State, but no one else in the group would admit it," Bill Reay, distinguished professor of physics, said.

Reay is the founder of the high energy group at K-State, which has 16 members and is composed of undergraduates, graduates, professors, computer programmers and technicians.

Reay said the K-State group works with teams in Israel, Greece, Korea and a lot with the Japan and other United States

"The total group has about 90 people in it," Reay said.

These people from all over the world work together to research high-energy physics.

"We examine the world of the ultimately small. We want to know what the small things are and how they react," Reay said. "Our main objective is trying to find out if neutrinos have mass.'

Reay said the desire for knowledge is the driving force behind any experiment.

"At the basic level, human beings have a basic need to know. A dog back in ancient Greece is about the same as a dog today, but humans know a lot more now than they did then," Reay said. "People spend their whole lives trying to figure things out. We're a small piece of that army of people."

The process of one experiment can take 14 years to complete one idea from beginning to end, Reay

"High-energy physics starts by colliding very tiny, subtonic particles. These are so small that it takes another particle to look at a particle, so you're working with two unknowns," Reay said.

'The particles make tracks because they leave a path of destruction. We can reconstruct the event, record it and then examine it with computers."

Reay describes the length of the process like the ghost of Christmas past, present and future. "One experiment will be winding up, one will be going on, and one will be in the works," he Because of the extensive research involved, it's difficult to teach high-energy physics in the classroom.

"This group is more like an apprenticeship, because it's handson teaching. You go to where people who are good in something are because they are going to work with you. You somehow learn to do something magically because no one can teach it.

Shih-wen Yang, graduate student in physics, said he came here for the hands-on experience with high-energy physics.

"I am from Taiwan, where I majored in physics. Taiwan is just a small island, so there is no highenergy physics there," Yang said. 'That's why I came here. It's an interesting chance for me.'

Once an experiment is complete, Reay said the outcome printed in scientific publications. So far, Reay said their biggest finding was a property called charm.

This property can only be lost if a particle lives a very long time and dies slowly. Only a very small fraction of particles have this particle," Reay said. "The present standard model of physics was developed during this period."

Reay said its findings like these that make science fun.

"In science, it's the rare things that are most interesting," Reay

Granting wage increases discussed

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 3

She said that if they were getting an 8 or 9 percent wage increase, like in businesses, then zero to I percent might be more indicative of what a normal performing faculty member would get.

However, she said the regents don't grant increases every year.

'Our recommendation is to scratch item 6," she said. "It's really not providing us with any meaningful information."

There's a temptation to read too much into the data, Konerner said.

'We really talked and dialoged well on this particular issue, and I think that's been a real plus as to why this document came here with as few recommendations for changes as there is," she said.

Everyone had a chance to have input into it, Konerner said.

"I think everyone listened to each other, and that's what's really good," she said.

Jeff Peterson, student body president, said it was really an attempt to maintain high-quality teaching at Kansas schools and recognize outstanding faculty, as well as identify those that need assistance.

"I think it's a great step," Peterson said. "It meant a lot of resistance for faculty initially, but as was said today, everyone's proud that we can say we worked together and came up with something that hopefully makes us better."

T.P. Srinivasan, faculty senate president at the University of Kansas, said the evaluation of faculty was initially his idea.

"It won the support of university faculty and regents staff," Srinivasan said. Revised tuition estimates, following fall 1994 enrollment, reflect a net estimated shortfall of $5.9 million.

The shortfall is composed of $3.3 million resulting from a decline of 1,693 students; $2.3 million from change in the average collection per student, largely the result of fewer non-resident students at KU and K-State; and $.5 million from tuition waivers granted under the Midwest Student Exchange Program, according to a report of the regents' Budget Development Committee.

The committee recommended that the funds be requested from the State General Fund to supplement tuition shortfalls in fiscal year 1995, finance estimated shortfalls in the fiscal year 1996 request and finance amounts that would have been collected if Midwest Higher Education Compact students had been charged the full non-resident tuition.

"I'm glad the board supported that with regards to the part on MHEC," Konerner said.

The recall question they are discussing now is on how it is set, switching the process to where the regents or the universities would have the ability to set tuition rates after the budget had been approved by the legislature, which would make for a large volatility in tuition,

Senate to discuss money use at next meeting

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

She said this is because only 400 students are enrolled in only night

"The reason for the nightparking proposal was because the administration didn't want day students subsidizing parking for those students who only take classes at night," Meier said. "They found out that not many students drove only at night, and the issue was dropped."

Student Senate also discussed a proposal of how to spend the $17,000 overcharged to students during fee payment this year.

The current proposal calls for this money to be spent on three items. The first item is $7,500 to display benches and three statues in the middle of campus. These statues were created by Chester E. Peters, and they represent the three functions of K-State - scholarship, academics and research.

The second item is $8,000 to Access the Future Campaigning, which is a campaign for lower tuition and to keep open access to Kansas Board of Regents

The final item is $1,156 for bike

Second readings and a final vote of this bill will be at the next regular Senate meeting. Senators also learned about the K-State-Salina campus at its meeting. Senators took tours of the campus and were treated to a pizzaand-sandwich supper before the meeting.

Tom Huff, Salina senator, said he, the two other College of Technology senators and the college council helped organize this meeting.

"We just thought that this meeting would bring the two colleges closer together, since several senators had never been to the Salina campus," he said. "Some of our college council members also attended the meeting, so they learn what our meeting's are like."

Police: condoms meant consensual sex

ASSOCIATED PRESS

BOSTON - A woman said police talked her out of pressing charges against two men who raped and beat her outside a bar. in part because she asked them to wear condoms.

"I begged them to arrest these guys. They raped me. But they told me that I should think about it for a few days, that I should drop the case because I wasn't going to get anywhere," the 25year-old woman said. "Something is really wrong here. This isn't the way police should act."

Police said her request the men wear condoms was part of the evidence indicating consensual sex.

The woman called police immediately after the rape and went to a hospital, said her lawyer, Wendy Murphy, describing her client as vulnerable and intoxicated and in no condition to give consent.

The district attorney's office is investigating.

The Boston woman said police put too much weight on statements by friends and acquaintances of the two men who were regulars at the bar and didn't talk to people who would corroborate her story.

The bartender said the woman propositioned him, and others said she flirted with several men and left with one of the two she later accused of rape.

The woman said she did not consent. She asked her assailants to wear condoms to protect herself against AIDS and pregnancy during the Sept. 22

Cats could get in fan belts

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 5

concerned that there is proper shelter available for outside cats.

"Just make sure they can get into some place that's out of the wind and they can snuggle into," she

Unfortunately, one of the warm, hiding places cats find is engine compartments of cars.

Fortney said cats like the warmth, but sometimes when people start the cars, the cat gets caught in the fan belts.

"They will at least get scratched and possibly killed," he said.

The only way to try and be sure that there is not a cat in the engine is to bang on the hood or honk the horn before you start the car.

Fortney also warned about the dangers of pets ingesting antifreeze.

"When you change the antifreeze in your car, be sure to dispose of it properly," he said.

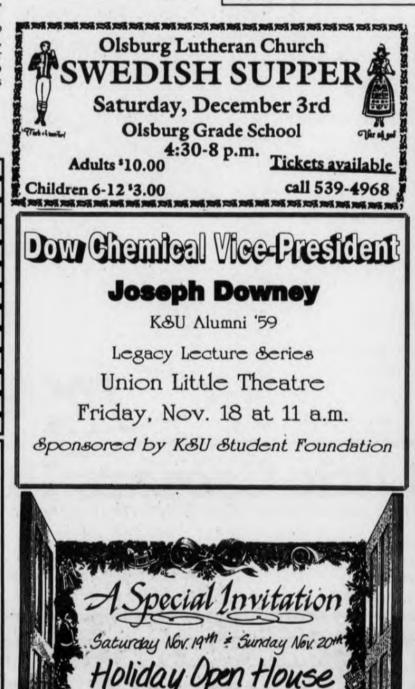

"It's lethal to dogs and cats, and for some reason, they like the taste. Keep it away from them, and don't let it pool up in your driveway.'

"The Store Not To Be Missed"

708 N. Manhattan Ave. Aggieville

Enjoy free samples of Kansas Products

· Rabbit Creek · Farthly Endeavors

featured in our 1994 Gift Brochure:

· Alma Cheese · Fields of Fair

Flinthills Foods · Alma Bakery

· Aunt Vi's Sand Hill Plum Jam

"It you place your gift box orders

during Open House, you will recieve

a Free Benie Bell Fragrance disk ( a "Hands of Kansas" product)

East Hury 24 by Mall or West K-18 by Holidome, Mann astside i Westside Markets

VISA MISTERCURD DISCOVER

OPEN 9-7 daily

设在农村市的市场市场市场市场市场市场市场市场市场市场市场市场市场

Compiled from Collegian staff and Associated Press reports

Failing to use 'condom sense'

man was charged with stealing a condom machine from the men's restroom at a Waterford, Mich.,

"All we can figure is, he was anticipating a big weekend," Officer John Grimm, a police spokesman, said.

Keith Bradford, 34, was arraigned on larceny charges Wednesday after allegedly dislodging the machine from a wall at the

"There were dozens of witnesses. And he went straight home," Grimm said. "It didn't take our officers long to solve the great condom caper."

Police recovered 48 condoms and $31.75 in quarters at Bradford's home. The $279 machine was found behind the

After the caper, in a secret Smatterings interview, Bradford said he was only stealing the machine because he needed balloons for his son's birthday party, and the machine had stolen his last quarter.

"I hope the little punk is happy," he

I bet he's pretty happy - that you're in

NASA — striving to pass 2nd grade

tmospheric monitors peered down on Earth from Atlantis Sunday for a final round of experiments before the shuttle's scheduled landing.

Flight controllers studied an icicle, 4 to 5 feet long and an inch in diameter, stuck to a cargo bay door. The icicle formed a few days ago when waste water was dumped overboard through a nozzle.

Mission operations director Lee Briscoe said the icicle was likely to melt. A plan was being considered for the crew to knock it off with the shuttle robot arm.

In any event, NASA said the icicle posed no danger to neither the crew nor the

"We have done extensive study on this," and realized that it's just what happens to water when it gets really, really cold," a NASA spokesperson said.

Attack of the flying toilet-paper bandit

preading toilet paper is normally the province of college students or juveniles and normally is a minor irritant to authorities. But Robert B. Moore of Independence took his "TP" antics to a higher level.

And authorities — from a county judge to the Federal Aviation Administration weren't amused.

Moore, 37, was charged Thursday with four misdemeanors, including drunken flying and littering.

On a barroom dare, Moore took off in his light plane Tuesday with the vow of hitting Main Street in the southeast Kansas town with rolls of toilet paper.

He missed, by his own admission, by half a block.

Police didn't miss him when he landed about 2:30 a.m. at Independence Municipal Airport.
Moore's bail was set at $100,000, which he was able to make with the help of his father. Meanwhile, the FAA took away his pilot's license in an emergency revocation

As he flew toward the target, he nearly crashed into a 500-foot television tower, said Sheriff Deputy Robert Dierks, who drove to the airport to arrest Moore.

Moore was accused of buzzing neighborhoods, at times flying so low he brushed

Moore told Dierks he "missed his mark by half a block." But he still seemed "very pleased and stated he couldn't wait to see the judge's face," Dierks said. Another candidate for the Michael Faye "Just not getting it" award.

Some people are really stupid — next I bet we'll be hearing about dead people getting elected to office ...

New township clerk assumes office at room temperature

Deople in Cherokee Township, Kan., thought so much of township clerk Marcella Young that when she died 11 days before the election, they decided to re-elect her anyway.

"She's deserved it," said Willis Plute, a trustee of the township board. Young, 77, of rural Coffeyville, Kan., died Oct. 29. In Tuesday's uncontested race for township clerk, she received 107 votes — about 94 percent of votes cast. Montgomery County commissioners say they will appoint the township clerk, but if the ghost of Young has her way, she hopes to conduct her office from the after-

Power Rangers are a hot item this Christmas and range in price from $2 to $50 depending on the toy,

A gift that can be tailored to a person's

Wal-Mart in

Eelaine, sales

Manhattan,

Shelley

associate

Eelaine said.

said.

That was my business from get-go," he said. "We started with beads, and we'll probably end with beads."

Behind the beaded entrance of On The Aggieville, is a treasure of unique, inexpensive gifts for any-

Gary Bedenharn,

Wildside, said 'make your own jewelry' is probably the best seller

of his store and is very owner of On The inexpensive.

Wildside, in

Bedenharn said necklaces are much like a token of friendship when given and range in price from $2.50 to $10.

In addition to jewelry, soap stone boxes and wax candles are gifts starting from $2.50 on up, he said.

manager of preference is a book. Waldenbooks, said. Waldenbooks, in She said a popular Manhattan Town book that is selling fast Center, offers a range is "Chicken Soup for the Soul: 101 Stories of books from Tim Allen's, "Don't Stand To Open The Heart Too Close to a Naked and Rekindle The Spirit," by Jack Man" to "Crossing the Threshold of Hope," Canfield and Mark the first book written Victor Hansen, which by Pope John Paul II. is sold for $12. "A book is a good LeNeave said Dr. gift because it can be Seuss books are a great gift for children, kept forever, and you can always come back which are on sale for to it," Julie LeNeave, buy two, get one free.

Southwestern mugs, pottery, copper jewelry, belt buckles art mike marlett

and rodeo wallets are all inexpensive gifts for less than $20 at the S Bar J Western Clothiers store located downtown on Poyntz Avenue. Angie Schrader, sales clerk at S Bar J Western Clothiers, said, they have a lot of unique southwestern items, which the owner personally purchases for the Christmas season while on trips in the southwest.

story cornelison

For the fashionminded person, Lerner New York, in the mall, offers a cheaper alternative to expensive trendy clothes

Sandy Clark, assistant manager of Lerner New York, said the majority of items in the store are less than $20, with the exception of coats and clothing made of special fabric.

design III stephanie fuqua

"You can get something for everybody's taste," she said.

Ribbed turtle necks, jeans and roll-neck sweaters are $19.99, Clark said.

Whatever the preference and price limit, it is not hard to find the bargains. Re-member, there are only 37 more shopping days, and it is never too early to start.

Learning the language

Two students travel, overcome language barrier

KRISTA COZAD

wo K-State students didn't understanding English could be so difficult - especially since they've both spoken English their entire lives.

But neither Betsy Johnson, graduate student in clothing and textiles, nor Debra Duncan, graduate student in family life education, had ever left their native country to live in one thousands of miles away, until recently.

The two were part of an exchange program with New Zealand's University of Otago and K-State's Department of Human Ecology.

Johnson left the United States to live in New Zealand one year ago and has since returned to K-State to finish her studies.

Duncan left New Zealand two years ago to study here and has continued to stay on to receive her doctoral degree.

What they found when they got to each other's countries was that they loved their new homes, and that knowing English didn't always help in the quest for understanding.

"Like in the bookstore," Duncan said. ·

"At the beginning of school, they have those little 'We're glad you're here people' at the front of the store, and I told the lady I needed a ruler and a rubber.

"Well, in New Zealand, a rubber is an eraser," Duncan said, laughing.

'Half the time, you don't know you say something odd until people start to laugh.'

Johnson had the same problems in New Zealand.

"Things were slow at first trying to understand each other. You think because we speak English ... but I had trouble. There were accents and certain words that were different and used in a different way," Johnson

"They'd rattle off a sentence, and you wouldn't know what they were talking about."

Once the language barrier was overcome, however, neither could say enough good things about the exchange program and living in a different country.

Johnson said she found the people of Dunedin, the town in New Zealand where she lived, the most appealing about her year

"Dunedin is about the size of

ACROSS THE WORLD

Betsy Johnson and Debra Duncan came to K-State from the Universoty of Otago, which is in Dunedin, on the east coast of New Zealand.

SARA SMITH/Collegian

Manhattan. It's a very liberal town that attracts a wide range of people because of the college. There's all types — very open about sexuality, and their dress was often very different," Johnson said.

The difference in dress was one aspect that Johnson truly enjoyed.

"They didn't spend time on themselves like people do here," she said with a smile.

"I finally fit in. No, really, appearance didn't matter - the people mattered."

Although she wasn't allowed to work while in New Zealand because work visas aren't given out. Johnson was able to obtain an internship in her field of study.

She interned at Otago Early Settlers Museum, where she was put in charge of developing an education program for primary schools. She also researched and put together exhibits for the

She said the schooling she received at the university was different than at K-State.

"The classes were very different," Johnson said, "They were all seminar-type classes, and it was harder.

"You were given a topic and were to do a major paper on each topic in each class. I probably had a paper due at least once every week," she said. "I definitely learned how to write when I was there.

Duncan agreed that classes at K-State are easier than in New Zealand.

"It's very definitely easier. It's much more verbal. Speaking in class is emphasized more than writing," said Duncan, who was a high-school teacher in New Zealand.

"I find the academic standards very different," she said. "There's work that gets handed in here I wouldn't accept from my 13year-olds."

Duncan thinks the differences in the levels of difficulty are due to the standards for admission into each college.

In New Zealand, students must take an examination before being admitted into the college, and only about 5 percent end up entering college.

"Here, it's more like if your family pays the taxes, you get in to K-State. I find that students are really bogged down with busy work here," she said.

A more basic difference Duncan and Johnson discovered during their exchange was the food.

"In New Zealand, there were a lot of coastal foods," Duncan said. "Here, things are from a packer and real convenient. We make things more from scratch.

"In New Zealand, eating's a real social thing, and you talk with people as you eat. Here, you guzzle it down," she said.

Johnson said food in New Zealand has a different taste than in the United States.

"Some of it was good, but I've never been a big meat-eater, and it was kind of funny tasting. The cows are fed differently than here - range fed as opposed to grain fed. I'm not sure exactly what it was

"And of course, dorm food always leaves a void. It was typical English food - boiled everything, roasted everything," Johnson said.

Since Duncan's been at K-State, she's been very involved on and off campus. Part of the agreement between the University of Otago and K-State is that the New Zealand students will receive a job as a graduate teaching assistant.

Because of this, Duncan has taught many K-State classes, including Family Relationships and Sex Roles, You and Your Sexuality and Intro to Human Development.

She also is the housemom for a K-State fraternity.

Some of the men in the fraternity worked with her during the summer and told her she either needed to be an MTV veejay or a housemom. She opted for the latter.

"I quickly learned about the all-American male," she said. "Plus, I teach sex, so I guess they think they can tell me anything.'

Along with her professional life, she is engaged to a man who is also a graduate student of K-State. She's not sure if the two will stay in the United States or go back to New Zealand.

"I'm not sure what I'll have for breakfast tomorrow, let alone where I'll be," Duncan said.

Johnson said she would like to return to New Zealand. "If I could get a job, I'd go,"

she said. "It's just a whole different attitude - so unsuperficial and uncatty.

Overburdening of states a concern

ASSOCIATED PRESS

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W.Va. (AP) - Some of the nation's governors said Thursday they want to ensure states aren't overburdened with government programs if a Republican-led Congress works to balance the federal budget.

States must be included in decisions on changes in welfare, health care, block grants and other federal programs, said Gov. Howard Dean of Vermont, Governors' Association.

'We have to make sure the details are still consistent with making sure that the state can run their own affairs and making sure we are simply not the new payers for the existing programs simply to balance the federal budget," said Dean, a Democrat.

The association began a threeday meeting Thursday at the posh Greenbrier resort for the country's new governors. At least 10 governors-elect were scheduled to attend, including Republican Bill Graves. Some current governors also were to attend, including Democrat Mel Carnahan, of Missouri.

The meetings were for incoming governors to learn about setting up an office, setting an agenda, dealing with the press and handling life in the public eye.

"They're all war stories," Republican Gov. William Weld, of Massachusetts, said of the of Utah, delivered a similar warning meetings, which were closed to the media and public.

The recent election shifted the slate toward more Republican governors. There will be 30 GOP governors, 18 Democrats and one independent. The Alaska governor's race remains undecided.

The association has no opposition to a balanced budget amendment. Dean said the governors planned to discuss the issue this week.

"The key to the balanced-budget amendment will be to make sure that they are not simply passing the taxes over to us and expecting us to raise taxes to pay for their programs," Dean said.

Republican Gov. Mike Leavitt, to Washington, D.C.

Last week's election clearly showed Americans want decisionmaking power shifted from Washington, to local and state governments, Leavitt said.

But the nation's governors intend to play a prominent role in decisions on federal budget cuts, he

"We intend to be partners in decisions on how those cuts are made," Leavitt said.

"If we dealt with this simply as a matter of providing some form of balanced-budget protection without creating some structural protection for states, we would be entering a period of substantial risk," Leavitt

A Little Space Can Say A Lot! Collegian Advertising 532-6560

Paris Tel Aviv Mexico City Tokyo Bangkok

1•800•226•8624 Call for a FREE Student Travels magazine!

AUDITIONS

for KSU Theatre Spring Productions:

THE HEIDI CHRONICLES - This witty and touching play covers the coming of age of Heidi Holland and some friends from the '60s through the present. (Roles for men and women.)

STREET SCENE - is an American opera set in a poor immigrant neighborhood in the late 1930s New York. The plot revolves around Anna and Frank Maurrant and their daughter Rose. (There are numerous singing roles and some non-singing roles.)

> WHEN: November 20 at 2-5 p.m. Calibacks: Monday 7 p.m.

WHERE: Nichols Hall Lobby for "Heidi Chronicles" All Faith's Chapel for "Street Scene"

Scripts are available for reading in 128 Nichols Hall. You may bring a prepared song for the opera audition.

OPEN TO ALL KSU STUDENTS. WE ENCOURAGE STUDENTS OF ALL ETHNIC BACKGROUNDS TO AUDITION FOR ALL ROLES.

FOR MORE INFO CALL 532-6875.

Study reveals homosexuality partly biological

ASSOCIATED PRESS

▶ RESEARCH

NEW YORK - A key passageway between two parts of the brain may be bigger in gay men than in heterosexual men, according to a recent study.

The study offers new evidence that sexual orientation is at least partly a matter of biology.

The size difference appeared in the communication conduit between parts of the brain used for understanding speech and perceiving objects.

The finding suggests that sexual orientation may be part of a larger package of brain characteristics, so that gay men as a group may have a different pattern of mental skills than heterosexual men, said researcher Sandra Witelson.

She said that her study of 21 men was small and must be confirmed by further work. She also said its results and implications apply only to groups and not Witelson, a psychiatry professor at McMaster University in in Miami Beach, Fla., at the annual Neuroscience.

Studies in 1991 and 1992

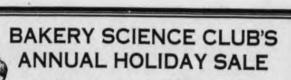

brain differences found so far really influence sexual orientation, and they may even be results of it, he said. Nor is it clear whether the brain differences affect mental functioning, he said.

Hamilton, Ontario, discussed the work before presenting it Thursday meeting of the Society for reported size differences elsewhere in the brain that were related to sexual orientation. Roger Gorski, co-author of the 1992 study on brain differences between homosexual and heterosexual men, said the discovery of another difference is no surprise. "I'm sure we're going to find others," he said in a telephone interview.

But it's not clear whether the

BUBBLE ROLL BREAD $2.80 FRUIT CAKE $6.75 ORDER YOUR ITEMS

COFFEE CAKE $3.90

NOVEMBER 9-22 CALL 539-1514

PICK UP ITEMS NOV. 30 FROM 3-5 P.M. IN SHELLENBERGER HALL FIRST FLOOR

Gorski, a professor of anatomy and cell biology at the medical school at the University of California at Los Angeles, also said the size differences in Witelson's study might have been due simply to chance.

Scientists are debating what produces sexual orientation. Witelson said the idea that biology plays a role clearly does not mean that environment is irrelevant, but what it means is that environment is not the whole story.

11th & Moro - Aggieville 537-1616

equal value FREE with this coupon. New Hours: 7 a.m. - 11 p.m. Daily

10 a.m. - 11 p.m. Sunday

Don't Call Home

collect or with a calling card Give Mom and Pop a break with their personal 800 number Absolutely NO Set-Up Charge NO Additional Phone Lines 7 a.m. to 6 p.m. Mon. thru Fri. only 24¢ per minute weekdays only 19¢ per minute all other times ASK ABOUT OUR 50% LONG-DISTANCE DISCOUNT > or 913-827-5048 Larry G. Warner INDEPENDENT REPRESENTATIVE

Call 1-800-727-4075 then 6709

TELECOMMUNICATIONS

IVERSIONS

ARTS AND ENTERTAINMENT CALENDAR

DE Bosom, Six Penny - 9 p.m. at Charlie's Neighborhood Bar. Free for 21 and older.

Today, Saturday / "The Mask" - 7 and 9:30 p.m. in Union Forum Hall.

NOVEMBER 18, 1994

▶ CROSSWORD

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

zon" land

down hard

Tijuana

55 "A Chorus

56 Loses

one's Line" show-

DOWN

1 No man's land?

corted

good as

3 Makes new

4 Speed-ratio number

5 Burning

6 Orches-

7 Buffalo Bill

forename

MacGraw

trate

8 Canine

9 Actress

10 Chaps

2 Unes-

EUGENE SHEFFER

language

23 Humorist

Myron

25 Slapstick missile

21 Pops

24 Mimic

26 Buddy

28 Become

30 Teeter-totter complement

31 Chop stick?

32 Gal of song

operator 37 He'll keep you in champ

clashers

slowly

dent

43 Foolish

stitches

33 Squid

squirt 36 PC

ACROSS 39 Hot tub 1 Scenery 41 Apprehend 45 Goosechewer 4 Half of all bumpparents inducina 47 Literary collection

7 Charley horse 12 Stout 48 "Lost Horirelative 13 Jennings 52 Beat network 53 Sound 54 Two, in

14 Fuel ship 15 Nancy's 16 Blissful locale 18 Finish 19 Torment

20 Teen's room? grip? 22 OED closer 57 Before 23 Daisy Mae's 27 Have bills 29 More's ideal place 31 Remark to the house 34 Chauffeur's handful 35 Home of er's pride 38 Benevo-

37 Place-kicklent org.

Kubla Khan

11 Opposite 58 Actor of "post" 17 Pakistan 40 Leonine group 42 Home run Solution time: 25 mins. 44 Crippled 45 Hollywood 46 Move S I M P L E 48 Despon-

49 "Ben- --" 50 Fuss 51 Quick drink Yesterday's answer 11-18

For answers to today's crossword, call 1-900-454-6873 | 99¢ per minute, touchtone / rotary phones. (18+ only.) A King Features service, NYC.

11-18

CRYPTOQUIP

FSUWGSQU ZGDSPXZ

EQ NTFF ZGDXXG;

RDXTGXZ T ZWERP VTDPXG Yesterday's Cryptoquip: HEARD AT CONVEN-TION OF FAMOUS COMEDIANS: "FUNNY WEATHER WE'RE HAVING TODAY."

Today's Cryptoquip clue: F equals L

NEW CRYPTOQUIP BOOK! Send $4.50 (check/m.o.) to CryptoClassics Book 2, PO Box 6411, Riverton NJ 08077.

The Cryptoquip is a substitution cipher in which one letter stands for another. If you think that X equals O, it will equal O throughout the puzzle. Single letters, short words and words using an apostrophe give you clues to locating vowels. Solution is by trial and error.

THE FAR SIDE

GARY LARSON

"Leonard painted that and hung it up just this ernoon. ... He calls it, 'It's My Couch! My Cour Don't They Understand?'"

► MIGRAINE

KELLY CAMPBELL/COLLEGIAN

Thursday's Migraine was your old pal Jim from Jim's Journal.

► CALVIN AND HOBBES

BILL WATTERSON

▶ FOXTROT

BILL AMEND

Sex can change a friendship

Cassandra Duveaux

Write to: Dear Cassie, 116 Kedzie Hall Manhattan, Kan., 66506

Dear Cassandra,

I was watching a TV show in between classes, and the topic was, "Does sex destroy a friendship?" While not trying to get involved (I've many girl friends I would like to sleep with), I noticed that the females always came at the question from a different viewpoint than the males.

It seemed that the guys continued to act the same as they did before sex. The girls seemed to want the guys to change into a different person. The guys thought sex should be shared between friends and did not see why the women were upset when they did continue to act like they did before sex.

My question is, do women truly think of guys as just friends and never think about sex? Also, how can a guy let a girl know he would like to have sex and still hang out while not sounding like he is from another planet?

Signed, Misconstrued

Dear Misconstrued

There's no doubt that many women, and men, too, view their friendships differently after they have had sex.

Many people feel committed after sharing such an intimate action, especially women. Women tend to experience sex emotionally, whereas men tend to experience sex more physically, making it easier to walk away from the situation after the physical act is completed.

There is still a huge double standard in society. If a man sleeps with his girl friends, he may be considered a hero. If a woman is found sleeping with her male friends, she's considered easy or a slut. What woman wants that reputation?

Think about it, if all friends decided to have casual sex, when would it ever mean anything? How special would you feel if one of your girl friends you were with admitted she had lots of male friends she would like to sleep with besides you? Many people want sex to be an act of love, not just a physical release of tension. I don't think these women want men to change; they just don't want to feel used.

I'm afraid if you want to sleep with your girl friends and that's all you want from them, they might not be your friends much longer.

Try to avoid situations where the other involved might feel used. Even if that's not your intention, it could come across that way.

'Love Bites' fun with vampires

TERRY SCRUTON Collegian

You think your relationship has problems?

You ain't seen nothing yet. "Love Bites," is a love story about a rather unusual couple. She's a leprechaun; he's a werewolf. Maybe they should be guests on Geraldo.

Margaret O'Malley, played by Jennifer E. Johnson, first meets Bobby Chase, played by Scott Marshall, at a convention for the occult.

The two hit it off right away, but the problems are not far behind. Things start off OK, but soon Bobby's alter ego begins showing through.

She keeps pushing for a commitment, but Bobby isn't so sure. You see, once a month when the moon is full, he must feed on the flesh of the living, sometimes including those close to him.

There are the fights, the making up, and the romantic moments that come in between. Almost any couple would probably see themselves in Margaret and Bobby.

The relationship even comes complete with a nay-saying best friend, a New York witch named Morganna Le Noir, played very nicely by Jody Dyan Nelson.

Morganna warns her leprechaun friend to be wary of her new love. Werewolves, she says, cannot be trusted.

"One minute, he's nibbling on your ear, the next, he's chewing your leg off," she says.

As the relationship progresses, Margaret realizes she cannot change. Maragret must decide if she trusts him enough to stay with him on those nights when the moon is full.

You see, werewolves will not eat the ones they truly love.

Rounding out the cast are Sam Erickson as Baron Von Heigel, a phony vampire who's interested in more than just sucking blood, and Rick Coffman, as Margaret's leprechaun father.

The dialogue is extremely funny in places, and a bit clichéd and sappy in others. Some of the jokes date back to at least the middle ages.

"Give someone an inch, and they think they're a ruler," quips Morganna in one scene.

But lines like this are few and far between, and as such can be easily forgiven. Especially when the rest of the play is so well done.

The humor is delightfully twisted.

Jokes are made about everything from sex and drinking to eating babies and the worries vampires and werewolves have about contracting AIDS from their victims.

"Just because you're a white, middle-aged werewolf, don't think it can't happen to you." Von Heigel warns Bobby. An especially good performance was given by Nelson who, as Morganna the witch, sounds for all the world like Linda Richmond, Mike Meyer's Coffee Talk alter ego from Saturday Night Live.

The sparks especially fly between her and Marshall. It seems the witch and the wolf don't get along very well. The two share some rather tense and funny moments on stage.

Marshall and Johnson are both believable as the young lovers. Erickson and Coffman both turn in great supporting performances as well.

"Love Bites" is a charming play and makes for an enjoyable night at the underrated Purple Masque

LOVE BITES

Come to Kearby's Restaurant

"Love Bites," by Lisa Doty will be performed Thursday, Friday and Saturday at 8 p.m. in the Purple Masque Theatre.

Admission is $2 for K-State students and senior citizens, $3 for everyone else

BREAK

Cancun from 1-800-235-TRIP

Spring Fever!

•FRI. BOSON T. DIGITAL ENGINE from Emporia

Makin'it great!

CALL THE LOCATION NEAREST YOU.

 AGGIEVILLE 539-7666 WESTLOOP 539-7447

•3RD & MORO 776-4334

PIZZAS with 2 - TOPPINGS each - COKES with ice

· Buffet - six meat items

· 3 bot vegetables

Carved meats nightly

2 bomemade soups

Large salad bar

Homemade pie "by the slice"

Sugar-free pie, pudding, & jello

· Cookies, muffins, & more!

All Comes LRLL w. buffer purchase

Everyday

Two-fers

Everyday Three-fers - PIZZAS with

Restaurant

Hrs. Tues. - Sat. 11a.m. - 9p.m.

Highway 24 East 539-1332

(NO coupon needed, NONE accepted)

- TOPPING each - COKES with ice $10.34

Pizza Shuttle 776-5577

▲ Mark Smirl, lead singer of Stick, sings during the band's hourat Snookie's Bar Wednesday night.

◀ Stick, an alternative-rock band out of Lawrence, entertains a large crowd at Snookie's Bar.

STEVE HEBERT

► LIVE-MUSIC REVIEW

Stick it to 'em

Moshers and bouncers square off during a three-band show in Aggieville

NOLAN SCHRAMM

he red-haired man with porkchop sideburns stepped up to the microphone and introduced himself. Marty Robertson was his name, and his band was known as Ten Thumb.

The band members began their set, and the audience cheered them on.

Drummer King Crawford had his arms in the air like a maltese monkey, pounding Ten Thumb's music into tangible sounds that could be felt on the cellular level.

Robertson's guitar work was precise, considering he was also singing his air-siren vocals at the dexterity would probably allow him to be a one-man band. And Dan Lee's bass blended

His remarkable musical the sounds into a band. All too soon, the set was over. Robertson announced that Puke

Weasel would be arriving soon. After a brief intermission, Andy Sample stepped up to the microphone. Puke Weasel has been the music veteran of Manhattan's live-music scene

The first gritty chord that guitarist Doug Minner struck ignited the crowd into a frenzy.

since March 1991.

Fifty people rushed to the floor, ready for the pit to open up. Drummer Alan Keithley hit the symbols to start the rhythm countdown. On the fifth count, the band exploded into action, as Keithley pounded the drums that drove the crowds to war.

Bodies thrashed and flung about to this completely dark, totally aggressive music. Sample romped around the stage, screaming the lyrics to the song "Heave" through the microphone to the crowd.

Three songs later, after a song for the whole family called "Burning the Dog," Sample stopped the show and made a special announcement.

"This is the last time Puke Weasel will be playing together," he said. A few "What?'s" echoed though the club. A murmur of discontent rose from the crowd. 'Yeah, that's right," Sample said. "We're changing our name to Spine." A muffled riff by Minner broke the confusion of the crowd. Several people cheered; others were still in shock at the thought of no more Puke Weasel.

Andy Sample, lead singer for Puke Weasel, sings into his microphone Wednesday night at Snookie's Bar. Ten Thumb and Puke Weasel, now called Spine, opened for Stick.

Sample also took this opportunity to introduce new guitarist "General" Mike Custer to the people. They cheered wildly as the next song began.

Teeth rattled as bass guitarist Dave Boomer belted out the rhythm for the next song. During that song, a kid got kicked out for diving off the stage.

People booed the bouncers, who likely had never seen moshing this intense and were having trouble knowing where to draw the line.

The next one was a song so new, it was still unnamed - until now. Sample dedicated it to "the kid who got kicked out."

The bouncers had their hands full of good, friendly, violent, fun-loving people. This generated immediate controversy.

Their last encore was a cover of "Love Gun." Sample's vocal rendition added a razor's edge to the Kiss classic, as they said a quick thank you to the crowd and left the stage to Stick.

Mark Smirl, lead singer for the Lawrence-based band, wore a backwards hunter's-orange cap and horn-rimmed plastic glasses.

He introduced the band, and it began playing to a huge crowd of people who had made their way to the front. Time slipped away as the people stomped to the beat of a familiar drum. Erik Conn, former drummer for Roach Factory, was now a part of Stick's music arsenal. The crowd in front was huge, and everyone wanted to jump around and mosh to this unique brand of alternative rock. Needless to say, the bouncers had their hands full of good, friendly, violent, fun-loving people. This generated immediate controversy.

Smirl stopped after a few songs and mediated the brewing conflict. The bouncers agreed to leave the body passers alone if the concert-goers agreed to stay off the equipment and stage.

The show resumed, full force. The song "Fuel" drove the moshing people into a flurry of activity. The notes followed one another in an orderly. comfortable fashion.

Luckily for the bouncers, the music was happy. It was the kind of music that made you want to get up and dance, in one way or another.

Get In Here!

532-6560

Advertise in the COLLEGIAN

The following merchants invite you to come by on Sunday, Nov 20, 1-5 p.m. to begin your holiday shopping in earnest.

> Ben Franklin Crafts Borck Brothers Children's Discovery Museum Exotic Aquatics Fashion Shop Little Apple Brewing Co. Little Caesar's Pizza Office World/Bookshop Rod's Hallmark The Frame Maker Waters True Value Hardware

May you Ring Ching with pride, may your memories stay clear, May your angels surround you, and always be near. May your arrow fly straight, and high in the sky, And may God bless the women of Pi Beta Phi. Love, The Seniors

BEAU and ARROW

Mr. Goodcents Subs & Pastas®

1317 Anderson (Behind Varney's Book Store) MR. GOODCENTS

3) Meatball

4) Sausage

green peppere & 5) Chicken Salad

6) Cheese Mix

Cheese Double Meat

We Deliver! (minimum $5limited delivery area) 539-1900

Sub Sandwiches Hot Pastas te or Wheat Bread) hite or red sauce & garlic 299 1) Mr. Goodcents Combo 499 cents Ham, Bologna, Salami, Pe 2) Centsable Sub 479 cents 3) Penny Club Roast Beef, Turkey, Ham) 4) Italian Combo 299 499 cents 359 cents 359 cents Capicola, Pepperoni 5) Ham & Cheese 6) Pepperoni & Cheese 7) Salami 499 cents 499 cents 8) Roast Beef Sides 9) Turkey 0) Tunafish 499 cents 499 cent (4) 185 (4)289 (6) 260 cents (6) 399 cents (6) 189 cents 11) Capicola 2) Mr. Goodcents Steak 539 cent

499 cents 499 cents 299 cent Chef Salad 299 cents 299 499 cents 279 cents 499 cents Tuna Salad 169 cent 30 cents 179 cents 150 cents Pasta Salad 65 cents Potato Salad

Cheeses Available 75 cents Swiss-American-Mozzarella Cheddar-Provolone-75 cent Standard Dressings Large Lettuce-Tomato-Onion Oregano Coke, Diet Coke Sprite, Mr. Pibb 99 cents 99 cents Also Available Mustard-Mayonnaise-Pickles

> Party Trays Available Prices are subject to change without prior notice.

LASSIFIEDS

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

20 words or less - $5 each word over 20 - $.20 per word

2 DAYS 20 words or less - $6.25 each word over 20 - $.25 per word 3 DAYS 20 words or less - $7.25 each word over 20 - $.30 per word

4 DAYS 20 words or less - $8 each word over 20 - $.35 per word

5 DAYS 20 words or less - $8.50 each word over 20 - $.40 per word

(consecutive day rate)

HOUSING/

For Rent-

REAL ESTATE

Apts. Furnished

AVAILABLE FALL very nice one, two, three and four-bedroom apartment complexes and houses. Excellent loca-

d. There is a $10 service charge on all returned checks.

We reserve the right to edit, reject or

HOW TO PAY DEADLINES s must be paid in advance

Classified ads must be placed by noon the day before the date you want your ad to run. Classified display ademust be placed by 4 p.m. two working days prior to the date you want your ad

FREE FOUND ADS

CANCELLATIONS

If you sell your item before your ad has expired, we will refund you for the remaining days.

You must call us before noon the day the ad is to be published.

CORRECTIONS

if you find an error in your ad, please call us. We accept responsibility only for the first wrong insertion.

Call 532-6555 to place your classified.

GET THE WORD OU PLACE YOUR CLASSIFIED AD IN KEDZIE 103

532-6555 532-7309

Antiques

Computers

486DX 25 4MEG RAM, 340

IBM COMPATABLE com

puter with color moni

MEG hard drive, CD ROM, 14.4 Kbps mo-dem, SVGA monitor, Win 3.11, DOS 6.22, lots

TIME MACHINE Antique

Maul and Geeb Empori-um, 6000 square feet,

antiques, collectibles

estate jewelry, furni-ture, 4910 Skyway Dr. four blocks east of Man-hattan Airport. Open Tues.- Sat. 12- 6p.m. 539-4684.

430

COLLEGIAN CLASSIFIEDS K-State Collegian Kedzie Hall 103

OFFICE HOURS MONDAY-FRIDAY 8 a.m.-5 p.m. (Except holidays)

TRIPS

Tour Packages

Research

and Relaxation

in London, Bath

and the English

Countryside

Spring Intersession 1995

May 15-28

Galleries, theatre,

The Tower, Stonehenge,

Bath Music Festival

History, Art,

Architecture

$1,650 from KCI

includes everything but

lunch. Sign up now to assure 1994 price.

Dept. of Art, 532-1757 or

539-6947, or Prof. Rick

For more detailed information, contact

Prof. Diane Dollar,

Announcements

S Financial Aid S

Attention All Students!
Over $5 Billion in FREE Financial Aid is now available for students nationwide from private sector
grants & scholarships! All students are eligible regardless of grades, income, or parent's income. For more information, call:

1-800-959-1605 ext. F57681 50 PERCENT off single oyntz, 537-4141. ADVANCED FLIGHT Train-ing from 5000-hour ATP instructor. Private single-engine through ATP multi-engine. Hugh Irvin, 539-3128.

COME FLY with us, K-State Flying Club has five air-planes. For best prices call Troy Brockway, 776-6735 after 5:30p.m.

COUNTRY WESTERN or Country Rock, single or ? For Sauturday nights 6- 9p.m. (plus?). Call Mike or Louis (913)293-5737 9a.m.-Louie 9p.m. except Sundays 9a.m.- 3p.m., for alcohol free restaurant per-formance and/ or "Club Dance."

Broke?

Earn $15 each time you donate

plasma.

MANHATTAN BIOMEDICAL

CENTER

1130 Gardenway

776-9177 .-Fri. 9 a.m.-6:30 p.m., Sat. 9 a.m.-2 p.m.

NEW YEARS Resolutions NOW. Stop smoking, lose weight, Tropical Tan with out the sun, stay stress free, with all natural herbal products. For information, Tina 776-6332.

PROFESSIONAL PET PHOTOGRAPHS, $19.95 includes $5 donation to Humane So-ciety. Sunday, Nov. 20 at Animal House Pets 210 N. 4th. Call 210 N. 4th. Call 537-6111 for appoint

Personals

030

We require a form of picture ID (KSU, driv-'s license or other when placing a per

NANCY— BIOLOGY: Did not think I'd do it did ya. Happy 30th and many more. Rascal. YOU- GREEN shirt: Me-

Bass Pro T-shirt: talked 11/14 Willard before 3:15 enrollment, need to meet you! RSVP in Personals!

Parties-n-More ADD A splash to your next bash. Great anytime. Birthdays, mid-terms and Wildcat victory par-ties. Wet-N-Wild Mobile Tubs, 537-1825. ADD AN extra touch of class to your next par-ty. Call Wayne's Water Party to rent a portable hot tub 537-7587, 539-7561.

tions with great prices. 537-1666, 537-2919. JAN. 1. One-bedrooms in complexes $280- $300. No pets, lease required 587-0399. Hockey, Bases Loaded

ONE-BEDROOM apartment for rent. Great pricel 327 Fre-mont. For more informa-tion call after 6:30 (587-9062).

ONE-BEDROOM APART-MENT. Close to cam-pus. Available January '95. Hot water and heat-ing free. Rent $230. Call Sebastian, 539-3048.

ONE-BEDROOM FUR. NISHED, one and one-half blocks from cam-pus, carport, $300. Pets on approval. Call M- F, 9-6,537-4720.

ONE-BEDROOM, KITCHEN, bath, furnished or un-furnished. Close to campus. 537-0687. Leave message.

QUIET SURROUNDINGS for study. Campus one mile, one-bedroom some utilities paid. Minimum seven month lease, no pets. 537-8389.

Unfurnished

1219 KEARNEY. Large two-bedroom, no pets. Wa-ter/ garbage included. Available Jan. 1, $495. Close to campus. 539-5136.

814 THURSTON, studio. No pets. Water/ ga bage included. Avail able Jan. 1, $275

CAMBRIDGE SQ. APT.

*2 BEDROOMS *FIREPLACE *POOL 537-9064

WEEKDAYS 9:00-4:30 AVAILABLE DEC. 15, one bedroom basement Water, trash paid. No pets. 776-3804. AVAILABLE DEC. 17, one bedroom. 1005 Blue-mont $385. Two blocks east of Aggieville and campus. No pets. 776-AVAILABLE FALL very nice one, two, three and four-bedroom apartment complexes and houses. Excellent locations with great prices. 537-1666, 537-2919.

AVAILABLE IN January, two-bedroom west of City Park. 1417- 1419 Leavenworth $475. Water/ trash paid. Parking available. No pets. 776-AVAILABLE JAN. 1, one bedroom near campus. 1700 N. Manhattan. Royal Towers. $395. Sun deck, hot tubs, laundry facilities. No pets. 776-3804. AVAILABLE JAN. 1. Two bedroom, $375/ month, plus utilities. No pets. 900 Fremont. Call 539-7336 for appoint AVAILABLE NOW at Ware-ham Hotel, 418 Poyntz. Studio apartment $340. Water/ trash paid. Laundry facilities on premis es. No pets. 776-3804. ONE-BEDROOM BASE-MENT apartment. Large bedroom, $240/ month, 1006 Fremont. 587-8568.

ONE-BEDROOMS AVAIL-ABLE in January near campus. 1854- 1858 Cla-flin. $355- $380. Water/ trash paid. Laundry facilities. No pets. 776-

HEADLINES

s you have an esta

For an extra charge, we'll put a seadline above your ad to catch the seader's attention.

ONE-BEDROOMS AVAIL-ABLE at 1026 Sunset. $385- $395. Remodeled units. Central air/ heat.

Laundry facilities. Three blocks west of campus. 776-3804. STUDIO ONE block from campus. 776-0761.

STUDIOS AVAILABLE in Dec. at Wareham Hotel. 418 Poyntz. $320- $375. Water/ trash paid. Laundry facilities on premises. No pets. 776-3804.

THREE-BEDROOM, ONE HALF block from cam-pus. 1829 College Heights. Water/ trash paid. Laundry facilities on premises. No pets. 776-3804.

TWO-BEDROOM APART MENT for rent, one block from University. 539-2857 or 539-0410.

TWO-BEDROOM NEAR City Park, available in Dec. 1026 Osage. $495. Water/ trash paid. Laun-dry facilities on premis-es. No pets. 776-3804.

TWO-BEDROOM NEAR City Park. 1026 Osage $495. Available in Jan. Water/ trash paid. Laundry facilities. No pets. 776-3804.

Available

ROOMS for rent, $160/ month, one-fourth utilities. Close to campus, available im-mediately. Call Laura at 776-4546.

For Rent-Houses

JAN. AVAILABLE through May or July. Furnished six-bedroom house. West- side City Park. Walk to campus Non-smokers. No pets. $950 per month plus electric. 776-6396.

NON-DRINKER smoker, for two-bed-room place. No pets. References. 539-1554.

For Sale-

Houses

FOR SALE: beautifully re modeled home in cen-tral part of town. Con-venient location. Eu-gene Field School. Call 539-1265 after 5:30p.m. weekdays or after 9a.m. weekends.

Roommate Wanted

AVAILABLE IMMEDIATE-LY at Chase Manhattan Apartments. Ground lev-el, four-bedroom, fur-nished apartment. Share utilities and rent with three males. with three males. (913)742-2743 after

AVAILABLE JANUARY.
Male non-smoking
roommate. $175/
month plus one-third utilities. Large bed-room; laundry, pool. Close to campus. Call 776-6401. FEMALE NEEDED for three-bedroom house, $200/ month, one-third utilities, washer/ dryer, close to campus 776-1890. FEMALE NON-SMOKING roommate wanted Two-bedrooms and one-fourth bath own. $145/ month plus one-half utilities. Wash-er/ dryer. Available Jan. Gardens, 587-0141. FEMALE

MALE ROOMMATE needed for two-bed-room apartment. Pool included, close to cam-pus. Call 587–4184. ROOMMATE FEMALE needed for spring se mester. Two-bedroon apartment one block from campus. $215/ month. 587-9431, leave message.

FEMALE ROOMMATE MALE ROOMMATE
wanted to live at Brittnay Ridge. $215/
month, own room,
washer/ dryer, dishwasher, two and onehalf baths, one-fourth utilities. Available mid-Dec. or 587-8622. Jan.

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted to share spacious two-bedroom du-plex near Westloop. Rent $238 plus one-half utilities. Available Dec: 1. 537-6017.

ROOMMATE three blocks from cam-pus, furnished, dish-washer. $210 plus half utilities. Call 587–9597. FEMALE WANTED to share cozy three-bed-room house. Very close to campus, utilities in-cluded in rent. Call Jen-nifer or Susannah nifer or 537-7872.

MALE STUDENT room mate wanted Jan. 1. $180 per month. Call Brad 537-4186.

MALE TO share three-bed room, very nice, clean house. Washer/ dryer, dishwasher, etc. Close to campus. Begin Janu-ary. $220/ month plus one-third utilities

776-0618. NON-SMOKER, SHARE house, utilities with responsible mostly male household. Large bed-room, laundry, $160. Available now. 539-2468. Keep trying.

NON-SMOKING FEMALE to share house, $250/ month, one-third utili-ties. Quiet, clean neigh-borhood. Must seel Evenings 587-0787.

ROOMMATE NEEDED, at Brittnay Ridge, for sec-ond semester lease. Will pay first months rent. Call 539-5664, ask for Shawn, or leave message. ROOMMATE WANTED immediately to share one-forth rent and one-forth bills. Own room and bath. One-half block off campus. Call 776-5910.

ROOMMATE WANTED, close to campus, wash-er/ dryer. Available Jan. 1 or sooner. $237.50 plus one-half utilities, 537–3913.

ROOMMATE WANTED Non-smoking male col-lege student needed to share nice two-bed-About 10 minute walk to campus. Close to Aggieville too. $210/month plus utilities.

Sorry, no pets! Lease starts when you move in. Call John right away at 776–9559. WANTED NON-SMOKING and non-drinking room-mate for basement furnished private bed-room. Walk to KSU. $150. Share utilities.

WANTED ROOMMATES to share nice four-bed-room house for spring and/ or fall '95 semescall Shauna ters call (776-3130). WOODWAY APARTMENT for sublease. Female roommate needed to sublease furnished apartment in January or before. $208/ month plus one-third utilities. Please call 776–9587 if interested- Leave a

539-1554

Sublease

AVAILABLE NOW, nice big two-bedroom balcony pools, hot tub. West loop area. Rent $435 water, trash paid. Call Shannon 587-8890. EXTREMELY NICE two-bedroom apartment. New carpet and floors, deck, one and one-half baths and lots of stor-age Jan. 1- May 31. Sublease. 537-3073.

FOUR-BEDROOM, TWO bath, available Dec. or Jan. $ negotiable, 587-4120.

MALE NEEDED. Three-bedroom basement apart-ment available Decem-ber. $165, one-fifth utilities, washer/ dryer. 587-8814, 532-6604 Tues., Thurs. ask for Bart or leave message.

ONE-BEDROOM APART-MENT, one block from Aggieville and campus. First month paid. Start January 1. Leave mes-sage 527-3596 ONE-BEDROOM APART

MENT with balcony. Within walking distance of campus and Ag-gieville. No deposit re-quired. Call 537-4768. ONE-BEDROOM IN Threebedroom, one and one-half bath apartment. Two blocks from cam-pus, $220, mostly fur-nished. Move-in after finals or Jan. 1. Amy 776-0293 or 776-7004,

SPRING SEMESTER. One bedroom furnished, one block from cam-$380/ month.

SUBLEASE STARTING Dec. 19. Nice one-bed-room apartment; one and one-half blocks from campus! Includes new kitchen appliances; central air; and laundry facility in building. $370

a month (water and (206)545-4804 ext. N57681.

DIRECTORY

SERVICE

Resume/ Typing

BRING YOUR papers, resumes, and projects to life at The Computer Help Desk. Top- quality printing, with graphics if desired. Great stuff at great prices! Call 537-3018.

Automotive

Repair NISSAN- DATSUN Repair SAN- DATSUN Repair Service. 22 years ex-perience. Mazdas, Hon-das and Toyotas also. Auto Craft, 2612 Dipper Lane, Manhattan, Kan-sas. 537-5049. 8a.m.-5p.m. Mon.- Fri.

services PROMPT CONTRACEPTIVE and abortion services. Dale L. Clinton, M.D.,

EMPLOYMENT/ CAREERS

Help Wanted

$1500 WEEKLY possible mailing our circulars! No experience re-quired! Begin Now! For information call (202)298-8957. ALASKA EMPLOYMENT-

Fishing Industry. Earn up to $3000 - $6000 plus per month. Room and Board! Transportation! Male/ female. No experience necessaryl (206)545-4155 ext.

COMPUTER NETWORK ADMINISTRATOR: part-time student position, mostly regular scheduled hours with some emergency trou-bleshooting hours. Re-sponsible for oversee-ing 55-computer Macintosh network, including software backups, and records maintenance. Should be familiar with Macintosh operating systems 6 and 7. Client server networking for an ethernet network. TCP/IP experience a plus. Salary negotiable based on experience. Pick up an applications in 113 or 103 Kedzie.

Application deadline is noon on Tuesday, Nov. 22. CRUISE SHIPS NOW HIRING. Earn up to $2000 plus/ month working on Cruise Ships or Land-Tour companies. World trav-el (Hawaii, Mexico, the Caribbean, etc.) Sea sonal and full-time em ployment available. No experience necessary. For more information call (206)634–0468 ext. C57682.

KKSU RADIO needs parttime reporter. Must be full-time student. Ex-perience preferred. Call Richard Baker, 532-5951.

MACINTOSH TROU BLESHOOTER: part-time student position mostly regular sched-uled hours with possible emergency hours.
Assists in overseeing
55-computer Macintosh
network, including
hardware and software
troubleshooting and general maintenance. general maintenance. Should be familiar with Macintosh operating systems 6 and 7. Minimum wage to start. Pick up an applications at 113 or 103 Kedzie.

NATIONAL PARK JOBS- Over 25,000 openings! (including hotel staff, tour guides, etc.) Benefits plus bo-nuses! Apply now for best positions. Call:

PART-TIME RETAIL. Out going person to sell lighting/ stockroom, break and spring, good experience for right person, bring your schedule, see Cheryl, Endacott Lighting 309 Moro, 776-4472.

SKI RESORT JOBS- Hir ing for many positions for winter quarter. Over 15,000 open-ings! For more infor-(206)634-0469 ext. V57682.

SKI RESORT JOBS! Ever wanted to work in the Rockies? For fun and adventure call Ski-Venure (619)683-2300.

STUDENTSI WORK even-ings now until Christ-mas break. Four hours/ night, M-F, 55.50/ hour and up. Need good strong phone voice. De-pendable. Randy or Pam 539-2121.

Apply in person Mon., Wed., Fri. 11- 5p.m. at Kickers 2315 Tuttle Creek Blvd.

WAIT PERSONS needed

Business Opportunities

DON'T BE fooled by a GET- RICH- QUICK scheme or ads that FLASH DOLLAR AMOUNTS. Call Stratton Enterprises to start your own business in lecommunications

We operate with MORE THAN JUST ONE LONG DISTANCE CARRIER. Get paid commission on your customers usage. Call 1-238-7871. Leave message and MAKE $3900 first month. Telecommunications Company expanding into area. Needs managers, sales reps, trainers. Small in vestment regired. Training provided. Call Jeaneane (800)977-6836

MARKET

Items for Sale

FOR SALE: 19-inch Sanyo color TV $130. Dee Zee running boards for long bed Chevy pick-up. Best offer, 539-1735.

FOR SALE: Gorgeous black formal, size 7, strapless, three-quarter length. Perfect for upcoming Christmas formal or dinner. Reasonable price. Call 539-8870 after 4:30 or leave mes sage for Cristy.

MOTORCYCLE HELMET and cover, both like new. Call after 5p.m. 537-2342.

Manhattan, Kan. 66506

Automobiles

1986 RED Mazda RX-7.

Electric sunroof, new clutch and brakes. 70,000 miles, $5000. Call 539-2920. 1987 DODGE Aries-K, au tor, keyboard, printer and software. Great for papers. $400 or best off-er. Contact Mike at 587-0269. MACINTOSH COMPUT ER. Complete system including printer only $500. Call Chris at (800)289-5685.

Music

Instruments ACOUSTICAL- ELECTRI-

CAL Bass guitar sale. $200. 395-4805.

Supplies EMERGENCY: PUPPIES and dogs all ages and breeds, desperately need homes immediate ly or will be destroyed. (913)456-2592.

(913)494-8415. PROFESSIONAL PET PHOTOGRAPHS, $19.95 includes $5 donation to Humane So ciety. Sunday, Nov. 20 at Animal House Pets 210 N. 4th. Call 537-6111 for appoint-

Sporting Equipment

FOR SALE: solo-Flex, three years old, all attach ments. Excellent condi-tion. Call 539-4680.

PORTATION

'85 VW Scirocco. 79K miles. Loaded, excellent condition. $2300 or best offer. 539-7890.

stereo, cruise. Excellent condition. Asking $1685. Call 776-3410, tomatic, four-door, power steering and brakes, AM/FM stereo, air conditioner, 113K plus, excellent condi-tion, $1500 (negotiable) 587–9294. 1991 NISSAN NX 2000.

1983 HONDA Accord four

Burgundy color, five-speed manual transmis-sion. AM/FM stereo cassette, fog lights, rear window wiper/ defog-ger, T-top extractable sunroof with remov-able sun shields. 51,000 miles (military and home, Georgia, travel). Owner is PCSing to Ko-rea. Price $8000.

rea. Pr 776-1082. SILVER TWO door Honda Accord EX extremely nice has 58,000 miles, # fully loaded, 537-3073.

Forsyth, Dept. of Landscape Architecture, 532-1093 or 537-0197.

Airplane Tickets

leaves Wed. 23 comes back Sun. 27. $250 or best offer. Leave mes-

FROM KCI to Las Vegas

GET THE WORD OUT.

532-6555

ADVERTISING PRODUCTION

Kedzie 103 532-6555

Publication Practice IMC 360

ONLY ONE POSITION LEFT ON THURSDAY.

Get training and gain experience while earning one hour of credit this spring. Attend class on Thursdays from 8:30-11:30 a.m. The instructor's permission is required. The experience you gain in the spring would qualify you to apply for a paid position in the summer or fall.

Come to 113 Kedzie

8 a.m.-4 p.m.

for more information and syllabus.

CLASSIFIED DIRECTORY

their price range.

TIPS FOR WRITING A CLASSIFIED AD

Always put what item or service you are advertising first. This helps potential buyers find what they are looking for.

Don't use abbreviations. Many buyers are confused by abbreviations. Consider including the price. This tells buyers if they are looking at something in

CATEGORIES

To help you find what you are looking for, the classified ads have been arranged by category and sub-category. All categories are marked by one of the large images, and sub-categories are preceded by a number designation.

WE DO NOT USE PHONE NUMBERS OR LAST NAMES IN

PERSONALS.

SCIENCE

Study shows drugs lower cholesterol

ASSOCIATED PRESS

DALLAS — The first study showing that cholesterol-lowering drugs save lives could profoundly change the way doctors treat heart disease, making these medicines a front-line therapy for millions of Americans.

The study, being formally presented today at a meeting of the American Heart Association, shows the drug simvastatin reduced the risk of death by 30 percent in five years in people who have had heart attacks and angina.

About a fourth of U.S. heart patients now get cholesterol-lowering drugs. While they have been available for several years, doctors have been reluctant to give them routinely because of doubts about whether they really do any good.

Experts say the latest research should silence the skeptics.

Dr. Joseph Goldstein, of the University of Texas Southwestern Medical Center, who shared the Nobel Prize in 1985 for cholesterol research, said if medical studies were rated like restaurants, he would give this one four stars.

"This is a landmark study in the history of medicine," he said.

Dr. B. Gregory Brown, of the University of Washington Medical Center in Seattle, said the discovery may be "the holy grail of cardiovascular disease."

Treatment with cholesterollowering drugs could reduce the need for bypass surgery and angioplasty, said Dr. K. Lance Gould, of the University of Texas Medical School in Houston. He plans to recommend cholesterollowering drugs for all his heart patients with high cholesterol.

"This could have a tremendous economic impact," he said.

Treatment with cholesterollowering drugs costs between $1,000 and $2,000 per year, depending on the brand and dose used. Heart-bypass operations cost about $40,000. Angioplasties, in which balloons are used to squeeze open clogged arteries, cost about $18,000 and often must be repeated.

Simvastatin is one of four similar cholesterol-lowering drugs now on the market. It is made by Merck & Co., which paid for the study

The study was conducted on 4,444 men and women at 94 hospitals in Denmark, Finland, Iceland, Norway and Sweden. They were randomly assigned to get simvastatin or dummy pills. Among the key findings after five years of follow-up:

—The overall risk of death was 30 percent lower in the group that took simvastatin, and their risk of dying from heart disease was 42 percent lower.

—256 patients in the placebo group died, compared with 182 in the simvastatin group.

—The need for coronary bypass operations and angioplasty was 37 percent lower in the treated group.

"Cholesterol lowering with this powerful drug prolongs life," said Dr. Terje R. Pedersen of Aker Hospital in Oslo, Norway, the study's director.

When the study began, the patients' cholesterol levels were mildly elevated, ranging from 212 to 309. After taking the drug, their cholesterol fell by 25 percent, and their levels of HDL, the good form of cholesterol that protects against heart disease, rose 8 percent.

Worldwide, heart disease causes about one-fourth of all deaths, about 12 million per year. People who have already had a heart attack are at high risk of suffering another

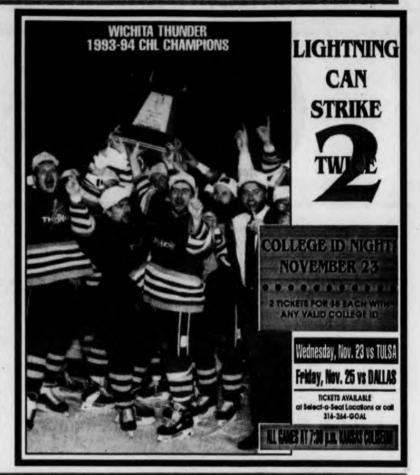

The researchers calculate that during a six-year period, nine of every 100 heart attack and angina patients will die from heart disease, and taking the cholesterol-lowering drug could prevent four of these deaths.

Dr. John Kjekshus, a co-author of the study, said it shows that taking cholesterol-lowering drugs is as important as quitting smoking in preventing further heart attacks.

Although simvastatin was the only drug used in the study, Dr. Jukka T. Salonen, of the University of Kuopio, in Finland said he believed the rival medicines will work just as well.

The study does not answer a larger question about these medicines — their use in outwardly healthy people. Some doctors prescribe them to people who have high cholesterol levels but no signs of heart disease. There is still no evidence that the medicine helps these people live longer.

CANNON CREW

The Children's Heart Foundation was established in 1985 to help children and youths who have heart diseases or other conditions which require transplants. The Phi Kappa Tau Cannon Crew is on a mission to help save the lives of those children who need our support. For the third year, every time the Cats score, our cannon on the hill roars to support the children's Heart Foundation. You can help save a child's life by purchasing a CANNON CREW t-shirt at all home football games.

FOR MORE INFORMATION ON HOW TO JOIN THE CREW, PLEASE CONTACT:
PRESTON PEINE - PHI KAPPA TAU at 913-539-7416 or STOP BY THE K-ROCK BOOTH AT GAMES.

04290

06320

32210

35350

CLOSED CLASS LIST

| 00150    | 04370     | 06340    | 08000   | 10280    | 12950  | 14870   | 17070  | 20120  | 22860 | 24600  | 28420 | 32700 | 35500 |
|----------|-----------|----------|---------|----------|--------|---------|--------|--------|-------|--------|-------|-------|-------|
| 00200    | 04490     | 06350    | 08140   | 10290    | 12960  | 14880   | 17080  | 20160  | 22870 | 24610  | 28560 | 32720 | 35530 |
| 00220    | 04660     | 06380    | 08160   | 10300    | 12970  | 14890   | 17110  | 20170  | 22880 | 24630  | 28730 | 32730 | 35570 |
| 00450    | 04690     | 06390    | 08170   | 10310    | 12980  | 14900   | 17130  | 20180  | 22960 | 24650  | 28740 | 32750 | 35640 |
|          |           |          | 08180   |          |        |         |        |        |       |        |       |       |       |
| 00460    | 04750     | 06420    |         | 10320    | 12990  | 14910   | 17190  | 20190  | 22980 | 24660  | 28780 | 32780 | 35742 |
| 00550    | 04760     | 06530    | 08190   | 10330    | 13100  | 14920   | 17200  | 20240  | 23000 | 24670  | 28790 | 32790 | 35760 |
| 00840    | 04770     | 06540    | 08220   | 10340    | 13280  | 14930   | 17210  | 20250  | 23010 | 24710  | 29010 | 32800 | 35790 |
| 00980    | 04780     | 06550    | 08230   | 10350    | 13290  | 14940   | 17220  | 20260  | 23020 | 24720  | 30060 | 32810 | 35950 |
| 01000    | 04790     | 06560    | 08270   | 10360    | 13310  | 14950   | 17230  | 20280  | 23060 | 24730  | 30070 | 32850 | 35960 |
| 01030    | 04800     | 06590    | 08280   | 10370    | 13320  | 14960   | 17440  | 20290  | 23080 | 24740  | 30090 | 32870 | 35970 |
| 01060    | 04840     | 06600    | 08290   | 10380    | 13330  | 14970   | 17450  | 20300  | 23090 | 24800  | 30130 | 32880 | 35990 |
| 01070    | 05050     | 06620    | 08300   | 10390    | 13360  | 14980   | 17550  | 20710  | 23100 | 24810  | 30150 | 32900 | 36000 |
| 01150    | 05060     | 06630    | 08310   | 10400    | 13370  | 14990   | 17590  | 20930  | 23110 | 24870  | 30160 | 32910 | 36010 |
| 01160    | 05070     | 06640    | 08320   | 10410    | 13380  | 15000   | 17670  | 20950  | 23120 | 24880  | 30210 | 32920 | 36030 |
| 01200    | 05170     | 06650    | 08350   | 10520    | 13400  | 15010   | 17770  | 20970  | 23130 | 24890  | 30310 | 32930 | 36040 |
| 01230    | 05220     | 06660    | 08360   | 10530    | 13410  | 15020   | 17780  | 21000  | 23140 | 24910  | 30320 | 32940 | 36050 |
| 01250    | 05240     | 06670    | 08370   | 10540    | 13420  | 15030   | 17880  | 21010  | 23150 |        | 30330 | 32950 |       |
|          |           |          | 08460   |          |        |         |        |        |       | 25130  |       |       | 36060 |
| 01360    | 05250     | 06680    |         | 10640    | 13430  | 15040   | 18270  | 21020  | 23160 | 25150  | 30340 | 32960 | 36160 |
| 01370    | 05260     | 06690    | 08470   | 10650    | 13450  | 15050   | 18280  | 21050  | 23170 | 25180  | 30360 | 32980 | 36180 |
| 01630    | 05270     | 06700    | 08520   | 10660    | 13470  | 15060   | 18300  | 21060  | 23180 | 25200  | 30370 | 32990 | 36190 |
| 01820    | 05280 -   | 06710    | 08540   | 10670    | 13490  | 15070   | 18320  | 21080  | 23200 | 25210  | 30380 | 33000 | 36200 |
| 01890    | 05290     | 06720    | 08550   | 10680    | 13550  | 15100   | 18330  | 21110  | 23210 | 25220  | 30400 | 33040 | 36220 |
| 01900    | 05300     | 06730    | 08560   | 10690    | 13560  | 15120   | 18340  | 21120  | 23220 | 25230  | 30430 | 33100 | 36240 |
| 01910    | 05310     | 06830    | 08565   | 10700    | 13790  | 15140   | 18370  | 21130  | 23230 | 25240  | 30480 | 33120 | 36250 |
| 01920    | 05320     | 06860    | 08580   | 10710    | 13820  | 15180   | 18380  | 21190  | 23280 | 25270  | 30490 | 33130 | 36260 |
| 01930    | 05330     | 06870    | 08610   | 10720    | 13840  | 15240   | 18500  | 21230  | 23290 | 25280  | 30520 | 33170 | 36270 |
| 01940    | 05370     | 06890    | 08630   | 10730    | 13930  | 15290   | 19140  | 21450  | 23300 |        |       |       |       |
| 01970    | 05390     | 06900    | 08680   | 10740    | 13940  |         |        |        |       | 25300  | 30540 | 33180 | 36280 |
|          |           |          |         |          |        | 15350   | 19150  | 21460  | 23310 | 25320  | 30600 | 33190 | 36290 |
| 01980    | 05450     | 06920    | 08690   | 10750    | 13950  | 15390   | 19160  | 21470  | 23350 | 25350  | 30630 | 33200 | 36300 |
| 01990    | 05460     | 06930    | 08710   | 10760    | 13970  | 15400   | 19170  | 21480  | 23360 | 25360  | 30910 | 33210 | 36310 |
| 02230    | 05470     | 06950    | 08720   | 10800    | 13980  | 15420   | 19180  | 21510  | 23370 | 25400  | 30920 | 33230 | 36380 |
| 02240    | 05480     | 06960    | 08740   | 10830    | 13990  | 15450   | 19190  | 21520  | 23380 | 25410  | 30930 | 33260 | 36390 |
| 02280    | 05490     | 06970    | 08760   | 10840    | 14000  | 15480   | 19200  | 21530  | 23400 | 25430  | 30940 | 33270 | 36400 |
| 02300    | 05500     | 06980    | 08780   | 10850    | 14010  | 15490   | 19210  | 21540  | 23440 | 25440  | 30950 | 33290 | 36420 |
| 02450    | 05510     | 06990    | 08980   | 10860    | 14020  | 15570   | 19220  | 21550  | 23460 | 25450  | 30960 | 33330 | 36440 |
| 02500    | 05520     | 07000    | 09120   | 10870    | 14030  | 15650   | 19230  | 21560  | 23560 | 25470  | 30980 | 33340 | 36460 |
| 02600    | 05530     | 07010    | 09130   | 11021    | 14040  | 15660   | 19240  | 21590  | 23570 | 25611  | 31000 | 33350 | 36480 |
| 02610    | 05540     | 07020    | 09200   | 11230    | 14050  | 15670   | 19250  | 21600  | 23580 |        |       |       |       |
| 02620    |           |          |         |          |        |         |        |        |       | 25630C | 31030 | 33380 | 36590 |
|          | 05550     | 07030    | 09410   | 11240    | 14060  | 15680   | 19260  | 21610  | 23590 | 25640  | 31040 | 33440 | 36770 |
| 02670    | 05570     | 07040    | 09870   | 11250    | 14070  | 15690   | 19270  | 21620  | 23600 | 25650  | 31110 | 33450 | 36960 |
| 02700C   | 05580     | 07050    | 09880   | 11520    | 14110  | 15700   | 19290  | 21630  | 23610 | 25670  | 31120 | 33470 | 36970 |
| 02710    | 05590     | 07060    | 09890   | 11530    | 14120  | 15750   | 19320  | 21640  | 23630 | 25680  | 31150 | 33570 | 37190 |
| 02730    | 05600     | 07070    | 09900   | 11560    | 14130  | 15760   | 19340  | 21650  | 23660 | 25700  | 31160 | 34070 | 37230 |
| 02920    | 05610     | 07080    | 09910   | 11690    | 14150  | 15830   | 19350  | 21680  | 23670 | 25720  | 31180 | 34110 | 37250 |
| 02930    | 05620     | 07090    | 09920   | 11740    | 14160  | 15860   | 19400  | 21690  | 23680 | 25730  | 31190 | 34150 | 37300 |
| 02940    | 05630     | 07100    | 09930   | 11750    | 14170  | 15900   | 19460  | 21700  | 23690 | 25750  | 31220 | 34190 | 37700 |
| 02950    | 05650     | 07130    | 09940   | 11760    | 14180  | 15960   | 19470  | 21720  | 23710 | 25770  | 31240 | 34200 | 37770 |
| 02960    | 05660     | 07140    | 09950   | 11770    | 14190  | 15980   | 19480  | 21770  | 23760 | 25800  | 31270 | 34230 | 37920 |
| 02970    | 05670     | 07200    | 09960   | 11780    | 14270C | 16070   | 19540  |        |       |        |       |       |       |
|          | 05690     |          | 09970   |          |        |         | 277.44 | 21800  | 23770 | 26800  | 31280 | 34270 | 38340 |
| 02980    |           | 07210    |         | 11790    | 14280C | 16210   | 19640  | 21850  | 23890 | 26810  | 31560 | 34310 | 80210 |
| 02990    | 05710     | 07220    | 09980   | 11800    | 14360  | 16280   | 19650  | 21890  | 23900 | 26820  | 31570 | 34330 | 80230 |
| 03000    | 05740     | 07230    | 09990   | 12061    | 14370  | 16310   | 19660  | 21910  | 23910 | 26830  | 31580 | 34340 | 80510 |
| 03010    | 05750     | 07240    | 10000   | 12190    | 14380  | 16340   | 19680  | 22030  | 23920 | 26840  | 31590 | 34390 |       |
| 03020    | 05760     | 07250    | 10010   | 12240    | 14390  | 16500   | 19690  | 22070  | 23930 | 27190  | 31600 | 34420 |       |
| 03030    | 05780     | 07260    | 10020   | 12260    | 14400  | 16560   | 19700  | 22080  | 23940 | 27200  | 31630 | 34430 |       |
| 03040    | 05790     | 07310    | 10030   | 12330    | 14440  | 16790   | 19710  | 22090  | 23950 | 27210  | 31640 | 34440 |       |
| 03050    | 05800     | 07320    | 10040   | 12370    | 14450  | 16800   | 19720  | 22100  | 23960 | 27220  | 31660 | 34450 |       |
| 03060    | 05810     | 07330    | 10050   | 12380    | 14460  | 16810   | 19730  | 22110  | 23970 | 28000  | 31670 | 34460 |       |
| 03070    | 05820     | 07360    | 10060   | 12440    | 14470  | 16820   | 19740  |        | 23980 |        |       |       |       |
| 03100    | 05830     | 07390    | 10070   |          |        |         |        | 22120  |       | 28010  | 31690 | 34470 |       |
|          |           |          |         | 12450    | 14480  | 16830   | 19760  | 22190  | 24000 | 28020  | 31700 | 34520 |       |
| 03250    | 05940     | 07410    | 10080   | 12780    | 14590  | 16840   | 19770  | 22210  | 24010 | 28030  | 31820 | 34530 |       |
| 03280    | 05950     | 07450    | 10090   | 12790    | 14600  | 16850   | 19800  | 22230  | 24020 | 28040  | 31830 | 34540 |       |
| 03370    | 05970     | 07480    | 10100   | 12800    | 14610  | 16860   | 19810  | 22380  | 24030 | 28050  | 31840 | 34560 |       |
| 03390    | 05990     | 07620    | 10110   | 12810    | 14630  | 16880   | 19830  | 22390  | 24060 | 28060  | 31860 | 34570 |       |
| 03421    | 06010     | 07750    | 10120   | 12820    | 14640  | 16890   | 19840  | 22400  | 24070 | 28070  | 31870 | 34571 |       |
| 03430    | 06020     | 07770    | 10130   | 12830    | 14650  | 16900   | 19850  | 22430  | 24080 | 28080  | 31880 | 34572 |       |
| 03450    | 06080     | 07780    | 10140   | 12840    | 14700  | 16910   | 19860  | 22440  | 24090 | 28090  | 31890 | 34573 |       |
| 03460    | 06110     | 07790    | 10150   | 12850    | 14710  | 16920   | 19900  | 22450  | 24100 | 28120  | 31900 | 34574 |       |
| 03591    | 06130C    | 07800    | 10160   | 12860    | 14720  | 16930   | 19910  | 22490  | 24120 | 28150  | 31910 | 34681 |       |
| 03592    | 06140     | 07810    | 10170   | 12870    | 14730  | 16950   | 19920  | 22540  |       |        |       |       |       |
|          |           |          | 10180   | 12880    | 14740  |         |        |        | 24130 | 28160  | 31920 | 35150 |       |
| 03630    | 06150     | 07830    |         |          |        | 16960   | 19940  | 22550  | 24530 | 28170  | 31950 | 35180 |       |
| 03700    | 06160     | 07850    | 10190   | 12890    | 14750  | 16990   | 19960  | 22580  | 24540 | 28180  | 31960 | 35190 |       |
| 03720    | 06170     | 07860    | 10200   | 12900    | 14760  | 17000   | 19970  | 22600  | 24550 | 28190  | 32050 | 35260 |       |
| 414 (64) | 130 753() | 11/541/1 | 1677461 | 1 752173 | 14870  | 1 70110 | 200110 | 7761/3 | 24560 | 20220  | 22060 | 26200 |       |

Updated 9:59 PM, November 17, 1994

*Closed class list also available in Unicorn

24570

22820

17010

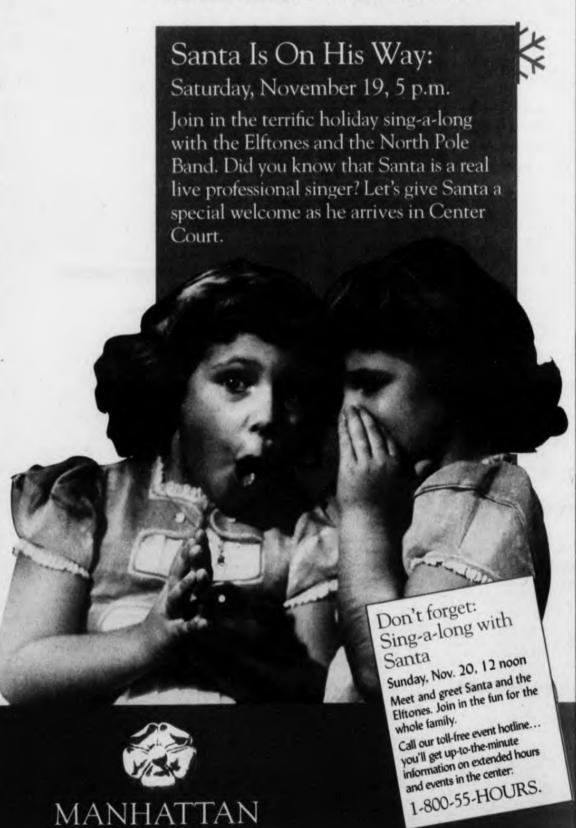

14820

C - Canceled class

Daddy says that Santa is bringing me nice presents because I was so good this year.

- When I see Santa at Town Center maybe I'll get to go to A&W Hot Dogs and More for a chili dog...I really hope!
- I'm giving my mom a haircut and some color. She says I give her white hair. I'll take her to Regis.
- Salutations has some really swell cards. They even have one for your icky brother.
- · I saw some neat shoes at Footlocker...that's a hint.

Dillard's JCPenney Sears Specialty Shops Daily 10 a.m.-9 p.m. Sunday 12 noon-6 p.m. Watch for our special holiday shopping hours

3RD AND POYNTZ

Picnic Place

NOVEMBER 21, 1994

KANSAS STATE UNIVERSITY, MANHATTAN, KANSAS 66506

Salina was home to 350 athletes from western Kansas who bowled in the Kansas Special Olympics Indoor Sports Tournament West this weekend. PAGE 3

LOW HIGH

► CAMPUS

Evaluations may be made public

The Student Senate ad-hoc committee is working to make teacher evaluations accesible, as they were in the 1970s.

Scantron forms are distributed in classrooms across campus at the end of

These forms are not for finals, they are for teacher evaluations.

In the 1970s, the results from these evaluations were available to all K-State students, but after a few years, the program was ended because of lack of funds, manpower and student

Around 20 years later, a Student Senate ad-hoc committee is working to bring the evaluations back into the public eye by asking for permission to have access to the evaluation results.

'We've gone through a five-year cycle where the proposal is dropped, forgotten and then started up again. Our goal for this semester is to make a resolution and find out what is possible and not possible," Aaron Otto, arts and sciences senator, said.

Steffany Carrel, Student Senate representative to Faculty Senate, said the committee's original intent was to publish the results of all the evaluations, but because of the strong faculty opposition, the proposal has been modified.

"The proposal is a watered-down version of the original intent. They are now considering giving the faculty the choice of whether or not to release the information," Carrel said.

Mike Zamrzla, student government chief of staff, said faculty will have the option of filling out an oval on the evaluation forms that will grant permission for the results to be released to the students.

Carrel said one of the reasons why not all faculty want to release the results is because some of the faculty members doubt the validity of the evaluations.

"It has occurred to me that the Faculty Senate and Senate as a whole don't put much credence in faculty evaluations because they think students don't know how to evaluate. It seems to them that the evaluations don't hold water anyway, so why should they be published?" Carrel said.

Otto said making the results public would be in the best interest of the students and the faculty.

"It would be good for both sides. It's not a 'we're out to get them' situation, and I'm scared that's what they think." Otto said.

Zamrzla said if the proposal is passed, it will allow certain faculty to be recognized as outstanding educators and would allow students to select the teachers who would fit their needs.

Carrel also said publicizing the evaluation results would be beneficial to the students because it would give them a better feel for the teaching styles and ratings of the instructors.

"Instead of going by potluck or word of mouth, the students could go by the more finely tuned student

See SGA Page 10

Special Olympics

WEATHER - PAGE 2

VOLUME 99B, NUMBER 65

STUDENT LIFE

Graduate pops question at game

LESLEY MOSS

Some people dream of seeing their name in lights.

Anne Gamble, 1994 K-State graduate, realized her dream when she saw the letters of her name and a marriage proposal appear in the Dev Nelson Press Box on Saturday.

"I had no idea it was going to happen. I thought we'd get engaged sometime next year," Gamble said.

Gamble said her boyfriend, Tondo Waldron, also a 1994 graduate, told her that she and her friend could get their pictures taken in Willie the Wildcat's car during halftime of the K-State-Oklahoma State football game.

"I work for the athletic department," Waldron said. "My office is in the press box, so I had the perfect avenue to execute my Waldron said Gamble was watching the game from the fourth floor of the press box during the first half of the game.

"The whole time she was up there wondering where I was. I had to run to the cameraman on the roof of the south concession stand in the pouring rain to tell him that it would all happen at the beginning of halftime. It was like 'Raiders of the Lost Ark," Waldron said.

"I told her that we'd get a picture of her and her friend in the Willie car and to meet me at halftime," Waldron said.

Gamble said she was standing down at the sidelines with her camera, ready to take a picture of her friend in the Willie car.

Waldron said he kept telling her the Willie car would arrive soon.

■ See PROPOSAL Page 10

PHOTOS BY DARREN WHITLEY/Collegia

Darren Brooke, Fort Riley soldier, and Chad Spencer, junior in kinesiology, put the pallet truck into a pick-up to be taken to the Flint Hills Breadbasket. Shirley Bramhall (bottom photo), executive director of the Flint Hills Breadbasket, hugs Lauri Brooke, sophomore in social work, after the pallet truck was unveiled as a gift from her Basic Nutrition class to the charity at noon Friday in Umberger Hall. Brooke helped raise $535 for the pallet truck in only 15 minutes.

Breadbasket receives pallet truck, cash

Students help others, surprise director with gifts

DOUG BASSETT

The executive director of Flint Hills Breadbasket had tears in her eyes as K-State's Basic Nutrition class presented her with a $535 pallet truck and $535 in checks.

The class told Shirley Bramhall that she was coming down on Friday to just answer questions community service.

"I had absolutely no clue. I am so excited," Bramhall said. "Thank you all from the very bottom of my heart."

The students raised the money for the pallet truck, which is similar to a small fork lift, through donations.

The students organized the whole thing, from finding out where to buy the pallet truck, to figuring out how to get it," Sharon Morcos, instructor of foods and nutrition, said. "There were about six or seven students that really contributed a lot of time and effort to do this."

The students raised the money in just one class period.

They brought the money to class, and while it was counted, the students got out one minute early for every $20 raised.

"Needless to say, we got out quite a bit early that day," Morcos said.

Morcos said that coming up with the idea was fairly easy.

specifically what

"We wanted to find out

"Sometimes, a whole semitruck full of loose potatoes will come, and that is really hard for them to unload," Morcos said.

The faculty and staff of foods and nutrition was also challenged by the students to match the amount raised.

This idea was carried out by Breadbasket needed," Morcos

She said they could have just given food, but the organization can do more with the money because they buy in bulk. Also, the class wanted to contribute something that could help for a long time, she said.

'Many volunteers are elderly, and it is hard for them to unload some of the trucks."

At times, the Breadbasket gets huge truckloads of items that are hard to unload, she said.

Altia Kemnitz, sophomore in human development and family

"She attended a faculty meeting and explained what the class had done to raise the money for the pallet truck," Morcos said. "Then she challenged us to match that amount. That really lit a fire under us to come up with the match."

Barbara Stowe, dean of human ecology, presented Bramhall with the money that the faculty and staff had raised.

"Thank you so much to all of you for your warmheartedness and the great thing that you have done," Stowe said

There were various teachers and faculty participating, and Ruth Ann Wefald spoke about the classes' efforts.

"I guess I have always known in my heart that K-State students are the best, and this just proves that," Wefald said. "I hope that all of you can feel the great sense of love that comes from giving."

Bramhall said she is very thankful for all that K-State does for the Breadbasket.

"I have watched Cats for Cans just grow and grow,' Bramhall said. "As of right now, K-State has raised over 39,000 pounds of food."

DONATIONS

The Student Publications Inc. office in Kedzie 103 will be accepting non-perishable food items for the Flint Hills Breadbasket through the end of December. The office is open 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday.

BREAK TIPS

THINGS TO DO BEFORE LEAVING FOR THANKSGIVING BREAK

1. Get gas for your car

3. Clean out your refrigerator

4. Turn down the thermostat

6. Feed your pets. Leave

extra food and water

AUTOMOBILE-WINTERIZING TIPS

Check to see that Store blankets, a spare tire, a jack, a first-aid kit, the radiator is filled extra oil and antifreeze, with the proper Inspect belts and jumper cables, a amount of hoses for cracks and general wear antifreeze. Also flashlight, sand bags, road markers and a CB change the oil every and tear. radio in the trunk. 3,000 miles and keep it full. Check tire wear, treads and see that they are properly inflated.

WINTER-INSULATION TIPS

Here are some insulation tips for students to use this winter.

■ Make sure that there are no cracks or holes in foundation

■ Insulate pipes

■ Put plastic over windows

■ Set furnace at 55 to 60 degrees

■ Landlords should be responsible for wrapping pipes ■ Set furnace at temperature warm enough so the pipes don't freeze

■ Lock doors and windows

Leave a small light on

■ Turn all appliances off

■ Don't shut furnaces down. If furnace is shut down, then landlord has legal right to claim compensation caused by water damage from freezing pipes

■ Disconnect all hoses from outside faucets

TRISHA BENNINGA, PHILL SPIKER & SARA SMITH/Collegia

NEWS BRIEFS

► FAMILY POISONED BY CARBON MONOXIDE FROM RUNNING VAN IN GARAGE

LOS ANGELES (AP) - Three members of one family are dead and two more were on life support Sunday, apparently poisoned by carbon monoxide pumped into their house by a van left running in the

Firefighters found the victims near dawn, when they responded to an alarm set off by the garage's sprinkler system, Fire Department spokesman Brian Humphrey said. The fumes apparently crept into the house through the connecting door to the garage, police Lt. George Gascon said.

The door was found ajar. The survivors, women ages 23 and 44, were in critical condition,

The dead were males believed to be ages 9, 13 and 35.

All are believed to be related. The youngest boy was found in

The 13-year-old was found in an upstairs hallway, and the man was in the living room.

The two women were on an upstairs landing, Gascon said. Police couldn't immediately determine why the van's motor was left running.

▶ RESCUED TURKEYS ADOPTED, BECOME PETS AFTER VEGETARIAN MEAL

PITTSBORO, N.C. (AP) -Seven plump turkeys were the main attraction at Karin Yates' pre-Thanksgiving dinner, and they weren't even the main dish.

They were among more than 100 turkeys rescued in August after their containers fell off a truck on the highway.

A group called Farm Sanctuary, based in Watkins Glen, N.Y., raised the turkeys as pets for its national "Adopt-A-Turkey" program, and brought them to what's been the nation's top turkey-growing state for a decade, producing 61 million birds just this year. The adoptees arrived at Yates' house Saturday.

She was running a little late, but before anybody could squawk, she whisked the meal out to a table in the yard and her guests dived into the spaghetti with soy margarine sauce, lettuce and cranberry salad, com and pumpkin pie. The human quests, that is,

As for the turkeys, their new families took them home after the vegetarian feast.

Shelley Burleson adopted three of the gobblers: "I'm doing it because I have a turkey who needs some friends."

The turkey lovers hope to persuade Americans to stop eating farm animals, but an industry spokesman wasn't ruffled. "It's a free society, and thankfully, we can do what we want to do." said Ed Woodhouse, executive director of North Carolina's Poultry

▶ SERBS BEGAN NEW AIR STRIKES: NAPALM BOMBS DROPPED ON BOSNIANS

SARAJEVO, Bosnia-Herze-govina (AP) - Bosnian's prime minister accused Serbs of launching new attacks Sunday toward the Bihac safe area in northwest Bosnia, and appealed for NATO airstrikes.

Prime Minister Haris Silajdzic's claim came after two raids by warplanes flying from Serb-held Croatia and decisions by the U.N. Security Council and NATO to broaden NATO's ability to launch airstrikes against the Serbs.

Silajdzic said Serb tanks had entered several villages around

The concrete action would be to take out those tanks ... with serious airstrikes." he said. There was no immediate U.N.

confirmation of that attack Serb warplanes on Saturday bombed the town of Cazin, about 10 miles from the Croatian border. and set ablaze an apartment house crowded with refugees.

In Zagreb, Croatia, U.N. spokesman Paul Risley said nine people were killed and 15 seriously wounded in the attack.

On Friday, the Serbs dropped napalm and cluster bombs on Bihac, 10 miles south of Cazin, in the first confirmed use of the incendiary weapon, U.N. reports said. There were no casualties.

In New York, the U.N. Security Council voted unanimously Saturday to authorize NATO to bomb rebel Serb forces in Croatia.

NATO decided Sunday to extend the possible use of its airpower into parts of Croatia if rebels there continued to launch attacks into

▶ PILOT TOOK NO ACTION WHEN PASSENGERS COMPLAINED OF ODD NOISES

PITTSBURGH (AP) Passengers complained about hearing strange noises aboard USAir Flight 427 before its deadly crash, the Tribune-Review of Greensburg reported Sunday, citing federal court records.

Documents filed in Chicago say there were at least three reports that passengers had heard an odd noise during the flight to Chicago. The jet left Chicago for Pittsburgh later on Sept. 8 and went down a few miles from Pittsburgh, killing all 132 people aboard.

The suburban Pittsburgh newspaper quotes the documents filed in lawsuits against the airline as saying USAir's maintenance foreman in Chicago apparently took no action because the plane's pilot told him the aircraft was fine.

In a deposition, the USAir mechanic in charge of the plane's departure said he was never told of the complaints. If he had been, he said, the Boeing 737 would not have left Chicago.

The cause of the crash is under investigation.

These reports are taken directly from the daily logs of the K-State and Riley County Police departments Because of space constraints, not all crimes are listed.

keeping with it.

K-STATE POLICE

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 19 |

And the last of th

At 10:50 a.m., police responded to a non-injury accident at Gate 3 on the west side of KSU Stadium. The driver of the first vehicle was Melvin Battin, of Topeka, and the driver of the second vehicle was Joseph Kennedy, of Frankfurt. More than $500 in damage was done to both vehicles.

At 1:04 a.m., a security guard

RILEY COUNTY POLICE

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 19

At 9:22 p.m., employees at the Holiday Inn reported that a sorority was occupying its rooms above capacity. They requested assistance in removing the excess people from the rooms. Officers warned the subjects.

SUNDAY, NOVEMBER 20

At 1:03 a.m., officers gave Brian D. Lang, of Ness City, a notice to appear for having an subject complied. open container of alcohol in public at the 1200 block of Moro

At 2:55 a.m., police received a noise complaint from 2021 College View, where a man was

At 10:47 p.m., officers received an unwanted-person report from 3300 Newbury. The subject reported that her 45-yearold daughter had taken guns and a tan Chevy truck from her found a child-size bike in Nichols Hall. He took it to the KSU Police Department for safe

an assault complaint from Haymaker Hall. The subject.

Thomas J. Mitchell, reported that another person had picked up a bottle and threatened to hit him

At 1:45 a.m., police received home. Options were provided. yelling through a bullhorn. Officers made contact, and the

At 3:37 a.m., officers received a report from the Best Western at 100 Bluemont Ave., where a subject was threatened with an axe handle. Police took the item in for safe keeping

CAMPUS BULLETI

There will not be an edition of the Collegian Tuesday due to the holiday. Publication will resume Nov. 28.

All undergraduate students in health-related degree programs are eligible to apply for a Student Cancer Research Award of $500. Applications are now available in the Center for Basic Cancer Research in Ackert 234. Application deadline is Dec. 2.

- K-State Songham Tae Kwon Do Club will meet at 8 p.m. today in the Ecumenical Campus Ministry Building.
- K-State Aikido Club will meet from 7 to 8:30 p.m. today in the Ecumenical Campus Ministry Building.
- The last oral defense of Haobo Jiang's doctoral dissertation is scheduled for 9 a.m. today in Chemistry/Biochemistry 437.
- The last oral defense of Jaafar Jantan's doctoral dissertation is - scheduled for 2 p.m. today in Cardwell 220.
- K-State Water Ski Team will meet at 9 p.m. today in Union
- American Society of Interior Designers will meet at 6:45 p.m. today in Hoffman Lounge in Justin Hall. There will be elections for the spring 1995 term.
- Alpha Zeta will meet at 7 p.m. today in Waters 137.
- Engineering Student Council will meet at 6:30 p.m. today in
- Latin American Studies Program will present the "Mexican View on NAFTA: Problems and Prospects" from 10 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. today in Union 212.

The Kansas State Collegian (USPS 291 020), a student newspaper at Kansas State University, is published by Student Publications Inc., Kedzie Hall 103, Manhattan, Kan., 66506. The Collegian is published weekdays during the school year and once a week

through the summer. Second-class postage is paid at Manhattan, Kan., 66502. POSTMASTER: Send address changes to Kansas State Collegian, circulation desk, Kedzie 103, Manhattan, Kan. 66506-7167.

C Kansas State Collegian, 1994

WEATHER

YESTERDAY'S HIGHS AND LOWS

STATE OUTLOOK

around 50 in the northwest to near Mostly sunny with highs from 55 in the southeast.

TODAY Sunny with a high

TOMORROW !

A 30-percent chance for showers late in the day, otherwise cloudy.

Highs around 50.

GRADUATE STUDIES DATABASE

4,000 concentrated Programs • More than 1,000 Graduate Schools • Over 300 Credentialling Programs • 500 Professional Oraganizations • Plus: School Catalog Service...we send the catalogs to you!

Why spend hours researching what school has what concetration, in what area of the country. We have all the information right here, the most extensive database available, and we even mail you the catalogs from the schools you choose. Information packets are available for students and

ARTER NETWORK ASSOCIATES

2210 Mt. Carmel Avenue, Suite 110, Dept. 10-5 Glenside, PA 19038 (215) 572-7670 FAX (215) 576-8354

Huser & Strong

Attorneys at Law 537-4603

Serving K-State's students and faculty Free Initial Consultation Affordable Student Rates

Don't Call Home

collect or with a calling card Give Mom and Pop a break with their personal 800

> Absolutely NO Set-Up Charge NO Additional Phone Lines

7 a.m. to 6 p.m. Mon. thru Fri. only 24¢ per minute weekdays only 19¢ per minute all other times

ASK ABOUT OUR 50% LONG-DISTANCE DISCOUNT Call 1-800-727-4075 then 6709

> Larry G. Warner INDEPENDENT REPRESENTATIVE

or 913-827-5048

TELECOMMUNICATIONS

Brokes

COLLEGIAN ADS 532-6560

You'd have to be

Because we have: The Best Futons. The Best Selection, The Best Service, The Best Prices. Period.

> 1126 Moro • 776.5950 In Historic Aggleville Open 7 days a week

Living with Diabetes

Symptoms of diabetes include fatigue, increased urination, thirst, blurred vision, weight loss or gain and dry skin. Diabetes affects about 12 million people in the U.S. and nearly 6 million people with diabetes have not been diagnosed.

> For information about Memorial Hospital's "Partners in Care" Diabetes Program, call Wini Schaedel, RN, Certified Diabetes Educator at 913-587-4275.

he news is out. Controlling your diabetes makes a difference for life. A recent 10year study proves that you can slow the onset and progression of long-term diabetes complications, including eye, kidney and nerve disease.

"I was sure that someday I would face serious complications of diabetes," says Merlene Hougland, a 28year-old who has had diabetes since she was a teenager, "but now I know I can keep myself healthy. The education classes at Memorial Hospital gave me the basic tools to control my diabetes. For the past three years, the ongoing support I get from the diabetes educators at Memorial gives me confidence to manage my disease."

Memorial Hospital's "Partners in Care" Diabetes Education Program helps people learn to live with their diabetes. We provide educational opportunities and support for children, pregnant women and adults of all ages. The education includes:

- medication and insulin therapy
- nutrition and exercise
- handling emergencies
- stress management prevention and management of diabetes complications diabetes at age 72. The education classes taught him the importance of self-care. "I need to eat properly and exercise every day," he says. "Since I will do this for the rest of my life, it's good to have the support of the doctor and the health team at Memorial Hospital."

Ken Filby was diagnosed with

Yesterday's values, tomorrow's technology

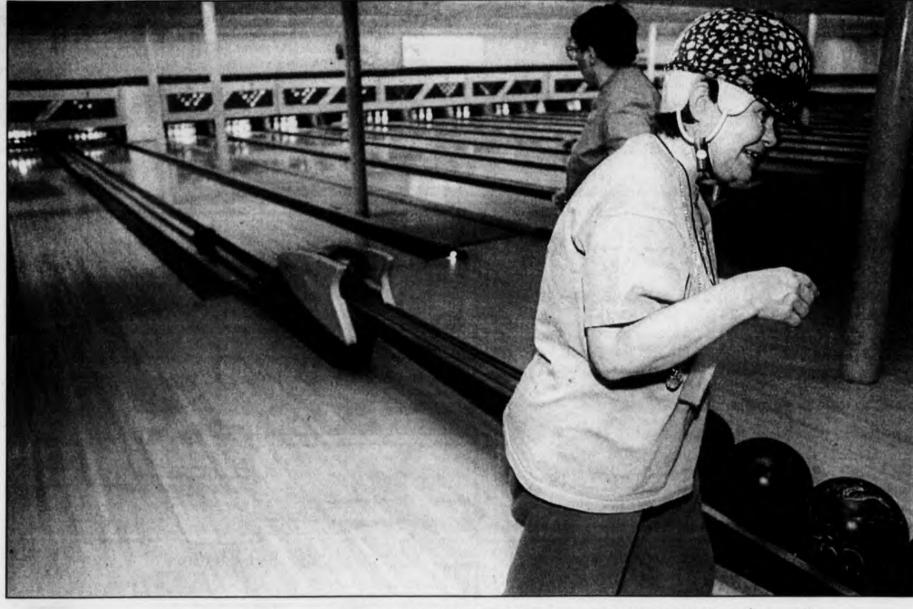

Sunset and Claflin

Manhattan

Wini Schaedel

RN, with Ken

913-776-3300

▲ Deanna Clayton receives hugs after the announcement of her first-place finish in the women's 30-99-year-old age group. Special Olympics was allowed to use the bowling alleys at a reduced price of $1 per ◆ Caroline Johnson walks back to her seat after bowling Saturday afternoon at Holiday Bowl in Salina. Johnson took sixth place in the 30-99-year-old age group during the 21st Annual Kansas Special Olympics Indoor Sports Tournament West. About 530 people were split up between Holiday Bowl and King Louie All Star bowling alleys in Salina. All the athletes from eastern Kansas competed in Lawrence.

PHOTOS BY CARY CONOVER
Collegian

Special games metes bowl for medals

by Jennifer Peterson

Some of the best athletes from western Kansas bowled in the Kansas Special Olympics Indoor Sports Tournament West in Salina this weekend.

In all, there were 350 athletes in the tournament.

Linda Smith, human resources and ceremonies director for the tournament, said the athletes who compete in the tournament are from Manhattan and all of the towns west of Manhattan.

Smith said the athletes are 8 years old and older and must have a mental handicap to compete.

"Some people think that people who are just in wheel chairs are eligible, but the athletes must be mentally handicapped to participate in Special Olympics," Smith said.

The athletes are grouped by their age, sex and ability," Brenda Smith, tournament director, said.

Linda said the athletes bowl two games and they use an 80percent handicap from the average of the two games to tabulate the

"We had some athletes that were upset because they thought they won since they bowled better than other athletes in their lanes," Linda

She said their coaches hadn't explained the scoring to them.

"They (the athletes) are extremely competitive," Brenda

Linda said the first through third place finishers received medals.

"The medals are gold, silver and bronze, just like the Olympics," Linda said

She said the fourth through eighth place finishers receive ribbons, and there are no more than eight people competing in a heat.

In order to accommodate the 530 athletes, parents, coaches and volunteers who attended the tournament, the athletes bowled at the Holiday Bowl and King Louie All Star Lanes bowling alleys.

Brenda said Special Olympics was allowed to use the bowling alleys at a reduced price.

CPI photo finish .

KODAK Film 3+1 Value Pack

FREE Kodak Gift Tin

CPI photo finish

Each Picture Is The Best It Can Be, GUARANTEED!

One Hour Service On Enlargements And Reprints

Includes 3 rolls of Gold Super 200 film ad 1 FREE roll of new Royal Gold 400 film

"We just have to pay one dollar per lane of bowling," Brenda said.

Parents, friends, coaches and volunteers filled both bowling alleys to cheer on the athletes.

Brenda said the parental support of the athletes is good.

"Saline County is unique in that the team requires the parents to travel with the athlete," Brenda Smith said the regional tournaments are a social as well as a competitive event for the athletes. "They only get to see each other six times a year," Linda said. She said competing in athletic

■ See EVENTS Page 10

BAKERY SCIENCE CLUB'S ANNUAL HOLIDAY SALE

COFFEE CAKE $3.90 BUBBLE ROLL BREAD $2.80 FRUIT CAKE $6.75

ORDER YOUR ITEMS NOVEMBER 9-22

CALL 539-1514

PICK UP ITEMS NOV. 30 FROM 3-5 P.M. IN SHELLENBERGER HALL FIRST FLOOR

> Make The Grade lease lique

Learn what color, cut, clarity and carat really mean at a free diamond grading seminar.

Nov. 25, 3-5 p.m. & Dec. 8, 7-9 p.m.

315 E. 55th, K.C., MO. Call for reservations 1-800-842-0248

Lafene Health Center Thanksgiving Hours

The staff of Lafene Health Center wishes everyone a safe and happy Thanksgiving holiday The clinic at Lafene will be closed on the following days: Thursday, Nov. 24 Friday, Nov. 25 Saturday, Nov. 26 Sunday, Nov. 27

Regular hours resume November 28.

ontact a local hospital in case of emergency

Lafene Health Center Kansas State University 532-6544

Byers' Choice Carolers® figurines

These charming characters, individually handcrafted, delight all who see them. Certain to become cherished heirlooms, their "merry spirit" brings the joyfulness of Christmas to all.

> To collect piece by piece, yours to give or receive.

Byens' Choice Ltd.

776-9067 5th & Poyntz Manhattan

Thurs. 9-7:30 Open Sundays 1-5

NOVEMBER 21, 1994

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

EDITOR.....Stephanie Fuqua MANAGING EDITOR..N. Stewart Anderson NEWS EDITOR......Cristina Janney PHOTO EDITOR.....Shane Keyser OPINION EDITOR.. John Meirowsky DESIGN EDITOR .... Derek Simmons ECOLLEGIAN EDITOR ... Mike Marlett

CAMPUS EDITOR.....J.R. Prather A&E/FEATURES EDITOR .. Andrew Tomb SPORTS EDITOR ...... Wess Hudelson GRAPHICS EDITOR......Sara Smith COPY CHIEF......Robin Kickhaefer CITY-GOV. EDITOR.....Lola Shrimplin ASST. SPORTS EDITOR ... Jeremy Crabtree ASST. PHOTO EDITOR .. Mark Leffingwell

AD MANAGER .... Ryndell Little ASST. MANAGER.....Ted Ellet SALES MANAGER....Jim Stothard TEARSHEETS MGR... Ivonne Zaldumbide NEWS ADVISER ...... Ron Johnson AD ADVISER ......Gloria Freeland

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

IN OUR OPINION

By the Collegian Editorial Board

Cat fans turn out in good numbers in '94

K-State football performance has been steadily improving, along with the attendance.

If you build it, they will come. In this case, this phrase describes the nationally ranked K-State football program and its fans.

The Wildcats made their last home appearance Saturday. The Cats beat Oklahoma State to give them a thirdplace finish and made them 5-2 in the Big Eight Conference. It's the first time since 1970 that the Cats won five games in Big Eight season play.

The fans have also been stepping up their performance since the 1970s. K-State improved its average attendance from 38,002, set back in 1970, to a 1994 average attendance of 38,236. Saturday's attendance of 32,815 gave K-State a total attendance of 229,236 for 1994. This was an improvement to the 1993 total attendance of 217,742.

SCOTT ALLEN

MILLER

There was some concern at the beginning of the year that K-State fans wouldn't turn out this year. K-State's non-conference schedule was not very strong, and the only big conference game was Nebraska. There was no Oklahoma, Colorado and, of course, Kansas on the home schedule like last season's schedule to attract fans to the games.

When other elements were added, like the possibility of bad weather and the hunting season, this didn't look like a good season for attendance. But the weather and the Cats' play were good overall, and Cat fans responded well.

▶ GUEST

VEST

Nice play, Cat fans.

Focus on issues, not on abortion

"We turned our gaze From the castles in the distance Eves cast down On the path of least resistance." - "A Farewell to Kings" Rush, 1977

Well, after so many months of simple parking disputes and name-calling on this campus, the Great Hubbub has been roused from its light sleep. Its name is abortion.

Armchair pundits who opine about abortion should be congratulated, really, but maybe the kudos should come after we all know why they're in order. Pro-life and pro-choice activists should be congratulated for doing what the leaders of the nation and the world like best. We are divided.

So, congratulations to both sides for dividing the human race.

Hmm, let's see, what was it a few years ago? Before there was the Roe v. Wade case, it was communists vs. capitalists. Before that? Progressives vs. libertarians. Abolitionists vs. slaveholders. Colonialists vs. democrats. Calvinists vs. Lutherans. Protestants vs. Catholics. Catholics vs.

so-called "heretics." Romans vs. everyone else.

And so it goes, ad infinitum, ad nauseum. Having something to hate and kill each other for is good for the powers that be. It's better for them for the public to argue over abortion — an issue that affects only a relatively small portion of the population with no right or wrong answers than for us to direct attention at matters that do affect us all:

Taxes that simultaneously make everyone more accountable to and more reliant on the federal government.

Hypertechnology that allows the federal government and businesses to know more about us than we know about

Laws that make criminals and the police force more heavily armed than the average law-abiding citizen.

Freedom of expression eroded to grease the squeeky wheels of society. The control of national and global media falling into fewer and fewer hands. The decline of standards of living for people worldwide as a few businesses seek to create a global plantation of The loss of local and even individual sovereignty as power is blindly surrendered to federal and then, in turn, to global powers in which democracy plays no role for average

An education system growing more concerned with social engineering and sports than cognitive development.

An environment becoming more unable to support a demanding population that, thanks to better medicine and better agriculture, has grown too large for it.

You see, it's easier to scream past each other about abortion until we're blue in the face than tackle problems like these. To try to solve these problems in earnest would be revolutionary and would topple so many institutions. It would suspend beliefs and disbeliefs alike. It would educate.

Go ahead. Everyone really cares whether you're pro-life or pro-choice. While you're at it, write the Collegian and tell

Is O.J. Simpson guilty or innocent? Will the Chiefs have a winning season?

What will Roseanne do about her tattoo of Tom Arnold's name now that they're getting divorced?

Is Hillary Clinton's new hairstyle better than her last? Who is the real loser, Princess Diana or Prince Charles? Is abortion a crime?

Whatever you see on CNN or read in USA Today, that's real life, at least for some of you.

For those of you who have opinions on these issues but don't even know who your Statehouse representative is, congratulations on taking the path of least resistance. It's so much easier to follow. It's so much easier to be the horse's ass than the horse's head.

Scott Allen Miller is a junior in radio/television.

Many factors point to Fort Riley's end

election and have pledged to strengthen the military, let's not forget that the Army drawdown affecting the future of Fort Riley is still in place.

Since Desert Storm ended in 1991, the Army has reduced in size by 25 percent, representing about 170,000 soldiers. By the end of September 1996, the active Army personnel strength must be further reduced from the current 530,000 to 495,000.

What are the implications for the Big Red One and Fort

The 1st Infantry Division (the Big Red One) is one of 12 Army divisions that are to be reduced to 10 divisions by late 1996. The current 12 divisions are 1st Infantry, Fort Riley; 2nd Infantry, Republic of Korea; 3rd Infantry,

Germany; 4th Infantry, Fort Carson, Colo.; 10th Infantry, Fort Drum, N.Y.; 24th Infantry, Fort Stewart, Ga.; 25th Infantry, Hawaii; 1st Cavalry, Fort Hood, Texas; 1st Armored, Germany; 2nd Armored, Fort Hood, Texas; 82nd Airborne, Fort Bragg, N.C.; and 101st Airborne, Fort Campbell,

Some key information lies between the lines in recent articles in the Army Times and USA Today. USA Today reported that three Army divisions have a C3 readiness rating. A C3 rating for an Army division equates to a corporation nearing bankruptcy. This is based on a one-to-four scale and is a monthly resource evaluation of a division. The

Just because Republicans won this month's criterion for this evaluation is equipment on hand and operable, personnel strength, training effectiveness, and a budget overview.

The divisions named as having C3 ratings were the 2nd Armored Division at Fort Hood, Texas; the 4th Infantry Division at Fort Carson, Colo.; and the 1st Infantry Division at Fort Riley. When that information is combined with the Army Times article on Force XXI, there is cause for alarm. Force XXI is the plan to redesign the Army for the 21st century and was developed by Gen. Gordon Sullivan, former commander of the Big Red One at Fort Riley. Part of the plan involves a brigade-sized experimental force, EXFOR, that will be fitted with new systems and digital technology for experimental research and evaluation. The division selected to become the parent of this brigade will have its survival ensured from the expected drawdown that mandates a 10-division structure.

The two divisions in the race for the EXFOR brigade are the 2nd Armored in Texas and the 4th Infantry in Colorado - two of the three C3-rated

The 2nd Armored offers 156,000 acres of maneuver area, as well as the infrastructure that goes with being a modern, two-division post. It's also Gen. George Patton's division. The 4th Infantry offers 237,000 acres at Pinon Canyon, some 155 road miles south of the main post. Fort Riley offers far less maneuver acreage, and efforts failed several years ago to expand it.

The possibilities are becoming clearer, especially since the Army Times article refers to Pentagon sources stating, "after the 10-division force takes shape, there may be some reflagging and redesignation of units."

What that could mean is that a unit, hypothetically the 1st Infantry Division, be moved, hypothetically, to Fort Stewart, Ga. The 24th Infantry Division now at Fort Stewart would, hypothetically, be reflagged and redesignated as the 1st Infantry Division. In other words, the division known as the Big Red One now at Fort Riley would become the 1st Infantry Division at Fort Stewart, and the 24th Infantry would have its colors retired. This appears logical because the 1st Infantry and the 24th Infantry are both mechanized divisions with similar organization and equipment structure.

One division gone. The second reduction, hypothetically, would be the division in Texas or Colorado that does not receive the EXFOR brigade.

The deduction to be drawn here is that three divisions now have a low-readiness rating. One of those divisions will become the home of the new experimental force brigade, which will salvage its

The remaining two divisions appear to be at the highest risk to be lost in the Army restructuring. But, realizing the historic significance of the 1st Infantry Division, one has to believe that the Big Red One colors will survive - but possibly fly at

The Army Times article also stated, "The announcement of the EXFOR's identity (location) will coincide with that of the two divisions that will be dropped from the force structure.

Therefore, just because Bob Dole will become Senate Majority Leader next year does not mean that Manhattan should relax and revel in the Republican victory and the GOP defense agenda.

Capt. Allen B. West has been an assistant professor in the Department of Military Science at K-State since 1991. In January, he will be reassigned to the 2nd Infantry Division, Republic of Korea.

READERS WRITE

Drop letters off at Kedzle 116 or send them to Letters to the Editor, c/o John Meirowsky, Kansas State Collegian, Kedzie 116, Manhattan, KS 66506. We accept letters by e-mail also. Our address is letters@spub.ksu.edu. Letters should be addressed to the editor and include a name, address and phone number. A photo identification will be necessary for hand-delivered letters.

ALLOCATIONS

Great things could be done with money

I would like to take this opportunity to comment on the column by Christy Little (Nov. 18). Way to go, Christy! You couldn't have expressed my thoughts better.

I will be leaving K-State this December. I have seen our Student Senate do some pretty nutty (outrageous?) things in the past 4-1/2 years. But this one, folks, takes the cake. I would like to remember my University for being a university that cared for its students, one that provided its students with an experience to learn about their world within a nurturing and safe environment. I'm sure that the Student Senate is getting pretty sick of suggestions, but I'll pitch in my two cents worth. (Not that it'll do any good, considering their track record ...)

How about doing something that will make our University stand out from the rest? How about doing something that will have an effect on its students and make us proud that we are products of a university that is known for its commitment to its students? These suggestions, I believe, would form the principles for implementing services and programs that might even attract a larger number of perspective students to our University as well as to make K-State more reputable. Might we start with the ideas of more tutoring facilities, tutors and public

I can just see it now. In the future, some K-State tour guide is showing around a bunch of high school students. "No, sorry, our tutoring program got scrapped last year due to insufficient funds. No, sorry, we don't have shuttle service like KU to get you to class ... But, hey, we have loads of benches!"

As it stands, Student Senate, with all this nonsense that is going on about the $17, 000, I really can't wait to leave.

Sarah Baird senior in modern languages and social work

ABORTION

Life begins at conception

What's the difference between Susan Smith's two children and an abortion? The abortion wasn't born yet. Now from a conservative comes a liberal idea: so what? Roe v. Wade does

SHERRY AHLGRIM

Roe v. Wade does not woman to have

during the last trimester. Birth protect the rights of a

an abortion is not the criteria."

abortion during the last trimester. Birth is not the criteria. The states have the potential for life.

not protect the rights of a woman to have an rights when it comes to As scientific knowledge increases, the percent of pregnancy where a strong potential for life exists becomes greater. Some day, when a human is conceived, developed and born in a laboratory, we will realize that life begins at conception.'

At that point, the Supreme Court will have little choice but to revoke Roe v. Wade. What will you argue then?

Blow that smoke.

Sherry Ahlgrim junior in animal science/pre-veterinary

ABORTION

Life begins with brain function

The situation in South Carolina where Susan Smith drowned her two children is in no way similar to an abortion. I find it highly offensive that anyone would even infer this. I do not know what sort of fallacious logic Mr. Walenta applied to come to this apocryphal conclusion, but surely it must have been a revelation from his direct psychic link to God. I understand that Mr. Walenta was trying to prove a point about abortion. However, by covering the issue with this travesty of mankind, all he does is veneer his idea with the dribbling refuse he calls thought.

Human life begins with brain function and ends with the termination of this function. At conception, the "child" is two cells fused into one. It is called a zygote. This object is not a human. It has the potential to be a human, but not even a well-trained embryologist could predict, without a tedious chromosomal count, whether it will develop to be a human or a chicken. It is a cell with no organs, no feelings and no brain. The two boys who were killed in South Carolina were thinking, feeling, living human beings with names, friends and Christmas lists. These were people, in every sense of the word. I have no malevolence toward Mr. Walenta, but I desperately wish him to see the error of his untrue and sacrilegious aphorism that what one woman did to her children years after birth can be compared with an abortion. I grant you that at some point during pregnancy, the baby is a life; however, by the end of the first month, the embryo has barely completed its neural tubes. There is no brain, no dreaming, no consciousness and no soul. Do you honestly believe that in heaven there are millions of miscarried and aborted cell clusters and embryos floating around in copious joy with the Almighty?

Obviously, Smith is "screwed in the head," but anyone who believes that the murder of sentient children is similar, in any way, to an abortion in early stages, is approaching the level of psychosis, which the mother herself posses.

Brent Miller junior in pre-medicine

READERS WRITE

▶ BIOLOGY

No need to cut up living creatures

A resounding thank you to the biology department's "Dr. Smith" and the Collegian's Cori Cornelison! I enthusiastically agree that frog dissection is unnecessary for non-biology majors. Those of us who completed the course during summer semesters, where frog pithing and dissection are not done, have probably not been marred by the lack.

I commend "Dr. Smith's" courage in voicing a different perspective from the biology department's view. As a principle's student, I chose to adhere to my eco-feminist values and substitute or decline

JAN LEWIS

Li respect the vast known and unknown of our 66T et's fully

world.

participation in some lab procedures.

I radically chose, for example, to sketch flower components from dropped blooms on campus rather than dissect flowers. I more conventionally chose not to participate in the pig dissection or the starfish-fertilization activities. The instructor's responses regarding my choices were sarcastic and disparaging. Apparently, only certain principles were valued that summer. My choice to abstain from the pig-anatomy section could have cost me one letter grade; a substitute activity was not made available.

Have I missed the knowledge of what my insides look like? No. Concepts of Personal Health show excellent slides of human anatomy, both healthy and diseased. Did I miss my one chance, thanks to the starfish, to actually see fertilization occur? Not really. An excellent Nova video shown in You and Your Sexuality provided an internal view of human fertilization. Will I never fully appreciate the "effects of the various secretions of hormones released by the nervous system to control heart rate" etc.? Maybe. But Biochemistry and Society has broadened my knowledge, understanding and appreciation of the phenomenal chemical communications in the human body.

Dissection for non-biology majors is not necessary. I would also question the appropriateness of the turtle procedure that is or has been done in the K-State human-anatomy course.

The justification that these activities must occur, and all students must participate in the name of science is anthropocentric. At the very least, grant those of us who choose not to participate the right to decline without harassment.

At the most, let's stop making human-centered assumptions about other creatures and stop the needless consumption of them for our purposes. Let's fully respect the vast known and unknown of our world

Jan Lewis junior, human development and family studies, life science and women's studies

▶ GATT

U.S. will lose right to make its own choices

In a few weeks, a bill will be put before the Congress of the United States that will not be debated over, and if it passes will strongly redefine your rights in this country. It may be responsible for their dissolution. Why is it to be voted on without debate? Is it because items may be attached? Perhaps, it is because there are a great many details in the fine print that the big-money people are a great many people who don't want to make it public until it is too late.

If the GATT agreement is passed into law and the United States subsequently joins the World Trade Organization (WTO), as it now stands, then you can kiss your ideas of cleansing the environment, defending the rights of American worker/citizen and, especially, you can forget all about American sovereignty and the laws that protect Americans' liberties, especially the Bill of Rights.

Getting involved in GATT, contrary to the tidal wave of rhetoric and distortion pumped out by the political big money media machine, means conforming to the rules of this new-world cartel. The New World Order that Bush and Clinton have tried to sell us on even. The hitch is that if a country joins the WTO, then it has one vote. Total equality with all other countries. We now have troops scattered in many of the countries worldwide that have expressed even keel with us in the WTO. If, say, North Korea, or Iran or any of the myriad of countries worldwide that have expressed their dislike of the United States should happen to vote against us on any trade issue, and let's be mature and realize that money is any trade issue, and let's be mature and realize that money s why wars are fought, then it doesn't take long to figure out that old Uncle Sam could soon be up a very foul creek, without a paddle. That includes you and

With all of the problems that the United States has, we still have greater rights and freedoms for our people than about any other country in the world. How will we fare in an organization of so many countries that do not recognize the individual's rights, safety and consumer protection? According to the small number of the elite that stand to make billions, and their mouthpiece, the national media, it is an economic windfall of opportunity, and politically, we need to approve GATT to show our world leadership. That sounds just dandy, but it is merely a false pretense for what amounts to submitting our national law and sovereignty over to a world consortium. That's real leadership, all right! Sorry, but I will not pledge allegiance to any United Nations group, nor surrender my rights to anyone, here or abroad.

Please, don't take my word for it. Check it out for yourself. They are going to decide for you and me in a matter of days.

Randy Crow senior in marketing

▶ GATT

Trade agreement good for farmers

The General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade (GATT) represents a worldwide effort to remove government controls and mandates on international business and free enterprise. This agreement will help all Kansans from the wheat farmer to the aircraft manufacturer because our state thrives on international trade.

However, Republican senators Bob Dole and Jesse Helms are trying to stop the approval of the GATT by using delaying tactics and by making changes to an agreement that was negotiated by the Reagan, Bush and Clinton administrations.

Some Republican politicians talk about promoting free trade and removing government controls, but talk is cheap. In reality, they seem more willing to advance their own agendas to do what would be best for our country.

Tim Peterson WaKeenev

▶ REPUBLICANS

Here's a suggestion for school prayer

Since the landslide GOP takeover of Congress, education has been pushed to the forefront of the Congressional agenda — sort of.

Republicans are pushing legislation (and a possible Constitutional Amendment) to guarantee that local school officials may set aside time for prayer at the beginning of every school day.

While school officials who chose to promote prayer in their school districts wouldn't actually be allowed to write a school prayer, the wording of the bill or amendment could very possibly allow them to approve or reject prayers that could be used as standards throughout their districts.

In the wake of this possibility, I have written a prayer that I feel should be submitted for the approval of every school district in the nation that would choose to implement voluntary (under the assumption that peer pressure and popular coercion wouldn't take place) prayer.

I feel that it would ring true for a majority of students, school officials, parents and citizens in general (with the obvious exception of Rep. Ernst Istook and Rep. Newt Gingrich). It reads as follows:

Heavenly Father.

Give us Faith — Faith that this school is providing us with the resources to live, work and prosper in a global market ... Faith that this school is instilling the sensitivity needed to coexist in a diverse world ... Faith that we can develop the perspective and goals to achieve (so that we don't end up like those damn Generation Xers with their slacker lifestyles) ... Faith that we may walk down the hallways without being shot, stabbed or otherwise mortally wounded ... and finally, Faith that this school will give us the psychological stability we can't find in a single-parent or even nuclear families because the social and economic necessity to work keeps parents out of the house and away from their children — Because without the same sort of positive government intervention that ensured our right to utter this prayer in our first-hour class, Faith is all we can have. Amen.

Chris Ostrom senior in philosophy

ABORTION

Supreme Court not always correct

Miss Stone's letter stated that "as a man (Clayton Walenta), you could never understand what it is like to have an unwanted pregnancy."

Miss Stone is correct to a certain extent. No, a man can never bear a child. There are many men in the country who can do absolutely nothing to stop their wives and girlfriends from killing their child through abortion.

If a man can help to create a child out of love, why then is it that this man is denied the right to care about the child he has helped create? There are many men who are willing to support women in crisis pregnancies, both financially and mentally. Why should these men be denied the right to help make decisions regarding this child's life?

Miss Stone states that abortion is her right. The Supreme Court does say that abortion is legal through all nine months of pregnancy. This was decided in Roe v. Wade as well as Doe v. Bolton. I would like to remind Miss Stone of the Dred Scott decision, which stated that a slave was not a person, but merely the property of his/her master. This is precisely what the Supreme Court said in Roe v. Wade. The unborn child is not a person.

66T here are many men who are willing to support women in crisis pregnancies, both financially and mentally."

Would Miss Stone be willing to say that an African American is not a person? I think not. The Supreme Court has made many mistakes regarding people. Just because the Supreme Court says that it is legal doesn't make it right.

I have a good friend whose mother was raped. He is the product of that rape. His life has profoundly affected many around him. Should he have been denied the right to exist?

As a woman, I can understand what it is to have an unwanted pregnancy. I am totally in support of equal rights for women.

The feminist movement has fed women for so many years that we should hate men. They have told women that they are too weak to handle a pregnancy instead of empowering women.

It makes no sense to say that as women we must kill to be equal.

Abortion is the killing of an unborn child. This goes four square against the most basic of motherly instincts — the instinct of a woman to protect her child.

Jennifer Talkington freshman, undecided

Aggieville

The National Residence Hall Honary is recognizing these residence hall students who achieved a 3.7 or better grade point average in Spring 1994 at K-State.

Brenna Aberle Carrie Ambler Jennifer Bacon Jamie Barkes Loretta Bell Craig Benson Bree Benton Nathan Bergman Justin Carlson Patricia Carpenter Olivier Carton Shayne Casteland Jennie Chacon Nikki Charvat Yesica Chavez Amy Chu Kimberley Dennis Ethan Denniston Laurie Diehl Dean Draper Trissa Duerksen

T.J. Ducan Steven Eidt Tara Ewing Boyd Ferris Erica Fredeen Stacy Friend Kevin Gebhardt Cynthia Glotzbach Erika Good Rene Grant Jennifer Greever David Hallauer Kimberly Harden Marcia Hellwig Paul Hoeller Nicole Ingalls Michael Jansen Byron Jayne David Jayne Derek Johnson Jennifer Johnson

Catherine Joyce Eric Keen Amy Kieffer Li-Chen Lin Chad Long Carrie Loomis Kristen McGrath Janice Melia Sharlie Moser Jennafer Neufeld Lyndsay Newton Linda Nyhart Jason Oblander Keith O'Halloran Jason Orme Walter Pankewich Matt Paul Jacob Pease Lisa Pierce Shawn Redding Kathy Rosenbaum Natalie Schuessler Julie Sellers Donald Sidman Emily Skinner Brian Smith Shawna Smith Laura Soiza-Benitez Christina Spicer Kevin Stokes Shannon Stone Barbara Stucky Monica Sutterby Kristin Uphaus Jamie Vandapool Robin Waggoner Mathea Waldman Janice Williman Jonathan Winkler Jennifer Yackley Steven Young

1. Nebraska Penn State Alabama

4. Florida

6. Florida State

7. Colorado

8. K-STATE 9. Oregon 10. Colorado St. 11. Virginia 12. Ohio State

13. Utah

14. North Carolina

15. Arizona 16. Virginia Tech

17. Southern Cal 18. Mississippi St. 19. Brigham Young K-State is ranked No. 11 20. Syracuse

21. Michigan

23. Baylor 24. Washington St. 25. Boston College in the Associated Press

college football poll.

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

▶ FOOTBALL

Edwards makes his opportunities count

NICOLE POELL

K-State running back Leon Edwards isn't accustomed to much

His eyes became big when dozens of reporters swarmed around him for post-game interviews

And when the blazing TV lights clicked on, he jumped back, noticeably shocked by this sudden media blitz.

But when you score two touchdowns and are the game's leading rusher, this attention isn't easy to escape.

Edwards hasn't experienced many days in the spotlight, in part because he plays behind teammate and roommate J.J. Smith, the thirdleading rusher in the Big Eight Conference and ninth nationally.

Smith, however, was injured earlier in the week and played only a few minutes in Saturday's contest. That is what opened the door for Edwards.

"I just made the best of an unfortunate situation," Edwards said. "J.J. and I are roommates and best friends, so I push him, and he does the same for me. I was just hoping to get the opportunity sometime to perform well."

Edwards took advantage of that opportunity in Saturday's game, scoring touchdowns in both the third and fourth quarters.

He also led the Cats in rushing with a career-high 69 yards and had a 30-yard pass reception, the longest of his career:

K-State coach Bill Snyder said he knew what Edwards was capable of doing when given the

"Leon is an extremely fine

GAME AT A GLANCE

STATS

Yards Rushing

Net Yards Passing

Passes Attempted

■ Passes Completed

Passes Intercepted

Total Offense: Net Yards

Fumbles: Number/Lost

Penalties: Number/Yards

Punts: Number/Yards

Avg. Per Punt

Possession Time:

terceptions: Number/Yards back," he said. "We have always known that. One place we don't have problems is at the runningback spot. If J.J. can't go, then Leon can. If Leon can't go, then

"I'm pleased for Leon. He's not had many opportunities to show what he can do, but he played well and had a good game. I'm happy

Edwards had just 16 total yards after the Cats' sluggish first half of play, but opportunity came knocking in the third quarter.

With 13:10 on the clock and K-State hanging on to a 7-6 lead, Edwards took the Chad May handoff up the middle for a 17-yard touchdown.

That touchdown was a milestone for Edwards. It was the first regular-season touchdown of his K-State career.

"I was just thinking unspeakable things after I scored that first time," Edwards said. "But if I have to put it into words, I'd say I was on cloud nine - it was my silver lining in the clouds.'

Edwards found another silver lining in the last quarter of the

With the Cats up by just eight midway through the fourth quarter, he capped K-State's 85-yard drive with a 2-yard touchdown run, making the final score 23-6.

While Edwards proved to be the Cats' shining star on a gloomy, cloudy afternoon, he was quick to attribute most of his success to his teammates.

"The line was blocking well today," he said.

"And I love every last one of them. I was just reading their blocks.

23

23

137

111

28

408

5/50

5/212

25:01

OSU

23

14

361

1/1

9/96

0/0

6/252

34:59

42.0-

306

| EDWGBA | STATE OF THE PARTY |    |  |
|--------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----|--|
|        |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | 33 |  |

STEVE HEBERT/Collegian

Leon Edwards, senior running back, eludes an Oklahoma State tackler Saturday during K-State's 23-6 win over the Cowboys. Edwards finished the game with a career-high 69 yards rushing and two touchdowns.

► FOOTBALL

ildcats wash away Cowboys

JEREMY CRABTREE

It wasn't pretty, but No. 11ranked K-State wrapped up its second-straight third-place finish in the Big Eight Conference with a 23-6 victory over Oklahoma State.

"We came out flat in the first half," K-State coach Bill Snyder said. "We basically laid an egg in the first half.

The egg that Snyder was talking about was the Wildcats' slim 7-6 lead at the end of the first half.

However, K-State could have been down by as many as 14 points in the game, but a gritty goal-line stand by the Cats' defense kept the Cowboys out of the end zone.

On first and goal, the Cowboys' freshman running back Andre Richardson ran up the middle for 4 yards. Then, on second down, Richardson ran to the left for 5 more yards.

On third down and I from the 2yard line, the Cowboys went to fullback Joe Jefferson. He was stuffed for no gain.

That brought up fourth down and I and the turning point of the game. OSU quarterback Toné Jones rushed down the right side of the line on an option play. As Jones started to turn toward the goal line, he slipped and was tackled by K-State linebacker Laird Veatch.

"I think that was the turning point of the game," K-State safety Chuck Marlowe said. "That was our wake-up call. We realized that we could have been down by 14 points.'

Veatch said he knew the defense had to make the play.

"It was a big situation," Veatch said. "I knew that we had to make the play. We stepped up big time and made the big play.

the 2-yard line, the Cats went on an 11-play, 98-yard-touchdown drive to take a 7-6 lead. The offense came right out and scored," Veatch said. "That was

After stuffing the Cowboys at big, and after we made the stop, and the offense scored, that turned the Oklahoma State never threatened for the remainder of the game, but the Cats' 7-6 lead remained the same until K-State tacked on 10 points in the third quarter.

The Cats took a 17-6 lead when running back Leon Edwards scampered up the middle for a 17-yard touchdown run to cap a fiveplay drive.

Earlier on the drive, Edwards grabbed a 30-yard reception on a screen pass to keep the K-State drive alive.

"Leon is an extremely fine back," Snyder said. "We have always known that. I was surprised that he didn't get more yards than he did. One place we don't have problems is at the running-back position. If J.J. (Smith) can't do it, then Leon can do it.'

K-State then tacked on three more points on a 22-yard, Martin Gramatica field goal with two seconds left in the third quarter.

Then after forcing the Cowboys to punt on their next possession, K-State added its final touchdown. Edwards' ran up the middle from 2 yards out with seven minutes left in the fourth quarter.

Edwards' run capped off an 80yard, nine-play drive. He finished with 69 yards, which was a career

In K-State's final scoring drive, tight end Brian Lojka caught three passes from quarterback Chad May. "It was really fun," Lojka said. "I don't think that they keyed on on one drive is the first time that I've been associated with that since high school." With this being K-State's last me, and I was open. Three catches home game for 17 seniors, a lot of emotion was expressed after the "This is the best four years of my life," K-State linebacker Mike Ekeler said. "I've been with the best coach, best players and best fans in the world. It's been a big fantasy.

Veatch said he could have never imagined this type of situation when he first came here.

"I grew up here in Manhattan," Veatch said. "With the team not winning in the past, this makes this

■ May finished with 297 yards passing, and he threw one touchdown to break the school record with 17 touchdown passes in ■ Saturday's 32,815 fans at KSU Stadium gave K-State a total attendance of 229,414 for the 1994 season. That is the highest home attendance total in the Cats' history. K-State averaged 38,236 fans per game this season.

one season.

► VOLLEYBALL

K-State

Oklahoma St.

Season ends in Ahearn with 3-0 loss to Colorado

WESS HUDELSON Collegia

K-State wrapped up its volleyball season with a 3-0 loss to the 14th-ranked Colorado Buffaloes 15-8, 15-10 and 15-12.

The Buffaloes entered the match with a 20-5 record and only two losses to undefeated Nebraska.

However, both teams looked sloppy in the contest. The Wildcats abandoned their strength of blocking. K-State entered the match as the best blocking team in the Big Eight Conference but managed only nine in the three-game match. The Cats committed 11 service errors, which cost them several opportunities to score points. "It seemed like we played well when the pressure was off," Coach

Jim Moore said. Moore's words were evident in the second game when the Cats built a 9-2 lead and then didn't score again until the Buffaloes closed the gap to 9-8. The Cats took a 10-8 lead in the game on a kill by Kate DeClerk, only to watch as Colorado reeled off seven unanswered points to close the game 15-10. "We got stuck on nine in that second game," Senior Kathy Wylie said. "We need to learn to play from 10 to 15." Wylie chipped in eight kills and nine digs in her final match as a Wildcat.

The third game seemed to be the opposite as Colorado established its own 9-2 lead. K-State slashed the lead to 9-7 before the Buffaloes killed the rally with four-straight points, extending their lead to 13-7.

The Cats didn't give in easily. They clawed their way back and cut Colorado's lead back to 10-13. The Cats scored three points on a block by Wylie and two kills by DeClerk.

The Buffaloes pushed the score to 14-10 when Yolanda Young hit the ball out of bounds

K-State fought off two game points, making the score 14-12 before Colorado's Karrie Downey ended the game with an ace.

"We were panicking on plays at the net," Moore said. "We had a number of occasions where we were trying to hit the ball with one hand instead of slowing down and taking care of the ball with two hands. Colorado jumped out to a 6-0 lead in the first game, but again saw the Cats tie the game at 7-7. Colorado killed the rally by scoring eight of the next nine points to put K-State away 15-8.

K-State finished the season with 14-13 record overall and a 3-9 record in the conference. It was the Cats' first winning season since 1988, when K-State went 15-13.

▶ BASKETBALL

K-State smashes Puerto Rico in final exhibition

CRESTON KUENZI

The women's basketball team finished up exhibition play Saturday night with an 82-55 whipping of the Puerto Rico National team.

The Wildcats used Shawnda DeCamp's sharp shooting to jump out to the early lead, 20-7, and they never looked back.

DeCamp was six for seven beyond the arch and nine for 11 overall as she led the Cats with 24 first-half points.

"She doesn't have a conscious," coach Brian Agler said. "She can't be intimidated, and you can't distract her.

"Once she gets her feet set, it's going down.' Agler said DeCamp shouldn't take the stellar performance for granted. "It's not going to be that easy for her when the regular season starts," Agler said. "They gambled a lot and played some defenses that we don't see very often.'

DeCamp finished with 29

Despite leading the whole first half, the Cats struggled some after taking the initial lead and only led 40-27 at halftime.

DeCamp attributed the lull to Puerto Rico's style of play.

"It felt sloppy at some points," DeCamp said. "They were spreading out the floor, and they weren't really attacking."

In the second half, the Cats finally started to pull away from the national team for an impressive victory.

"I think we picked up defensively really well in the second half, and we contained them a lot better," DeCamp said.

Agler said if they could play well defensively all of the time, they would reap benefits.
"We did good things at times, but we let them get to the basket too many times," Agler said. "I truly believe if we'd sharpen up our defense, it would really help us on the other end.

"We've really got some players that can get up the floor on transition and score.

DeCamp's fellow senior leader, Shanele Stires, added 11 points and said after the game that she's ready to start regularseason play.

"I'm ready to start playing for real, because I'm getting tired of practicing without any games," Stires said.

DARREN WHITLEY/Collegian

caused when center Steve Everitt gave him a bad snap and resulted from the same trickery the Chiefs used to induce 15 flags for the staggering amount of penalty yards.

and snapped the ball as he's been

"He saw the nose tackle flinch

Kjersten Larson defends a member of the Puerto Rico National team.

Chiefs fight back Browns in final minute

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) -Do not look at Cleveland's 142 yards in penalties or Kimble Anders' go-ahead touchdown as the key in undermanned Kansas City's 20-13 victory Sunday.

Check Mark Rypien's fumble at the Kansas City 6 in the first period as a pounding rain turned Arrowhead Stadium's new grass field into slop. It wasted Mark Carrier's 60-yard punt return Chiefs 20 and gave the Chiefs new life in a victory that Browns 13 tightened two

"If you want to see a turning point, it was after the long punt return and we came away and got the ball back," said Chiefs coach Marty Schottenheimer. "As early as it was, I thought that was the turning point in the ballgame."

The Chiefs who were missing seven starters, are within a game of San Diego and dropped the Browns into a first-place tie with Pittsburgh.

told to do, and I wasn't expecting it," said Rypien.

The Browns were driving in the final minute when Derrick Thomas sacked Rypien and stripped the ball. The ball was recovered by Pellom McDaniels on the Chiefs' 48. Rypien said the fumble was

KELLY CAMPBELL/COLLEGIAN

NOVEMBER 21, 1994

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

containers

54 Every last crumb

55 Put into office

head?

(abbr.)

56 Figure

57 - and

▶ CROSSWORD ACROSS 36 Paint

"Sesame

38 Incensed Street" 40 Brooklyn network 4 Humorous 41 Crazy 9 Give it a shot

43 Soothed 45 End of a 12 Furniture wood Dr. Seuss 13 Footless title 47 Topcreatures

14 Actor notcher 48 "Lorenzo's Stephen 15 Hot-tub motion 49 Workout 17 Corn locale

18 I love, to Livy 19 Gecko; e.g. 21 Alternative to serving fencing 24 Went like 60 25 Old French coin 26 Crimson 28 Veronica of "Hill Street Blues' 31 Host

33 Apply lightly 35 Beach resort

Solution time: 27 min. 45 "Wind in 51 "Rocks" Yesterday's answer 11-19

STUMPED? For answers to today's crossword, call 1-900-454-6873!99¢ per minute, touchtone / rotary phones. (18+ only.) A King Features service, NYC.

MDS

CRYPTOQUIP

KDSG Z MZIIO JNZISVSN GSSWM GSK OVTIDSM

QDTTMSM

JT-KDSNS

Saturday's Cryptoquip: A MORE ADVANCED ARMORED VEHICLE WAS DESIGNED AT A WASH-INGTON D.C. THINK TANK.

Today's Cryptoquip clue: I equals V

NEW CRYPTOQUIP BOOK! Send $4.50 (check/m.o.) to CryptoClassics Book 2, PO Box 6411, Riverton NJ 08077.

THE FAR SIDE

EUGENE SHEFFER

11 Play area

16 Tease

21 Track

tion

20 Enthusi-

competi-

23 Hand-held weights

One tends to retain

29 Entertainer

Adams

decibe

affirmative

34 Equilibrium

37 Aspects

39 Old gold coins

42 Fashion

- Mis-

erables'

Willows"

46 Hawaiian cuisine surface

character

32 Slangy

water

don'ts

58 Male and

female

1 Sound of

fistic impact expletive

the Mahre 27

3 Emulate brothers nervous

5 Against

7 Subjects

8 Former ruler

10 Back

Islamic

9 Place to

of worship

run in place

4 Less

2 Scroogean 22 Beige

6 Low sound 30 High-

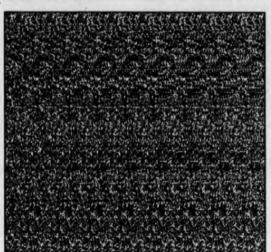

59 "Down"

DOWN

GARY LARSON

► MIGRAINE

Friday's Migraine was the Star Trek Generations logo.

► CALVIN AND HOBBES

AT ALL! IT MUST BE NICE!

ALL YOUR LIFE! YOU HAVE NO

BILL WATTERSON

THE REAL FUN OF LIVING WISELY IS THAT YOU GET TO BE SMUG ABOUT IT.

▶ FOXTROT MOM, CAN I MAKE

HOW BOUT

BILL AMEND

Readers find Cassie enjoyable

by Cassandra Duveaux

Write to: Dear Cassie, 116 Kedzie Hall Manhattan, KS, 66506

My roommate and I have been faithful "Cassie-Heads" since the first day we read your column last year. I really think that you are getting majorly abused by some narrow-minded people this year.

Your column is for fun and enjoyment, and also, you've helped many people by giving them specific information on where to seek help.

I think that there are some people that need to lighten up and step into the

If you wanna know who us two "Cassie-Heads" are, just look back in last year's articles.

We feel that we wrote some of the best letters of the year, such as: "Butthead causes amorous feelings," "Blue-pee disease," "The girl disgusted by bare feet," and the ever-classic one about guys grabbing/ touching them-selves in public! da gangstas,

Vinny and Geno

Dear Vinny and Geno,

If you really want to help 'ol Cassandra, write a few more letters to syndicates (the people who put things like Cassie in hundreds of newspapers nationwide), so we can take Cassie nationwide.

Here are the addresses of a few syn-

King Features Syndicate 235 East 45th Street New York, NY 10017

Onion Features Syndicate 33 University Square, Suite 270 Madison, WI 53715

▶ FILM REVIEW

'Generations' highlighted by effects, acting

TERRY SCRUTON

Going into "Star Trek: Generations," I wasn't really sure what to expect.

Neither, I'm sure, did the several hundred people waiting in the ticket line hours before the movie started

This is quite possibly the biggest event in "Star Trek" history since the original motion picture premiered.

It is the long-awaited passing of the torch from the original crew to the crew of the "Next Generation.

Whether this film lives up to it's high expectations or not, there's good news and there's bad

First, the bad news. The plot is silly.

It is a bit on the ridiculous side, and it has holes big enough to drive a Galaxy-class starship through.

Now, the good news. It doesn't really matter.

This movie is not really Now showing at Seth Child Cinema about the plot. Friday-Sunday — 6:50 & 9:40 p.m. Matinee Saturday-Sunday — 1:40 & 4:30 It is about the characters. It is about cama-Monday-Thursday — 8:15 p.m. raderie and a crew that fans of the show have come to know so well they are

GENERATIONS' SHOWTIMES.

**1/2

'Star Trek: Generations"

Rated PG

The "Next Generation" crew easily makes the transition from small screen to big with some, if you'll pardon my pun, stellar performances.

First, there is Captain Jean-Luc Picard (Patrick Stewart in great form), the patriarch of this crew who is grieving over the loss of his nephew and questioning his own choice of career over family.

Stewart gives a terrific performance, wrought with emotion and the commanding presence fans have come to expect from him.

Stealing the show, however, is Brent Spiner as Starfleet's only android officer, Lt. Commander Spiner walks away with every scene he's in, giving us some of the films funniest moments.

Malcolm McDowell also gives a good performance as a mad scientist who is prepared to sacrifice millions of lives just so he can return to the Nexus, a giant space ribbon that allows people who enter it to experience ultimate joy.

The returning members of the original crew are Scotty (James Doohan), Chekov (Walter Koenig) and of course, Captain James T. Kirk (William Shatner).

The meeting of the two captains is a bit silly and underplayed, but it does provide an effective ending for the old crew and a set-up for more movies featuring the new crew.

This movie is enjoyable, if only for the great acting and the truly incredible special effects. There is a crash scene that will absolutely take your breath away. It rates in the middle of the 'Trek' series, which is not bad when you consider just how awful the first movie with the original crew was. This film outdoes that by a long shot.

Cancun from 1-800-235-TRIP

Spring Fever!

NSZWO-

75¢ OFF One whole sandwich or Daily special expires 11-30-94

Aggieville • 537-5113

FREE DELIVERY "During the day, too!"

7.99

Slice and Pop 11 a.m. to 8 p.m. (Dine-in, Carry-out Only)

2 pizzas, 2 cokes, stix Party Pack $2.75 each pizza minimum order 4 pizzas

1911 Tuttle Creek Blvd.

539-1900

Limit 1 cookle per coupon (With sub or pasta purchase. Not good with other specials. Only valid at Manhattan store.) Expires 12/23/94

World's Greatest Haircut Reg. *7** BUT WITH COUPON

ONLY

HIS OR HERS - "MATINEE" PERMS *29* Complete with cut! (MON.-THURS. Till 4p.m.) Long Hair-Extra

FAMILY HAIRCUT SHOPS OPEN NIGHTS AND SUNDAYS

JUST DROP IN!

* VILLAGE PLAZA W. Anderson 539-4043 (Near ALCO)

K-MARTPlaza

E. Poyntz 776-6410

Expires: 12-31-94

539-2091 Open Sun. Thurs 11 a.m. 10 p.m. Fri. Sat. 11 a.m. Midnight

Now Open 7 days a week

Sancho or Burrito $1.29 each

(reg. $1.65) Taco Dinner $1.99

(reg. $2.65)

Good through 11-26-94

Closed Thanksgiving Day

2809 Claflin

2700 Anderson

"Calling the floors houses develops more community. It residents take more pride and

TINA THAYER

Oklahoma State ownership in where they live."

helps the

Ying Quartet captures crowd with music

RUSSELL FORTMEYER

The youthful Ying Quartet earned a standing ovation from a wildly enthusiastic McCain Auditorium audience at its Friday night concert.

A substantial orchestra-level audience quietly listened to three quartets, not as much as making a cough during the performing (all this, and during cold season, too).

The Ying's repertoire included a special piece recently composed for them by Ralph Shapey.

Shapey's "String Quartet No. VIII (1993)" contrasted nicely with the more traditional pieces also performed.

Admittedly, contemporary music can really catch one offguard. It doesn't seem to mesh a complete and understandable piece.

Timothy Ying, a violinist, said 20th-century music is a different style of music that sets very different demands on the player.

"We find it a real challenge. With every piece, it's like learning a new language," Ying said.

"Contemporary pieces are really wild and bizarre," he said. "You can't go on conventional

"It's like deciphering a puzzle. That's one reason it's so hard to listen to. It's helpful to listen to it more than once," Ying said.

Ying compared 20th-century music to 20th-century painting. If ou compare a painting done in Mozast's time, you would probably find a portrait or a stilllife painted to photographic perfection, but a modern Picasso portrait or a Pollock painting is full of jagged angles and Ying said contemporary composers saw what artists were doing and tried to do that with

"Not all new music is going to be a masterpiece. It's just exciting to hear them because they're new," Ying said. The Ying Quartet consists of three brothers and a sister: Phillip, David, Timothy and Janet. The Yings' father served in the military and was actually stationed at Fort Riley in the late 1960s, where Janet was born.

The Yings began the concert with Mozart's Quartet in B-flat Major, known as "The Hunt."

"The Hunt" is a lively piece, filled with horn-esque sounds indicative of a traditional hunt

The Coup de Grace, which Ying described as one of the greatest string quartets ever written, was Franz Schubert's Quartet No. 14 in D Minor, or "Death and the Maiden."

The Yings culminated their performance, and energy, with the final movement, the Presto. The music moved into a frenzied pace that whips about, building magnitude until the end. It was excellent performing and a magical moment in McCain's performance season.

The audience members were so taken with the Ying Quartet, they simply demanded an encore, which they received.

Hopefully, the Ying Quartet will give Manhattan another encore in a few years.

RESIDENCE HALLS

Staff delegations present ideas, plans

CHARITY WOODSON

Fifteen members of the Oklahoma State University housing system spent the weekend at K-State for a residence-hall staff exchange.

The Oklahoma State delegation consisted of five hall directors, one area coordinator, two members of dining services and seven resident assistants

The Oklahoma State staff members arrived late Friday evening and were introduced to their K-State hosts at a brief reception.

Once introduced, both groups headed to Aggieville to explore the K-State night life.

I thought it was very college-like," Oklahoma State resident assistant Melisa SantaCruz, sophomore in public relations, said.

"I was thinking, 'Why is Stillwater so underdeveloped?" she said. "There, it is very small, and you can't get in unless you are 21." Saturday, more than 35 staff members from both schools met to exchange presentations about programs that are unique to each residence-hall system. The Oklahoma State delegation began its presentation with an explanation of the Faculty Associate program.

The program has been in place at Oklahoma State for five years and gives faculty members the chance to interact with residents in the halls. Oklahoma State Area Coordinator Amjad Ayoubi said.

K-State staff members also learned that the Oklahoma State residence-hall system operates on the "house" system. This system started in 1987 and operates on the principle that each floor in the hall is an individual house.

"Calling the floors houses develops more community," Oklahoma State Hall Director Tina Thayer said, "It helps the residents take more pride and ownership in where they live."

Oklahoma State staff members also presented two programs that have been developed within their residence-hall system.

Fireside Chats, a program developed to bring professors into the hall for informal discussions on various issues, was started last year.

We try to get students to know the faculty and develop resources," Leslie Fradd, Oklahoma State hall director, said.

The Bennett Women's Collective was also started last year and brings faculty into the building for discussions on women's issues, Lisa Tatum, Oklahoma State resident assistant,

The K-State presentation began with an explanation of the advising roles that all residence-hall staff members have.

Advisers have many different roles on the floor, in the hall and on campus, said Shawn Martin, resident assistant and senior in human development and family studies.

16810

12850 12860 12870

14440

■ See RESIDENCE Page 10

23770

MISS WORLD PAGEANT

Miss India wants compassion for underprivileged

ASSOCIATED PRESS

SUN CITY, South Africa -Miss India, a 21-year-old architecture student from Bombay, was named Miss World 1994 on Saturday

Folding her hands in a traditional gesture of thanks, a composed and smiling Aishwarya Rai accepted the crown. She succeeds Lisa Hanna of Jamaica, who won last year's title.

For the second-consecutive year, Miss South Africa was the runnerup. This year, it was Basetsane Julia Makgalemele, 20. She was followed in third place by Irene Ester Ferreira Izquierdo, 18, of Venezuela.

The Miss World title brings prizes and gifts worth more than $500,000, including more than $75,000 in cash.

Rai, in a sparkling white evening gown, was a crowd-pleasing contestant, drawing enthusiastic cheers from partisans from her first appearance on stage.

The brown-haired, green-eyed contestant projected an aura of grace and dignity, despite confessing to enjoying the occasional extravagance. She also was named Most Photogenic in a poll of photographers

Asked her aim as Miss World, she said her first goal would be to compassion for the underprivileged.

Judges included fashion model Iman; Eileen Ford, of the Ford modeling agency; photographer Patrick Lichfield; Zinzi Mandela Hlongwane, daughter of South African President Nelson Mandela: actors Ron Moss and Katherine Kelly Lang from the CBS-TV soap opera "The Bold and The Beautiful;" and actors Tony Leung Ka-Fai, Marsha Rae Ratcliff and Andres Garcia.

Actors Blair Underwood and stood on the merits of the case, and in both cases, the court held in our favor," Postal Service spokesman postal officials continued working to sell the misprinted sheets for the $8.70 face value on a first-come,

Presidents College

first-served basis, Wright said.

While defending the lawsuits,

After duplicate orders are

Consider

Weighing

Robin Wright said Sunday.

Naomi Campbell and South African singers Johnny Clegg and Ladysmith Black Mambazo also participated. .The pageant was conducted for the third time in Sun City. The fantasy gambling resort is in the former black homeland of Bophuthatswana, now reincorporated into South Africa as part of reforms that ended whiteminority rule this year.

Bronson Pinchot, supermodel

The Somalia-born model Iman told the crowd she could never have imagined being able to present the beauty award in a free South Africa.

randomly select 150,000 requests to fill on Dec. 1 from 410,000 requests that came in on Oct. 1, the first day orders were accepted, Wright said.

later postmarks and won't have a chance in the lottery.

Another 103,000 requests had

A corrected version of the

"Legends of the West" series went on sale Oct. 18, Wright said.

▶ U.S. POSTAL SERVICE

District Court allows for the sale of misprinted stamps "In both cases, the Postal Service eliminated, a computer will

Policy prevents rare stamps, right upheld by judge

ASSOCIATED PRESS

WASHINGTON - The U.S. Postal Service is continuing its plan to sell 150,000 sheets containing a misprinted cowboy stamp following a second court ruling in its favor, a spokesman said Sunday.

U.S. District Judge Gladys Kessler ruled Friday that six stamp collectors and a dealer who paid thousands of dollars for sheets containing the same error had no right to block the sale.

The judge said Congress gave the Postal Service broad authority to provide and sell postage stamps, and the courts do not have the power to review its decisions.

The Postal Service, carrying out its policy to avoid creating stamp rarities, decided to sell 150,000 of the misprinted sheets from the "Legends of the West" series after 183 sheets with the error were prematurely sold.

More than 5 million sheets were recalled after postal officials learned a picture thought to be

THIS SPACE IS RESERVED

Collegian Advertising 532-6560

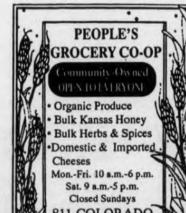

rodeo star Bill Pickett - known for controlling steers by biting their lips was actually his brother Ben Pickett, also a cowboy, but not a

The collectors had argued that they paid as much as $5,000 for the misprints based on Postmaster General Marvin T. Runyon's promise to destroy the unsold

The suit said selling the additional misprints would cause the value of the collectors' sheets to dip to about $100 each instead of rising to as much as $50,000.

The collectors plan to appeal, according to their attorney, Myron G. Hill Jr.

The Postal Service won on similar grounds an earlier lawsuit by stamp dealers in Wyoming who wanted to force the sale of all 5 million misprinted sheets.

811 COLORADO

NEEDED PEER AIDS EDUCATORS FOR SPRING SEMESTER

STUDENTS INTERESTED IN JOINING A TEAM OF STUDENTS TO TEACH OTHERS ABOUT AIDS

REQUIREMENTS:

SELF MOTIVATING, CREATIVE, ABLE TO TALK TO GROUPS

ARE YOU INTERESTED?

CONTACT HEALTH EDUCATION AND PROMOTION AT LAFENE HEALTH CENTER

APPLICATIONS ARE DUE BY DEC. 9

532-6595

Knilo Caesars

Updated 5:32 PM, November 18, 1994

*Closed class list also available in Unicorn

LASSIFIEDS

CANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

1 DAY 20 words or less - $5 each word over 20 - $.20 per word

2 DAYS 20 words or less - $6.25 each word over 20 - $.25 per word

3 DAYS 20 words or less - $7.25 each word over 20 - $.30 per word

4 DAYS 20 words or less - $8 each word over 20 - $.35 per word

5 DAYS 20 words or less - $8.50

each word over 20 — $.40 per word (consecutive day rate)

DEADLINES

CANCELLATIONS

If you sell your item before your ad has expired, we will refund you for the remaining days.

You must call us before noon the day
the ad is to be published.

CORRECTIONS If you find an error in your ad, plucall us. We accept responsibility or for the first wrong insertion.

Call 532-6555 to place your classified.

GET THE WORD OUT PLACE YOUR CLASSIFIED AD IN KEDZIE 103

532-6555

OR WRITE COLLEGIAN CLASSIFIEDS Kedzie Hall 103

OFFICE HOURS MONDAY-FRIDAY

532-7309 Manhattan, Kan. 66506

8 a.m.-5 p.m. (Except holidays)

BOARD

Announcements

Earn $15 each time you donate plasma.

MANHATTAN BIOMEDICAL CENTER 1130 Gardenway

776-9177 -Fri. 9 a.m.-6:30 p.m., Sat. 9 a.m.-2 p.m.

50 PERCENT off single sportscards! Just in-'94- '95 Basketball and Hockey. Bases Loaded Sportscards. Poyntz, 537-4141. 410A ADVANCED FLIGHT Train-

single-engine through ATP multi-engine. Hugh Irvin, 539-3128. COME FLY with us, K-State Flying Club has five air-planes. For best prices call Troy Brockway,

ing from 5000-hour ATP instructor. Private

776-6735 after 5:30p.m. COUNTRY WESTERN or Country Rock, single or 7 For Sauturday nights 6- 9p.m. (plus?). Call Mike or Louie (913)293-5737 9a.m.-9p.m. except Sundays, 9a.m.- 3p.m., for alco-hol free restaurant per-formance and/ or "Club NEW YEARS Resolutions.

NOW. Stop smoking, lose weight, Tropical Tan with out the sun, stay stress free, with all natural herbal pro-ducts. For information, Tina 776-6332.

SHIPPING UPS World Wide AA Pack-n-Ship, 225 McCall Rd. 776-9124.

Lost and Found

Found ads can be placed free for three FOUND A brown female lab around two years old by City Park 11/17. Call 537-5099. FOUND: A bookbag in Waters at beginning of se-mester. Call to claim. FOUND: LEATHER jacket

Call Patrick to identify at It's Greek to Me. 537-8822.

LOST DOG- Red Miniature Pincher, 14 years old, answers to Fred. 776-9548.

Personals

We require a form of picture ID (KSU, driv-er's license or other) when placing a per-MA PETITE Chou: M days are brighter when I'm with you! I love You! Danielle

Parties-n-More

ADD A splash to your next bash. Great anytime, Birthdays, mid-terms and Wildcat victory par-ties. Wet-N-Wild Mobile Hot Tubs, 537-1825.

ADD AN extra touch of class to your next party. Call Wayne's Water Party to rent a portable hot tub 537-7587, 539-7561.

HOUSING/ REAL ESTATE

For Rent-Apts. Furnished

AVAILABLE FALL very nice one, two, three and four-bedroom apartment complexes and houses. Excellent loca-

JAN. 1. One-bedrooms complexes $280- $300. No pets, lease required 587-0399.

ONE-BEDROOM apartment for rent. Great pricel 327 Fre-mont. For more infoma-tion call after 6:30 (587-ONE-BEDROOM

NISHED, one and one-half blocks from cam-pus, carport, $300. Pets on approval. Call M- F, 9- 6,537-4720. ONE-BEDROOM, KITCHEN, bath, furnished or un-furnished. Close to campus. 537-0687. Leave message.

QUIET SURROUNDINGS for study. Campus one mile, one-bedroom, some utilities paid. Min-imum seven month lease, 537-8389. no pets.

For Rent-Unfurnished

1219 KEARNEY. Large two-bedroom, no pets. Wa-ter/ garbage included. Available Jan. 1, $495. Close to campus. 539-5136. 814 THURSTON, studio

No pets. Water/ gar-bage included. Avail-able Jan. 1, $275. 539-5136. AVAILABLE DEC. 15, one-bedroom basement apartment near City Park, 300 N. 11th, $300.

AVAILABLE DEC. 17, one-bedroom. 1005 Blue-mont $385. Two blocks east of Aggieville and campus. No pets. 776-3804. AVAILABLE FALL very nice one, two, three and four-bedroom aparttions with great prices. 537-1666, 537-2919. AVAILABLE IN January two-bedroom west of City Park. 1417- 1419 Leavenworth $475. Water/ trash paid. Parking available. No pets. 776-*****

CAMBRIDGE SQ. APT. 2 BEDROOMS *FIREPLACE

*POOL 537-9064 WEEKDAYS 9:00-4:30

> AVAILABLE JAN. 1, onebedroom near campus. 1700 N. Manhattan. Royal Towers. $395. Sun deck, hot tubs, laundry facilities. No pets. 776-3804.

AVAILABLE NOW at Ware-ham Hotel, 418 Poyntz. Studio apartment $340. Water/ trash paid. Laundry facilities on premises. No pets. 776-3804.

ONE-BEDROOM BASE MENT apartment. Large bedroom. $240/ month. 1006 Fremont. 587–8568.

ONE-BEDROOMS AVAIL-ABLE in January near campus. 1854- 1858 Cla-flin. $355- $380. Water/ trash paid. Laundry facilities. No pets. 776-3804.

ONE-BEDROOMS AVAIL-ABLE at 1026 Sunset. $385- $395. Remodeled units. Central air/ heat. Laundry facilities. Three blocks west of campus. 776-3804.

STUDIO ONE block from campus. 776-0761.

STUDIOS AVAILABLE in Dec. at Wareham Hotel. 418 Poyntz. $320- $375. Water/ trash paid. Laundry facilities on premises. No pets. 776-3804. THREE-BEDROOM, ONE-HALF block from cam-pus. 1829 College Heights. Water/ trash paid. Laundry facilities on premises. No pets. 776-3804.

TWO-BEDROOM APART-MENT for rent, one block from University. 539-2857 or 539-0410.

TWO-BEDROOM NEAR City Park, available in Dec. 1026 Osage. $495. Water/ trash paid. Laun-dry facilities on premis-es. No pets. 776-3804.

TWO-BEDROOM NEAR City Park. 1026 Osage $495. Available in Jan. Water/ trash paid. Laun-dry facilities. No pets. 776-3804.

For Rent-

NON-DRINKER smoker, for two-bed-room place. No pets. References. 539-1554.

For Sale-Houses

FOR SALE: beautifully remodeled home in cen-tral part of town. Con-venient location. Eu-gene Field School. Call 539-1265 after 5:30p.m. weekdays or after 9a.m. weekends.

Roommate Wanted

FEMALE

AVAILABLE IMMEDIATE-LY at Chase Manhattan Apartments. Ground level, four-bedroom furnished apartment. Share utilities and rent with three males. (913)742-2743 after

MALE ROOMMATE needed for two-bed-room apartment. Pool included, close to campus. Call 587-4184. ROOMMATE

FEMALE MALE ROOMMATE wanted to live at Brittnay Ridge. $215/month, own room, washer/dryer, dishwasher, two and one-half baths, one-fourth utilities. Available mid-Dec. or Jan. 587-8622.

FEMALE ROOMMATE: three blocks from cam-pus, furnished, dishwasher. $210 plus half utilities. Call 587-9597. EMALE WANTED to share cozy three-bed-room house. Very close to campus, utilities in-cluded in rent. Call Jen-nifer or Susannah 537-7872. FEMALE WANTED. Available immediately. Own room, $186/ month, one-fifth utilities. One-half block from campus. Washer/ dryer in house. Call 776-6509. MALE ROOMMATE needed. $175/ month. Own room. One-third utilities. Call Jeff at 776-0674. MALE TO share three-bedroom, very nice, clean house. Washer/ dryer, dishwasher, etc. Close to campus. Begin Janu-ary. $220/ month plus one-third 776-0618. utilities

NON-SMOKER, SHARE house, utilities with re-sponsible mostly male household. Sunny bedroom, laundry, $150. Available now. 539–2468. Keep trying. NON-SMOKING FEMALE to share house, $250/ month, one-third utili-ties. Quiet, clean neigh-borhood. Must seel Evenings 587-0787. NON-SMOKING FEMALE n-smoking FEMALE needed to share nice quiet country home. Kitchen and living area fully furnished. Washer/dryer. Ten minutes from campus. All blacktop road. Available semester. spring se (913)494-2321.

ROOMMATE NEEDED, at Brittnay Ridge, for sec-ond semester lease. Will pay first months rent. Call 539-5664, ask for Shawn, or leave ROOMMATE WANTED immediately to share one-forth rent and one-forth bills. Own room and bath. One-half block off campus. Call 776-5910. ROOMMATE WANTED, close to campus, washer/ dryer. Available Jan.

1 or sooner. $237.50
plus one-half utilities,
537–3913. 110 For Rent — Apt. Unfurnished

ROOMMATE WANTED Non-smoking male col-lege student needed to share nice two-bedroom apartment. About 10 minute walk to campus. Close to Aggieville too. $210/ month plus utilities.

Sorry, no pets! Lease starts when you move in. Call John right away at 776–9559. WANTED NON-SMOKING and non-drinking room-mate for basement fur-nished private bed-room. Walk to KSU. $150. Share utilities. 539-1554.

WANTED ROOMMATES to share nice four-bed-room house for spring and/ or fall '95 semes-ters call Shauna (778-3120) ters call (776-3130).

150

Sublease

AVAILABLE NOW, nice big two-bedroom balcony, pools, hot tub. West-loop area. Rent $435, water, trash paid. Call Shannon 587-8890.

EXTREMELY NICE twobedroom apartment. New carpet and floors, deck, one and one-half baths and lots of stor-age Jan. 1- May 31. Sublease. 537–3073. FEMALES NEEDED to wales NeeDeb to share nice three-bed-room apartment, one and one-half bath. $220 per person. Move-in end of Dec. Call 776-0293.

FOUR-BEDROOM, TWO bath, available Dec. or Jan. $ negotiable, 587-4120. MALE NEEDED. Three-bedroom basement apart-ment available Decem-ber. $165, one-fifth utili-ties, washer/ dryer. 587-8814, 532-6604 Tues., Thurs. ask for Bart or leave message ONE-BEDROOM APART-MENT, one block from Aggieville and campus. First month paid. Start

January 1. Leave mes-sage, 537–3596. ONE-BEDROOM APART-MENT with balcony. Within walking distance of campus and Ag-gieville. No deposit required. Call 537-4768.

SPRING SEMESTER. One-bedroom furnished, one block from campus, $380/ month. 776-5439.

SUBLEASE STARTING
Dec. 19. Nice one-bedroom apartment; one and one-half blocks from campus! Includes new kitchen appliances;
central air; and laundry facility in building. $370
a month (water and trash paid). Call 587–1921.

GET THE WORD OUT. 532-6555

SERVICE

Resume/ Typing

225

DIRECTORY

BRING YOUR papers, resumes, and projects to life at The Computer Help Desk. Top- quality printing, with graphics if desired. Great stuff at great prices! Call 537-3018.

Pregnancy Testing

Pregnancy Testing Center 539-3338

·Free pregnancy testing

 Totally confidential Same day results Call for appointment

Located across from campus in Anderson Village

> Mon.-Fri. 9 a.m.-5 p.m.

Automotive Repair

NISSAN- DATSUN Repair Service. 22 years ex-perience. Mazdas, Hon-das and Toyotas also. Auto Craft, 2612 Dipper Lane, Manhattan, Kan-sas. 537-5049. 8a.m.-5p.m. Mon.- Fri

Other Services

255

and abortion services. Dale L. Clinton, M.D., Lawrence, (913)841-5716.

PROMPT CONTRACEPTIVE

EMPLOYMENT/ CAREERS

Help Wanted

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment/Career classification. Readers are advised to approach any such employment opportunity with reasonable caution. The Collegian urges our readers to contact the Better Business Bureau, 501 SE Jefferson, Topeka, KS 66607-1190. [913]232-0454.

$1500 WEEKLY possible mailing our circulars!
No experience required! Begin Now! For information call (202)298–8957.

ALASKA EMPLOY-MENT- Fishing Indus-try. Earn up to $3000- $6000 plus per month. Room and board! Transportation! Male/ Female. No ex perience necessary (206)545-4155 ext

COMPUTER NETWORK ADMINISTRATOR: part-time student position, mostly regular scheduled hours with some emergency trou-bleshooting hours. Re-sponsible for overseeing 55-computer Macin-tosh network, including hardware maintenance, software backups, and records maintenance Should be familiar with Macintosh operating systems 6 and 7. Client server networking for an ethernet network. TCP/IP experience a plus. Salary negotiable based on experience. Pick up an applications in 113 or 103 Kedzie. Application deadline is noon on Tuesday, Nov.

CRUISE SHIPS NOW HIRING- Earn up to $2000 plus/ month working on Cruise Ships or Land- Tour companies. World travel (Hawaii, Mexico, the Caribbean, etc.). Seasonal and full-time employment available. No experience necessary, For more information call (206)634-0468 ext. C57683.

JON'S NOTES is accepting applications for note takers for next semester. Receive $10 to 15 per lecture. If interested, apply at 623 N. Manhattan or call 587-8381.

MACINTOSH TROU-BLESHOOTER: part-time student position, mostly regular sched-uled hours with possible emergency hours. Assists in overseeing 55-computer Macintosh network, including hardware and softwa troubleshooting and general maintenance. Should be familiar with Macintosh operating systems 6 and 7. Minimum wage to start. Pick up an applications at 113 or 103 Kedzie. Application deadline is noon on Tues., Nov. 22

NATIONAL PARK
JOBS- Over 25,000
openings! (including
hotel staff, tour guides,
etc.) Benefits plus bonuses! Apply now for best positions. Call:
(206)545-4804 ext.

NOW HIRING Students to work spring 1995 se-mester fee payment Jan. 9 and 10, 1995. Contact Tammie Camp-bell at 210 Willard Hall. PART-TIME RETAIL. Out nt-TIME RETAIL. Out-going person to sell lighting/ stockroom, break and spring, good experience for right person, bring your schedule, see Cheryl, Endacott Lighting 309 Moro, 776-4472. SKI RESORT JOBS- Hir ing for many positions for winter quarter.

Over 15,000 openings! For more information call: (206)634-0469 ext. SKI RESORT JOBS! Ever wanted to work in the Rockies?-For fun and adventure call Ski-Ve-nure (619)683-2300.

THREE RESEARCH Assistant positions in the De-partment of Grain Sci-ence and Industry. Three full-time positions, temporary. Ex-perience in laboratory work and instrumental methods desired. Will be responsible for using and maintaining general laboratory equipment, routine labequipment, routine lab-oratory analysis and quality related re-search. Qualifications: B.S. degree in Grain Science, Agronomy Bi-ology, Biochemistry, Chemistry, or Food Science. Send resume, transcript and two letters of reference by Dec. 18, 1994. Starting date Jan. 18, 1995. Please send to Dr. George Lookhart, US Grain Marketing Re-search Laboratory, 1515 search Laboratory, 1515 College Ave. Manhatan, KS 66502. Kansas State University is an Equal Opportunity Em-ployer. KSU encourages diversity among its

WORK IN beautiful Colora do mountains this sum-mer at Cheley Colorado Camps summer pro-gram. R.N.s; drivers; secretaries; wranglers; nanny; kitchen; song leaders; riding, hiking, backpacking, sports, crafts counselors. Campers age 9-17. Room and board, cash salary, travel allowance.
Our 74th summer!
Must be at least 19 to apply. Applicants will be notified of campus interview date. Apply

You'll never know unless you try...advertising. COLLEGIAN to Cheley Colorado Camps, Box 6525, Denver, Colorado 80206, (303)377-3616.

Business Opportunities

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment/Career classification. Readers are advised to approach any such business opportunity with reasonable caution. The Collegian urges our readers to urges our readers to contact the Better Busi-Jefferson, Topeka, KS 66607-1190. (913)232-0454.

DON'T BE fooled by a GET- RICH- QUICK scheme or ads that FLASH DOLLAR AMOUNTS. Call Stratton Enterprises to start your own business in telecommunications.
We operate with MORE THAN JUST ONE LONG DISTANCE
CARRIER. Get paid commission on your customers usage. Call
1–238–7871. Leave message and number. MAKE $3900 first month. Telecommunications Company expanding into area. Needs managers, sales reps, trainers. Small investment regired. Training provided. Call Jeaneane (800)977–6836 for integrity.

Items for Sale

GOVERNMENT SURPLUSwool socks and gloves, overcoats, field jackets, overcoats, field jackets, G.I. boots, camouflage clothing, sleeping bags, overshoes. Also CARHARTT Workwear. Open Mon.— Sat. 9–5. Open Sunday till Christ-mas 12–4. St. Marys Surplus. Surplus (913)437-2734. Sales

INDEPENDENT MARY Kay Beauty Consultant going out of business. All items half regular price. 776-1932 ask for Carla.

Antiques

TIME MACHINE Antique
Maul and Geeb Emporium, 6000 square feet,
antiques, collectibles,
estate jeweiry, furniture, 4910 Skyway Dr.
four blocks east of Manhattan Airport. Open Tues.- Sat. 12- 6p.m.
539-4684.

435

Computers

486DX 25 4MEG RAM, 340 MEG hard drive, CD ROM, 14.4 Kbps mo-dem, SVGA monitor, Win 3.11, DOS 6.22, lots of software. 539–5606.

MACINTOSH COMPUTtem including printer only $500. Call Chris at (800)289-5685.

need homes immediate ly or will be destroyed. (913)456-2592, (913)494-8415.

Automobiles

miles. Loaded, excellent condition. $2300 or best offer. 539-7890. 1970 MERCEDES Benz four-door, $995, new paint. Excellent condition, except water pump. See Highway 77, 198 marker, 27 miles door, automatic, air. stereo, cruise. Excellent condition. Asking $1685. Call 776-3410, 1987 DODGE Aries-K, automatic, four-door, power steering and brakes, AM/FM stereo, air conditioner, 113K plus, excellent condi tion, $1500 (negotiable) 587-9294.

SILVER TWO door Honda Accord EX extremely nice has 58,000 miles, fully loaded. 537–3073.

Airplane Tickets

FROM KCI to Las Vegas leaves Wed. 23 comes back Sun. 27, $250 or best offer. Leave message 776-1930.

CLASSIFIED DIRECTORY

010 Announcements 020 Lost and Found

030 Personals 040 Meetings/Events

TUU HOUSING/ REAL ESTATE 115 Rooms Available 120 For Rent - Houses

135 For Sale -Mobile Homes

145 Roommate Wanted

150 Sublease 155 Stable/Pasture

160 Office Space

165 Land for Sale

200

DIRECTORY 205 Tutor

210 Resume/Typing 215 Desktop Publishing

230 Lawn Care

245 Pet Services 250 Automotive Repai

255 Other Services

300 CAREERS

310 Help Wanted 320 Volunteers Needer

330 Business Opportunities

OF FOR SALE OPEN MARKET

> 415 Furniture to Buy/Sell 420 Garage/Yard Sales

435 Computers

450 Pets and Supplies 455 Sporting Equipment

460 Stereo Equipment 465 Tickets to Buy/Self

640 Bus Tickets

500 TRANS-PORTATION

510 Automobiles

530 Motorcycles 540 Car Pool

TRAVEL/ TRIPS

610 Tour Packages 620 Airplane Tickets

CLASSIFIED AD Always put what item or service you are advertising first.

TIPS FOR WRITING A

CATEGORIES

looking for, the classified ads have been arranged by category and sub-category. All categories are marked by one of the large images, and sub-categories are preceded by a number designation.

To help you find what you are

This helps potential buyers find what they are looking for. Don't use abbreviations, Many buyers are confused by abbreviations. Consider including the price.

WE DO NOT USE PHONE NUMBERS OR LAST NAMES IN PERSONALS.

looking at something in their price

Pets and Supplies EMERGENCY: PUPPIES and dogs all ages and breeds, desperately

'85 VW Scirocco. 79K

1983 HONDA Accord, four

leave message

620

050 Parties-n-More

125 For Sale - Houses

140 For Rent - Garage

130 For Rent — Mobile Homes

220 Sewing/Alterations 225 Pregnancy Testing

235 Child Care 240 Musicians/DJs

EMPLOYMENT

405 Wanted to Buy 410 Items for Sale

430 Antiques 440 Food Specials 445 Music Instruments

425 Auction

520 Bicycles

630 Train Tickets

range.

This tells buyers if they are

▶ CONGRESS

Democrats face conservative challenge

ASSOCIATED PRESS

WASHINGTON Outnumbered in Congress for the first time in four decades, Democrats are likely to lend significant support to Republican efforts to cut spending and taxes, reduce government and reform welfare.

But they will spend the next two years attempting to hold Republicans accountable for keeping the deficit in check, shielding student loans and other selected programs from the ax and making sure the wealthy aren't the prime beneficiaries of tax cuts.

They'll also try to hold the line on any attempts to enact a conservative social agenda.

Sen. Harry Reid, D-Nev., said he'd vote for some spending cuts, as well as work with Republicans on welfare, echoing the views of many Democrats.

At the same time, he said, "I think we (Democrats) have to stand for something. I think we have to have a social conscience. I think we have to be concerned about the working people."

"The Republican contract isn't a complete contract," Rep. Benjamin Cardin', head of a Democratic transition committee, said of the GOP manifesto, "Contract With America." "We don't know how they're going to pay for it."

Republicans won a mandate for change, but not a mandate for extremism, said Sen. Christopher Dodd, of Connecticut, running an uphill race for Democratic leader.

House Democratic Whip David Bonior, of Michigan, said one of the principal responsibilities next year will be to sustain any vetoes President Clinton casts. With 203 likely seats in the House - more than Republicans ever had during 40 years in the minority — and 47 in the Senate, a united Democratic party could prevail in struggles.

The American people have to know where the contrasts are between Republicans and Democrats," Bonior said. "They will be the champions of corporate welfare. We will be the champions of working folks."

In numerous interviews, Democrats said their response won't take shape until leadership races are settled, Clinton formulates his own legislative program, and they see the fine print on GOP legislation.

"I want to govern and put politics behind us, but we are not going to be pushed into making decisions that are not in the best interests of this country," said Sen. Tom Daschle, D-S.D., who is running against Dodd for Senate minority leader.

Rep. Richard Gephardt, of Missouri, favored to retain his post as House Democratic leader, led three days of private meetings last week to begin formulating a message the minority can use.

For his part, Gephardt on Friday tagged the GOP proposal a huge giveaway for the rich that would increase the deficit and cut programs for farmers, veterans, senior citizens and others.

Many Democrats spoke favorably about elements of the Republican "Contract With America."

"On a Constitutional amendment for a balanced budget? Sign me up," Sen. Daniel Patrick Moynihan of New York said. He voted against such a proposal when it was defeated in the Senate last March. Several Democrats said the balanced-budget both amendment and a line-item veto to enhance Clinton's ability to cut spending would pass.

In the House, Rep. Charles Stenholm, of Texas, is mounting a conservative challenge to Bonior for the No. 2 leadership post. Although he's a fiscal hawk, he said a balanced-budget amendment, tax cuts and increased defense, as the Republican contract don't add up.

Dodd and others promised to fight Gingrich's call for a constitutional amendment to permit school prayer.

Several Democrats said they'd resist any attempts to repeal the newly passed ban on certain assault weapons and to outlaw

▶ CONGRESS

Prayer in school raises doubts

ASSOCIATED PRESS

WASHINGTON - Senators from both parties voiced doubt Sunday that a constitutional amendment allowing school prayer could pass, and indicated they would prefer to steer away from such social issues.

"I don't think we ought to get bogged down on such divisive matters," Minority Leader Bob Dole, R-Kan., said on ABC's "This Week With David Brinkley."

"If we're going to bring about change, we better bring up some measures we can pass, so the American people will get the message that we're serious about it," said Dole, who is expected to become majority leader next year.

House Speaker-to-be Newt Gingrich has promised a vote on a school-prayer amendment by next July 4. While most Republicans, including Dole, support the principle, many say the new must first majority party concentrate on economic matters.

Sen. Orrin Hatch, a conservative Republican from Utah, said on CBS' "Face the Nation" it is more important to pass constitutional amendments on a balanced budget, unfunded federal mandates on the states and a line-item veto.

"On school prayer, I really don't believe the votes are there for a vocal-prayer amendment." He said that while there was support for a silent prayer or reflection amendment, "I would prefer to solve the economic problems first."

Sen. Christopher Dodd, D-Conn., appearing with Hatch on CBS, said there was a real reluctance to have this Congress be the first Congress in 205 years to amend any part of the Bill of

The Supreme Court ruled in 1962 that organized prayer in public schools violated the First Amendment's separation of church and state

Proposal receives positive response

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

"I heard the announcer tell the audience to direct its attention to the press box. I heard my name, and then the poster with the 'A' fell," Gamble said.

"When the 'A' poster unfolded, the crowd yelled 'A," Waldron said, "and then they started unfolding faster,. 'Anne G., will you marry me?

love Tondo," the posters spelled. "I was talking into my walkietalkie, telling the people in the press box to start letting the posters down. When she saw the posters start to fall, she said, 'Oh my God' and started shaking," Waldron said. When he went for his pocket, I thought, 'Is this really going to happen?" Gamble said.

I got on my knee and pulled the ring from my pocket," Waldron said. "I started to cry when his hand went in his pocket," Gamble said. "It all happened so fast. It was wild.

"It didn't even cross my mind to say no. The cheerleaders were standing around us with red balloons, and they released them when I said yes," she said.

Waldron said the band played the Wabash Cannonball to congratulate the couple.

"He thought of everything," Gamble said. "I'm so surprised that so many people knew, and I didn't find out.

"I unknowingly helped prepare for my own engagement party last week," she said.

Waldron said Gamble thought they were going to have a party for the end of the football season.

"Of the 32,825 people at the game, about 2,000 knew beforehand," Waldron said.

He said he had committed to a lot of people, so he knew he would go through with it.

"I had the help from about 100 people, so I knew I wouldn't get cold feet," Waldron said.

He said the only thing that he wished he could have changed was

"I guess the rain added to the atmosphere," Waldron said. He said his parents had flown in from Wyoming, and Gamble's parents were listening to the radio in Overland Park. 'Mitch Holthus announced that Tondo proposed to me on the air. I bet Larry Gamble hit the floor,"

She said that Waldron had told her father what was going to happen before.

I was not embarrassed at all. I think it was neat," she said. Waldron said the public proposal was out of the ordinary for him. "It's not typical of me. I'm dramatic, but I think I outdid myself," Waldron said. "I did this because our relationship is a big deal, and I wanted everyone to know how I feel about Anne," Waldron said. "This is a once-in-a-lifetime deal for me," he said.

Gamble said her response would have been the same no matter where the proposal had happened.

"Even if he had asked me in a room when we were alone, I would

SGA to present proposal in spring

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

evaluations to pick their instructors," Carrel said. SGA plans to present the proposal to the Faculty Senate in the spring. "It will be the first thing on their plate at the beginning of next semester," Otto said. Matt Soldner, education senator, said the committee has not finalized the way in which the information will be communicated to the

"We've done a lot of research into how other schools handle teacher evaluations, and making our own forms is certainly something we've taken into account. Right now, we don't have the funds for a mass reconstruction where we would evaluate, sponsor, write, administer and evaluate our own forms," Soldner said.

Zamrzla said using the forms that are already in existence would be more cost effective than creating new forms.

Otto said the student governing association at Colorado State University first created its own evaluations and later received support from the faculty to publish and sell packets of the results to "The faculty slowly saw what the students did on their own. Since the evaluations didn't cause a huge revolution or the end of the world, they started to work together. Hopefully, we can get there someday," Otto said.

GO FAR

IN THE AIR FORCE.

Learn how far the Air Force can take

you. If you're a college graduate, you may qualify for Air Force Officer Training

Training School, you can become a School. After completing Officer commissioned Air Force officer

30 days vacation with pay per

Go far in a career as an Air Force management opportunities

AIR FORCE OPPORTUNITIES

great starting pay officer. Call

TOLL FREE 1-800-423-USAF

medical and dental care

Residence hall staffs exchange ideas

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 8

"We help facilitate programs and get people involved," he said.

K-State staff members also presented how they have addressed the issue of safety and security in the halls.

"Our job is to educate residents and change some attitudes," resident assistant Mardy Dickinson, senior in secondary education, said.

The FAST Track program was also discussed.

The program is a pilot program aimed at making the transition to college easier for first-year students at K-State, resident assistant Craig Benson, senior in electrical engineering,

Oklahoma State staff members also learned about the six competencies in which all staff members at K-State are trained.

These competencies are the foundation for staff and are involved in every aspect of the job, said Shari Peterson, resident assistant and junior in animal science, said.

After the presentations were completed, the Oklahoma State delegation was treated to lunch in the Derby Dining Center, and then staff members were free to explore Manhattan.

On Saturday evening, the K-State staff members threw a party at the Frithe Community Center in honor of the Oklahoma State delegation.

The purpose of the staff exchange was two-fold, Goodnow Hall Director John Danos said.

"The exchange gave people a chance to meet other folks filling similar roles at different institutions," he said. "It also was a time of idea sharing. When you get exposure from outside, it makes you think in different

K-State staff members are planning another staff exchange with Oklahoma State in the spring, but it will be in Stillwater, Okla.

Gamble said. have said yes," Gamble said. MENDER ME Olsburg Lutheran Church

WSWEDISH SUPPER Saturday, December 3rd

Olsburg Grade School 4:30-8 p.m.

Adults $10.00 Children 6-12 3.00 call 539-4968

Offer sal good

This coupon good for

PEPPER STEAK $3.90

EXPRESS 1116 Moro 537-0886 Mon.-Sat. 11 a.m.-1 a.m. Sun.

11 a.m.-Midnight

Dine-in & carryout Not valid with any other specials, coupons, or on deliveries. FREE DELIVERY (Minimum order $9) Expires 12-5-94

EVERY TUESDAY! SECOND SET OF PRINTS

Receive a second set of 3" prints FREE with any exposure roll of 35mm, disc, 110 or 126 color print film left for developing and printing at our everyday prices! C-41 process only. Exludes larger 4" size prints and photo galaxy.

KSU HIV/AIDS Awareness Week

Families Living with HIV/AIDS: Nov. 28 noon- 1 p.m. Union Courtyard Panel of Speakers

Candlelight Ceremony 7-8:30 p.m. Danforth Chapel noon-1 p.m. Union Courtyard The Johnsons The Johnsons Nov. 29 7-9 p.m. Forum Hall

Salute to Life Walk Dec. 1 4-6 p.m. Ahearn of the Kansans known to be living with HIV-AIDS.

Join the walk featuring 1000 flags in recognition of some

Sponsored By: Lafene Health Center Communicable Disease Committee Housing and Dining Services Association of Residence Halls

AIDS Quilt Video

Boyd Hall Ford Hall Goodnow Hall Haymaker Hall

Moore Hall Putnam Hall Van Zile Hall West Hall

noon-1 p.m. Union Courtyard

Events help self-esteem CONTINUED FROM PAGE 3 events also gives the athletes self-

Marisa Mondt, a 17-year-old Special Olympics athlete from Salina, said she loves the bowling tournament. Mondt said she has her own bowling ball and bowling shoes. She said she practiced eight weeks in advance for the bowling Mondt won a gold medal at the 1991 international summer games in Minneapolis, Minn., for the 400meter walk/race.

"She (Mondt) is a super kid," Brenda said. "Athletics is something she loves, and she is willing to work hard for it," Brenda said. Linda said the international games take place every four years.

"We have four athletes from this area going to the 1995 games in New Haven, Conn.," Linda said.

KANSAS STATE IJEGIAN

NOVEMBER 28, 1994

KANSAS STATE UNIVERSITY, MANHATTAN, KANSAS 66506

EDITOR'S NOTE:

Unfortunately, the Thanksgiving break played havoc with our computer system, and we were forced to reduce the paper to six pages. Look for complete sports coverage in Tuesday's Collegian and Wednesday's Wildcat Watch. We apologize for the inconvenience.

Stephanie Fuqua, editor

MONDAY HIGH LOW

WEATHER - PAGE 2

▶ GOVERNMENT

Too early for NAFTA analysis

JANELL COE

Collegian The North American Free Trade Agreement is a hub-and-spoke relationship - with the United States as the hub and Mexico and Canada as

This was a metaphor that Gustavo del Castillo of El Colegio de la Frontera Norte used to describe NAFTA in his presentation, "Challenges and Opportunities: NAFTA's Impact on Mexico," Nov. 21.

Castillo was one of four researchers who participated in a day-long workshop to discuss Mexico's views on NAFTA. The workshops were organized by the Latin America Studies Program.

Castillo said NAFTA has been in effect for only 11 months and that it is impossible to have a serious analysis on what it has meant to the Mexican economy. He said his presentation was a walk-around on some of the problems researchers see.

From a Mexican perspective, NAFTA can only be conceived as an environmental measure aimed at achieving significant structural reform, Castillo said.

"There is no question that a freetrade agreement regime in North America offers options, opportunities and institutional mechanisms," he said.

He said these options and opportunities are not being equally distributed through each society and between countries involved.

Castillo said a lack of access to new manufacturing and management technologies is a weakness in NAFTA's role as a developmental instrument.

"Little has been said about worker training or retraining or about the mechanism and management that will be needed to handle displaced workers through their rotation of changing labor markets," Castillo said.

He said that under those conditions and from the perspective of small entrepreneurs and workers, further Mexican trade rehabilitation is like looking into a barrel of a gun.

"Mexico's concern has been and continues to be issues of economic inequality," Castillo said.

The first year of NAFTA operations only has reinforced past trends, Castillo said. In the short run, there has been very little change.

Labor shifts in Mexico

KIM HALL

Collegian

The number of women in the Maquiladora industries in the border region of Mexico has decreased during the last five years, a professor of sociology from the University of Texas-Austin said Nov. 21.

Rodolfo Cruz said the northern Mexican border states, including Tijuana, Ciudad Juarez, Nuevo Laredo and Matamoros, contain more than 80 percent of the Mexican population.

He said the population in this area has grown 14 times larger between 1930 and 1990. The Maquiladora industry is very important to the economy there, he said.

"From 1970 to 1990, the Maquiladora has developed in the border cities, especially in the '80s," Cruz said. "Maquiladora has been an important factor to the population growth."

Cruz said women's participation in the job industry has increased rapidly.

VOLUME 99B, NUMBER 66

'The increase of the women-paid labor force has been recognized as a major social change in Mexico," he said.

Women take jobs in the Maquiladora industry because they are interested in the benefits, such as health care, he said.

Although a large percentage of women started working in the manufacturing section of the Maquiladora industry, Cruz said the number of working women has decreased in this industry within the last year.

One reason is the increase of the Maquiladora auto-part industries, which have a high percentage of male workers," he said.

Also, attitudes have changed, he said. They're starting to look for jobs in other industries. The women are more educated than the men, but they aren't paid as well."

Vicky Cass, sophomore in hotel and restaurant management, prepares to move items from home back into Moore Hall. Cass was just one of many students returning from Thanksgiving Break for the last two weeks of classes before finals begin on Dec. 10.

▶ RELIGION

Interfaith marriages a concern for Jews

ASSOCIATED PRESS

OMAHA, Neb. - As the first candles of Hanukkah are lit Sunday, Jewish leaders are confronting a growing number of Jews who are marrying outside

More alarming to leaders like Rabbi Joseph Friedman of Beth Israel Synagogue, an Orthodox congregation of 350 families in Omaha, is that once Jews intermarry, their children are not likely to grow up Jewish.

There's no question that intermarriage is a grave threat, probably our single greatest threat," Friedman said.

According to the American Jewish Committee in New York

■ Half of all Jews today marry outside their faith.

Only one in four children in interfaith marriages are reared in the Jewish faith.

■ Nine of 10 children of. interfaith marriages marry outside Judaism.

■ The Jewish population in the United States declined from 5.5 million to 5.4 million from 1950 to 1990, even though the country's population increased by two-thirds during that period.

Steven Bayme, committee's director of Jewish communal affairs, told the Omaha World-Herald only five percent of non-Jewish spouses convert to Judaism today. In the 1970s, it was 33 percent.

"There was a time when the rate of conversion was quite high," he said. "Now, outmarriage is so pervasive that the stimulus has declined. Now, conversion is exceptional.'

Jewish leaders are relying on more and improved education to slow the number of interfaith marriages. They also are renewing the call for endogamy marriage within the faith and are encouraging conversion of non-Jewish spouses.

► KANSAS

Cows, cars and NAFTA affect Kansas

JANET McPHERSON

A version of the German Autobahn in Kansas could be a reality in the not-too-distant future.

The High Plains Corridor proposal, an intermodal north-south transportation system from the Canadian border through the high plains to the Mexican border, is one component of the North American Free Trade Agreement.

The second component provides for industrial sites for new food processing and industrial factories, and the third provides technical assistance to those businesses from the land-grant universities in the six states through which the corridor passes, Ron Wilson, director of the Huck Boyd National Institute for Rural Development, said. The Huck Boyd National Institute for Rural Development is a partnership between K-State nd the Huck Boyd Foundation, named for former western Kansas newspaper publisher and national advocate and leader of rural America, Wilson said. The mission of the institute is to help rural Kansans help themselves.

We want to be sure that Kansas is positioned wisely to benefit from NAFTA," Wilson said.

Wilson said several Kansas companies are already doing business with Mexico.

Schlickau Herefords, of Haven, have been selling registered cattle to Mexican producers since 1985. George and Lois Schlickau said their Mexican market has grown by earning and upholding the trust of their customers, who tell others about their Kansas cattle.

"They're more progressive people and want to improve their livestock and the economy of their country," Lois Schlickau said of her Mexican customers.

An article in Time magazine said U.S. exports to Mexico have jumped 17 percent, while Mexican imports into the United States have risen 21 percent, said Harvey Kiser, senior agricultural economist with the International Grains Program and associate professor in the department of agricultural economics.

"It's a growing economy there," Kiser said. He said the new president of Mexico will probably expand the market economy.

trade," he said.

"We're dealing with billions of dollars of

▶ GOVERNMENT

Ban lifted on assisted suicides; law still in question

ASSOCIATED PRESS

DETROIT - The expiration of Michigan's temporary ban on assisted suicide had no effect on the timing of the death of an ailing woman who inhaled a fatal dose of carbon monoxide, Dr. Jack Kevorkian's lawyer said Sunday.

Kevorkian was present Saturday at the death of Margaret Garrish, 72. Both legs had been amputated, and she had lost an eye.

It was the 21st death at which Kevorkian was present since 1990 but the first since Nov. 22, 1993.

Oakland County Medical Examiner Ljubisa Dragovic ruled Garrish's death a homicide, saying she couldn't have killed herself without someone's help. Kevorkian didn't talk to police Sunday, Schwartz said.

The state's temporary ban on assisted suicide was enacted in February 1993. It set up a commission to determine whether assisted suicide should be legal.

The bill gave the commission 15 months to come up with a report, and said the law would expire six months later after the Legislature had passed a new law.

Strictly speaking, the 21-month period was up Friday, but the commission report was late and was never formally accepted by lawmakers, so there are questions whether the clock ever started on the Legislature's term for action.

AIDS AWARENESS WEEK

Week focuses on vulnerablity of everyone

SERA L. TANK

This week, K-State will be commemorating the fourth-annual AIDS Awareness Week. Don Fallon, chairman of the Communicable Disease Committee, said the week will take a new focus than in previous years. In previous years, the week focused only on awareness of the disease. This year, the week will take a broader view and focus on the fact that everyone is vulnerable, Fallon said. "AIDS is a worldwide and community disease. It touches everyone. Soon this disease will be touching everyone in some way," he

The week's events will be sponsored by Lafene Health Center, the Communicable Disease Committee, Housing and Dining Services and all of the residence halls.

Fallon said a highlight of AIDS Awareness Week is a presentation by the Johnsons.

"They are a young married couple that have been speaking. Both have been infected with HIV," he said.

Fallon said the reason the sponsors of AIDS Awareness Week wanted to bring the Johnsons to speak was to bring people and students face to face with the reality of the disease.

Fallon also said an important part of the week is tonight's Candlelight Ceremony.

"It's a ceremony to face this disease and remember families that deal with the disease. We also do it in a sense of commitment to bring health services and educations to help prevent HIV and AIDS," he said.

Part of creating awareness is getting people to realize that AIDS isn't a disease that only affects certain groups of people, he said.

"By the year 2000 there will be a higher number of heterosexuals with HIV or AIDS than homosexuals. We have to let people know that it can affect them too," he said

K-STATE HIV/AIDS AWARENESS WEEK

MONDAY Noon-1 p.m.

Families Living with HIV/AIDS: Panel of speakers in Union Courtyard

TUESDAY

7-8:30 p.m.

The Johnsons in Union Noon-1 p.m.

7-9 p.m. WEDNESDAY Noon-1 p.m.

The Johnsons in Forum Hall AIDS Quilt Video in Union

Courtyard

Candlelight Ceremony in Danforth Chapel

THURSDAY

4-6 p.m.

Courtyard

Salute to Life Walk In Aheam Natatorium

NEWS BRIEFS

► FFA GETS FIRST BLACK NATIONAL PRESIDENT

CHAMPAIGN, III. (AP) -Growing up in Chicago, Corey Flournoy knew just enough about agriculture to remain unim-

"I'd seen farming portrayed on shows like 'Green Acres," he said. He was disappointed when the only public magnet high school to accept him was the Chicago High School for Agricultural Sciences, and enrolled reluctantly.

Now he's the national president of the FFA, once known as Future Farmers of America. That makes the 20-year-old student the agricultural youth group's first urban president and its first black president. It's a world far from the neighborhood he grew up in, where an 11-year-old boy was killed by members his own gang recently.

"I know that it could have been either of my children," says Flournoy's mother, Barbara Flournoy, who raised him with another son and a foster daughter.

Flournoy's background inspires other students, FFA spokesman Bill Stagg said.

"Corey has shown them that no matter who you are or where you come from, you can excel and succeed in the FFA,"

▶ FOUR-YEAR-OLD GIRL KILLED FOR CURSING

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) - A 4-year-old girl died Saturday night, three days after she was wrapped in a comforter and stuffed under a waterbed as punishment for cursing.

Sasha Gibbons had been on life-support at Broward General Medical Center since Wednesday. She died of asphyxiation the sheriffs office said.

Carlos Thomas Schenk, 24, her mother's boyfriend, was originally charged with aggravated child abuse and will now be charged with murder, police said. He was being held Saturday night without bail in the Broward County jail.

Schenk told police he was trying to discipline the girl Wednesday for cursing at him.

First he spanked the child, and when she wouldn't stop cursing, Schenk washed her mouth out with soap, poured hot sauce in her mouth and finally wrapped her in a comforter and wedged her under the waterbed mattress, he said.

► SMOKE, ODOR-FREE CIGARETTE DEVELOPED

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) - R.J. Reynolds Tobacco Co. has developed a cigarette that eliminates most smoke and ash by heating instead of burning the tobacco, the company said Saturday.

The cigarette, which may be called Eclipse, eliminates 90 percent of secondhand smoke, has no lingering odor and none of the staining associated with other cigarettes, company spokeswoman Maura Ellis said.

Although it looks like a regular cigarette and has tobacco in it, only a highly purified piece of carbon in the tip is lit. Warm air is drawn over the tobacco - which is mixed with glycerine - and the glycerine vapor carries the nicotine and tobacco flavor through a standard filter to the smoker.

Six years ago, RJR had a short-lived trial for a smokeless cigarette, known as Premier. Company officials have since said Premier was introduced prematurely and had an unusual taste and odor that bothered people.

Ellis said the cigarette contains tar and nicotine levels similar to ultra-light brands. It will carry the same surgeon general's warnings as other cigarettes.

The Kansas State Collegian (USPS 291 020), a student newspaper at Kansas State University, is published by Student Publications Inc., Kedzie Hall 103, Manhattan, Kan., 66506. The Collegian is published weekdays during the school year and once a week through the summer. Second-class postage is paid at Manhattan, Kan., 66502.

POSTMASTER: Send address changes to Kansas State Collegian, circulation desk, Kedzie 103, Manhattan, Kan., 66506-7167.

POLICE REPORTS

These reports are taken directly from the daily logs of the K-State and Riley County Police departments. Because of space constraints, not all crimes are

K-STATE POLICE

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 26

At 1:23 a.m., police received a report that there were suspicious-looking people in hall A-13 of the fifth floor in West Hall, and that

SUNDAY, NOVEMBER 27

At 2:01 p.m., police received a report that a trash dumpster at the loading dock of

there were lights on where there shouldn't

Bluemont Hall had rolled into a 1989 Buick

THE RESERVE OF THE PERSON OF T

RILEY COUNTY POLICE

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 26

At 11:33 p.m., police received a suspicious activity report that someone kept driving a large green John Deere tractor through the Valleywood Addition area. Police located the tractor. The subject had just bought it and

SUNDAY, NOVEMBER 27

At 1:45 a.m., police arrested Bradley M. Hurla, 815 Thurston St., for possession of a controlled substance with the intent to sell. Bond was set at $7,000.

and broken the car's tail light.

At 1:53 a.m., an ambulance was requested for 1122 Moro St. at Snookie's, where a 21-year-old male had dislocated his left

At 1:55 a.m., police were called to 1213 Moro St., where a fight was in progress at Last Chance. The fight was just some friends

CAMPUS BULLETINS

ANNOUNCEMENTS & BULLETINS

Manhattan Business and Professional Women are offering a one-time $300 scholarship available to a non-traditional student. Applications are available from Adult Student Services and are due Dec. 31.

All undergraduate students in a healthrelated degree programs are eligible to apply for Student Cancer Research Award of $500 Applications are now available in the Center for Basic Cancer Research in Ackert 234. Application deadline is Dec. 2.

College Republicans will meet at 7 p.m. today in Union 207. ASIA will meet at 5:30 p.m. today in the International Student Center. French Table will meet from noon to 1:30 p.m. today in Union Stateroom 2. ■ K-State Songham Tae Kwon Do Club will meet at 8 p.m. today in the Ecumenical Campus Ministry building.

HEY BABE, TAKE A WALK ON THE WILD SIDE 89

SUBWAY POSTERS TAPESTRIES INCENSE

CREATE YOUR OWN JEWELRY T-SHIRTS-TIE DYES GUAT. CLOTHING BAJAS GRATEFUL DEAD

MERCHANDISE 1128 MORO 776-BAJA

SAT. 10-6, SUN. NOON-5

JAMAICAN STYLES

SOPHISTO

PERVERT

KILLER LOOPS

SKATEBOARD

ACCESSORIES

SKUNK

FUCT

Get More Value with the A . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . .

2nd Set

From your original C-41 process roll of 110, 126, disc or 35mm full frame color print film. Excludes larger 4" size prints and photo galaxy.

Early Bird Special! through 11/22/94 Holiday Photo Greeting Cards

15 Free Cards when you order 40 18.99 20 Free Cards when you order 60 26.99 25 Free Cards when you order 100 39.99

Made from any color negative, slide or print. (If print is submitted, a copy neg-ative charge will be added.) Photo Cards returned glossy finish ... no matte finish

Daily 9 to 9, Sunday 11 to 6 • 3007 Anderson Ave.

Tryouts for Willie the Wildcat

Meeting at 5 p.m. Tuesday, Nov. 29 in Brandeberry

(between Bramlage & baseball field)

Tryouts at 7 p.m. Thursday, Dec. 1 in Brandeberry

COLLEGIAN ADVERTISING HERE 532-6

Huser & Strong

Attorneys at Law 537-4603

Serving K-State's students and faculty Affordable Student Rates

An AIDS Story...

of Life, Love and Commitment

"The Johnsons" November 29

Union Courtyard Forum Hall

Noon - 1 p.m. 7 p.m. - 9

SERVICE

for temporarily or permanently disabled students on campus, building to building.

Inquire by calling 532-6441

GIVE US A CALL FOR OUR SPECIAL PARTY RATES 539-3333 WESTLOOP CENTER MANHATTAN

Expires 12-12-94

DISTINGUISHED

GRADUATE FACULTY MEMBER

AWARD

"Staphylococcus aureus: You had it once, you'll get it again-but this time we may not be able to help."

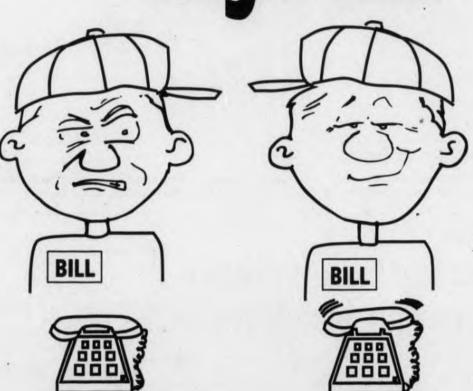

Lecture by John J. Iandolo Department of Pathology and Microbiology

Recipient of the 1994 Conoco Distinguished Graduate Faculty Member Award

212 K-State Union 3:30 p.m., Wednesday, November 30, 1994 Kansas State University Manhattan, Kansas

Reception in the K-State Union Cat's Pause Lounge

Jingle Bill

Give Bill or any of your other friends a jingle over the holidays. Get their numbers from the Campus Phone Book.

1994-95 CAMPUS PHONE BOOK

People, Places and Policies at Kansas State University

Available in 103 Kedzie Hall. $2.25 for students with ID $3.50 for faculty/staff

K-State forward Shanele Stires attempts to steal the ball against Ohio State Sunday in Bramlage Collseum. Stires finished with 18 points.

Cats let lead slip in final moments

K-State 73

Mental mistakes cost Cats; Buckeyes grab a 87-73 victory

JULIE KUHLMAN

The nationally ranked Ohio State Buckeyes saw a much different Wildcat team on Sunday than the one they saw last year.

A team that could beat them.

After recovering from a 17- Ohio State 87 point deficit in the first half, the Cats rallied to take a 38-37 lead at the end of the first half. This comes after Ohio State beat the Cats 105-70 in Columbus last season.

Advertise in the

OLLEGIAN

OPTICAL

SINGLE VISION as low as

$39

Deli

Happy
Thanksgiving!!!

75¢ OFF

One whole sandwich

or Daily special

Aggieville • 537-5113

KANSAS STATE

532-6560

EVEWEAR FOR LESS . EVEWEAR FOR LESS .

"They put together a nice run that we couldn't stop," Ohio State coach Nancy Darsch said. But the Buckeyes were without the heart of their team for much of the first half.

Forwards Katie Smith and Peggy Evans found themselves watching K-State rally from the bench - each were sidelined with three fouls.

Despite the foul trouble, Smith and Evans combined for 41 points to lead the Buckeyes to a 87-73 victory over the Cats in Bramlage Colisuem..

However, K-State coach Brian Agler said the Cats could have won if they could have avoided some mental mistakes.

"When you play against a team like Ohio State, if Agler said he compares this team to the best,

"Offensively, they are as good as any team we're against a team like Ohio State, if we shot quick and miss long, they're going to score."

BRIAN AGLER

K-State women's basketball coach

we shoot quick and miss long, they're going to score,"

"And if you take a quick shot that are the bad ones they're going to score."

going to play," he said.

Andria Jones dives for the ball against the Buckeyes Sunday. Jones has been starting for the Cats at the post position. DARREN WHITLEY
Collegian

Forward Shanele Stires said K-State could have "When you play won if the team would have gotten back on defense. "Regardless if it's scrub one or scrub two, that's going to hurt us," Stires said.

"We didn't get back the way we needed to." K-State's offense was led by Shanele Stires with 24 points and freshman Brit Jacobson with 18. Agler said Jacobson is starting to come along at the

"Brit really is a tremendous competitor - but she's not the player she can be yet," Agler said.

Jacobson said she hasn't quite got used to the college atmosphere and sometimes is still confused about what's happening on the court.

'You're out there, and you're playing, and you understand, and then you're like 'Hi, I'm in college," lacobson said.

Stires said once she does figure out what's going on, she'll be an incredible player.

"Eighteen points, that's nothing for Brit once she figures out what she's doing," Stires said.

Up next for the Cats will be another nonconference match-up against Wichita State at the Bicentennial Center in Salina. The game will be played at 7 p.m on Tuesday.

Last season, the Wheat Shockers defeated the Cats 67-54 at home. Stires finished with 18 points and nine rebounds.

Manhattan high school graduate Ann Hollingsworth ripped the Cats for 25 points last season. She also finished with 11 rebounds.

Another factor in the Cats' loss was their poor shooting from the free-throw line. For the game, the Cats only shot 57 percent from the line.

K-State also only shot 35 percent from the field and they had two three-pointers.

The Wichita State defense also kept the Cats leading scorer Shawnda DeCamp in check as she only finished with nine points on four-for-10 from the

This season, the Shockers return four starters including Hollingsworth. Guard Kim Evans was the Shockers, next leading scorer as she averaged 13. 6 points per game last year.

Wichita State finished with a 17-10 record and finished third in the Missouri Valley Conference.

This coupon good for

MR. GOODCENTS 539-1900

1317 Anderson (behind Varney"s COOKIE CHIP Limit 1 cookle per coupon (With sub or pasta purchase. Not good with other specials. Only valid at Manhattan store.

EXTRA LARGE

'No Coupon" Specials

NONE accepted)

Everyday

Three-fers

- PIZZAS with

TOPPING each

COKES with ice

Everyday Two-fers - PIZZAS with

TOPPINGS each COKES with ice

Pizza Shuttle 776-5577

both locations: 1911 Tuttle Creek Blvd. 2700 Anderson

Cancun from $499

1-800-235-TRIP

Spring Fever!

11 a.m.-Midnight

PEPPER STEAK $3.90 Dine-in & carryout

EXPRE55 Not valid with any other specials, coupons, 1116 Moro or on deliveries. 537-0886 FREE DELIVERY Mon.-Sat. 11 a.m.-1 a.m.

(Minimum order $9) Expires 12-5-94

Tacos 3 for $1.35

(reg. 60¢ each) Chili Burrito $1.99

(reg. $2.65)

Good through 12-3-94

2809 Claflin 539-2091 On The Hill Overlooking Westloop Open Sun. Thurs. 11 a.m. 10 p.m. Fri. Sat. 11 a.m. Midnight

Now Open 7 days a week

COME IN AND TRY

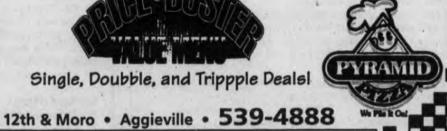

MEW GARLIC THIN-STYLE CRUST NEW

PYRAMID CHEESE "BRONZE" (BREADSTICKS)

Also, Dont Forget ...

Single, Doubble, and Trippple Deals!

CAMPUS EDITOR.....J.R. Prather A&E/FEATURES EDITOR .. Andrew Tomb SPORTS EDITOR ...... Wess Hudelson GRAPHICS EDITOR......Sara Smith COPY CHIEF ...... Robin Kickhaefer CITY-GOV. EDITOR ..... Lola Shrimplin ASST. SPORTS EDITOR ... Jeremy Crabtree ASST. PHOTO EDITOR .. Mark Leffingwell

AD MANAGER ..... Ryndell Little ASST. MANAGER.....Ted Ellet SALES MANAGER....Jim Stothard TEARSHEETS MGR. . Ivonne Zaldumbide NEWS ADVISER ..... Ron Johnson AD ADVISER ......Gloria Freeland

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

IN OUR OPINION

By the Collegian Editorial Board

Top 9 highlights of 1994 football season

The Wildcats posted a 9-2 record this season.

This season has been a memorable one for K-State football. The Cats' 9-2 record is the best since 1910.

So here's the top nine of the 1994

1. Beating Kansas in Lawrence on ESPN. K-State's 21-13 victory broke a 25-year-losing streak at Memorial Stadium.

2. The Cats' first top-10 ranking ever.

3. Attendance broke the all-time average.

4. K-State demolished Oklahoma for the second-straight year with a 37-20 victory in Norman.

5. J.J. Smith and Chad May. Smith became K-State's all-time leading rusher, and May broke another Big Eight passing record with a touchdown pass in 16-straight games.

Only losses came from No. 1 Nebraska and No. 5 Colorado.

7. Mike Ekeler.

8. K-State made it on television three times this season.

9. After four Big Eight coaches resigned, K-State football coach Bill Snyder is still here.

Here's the two negatives in the Cats' performance this season:

1. Odds are there's no coalition bowl.

2. If the Cats end up in the Aloha Bowl, the majority of K-States' fans won't be able to make the trip.

TOLES

Wichita flocks to see Ross Perot at his best

You may know that Ross Perot spoke in Wichita last Tuesday about the GATT agreement.

It was very big. It was broadcast on national radio and had footage on national television — I didn't check, but I think it may have even made the tabloids. However, the footage on television didn't give this event justice.

The place was packed early. People were lined up around the walls. Eventually, organizers decided there were enough people to open the balcony.

"Yeah, I hear Ross is going to talk for about an hour. Then, he is going to fly right back to Texas after this. You can't blame him, you know," a man

I began to wonder the reason why there were so many people here. Was it Ross or GATT?

I found a seat and reviewed the GATT handout given to everyone who attended. Up to this point, I had been unable to get any detailed information about Perot's opposition to GAII. figured he was just being the same paranoid little man who thought that American workers would lose jobs to low-wage Mexican labor if NAFTA was passed.

The sheet listed seven key points of opposition to GATT. One point of opposition was the fact that U.S. trade policy would be controlled by other nations, and unlike the powers of the Security Council in the United Nations, the United States would not have the power to veto unfavorable trade

Another point was that Congress will lose $43 billion with this agreement. According to their fact sheet, "To replace the U.S. revenues lost because of this agreement, Congress must either raise taxes, cut existing programs or adopt a combination of taxes and cuts.'

The final point was the fact that Congress cannot fix the agreement in the implementing legislation. It goes as is.

Before I could finishing reading the sheet, a usher came around and handed out more information. It was membership application for United We Stand America - only $15. payable by Visa or Mastercard. I guess I would have to wait for the Perot World Tour T-shirt.

I looked up from my application into the crowd. Audience members scattered through the room held signs saying, "NO

A man from Oklahoma stood up and started chanting, "USA! USA! " A handful of other people stood up and joined him. (OK, for a few minutes, it seemed more like a hockey match than a political rally.)

Perot soon made his entrance. His popularity among the Wichita people was stunning. Most of the audience stood, either out of respect or simply to see him enter, and clapped

The candidate of the people had arrived.

The candidate brought an agenda and a bag full of good ol' Texas clichés

He began by playing up Bob Dole. Perot said Dole was the only person who could stop GATT. At the time, Dole was putting up a fight about some of the provisions in the GATT agreement. Perot set up Dole to be a hero.

Then, Perot went on to GATT. Perot sounded like an auctioneer as he rattled off reasons why GATT was a bad idea. The audience rolled right along with him. Occasionally, members would shout out anti-GATT comments like bids for

He asked the crowd if they wanted GATT. The crowd loudly responded, "NO!"

Later, Perot fielded questions that were written down by the audience. Perot seemed to perk up at this point. His answers delivered his answers just like when he was in a town-hall presidential debate with George Bush and Bill Clinton — swift and humorous.

Perot's rise to political fame has been interesting to watch. If GATT passes, we may see that fame continue to increase. One of the last things Perot said was that if GATT passes in this lame-duck Congress, he would begin work on a third political party.

Watch out Washington, the little guy can pack quite a punch. Just ask Wichita.

John Melrowsky is a senior in print journalism.

Not just a requirement, but part of life

People are lazy. I'm lazy.

I like sitting on the couch, watching Monday Night Football and crunching potato chips. I know it's not good for me, but I do it anyway.

I know it would be healthier to pick my butt off the sofa and jog a few miles or go play a pick-up game of basketball. I would feel so much better. But how often does this happen? Not very.

Heck, with classes, work, homework and good football games — who has the time? It's like the P.E.

requirement thing. By letting a few people "off the hook" by not taking these classes, Frito Lay will benefit just that much more.

It would be an enormous fallacy if this suggestion turns into policy.

The Academic Affairs Committee of Student Senate, led by Scott Rottinghaus, senior in biology and classics, is working on a proposal to restructure Kinesiology 101, Principles of Physical ritness, a required class for all students.

Rottinghaus said the proposal should be before Student Senate this week. Senate would vote on the proposal the following week. If passed, the proposal would go on to Faculty

SIMMONS

Senate, where the final decision would be made on whether the Principles of Physical Fitness class would be a requirement or not.

Hopefully, the folks over at Student Senate will feel so guilty from stuffing themselves with Thanksgiving goodies that they will turn down this

How many times have you woke up Sunday morning, looked in the mirror and said, "You're not looking so great (probably not in those words, though). I think you need some exercise.

Once again, it's easier to tell yourself you need to do it instead of actually doing it. That is one of the main reasons why the P.E.

requirement is good for everyone. Actually, there are many reasons why physical fitness should be required at K-State. Students become so wrapped up in the everyday jungle that it's easy to let physical fitness slide a bit.

A P.E. course would give students a set time during the week to pay attention to their bodies. And who knows, maybe after a semester of constant activity, a student might develop a routine that carries over for years to come. 'We hope to influence their behavior later in life. I think it helps students understand why it is important," Larry Noble, head of the kinesiology department, said about the Principles of Physical Fitness class. "Some people say it is something you can learn on your own. You can say that about computers. You can say that about a lot of things. But it's the depth and substance of the presentation, the way you learn it." For a majority of the student body, the lessons learned in this course can be used far more in 20 years than the stuff taught in calculus or biology.

That is, if the course is taken seriously. "Yes, it should be a requirement," Noble said.

"My feeling is that this serves the needs of the students in a required status.

"If it was an elective, two-thirds to one-half would still choose to take it. But the 1/3 to 1/2 that choose not to take it are the ones that need it the

Does everything you learn in college have to come from an overpriced textbook?

You would think students would be thankful for course such as this. It's a break from the chalkboard. What other class gives you a chance to improve your health while raising your GPA at the same time?

Typical responses to not wanting to take the Principles of Physical Fitness course are "I learned all that crap in high school" or "I can do that stuff myself if I get time to do it."

That's bogus.

The blatant truth is most people, in general, need little shove in the right direction. Besides, the concepts you will learn in this course will exceed the ones taught by playing dodge ball in high-

"There are a lot of misconceptions about this course. This is not a gym class," Noble said. "Until students take it, they may not know that. Some students maybe choose not to take it for that

And if you think that by going down to the local gym twice a week is working, you could be wrong.

"The information they get from here will provide some direction and purpose in the recreation center," Noble said.

"Sure, there is some instruction at the Rec already. But it's not complete. It does not enable them to get the best benefit from their effort."

My guess is this proposal will be discarded, as it should be. Physical education is a part of life, not just some college requirement.

Derek Simmons is a senior in print journalism.

READERS WRITE

Drop letters off at Kedzie 116 or send them to Letters to the Editor, c/o John Meirowsky, Kansas State Collegian, Kedzie 116, Manhattan, KS 66506. We accept letters by e-mail also. Our address is letters@spub.ksu.edu. Letters should be addressed to the editor and include a name, address and phone number. A photo identification will be necessary for hand-delivered letters.

ABORTION

Deal with mistakes as an adult

I feel strongly compelled to address the view of a recently published letter, so please consider my letter, a rebuttal, for publication also. The letter comparing murder to abortion was insightful and entirely correct. The rebuttal, however, was not. First, every man who takes responsibility for his mistakes can understand what it's like to be faced with an unwanted pregnancy. Don't you think the equally surprised father-to-be feels the same emotions as the female? Second, rape and incest victims account for very few abortions. So don't hide behind that excuse. Abortion is, for the most part, simply the cheapest and easiest way out of a serious situation. It was your body when you decided to start having sex, but now you share it with another

You see, whether you (as potential mothers and fathers) acknowledge it or not, when you chose to have sex, you accepted the responsibility of possibly having to raise a child. After all, sex is ultimately about reproduction.

If you do get pregnant, deal with your mistake as an adult. For alternatives, see the classifieds of any large newspaper. There are people begging for the chance to adopt your child.

The only choice you should have to make is not to get pregnant (not to have sex) in the first place. Once you do, it's not a matter of taking away your rights, but making sure the rights of the baby are acknowledged and respected also.

Gerhard Shipley freshman in electrical engineering

ALLOCATIONS

Give back the money In Dan Lewerenz's column, "The basics of the $17,000 plan," he called for students to send in their opinions and suggestions as to what should be done with the money. Well, I have not only a suggestion ... I have a demand! I demand my 50 cents back. Furthermore, I

STEPHEN SCHMIDT suggest that all students demand their 50 cents 66 D lease back! The University, I inform the which is a business, Student Affairs overcharged me on a and Social bill of payment; therefore, they are Services obligated to return to me Committee that the money I was it now only has unjustly charged. They $16,999.50 to are lucky I am not play with, charging interest! At the because I have very least, my 50 cents will buy me a large a receipt, and I refillable soda at any of demand a variety of local compensation!' convenience stores, and

I consider a soda to be of much more value than anything Student Senate has or is likely to provide me from my cut of the

Please inform the Student Affairs and Social Services Committee that it now only has $16,999.50 to play with, because I have a receipt, and I demand compensation!

Stephen Schmidt sophomore in construction science and

▶ GOVERNMENT

GATT is just another nail

It was painfully obvious to me as I read Monday's Collegian that Scott Allen Miller and Randy Crow have inadvertently discovered another truth of American society: the inability to abstract on a large scale about real political

On the one hand, Miller correctly observes that we, as a people, have somewhat lost this ability to focus on and solve singular societyaffecting problems, and have gone the apathetic route of Hillary hairstyles and other frivolous concerns. On the other, Randy exhorts us to learn about a large political concern that will directly affect the future of this entire planet in the next few years: i.e.; the unification of all sovereign nations under an all-encompassing worldgoverning entity, for the sake of peace and children's happiness everywhere.

In focusing on one of Miller's points, Randy observes that the GATT will undermine our Bill of Rights and infringe upon Americans' liberties. This is true and has been going on for a long time. Railroaded legislation is very important to those who control. The Wiretap Bill, the Crime Bill follow-ons and increasing secret consolidation of power in the executive branch are necessary to slowly centralize power. The GATT agreement is not the beginning of a trend, but yet another nail in the coffin of America.

There are those who say we are racing to environmental oblivion. There are those who say that the year 2000 holds occultic significance to those who dictate policy to the world's leaders. There are also those who choose to ignore the decay of society and are at peace allowing themselves to be fed by the affable, trustworthy news anchors (why would they lie. anyway?) Then again, maybe I'm wrong. Maybe the U.N. Charter will be everything the Bill of Rights once was. And maybe having a super-rich oligarchy won't be so bad. After all, they know what I want, and as long as I get it, I'm happy.

Jason Werick senior in mechanical engineering

LASSIFIEDS

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

1 DAY 20 words or less - $5 each word over 20 - $.20 per word 2 DAYS 20 words or less - $6.25

each word over 20 - $.25 per word 3 DAYS 20 words or less - $7.25 each word over 20 - $.30 per word

$ 20 words or less - $8 each word over 20 - $.35 per word

5 DAYS 20 words or less - $8.50 each word over 20 - $.40 per word

(consecutive day rate)

ust be paid in advance n established account

AND

HOW TO PAY

d. There is a $10 service charge on all returned checks.

We reserve the right to edit, reject or properly cleasify any ad.

HEADLINES

For an extra charge, we'll put a seedline above your ad to catch the

CANCELLATIONS

Cleasified ade must be placed by noon the day before the date you want your ad to run. Classifed display ade must be placed by 4 p.m. two working days prior to the date you want your ad to run.

FREE FOUND ADS As a service to you, we run found ade for three days free of charge.

If you sell your item before your ad has expired, we will refund you for the remaining days.

You must call us before noon the day the sel is to be published.

CORRECTIONS

If you find an error in your ad, please call us. We accept responsibility only for the first wrong insertion.

Call 532-6555 to place your classified.

GET THE WORD OUT PLACE YOUR CLASSIFIED AD IN KEDZIE 103

532-6555 532-7309

COLLEGIAN CLASSIFIEDS Kedzie Hall 103 Manhattan, Kan. 66506 330

MONDAY-FRIDAY 8 a.m.-5 p.m. (Except holidays)

BULLETIN BOARD

Announcements

S Financial Aid S Attention All Students!
Over $5 Billion in FREE Financial Aid is now available for students
nationwide from private sector
grants & scholarships! All students are eligible regardless of grades,
income, or parent's income. For more information, call:

1-800-959-1605 ext. F57681 50 PERCENT off single sportscards! Just in-'94- '95 Basketball and Hockey, Bases Loaded

Sportscards. Poyntz, 537-4141. ADVANCED FLIGHT Train ing from 5000-hour ATP instructor. Private

single-engine through ATP multi-engine. Hugh Irvin, 539-3128. COME FLY with us, K-State Flying Club has five air-planes. For best prices call Troy Brockway, 776–6735 after 5:30p.m.

COUNTRY WESTERN or Country Rock, single or 7 For Sauturday nights 6- 9p.m. (plus?). Call Mike or Mike or Louis (913)293-5737 9a.m. 9p.m. except Sundays 9a.m.- 3p.m., for alco #### hol free restaurant per-formance and/ or "Club Dance." Meditation

Workshop Wednesday

Nov. 30 6:30 - 8:30 p.m. Health & Harmony

Pathways

537-8946

SHIPPING UPS World

Wide AA Pack-n-Ship, 225 McCall Rd. McCall 776-9124.

Lost and Found Found ads can be placed free for three days.

FOUND A brown female lab around two years old by City Park 11/17. Call 537-5099.

FOUND: A bookbag in Waters at beginning of se-mester. Call to claim.

FOUND: LEATHER jacket at It's Greek to Me. 537-8822.

LOST A silver ring on Fri-day November 18 on campus. If found please call 587-9329.

Personals

JEREMY- "KEDZIE Hall Office" thanks you for the rose. Sorry it didn't make it to Trista. We enjoyed it!

your room is clean, Tats is so proud! DEAR KSUMB- I can neve thank you enough for all you have given me over the years. It was you who inspired me. I hope we can run it from the top just one more time; better! I

Parties-n-More

ADD A splash to your next bash. Great anytime. Birthdays, mid-terms and Wildcat victory par-ties. Wet-N-Wild Mobile Hot Tubs, 537-1825.

ADD AN extra touch of class to your next party. Call Wayne's Water Party to rent a portable hot tub 537-7587, 539-7561.

Apts. Furnished

For Rent-

$210, BIG room and close to campus. 537-9813.

AVAILABLE FALL very nice one, two, three and four-bedroom apartment complexes and houses. Excellent locations with great prices 537-1666, 537-2919.

JAN. 1. One-bedrooms in complexes $280- $300. No pets, lease required 587-0399.

ONE-BEDROOM apartment for rent. Great pricel 327 Fre-mont. For more infoma-tion call after 6:30 (587-

QUIET SURROUNDINGS for study. Campus one mile, one-bedroom, some utilities paid. Min-imum seven month no lease, 537-8389. 110 For Rent-

Unfurnished 1219 KEARNEY. Large two-bedroom, no pets. Wa-ter/ garbage included. Available Jan. 1, $495.

Close to campus. 539-5136.

814 THURSTON, studio. No pets. Water/ gar-bage included. Avail-able Jan. 1, $275. 539-5136. AVAILABLE DEC. 15, one bedroom basement apartment near City Park. 300 N. 11th, $300. Water, trash paid. No pets. 776-3804.

SO. APT. *2 BEDROOMS *FIREPLACE *POOL 537-9064 WEEKDAYS 9:00-4:30

AVAILABLE DEC. 17, one-bedroom. 1005 Blue-mont $385. Two blocks east of Aggieville and campus. No pets. 776-3804.

**********

AVAILABLE FALL very nice one, two, three and four-bedroom apart-ment complexes and houses. Excellent locations with great prices. 537-1666, 537-2919. AVAILABLE IN January two-bedroom west of City Park. 1417- 1419 Leavenworth $475. Wa-ter/ trash paid. Parking available. No pets. 776-3804. AVAILABLE JAN. 1, one bedroom near campus. 1700 N. Manhattan. Royal Towers. $395. Sun deck, hot tubs, laundry facilities. No pets. 776-3804. AVAILABLE NOW at Ware

ham Hotel, 418 Poyntz. Studio apartment $340. Water/ trash paid. Laundry facilities on premises. No pets. 776-3804. ONE-BEDROOMS AVAIL-ABLE in January near campus. 1854- 1858 Cla-flin. $355- $380. Water/ trash paid. Laundry facilities. No pets. 776-

ONE-BEDROOMS AVAIL-ABLE at 1026 Sunset. $385- $395. Remodeled units. Central air/ heat. Laundry facilities. Three blocks west of campus. 776-3804. STUDIOS AVAILABLE in

Dec. at Wareham Hotel 418 Poyntz. $320- $375. Water/ trash paid. Laundry facilities on premis es. No pets. 776-3804. THREE-BEDROOM, ONE-

HALF block from cam-pus. 1829 College Heights. Water/ trash paid. Laundry facilities on premises. No pets. 776-3804.

TWO-BEDROOM NEAR City Park, available in Dec. 1026 Osage. $495. Water/ trash paid. Laun-dry facilities on premis-es. No pets. 776-3804.

TWO-BEDROOM NEAR City Park. 1026 Osage

$495. Available in Jan. Water/ trash paid. Laundry facilities. No pets. 776-3804.

NON-DRINKER

smoker, for two-bed-room place. No pets. References. 539-1554.

Roommate Wanted

AVAILABLE IMMEDIATE-LY at Chase Manhattan Apartments. Ground level, four-bedroom, furnished apartment. Share utilities and rent with three males. (913)742-2743 after

MALE ROOMMATE needed for two-bed-room apartment. Pool included, close to cam-pus. Call 587-4184. FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted immediately.

Two blocks from campus. $240/ month plus one-fourth utilities.
Nice well furnished house, own room. Please call 776-9548. ROOMMATE FEMALE wanted to live at Brit-tnay Ridge. $215/ month, own room, washer/ dryer, dish-washer, two and one-half baths, one-fourth utilities. Available mid-Dec. or 587-8622. Jan. FEMALE ROOMMATE:

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted to share spacious two-bedroom apartment. Starting Dec. 17-' Jan. 1. Woodway apartments. Call 776-4901, leave mes-

FEMALE WANTED share cozy three-bed-room house. Very close to campus, utilities in-cluded in rent. Call Jen-nifer or Susannah 537-7872.

FEMALE WANTED. Available immediately. Own room, $186/ month, one-fifth utilities. One-half block from campus. Washer/ dryer in house. Call 776-6509. MALE ROOMMATE need ed, $210/ month. One-third utilities. One-half block from campus. Two blocks from Ag-gieville. Very Nice. Call 537-3029. MALE ROOMMATE need

ed. $175/ month. Own room. One-third utilities. Call Jeff at 776-0674. MALE TO share three-bedroom, very nice, clean house. Washer/ dryer, dishwasher, etc. Close to campus. Begin January. $220/ month plus one-third utilities 776-0618.

Available nov 539-2468. Keep trying. NON-SMOKING FEMALE

OWN ROOM. $200 per month plus one-fifth utilities. Close to cam-pus. Call 587-0330.

Brittnay Ridge, for sec ond semester lease ROOMMATE WANTED im mediately to share one-forth rent and one-forth bills. Own room and bath. One-half block off campus. Call 776-5910. ROOMMATE WANTED share nice two-bed-room apartment. About 10 minute walk to campus. Close to Ag-gieville too. $210/ month plus utilities. Sorry, no pets! Lease starts when you move starts when you move in. Call John right away at 776-9559.

WANTED NON-SMOKING and non-drinking room mate for basement fur nished private bed-room. Walk to KSU. $150. Share utilities. 539-1554.

WANTED ROOMMATES to share nice four-bed-room house for spring and/ or fall '95 semes-ters call Shauna (776-3130).

Sublease

FEMALES NEEDED share nice three-bed-room apartment, one and one-half bath. $220 per person. Move-in end of Dec. Call 776-0293. Call FOUR-BEDROOM, TWO bath, available Dec. or Jan. $ negotiable, 587-4120.

MALE NEEDED. Three-bedroom basement apart-ment available Decem-ber. $165, one-fifth utilities, washer/ dryer. 587-8814, 532-6604 Tues., Thurs. ask for Bart or leave message ONE-BEDROOM APART

MENT, one block from Aggieville and campus. First month paid. Start January 1. Leave mes-sage, 537–3596. three blocks from campus, furnished, dishwasher. $210 plus half utilities. Call 587-9597. ONE-BEDROOM APART MENT with balcony Within walking distance of campus and Ag-gieville. No deposit re-quired. Call 537-4768.

> SPACIOUS- EIGHT-BED ROOM house for sub-leases Jan. 1- July 31. Wood floors, two bath, washer/ dryer; walk to campus/ Aggieville; Next to City Park. De-posits paid. 539-3679. SPRING SEMESTER. One-bedroom furnished, one block from cam-pus, $380/ month. 776-5439. SUBLEASE STARTING Dec. 19. Nice one-bed STARTING room apartment; one and one-half blocks from campus! Includes new kitchen appliances, central air; and laundry facility in building. $370 a month (water and trash paid). 587-1921.

Resume Typing

LE, NON-SMOKER wanted for spring se-mester. Call 537-3555 BRING YOUR papers, resumes, and projects

NON-SMOKER, SHARE house, utilities with re-sponsible mostly male household. Sunny bed-room, laundry, $150.

to share house, $250, month, one-third utili-ties. Quiet, clean neigh-borhood. Must seel Evenings 587-0787. Leave message. NONSMOKING FEMALE quiet country home. Kitchen and living area fully furnished. Washer/ dryer. Ten minutes from campus. All black-top road. Available spring se (913)494-2391.

ROOMMATE NEEDED, at

Will pay first months rent. Call 539-5664, ask for Shawn, or leave close to campus, wash-er/ dryer. Available Jan. 1 or sooner. $237.50 plus one-half utilities, 537-3913.

ROOMMATE WANTED. Non-smoking male col-lege student needed to to life at The Computer Help Desk. Top- quality printing, with graphics if desired. Great stuff at great prices! 537-3018. 225

Pregnancy Testing

Pregnancy Testing Center 539-3338

·Free pregnancy testing · Totally confidential

·Same day results Call for appointment Located across from

Anderson Village Mon.-Fri. 9 a.m.-5 p.m.

Child Care

RESPONSIBLE PERSON needed to watch our one year old in our home, beginning in January. Walking dis-tance to campus. 776-6346.

Automotive Repair

NISSAN- DATSUN Repair Service. 22 years experience. Mazdas, Hondas and Toyotas also. Auto Craft, 2612 Dipper Lane, Manhattan, Kan-sas. 537-5049. 8a.m.-5p.m. Mon.- Fri. 255

Other Services

MODELS NEEDED male and female models needed for haircut, color and perm educa-tional classes. These services are at no charge. Please contact Hair Experts Design Team, M-F, 776-4455. PROMPT CONTRACEPTIVE

(913)841-5716. EMPLOYMENT/

CAREERS

and abortion services. Dale L. Clinton, M.D.,

Help Wanted

$1500 WEEKLY possible mailing our circulars! No experience re-quired! Begin Now! For information call (202)298-8957.

ALASKA EMPLOYMENT- Fishing Industry. Earn up to $3000- $6000 plus per month. Room and board! Transportation!
Male/ Female. No experience necessary! perience necessary! (206)545-4155 ext.

COMPUTER NETWORK
ADMINISTRATOR: parttime student position,
mostly regular scheduled hours with some emergency trou-bleshooting hours. Re-sponsible for oversee-ing 55-computer Macin-tosh network, including hardware maintenance, software backups, and software backups, and records maintenance. Should be familiar with Macintosh operating systems 6 and 7. Client server networking for an ethernet network. TCP/IP experience a plus. Salary negotiable based on experience. Pick up an applications in 113 or 103 Kedzie Application deadline is noon on Tuesday, Nov. 22.

CRUISE SHIPS NOW HIRING - Earn up to $2000 plus/ month working on Cruise Ships or Land- Tour companies. World travel (Hawaii, Mexico, the Caribbean, etc.). Seasonal and full-time employment available. No ployment available. No experience necessary. For more information call (206)634-0468 ext.

FISCAL ASSISTANT need CAL ASSISTANT needed for busy non-profit organization. Requires high school diploma and three years experience. Requires 10- key proficiency: experience in payroll, accounts payable, accounts receivable and general ledger; DOS, QPro, accounting and word processing software; and counting and word pro-cessing software; and one year's experience with federal funds man-agement. Successful ap-plicant must possess a "can- do" attitude, topnotch organizational skills and an understanding of generally accepted accounting practices. Starting sal-ary $16s plus benefits. Job description avail-Job description available upon request. Send cover letter, resume and three references by 5p.m., November 30 to: Screening Committee, NC-FH AAA, 437 Houston, Manhattan, KS 66502. AAFOE. AA/EOE.

JON'S NOTES is accepting applications for note takers for next semester. Receive $10 to 15 per lecture. If interested, apply at 623 N. Manhattan or call 587–8381.

ACINTOSH TROU-BLESHOOTER: part-time student position, mostly regular sched-uled hours with possible emergency hours.

Assists in overseeing 55-computer Macintosh network, including hardware and software troubleshooting and Macintosh operating systems 6 and 7. Minimum wage to start. Pick up an applications at 113 or 103 Kedzie.

Application deadline is noon on Tues., Nov. 22. NATIONAL JOBS- Over 25,000
openings! (including
hotel staff, tour guides,
etc.) Benefits plus bonuses! Apply now for best positions. Call: (206)545-4804 ext.

NOW HIRING Students to work spring 1995 se-mester fee payment Jan. 9 and 10, 1995. Contact Tammie Camp-bell at 210 Willard Hall. PART-TIME RETAIL. Outgoing person to sell lighting/ stockroom, break and spring, good experience for right person, bring your schedule, see Cheryl, Endacott Lighting 309 Moro, 776-4472. SKI RESORT JOBS- Hir ing for many positions for winter quarter.

SKI RESORT JOBS! Ever wanted to work in the Rockies? For fun and adventure call Ski-Ve-nure (619)683-2300.

Send resume, tran 18, 1995. Please send to Dr. George Lookhart, US Grain Marketing Re-search Laboratory, 1515 College Ave. Manhat-tan, KS 66502. Kansas State University is an Equal Opportunity Em-ployer. KSU encourages diversity among its

Business

ment/Career classific month. Telecommunications Company expanding into area. Needs managers, sales reps, trainers. Small investment reqired. Training provided. Call Jeaneane (800)977-6836 for interview.

MAKE $3900

Over 15,000 open-ings! For more infor mation call: (206)634-0469 ext.

THREE RESEARCH Assis

tant positions in the De-partment of Grain Sci-ence and Industry. Three full-time positions, temporary. Ex-perience in laboratory work and instrumental methods desired. Will be responsible for using and maintaining general laboratory equipment, routine laboratory analysis and quality related re-search. Qualifications: B.S. degree in Grain Science, Agronomy Biology, Biochemistry, Chemistry, Biochemistry or Food Science. script and two letters of reference by Dec. 18, 1994. Starting date Jan. 18, 1995. Please send to do mountains this sum-mer at Cheley Colorado Camps summer pro-gram. R.N.s; drivers; secretaries; wranglers; nanny; kitchen; song leaders; riding, hiking, backpacking, sports, crafts counselors. Campers age 9-17. Room and board, cash salary, travel allowance. Our 74th summer! Must be at least 19 to apply. Applicants will be notified of campus interview date. Apply to Cheley Colorado Camps, Box 6525, Denver, Colorado 80206, (303)377-3616. leaders; riding, hiking

WORK IN beautiful Colora

Opportunities

The Collegian cannot verify the financial po-tential of advertise-ments in the Employtion. Readers are advised to approach any such business opporsuch business oppor-tunity with reasonable caution. The Collegian urges our readers to contact the Better Busi-ness Bureau, 501 SE Jefferson, Topeka, KS 66607-1190. (913)232-0454.

NEED EXTRA $ for college first and have fun at the same time? Help us dis-tribute our catalogs ar-ound campus. U get order. There's no sell-ing required. Call Stuff Catalog @ 1-800-STUFF-OK.

OPEN MARKET

Items for Sale

ACADEMIC INTERNATION-AL Encyclopedias, leather bound, brand new, still in the box, great Christmas gift! Very cheap! 776-7934. AIWA PORTABLE radio. CD and cassette player. Clarion 6X9 car speak-ers with box and and Rockford amplifier.

Price negotiable! Call 539-6639, ask for Shelley or leave message. Printer and typewriter supplies at low prices Mid-America Office Supply 539-8982 wool socks and gloves, overcoats, field jackets, G.I. boots, camouflage clothing, sleeping bags, overshoes. Also CARHARTT Workwear. Open Mon.- Sat. 9-5. Open Sunday till Christ-mas 12-4. St. Marys Surplus (913)437-2734. Sales INDEPENDENT MARY Kay Beauty Consultant going out of business. All items half regular price. 776-1932 ask for Carla.

GOVERNMENT SURPLUS-

Antiques

TIME MACHINE Antique Maul and Geeb Empori-um, 6000 square feet, antiques, collectibles, estate jewelry, furni-ture, 4910 Skyway Dr. four blocks east of Manhattan Airport. Open Tues.- Sat. 12- 6p.m. 539-4684.

Computers

MACINTOSH COMPUT-ER. Complete system including printer only $500. Call Chris at (800)289-5685.

Pets and Supplies

EMERGENCY:

and dogs all ages and breeds, desperately need homes immediate-ly or will be destroyed. (913)456-2592, (913)494-8415.

PUPPIES

TRANS-PORTATION

Automobiles

VW Scirocco. 79K miles. Loaded, excellent condition. $2300 or st offer. 539-7890 1970 MERCEDES Benz four-door, $995, new paint. Excellent condition, except water pump. See Highway 77, 198 marker, 27 miles

COLLEGIAN CLASSIFIEDS 532-6556

CLASSIFIED DIRECTORY

010 Announcements 020 Lost and Found

030 Personals 040 Meetings/Events 050 Parties-n-More

REAL ESTATE

105 For Rent -

Apt. Furnished 110 For Rent Apt. Unfurnished 120 For Rent - Houses 125 For Sale - Houses

115 Rooms Available

Mobile Homes 135 For Sale Mobile Homes

130 For Rent -

145 Roommate Wanted 150 Sublease

155 Stable/Pasture

160 Office Space

165 Land for Sale

140 For Rent - Garage

SERVICE DIRECTORY 205 Tutor

210 Resume/Typing 215 Desktop Publishing

220 Sewing/Alterations

230 Lawn Care 235 Child Care

250 Automotive Repair 255 Other Services

240 Musicians/DJs

245 Pet Services

EMPLOYMENT CAREERS 310 Help Wanted

320 Volunteers Neede

Opportunities

300

225 Pregnancy Testing MARKET 405 Wanted to Buy 410 Items for Sale

> 425 Auction 430 Antiques 435 Computers

415 Furniture to Buy/Sel

450 Pets and Supplies 455 Sporting Equipment

440 Food Specials

445 Music Instruments

460 Stereo Equipment

465 Tickets to Buy/Sell

400

540 Car Pool 420 Garage/Yard Sales

620 Airplane Tickets

50

PORTATION

520 Bicycles

510 Automobiles

530 Motorcycles

TRAVEL/ 610 Tour Packages

630 Train Tickets 640 Bus Tickets

CATEGORIES To help you find what you are looking for, the classified ads have been arranged by category and sub-category. All categories are marked by one of the large images, and sub-categories are preceded by a number designation. TIPS FOR

CLASSIFIED AD Always put what item or service you are advertising first. This helps potential buyers find what they are looking for. Don't use abbreviations. Many buyers are confused by

WRITING A

abbreviations. Consider including the price. This tells buyers if they are looking at something in their price range.

WE DO NOT USE PHONE NUMBERS OR LAST NAMES IN PERSONALS.

KELLY CAMPBELL/COLLEGIAN

BILL WATTERSON

WAIT A MINUTE! NO, YOU'RE

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

NOVEMBER 28, 1994

aft sail

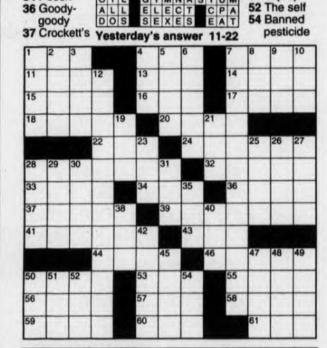

32 Kitchen

33 Pseudo-

34 Pooch

cheese

▶ CROSSWORD EUGENE SHEFFER garden 9 Extinct bird ACROSS last stand 39 Some 10 Football 1 Emotional 60 Templeton, women sort? 4 "Monty in "Charmember have them lotte's 12 Under-Python" in their Web' mined clutches opener 7 Appellation 41 Operator of 61 Be behind, so as to humiliate a clip joint in a way DOWN 43 Emulate 19 Nettle on it!" 21 Actress 1 Leftovers 13 Treasure Pinocchio 44 Writer Arthur seeker's recipe 23 Nourished 2 Sheltered Ambler 25 Hole in 14 Fairy tale 46 Sheetload 3 Girl in a the head? preposition of cookies Chevalier 15 Big rig 50 Scoff 16 Arafat's org. 53 Supreme 26 Send forth 27 Alger's 4 Mischie-Being 17 Anthrovous sort "before" 28 Impale pologist 55 Unaccom-5 Body Margaret 29 Silents panied powder star Negri 18 Alpine 56 Jason's 6 Haunt 7 Old-time 30 Place of heroine ship 20 "The 57 In need operator's worship? Georgia of repair 8 Anthropoid 35 Guy's date 58 Primordial Peach' 22 "Bow-Solution time: 24 min. ramparts..." wow!" 40 Freedom, 24 Fish of for short legal size 42 Strictness 28 Fore-and-45 Pop choice

STUMPED? For answers to today's crossword, call 1-900-454-6873199¢ per minute, touchtone / rotary phones. (18+ only.) A King Features service, NYC.

CRYPTOQUIP

HVXLMW-RM-XLNNZMW

ZG HZEEB SZIWDZIV

XLNKZMB DZH RGH

ERHV R H V K I V H R W V M G . Saturday's Cryptoquip: TORTES AND TARTS THAT SUPPOSEDLY "FELL OFF A TRUCK" ARE GOING LIKE HOT CAKES.

Today's Cryptoquip clue: X equals C

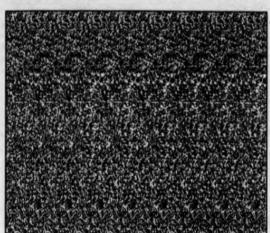

► THE FAR SIDE

GARY LARSON

Dogs and alcohol: The tragic untold story.

► MIGRAINE

The previous Migraine was a Turkey.

► CALVIN AND HOBBES

HEY DAD, I'LL GUESS ANY I'VE GOT IT. 92, 376,051 NUMBER YOU'RE GO AHEAD, PICK A NUMBER

▶ FOXTROT

Reader can't expect best of both worlds

Write to Cassie:

116 Kedzie Hall

Dear Cassandra,

Where I work, every day I am surrounded by beautiful women. This has created a problem in my relationship with my girlfriend.

She is very jealous of all the gorgeous women that I work with and how they flirt with me. This really bothers My friends told me that she acts that way because she's 16 years old. I don't know if that is the case or not.

What should I do? Should I break up with her and make a move on one of these other girls, or should I just stick it out and try to reassure my girlfriend that she's the only one for me?

Manhattan, KS Sincerely, Very confused. Dear Very confused,

Is it your job with the beautiful women your girl is jealous of or your actions with these beautiful women? Are you giving her a reason to be jealous? It sounds like you wouldn't mind getting to know a few of these gorgeous gals a little better. Are you resisting? Do they know you have a girlfriend, and if they do, are you proud to state that fact?

If I sensed my boyfriend was thinking of breaking things off with me to be with another gal (like you suggested you wouldn't mind doing in your letter), I'd be jealous, too.

Don't expect to have the best of both worlds. If you do, she may decide "to make a few moves" of her own.

▶ BOOK REVIEW

Author weaves an intrigue-filled espionage story

Kansas City native creates technical, believable plot line

ANDREW TOMB

Collegian

A terrorist plot to turn the nuclear forces of the United States against itself is the premise behind "Death By Fire," a novel by Kansas City native Chris Davis.

The book, while giving oceans of technical information, is still a thrilling read to the layman, and a welcome addition to a hacker's library.

Davis creates a scenario that at the surface seems implausible (launching an unauthorized nuclear attack via computer), but he weaves a plot of espionage and computer expertise to legitimize

The plot is timely, with appearances by Bill Clinton in a post cold-war situation room and Saddam "I thought we kicked your butt once" Hussein. Basically, Hussein has employed a former counterintelligence agent, only referred to as 'HYDRA,' to turn the U.S. defense complex against itself. The story centers on the methods HYDRA uses to infiltrate the defense network and the efforts of the FBI and CIA in tracking him down.

Chris Davis "Death By Fire" S.P.I. Books 394 pages $5.50

HYDRA is effectively portrayed as a ruthless killer, always at least two steps ahead of the feds. The methodical approach of HYDRA leaves the reader to put assumptions aside and only read on to see his next move.

As sensitive as HYDRA's goal may be, the reader is often in danger of rooting for this machine-like saboteur.

The feeling of helplessness of the agents trying to crack the case is translated very well to the read-

FBI agent David Woodring, with all the personnel and hardware of the U.S. government at his disposal, still cannot track down HYDRA.

And the high-tech spy toys Davis throws at us spread-spectrum satellite cellular phones, palmtop personal computers and airborne command centers are enough to make any hacker foam at the mouth.

Often coming from inside the U.S. intelligence community, Davis takes time to point a few fingers at scandals past.

Make sure you look for the tailor who produced an assortment of Texas law-enforcement uniforms in the early 1960s.

"Death By Fire" is a novel that takes your breath away, wowing us with its hardware and scaring the daylights out of us with its plot.

FREE DELIVERY "During the day, too!"

47 Commotion

48 Ball of yarn

49 Sharpen

50 - alai

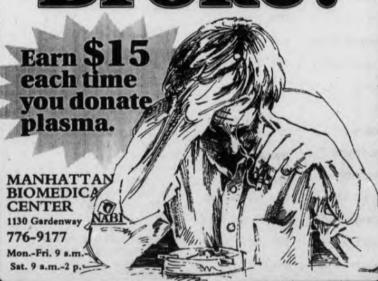

51 Slip up

2 pizzas, 2 cokes, stix Party Pack

11 a.m. to 8 p.m. (Dine-in, Carry-out Only)

2.75 each pizza minimum order 4 pizzas

Brok

GRADUATE STUDIES DATABASE

4,000 concentrated Programs • More than 1,000 Graduate Schools • Over 300 Credentialling Programs • 500 Professional Oraganizations • Plus: School Catalog Service...we send the catalogs to you!

Why spend hours researching what school has what concetration, in what area of the country. We have all the information right here, the most extensive database available, and we even mail you the catalogs from the schools you choose. Information packets are available for students and Resource Centers.

AREER NETWORK ASSOCIATE

2210 Mt. Carmel Avenue, Suite 110, Dept. 10-5 Glenside, PA 19038 (215) 572-7670 FAX (215) 576-8354

Millefiore Candles

"Millefiore" — Italian word meaning "A Thousand Flowers"

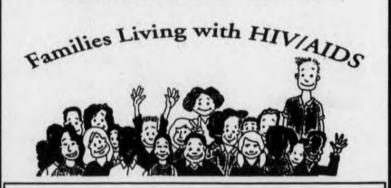

KRYSTALLOS

708 N. Manh. Ave.

Aggieville

KSU HIV/AIDS Awareness Week

Families Living with HIV/AIDS: Nov. 28 noon- 1 p.m. Union Courtyard Panel of Speakers

Candlelight Ceremony 7-8:30 p.m. Danforth Chapel noon-1 p.m. Union Courtyard The Johnsons Nov. 29 7-9 p.m. Forum Hall The Johnsons

AIDS Quilt Video noon-1 p.m. Union Courtyard

Join the walk featuring 1000 flags in recognition of some of the Kansans known to be living with HIV-AIDS.

Sponsored By: Lafene Health Center Communicable Disease Committee Housing and Dining Services Association of Residence Halls

Salute to Life Walk

Boyd Hall Ford Hall Goodnow Hall Haymaker Hall

Dec. 1 4-6 p.m. Ahearn

Moore Hall Putnam Hall Van Zile Hall West Hall

Exp. Bate 00/00

K-State was victorious in Las Vegas Saturday, defeating

Tuesday HIGH LOW

WEATHER - PAGE 2

NOVEMBER 29, 1994

KANSAS STATE UNIVERSITY, MANHATTAN, KANSAS 66506

VOLUME 99B, NUMBER 67

MANHATTAN

Shelter is a way out for homeless

"Sometimes when people get to us, their self-esteem is really wrecked."

RON ZERRER Director of the Manhattan Emergency Shelter

This is the first in a series of stories on the people that work and live at the Manhattan Emergency Shelter.

A few people are talking and smoking on the porch of the house on the corner of Eighth and Leavenworth Streets. More people are inside cooking dinner. The sound of children burning off their lateafternoon energy drowns out the buzz of the television.

It seems like any other different.

The house is the home of the Manhattan Emergency Shelter and about 21 people who have nowhere else to go.

The shelter is not just a temporary place to stay. For many, it is a way out.

"When someone says to me 'I believe I want to make it in life. I am sick and tired of being homeless.' When someone accepts our help. then I feel I have done a good day's work," Ron Zerrer, director of the shelter, said.

finding the reasons why people become homeless and helping them build skills so they do not have to be homeless anymore.

Jerie Colletti-Wetzel, director of client services, said there are usually skills or problems on which people who have been homeless need

Many people at the shelter have had failed relationships with family and friends or have had problems managing finances.

the result of multiple issues, not just one thing," Colletti-Wetzel said.

'Motivation can be part of the problem, but for the reason we have to dig deeper and find what was really going on. Sometimes these people are dealing with a lot. It can be overwhelming."

The average stay for people at the shelter is about three weeks, Zerrer said. In that time, residents take life skills and consumer credit courses.

"Sometimes when people get to us, their self-esteem is really wrecked," Zerrer said. "We try to help them realize that they don't have a positive self-image. We tell them, 'I believe in you,' and try to help them build a positive self-image.' The shelter also works with other services in the area including Social Rehabilitation Services, Flint Hills Breadbasket and Pawnee Mental Health Center.

Staying at the shelter is not ■ See SHELTER Page 8

GIVE

THANKS

If you contribute canned goods, toiletries or household products to the homeless through the Collegian, you will receive $1 off any classified ad in the Collegian through the end of December. Contributions go to the Mahattan Emergency Shelter and the Flint Hills Breadbasket, in an attempt to help people such as those spotlighted in this series.

STEVE HEBERT/Collegian

Members of the STD and HIV/AIDS Peer Educators light candles for those infected and affected with HIV and AIDS Monday night in the Danforth Chapel. The Candlelight Memorial was part of the fourth annual K-State HIV/AIDS Awareness Week.

Lighting AWARENESS Those affected by virus join in lighting of candles

SACHA HANES

Friends and family members of HIV/AIDS victims offered their prayers Monday night at a Candlelight Memorial. The memorial was at Danforth Chapel as part of the fourth annual K-State HIV/AIDS Awareness Week. Kelly Fink, health educator and coordinator of HIV/AIDS Awareness Week, said the purpose of the memorial was to lend support to those infected, as well as those affected by HIV and AIDS.

Fink said she felt a lot of the people attended the ceremony to show that they were not going to just sit by and watch friends and relatives get infected.

The Rev. Cathy Meyer, Methodist campus minister, discussed how HIV and AIDS affect everyone and how the church is working to address those with the diseases and their family and friends.

"It affects every community," Meyer said. "It affects every campus; in some ways it affects every church.'

Members of the STD and HIV/AIDS Peer Educators showed their commitment to educating others by performing a candle-lighting ceremony.

Seven candles were lighted to represent memory, solidarity, love, repentance, hope, thankfulness and commitment.

The Rev. Al Zimmerman, Presbyterian campus minister, read the International AIDS Candlelight Pledge, stressing the importance of the rights of HIV-infected citizens and educating the public.

He also led the audience of about 30 people in litany and prayers while the candles lit the room.

"We don't always think about living with HIV and AIDS," Fink said.

She said many people only think about the death part of the disease, and they forget that those infected with it still have a lot to offer.

Jennifer Hirschfield, who lost her father last year to AIDS, read a story that stressed the importance of doing little things that show support.

"It is the little things that mean a lot, especially to those with HIV and AIDS," Hirschfield said.

People meet to deal with HIV/AIDS

SACHA HANES

Collegian

Four people discussed how they coped with having family members diagnosed with HIV/AIDS Monday in the K-State Union.

The panel discussion started off the fourth annual K-State HIV/AIDS Awareness week.

The panelists spoke to a crowd of about 25 people on "Families living with HIV/AIDS." Greg Eiselein, assistant professor of English, whose uncle died of AIDS in 1986, talked about how the family dealt with the

His uncle, Butch, who was gay, died when he was 30 years old.

"My father won't talk about Butch's death. Part of it is shame. I think he feels ashamed of how he died," Eiselein said.

Kelly Fink, health educator, said some people with the disease lie about having AIDS and cover it up by saying it is cancer.

Deb Taylor, instructor of English, has two brothers who are HIV positive. She said they have discussed the issue of what to say if the HIV becomes AIDS.

When they do have AIDS, we intend to call it AIDS," Taylor said. "If we don't call it what it is, we are ashamed. I am not ashamed that my brothers have it."

In a letter Taylor read from her brother Steve, who was diagnosed with HIV in 1986. he said one of the most challenging problems he faces is having an intimate relationship.

He said people do not understand the disease and are afraid to get close to him, afraid he may die soon or infect them.

Another problem he said he faces is discrimination.

Jennifer Hirschfield, freshman in psychology, said her father lost a lot of friends and family support when they found out he had AIDS.

"The one thing that saddened me was to see him lose family, lose friends and lose dignity," Hirschfield said.

"He faced much discrimination. Not because he had AIDS, but they were not aware. I don't think they stopped loving him, but they feared him," Hirschfield said.

Jan Trulson, who lost her 30-year-old nephew, Michael, said the family experienced a lot of support.

"There were so many acts of kindness. We were lucky - a lot more fortunate than others," Trulson said. Taylor said many times discrimination

See HIV Page 10

► NATION

Jeffrey Dahmer killed in prison

ASSOCIATED PRESS

MADISON, Wis. - Jeffrey Dahmer, who confessed to killing 17 men and boys and cannibalizing some of his victims, was attacked in prison and killed

Dahmer was pronounced dead on the way to a hospital with massive head injuries, corrections department spokesman Joe Scislowicz said.

"There was a great deal of blood in the area of the attack," he said. He did not know what weapon was used.

Dahmer, 34, was cleaning a recreation area at the Columbia Correctional Institute when he was attacked. Another inmate also attacked was and hospitalized. Dahmer was convicted in all but one of the 17 sex killings and was serving 16 consecutive life

Arrested in July 1991, Dahmer said he picked up young men and boys at gay bars, shopping malls and other public places, lured them to his apartment and strangled and dismembered them. Skulls and other body parts were found in his apartment.

He admitted he had sex with four corpses, and saved the heart of one "to eat later."

Dahmer's activities came to light in July 1991, when a handcuffed, bloody youth flagged down police and led officers to Dahmer's apartment.

They found body parts throughout, including severed heads in the refrigerator.

Today's attack wasn't the first time Dahmer had been assaulted

In July, another inmate tried to cut his throat during a chapel service, but the razor blade on the prisoner's homemade plastic knife fell off before it could hurt

At that time, Corrections Secretary Michael Sullivan said it appeared to be an isolated event and Dahmer was not believed to be in danger.

► CAMPUS

Female faculty at K-State less satisfied than men

SERA L. TANK

The 1994 report on faculty satisfaction and morale found that women faculty were less satisfied than men at K-State's recruitment and retention of women and minority faculty.

The Faculty Morale and Satisfaction survey was administered to a sample of K-State faculty in spring 1994 by an ad hoc committee appointed by Faculty

The findings of this year's report are only marginally different from the 1993 report, which revealed that more than 60 percent of faculty responding would seek a job elsewhere in higher education or in industry According to this year's report,

43 percent of participants said they would be somewhat or very likely to seek a job in industry, compared with last year's 42 percent. The poll contained questions about several subjects, including the reputation of the University. resources available and job satisfaction

Brenda Fergen, a member of the Faculty Morale and Satisfaction Standing Committee and writer of the report, said the poll varied according to faculty rating.

One example of the fluctuation is in job satisfaction.

"People at the assistant professor level and untenured were less satisfied because they didn't have as much security," she said.

Fergen said that something different this year was gender analysis.

The results showed that when broken down by sex, men and women had very different likes and dislikes.

"We thought it might provide us with some deeper insights," said Brian Niehoff, member of the

■ See REPORT Page 8

▶ CHINA WORKS TO EXPAND HABITAT OF ENDANGERED YANGTZE ALLIGATORS

BEIJING (AP) - Hoping to expand the habitat of an endangered reptile, China has established a reserve for some 190 Yangtze alligators on a South China Sea island.

The official People's Daily newspaper said today that a conservation center on the island. Hainan, also successfully hatched two alligator eggs as part of a breeding program.

The Yangtze alligator, a species unique to China, once swam much of the Yangtze River, which flows from the Tibetan Himalayas to the East China Sea. Destruction of its habitat has recently confined the alligator to a small area near the mouth of the river. Fewer than 500 of the alligators survive in the wild.

▶ DOCTORS NURSE 8-YEAR-OLD GIANT PANDA TO HEALTH, AVOID SURGERY

BEIJING (AP) - Doctors have massaged an eight-year-old giant panda back to health.

A dozen doctors from the Nanjing military region were rushed to the zoo in the southern city of

Fuzhou to provide intensive emergency care for Rong Rong, who was suffering from a severe intestinal blockage and pancreatitis, the Xinhua News Agency said today. The agency reported that medicine and massage treatments had Native only to China, giant pandas are an endangered species.

LUXURY HOTEL TO BE BUILT ON SIGHT OF FORMER VIETNAM WAR PRISON

HANOI, Vietnam (AP) - On Workmen on Sunday knocked through a wall of a prison nicknamed the "Hanoi Hilton" by U.S. Vietnam War. A luxury hotel is to

One former POW, retired Navy Capt. Cole Black, carried away a few souvenir bricks from the prison, a place of pilgrimage for returning

Black and his wife, along with other American tourists on a bus cured the animal, enabling doctors to skip surgery.

Only about 1,000 exist in the wild.

tour, peeked in the front gate at the irons - medieval-type punish-

They liked to put people in intact cell blocks.

servicemen held there during the ment," Black recalled later. "The treatment was very bad."

► KANSAS CITY, MO., SOON TO BE HOT SPOT FOR RESEARCHING AIDS DRUGS KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) - It's taken years, but getting into an

be built on the site.

AIDS research study in the Kansas City area isn't a long shot anymore. In the last two years, the number of people in such projects around Kansas City has nearly tripled - to more than 1,100 people. And the city's programs are expected to grow even more.

The reason is the Kansas City

AIDS Research Consortium, a 5year-old organization that is starting to gain national recognition as a test site for AIDS drugs.

"It's been a real uphill battle to convince study sponsors to choose a Midwest site for their research," said James Stanford, president of the consortium and associate professor at the University of Missouri-

The consortium plans to expand its research with a $225,000 grant it expects next month from the American Foundation for AIDS Research. AIDS research grants from private sources and the National Institutes of Health have traditionally gone to large research centers in urban areas. The closest sites to Kansas City are in St. Louis and Denver.

► SPRING COLLEGIAN EDITOR IN CHIEF, ADVERTISING MANAGER SELECTED

Kansas City medical school.

The 1995 spring Collegian editor has given to me," he said. "And in chief and ad manager have been selected by the Board of Student Publications. N. Stewart Anderson, senior in print journalism, will serve as editor. and Ryndell Little, senior in advertising, will serve as ad manager. Anderson has five semesters of experience with the Collegian and has held positions such as staff writer, assistant opinion editor, assistant production/design editor and managing editor. "I wanted to give something back to everything the Collegian that's being honest."

Anderson said he not sure of specific changes in store for the Collegian next semester. The readers will see the same ol' Collegian, but in a few different ways," he said. Anderson graduated from Osage City High School in 1989. Little is the first Collegian ad manager hired for three semesters. The ad manager does a variety of tasks, Little said.

"I oversee everything that is done by the advertising staff. It's hard to say specifically because it is different every day," she said. "Sometimes I deal with angry clients or things relating to the ad reps. The big thing I do is lay out the ads and take care of logging."

graduated from Leavenworth High School in 1991.

The Board of Student Publications consists of three faculty members, the three advisers from the Collegian, Royal Purple and ad staff, and five elected stu-

KIMBERLY HEFLING

These reports are taken directly from the daily logs of the K-State and Riley County Police departments. Because of space constraints, not all crimes are listed.

K-STATE POLICE

SUNDAY, NOVEMBER 27

At 7:48 a.m., a subjects reported a two-vehicle accident. Kimberly Murphy's vehicle struck a vehicle owned by Jeffrey Brown at Claffin Road and 17th Street.

At 11:01 a.m., a two-vehicle accident report was filed. A facilities truck struck a parked and unattended vehicle owned by Jack Chrest. Damage was less than $500.

RILEY COUNTY POLICE

SUNDAY, NOVEMBER 27

At 8:35 a.m., Jeff Sanders, 2609 Milstead Circle, reported a past burglary. Victim No. 1. Sanders, reported stolen a Cobra radar detector and U.S. currency. Loss was $158. Victim No. 2. Donn Sanders, Barnes City. reported a Whistler radar detector stolen. Loss was $95.

At 10:39 a.m., David Mannes, Art Craft Painter, 401 S. Fourth St., reported a past bur-

There were damages to locks on two doors. Loss was $50. At 1:57 p.m., a male caller from Dillons East, 130 Saber

Lane, requested an officer to go to the office. A victim of a lewd and lascivious act was upset and was requesting an officer. At 9:18 p.m., Fred Savage.

1112 Garden Way, Apt. B. reported items falling over in the apartment from the subject in the above apartment jumping. An officer spoke with Savage, and options were provided.

MONDAY, NOVEMBER 28

At 2:42 a.m., a female caller from the Gin Mill, 317 Poyntz Ave., reported an extremely intoxicated male subject in a fight earlier and wandering around the area. Aaron Williams, Wamego, was arrested for criminal damage to property. Bond was $1,000. Damaged was a back door to the Gin Mill. Loss

CAMPUS BULLETIN

Manhattan Business and Professional Women are offering a one-time, $300 scholarship available to a non-traditional student enrolling at K-State. Applications are available from Adult Student Services and are due Dec. 31.

All undergraduate students in health-related degree programs are eligible to apply for a Student Cancer Research Award of $500. Applications are now available in the Center for Basic Cancer Research in Ackert 234. Application deadline is Dec. 2.

Lot A-1 will be closed for 30 months because of construction. Alternate spots to park are lots B-3, B-16 and D-1.

BULLETINS IN THE PROPERTY OF THE PARTY OF TH

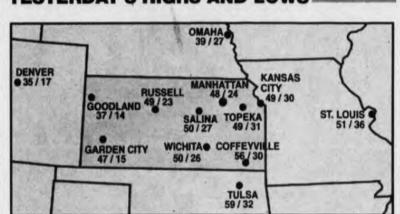

- Circle K International will meet at 9 p.m. today in Union 206. German Table will meet at 11:30 a.m. today in Union Stateroom 3. Anyone interested in German conversation is wel-
- Hispanic American Leadership Organization will meet at 6:30
- p.m. today at the Ecumenical Campus Ministry Building.
- Sailing Club will meet at 8 p.m. today in Union 205. Adult Student Services will have a brown-bag lunch from 11
- a.m. to 1 p.m. today in Union Stateroom 1. ■ NAMA will meet at 8 p.m. today in Waters 137.
- Christian Science Organization will meet at 4 p.m. today in Danforth Chapel.
- Habitat for Humanity officers will meet at 8 p.m. today in the Union Big 8 Room. The general meeting will be at 9 p.m.
- SPURS will meet at 5 p.m. today in Union 213.
- Wheat Agronomy Club will meet at 7 p.m. today in Throckmorton 3021.
- Mortar Board will meet at 6:30 p.m. today in Union 206

The Kansas State Collegian (USPS 291 020), a student newspaper at Kansas State University, is published by Student Publications Inc., Kedzie Hall 103, Manhattan, Kan., 66506. The Collegian is published weekdays during the school year and once a week through the summer. Second-class postage is paid at Manhattan, Kan., 66502 POSTMASTER: Send address changes to Kansas State Collegian, circulation desk, Kedzie 103, Manhattan, Kan. 66506-7167.

© Kansas State Collegian, 1994

YESTERDAY'S HIGHS AND LOWS

STATE OUTLOOK

Mostly cloudy northeast with partly cloudy skies in other areas. Highs 40 to 45 in the north and 45 to 50 in the south. Lows in the 20s.

MANHATTAN OUTLOOK

Mostly cloudy and cooler. High 40 to 45. Low in the mid-20s.

TOMORROW III

Warmer and mostly sunny. High 55 to 60.

THIS SPACE IS RESERVED

Collegian Advertising 532-6560

5-Close w/Mon.-Sun

$4.50

Aggieville • 537-5113

You'd have to be

Because we have: The Best Futons, The Best Selection, The Best Service, The Best Prices. Period.

> 1126 Moro • 776.5950 In Historic Aggieville Open 7 days a week

"No Coupon" Specials

(NO coupon needed, NONE accepted)

Everyday Two-fers

2 - PIZZAS with

2 - COKES with ice

Everyday Three-fers - PIZZAS with

TOPPING each COKES with ice

Pizza Shuttle

KSU HIV/AIDS Awareness Week

Families Living with HIV/AIDS: Nov. 28 noon- 1 p.m. Union Courtyard Panel of Speakers

Candlelight Ceremony 7-8:30 p.m. Danforth Chapel The Johnsons noon-1 p.m. Union Courtyard

The Johnsons Nov. 29 7-9 p.m. Forum Hall AIDS Quilt Video noon-1 p.m. Union Courtyard

Join the walk featuring 1000 flags in recognition of some of the Kansans known to be living with HIV-AIDS.

Sponsored By: Lafene Health Center Communicable Disease Committee Housing and Dining Services Association of Residence Halls

Salute to Life Walk

Boyd Hall Ford Hall Goodnow Hall Haymaker Hall

Dec. 1 4-6 p.m. Ahearn

Moore Hall Putnam Hall Van Zile Hall West Hall

Christmas Caro

Go caroling this holiday season. Look her up in the Campus Phone Book.

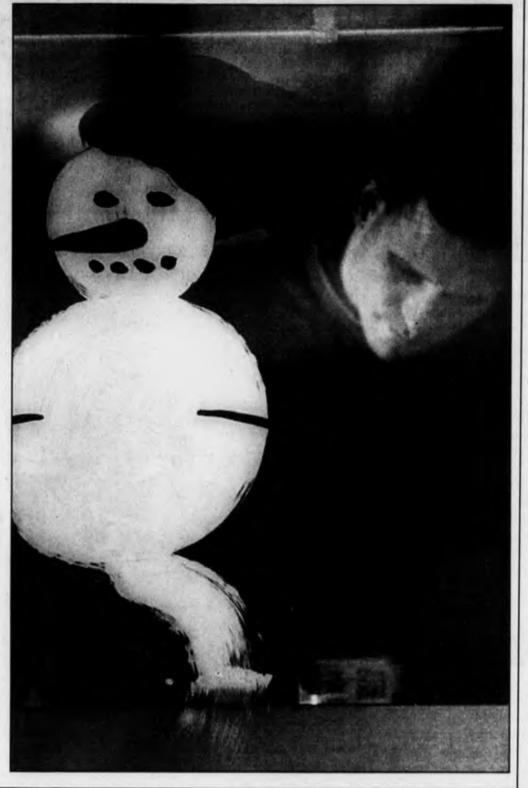

1994-95 CAMPUS PHONE BOOK

People, Places and Policies at Kansas State University

Available in 103 Kedzie Hall. $2.25 for students with ID $3.50 for faculty/staff

Finishing Frosty

Mark Muto, freelance painter from Manhattan, puts the finishing touches on the window of the McDonald's restaurant in the Westloop shopping center. The windows are being decorated for the Christmas season.

► CAMPUS

K-State men discuss rape

STEFFANY CARREL

Collegian

The topic for discussion was rape, and the dialogue took place Monday night in the basement of Haymaker Hall.

Four men, all K-State students, presented their program, "Men's Issues on Rape: Self-Respect and Control," to a group of about 10 men and women.

Paul English, sophomore in secondary education, led the discussion, and he said the need for their program became evident earlier this year.

"After the Smurthwaite incident, we as men felt a need to come out and talk about rape," he said. "While we're not an organization, we feel very strongly about this and about talking to other men about it."

At the outset of the discussion, the men talked about the myths and facts of rape. However, English said the primary focus of the program was to encourage men to respect themselves.

"Rape is a violent tool used to gain control over a victim," English said. "So if we educate men to have respect for themselves, maybe we can stop men from being rapists."

At several points, the program turned to the audience members for their thoughts and opinions.

"What is actually happening out there?" English asked the audience. "Most women distrust men to some capacity. Why?"

A woman in the audience responded that physical size caused some of the mistrust and fear women have toward men.

"It's true. We typically do come in larger sizes than women," English said. "And I think, without making any broad generalizations, we are more aggressive."

The audience seemed to agree with English, sharing ways in which they felt men typically dealt with their anger, such as violence, yelling and screaming.

"I think women do a better job of emoting," English said. "They do a better job of turning emotions inward to deal with them."

The men then put on a short skit to give examples of how men react in difficult situations.

■ See PROGRAM Page 8

► HEALTH

Lecture to focus on bacteria

KIM HALL

You've probably had a case of staphylococcus aureus, a microbiologist at K-State and expert of the bacteria said.

John Iandolo, who was awarded the 1994-95 Conoco Distinguished Graduate Faculty Member award in May, will deliver an honors lecture about the infectious bacteria at 3:30 p.m. Wednesday in K-State Union Room 212.

Iandolo's lecture is titled "Staphylococcus aureus: You had it once, you'll get it again — but this time we may not be able to help."

"It causes a variety of diseases that range from toxic shock syndrome to food poisoning to heart valve infections," he said.

Iandolo said some people normally carry it on their skin. He said the bacteria is broadly related to the 'skin-eating disease.'

"Some toxins of this organism are similar to those that cause fasciitis, which is in the skin-eating disease of the group A-strep," he said.

He said most people have had multiple staphylococcal infections. The problem, he said, is they are becoming resistant to nearly all antibiotics. Iandolo said he has had an interest in infectious diseases for quite a long time.

"It's been a career-long interest of mine," he said. "And this is one of the most potent pathogens known." Iandolo said the faculty member award is a recognition that anyone would welcome. "It's a wonderful honor to be recognized by the faculty,"

he said.

Iandolo is one of three recipients of the award. The other two recipients are Donald Mrozek, head of the history department, and Robin Denell, professor in the division of biology.

Candlewood Center

.

.

THIS SPACE IS RESERVED

Collegian Advertising 532-6560

8.5"x11" & 8.5"x14" only November 7 - December 16 K-State Union Copy Center

K-State Union Copy Center 532-6596

Spring Fever!

1-800-235-TRIP

An AIDS Story...

> of Life, Love and Commitment

"The Johnsons"

November 29

Union Courtyard NOON - 1 p.m. Forum Hall 7 p.m. - 9 p.m.

PARING

PARING

CLANCES

Wednesday, November 30 8:00pm
Thursday, December 1 7:00 & 9:30pm
FORUM HALL
Friday, December 2 8:00pm
LITTLE THEATRE

K-State Union
UPC Kaleidosco

When he said I do, he never said what he did.

Schwarzenegger

Friday, December 2 7:00 & 9:30pm Saturday, December 3 7:00 & 9:30pm FORUM HALL

For more information, call the UPC Entertainment Line at 532-6570

IN OUR OPINION

By the Collegian Editorial Board

HIV/AIDS awareness not just red ribbons

KSU HIV/AIDS Awareness Week will show how this disease can affect a person.

If you think AIDS can't touch your life, pay attention to what's happening at K-State this week.

This week is KSU HIV/AIDS Awareness Week, and although it might seem like just another cause to name a week or month after, this one is actually worth paying attention to.

AIDS awareness might be a catch phrase that conjures up images of red ribbons, but the facts remain the same, no matter how much clamor surrounds the issue. The scary reality does not change.

AIDS can touch everyone's life before a cure is found. If you don't get it, someone you know probably will. There is no vaccine. There is no cure.

KSU HIV/AIDS Awareness Week focuses on families living with HIV or AIDS. So far, there have been a panel of speakers and a candlelight ceremony. More events are scheduled through Dec. 1, including a Salute to Life Walk that is designed to recognize Kansans affected by HIV and AIDS. If K-State students care about AIDS and how it will shape the future, this walk is an opportunity to AIDS concerns almost everybody, but it's hard to know what to do about it.

On the K-State campus this week. an effort is being made. Hopefully, K-State students can rally their support for AIDS victims. And that is the least we

TOLES

Campus problems have simple solutions

f there are any issues that seem to giving the campus ulcers besides term papers, finals and glow-in-thedark scambled eggs at the Union, they are the dubious status of the Physical Education requirement, the $17,000 surplus tuition fund and, of course, the nagging psuedo parking crisis.

Student Senate should consider a proposal this week that would no longer make the one-hour course in P.E. a requirement for graduation. The Society of Sedentary Lifestylers is rejoicing at the proposal. Scott Rottinghaus, head of the Student Senate Academic Affairs Committee, said his desire was not to destroy the class, but - in classic bureauspeak terms, restructure it.

If Rottinghaus' campaign to "restructure" P.E. succeeds, the one-hour course in Basic Riflery should take its place. Riflery combines many of the physical benefits of P.E. with the mental discipline of a military exercise.

Students are required to move their bodies in three physically demanded positions, control their breathing patterns, and finally pull a trigger. However, this proposal should be considered with the utmost caution, in that the weapons training could inflame the desires of western Kansas to secede from the State.

The second great concern of students is what to do with the $17,000 of surplus tuition money. Although the extra 50-cent charge was purportedly a mistake, I do have my suspicions that the left-wing of Student Senate plotted to skim the money in an effort to fund a variety of feel-good social welfare programs.

While the $17,000 could certainly be well-spent on bike racks, benches and lobbying for lower tuition, Student Government ought to give the money to the engineering department. Perhaps they could construct a barge-like sailing vessel out of ultra-light material, which students could use to travel to Hawaii to see the

Cats play in the Aloha Bowl, assuming Notre Dame goes to a higher bowl. JOHN HART

And then there's the 66 T do have my parking crisis, which brings me 1 suspicions to my Unified Theory of Solving that the left-Campus Problems. First, use the $17,000 to fund a study of the wing of Student studies done on the parking Senate plotted problem. The last time this was to skim the tried, the project was inadequately funded. In the money in an effort to fund a meantime, close all parking lots variety of feeland keep the P.E. requirement. good social Students will be forced to walk welfare to class, and this can double for programs" the P.E. requirement. Students will fulfill the P.E. curriculum without having to go P.E. lab or the pedestrian P.E. lectures.

If Student Government finds none of these proposals especially provocative, then I implore you to consider The Carol Proposal. This proposal would give the $17,000 to Carol, the lady who works at the check-cashing counter in the Union, as a holiday bonus for being so cool. If students keep their heads together and, in the immortal words of Casey Kasem, "keep reaching for the stars," a solution to these dastardly campus problems will be found.

John Hart is a senior in political science, and he isn't one of those feel-good liberals.

Christmas time is same thing each year

fter eating my last Thanksgiving dinner and beginning to contemplate what to write about this week, I realized the answer was looking me straight in my pumpkin pie.

With families living farther apart, more divorces, children growing up before their parents, Santa Claus being demoted to the same status as the Easter Bunny and $7.95-All-You-Can-Eat holiday buffets, the holidays are just not the same anymore.

The symptoms: First of all, it never snows. (With my luck, after putting this in print, it will dump feet of snow tomorrow and will be 65 degrees on Christmas

Secondly, toys are not what they used to be. In just the span of my adolescence and teenagedom, we have evolved from the innocent days of the Cabbage Patch to the comic book world of the Mighty Morphin Mutant Teenage Power Rangers from Beverly Hills (or whatever is now in

RISTIN

RIGHTON

Thirdly, we don't get around to paying off our immense holiday shopping bills until ads come out for the next biggest shopping day of the year.

Fourth, by the time you eat dinner with your mother's mother (this is, of course, after eating with your mother's father, your father's mother, your Uncle Saul. We work father's father and your favorite cousin), you begin to have fantasies about being pecked to death in a pit of turkeys, and you request ordering Chinese take-out instead.

Fifth, the most important question to ask a prospective mate becomes, "How many Thanksgiving dinners are you expected at?"

But seriously, the holiday season is becoming so complicated and competitive that most of us would almost rather rent "Scrooged" and stay at home without even a gallon of peppermint ice cream or a mug of eggnog than sing one Fa-La-La.

However, these complications (including the outrageous cost of a simple stamp stunting Christmas card address lists nationwide) are all because of people's expectations of one another and themselves.

We become obsessed with spending money. If we find out Brother Bob spent $30 on us, but our measly gift only cost $15, it doesn't take a mathematician to decipher that guilt will drive us to spend at least $44.99 on Bob's next gift.

But no matter how much we spend, we pretend we don't want anyone to know the cost, and so we rip our nails into shreds peeling off price tags.

We expect Grandma to spend her whole day tuffing turkeys and spicing yams, while we watch football. And we expect her to feel great satisfaction about doing so.

We make Sister Susie feel guilty when her boss won't give her time off, so she doesn't get to join the crew for the first time in 45 years.

To sum it up, we create a lot of personal misery just to create a holiday that will meet our expectations. We fail to relax. We work overtime to get time off. We lose sleep thinking what to buy knots in our backs carrying shopping bags and wrapping presents and decorating trees.

Guess how much the average family spends on Christmas gifts? I'm not sure where she heard this, but my mom told me the answer was $700. That means for all the families who can't afford anything, someone is raking in the loot. The holiday season, regardless of religion,

KRISTIN BRIGHTON

L break from the traditional stuck-in-a-rut holiday plans

this year.'

Take a year opportunity to torture one another. Take a break from the traditional-stuck-in-a-rut holiday plans this year. Surpass expectations you should be a time to honor each other, not a once-a-have, and that others have of you. Play some games. Laugh. When all else fails, buy Saul a gift certificate. Buy a friend an unexpected gift just to show you care, not looking for one in return. Laugh together. Read the second verse to your favorite carol. Read TV Guide to find out when the claymation

Rudolph-the-Red-Nosed-Reindeer show will air. Laugh. Go for a ride, look at your neighbor's excellently displayed lights, and resist the temptation to create a better display. Laugh Send your first grade teacher a greeting card.

Watch "It's a Wonderful Life" with someone who has actually avoided seeing it. Remember what the holidays used to be like. And this year, leave Santa a piece of pizza. He'll love the change.

Kristin Brighton is a sophomore in English and journalism and mass communications.

READERS WRITE

Drop letters off at Kedzie 116 or send them to Letters to the Editor, c/o John Meirowsky, Kansas State Collegian, Kedzie 116, Manhattan, KS 66506. We accept letters by e-mail also. Our address is letters@spub.ksu.edu. Letters should be addressed to the editor and include a name, address and phone number. A photo identification will be necessary for hand-delivered letters.

ALLOCATIONS

Every suggestion considered

As a member of the Student Affairs and Social Services Committee, I was one of the people who spent three hours on a Sunday evening debating what would be the best possible, non-recurring expense that the $17,000 could be used for. (When I say best possible, I mean having the potential to benefit the most amount of students on this campus, every one of whom contributed, albeit accidentally, to this fund, creating the excess $17,000.)

I was very disheartened to hear all of the criticism that our suggestions met with after our meeting Nov. 13. I feel that it is necessary that I respond to some of this criticism in defense of the SASS committee. Every suggestion, no matter how nonsensical, was considered. The final projects represented the best possible use of the money, based on the suggestions that were given to us.

I feel that many of the people who were so quick to criticize were the very people who made no effort to provide us with suggestions.

I would like to emphasize that none of these decisions are final and are pending final decision by the passage of a bill by Student Senate at their meeting on Thursday at 7 p.m. — students have until this final debate to offer further, more feasible suggestions.

The suggestions that SASS has offered to the Student Senate for consideration include the bench/sundial project - full funding at $7,500, with possible savings of $1,000 due to donated labor by the admistration and facilities; Access the Future Campaign for less increases in the cost of tuition. This project is funded at $8,000, and I think that this allocation speaks for itself when we look at the potential benefits for every student at this University. The remaining $1,156 will go

This amount is in addition to the $5,000 already donated by the administration, the $5,000 allocated by the Parking and Campus Safety, and the matching fund of $1,156 by the administration for a total of $12,312. JEFFERY SWEAT I think that some people feel that we did 66 The final not allocate enough L projects money for the bike represented the racks, but we were best possible looking for projects that use of money, had the potential to benefit the most amount based on the of students (i.e. you suggestions ... " don't have to ride a bike to benefit from the bench project, plus this project would help to beautify the campus - something we need perhaps now more than ever with all of the construction creating a huge eyesore right in the middle of campus).

I want to close by emphasizing that these are only suggestions made by SASS to the Student Senate — the final decision has yet to be made, and there is still time for further student input.

Please talk with your student senator before the meeting on Dec. 1, or attend the meeting and let your ideas be heard. If you don't offer further input, we will conclude that the students are happy with these suggestions.

Jeffrey Sweat sophomore in pre-med/business At-Large Member of Student Affairs and Social Services Committee

TUITION

Lobbying process has begun

I am writing to inform students of the organized effort by the Student Governing Association to provide access to higher

The process has begun. We have sent press releases to all Kansas daily newspapers and all other media sources in Kansas concerning the rapid increases in tuition during the past 10 years. K-State is leading a coalition on the Access the Future proposal between leaders at K-State and the other Kansas Regent institutions. We have a detailed outline of how we will address this important issue. It involves many efforts to be effective but starts with students on our campus.

This is a real opportunity for us to fulfill a commitment made to students last Spring. Access to education is the issue that K-State students are united on. I feel it is imperative that we follow through.

Jeff Peterson student body president

EVALUATIONS

Students need teacher information

Publishing the results of teachers evaluations is one of the best proposals that Student Senate has brought forth this year.

Nevertheless, allowing instructors the choice of whether to have their evaluations printed seems to defeat the purpose.

The purpose is to allow students to share with other students the positive and negative attributes of faculty. This cannot be done if each person teaching a class does not participate.

Yes, there is the possibility that not all of the evaluations will be in a positive light. However, students pay a large sum for the services of these individuals and deserve an opportunity to be informed consumers.

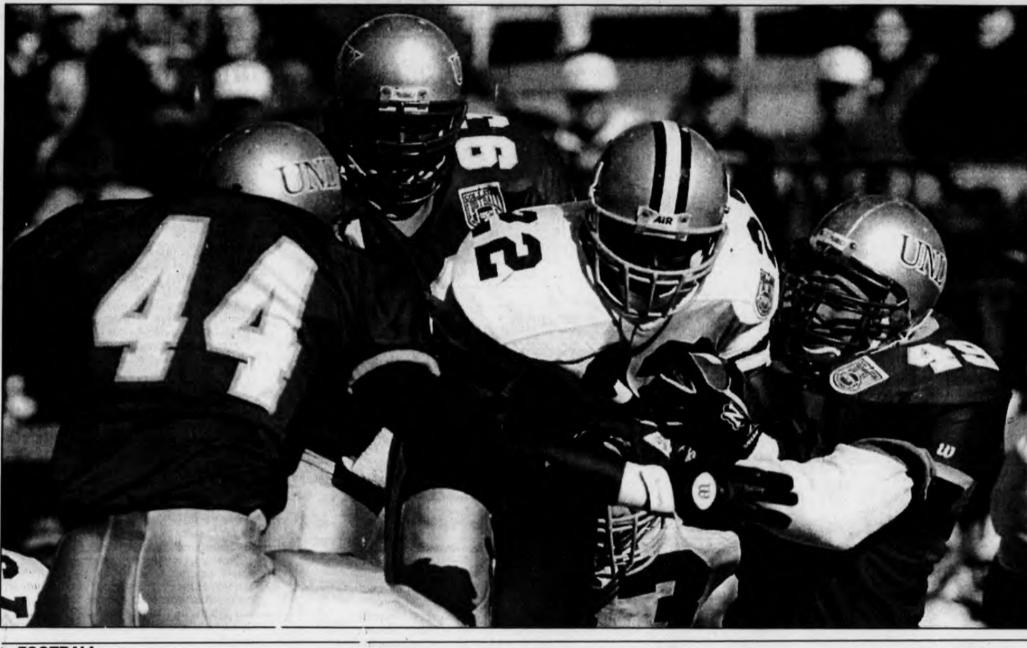

Jennifer Burkdoll sophomore in agricultural journalism DALLAS (AP) — Chief executive officers of universities comprising the Big 12 Conference announced Monday they will begin a national search for a conference commissioner who will be on the job by the spring of 1995.

The Big 12 Conference is slated to begin competition in July 1996.

The search committee is composed of university CEO's Jon Wefald, Kansas State; Robert Berdahl, Texas; Graham Spanier, Nebraska, and nine other athletic directors, faculty representatives and senior woman administrators from the 12 member organizations.

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

NOVEMBER 29, 1994

J.J. Smith breaks through two UNLV defenders. Smith rushed for a record 227 yards in the contest as well as making himself K-State's career rushing leader.

> MARK LEFFINGWELL Collegian

► FOOTBALL

K-State bound for Aloha Bowl despite win

WESS HUDELSON

LAS VEGAS, Nev. — K-State did everything they could to convince bowl representatives to extend a Coalition invitation.

However, no invitation was extended to K-State, leaving the Cats with a trip to the Aloha Bowl where will likely face Boston College.

"I have all the respect in the world for the bowl game they put on there," Offensive Tackle Jim Hmielewski said. "I think with the way we've played the last two seasons we deserve some recognition."

The Cats' only options appeared to be the Sun Bowl or the Cotton Bowl, but the two spots open in those games were occupied by North Carolina and the University of Southern California.

K-State rolled over the Runnin' Rebels 42-3 Saturday at the Sam Boyd Silver Bowl in front of 10,331 fans, 50 percent of which were the Cats'.

"I thought players would be flat because the crowd wasn't very big," Coach Bill Snyder said. "I told them to look up into the stands and look at all the people who made the trip for them. To have that kind of fan support is tremendous."

K-State's record improved to 9-2 on the season. The Cats clinched a third-place finish in the Big Eight Conference last Saturday, defeating Oklahoma State.

The Runnin' Pebels never gave much of a fight in the contest. K-State defensive back Mario Smith intercepted a pass from quarterback Jason Davis giving K-State the ball on the Rebel 45-yard line.

K-State drove 47 yards in 11 plays, topped off by a two-yard plunge by Chad May, putting the Cats ahead 7-0. UNLV turned the ball over four times during the contest.

The Cats again enjoyed excellent field position on its next possession, after a 16-yard punt return by Mitch Running. K-State started from the UNLV

Running helped set up the second score with a 27-yard reception, moving the ball to the one. May again got into the end zone, making the score 14-0.

"We didn't play very well in the second quarter, but we came close to playing a complete game today than we have all year long." May said.

J.J. Smith scored in the second quarter on a 29-yard touchdown scamper, adding to his record-breaking 227-yard performance and putting the Cats on top 21-0.

Smith surpassed Isaac Jackson to become K-State's all-time leading rusher with 2,210 yards in his career. He also set records for touchdowns in a career and yards in a single game, breaking Tony Jordan's record of 218 yards against Iowa State in 1986.

"The line was pumped up today," Smith said, "I think they wanted the record more than I did."

The Rebels chalked up their only score of the game in the second quarter with a 30-yard field goal by Nick Garritano.

UNLV then drove to K-

UNLV then drove to K-State's six-yard line, only to watch the drive dissolve when Kirby Hocutt fell on a fumble by DeJohn Branch.

"That was the biggest play of the game," UNLV coach Jeff Horton said. "When you play a team like, that you're only going to get so many chances, so you have to take advantage."

K-State blew the game wide open by scoring on its first two drives of the second half. The field was cut short on two short punts into a stiff wind.

The Wildcats started from the Rebel 43-yard line on its first scoring drive of the half, and on the 30 for its second.

Smith carried the ball on all four plays of the drive, scoring from 12 yards away on an option play for his second touchdown. The score expanded the Cats lead to 28-3.

"Our offense obviously played well, but our defense really played well in second half, especially in the third quarter when we forced them to punt into that wind," Snyder

K-State took over at the UNLV 30-yard line after a 24-yard punt by Brad Faunce. May then connected with receiver Kevin Lockett on the next play for a 30-yard touchdown reception making the score 35-3.

Snyder said the team came closer to playing well for four quarters than they had all season.

"I think we did more things well for more of the game than we ever have before," Snyder said.

Backup quarterback Matt Miller got his first touchdown at K-State on a nine-yard run. After Martin Gramatica's extra point, K-State led 42-3.

J.J. SMITH'S PLACE IN THE RECORD BOOKS

Career rushing leaders

| J.J. Smith         | 1991-94    | 2,210 |
|--------------------|------------|-------|
| Isaac Jackson      | 1971-73    | 2,182 |
| Eric Gallon        | 1989-92    | 1,960 |
| Comelius Davis     | 1966-68    | 1,873 |
| L.J. Brown         | 1978-80    | 1,580 |
| ingle season rushi | ng leaders |       |
| Isaac Jackson      | 1973 1.    | 137   |
| Eric Gallon        | 1991 1.    | 102   |
| J.J. Smith         | 1994       | 07.3  |

4. Cornelius Davis 1966 1
5. Bill Butler 1971
Single game rushing leaders
1. J.J. Smith vs. UNLV

2. Tony Jordan vs. Iowa State 1986 218
3. Eric Gallon vs. Missouri 1991 184
4. Corky Taylor vs. Colorado 1953 177
5. Eric Gallon vs. Oklahoma State 1991 176

TRISHA BENNINGA/Collegian

> FOOTBALL

Rumors of Louisiana State interview false

COLLEGIAN STAFF

BATON ROUGE, La. — WBRZ-TV in Baton Rouge reported Sunday that Louisiana State Athletic Director Joe Dean had met during the weekend in New Orleans with K-State coach Bill Snyder.

However, a source close to the team said Snyder was in Southern California Sunday on a recruiting trip following K-State's 42-3 win over Nevada-Las Veg.is.

The same source said Athletic Director Max Urick had been contacted by Dean, requesting an interview with Snyder, but Urick would not allow the meeting to take place.

Dean reportedly traveled to an undisclosed meeting Sunday with another Division I-A head coach and has an interview scheduled with another coach Tuesday.

Dean said both head coaches he was interviewing this week asked that their names not be released. He is seeking a replacement for Curley Hallman, who was fired Nov. 15 after a 16-28 record in four years.

Snyder's name has been circling the rumor mill at the University of Texas as well.

► FOOTBALL

Coalition sends invitations

ASSOCIATED PRESS

It's official.

No. I Nebraska will play No. 4 Miami in the Orange Bowl, No. 7 Florida State will meet the Alabama-Florida winner in the Sugar Bowl, Texas Tech faces No. 21 USC in the Cotton Bowl and No. 5 Colorado will play Notre Dame in the Fiesta Bowl.

The matchups were announced Monday, six days before the scheduled date by the bowl coalition.

Bowl officials announced the pairings early because they didn't anticipate major changes in the rankings after Saturday's Southeastern Conference championship game between No. 3 Alabama and No. 6 Florida. There could have been a shakeup if Alabama trounced Florida and moved up to No. 1, but that seemed highly unlikely.

"If there was any chance of that happening, we would have waited," said Keith Tribble, executive director of the Orange Bowl. "We decided to make it official and give everybody more time to plan their trips."

K-State vs. Wisconsin-Parkside

WHERE Bramlage Coliseum
7:05 p.m. tonight
RECORDS
K-State 0-1;
Wisconsin-Parkside 2-3

PROBABLE LINELIDE

| Control of the Contro | DOMBLE    | LINEUFO             |
|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------|---------------------|
| K-State                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        | - CONTROL | Missouri            |
| Demond Davis, 6-4                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              | F         | Levi Bradley, 6-5   |
| Tyrone Davis, 6-8                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              | F         | Marc Houtakker, 6-7 |
| Kevin Lewis, 6-10                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              | C         | Mark Bailey, 6-11   |
| Filliot Hatcher, 6-0                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           | G         | Thadd Jacobs, 6-1   |
| Brian Gavin, 6-1                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               | G         | Ryan McCarty, 6-4   |

► BASKETBALL

Wildcats try to rebound after blowout

NICOLE POEL

Just who is Wisconsin-Parksie

Just who is Wisconsin-Parkside?
Well for starters, it's K-State's next basketball opponent, not a hospital, as the name

But this unknown Ranger squad may be just the kind of team the Wildcats need to face, as they attempt to bounce back from their 48-79 loss against Alabama two weeks ago. Game time is at 7:05 Tuesday pight at Bramlage Coliseum.

is at 7:05 Tuesday night at Bramlage Coliseum.
While K-State coach Tom Asbury said he's learned a little bit about the Rangers, he's primarily concerned with his own team right w.

"We've gotten some reports and tapes on them, and they look like a pretty good team," Asbury said at the Big Eight Teleconference. "But right now, we can't really concern ourselves with who we're playing. We just need to concentrate on our own team and on improving."

Improving became priority No. 1 after the Crimson Tide routed the Cats, 79-48, during the Pre-Season NIT in Tuscaloosa, Ala., 13 days

Although K-State managed a 19-17 lead early in the game, Alabama closed the half with a 17-5

The second half didn't bring the Cats any relief, as the Tide continued with a 15-2 run to open the second half, giving them a 49-26 lead.

The Cats couldn't recover, suffering their first loss of the regular season.

loss of the regular season.

Coach Asbury said he couldn't even remember if he'd ever been beaten that badly in his coaching career.

"I don't think I've ever been beaten that badly before "he said "I asked my wife after the

"I don't think I've ever been beaten that badly before," he said. "I asked my wife after the game, and she said we lost to UCLA in a similar fashion, but that was about it. It's definitely not a good feeling."

One positive for the Cats in the Alabama game was the play of guard Brian Gavin.

Gavin was the only Cat to score in double digits on the night in 17 minutes of action. That performance may have earned Gavin a starting spot in Tuesday night's game.

Parting Glances -8 p.m. in Union Forum

Thursday Parting Glances" -7 and 9:30 p.m. in Union Forum Hall.

OCTOBER 29, 1994

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

STUMPED? For answers to today's crossword, call 1-900-454-6873! 99¢ per minute, touchtone / rotary phones. (18+ only.) A King Features service, NYC. CRYPTOQUIP

GDAXG ZJCRJNR IRXG RNCXCR NXGRNQXJ

X D J R - C I X A C Q Z J E .

Yesterday's Cryptoquip: SECOND-IN-COMMAND
AT SAVVY HARDWARE COMPANY WAS ITS VISE PRESIDENT.

Today's Cryptoquip clue: J equals N

Cassie capitalizes on reader's ignorant Q's Dear Cassandra,

Write to Cassie: 116 Kedzie Hall Manhattan, KS

I have a few questions for you, and I think you're about the only one who'll give it to me straight.

I was wondering how the Collegian staff can consider themselves journalists when they take off early before a holiday (there was no paper last Tuesday) and then put out a half-assed paper like the one for today (Monday).

I must admit, I am not a big fan of the Collegian anyway, but I do at least leaf through it everyday or so if for nothing else than the Comics. I'd appreciate a sincere answer.

Signed, Unfaithful Reader  Dear Unfaithful Reader,

You are forgetting the Collegian is run for students by students. When things get hairy, around holidays and finals, the Collegian takes a break so the students working here can concentrate on their studies.

Just because a paper didn't come out last Tuesday didn't mean the people at the Collegian weren't here working.

And as for Monday, maybe you didn't read the editor's note on the front page. The news staff had problems with their computer system and put out the paper as best they could.

You were lucky to get that "halfassed paper" as it was. Considering you don't read the paper except for the comics, why do you care?

▶ COLUMN

Disney moments milk the market

First of all, I'd like to say that I enjoy Walt Disney movies, shop at the Disney Store and have visited Disneyland numerous times.

With that out of the way, I would like to say I am frustrated with that particular company's handling of its films, specifically its animated features.

I'm sure practically every K-Stater has seen the hit movie "Aladdin." It is a great movie. But, now that it is a second-rate, boring afternoon cartoon show, I hold much less respect for the movie than before.

Why did they ruin the whole concept by making such a senseless television cartoon show?

The same reason it costs about $30 to enter Disneyland — money!

Money, or profits, if you will, is the same reason Disney just released one of its "Sing-Along Songs" videocassettes, featuring a whopping two songs from the hit Disney flick "The Lion King," for a heart-stopping retail price of $19.95.

FORTMEYER

And kids are buying. You know why? Because "The Lion King" won't be out on video until spring 1995, and this video is the closest you can get to Simba without seeing the movie (which conveniently re-opened in theaters in time to stomp the opening of a rival animated feature, New Line's "The Swan Princess").

Now, a lot of this creative pricing and manipulation of the movie business would generally be considered old hat by the standards of Warner Brothers or Universal. But, the special case of Disney is the fact it touts its films as high art - as something that is ground-breaking and the culmination of incredible artistic efforts.

The Disney company spends endless hours touting its efforts repeatedly on its own channel. (Do you really want me to tell you the name?) It talks about how each of its new features breaks molds and is one of the best movies of the year. Then the Disney folks schlock their goods in every store from Wal-Mart to Dillard's to Burger King. (It's not really a store, but they do sell things.) So, what does Disney have in store for its upcoming summer 1995 release, the politically correct, sure-to-be-a-hit story of "Pocahontas?" For beginners, a longer-than-usual preview (well, it's actually an entire musical number from the movie) now playing before the re-release of "The Lion King." Gee, do you think adding a preview of Pocahontas at the beginning of "The Lion King" would draw kids in to see a glimpse of Pocahontas singing a song (whose lyrics are faintly similar to The Lion King)? I liked "The Lion King," but the overall style of Disney animated movies is wearing

You can almost pick out the same characters and songs in every film.

So, what can simple moviegoers like me do?

Keep giving in to Disney? Nah. I'll just go see "Pulp Fiction" again.

Russell Fortmeyer is a sophomore in architectural engineering and idolizes Newt Gingrich (R-Ga.)

Sat. 9 a.m.-2 p.-

WILDCAT WATCH

A holiday gift idea for your favorite sports fan.

For only $10, you can have the Wednesday edition of the Collegian including Wildcat Watch - sent directly to the Wildcat sports fans on your shopping list. When you place your subscriptions, we'll give you gift cards you can wrap or send in the mail to let everyone know what to expect throughout the Spring 1995 semester. Come see us today in 103 Kedzie (east of the Union) and scratch some names off your Christmas list!

KANSAS STATE OLLEGIAN

want real experience? need real dough?

apply for a position with Collegian Advertising

The Kansas State Collegian is now accepting applications for advertising positions. The deadline for these applications is 5 p.m. Wednesday, Nov. 30.

Collegian Advertising is hiring:

- · sales representatives
- · promotions manager
- · graphic artists · tearsheets manager
- assistant promotions

You can be in any major to work at Collegian Advertising. Job descriptions are available in 103 Kedzie Hall. All applications are available in and should be returned to 103 Kedzie Hall. Please include supporting materials with your application.

Don't miss this opportunity to work on the award-winning sixth largest morning daily in Kansas.

LASSIFIEDS

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

1 DAY 20 words or less -$5 each word over 20 - $.20 per word

2 DAYS 20 words or less - $6.25 each word over 20 - $.25 per word

3 DAYS 20 words or less - $7.25 each word over 20 - $.30 per word 4 DAYS 20 words or less - $8

5 DAYS 20 words or less — $8.50 each word over 20 — $.40 per word

(consecutive day rate)

each word over 20 — $.35 per word

REAL ESTATE

Apts. Furnished

$210, BIG room and close to campus. 537-9813.

AVAILABLE FALL very nice

JAN. 1. One-bedrooms in complexes $280- $300.

NEED ONE male to com-plete a three-bedroom apartment. Close to

NICE TWO bedroom suit-

$360

No pets, lease required 587-0399.

campus- washer and dryer. $130 plus one, two, three and four-bedroom apart

For Rent-

HOW TO PAY

eith Student Publications.

Cash, check, MasterCard or Vise are accepted. There is a $10 service charge. We reserve the right to edit, reject or roperly classify any ad.

IEADLINES

For an extra charge, we'll put a readline above your ad to catch the

DEADLINES

Classified ads must be placed by noon the day before the date you want your ad to run. Classifed display ads must be placed by 4 p.m. two working days prior to the date you want your ad to run.

FREE FOUND ADS
As a service to you, we run found ads
for three days free of charge.

CANCELLATIONS

If you sell your item before your ad has expired, we will refund you for the remaining days.

You must call us before noon the day the ad is to be published.

CORRECTIONS

If you find an error in your ad, pi call us. We accept responsibility of for the first wrong insertion.

250

GET THE WORD OUT

532-6555 FAX

532-7309

COLLEGIAN CLASSIFIEDS K-State Colle Kedzie Hall 103 Manhattan, Kan. 66506

OFFICE HOURS 8 a.m.-5 p.m. (Except holidays)

Call 532-6555 to place your classified.

Announcements

50 PERCENT off single sportscards! Just in-'94- '95 Basketball and Hockey. Bases Loaded Sportscards. 410A Poyntz, 537-4141. 410A

S Financial Aid S

Attention All Students!
Over $5 Billion in FREE Financial Aid is now available for students
nationwide from private sector
grants & scholarships! All students are eligible regardless of grades,
income, or parent's income. For more information, call: 1-800-959-1605 ext. F57681

A KSU PHONE BOOK! It's the best way to keep in touch with friends durtouch with friends during the holidays. Stop by 103 Kedzie to pur-chase. $2.25 students with ID, $3.25 faculty/ staff with ID and $4 other friends. CAMPUS OFFICES may purchase at the K-State Union Bookstro Office Sur-Bookstore Office Sup

Broke?

Earn $15 each time you donate plasma

MANHATTAN BIOMEDICAL CENTER 1130 Gardenway 776-9177

ADVANCED FLIGHT Training from 5000-hour ATP instructor. Private single-engine through ATP multi-engine. Hugh Irvin, 539-3128.

.-Fri. 9 a.m.-6:30 p.m. Sat. 9 a.m.-2 p.m.

COME FLY with us, K-State Flying Club has five air-planes. For best prices call Troy Brockway, 776-6735 after 5:30p.m.

COUNTRY WESTERN or Country Rock, single or ? For Sauturday nights 6- 9p.m. (plus?). Call Mike or Louis (913)293-5737 9a.m.-Louie 9p.m. except Sundays 9a.m.- 3p.m., for alco hol free restaurant per-formance and/ or "Club Dance."

SHIPPING UPS World Wide AA Pack-n-Ship, 225 McCall Rd. 776-9124.

Lost and Found

Parties-n-More

ADD A splash to your next bash. Great anytime. Birthdays, mid-terms and Wildcat victory par-ties. Wet-N-Wild Mobile Hot Tubs, 537–1825.

Found ads can be placed free for three

FOUND A brown female lab around two years old by City Park 11/17. Call 537-5099. FOUND: A bookbag in Waters at beginning of semester. Call to claim. 532-7357.

FOUND: LEATHER jacket Call Patrick to identify at It's Greek to Me. 537-8822.

LOST A silver ring on Fri-day November 18 on campus. If found please call 587-9329.

LOST DOG. Yellow terrier mix. Small 10 pounds. No collar. 776-3221, reward.

dry facilities on premis es. No pets. 776-3804.

ONE-BEDROOM,

ONE-BEDROOM APART

dry facilities. Water/ trash paid. 776-3804.

ONE-BEDROOMS AVAIL ABLE in January near campus. 1854- 1858 Cla-flin. $355- $380. Water/ trash paid. Laundry facilities. No pets. 776-units. Central air/ heat. Laundry facilities. Three blocks west of campus. 776-3804.

ment complexes and houses. Excellent loca-tions with great prices. 537-1666, 537-2919. STUDIOS AVAILABLE in FOR RENT: one large bed-room furnished apartment close to campus. Call 537-0687 leave

THREE-BEDROOM AVAIL ABLE now. 1503 Fairchild $425, second floor of house. Three

THREE-BEDROOM, ONE-HALF block from cam-pus. 1829 College Heights. Water/ trash paid. Laundry facilities on premises. No pets. 776-3804. one-seventh utilities. Call after 4p.m., 913-632-5211,

TWO-BEDROOM BASE-MENT, 1521 Leaven-worth, $290 bills paid, 539-8401.

able for 3-4 people.
Two car parking. Free washer and dryer in basement. One-half block west of campus. TWO-BEDROOM BASE-MENT, 901 Moro, $360, bills paid, 539-8401. 360 plus utilities Phone: 539-1058 ONE-BEDROOM apartment for rent. Great price! 327 Fre-mont. For more infoma-tion call after 6:30 (587-

QUIET SURROUNDINGS for study. Campus one mile, one-bedroom, some utilities paid. Mindry facilities. No pets 776-3804. imum seven month lease, 537-8389. TWO-BEDROOM AVAIL-ABLE Dec. 20, one block from campus. Water/ trash paid, with TV, washer/ dryer, and kitchen utensils. $500/ month. Call 587-9594.

no

pets.

For Rent-

Unfurnished

1219 KEARNEY two-bed-room $495; 814 Thur-ston studio $275; avail-able Jan. 1. Water and iet, no pets. 539-5136

AVAILABLE DEC. 17, one bedroom. 1005 Blue-mont $385. Two blocks east of Aggieville and campus. No pets. 776-

AVAILABLE FALL very nice one, two, three and four-bedroom apartment complexes and houses. Excellent locations with great prices. 537-1666, 537-2919.

CAMBRIDGE SQ. APT. *2 BEDROOMS *FIREPLACE *POOL 537-9064 WEEKDAYS 9:00-4:30

AVAILABLE IN January, two-bedroom west of City Park. 1417- 1419 Leavenworth $475. Water/ trash paid. Parking available. No pets. 776-

*************

AVAILABLE JAN. 1, onebedroom near campus. 1700 N. Menhattan. Royal Towers. $395. Sun deck, hot tubs, laundry facilities. No pets. 776-3804.

AVAILABLE JAN. 1, one bedroom basement apartment near City Park. 300 N. 11th, $300.

Water, trash paid. No pets. 776-3804. AVAILABLE NOW at Ware ham Hotel, 418 Poyntz. Studio apartment $340. Water/ trash paid. Laun-

FOR RENT Jan. 1: one-bed-room apartment two blocks from campus. Contact Christine at 587-9276.

Thurston, 539-8401.

MENT available Jan. 1. Close to campus

539-6089 leave mes-

ONE-BEDROOM AVAIL-ABLE in Dec. 1854 Cla-flin $350 one block north of campus. Laun-

ONE-BEDROOMS AVAIL-ABLE at 1026 Sunset. $385- $395. Remodeled

Dec. at Wareham Hotel. 418 Poyntz. $320- $375. Water/ trash paid. Laundry facilities on premises. No pets. 776-3804.

blocks southeast of campus. Water/ trash paid. No pets. 776-3804.

TWO-BEDROOM NEAR City Park, available in Dec. 1026 Osage. $495. Water/ trash paid. Laundry facilities on premises. No pets. 776-3804.

TWO-BEDROOM NEAR City Park. 1026 Osage $495. Available in Jan. Water/ trash paid. Laun-

For Rent-Houses

AVAILABLE JAN. one-bed room duplex, east of us, laundry room $325, lease, deposit and utilities. 539-3672.

BIG BEAUTIFUL four-bed room. Newly refur-nished, central air in new furnace. Furnished or unfurnished. Avail-able now, 1518 Hous-ton, 539-0527.

HOUSE ONE block from campus. Four-bed-rooms, formal dining room, one and one-half bathrooms. New high efficiency furnace and water heater. $900. Available Dec. 1. No smoking or pets. 537-9686.

> NON-DRINKER smoker, for two-bed-room place. No pets. References. 539-1554.

$175 MONTH. Own room. furnished, washer/ dry-er, no year contract, cheap utilities. Call Brian (easy-going) 539-0853, leave mes-

AVAILABLE IMMEDIATE. LY at Chase Manhattan Apartments. Ground level, four-bedroom, furnished apartment. Share utilities and rent with three males. (913)742-2743 after

AVAILABLE NOW- female roommate needed-across the street from campus- own room/ own bathroom. Dec, rent free. Call 587-8430 for more details.

ALE ROOMMATE FEMALE room apartment. Pool included, close to campus. Call 587–4184.

FEMALE ROOMMATE to share spacious duplex by Westloop. $238/ month plus one-half utilities. Call 537-6017.

MALE ROOMMATE wanted for furnished three-bedroom apartment, one-half block from campus. $215 month plus one-third utilities. Great room-mates, 539-3639.

ROOMMATE FEMALE wanted immediately. Two blocks from cam-pus. $240/ month plus one-fourth utilities. Nice well furnished house, own room. Please call 776-9548

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted to share spacious two-bedroom apartment. Starting Dec. 17- Jan. 1. Wood-way apartments. Call 776-4901, leave mes-

MALE ROOMMATE
wanted to live at Brittnay Ridge. $215/
month, own room,
washer/ dryer, dishwasher, two and onehalf baths, one-fourth utilities. Available midDec. or Jan. 1. FEMALE Dec. or Jan. 587-8622.

FEMALE ROOMMATE: three blocks from cam-pus, furnished, dish-washer. $210 plus half utilities. Call 587–9597.

FEMALE TO share four-bedroom/ two bath-room house. Spring and summer. Must like pets: Walking distance to campus 776-6052. FEMALE WANTED share cozy three-bed-room house. Very close to campus, utilities in-cluded in rent. Call Jennifer or Susannah 537-7872. FEMALE WANTED. Available immediately. Own room, $186/ month, one-fifth utilities. One-half block from cam-pus. Washer/ dryer in house. Call 776-6509. FEMALES NEEDED share nice three-bedroom apartment, one and orie-half bath. $220 per person. Move-in end of Dec. Call 776–0293.

MALE OR female room mate wanted. January 1 or sooner. Own room. Washer/ Dryer. $137.50/ month. All bills paid. Call 537-6023. Leave

MALE ROOMMATE need ed $172/ month plus one-fifth utilities. Call 776-8766.

MALE ROOMMATE needed. $210/ month. One-third utilities. One-half block from campus. Two blocks from Ag-gieville. Very Nice. Call 537-3029.

MALE ROOMMATE need-ed. $175/ month. Own room. One-third utili-ties. Call Jeff at 776-0674.

MALE TO share three-bedroom, very nice, clean house. Washer/ dryer, dishwasher, etc. Close to campus. Begin Janu-ary. $220/ month plus one-third utilities one-third 776-0618.

NON-SMOKER MALE, wanted for spring se-mester. Call 537-3555 for details.

MALES NEEDED for four bedroom house by Jan. Large room, close to campus. Call 537-2054.

NON-SMOKING FEMALE to share house, $250 month, one-third utilities. Quiet, clean neigh-borhood. Must see! Evenings 587-0787. Leave message.

NONSMOKING FEMALE needed to share nice quiet country home. Kitchen and living area fully furnished. Washer/ dryer. Ten minutes from campus. All black-top road. Available spring semester. (913)494-2391.

OWN ROOM. $200 per month plus one-fifth utilities. Close to cam-pus. Call 587-0330.

PERSON DESIRED to share my home, private furnished bedroom. 587-0076. ROOMMATE WANTED immediately to share one-forth rent and one-forth bills. Own room and bath. One-half block off campus. Call 776-5910. ROOMMATE WANTED, close to campus, washer/ dryer. Available Jan. 1 or sooner. $237.50 plus one-half utilities, 537–3913. ROOMMATE WANTED. Non-smoking male col-lege student needed to share nice two-bedroom apartment.

About 10 minute walk to campus. Close to Aggieville too. $210/month plus utilities. Sorry, no pets! Lease starts when you move in. Call John right away at 776-9559. STARTS MID-DECEMBER.

No lease/ deposit. $150/ month. Two-bedroom basement apartment. Non-smoker. Male or fe-male. After 5p.m./ leave message. 537-0480. WANTED NON-SMOKING and non-drinking room mate for basement fur nished private bed-room. Walk to KSU. $150. Share utilities. 539-1554. WANTED ROOMMATES to share nice four-bed-room house for spring and/ or fall '95 semes-

Sublease

FOUR-BEDROOM, TWO bath, available Dec. or Jan. $ negotiable, 587-4120.

MALE NEEDED. Three-bed room basement apart-ment available Decem-ber. $165, one-fifth utili-ties, washer/ dryer. 587-8814, 532-6604 Tues., Thurs. ask for Bart or leave message.

ONE-BEDROOM APART-MENT, one block from Aggleville and campus. First month paid. Start January 1. Leave mes-sage, 537–3596.

ONE-BEDROOM FUR-NISHED apartment available Dec. 20. One block from campus and Aggleville. 776–5812 or 537–7542. ONE-BEDROOM IN a three-bedroom apartment, two blocks to campus. $220, mostly furnished. Move in after finals or Jan. 1. Leave message for Amy at 776–0293 or 776–7004. SPACIOUS— EIGHT-BED-ROOM house for sub-leases Jan. 1- July 31. Wood floors, two bath, washer/ dryer; walk to campus/ Aggieville; Next to City Park. De-posits paid. 539-3679.

SPRING SEMESTER. One-bedroom furnished, one block from cam-$380/ month. 776-5439.

SUBLEASE STARTING Dec. 19. Nice one-bed-Dec. 19. Nice one-bed-com apartment; one-and one-half blocks from campus! Includes new kitchen appliances; central air; and laundry facility in building. $370 a month (water and trash paid). Call 587-1921.

ONE-BED ROOM in three-bed-room house. $215/ month plus one-third utilities. Jan.- Aug. Matt 539-7472. TWO-BEDROOM, CLOSE to campus, City Park, Aggieville. Available Jan. 1. Washer/ dryer/ dishwasher. Call 587-8709. WOODWAY APARTMENT for sublease. Female roommate needed to sublease furnished apartment beginning Jan. 1 or sooner. $175/ month plus one-third utilities or best offer. I interested call 776-9587

DIRECTORY

Resume/ Typing

BRING YOUR papers resumes, and projects, resumes, and projects to life at The Computer Help Desk. Top- quality printing, with graphics if desired. Great stuff at great prices! Call 537-3018.

Pregnancy Testing

Pregnancy Testing Center 539-3338

· Free pregnancy testing Totally confidential ·Same day results ·Call for appointment

Located across from campus in Anderson Village Mon.-Fri. 9 a.m.-5 p.m.

Child Care

RESPONSIBLE PERSON needed to watch our home, beginning in January. Walking distance to campus. 776-6346.

Automotive Repair

NISSAN- DATSUN Repair SAN- DATSUN Repair Service. 22 years ex-perience. Mazdas, Hon-das and Toyotas also. Auto Craft, 2612 Dipper Lane, Manhattan, Kan-sas. 537-5049. 8a.m.— 5n.m. Mon.— Fri 5p.m. Mon.- Fri.

Other Services

MODELS NEEDED male and female models needed for haircut, color and perm educa-tional classes. These services are at no charge. Please contact Hair Experts Design Team, M-F, 776-4455.

PROMPT CONTRACEPTIVE and abortion services Dale L. Clinton, M.D. (913)841-5716.

Help Wanted

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment/Career classification. Readers are advised to approach any such employment opportunity with reasonable caution. The Collegian urges our readlegian urges our readers to contact the Better Business Bureau, 501 SE Jefferson, Topeka, KS 66607-1190. (913)232-0454.

$1500 WEEKLY possible mailing our circulars! No experience re-quired! Begin Now! For information (202)298-8957.

ALASKA EMPLOY EMPLOYtry. Earn up to $3000- $6000 plus per month. Room and board! Transportation! Male/ Female. No experience necessary! (206)545-4155 ext.

COMPUTER NETWORK
ADMINISTRATOR: parttime student position, mostly regular sched-uled hours with some emergency trou-bleshooting hours. Re-sponsible for oversee-ing 55-computer Macin-tosh network, including hardware maintenance software backups, and records maintenance Should be familiar with Macintosh operating systems 6 and 7. Client server networking for an ethernet network. TCP/IP experience a plus. Salary negotiable based on experience. Pick up an applications in 113 or 103 Kedzie Application deadline is noon on Tuesday, Nov.

CRUISE SHIPS NOW HIRING- Earn up to $2000 plus/ month working on Cruise Ships or Land- Tour companies. World tray. companies. World travel (Hawaii, Mexico, the Caribbean, etc.). Seasonal and full-time employment available. No experience necessary. For more information call (206)634–0468 ext. C57683.

JOB COACH: Part-time po-sition available imme-diately. Responsible for assisting, supervising and training individuals placed on a job site. Coordinates with client, Vocational Rehabilitation and employer Must have high school education and varied competitive employ ment experiences or be certified as a Job Coach. Please make in-quiry to Ted Harms, Pawnee Mental Health Services, 587-4333. EOE.

JON'S NOTES is accepting applications for note takers for next semes-ter. Receive $10 to 15 per lecture. If interest-ed, apply at 623 N. Man-hattan or call 587-8381.

MACINTOSH BLESHOOTER: BLESHOOTER: part time student position mostly regular sched-uled hours with possi-ble emergency hours. Assists in overseeing network, including hardware and software troubleshooting and general maintenance. Should be familiar with Macintosh operating systems 6 and 7. Minimum wage to start.

Application deadline is noon on Tues., Nov. 22. NATIONAL PARK
JOBS - Over 25,000
openings! (including
hotel staff, tour guides,
etc.) Benefits plus bonuses! Apply now for best positions. Call:
(206)545-4804 ext.
N57681.

Pick up an applications at 113 or 103 Kedzie.

NOW HIRING Students to work spring 1995 se-mester fee payment Jan. 9 and 10, 1995. Contact Tammie Camp-bell at 210 Willard Hall.

PART-TIME CLEANING

job. Saturdays and Sun-days, eight hours and possibly other days. Call 776-7637, Janice PART-TIME RETAIL. Outgoing person to sell lighting/ stockroom, break and spring, good experience for right person, bring your schedule, see Cheryl, Endacott Lighting 309 Moro, 776–4472.

KI RESORT JOBS- Hir ing for many positions for winter quarter. Over 15,000 open-ings! For more information (206)634-0469 ext.

STUDENT OFFICE Help: Need mature, responsi-ble student able to work at least 20 hours a week, including summers. Job entails con siderable typing, includ-ing text input for publi-cations and filing system as well as phone work calling funding agencies. Computer ex-perience essential. Requires polished phone quires polished phone manner and ability to work with public. Must be able to work independently. Contact Beverly at 532-5045, Pre-Award Services, 2 Fairchild Hall.

THREE RESEARCH Assis tant positions in the Department of Grain Sci ence and Industry Three full-time posi tions, temporary. Ex perience in laborator work and instrumenta methods desired. Wil be responsible for using and maintaining general laboratory equipment, routine lab-oratory analysis and quality related re-search. Qualifications: B.S. degree in Grain Science, Agronomy Bi-ology, Biochemistry, Chemistry, Biochemis try or Food Science Send resume, transcript and two letters of reference by Dec. 18, 1994. Starting date Jan. 18, 1995. Please send to Dr. George Lookhart, US Grain Marketing Re-search Laboratory, 1515 search Laboratory, 1515 College Ave. Manhat-tan, KS 66502. Kansas State University is an Equal Opportunity Em-ployer. KSU encourag-es diversity among its

WORK IN beautiful Colora do mountains this sum-mer at Cheley Colorado Camps summer pro-gram. R.N.s; drivers; secretaries; wranglers; nanny; kitchen; song leaders; riding, hiking backpacking, sports crafts counselors Campers age 9-17 Room and board, cash Salary, travel allowance.
Our 74th summer!
Must be at least 19 to apply. Applicants will be notified of campus interview date. Appl to Cheley Colorado Camps, Box 6525, Denver, Colorado 80206, (303)377-3616.

Volunteers Needed

320

HELP NEEDED with a re search project. You can work at home and make some money Christmas break. Call 537-8604 for more de-tails ask for Thomas or leave message.

Business Opportunities

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment/Career classification. Readers are advised to approach any such business opportunity with reasonable caution. The Collegian urges our readers to urges our readers to contact the Better Busi ness Bureau, 501 SE Jefferson, Topeka, KS 66607-1190. (913)232-0454.

MAKE $3900 month. Telecommuni-cations Company expanding into area. Needs managers, sales reps, trainers. Small in-vestment regired. Train-ing provided. Call Jea-neane (800)977-6836 for intrainer.

NEED EXTRA $ for college and have fun at the same time? Help us dis-tribute our catalogs ar-ound campus. U get commissions on each order. There's no sell ing required. Call Stuff Catalog @ 1-800-STUFF-OK.

MARKET

Items for Sale

ACADEMIC INTERNATION AL Encyclopedias, leather bound, brand new, still in the box, great Christmas gift! Very cheap! 776-7934.

Printer and typewriter supplies 539-8982 Mid-America Office Supplies .

CD and cassette player. Clarion 6X9 car speak-ers with box and and Rockford amplifier. Price negotiable! Call 539-6639, ask for Shel-GOVERNMENT SURPLUSwool socks and gloves, overcoats, field jackets, G.I. boots, camouflage clothing, sleeping bags, overshoes. Also CARHARTT Workwear.

AIWA PORTABLE radio,

Open Mon.- Sat. 9-5. Open Sunday till Christ-mas 12-4. St. Marys Surplus (913)437-2734. HALF CARAT diamond ring in 18 carat gold. Huge savings at $1150. Call 537-2485.

INDEPENDENT MARY Kay Beauty Consultant going out of business. All items half regular price. 776-1932 ask for Carla. NEW JUSTIN Ladies Red Lacers 8.5B; ladies 11/12, 13/14 jeans; la-dies 12, 14 blouses 539-0873, leave mes-

Antiques TIME MACHINE Antique Maul and Geeb Empori-um, 6000 square feet, antiques, collectibles estate jewelry, furni-ture, 4910 Skyway Dr. four blocks east of Manhattan Airport. Open Tues.- Sat. 12- 6p.m. 539-4684.

Computers

MACINTOSH COMPUT-ER. Complete system including printer only $500. Call Chris at (800)289-5685.

Pets and Supplies

1. Call 911

EMERGENCY: PUPPIES and dogs all ages and breeds, desperately What do you do if you see a fire?

> News Tips 532-6556

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

need homes immediate ly or will be destroyed (913)456-2592, (913)494-8415.

Stereo Equipment

ALPINE 3321 11-band equalizer, Alpine 160 watt four channel am-plifier, two Kenwood 100 watt 6X9, two Pioneer 150 watt 5 1/2 speakers, $500 or best offer 539-3726.

Automobiles

'85 VW Scirocco, 79K miles. Loaded, excellent condition. $2000 or best offer. 539-7890.

1970 MERCEDES Benz four-door, $995, new paint. Excellent condi-tion, except water pump. See Highway 77, 198 marker, 27 miles 1983 HONDA Accord, four stereo, cruise. Excellent condition. $1685. Call 776-3410, leave message. 1993 PONTIAC Grand AM SE, two-door, Quad four, five-speed, equipped, 26K, $11,900-negotiable, 587-9284.

door, automatic, air,

520

Bicycles SCHWINN MOUNTAIN bike. Price negotiable. Call 539-6513.

TRIPS

Cancun from $359 Jamaicafrom $399 Florida from $129 TO TRAVEL

120 N. Autoro St., Ilhocoa, NY 14850

Toll free 1-800-648-4849

Organize a group and travel free!!

STS is looking for individuals to help promote trips on camping for more information!!!

GET

THE WORD OUT. 532-6555

2. Then call us

▶ REGENTS

Senator rejects regent request

Kansas Sen. Gus Bogina, R-Shawnee, rebuked the Kansas Board of Regents for a brochure that documents decaying buildings at Regent's universities.

ASSOCIATED PRESS

TOPEKA - Board of Regents representatives took their case for a $288 million campus-rebuilding program to the Legislature today and got a mild rebuke from one powerful lawmaker.

Sen. Gus Bogina, R-Shawnee, chairman of the Senate Ways and Means Committee, said he was offended by pictures of decaying classrooms in a 40page brochure the regents produced documenting facility needs to the year 2000.

Warren Corman, regents' facilities officer, said the pictures were used to dramatize the "crumbling classrooms" theme of the regents' campaign for money to rehabilitate and expand space on its six university campuses.

Bogina called the brochure a "slick production" and said he was offended by the pictures because they showed emergency repair needs that should have been program at its meeting here taken care of using money in a $10 million repair and rehabilitation fund the Legislature appropriates each

"These are things that should be fixed with the $10million," Bogina told

"When you use these pictures, that offends me. What are we doing with the $10 million?

'This was to get your attention, and evidently it worked," Corman said. "We did try to pick out three attention-getting examples."

Bogina defused the situation, saying, "It's not the first time I've been offended and probably won't be the The regents presented the universities' facilities needs to the Legislature's State Building Construction Committee, of which Bogina is a member. It was the first formal presentation of the needs since the regents unveiled the Nov. 17, when the plan first was publicized.

The program calls for spending $161 million on rehabilitation and repair projects, $49.8 million on major remodeling of existing buildings, $31.5 million on new construction, $21.7 million to make all buildings accessible to the disabled, $15.2 million to improve classrooms and $9.1 million to meet local and state fire safety codes.

New construction includes $10.9 million for an addition to Murphy Hall at the University of Kansas, $11.5 million for a new nursingeducation building at the KU Medical Center and $9.1 million for a School of Education addition to Pearson Hall at KU.

Regents Sid Warner, of Cimarron, and Tom E. Hammond, of Wichita, the chairman and vice chairman of the regents' facilities committee, told the legislative panel the board was estimating conservatively.

"I view it as an assessment of where we are today and what we need to keep the system up and running the way it ought to be," Warner said. "It's kind of like the roof is beginning to leak, and it's going to get worse if we don't address it.' Hammond said, "I can't emphasize how important this issue is to the regents and the system. We do have buildings that are crumbling and classrooms that are not fit for students."

Hammond, an attorney, said the regents must make their buildings conform to requirements of Americans With Disabilities Act. He said spending $22 million would "put us up to where we hope there wouldn't be lawsuits brought against us." Hammond said 50 percent of the universities' facilities were built before 1960 and 25 percent before 1940, meaning three-quarters of them are at least 35 to 55

HIV education may stop fear

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1 comes from people who are afraid. She said this comes from being uneducated about HIV/AIDS.

Eiselein said a friend of his who died last month had been fired from his job two years before his actual death.

"After the employer found out he was HIV positive, boom, he was gone," Eiselein said.

The reason, he said, is that employers don't want to have their insurance premiums go up. An individual who has HIV can't get medical insurance, Taylor said. Trulson said her nephew

Michael's mother was in shock for almost two years, but that now speaking about what they went through has helped.

"I don't know if you ever get over losing someone you love. The only way I know how to deal with it is to go out and talk about it," Trulson said.

Part of Trulson's healing process was making a quilt panel for the AIDS Quilt that travels around the country.

She said it was hard giving up the panel, but this was a chance to let Michael continue to travel after his death.

Part of dealing with the deaths for Eiselein included letting himself grieve, as well as doing work to make people aware of the AIDS disease.

Taylor said it is important to be aware of what is going on, to constantly be educating yourself and others.

"I think the most important thing I can do right now is stay aware and informed," she said.

"We learn from people we hear in panels, and we learn from our friends who have died," Taylor said.

If you know someone with AIDS, Hirschfield told the audience, treat them no

"Educate yourself," she said. "They are human."

Report shows differing perceptions

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1 Faculty Satisfaction and Morale

committee. The report found that male faculty were only slightly more likely to seek another job in industry than women.

However, the male faculty tended to be somewhat satisfied with their work loads, compared with women faculty, who indicated they were somewhat dissatisfied with work loads.

The biggest difference between male and female faculty, however, was in their responses to recruitment and retention of women and minorities.

While male faculty were more likely to respond that women and minority recruitment and retention was about right, the response of women faculty on these issues ranged from way too little to too little.

According to the report, this difference in perceptions might be due to the fact that men outnumber women five to one among K-State's faculty.

While there were statistically different results, there is no indication as to why the results for men and women were different, Fergen said.

"That's something we should delve into next time," she said.

According to the report, faculty members were satisfied overall with consulting freedom and the reputation of K-State.

Some things they weren't as pleased about were library resources, travel support and research facilities

"Those are all money issues, and I don't know if we'll ever find the money. Financial issues are always tricky.

Fergen said the survey respondents also indicated one large complaint.

"They said there was too little emphasis placed on teaching and too much placed on research and creative work," she said.

Niehoff said the original intent of the report was to gauge faculty attitude toward K-State

"Now there is a belief that if we continue doing this, we need to have some kind of action based on the results," Niehoff said.

In order to do something about the results, there must be some point of comparison.

Dennis Kuhlman, president of Faculty Senate, said that since the report is so new, there aren't many previous years with which to compare this year's results.

"It's a relatively new report, and we don't have a database of history that allows us to measure attitude changes," he said.

Kuhlman said the faculty morale report will really begin to pay off after several years.

"Over the long term, I think this report will say Faculty Senate has been very effective," he said.

Shelter helps homeless, attempts to discourage misconceptions of origin

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

a free ride. Most residents have jobs or are looking for work. They pay rent and do chores around the house like cleaning and cooking.

"We can't help people that aren't willing to help themselves," Zerrer said.

Colletti-Wetzel said sometimes small things like taking responsibility for cleaning or cooking for themselves can be small success for the residents.

"Some of these people have been evicted from their homes because they didn't keep the place clean. Everyday someone remembers to make their bed on their own, everyday someone gets a job and keeps it - those are successes," she said.

Colletti-Wetzel said the people she works with come from different backgrounds.

"We work with people with Ph.D.s and people that are working on their GEDs," she said.

She said even K-State students have stayed at the shelter.

"Most students keep going to class even though they may be sleeping in the bathroom in the park," Colletti-Wetzel said.

Colletti-Wetzel said one misconception people have is that you can tell if a person is homeless. They think of bums or bag ladies someone that sleeps on the street, she said.

"These people are like me," she said. "I have been amazed working here that a lot of them are the same age as me and have some of the same interests in their community and society. They are bright and motivated.

Zerrer said it is hard to know how many people are homeless-in Manhattan. The shelter has helped 364 people so far this year. The shelter has a capacity of 26 and has been filled for the last three months. There is a short waiting list at times. The Sunflower House next door to the shelter offers transitional housing. There is room for eight in the Sunflower House. About $72,000 of the shelter's $130,000 budget comes from donation of time, money and goods. The shelter has eight volunteers, most of whom are K-State students.

The shelter receives the rest of its support from federal grants and funds from the city of Manhattan. The ultimate goal for the shelter is to find people homes. Zerrer said it costs about $700 to move someone into an apartment in The lack of affordable housing and public transportation makes it difficult for residents to become established, Zerrer said, but people do make it.

"A man called the other day who had stayed at the shelter. He just wanted to let us know that he had gotten out, he had a job, and he was OK," Zerrer said. "It made us a little sad when we realized it, but he didn't have anyone else to call and share that news with."

Gloves & Mittens

Adult $600 Kids $300

Slipper Socks Adult $800 Kids $600

708 N. Manhattan Ave. Aggieville

Program says society pressures men too magazines and see the supermodels

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 3

"Bob," an average 18- to 24year-old male, was played by Jeremy Catlin, sophomore in mathematics, and a day in his life illustrated three responses men might experience in stressful life circumstances.

The first response was internalization, a state in which a person will take what is stressful or anger-producing and internalize it, English said.

The second response was verbalization, where, as tension mounts, a person will begin to talk out loud about what is going wrong, whether anyone is there or not. The third response was action, where loss of control often occurs. It is at this point that a man might resort to violence or rape.

"Control is very important to men," he said. "Having control over what happens is something we've seen all through history. You might say that Adolf Hitler couldn't sell art in Vienna, so he killed 6 million

English also said that in today's society, there are expectations and obligations placed on men by their peer groups

Ratliff said that many of the pressures of control that men face are overlooked.

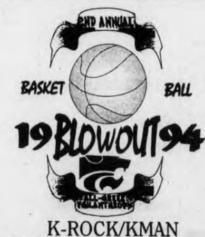

face when they look at the

"We hear about what women and feel the pressure to be skinnier," Ratliff said. "Men feel the same pressure women do. Basically, you've got to look the best to be the best to attract the opposite sex.'

English said his group's program was chosen by Haymaker to represent K-State at the Midwest Affiliation of College University Residence Halls (MACURH) in November. Of 150 programs, English said, this program placed in the top 10.

English said he hopes they can present their program elsewhere at K-State and also to some high schools in western Kansas.

KSU Athletic Department & KSU Greeks Present:

Basketball Blowout with Big Brothers/Big Sisters

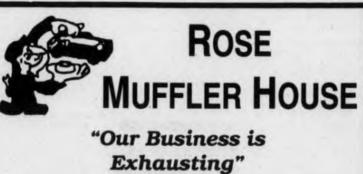

Bramlage Coliseum November 29th at 7:00 pm KSU Wildcats vs. Wisconsin Parkside

Thank You to the Sponsors

Valentinos Pyramid Pizza Tropical Tan

Little Caesars Sonic WalMart

Copy Co Varneys Walson Ink

•GLASS TINTING SERVICES AVAILABLE MUFFLERS*TAILPIPES DUAL SYSTEMS AUTO (AMERICAN & FOREIGN) •RVs•LIGHT & HEAVY DUTY TRUCKS CUSTOM PIPE BENDING

FREE ESTIMATES

•U-HAUL TRUCKS & TRAILERS

Open Mon.-Fri. 7 a.m. to 6 p.m., Sat. til Noon Master Card

2049 Ft. Riley Blvd. 1-800-439-8956 776-8955

KANSAS STATE

Kansas State Historical Society Section Newspaper 120 W 10th

> Support Coach Tom Asbury and the basketball team speak out about poor attendance. PAGE 5

WEATHER - PAGE 2

WEDNESDA

NOVEMBER 30, 1994

KANSAS STATE UNIVERSITY, MANHATTAN, KANSAS 66506

VOLUME 99B, NUMBER 68

Bad guy to good guy, Gino Perkins has left behind gangs and drugs and started fresh with a job, a roof over his head and some help from the Manhattan Emergency Shelter.

MARK LEFFINGWELL Collegian

GIVE

If you contribute canned goods, toiletries or household products to the homeless through the Collegian, you will receive $1 off any classified ad in the Collegian through the end of December. Contributions go to the Mahattan Emergency Shelter and the Flint Hills Breadbasket, in an attempt to help people such as those spotlighted in this series.

CRISTINA JANNEY

This is the second part in a series of stories about the people who live and work at the Manhattan Emergency Shelter.

ino Perkins was only going to stay one night in the Manhattan Emergency Shelter.

He was hitchhiking from California to Boston and had never even heard of Manhattan, Kan., before someone picked him up on U.S. Highway 24.

Perkins did not stay just one night in Manhattan. For the first time in 16 years, he decided to stop running. He had a home.

Perkins, 31, ran away from his home in Kansas City when he was 15. He was the youngest of 12 children and the son of a preacher. It is hard to be the youngest of 12 children, Perkins said.

"I had saved up some money from a summer job. I just wanted to get away. I jumped on a Greyhound for Boston," Perkins said. By the time Perkins arrived in Boston, he was broke. He was alone on the streets of Boston and not ready for what was waiting for him there. "People came up to me and tried to sell me drugs. I wasn't ready for that. I

Perkins became involved with drugs and gangs and spent some time had never heard of cocaine or crack,"

'I did cocaine, heroine, crack - you name it, I did it," he said.

It has been a long time since

Perkins had his own room. He said it is luxurious compared to where he has "Sometimes, I stayed with people who were in the gang, but they would kick you out. I didn't have a place of my own," he said.

Mostly life was the streets and battling to survive.

A good day on the street is a day you eat, he said.

"We would dig in trash cans for scraps and burn things in a trash can to stay warm," he said.

Perkins learned where to go to get food — churches and restaurants after "Chinese restaurants close about 3 a.m.," he said. "I would go in there and tell them I didn't have anything to eat. They would give me boxes full of

► NATION

"I would share it with everybody.

You had to eat it all, or it would go bad, and you didn't know when you might have it again. I wasn't that bad of a guy. I shared what I had."

Holidays were usually lonely.

"One Christmas, we broke into a grocery store. We drug a barrel into the store and cooked a turkey right in the store. It was good time.

After 10 years of spending holidays alone, Perkins decided last year to go to see his parents.

"They wouldn't let me in the ouse," he said. "It is painful to know that your folks don't want you around. We have an understanding now. They live their lives, and I live mine. I want to make it. I want to prove to them that I have changed."

Perkins said he feels bad for the things he has done.

"I am sorry." he said. "If I could ■ See SHELTER Page 10'

► RESIDENCE HALLS

Marlatt secession currently on hold

CHARITY WOODSON

The issue of Marlatt Hall's possible secession from K-State's Association of Residence Halls has been temporarily resolved.

The issue of secession was raised when the Marlatt Hall Governing Board presented KSUARH with a letter outlining disagreements the hall had with KSUARH.

The letter also stated Marlatt's intention to secede from the KSUARH if the board's concerns were not addressed.

The possible secession was first discussed at an Oct. 26 meeting between the KSUARH executive board and the Marlatt HGB. At that time, the issue was not resolved

The two groups have not met since to discuss any further action.

"ARH voted as an executive board to allow Marlatt Hall to bring up any issues that we have during the general meetings," Marlatt president Matt Vanschenkof said.

■ See GROUP Page 12

KSUARH still talking

CHARITY WOODSON

In the midst of all the controversy surrounding Marlatt Hall, the K-State Association of Residence Halls has been working to keep communication with other halls open.

"We want an open relationship with the halls," KSUARH president Lin Bliss said. "We want to have a partnership where communication flows from us to the halls and from the halls back to us.'

For the most part, the halls see their relationships with the KSUARH as positive. "They've met our needs," Moore Hall president Jason Oblander said. "There have been times when we've had problems, but ARH has always worked with us to get it straightened out." Although most halls do not have serious problems with KSUARH, some would like to see some minor changes.

"ARH is a little too intense," West Hall president Julie Miller said. "I hope the ARH and HGBs will continue to be more oriented toward

See ARH Page 12

Quayle treated for clot; full recovery expected

ASSOCIATED PRESS

INDIANAPOLIS - Former Vice President Dan Quayle underwent treatment Tuesday for a blood clot in his lung, just weeks before he was expected to announce whether he will run for president in 1996.

"The doctors are very optimistic about Mr. Quayle's condition right now. He's doing extremely well, and he is progressing very nicely." said Pam Perry, a spokeswoman for Indiana University Medical Center.

The 47-year-old Quayle was expected to make a full recovery, the spokeswoman said.

He was being treated with anticoagulants to prevent further clotting while natural enzymes in Quayle's body dissolve the lodged clot, said Dr. Homer Twigg, the physician treating him. After four days, he likely would be put on another blood thinner for about three to six months.

Twigg said it can take up to a year for a clot to dissolve completely.

While clots can be life threatening because they interfere with breathing, Twigg said Quayle had required only a small amount of oxygen when he was admitted to the hospital and wasn't in immediate danger of dying.

Twigg said it isn't known what causes such clots, called pulmonary embolisms. They often occur in people who are sedentary for long stretches and can be hereditary, but Quayle had no such predisposition, the doctor said.

Quayle has been promoting his book "Standing Firm" and appearing on behalf of Republican candidates during the last year. Quayle's wife, Marilyn Quayle, said the illness would not affect her husband's political future, which could include a run for the 1996 Republican presidential nomination.

Quayle went to the emergency room for a chest X-ray Sunday because he wasn't feeling well, Dr. Deborah Allen, his family physician, said. Allen said doctors were exploring a number of diagnoses, including walking pneumonia, before conditions worsened Monday.

He was sent home with a prescription but returned to the hospital Monday after complaining of shortness of breath, and doctors found that a blood clot had traveled to his lung, Perry said.

Pulmonary embolisms start in the calf of a leg and work their way up the body, through the heart and become lodged in the pulmonary vein of one of the lungs

An average of 650,000 to 700,000 people have such clots each year, said Dr. Joseph H. Bates, chief of medical services at the Little Rock Veterans Administration Medical Center and president of the American Lung Association.

► HOUSING AND DINING SERVICES

New lifts help bring Kramer, Derby into ADA compliance

CHARITY WOODSON

Hall residents eating at the Kramer and Derby dining centers may have noticed some changes in the buildings during the last month.

The Department of Housing and Dining Services installed new wheelchair lifts in both dining centers in October.

The two lifts, one installed in each dining center, cost a combined $35,000, Gene Wiley, housing maintenance supervisor,

The total project cost was $36,000, due to some renovations that had to be made in Derby dining center to ensure proper access and usage, Wiley said.

The lifts were installed as part of housing's efforts to comply with the Americans with Disabilities Act.

,"We knew that this was a requirement that was necessary to meet the ADA," Wiley said.

Wiley also said the housing department is beginning work on other projects in the housing system to comply with the ADA.

"The lift was just one thing that we're doing," he said. "In the future, we will be doing more things to make campus ADA acceptable."

Housing plans to build curb cuts into the sidewalks at Jardine Terrace Apartments, as well as make public restrooms at seven of the residence halls ADA acceptable, he said.

The lifts not only make the dining centers on campus ADA acceptable, but they also make eating in the centers easier for those with disabilities.

Before the lifts were installed. students with disabilities had to use freight elevators that led to the kitchens to gain access to the dining centers, Wiley said.

Now, the students can ride the lift to the area where lines form to

The lifts have not had much use yet except for students who ■ See LIFT Page 10

NEWS BRIEFS

▶ BREAKTHROUGH MONITORING DEVICE MAKES LIFE EASIER FOR DIABETICS

Diabetics may not have to prick their fingers to check their blood sugar in the near future.

Development of a new type of diabetes glucose monitor is being researched jointly by K-State and D.O.M. Associates Inc., a research and development firm in Manhattan.

William Fateley, D.O.M. president and K-State professor of chemistry, said the design of a hand-held instrument will use space-age technology and laser radiation to measure blood-sugar

"We're trying to eliminate having to take blood samples," he said.

Fateley compared using the unit to test blood levels to covering a flashlight with your hand.

"It uses 31 different lasers," Fateley said. All the lasers are near-infrared light, which means they are not visible to humans. Fateley said the cost for a unit should be less than $1,000. Bill Feyerharm, assistant dean of arts and sciences, said the unit would allow people to test their sugar throughout the day. Feyerharm is diabetic and, although he said he didn't mind pricking his finger, he said people with severe cases would be able to monitor their blood-sugar levels more frequently.

EWI

"This is a great breakthrough,"

D.O.M. Associates was awarded an analytical instrumentation research grant of $99,375 by the National Science Foundation's Small Business Technology Transfer program to complete a prototype Upon successful completion of the first year of the project, the corporation will be eligible to apply for $350,000 of additional funding.

Fateley has been awarded the Near-Infrared Award for his work with the project.

He said a similar instrument may be used to check cholesterol levels in the future.

JULIE KRAMER

► UNIQUE HIGHWAY MATERIAL COULD SAVE TAX DOLLARS DOWN THE ROAD

Stronger and safer highways may result from a new development at K-State

Four K-State professors in the College of Engineering have patented a load transfer system called X-FLEX for use in highway construction. X-FLEX has several benefits, the developers said.

"This system will cut production costs and reduce the need for continual repairs," Kuo Kuang Hu, professor of civil engineering, said.

Its innovative covering is especially important as temperatures begin to fall and roads are covered with snow and chemicals.

"The system has the feature of a plastic or rubber covering that will expand with the rise and fall of temperatures, like a spring," Hu said. There will be fewer cracks and potholes, so the state will be able to use the money to build more new highways.

Philip Kirmser, professor emeritus of civil engineering, said the system uses about 80 percent less steel than the usual dowel method and is twice as strong.

The program began with a grant from Cardwell International Ltd. of El Dorado, the Kansas Department of Transportation and the Kansas Technology Enterprise Corporation.

Stu Swartz, civil engineering department head, and Mustaqu Hossain, assistant professor of civil engineering, are also participants in the project.

X-FLEX is licensed to Cardwell International through the KSU Research Foundation.

JULIE KRAMER

► CONVICTED MURDERER WANTED NO SPECIAL TREATMENT PRIOR TO DEATH

MADISON, Wis. (AP) - Jeffrey Dahmer didn't want restrictive living arrangements that would have given him more protection in the prison where his head was bashed in, his lawyer said Tuesday.

"He wanted to be in with the general population. He didn't want to sit in a hole all day long," Stephen J. Eisenberg said.

Authorities still did not know a motive in Monday's killing. Dahmer was found in a pool of blood in a restroom at the maximum security Columbia Correctional Institution in Portage. A prisoner who had been working on a cleaning detail was identified as the suspect.

Dahmer, who confessed to killing 17 men and boys older than 13 years old and sometimes having sex with and cannibalizing the corpses, died Monday of multiple skull fractures and brain trauma. A bloody broom handle was found nearby, but authorities hadn't determined if it was the murder weapon.

Dahmer had been attacked once before. In July, an inmate tried to cut his throat, but the weapon, a razor blade attached to a plastic handle, fell apart before it could hurt Dahmer.

These reports are taken directly from the daily logs of the K-State and Riley County Police departments. Because of space constraints, not all crimes are listed.

K-STATE POLICE

MONDAY, NOVEMBER 28

At 11:01 a.m., a two-vehicle accident report was filed after a facilities vehicle struck a parked and unattended vehicle belonging to Jack Chrest in Lot A-27. Damage was less than $500.

At 11:30 p.m., Albert Zoucha, of Edwards A15, reported the theft of his Cannondale bike and lock. The bike was black and green with gold lettering. Loss was $1,220.

RILEY COUNTY POLICE

MONDAY, NOVEMBER 28

At 9:04 a.m., a vehicle burglary was reported at Lee's Welding at 1630 Recreation Drive. The victim was Garrett Smith, of 1404 Overlook Drive. Taken was a four-barrel carburetor, valve covers and an air cleaner. Loss was $545.

At 11:30 a.m., Michelle Whitworth was the victim of a vehicle burglary at Manhattan High School at 2100 Poyntz Ave. Taken was a wallet containing a Kansas driver's license and a gas card. Damage to the window and door was also reported.

At 11:50 a.m., Jennifer Cooke reported her vehicle burglarized at Manhattan High School at 2100 Poyntz Ave. Taken was a purse. A window was also damaged. Total loss was $110.

At 1:15 p.m., Mark and Kelly D. Jannsen, of 2121 Hillview Drive, were the victims of a vehicle burglary at Manhattan. High School at 2100 Poyntz Avenue. Total loss was $280.

CAMPUS BUILDETIN

ANNOUNCEMENTS

All undergraduate students in a health-related degree program are eligible to apply for Student Cancer Research Award of $500. Applications are now available in the Center for Basic Cancer Research in Ackert 234. Application deadline is Dec. 2.

Manhattan Business and Professional Women are offering a one-time. $300 scholarship available to a non-traditional student enrolling at K-State. Applications are available from Adult Student Services and are due Dec. 31.

BULLETINS

- There will be a gay, lesbian and bisexual coffee hour at 7 p.m. today in Union Station.
- Adult Student Services will have a brown-bag lunch from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. today in Union Stateroom 1.
- The last oral defense of Yonghong Guo's doctoral dissertation
- is scheduled for 3 p.m. today in Durland 105. ■ Phi Kappa Phi Fall Invitation Tea will be at 4 p.m. today in
- the Flint Hills Room in the Union. ■ Career and Employment Services will have a Job Search Strategies Workshop at 5:30 p.m. today in Holtz Hall.

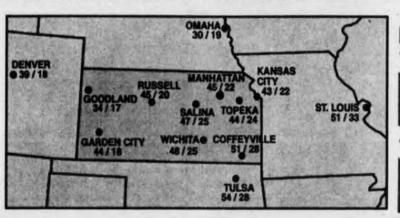

The Kansas State Collegian (USPS 291 020), a student newspaper at Kansas State University, is published by Student Publications Inc., Kedzie Hall 103, Manhattan, Kan., 66506. The Collegian is published weekdays during the school year and once a week through the summer. Second-class postage is paid at Manhattan, Kan., 66502. POSTMASTER: Send address changes to Kansas State Collegian, circulation desk, Kedzie 103, Manhattan,

© Kansas State Collegian, 1994

Kan. 66506-7167.

YESTERDAY'S HIGHS AND LOWS

MANHATTAN OUTLOOK

STATE OUTLOOK

Milder and partly sunny with highs

TODAY I

Milder and partly sunny. High of 55, low of 35.

Warmer and mostly sunny with a high of

PERSONAL HEALTH CARE FOR WOMEN

CONFIDENTIAL ABORTION SERVICES

- Complete GYN Care Pregnancy Testing
- Depo Provera & Norplant Tubal Ligation · Licensed Physicians/Caring Staff · Modern State-Licensed Facility PROVIDING QUALITY HEALTH CARE TO WOMEN SINCE 1974

COMPREHENSIVE 345-1400

VISA

Earn $15 each time

you donate

plasma.

MANHATTAN BIOMEDICA

CENTER

1130 Gardenway

776-9177

Mon.-Fri. 9 a.r

1-800-227-1918

health for womenoutsidekcarea 4401 W. 109th (I-435 & Rose) Overland Park, KS

Mr. Goodcents gives you... Sub specials every day w/ choice of chips, potato salad or pasta salad.

For just

The KSU Department of Speech

KANSAS STATE REPERTORY DANCE COMPANY

December 1, 2, & 3 at 8 p.m. December 3 at 2 p.m. Nichols Theatre

Choreography by Luke Kahlich . Vera Orlock . Achmed Valk Guest Artist: Naomi Goldberg

> Tickets/Reservations: McCain Box Office Mon.-Fri., Noon-5 p.m. 532-6428

General Public $7 Students/Sr. Citizens $5

Partially funded by SGA

Golf Sale

海水水 医水水 医水水 医水水 在

This Week's Specials:

Tacos

3 for $1.35 (reg. 60¢ ea.)

$1.99 (reg. $2.65 ea.) Chili Burrito Good through 12-3-94

Christmas Concert

Featuring:

Men's & Women's Glee Clubs K-State Singers Rhapsody Ringers

> All Faiths Chapel $3 admission 5 p.m. Sunday, Dec. 4

WILDCAT WATCH

A holiday gift idea for your favorite sports fan.

For only $10, you can have the Wednesday edition of the Collegian including Wildcat Watch - sent directly to the Wildcat sports fans on your shopping list. When you place your subscriptions, we'll give you gift cards you can wrap or send in the mail to let everyone know what to expect throughout the Spring 1995 semester. Come see us today in 103 Kedzie (east of the Union) and scratch some names off your Christmas list!

1323 Anderson Aggleville

Expires 12-31-94

Michael and Sherie Johnson, a married couple infected with HIV, share their message with a large group of people Tuesday night in Union Forum Hall.

STEVE HEBERT

Couple infected with HIV make most of their life

Johnsons speak as part of HIV/AIDS Awareness Week

KIM HALL

Becoming infected with HIV hasn't stopped one young couple from making the most of their life.

Michael and Sherie Johnson spoke last night in the Union Forum Hall about their lives with HIV as part of HIV/AIDS Awareness Week.

Kelley Fink, health educator at Lafene Health Center, said that between 1988 and 1994, more people will have died from AIDS than all of the individuals who died in the Vietnam

"Between 120 and 200 people become infected with HIV in the United States every single day," she said.

Closer to home, more than 40,000 people in Kansas are infected with HIV, Fink said.

"At Kansas State University, at least 80 individuals are infected with HIV," she said.

Michael Johnson was diagnosed with full-blown AIDS on June 22, 1991. He said he contracted the virus through heterosexual sex. After his ex-girlfriend notified him that she had HIV, Johnson tested negative for the virus. "I quit asking questions right then, which was a big mistake," he said. "I thought none of the choices I have made in the last 10 years of my life would have any impact on my present or my future," Johnson said.

At 28, Johnson had an allergic reaction to some medicine and was tested for several diseases.

He said his doctor diagnosed him with AIDS and predicted a life expectancy of six to 10 months.

"I have full-blown AIDS," he said. "I am as far along in this disease progression as anyone will ever be."

He said three days later, his wife, Sherie, tested positive for HIV

"I was responsible for giving the world's deadliest disease to the person who taught me love, trust and commitment," he said.

"Instantaneously, the greatest source of joy I have ever known and the best friend I have ever had in my life became the greatest source of guilt I could ever imagine," Johnson said.

Sherie Johnson said she was overwhelmed after finding out she was infected with HIV.

"But most of all, I was afraid of losing the person I love the most," she

She said she does not blame him for the disease because she loves and trusts

"Mike will die before me, and I'll surround myself with family and friends," she said.

"It will be the worst day of my life, but I'll have to carry on." Michael Johnson said getting this disease is entirely up to the individual

"If we want to modify behavior, we must have attitudinal change," he said. "This is the cleanest, slickest and most evil disease the planet has ever seen."

Johnson said he chooses to remain happy and upbeat despite his illness.

"AIDS is going to take my life, but as far as humanity, AIDS can kiss my ass,"

Ryan Carpenter, freshman in political science, said the lecture was excellent.

"It shook me as to the importance of safe sex," he said. Carpenter said he now realizes the importance of having an AIDS test twice "I plan to inform my friends about AIDS and become more involved," he Wish Rudy and your other pals well this chilly holiday season. Look them up in your Campus Phone Book.

1994-95 CAMPUS PHONE BOOK

People, Places and Policies at Kansas State University

Available in 103 Kedzie Hall. $2.25 for students with ID $3.50 for faculty/staff

Buy any two of these releases and get a FREE alternative rock sampler.

SeBADoh bakesale

Combustible Edison

Sunny Day Real Estate

Moro • 776-7373

Stay Streetsmart, Shop Streetside!

Fastbacks Answer the Phone, Dummy

Happy Holidays

CAMPUS EDITOR......J.R. Prather AAE/FEATURES EDITOR .. Andrew Tomb SPORTS EDITOR ...... Wess Hudelson GRAPHICS EDITOR.....Sara Smith COPY CHIEF ...... Robin Kickhaefer CITY-GOV. EDITOR.....Lola Shrimplin ASST. SPORTS EDITOR ... Jeremy Crabtree ASST. PHOTO EDITOR .. Mark Leffingwell

AD MANAGER .... Ryndell Little ASST. MANAGER.....Ted Ellet SALES MANAGER ..... Jim Stothard TEARSHEETS MGR. . Ivonne Zaldumbide NEWS ADVISER ...... Ron Johnson AD ADVISER ......Gloria Freeland

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

IN OUR OPINION

By the Collegian Editorial Board

Getting rid of stress before it gets you

Stress will be turning most of the student body into shorttempered, caffeine-crazed maniacs soon. Be prepared.

It's that time of the semester when the pressure starts getting to students.

Projects, papers and other assignments pile up, and the temptation is always there to just quit.

We'd like to suggest a few ideas to help you combat the stress and live through the rest of the semester.

Editor's note: The Collegian hearby removes itself from all liability for damages from any of the following stress-relief tips.

Call your parents and tell them you are in jail. Don't let them in on the gag until the money order arrives.

■ Call the University Daily Kansan (KU's newspaper) with fake news tips. "Yeah, I heard that Learned Hall is on fire - send a photographer over there right away!"

■ Bake some cookies, bring them to class and eat them in front of

Sit in front of the television, eat barbecued ribs and watch zombie movies.

■ Throw your roommate/couch/ computer out the window and emit maniacal laughter.

■ Call student senators at home and demand your share of the $17,000. You probably could collect it several times if you decide to be persistent enough.

■ Ride your bike all over the campus sidewalks at night.

Call Greyhound and ask how much bus fare to the Aloha Bowl costs.

Call a construction firm on the west coast and ask about building a ramp so Bo and Luke can "jump the General Lee (with you and Daisy in the back seat) to Hawaii."

We should say bye-bye to X-mas

orget NAFTA. Forget GATT. Forget about a constitutional amendment demanding a balanced budget by the year 1996. I think the first order of business for the newly elected Congress should be the immediate and irrevocable annulment of Christmas.

Yup. You read me right. I said, I think we should scrap the Christmas holiday.

Now before all the Christians on campus stop breathing and turn blue, let me clarify that statement by saying I don't mean we should dissolve the celebration of the birth of Christ. Good grief, no.

Although our versions of brotherly love, charity, devotion and graciousness rarely come close to the standard Christ set during his lifetime, at least we have 24 hours when people are consciously trying unlike the other 364 days of the year in which we try and emulate basketball stars and cartoon characters.

Even though I am not Christian, I'd celebrate Christmas for the sheer pleasure of the annual cease-fires that happen, so all the soldiers in all the wars around the world live 24 hours more.

No, it's not the birth of Christ I want to have abolished. It's the crap that comes with his birthday party that advertisers, toy stores and the Home Shopping Network try selling to us 2-1/2 months in advance. What I'm talking about is getting rid of that monster of a merchandising hogfest, which starts about the same time as Halloween and ends after the last snowflake sweater is sold sometime during the second week of January.

But why stop there? Why not dump it all? That's it, yeah. We could get rid of all the commercial trappings that go along with tne holiday season. Not just the endless ploy for merchandising, but everything. Out with the annoying presents no one asked for, the ribbons, the bows and the aggravating carols no one can hit the high notes on.

ATTH

Why stop there? Why not throw out the Christmas tree, the wreath and that Godawful mistletoe. (Anyone caught beneath it with their 90-year-old great-godparent who has been sucking on garlic tablets all night, would be all for that.)

And Santa Claus. Yes, the old elf must go. I don't know about you, but the mere idea that there could be this obese man out there, knowing when I'm sleeping, knowing when I'm awake and breaking into my house via the chimney once a year, makes me really interested in the stalking laws of this state.

I must tell you though, I wouldn't mind keeping up the tradition of watching Wonderful Life." You haven't lived until you've seen the colorized version in slow motion after a few Vodka poppers and some fruit cake that has no half-life.

You're probably telling yourself th have forgotten the true meaning of the holiday spirit, that I have allowed myself to fall into the trap of forgetting what Christmas and Hanukkah and Kwanzaa are all about. Perhaps.

I have only one response to all those who believe that's true: Scrooge you.

Erin Mansur-Smith is a senior in English, pre-law and theater.

Republicans not the cure-all, end-all for us

s a registered Republican (although I'm still not sure Trent LeDoux believes me on this one), I'm supposed to be pleased with the results of this year's elections. New Republican majorities in both the House and the Senate are said to be signs of real change in Washington.

I'm not so sure about that. Yes, the Republicans came to Washington with this contract with America, in which they claim they will balance the budget, reform welfare, ensure world peace, etc. But I don't believe them.

If you look closely at the contract, you'll notice that none of the signatories have to support any of its provisions. They have dedicated themselves to "bring to a vote" these controversial issues, and they fully intend to fail some, if not all of them.

Let's begin with term limits. Many of the freshmen Republicans in Congress campaigned heavily on term limits despite the fact that their remarkable ability to unseat standing Democrats proved that the ultimate term limit guarantee is the will of the people.

The Republican term-limits position was written by Georgia's Newt Gingrich, a nine-term veteran and probably the next Speaker of the House. If that didn't ring any warning bells in the belfry of the American public, I don't feel sorry for

But now the Republican leadership has officially backed off of their position. Texas Representative Dick Armey, the likely majority leader for the next term of Congress, has conveniently given his party an escape clause.

Armey has suggested that public support of term limits was really public opposition to the way the Democrats were running things. If the Republicans can shape up the House, maybe term limits won't be so popular.

After you are recovering from your whiplash, I think you'll find this is only the first in a series of retractions.

Do the Republicans really want to reform welfare? I'm sure they do. Gingrich, in his infinite wisdom and commitment to family, has proposed taking minor children from welfare mothers. By placing these children in orphanages, he claims, the government will eliminate the "incentive" to bear children implicit in the current welfare system, while relieving young mothers from the burden of supporting their children. Then, he returns to his coffin.

How, you ask, does Gingrich intend to pay for this mass institutionalization? By returning such authority to the states. For those of you who haven't taken a foreign language, that's French for forcing the states to do something, then making them come up with the money. Inevitable tax increases and spending cuts at the state level will kill this proposal before it can kill us.

But Republicans will meet their contractual obligation "by bringing it to a

In fact, a Republican senator, speaking anonymously with the Associated Press, indicated that the 10 points of the contract have been divided into two categories: the ones to really pass, and the ones to let either the Democrats kill or President veto.

What happened on Nov. 8 (what usually happens on election day) is a victory by half-truths and deception. There was no conservative shift or anti-Clinton mandate-exit polls showing that the people who voted for Clinton in '92 are likely to still support him.

The Republican tidal wave has washed away the Democratic establishment. But when the public sees this new breed not living up to its promises, they too will be sent into retirement.

And we will once again see the limitation of congressional terms.

THE REAL DR. SMITHS

66 The authentic

do not agree with the positions

1 Dr. Smiths

Dan Lewerenz is a senior in philosophy.

READERS WRITE

Drop letters off at Kedzle 116 or send them to Letters to the Editor, c/o John Meirowsky, Kansas State Collegian, Kedzie 116, Manhattan, KS 66506. We accept letters by e-mail also. Our address is letters@spub.ksu.edu. Letters should be addressed to the editor and include a name, address and phone number. A photo identification will be necessary for hand-delivered letters.

▶ GIVING

K-State Nutrition class gives all

I would like to express my congratulations to K-State's Basic Nutrition class on its donation to the Flint Hills Breadbasket. It is always nice to see those who are more fortunate helping out those who are in less-fortunate circumstances. I have seen this throughout the Manhattan area and am proud to be a local resident. It is in this regard that I feel that as students we have the opportunity to make a significant contribution to this area. About a week and a half ago, I submitted to the SGA (through a student representative) an idea regarding the donation of the "extra" $17,000 collected this semester to the Flint Hills Breadbasket. As of yet, I have received no reply from the SGA.

During this time of year, the Breadbasket is always seeking contributions, and the holidays remind us to be thankful for what we do have and to help support those who are less fortunate. A mere 50 cents from each student can make a large difference. Those students not returning next semester will leave knowing that their money has gone to a good cause and not wasted. Who knows, perhaps this would inspire others to give what they can and would reflect a positive perspective of K-State to future students.

Although I feel there have been some very good suggestions brought forward, I think that the money could be used more appropriately than buying more benches. I encourage everyone in support of this to let their student representative know and voice their support in the Collegian.

Thomas R. Mohs graduate student in chemistry

▶ COMMITTEE CONFUSION

Suggestions were addressed by SGA

I would like to clear up some general misinformation about the process that Student Affairs and Social Services Committee used to decide how to spend the $17,000 Student Life Enrichment Account.

First and foremost, the committee genuinely cared about the student body's ideas, and that is why it organized several different ways to gather student input.

I would like to mention a few viable and productive ideas presented to the committee and why the committee did not choose them as a project to be funded by the Student Life Enrichment Fund.

One idea involved is funding a police escort service. While campus safety is a big concern at this University, the proposal was not finished by the time the committee had made a decision, as in accordance with Senate legislation. Therefore, we could not spend the money on a project that did not have its guidelines and details

Another idea presented to the committee was funding tutoring services. It was eliminated because it was a re-occurring expense. According to the regulations established by this account, the money can only be spent on a one-time expense.

The 24-hour study area was eliminated as a potential project because it is already included in the new Farrell Library and possibly in the new and improved Union.

So, I hope that students realize that despite what other sources might tell them, Student Senate really does care about their suggestions

Your ideas are always welcome. If you would like to discuss this issue with me or the chairperson of the Student Affairs and Social Services Committee, Aaron Otto, contact us at the SGA office at 532-6541. We will be happy to discuss the project with you.

Tara Foster senior in social work and political science member, Student Affairs and Social Services Committee

HOODWINKED

Student demands promise carried out

We've been shorted! I am referring to a promise made by Ed Skoog. When he ran for student body president, he promised us a bass pond on our campus. I feel that he did not fulfill his duty as student body president.

The University overcharged us for fees this fall. Now the big question seems to be, "What do we do with the money?" I say build us a pond. Perhaps not the spot Skoog outlined for it, but I think I have an excellent location.

The area between Anderson Hall and President Wefald's home is perfect for this project. This is an area that is accessible by all, but seldom used. It seems that the University would even like to keep us out of that area. There are many shrubs and even a small fence prohibiting entrance to the grassy area.

Please help support my idea for the use of the excess cash we seem to have in our midst. Write the Collegian. Go to an SGA meeting. Tell your senators that you, too, want a pond on campus. If we come together, we could have an enjoyable leisure-time recreation area in our own backyard. Or is it Jon Wefald's backyard? No matter, help us get the pond we were promised.

Brian Gentry senior in agricultural technology management

▶ SMITH SLIP-UP

Smiths don't concur with other 'Dr. Simth' Regarding the article on dissecting frogs in the Principles of Biology course in the Nov. 17 Collegian, it was unfortunate that the pseudonym Dr. Smith was used for the person wishing to remain unidentified: there are two authentic Dr. Smiths in the Division of Biology. The authentic Dr. Smiths do not agree with the positions quoted from the pseudonym.

quoted from the pseudonym." Our experience from many years in the principles course is that any student gains a better understanding of living systems by working with the real thing. We wish that the person using the pseudonym had had the strength of conviction to use his/her own name.

Dr. Christopher C. Smith Dr. Ann Stalheim Smith

MISSED COVERAGE

Collegian looks over two local pageant winners

On Oct. 1, 1994, two students were chosen to represent not only the area of Manhattan, but also the campus of K-State. However, coverage of the event never occurred.

Marilyn Hetzel was named Miss Manhattan, and Caisha Williams was named Miss K-State. Both ladies will now compete for the title of Miss Kansas, who would compete in Atlantic City, N. J., for the title of Miss America.

I thought perhaps the Collegian didn't feel pageants in general were a worthy news event. However, after reading a story about the new Miss World, I looked for another excuse. Could it be the Miss World story came from the Associated Press, and all the Collegian had to do was re-print it?

Is it too much to ask reporters at the Collegian to cover events that involve students on this campus, and not to just run stories that have already been written by a news agency?

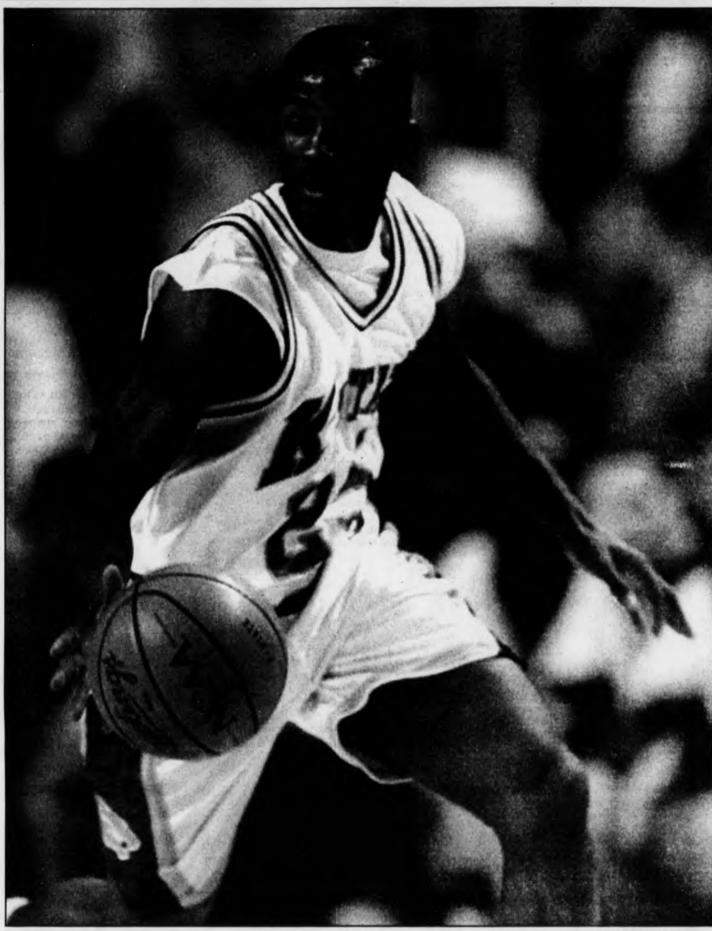

It shouldn't be.

Carrie Cox junior in electronic journalism

SPORTS

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

NOVEMBER 30, 1994

SHANE KEYSER/Collegian

Brian Gavin, K-State guard, dribbles down the floor in the Wildcats' 92-75 win at Bramlage Coliseum. Gavin scored in double digits for the second-straight game this season.

▶ BASKETBALL

Cats upend Rangers for 1st Asbury win

NICOLE POELL

K-State basketball coach Tom Asbury is still looking.

Despite watching his Wildcats pull off a 92-75 victory against Wisconsin-Parkside Tuesday night, Asbury said that he still needs more time to see which of his players can really play.

"Yes, we played a good game, but I'm going to keep looking," Asbury said. "During the course of our two weeks off, we saw a lot of improvement, but we're still trying to figure who will

He got some indication of this last night.

The Cats had five players score in double figures in the game, with senior forward Belvis Noland leading all scorers with 15 points and four rebounds.

But it was captain Demond Davis sparking the offense at the start, pouring in six points by the first timeout with 14:31 on the clock.

K-State didn't let up, leading by at least nine throughout the first half.

It was junior guard Elliot Hatcher all over the court during the first period. grabbing four of his six total steals and scoring eight points behind Demond Davis' 11.

Hatcher said he was pleased after his first period performance - it got him closer to reaching a personal goal.

'My goal coming into the season was to be the leader in the Big Eight in steals," he said.

The Rangers turned the ball over 13 times in the first period, thanks in part to the defensive pressure of Hatcher, who recorded four steals.

K-State led 41-30 at the half behind Demond Davis' 11 first-half points.

The Cats didn't let up in the second half, with some other players coming to

After scoring just two points in the first half, Kevin Lewis bounced back to add eight more points in the second period, ending up with 10 on the night. He wasn't the only one getting busy, Noland found his way through the Rangers' defense, adding eight more to his seven, while junior guard Brian Gavin had his second-straight game in double figures with 10 points.

Wisconsin-Parkside's loss to the Cats marked its fourth game in five days, something Coach Marty Gillespie

"The guy who does our schedule is really an idiot," Gillespie said. "When you're playing a Division I school, you're at their mercy to play when they want and where they want.

Coach Tom Asbury said he noticed a difference in the Cats offensively, and it was a difference that he liked. "Our pass selection and shot selection were markedly improved," Asbury said.

"Coming into this game, we needed to take better shots. When you don't have any great shooters, you need to take great shots. We did a pretty good job of that tonight."

Asbury said he wasn't satisfied with his team's defense, especially when the Rangers hit six of 13 from beyond the arc, including a perfect three of three from Thadd Jacobs.

'We needed to defend more," he said. "Our defense is still not where I'd like it to be, especially our perimeter defense. But we're still feeling our way through - there's no question about it.'

But as Hatcher said, even a win against a team such as Wisconsin-Parkside helped ease the pain of the Cats' 79-48 loss against Alabama two

|                |       | G     | A   | VI | E  | AT | A GL      | ANC   | E     |    |     |    |     |
|----------------|-------|-------|-----|----|----|----|-----------|-------|-------|----|-----|----|-----|
|                | WII   | LDC   | ATS | S  |    |    |           | RAN   | GER   | S  |     |    |     |
| Name           | FG    | FT    | R   | A  | TO | TP | Name      | FG    | FT    | R  |     | TO | TF  |
| D. Davis       | 6-10  | 1-2   | 6   | 4  | 2  | 14 | Bradley   | 7-12  | 6-6   | 2  | 1   | 1  | 20  |
| T. Davis       | 3-7   | 3-5   | 6   | 0  | 3  | 9  | Evans     | 0-4   | 0-0   | 2  | 0   | 5  | . ( |
| Lewis          | . 5-6 | 0-2   | 0   | 0  | 0  | 10 | Houtakker | 1.2   | 0-2   | 2  | 0   | 1  | 2   |
| Hatcher        | 4-6   | 5-7   | 2   | 4  | 0  | 14 | Jacobs    | 7-10  | 0-0   | 1  | 3   | 3  | 17  |
| Gavin          | 3-7   | 4-4   | 4   | 3  | 1  | 10 | McCarty   | 3-8   | 8-9   | 6  | 2   | 3  | 15  |
| Strickland     | 1-2   | 3-4   | 2   | 0  | 3  | 5  | Bailey    | 1-1   | 0-0   | 1  | 1   | 2  | 2   |
| Noland         | 2-4   | 2-2   | 4   | 0  | 1  | 15 | Browarski | 3-10  | 5-6   | 1  | 2   | 1  | 11  |
| Young          | 1-2   | 3-6   | 2   | 2  | 3  | 5  | Liedtki   | 2-4   | 0-1   | 0  | - 1 | 4  |     |
| Hamilton       | 2-4   | 0-0   | 0   | 1  | 0  | 4  | Culhane   | 0-2   | 0-0   | 2  | 0   | 2  |     |
| Swartzendruber | 1-2   | 1-2   | 1   | 1  | 0  | 3  | Rodgers   | 1-1   | 0-0   | 0  | 0   | 0  | 2   |
| Hill           | 0-1   | 3-4   | 1   | 1  | 0  | 3  | Woods     | 0-0   | 0-0   | 0  | 0   | 0  |     |
| TOTALS         | 32-57 | 25-38 | 31  | 16 | 13 | 92 | TOTALS    | 25-54 | 19-24 | 28 | 28  | 22 | 75  |

► MEN'S BASKETBALL

Coach irritated by poor attendance

JEREMY CRABTREE

K-State basketball coach Tom Asbury said he is not pleased.

He said he's not mad at his players or an official. Asbury said he is disappointed with the number of fans who turned out for the Wildcats' season opener against Wisconsin-

"I would be less than honest with you if I wasn't disappointed with the crowd," Asbury said after the Cats defeated the Rangers 92-75, "I don't know what our excuse is tonight.

"A lot of times, you look at what comes first, the chicken or the egg, and obviously they want a quality product. The product needs support to be good. Darn right I'm disappointed.'

Officials at Bramlage Coliseum reported there were more than 8,000 tickets sold for the game. However, the K-State Sports Information department said only approximately 4,000 fans turned out to see the contest.

That was less than the 4,500 fans who attended the K-State-UNLV football game last weekend, which took place in Las Vegas.

"I know that anywhere else in the country, when you put a quality program on the floor, people will come back — but I heard that this place was

"I thought that they would be here. All I heard all spring was 'Boy we're going to be there win or lose, coach.' They'll all be here for KU, probably."

Asbury wasn't the only one who expressed his disappointment with the

"I was wishing I was still back at my JuCo," guard Elliot Hatcher said. "That's my honest opinion. I came out there, and I didn't see too many people. I thought to myself that this is supposed to be the Big Eight and Division I. I can't believe there wasn't anybody here.

dead, and there wasn't anything to get hyped up about.

Forward Stanley Hamilton said a large crowd helps the team get into the flow of the game. "When more people come out to support you, you get that energy going," Hamilton said. "You just play so much harder when there are fans in the stands. You see people diving and working harder just to make the crowd

"I thought that

here. All I heard

they would be

all spring was

'Boy we're going to be there win or lose, coach.'

They'll all be here for KU,

TOM ASBURY

coach

K-State basketball

probably."

"You watch other big-time college games, and the crowd is so much into the game. With their energy, that just makes you want to win.' The obvious question now is, what is it going to take to bring the crowd back to Bramlage? "I don't know what it's going to take to bring them back," Asbury said. "We're just going to keep working hard, and we'll see what happens with Forward Demond Davis said the Cats might have to win some games before the fans will come back to watch his team. "Maybe it's going to take for us to roll off some wins in a row," Davis said. "We have that opportunity against UMKC and Illinois in a week.

Hamilton agreed with Davis' assessment. "I think if we win three or four in a row, we'll see a difference in attendance," Hamilton said.

SHANE KEYSER/Collegian

Coach Tom Asbury grimaces during K-State's game Tuesday night. Asbury said he was disappointed with the low turnout.

► WOMEN'S BASKETBALL

K-State squeaks by Wichita State in Salina

JULIE KUHLMAN

SALINA - Despite being plagued by missed free throws and injuries, K-State managed to squeak by Wichita State 60-55 Tuesday night in the Bicentennial Center.

"We've just been utilized by injuries - we've had them since the beginning of the season," Coach Brian Agler said.

Freshman guard Brit Jacobson, who scored 18 points against Ohio State, suffered a torn cartilage early,

Agler said, but managed to stay on the court for a good portion of the ballgame.

"I just hope she's, 'knock-onwood' healthy," Agler said after the game. "I don't know the extent of the injury, yet."

Shawnda DeCamp is suffering from an Achilles tendon injury and did not start for the Cats.

"It's loosened up a bit, but I still have to watch it," DeCamp said.

Other players suffering from injuries include freshmen Amanda

Chamberlain and junior Dana

Agler said Carlene Mitchell, who started for the Cats, had not even made it through an entire practice, vet.

The Cats managed to overcome those obstacles, and Agler said his players did not hang their heads when the going got tough.

"Wichita State made their run, but after we made our statement in the first half, we had our confidence up," Agler said.

All but in one aspect of the game

the crowd.'

free-throw shooting. "It's a problem if you let it be a problem," Agler said. "They just lost their confidence there.' Despite going eight for 28 from the line, Shawnda DeCamp sunk two crucial free throws with 11 seconds remaining in the game, which gave the Cats their final five-point lead. "The coach told me that if I would hit those two shots, the game was over," DeCamp said.

DARREN WHITLEY/Collegia

Shanele Stires battles Wichita State players for the ball. Stires led the Cats in scoring during the game.

LDCA

ATCH

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN WEEKLY SPORTS SECTION

NOVEMBER 30, 1994

| 8          | ST  | A  | ND  | INC | S    |    | A |
|------------|-----|----|-----|-----|------|----|---|
| PLFTINE.   | BIG | EK | THE | 01  | /ERA | LL |   |
| TEAM       | W   | 1  | I   | W   | L    | I  | 5 |
| Nebraska   | 7   | 0  |     | 12  | .0   |    |   |
| Colorado   | 6   | 1  |     | 10  | 1    |    |   |
| K-State    | 5   | 2  |     | 9   | 2    |    |   |
| Oklahoma   | 4   | 3  |     | 6   | 5    |    |   |
| Kansas     | 3   | 4  |     | 6   | 5    |    |   |
| Missouri   | 2   | 5  |     | 3   | 7    | 1  |   |
| Okla. St   | 0   | 6  | 1   | 3   | 7    | 1  |   |
| Iowa State | 0   | 6  | 1   | 0   | 10   | 1  |   |

BIG 8 FOOTBALL

FINAL SEASON STATISTICS

Total Offense

|              | Plays | Yards | Yds-pg |
|--------------|-------|-------|--------|
| Colorado     | 773   | 5,448 | 495.2  |
| Nebraska     | 897   | 5,734 | 477.8  |
| Kansas       | 754   | 4,268 | 388.0  |
| K-State      | 754   | 3,996 | 363.2  |
| Oklahoma     | 808   | 3,917 | 356.0  |
| Oklahoma St. | 757   | 3,719 | 338.0  |
| Iowa State   | 753   | 3,466 | 315.0  |
| Missouri     | 812   | 3,725 | 310.4  |

Leading Rushers

|                       | Carries | Yards |
|-----------------------|---------|-------|
| Rashaan Salaam, CU    | 298     | 2,005 |
| Lawrence Phillips, NO | 286     | 1,722 |
| J.J. Smith, KSU       | 232     | 1,073 |
| D. Thompson, OSU      | 186     | 819   |
| L.T. Levine, KU       | 128     | 803   |
| A. Richardson, OSU    | 121     | 774   |
| K. Stewart, CU        | 130     | 639   |
| June Henley, KU       | 130     | 599   |

Leading Passers

|                  | Rating | Yards |
|------------------|--------|-------|
| B. Berringer, NU | 149.5  | 1,295 |
| K. Stewart, CU   | 146.8  | 2,071 |
| Chad May, KSU    | 137.5  | 2,571 |
| Todd Doxzon, ISU | 130.5  | 745   |
| A. Preston, KU   | 126.4  | 1,168 |
| Jeff Handy, MU   | 112.9  | 2,030 |
| G. McGee, OU     | 109.1  | 1,909 |
| Toné Jones, OSU  | 92.1   | 1,468 |
|                  |        |       |

Passing Offense

|             | Attempts | Yards | Yds-pg |
|-------------|-----------------|--------------|--------|
| K-State     | 351             | 2,614        | 237.6  |
| Colorado    | 256             | 2,242        | 203.8  |
| Missouri    | 409             | 2,430        | 202.5  |
| Kansas      | 196             | 1,550        | 140.9  |
| Nebraska    | 210             | 1,654        | 137.8  |
| Iowa State  | 206             | 1,508        | 137.1  |
| Oklahoma St | . 259           | 1,468        | 133.5  |

Total Defense

|              | Plays | Yards | Yds-pg |
|--------------|-------|-------|--------|
| Nebraska     | 765   | 3,106 | 258.8  |
| Oklahoma     | 713   | 3,253 | 295.7  |
| K-State      | 751   | 3,438 | 312.5  |
| Colorado     | 758   | 3,781 | 343.7  |
| Oklahoma St. | 788   | 4,245 | 385.9  |
| Kansas       | 770   | 4,408 | 400.7  |
| Missouri     | 882   | 4,979 | 414.9  |
| Iowa State   | 771   | 5.068 | 460.7  |

Passing Defense

|              | Comp. | Yards | Points |
|--------------|-------|-------|--------|
| K-State      | 130   | 1,596 | 94.32  |
| Nebraska     | 172   | 2,155 | 96.71  |
| Oklahoma     | 134   | 1,619 | 107.45 |
| Colorado     | 199   | 2,525 | 125.22 |
| Oklahoma St. | 281   | 2,127 | 130.31 |
| Kansas       | 195   | 2,525 | 135.81 |
| Missouri     | 170   | 2,155 | 138.53 |
| Iowa State   | 151   | 2,067 | 147.06 |

Bowl Berths

|         | Bowl   | Date    | Location |
|---------|--------|---------|----------|
| K-State | Aloha  | Dec. 25 | Honalulu |
| OU      | Copper | Dec. 29 | Tuscon   |
| Neb.    | Orange | Jan. 1  | Miami    |
| Col.    | Fiesta | Jan. 2  | Tempe    |

LOOK FOR BOWL PREVIEW EDITION

Dear readers.

On Friday, Dec. 9, the Wildcat Watch will have a special Bowl Bound preview edition. This edition will come along with your regular Wednesday, Dec. 7 issue. In the preview, the Watch staff will give you in-depth coverage of the Cats opponent, costs of making the trip to Hawaii and previews of the other bowl games. So look for it next Friday.

Jeremy Crabtree Watch Editor

COLLEGIAN ALL BIG EIGHT TEAM

This team was selected by members of the Collegian sports staff after reviewing the 1994 football season.

Most valuable player: Rashaan Salaam, tailback, Colorado Coach of the year: Tom Osborne, Nebraska Offensive Newcomer of the year: Andre Richardson, tailback, Oklahoma State

Quarterback: Chad May, K-State Running backs: Rashaan Salaam, Colorado* Lawrence Phillips, Nebraska* Receivers: Michael Westbrook, Colorado* Tyson Schwieger, K-State

Tight end: Eric Alford, Nebraska Offensive linemen: Zach Wiegert, Nebraska* Tony Berti, Colorado Brandon Stai, Nebraska John Jones, Kansas Rob Zatechka, Nebraska

Defensive linemen: Tim Colston, K-State* Shannon Clavelle, Colorado* Terry Connealy, Nebraska*

Linebackers: Ted Johnson, Colorado* Ed Stewart, Nebraska* Laird Veatch, K-State Donta Jones, Nebraska Defensive backs: Joe Gordon, K-State

> Chris Canty, K-State Baron Miles, Nebraska* Chris Hudson, Colorado*

Big Eight's most underrated player: Ron Brown, receiver, K-State Place kicker: Kyle Pooler, Missouri Punter: Kyle Pooler, Missouri Punt returner: Chris Hudson, Colorado Kickoff returner: J.J. Smith, K-State*

* Player was selected unanimously

Mitch Running, K-State wide receiver, attempts to escape from UNLV defenders. Running caught two passes to give him 30 receptions for the season. MARK LEFFINGWELL Collegian

UNLV victory doesn't convince Coalition

WESS HUDELSON

LAS VEGAS - The Wildcats travelled to Las Vegas in hopes of a Coalition Bowl bid, but they left with empty pockets.

"I think with the played the last two seaons, we

JIM HMIELEWSKI

football player deserve some recognition."

way we've

K-State accepted a bid to the Aloha Bowl Tuesday afternoon. "I have all the respect in the world for the bowl game they put on there, offensive tackle Jim Hmielewski said. "I think with the way we've played the last two seasons, we deserve some recognition.'

The Cats' only options appeared to be the Sun Bowl or the Cotton Bowl, but the two spots open in those games were occupied by North Carolina and the University of Southern California.

K-State rolled over the Runnin'

Rebels 42-3 Saturday at the Sam Boyd Silver Bowl in front of 10,331 fans, 50 percent of whom were fans on the Cats'

"I thought our players would be flat, because the crowd wasn't very big," Coach Bill Snyder said. "I told them to look up into the stands and look at all the people who made the trip for them. To have that kind of fan support is tremendous."

K-State's record improved to 9-2 on the season. The Cats clinched a thirdplace finish in the Big Eight Conference Nov. 19, defeating Oklahoma State.

The Runnin' Rebels never put up much of fight in the contest. K-State defensive back Mario Smith intercepted a pass from quarterback Jason Davis, giving K-State the ball on the Rebel 45-

K-State drove 47 yards in 11 plays topped off by a 2-yard plunge by Chad May, putting the Cats ahead 7-0. UNLV had four turnovers during the game.

The Cats again enjoyed excellent field position on their next possession after a 16-yard punt return by Mitch Running. K-State started from the UNLV 42.

Running helped set up the second score with a 27-yard reception moving the ball to the one. May again got into the end zone, making the score 14-0.

"We didn't play very well in the second quarter, but we came closer to playing a complete game today than we have all year long," May said.

J.J. Smith scored in the second quarter on a 29-yard touchdown, adding to his record-breaking 227-yard performance and increasing the lead to 21-0.

Smith surpassed Isaac Jackson to become K-State's all-time leading rusher with 2,210 yards in his career. He also set records for touchdowns in a career and yards in a single game, breaking Tony Jordan's record of 218 yards against Iowa State in 1986.

"The line was pumped up today," Smith said. "I think they wanted the record more than I did.'

The Rebels only score of the game came in the second quarter with a 30-yard field goal by Nick Garritano. UNLV then drove to K-State's 6-yard line only to watch the drive dissolve when Kirby Hocutt fell on a fumble by DeJohn Branch.

"When you play a team like that, you're only going to get so many chances, so you have to take advantage." UNLV coach Jeff Horton said.

K-State blew the game wide open by scoring on its first two drives of the second half. The field was cut short on two short punts into a stiff wind. The Wildcats started from the Rebel

43-yard line on their first scoring drive of the half and on the 30 for its second. Smith carried the ball on all four plays of the drive, scoring from 12 yards away on an option play for his second touchdown. The score expanded the Cats' lead to 28-3.

"Our offense obviously played well, but our defense really played well in the second half, especially in the third quarter when we forced them to punt into that wind," Snyder said.

K-State started at the UNLV 30-yard line after a 24-yard punt by Brad Faunce.

May then connected with receiver Kevin Lockett on the next play for a 30yard touchdown, making the score 35-3.

Quarterback Matt Miller got his first K-State touchdown on a 9-yard run. K-State led 42-3 after the extra point.

Snyder, Urick accept offer from Aloha Bowl

WESS HUDELSON

The Wildcats are bound for Hawaii for Christmas Day.

K-State athletic director Max Urick and football coach Bill Snyder confirmed Tuesday that the Wildcats will play Boston College in the Jeep Eagle Aloha Bowl.

The game is played Dec. 25 at 2:30 p.m. CST in Honolulu and will be televised on ABC television.

The Aloha Bowl got the third-place team from the Big Eight Conference after the Coalition made its selections. The Coalition has first pick of the teams not obligated to participate in a bowl

The Coalition bowls include the Orange, Cotton, Fiesta, Sugar, Sun and Gator.

"We're tremendously disappointed in not having an opportunity to participate in a New-Year's-Day Bowl as players and coaches," Snyder said following a team meeting on Tuesday. "But we're also pleased to have an opportunity to play Boston College in the Jeep Eagle Aloha Bowl.

The Cats' fate was sealed Monday when the Coalition announced its bids. K-State's hopes rested in the arms of Notre Dame and its 6-4-1 record.

When the Fighting Irish accepted an invitation from the Fiesta Bowl to play playing in either the Cotton or the Sun bowls against Texas Tech or Texas, but Colorado on Jan. 2, those hopes died. The Cats also had kept hopes of one of those slots had to be filled by the second-place Atlantic Coast Conference team North Carolina, who will play Texas in the Sun Bowl.

The Cotton Bowl boosted its TV ratings by selecting Southern California to face Texas Tech.

"We have an opportunity to finish the season 10-2 and perhaps finish the season ranked in the top five," Urick

"We feel this match-up will be our best ever," Marcia Cherner, executive director of the Aloha Bowl, said.

WILDCAT WATCH Hill inspired by former coach's memory

SHANE KEYSER/Collegian George Hill has put on an additional 15 pounds while preparing for this season. He also broke the school's squat record.

NICOLE POELL

one special basketball coach never forgot George Hill, and to this day, Hill hasn't forgotten that coach.

Hill, a junior center for the Wildcats, first met former K-State assistant coach Ken Turner when Turner was coaching at South Alabama and Hill was still a high-school student in Fairhope, Ala.

Listed as one of the top 100 prep prospects in the nation by national recruiting analyst Bob Gibbons, Hill was a high-school

He led Fairhope High to a 25-4 record as a senior and averaged 15 points and 10 rebounds in the state's 6A class. Those numbers were what first attracted the recruiters' and Turner's attention.

'South Alabama started recruiting me early in high school," Hill said.

But through the years, Coach Turner was more of a person who was talking to me, making sure I was getting the grades and just looking out for me.'

But when Turner got the call to leave Alabama and coach at K-State, Hill said he didn't expect to hear from him again. He was in for a surprise.

"I was at a friend's house when Coach Turner called me from Manhattan," Hill said. "That really surprised me. He said, 'You know

I didn't forget about you down there,' and then we started talking about K-State." Turner did more than talk to Hill about K-

State - he brought him to the Little Apple for "From my experience with Coach Turner at South Alabama, I knew he was someone I could trust," Hill said.

"So I came up to K-State on a visit during a Midnight Madness weekend.

"The football team was playing Oklahoma that weekend, and they had the campout going on at the same time, so I was pretty impressed. Coach Turner was just a great factor in getting me to K-State.'

Considering what Turner was up against, getting Hill to K-State was quite a feat.

"I actually received a few letters from people about leaving Alabama," Hill said.

"A lot of them wanted me to stay close to home, especially people in the area, because they wanted to see the hometown players stay

"The letters I got weren't really nasty, but they were just trying to convince me to stay close to home. There weren't any return addresses on them, though."

Since his arrival at K-State, however, Hill hasn't accumulated much playing time, just 11 games his freshman year and 19 last season.

But he said he's hoping his hard work during the off-season will pay off this year.

"I'm going to base my game on rebounding and just try to be the best rebounder I can," he

"I want to improve my defense, and eventually I'll get my chance to score for us. I'm just going to do all the little things it takes

Hill's off-season conditioning is already

He's put on an additional 15 pounds, going from 225 to 240, and he recently broke the school record in the squat with a lift of 645

Hill is also receiving more playing time so far this season. During exhibition play and the Cats' first regular season game, he is one of the first players off the bench.

This extra effort hasn't gone unnoticed by K-State coach Tom Asbury.

"George has a good strong body and has worked hard to improve in the off-season," Asbury said.

"He wants to be a player, and I think he can help up on the boards.

While Hill and his other teammates are still adjusting to a new coaching staff, Hill said it's taken awhile to get used to something else the loss of Coach Turner, who passed away Sept. 28.

But Hill has found a way to remember his former coach.

"I have a picture of he and I together shaking hands that I keep with me," Hill said.

"It's hanging up in my locker, so it's like he's still with me for every game."

"I have a picture of he and I together shaking hands that I keep with me. It's hanging up in my locker, so it's like he's still with me for every game."

GEORGE HILL K-State basketball player

1/2 Sandwich Cup of soup and drink for $4.50

5-Close Mon.-Sun

Aggieville • 537-5113

L.A. Cakes & Cookie Bouquets

Call us for your Holiday Bouquets!

Cookie Bouquets!

Get the Gingerbread Man, Snowflake, or Poinsetta Bouquet. (Various sizes and Styles)

408 Poyntz Ave. Call 776-8773 经生活电路电路

708 N. Manhattan Ave. Aggieville

Pitchers 776-1515 • 1800 Claflin

Entry: Rec Services Office at the Rec Complex Enter at the Rec Services Office • 532-6980

537-0886

Mon.-Sat.

11 a.m.-1 a.m. Sun.

11 a.m.-Midnight

This coupon good for PEPPER STEAK $3.90

Dine-in & carryout Not valid with any other specials, coupons, or on deliveries.

FREE DELIVERY (Minimum order $9)

Expires 12-5-94

Deluxe Gift Box

12 oz. Alma Cheese 8 oz. Summer Sausage 1 16. Kansas Papcom 8 02. Sand Hill Plum Jam 1 1b. Kansas Honey Kansas Chili Soup Mix

CALLUS! We ship UPS 913-776-8111 FAX - 913-776-5445

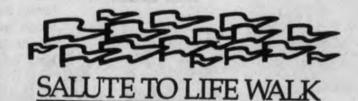

Sunflower Seed Cookies VISA . MASTERCARD . DISCOVER

Eastside*Westside Markets East Hwy. 24 by Mall or West K-18 by Holidome, Manhattan

KSU HIV/AIDS Awareness Week

AIDS Quilt Video Nov. 30 noon-1 p.m. Union Couryard

Salute to Life Walk Dec. 1 4 p.m.-6 p.m. Ahearn

If you

canned goods, toiletries, or household products, to the homeless through the

Collegian, you will receive

THANKS

and $1 off any classified ad in the Collegian through the end

of December.

Contributions go to Manhattan Emergency Shelter and Flint Hills Breadbasket

Bring items to the Student Publications Inc. office in Kedzie 103

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Tidbits

CLEANER WATER IN AMERICA

Since 1972, the number of people in the United States who have access to properly treated water has increased from 85 million to more than 143 million.

Tidbits

REGULATION IN A BOTTLE

Bottled water manufacturers self-regulate through membership to the International Bottled Water Association, which has unannounced inspections that the manufacturers must pass in order to keep their membership.

NOVEMBER 30, 1994

In terms of survival, water is our most important resource. But there is a rising concern about water purity and supply.

THE COST IN H<sub>2</sub>O

Water is often taken for granted, but Americans use a lot of it, both directly and indirectly.

One pound of steel takes 35 gallons of water to produce.

To produce one egg, a farmer uses 40 gallons of water. Agriculture in the United States is responsible for using about 600 gallons per capita per day.

One Sunday paper takes 280 gallons of water to produce.

One new car takes 100,000 gallons of water to produce.

Every gallon of gasoline that gets pumped into the family car takes anywhere from 7 to 25 gallons of water to produce.

In 1985, the thermoelectric power industry in the United States used 131,000 million gallons of water per day to feed and cool its turbines.

BOTTLED WATER AND ITS INCREASING POPULARITY

Bottled water is the fastest-growing beverage industry. It is growing faster than beer, soft drinks, juices, etc.

There are four types of bottled water:

- 1) mineral
- 2) spring
- 3) purified
- 4) distilled

Forty-six million Americans drink bottled water.

In 1993, 2.5 billion gallons of bottled water were sold In the United States

California is the No. 1 state for bottled water consumption, taking up 33% of the bottled water

DAILY WATER USE FOR AN AMERICAN FAMILY OF FOUR

| ACTIVITY            | GALLONS USED |
|---------------------|--------------|
| Tollet flushing     | 100          |
| Showers and bathing | 80           |
| Laundry             | 35           |
| Dishwashing         | 15           |
| Bathroom sink       | 8            |
| Utility sink        | 5            |
| TOTAL               | 243          |

CLEANING YOUR WATER AT HOME: THE PLUSES AND MINUSES OF HOME TREATMENT DEVICES

Some treatment devices eliminate THMs and VOCs. THMs are trihalomethanes, like chloroform, that are formed when chlorine in water reacts with naturally-occurring decayed vegetation. VOCs, or volatile organic compounds, are chemicals from degreasers and cleaners that affect groundwater.

Carbon filter

Plus: Removes THMs, chlorine and VOCs. Small amounts of carbon in faucet models make them less effective than larger units.

Minus: Bacteria held in the carbon may wash into

Distiller

Plus: Removes lead, other metals and some organic chemicals. Kills bacteria.

Minus: Not effective on VOCs, THMs and radon. May corrode pipes.

Reverse osmosis

Plus: Removes lead, nitrates, some THMs, VOCs Minus: Wastes water - 75 to 90 percent of water is lost in the straining process.

Water softener

Plus: Removes calcium and magnesium, the harmless chemicals that make water hard, and replaces them with sodium. Can help remove radioactive radium and barium. Minus: May dissolve lead from old pipes.

SARA SMITH/Collegian

IVERSIONS

ARTS AND ENTERTAINMENT CALENDAR

Wednesday Parting Glances" -8 p.m. in Union Forum

Thursday Parting Glances" -7 and 9:30 p.m. in Union Forum Hall.

NOVEMBER 30, 1994

STUMPED? For answers to today's crossword, call 1-900-454-6873!99¢ per minute, touchtone / rotary phones. (18+ only.) A King Features service, NYC. 11-30 CRYPTOQUIP TE QYTVQP LPGGPOZ

LTAX DZ ZYP QTIOZYTIGP

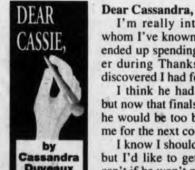

O P G Z D I O D X Z A D G Z T O Z .

Yesterday's Cryptoquip: INTENSE LOCAL REAL ESTATE SALESMAN HAD A ONE-TRACT MIND.

Today's Cryptoquip clue: A equals W

Finals week puts kink in possible relationship

Write to Cassie:

116 Kedzie Hall

Manhattan, KS

I'm really interested in this man whom I've known for a while now. We ended up spending a lot of time together during Thanksgiving break, and I discovered I had feelings for him.

I think he had feelings for me too, but now that finals are close, he told me he would be too busy to do much with me for the next couple weeks.

I know I shouldn't take it personally, but I'd like to get to know him, and I can't if he won't make the time.

How can I let him know I'm interested in him without being pushy? I don't want to wait until after finals to 'start something up."

By then, I'm afraid he'll forget how much fun we had together, and I'll have lost a great thing. What should I do? Sincerely,

He likes books more than me

Dear H.L.B.M.T.M.,

It's going to be crazy for everyone the next couple of weeks with final proects and exams coming up. Just because he's going to be busy doesn't mean he's not thinking about you. After all, he didn't tell you to get lost. He was honest and admitted he was going to be swamped, so don't lose hope.

If you want to keep in touch, send him a card to let him know you're thinking about him. That way, he can read it on his own time.

Be patient. If there are sparks, he will find the time to let you know.

'Glances' hardly worth second look

RUSSELL FORTMEYER

Hollywood hasn't made too many films about the gay culture and AIDS.

It was long a taboo subject that only recently surfaced in Jonathan Demme's "Philadelphia," which brought Tom Hanks a best-actor Oscar.

Being gay in Hollywood can ruin a career, excepting Harvey Fierstein and Sandra Bernhard, mostly because middle America doesn't readily accept gay people.

Sure, there were other attempts at filming the gay life, such as the movie "Longtime Companion," but they were never Hollywood projects, and nothing crossed into the mainstream.

"Parting Glances" is one of those movies. Written and directed by no-name Bill Sherwood, it is definitely an amateur attempt at filmmaking.

Filled with stock acting, implausible situations and flat characters, "Glances" isn't worth a glance. This has to be some of the worst acting since "Knots Landing" was canceled. At times, it reminded me of a USA "Up All Night" movie or an overly sentimental CBS "Movie of the Week." Michael (Richard Ganoung), a book editor, lives in New York City with Robert (John Bolger), a United Nations employee embarking on a mission Bolger is about as witless as a box of corn flakes. When Michael's ex-lover Nick (Steve Buscemi) calls Robert a Ken doll, he's right on the nail. Ganoung is no less annoying than Bolger, but he's somewhat more developed as an actor. He's no Anthony Hopkins, but, then again, he's no John Buscemi, who dazzled me with his over-the-top performance in "Reservoir Dogs," is practically the only reason to see this movie. He's got his patented go-to-hell attitude perfected. The scenes without Buscemi are boorishly filled with dialogue devoid Buscemi struggles to overcome some of the cheesiest dialogue ever written.

"Parting Glances" was obviously chosen to coincide with HIV/AIDS Awareness Week, but that doesn't mean the film is necessarily relevant or

That's the problem with presenting a film about gays and AIDS — there aren't many good ones.

If you want to open yourself up to gay issues, without having to suffer the torment of a bad movie with many uncomfortable moments, rent "Philadelphia" or "And the Band Played On."

To really tackle pertinent gay issues, one must look to the stage.

Plays like "The Night Larry Kramer Kissed Me" and "Angels in America" do a lot better job of representing gay attitudes and beliefs than some Bmovie like this one.

'PARTING GLANCES'

The Union Program Council presents the Kaleidoscope film "Parting Glances" at 8 p.m. Wednesday and 7 and 9:30 p.m. Thursday in Union Forum Hall and 8 p.m. Friday in the Union Little Theatre. Tickets are $1.75.

Willie Wildcat Sign here please

The Wildcats are Aloha Bowl bound, and you can wish them good luck by signing the Collegian's special Bowl Bound Page in the Friday, Dec. 9 issue. Anyone can sign, and the cost is only $2.

Come to 103 Kedzie Hall between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. before 4 p.m. Monday, Dec. 5.

Good luck, Cats

Shelter helps resident

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1 tell the people who I hurt that, I would ... but I can't do that. "Sometimes I have terrible dreams about people being shot and killed. I wake up in cold sweats. I just take one day at a time."

Perkins has been at the shelter since September. He lives in the Sunflower House next door to the shelter, which is transitional housing. "I was tired of the negative. I wanted to turn my life around. Manhattan was the place to do that," he said.

Within a week of moving into the shelter, Perkins got a job at Burger King.

"I just told my boss about my situation and told him I really needed a job. He gave me a chance.

Ron Zerrer, director of the shelter, said Gino is a success story. "We can't do anything. People have to do things for themselves. I have confidence in him. He is a neat guy," Zerrer said. Perkins has been off drugs for two years. He said he has achieved a lot that he never thought he could. "If it hadn't been for Ron and the transitional housing, I would have never made it," he said. Perkins said he hopes to get a place of his own. He said he wants to go to school and study law enforcement.

"I have been a bad guy. I like to be a good guy for a change."

Lift for disabled students

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

are temporarily disabled due to surgery or crutches, but the dining centers want people who are disabled to have access to the centers, Sheryl Powell, director of Kramer Dining Center, said.

Some residents who could use the lifts don't because of concerns. "I don't know if I will ever use them, because I think it would make me feel more different than I already am," Michelle Bachamp, freshman in psychology, said.

Wiley said it is important for students to contact either the dining center itself or someone in housing.

"The lift can be operated by the person with a key and instructions. All they need to do is tell us."

SPRING BREAK 95 NON-STOP PARTY CHARTERS

Cancun

We supply the scenery... You supply the weldlife!

from

(800) 235-TRIP

SPRING FEVER!

boxed and individual cards perfect for everyone on your list!

Great Gifts Too... We're Your Christmas Store!

704 N. MANHATTAN-IN AGGIEVILLE-539-7654 MON.-FRI. 8:30-8:30, SAT. 8:30-5:30, SUN. 12:00-5:00

R. Carlos Nakai William Eaton

R. Carlos Nakai and William Eaton.

Friday, December 2, 8 p.m. McCain Auditorium Kansas State University

Public/Faculty: $14 Senior Citizen: $12 Student/Child: $7

Nakai is a Navajo-Ute who honors tribal traditions while developing new musical expressions on his cedar flute. Eaton designs his own extraordinary instruments and composes music inspired by nature. The two come together to perform music that is haunting in its serenity and graceful in its simplicity.

For tickets call 532-6428 or come to the McCain box office. Box office hours: noon to 5 p.m. weekdays. Tickets are also available (with service charge) at Manhattan Town Center customer service desk, K-State Union Bookstore, and ITR (Fort Riley). Persons with disabilities call 532-6428.

*Presented in Part by the Kansas Arts Commission, a state agency, and the National Endowment for the Arts, a federal agency. Events in the McCain Performance Series are supported by the K-State Fine Arts Fee.

Thank You!

We would like to thank the following individuals and organizations for their support during 1994 Homecoming.

Carol Adolph Jim Akin Steve Ballard Ross and Marianna Beach Charlie Beckom Lin Bliss Blue Key Becky Bohne

Mark Bonjour Thomas Botzler Carol Bredesen Jana Claeys Ann Claussen Richard Coleman Kim Dahlsten Dick Elkins Barb Elliott John Fairman

Kay Farley Don Foster Kevin Goering Kim Hamilton Todd Johnson Becky Klingle

KSU Alumni Association KSU Athletic Department KSU Band and Classy Cats KSU Cheerleader KSU Football Team K-State Union Tim Kukula Heather Lee

Tim Lindemuth Diane Lux City of Manhattan Bill McNally

Sue Peterson Gary Pierson Ted Poppitz Bridget Porter Barb Pretzer Amy Renz Deambra Renz John Riley Riley County Police Dept.

Barb Robel

Jeff Rudy Coach Bill Snyder Greg Spencer Terry Stickler Student Alumni Board Amir Tavakkol Charlie Thomas Beth Hartenstein Tolentino

Frank Tracz Roger Trenary University Facilities UPC Bruce van de Velde Chuck Werring Willie Wildcat Sharon Willits Kim Winkler

Saturday Night Live THE FIRST TWENTY YEARS

Saturday Night Live, the official book of the show's twentieth anniversary, is a lively, jam-packed, heavily illustrated look at the first twenty years of the show through the voices and memories of all those who made it happen.

Pick up a copy when you're selling your textbooks next week!

Multicultural Committees present:

UPC Travel, Arts, Kaleidoscope and Join the fun on December 3 & 4 for a fun filled weekend induding: one night lodging at the Fairfield Inn tour of the Nelson-Atkins Art Gallery

other activities include shopping at Plaza and a movie at the Tivoli in Westport

The price is only $40.00 Travel expenses paid for by UPC TRAVEL

Do you want to travel and the world?

Let UPC help!

Get your International Student I.D. Card for only $16 in the UPC office Third floor of the K-State Union

Eclectic Entertainment Multicultural Committee invites you to

INTERNATIONAL COFFEE

AND TEA HOURS Enjoy a variety of coffees from around the world!

UNION STATION 2:30PM - 4:30PM TUESDAY AFTERNOONS  Eclectic Entertainment Presents:

ELLIUDD DHREHD CUMERTHY Thursday, Dec. 1 9:00pm Union Station

L C F F C C with OUTDOOR RECREATION

DECEMBER 2 - 4

In CRESTED BUTTE

> FOR ONLY $65!

The trip includes: 2 days of skiing at Crested Butte, und-trip transportation 2 nights lodging, lift tickets and ski, boot, pole rental.

Sign up now in the UPC office

LASSIFIEDS

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

To run 20 words or less for one day is $5. For each word over 20 add 20¢ per word. Call 532-6555 for consecutive day rates.

DEADLINES Classified ads must be placed by oon the day before the date the ac uns. Classifed display ads must laced by 4 p.m. two working days efore the date the ad runs.

HOUSING/

For Rent-

REAL ESTATE

Apts. Furnished

FOR RENT: one large bed-room furnished apart-ment close to campus. Call 537-0687 leave

JAN, 1. One-bedrooms in complexes $280- $300. No pets, lease required 587-0399.

NICE TWO-BEDROOM suitable for 3-4 people.
Two car parking. Free washer and dryer in basement. One-half block west of campus.

E TWO-BEDROOM available in Jan. $420. Across the street from campus. Water/ trash paid. 537–2145.

apartment for rent. Great pricel 327 Fre-mont. For more infoma-tion call after 6:30 (587-for study. Campus one mile, one-bedroom, some utilities paid. Min-imum seven month

no

QUIET SURROUNDINGS

TWO-BEDROOM AVAIL-ABLE Dec. 20, one block from campus.

TWO-BEDROOM, CLOSE

1219 KEARNEY two-bed-room $495; 814 Thur-ston studio $275; avail-able Jan. 1. Water and

A SPACIOUS one and one-

AVAILABLE DEC. 17, one-quiet, no pets. 539-5136.

bedroom. 1005 Blue-mont $385. Two blocks east of Aggieville and campus. No pets. 776-3804.

CAMBRIDGE

SQ. APT.

*FIREPLACE

*POOL

537-9064

WEEKDAYS

9:00-4:30

AVAILABLE IN January

AVAILABLE JAN. 1, one

two-bedroom west of City Park. 1417- 1419

Leavenworth $475. Water/ trash paid. Parking available. No pets. 776-bedroom near campus 1700 N. Manhattan Royal Towers. $395 Sun deck, hot tubs.

laundry facilities. No pets. 776-3804.

bedroom basement apartment near City Park. 300 N. 11th, $300.

ham Hotel, 418 Poyntz. Studio apartment $340. Water/ trash paid. Laundry facilities on premis es. No pets. 776-3804.

AVAILABLE NOW at Ware

2 BEDROOMS

oom, $260,

110

For Rent-

Unfurnished

Water/ trash paid, with TV, washer/ dryer, and kitchen utensils. $500/ month. Call 587-9594.

to campus, one and one-half bath. $480/ month. No pets. Or one-bedroom $315/ month, 537-7542 before 9p.m.

lease, 537-8389.

ONE-BEDROOM

HOW TO PAY All classifieds must be paid in advance unless you have an established account with Student Publications. Cash, check, MasterCard

Call 532-6555 to place your classified.

OR WRITE: COLLEGIAN CLASSIFIEDS, K-State Collegian, Kedzie Hall 103, Manhattan, Kan. 66506

BULLETIN BOARD

Announcements

50 PERCENT off single sportscards! Just in-'94- '95 Basketball and Hockey. Bases Loaded Sportscards. Poyntz, 537-4141.

A KSU PHONE BOOK! It's the best way to keep in touch with friends dur-ing the holidays. Stop by 103 Kedzie to purchase. $2.25 students with ID, $3.25 faculty/ staff with ID and $4 other friends. CAMPUS other friends. CAMPUS OFFICES may purchase at the K-State Union Bookstore Office Sup-

S Financial Aid S

Attention All Students!
Over $5 Billion in FREE Financial Aid is now available for students
nationwide from private sector
grants & scholarships! All students are eligible regardless of grades,
income, or parent's income. For more information, call: 1-800-959-1605 ext. F57681

ADVANCED FLIGHT Train-ing from 5000-hour ATP instructor. Private single-engine through ATP multi-engine. Hugh Irvin, 539–3128.

ALL STUDENTS ATTEN-TION. Scholarships. grants, awards. Nation-wide search, current, ac-curate information. D&D Enterprises. (913)587-1802, ask for

COME FLY with us, K-State Flying Club has five air-planes. For best prices call Troy Brockway, 776-6735 after 5:30p.m.

MATURE FEMALE seeks quiet accommodations, private room, bath, spring semester, walk-ing distance to KSU, (816)753-2334 evenings.

SHIPPING UPS World Wide AA Pack-n-Ship, 225 McCall Rd.

Broke?

Earn $15 each time you donate plasma.

MANHATTAN BIOMEDICAL CENTER 1130 Gardenway 776-9177

-Fri. 9 s.m.-6:30 p.m., Sat. 9 s.m.-2 p.m.

Lost and Found

Found ads can be placed free for three

LOST A silver ring on Fri-day November 18 on campus. If found please call 587-9329. AVAILABLE JAN. 1, one Water, trash paid. No pets. 776-3804.

Parties-n-More

ADD A splash to your next bash. Great anytime. Birthdays, mid-terms and Wildcat victory par-ties. Wet-N-Wild Mobile room, two bath duplex at 606 Vattier. Available Dec. or second semes-ter. $800, $800 deposit 776-2102. Hot Tubs, 537-1825. ADD AN extra touch of class to your next par-ty. Call Wayne's Water Party to rent a portable FOR RENT Jan. 1: one-bed-room apartment two blocks from campus. Contact Christine at

ONE-BEDROOM, 1215 Thurston, $290

ONE-BEDROOM APART-MENT available Jan. 1. Close to campus. (913)456-2090 day, (913)456-8297 evenings.

ONE-BEDROOM AVAIL-ABLE in Dec. 1854 Cla-flin $350 one block north of campus. Laundry facilities. Water/ trash paid. 776-3804.

ONE-BEDROOMS AVAIL ABLE in January near campus. 1854- 1858 Cla-flin. $355- $380. Water/ trash paid. Laundry facilities. No pets. 776-

ONE-BEDROOMS AVAIL-ABLE at 1026 Sunset. $385- $395. Remodeled units. Central air/ heat. Laundry facilities. Three blocks west of campus. 776-3804.

STUDIOS AVAILABLE in Dec. at Wareham Hotel. 418 Poyntz. $320- $375. Water/ trash paid. Laun-dry facilities on premis-es. No pets. 776-3804.

THREE-BEDROOM AVAIL-ABLE now. 1503 Fairchild $425, second floor of house. Three blocks southeast of campus. Water/ trash paid. No pets. 776–3804.

THREE-BEDROOM, ONE RE-BEDROOM, ONE-HALF block from cam-pus. 1829 College Heights. Water/ trash paid. Laundry facilities on premises. No pets. 776-3804.

TWO-BEDROOM BASE-MENT, 1521 Leaven-worth, $290 bills paid, 539-8401.

TWO-BEDROOM BASE-MENT, 901 Moro, $360, bills paid, 539-8401. TWO-BEDROOM BASE-MENT apartment. Close to City Park. $300/ month starting Jan. 1. Call 537-2597.

TWO-BEDROOM NEAR City Park, available in Dec. 1026 Osage. $495. Water/ trash paid. Laun-dry facilities on premis-es. No pets. 776-3804.

TWO-BEDROOM NEAR City Park. 1026 Osage $495. Available in Jan. Water/ trash paid. Laun-dry facilities. No pets. 776-3804.

For Rent-Houses

AVAILABLE JAN, one-bedroom duplex, east of campus, laundry room $325, lease, deposit and utilities. 529–3672.

BIG BEAUTIFUL four-bedroom. Newly refur-nished, central air in new furnace. Furnished or unfurnished. Avail-able now, 1518 Hous-ton, 539-0527.

HOUSE ONE block from campus. Four-bed-rooms, formal dining room, one and one-half bathrooms. New high efficiency furnace and Available Dec. 1. No smoking or pets. 537-9686.

NON-DRINKER smoker, for two-bed-room place. No pets. References. 539-1554.

Roommate Wanted

$175 MONTH. Own room furnished, washer/ dry er, no year contract, cheap utilities. Call Brian (easy-going) 539-0853, leave mes-

$210, BIG room and close to campus. 537-9813.

1829 COLLEGE Heights. Available Jan. Male roommate wanted. Fur-nished, close to campus. $190/ month and one-fourth utilities. Call 539-6895.

AVAILABLE IMMEDIATE-LY at Chase Manhattan Apartments. Ground level, four-bedroom, furnished apartment. Share utilities and rent with three males. with three males. (913)742-2743 after

AVAILABLE NOW- female roommate needed-across the street from campus- own room/ own bathroom. Dec. rent free. Call 587-8430 for more details.

FEMALE NON-SMOKING roommate. To share one-third utilities and rent of a mobile home. Call between 1- 5p.m. Ask for Deborah,776-6042.

FEMALE ROOMMATE for three-bedroom house beginning in Jan. $200/ month plus one-third utilities; washer and dryer; close to campus. 776–1890.

FEMALE ROOMMATE to share spacious duplex by Westloop. $238/ month plus one-half utilities. Call 537-6017.

ALE ROOMMATE three-bedroom apart-ment, one-half block from campus. $215/ month plus one-third utilities. Great room mates, 539-3639.

FEMALE ROOMMATE
wanted immediately.
Two blocks from campus. $240/ month plus one-fourth utilities.
Nice well furnished
house, own room. house, own room. Please call 776-9548.

MALE ROOMMATE wanted to share spacious two-bedroom apartment. Starting Dec. 17– Jan. 1. Woodway apartments. Call 776–4901, leave mes-FEMALE

FEMALE ROOMMATE: three blocks from cam-pus, furnished, dish-washer. $210 plus half utilities. Call 587-9597.

FEMALE TO share fourbedroom/ two bath-room house. Spring and summer. Must like pets: Walking distance to campus 776-6052.

FEMALE TO share twobedroom apartment. $205/ month plus one-half utilities. Water and trash paid. Available im-mediately. 587–9679 or (913)263–2036.

FEMALE WANTED. Available immediately. Own room, $186/ month, one-fifth utilities. One-half block from campus. Washer/ dryer in house. Call 776-6509. FEMALES NEEDED to share nice three-bed-room apartment, one and one-half bath. $220 per person. Move-in end of Dec. Call 776-0293.

MALE NON-SMOKER, wented for spring se-mester, $131/ month. Water/ trash paid for. Call Eric at 587-8758.

MALE OR female room mate wanted. January 1 or sooner. Own room. Washer/ Dryer. $137.50/ month. All bills paid. Call 537-6023. Leave

MALE ROOMMATE need ed $172/ month plus one-fifth utilities. Call 776–8766.

MALE ROOMMATE need ed. $210/ month. One-third utilities. One-half block from campus. Two blocks from Ag-gieville. Very Nice. Call 537-3029.

MALE ROOMMATE need-ed. $175/ month. Own room. One-third utili-ties. Call Jeff at 776-0674.

MALE ROOMMATE, available now, rent $187.50 a month. One-fourth utilities. Call 537–1566. MALE STUDENT room-mate needed Jan. 1. $180 per month. 537-4186 Brad.

MALE. NON-SMOKER wanted for spring se-mester. Call 537-3555

MALES NEEDED for fourbedroom house by Jan. Large room, close to campus. Call 537-2054.

NEED MALE to complete a three-bedroom apartment. Close to campus- washer and dryer. $130 plus one-seventh utilities. Call after 4p.m., Call after 4p.m., 913-632-5211. NON-SMOKING FEMALE to share house, $250/ month, one-third utili-ties. Quiet, clean neigh-borhood. Must seel Evenings 587-0787.

NONSMOKING FEMALE needed to share nice needed to share nice quiet country home. Kitchen and living area fully furnished. Washer/dryer. Ten minutes from campus. All blacktop road. Available spring semester. (913)494-2391.

OWN ROOM. $200 per month plus one-fifth utilities. Close to campus. Call 587-0330. PERSON DESIRED to share my home, private fur-nished bedroom. 587-0076. ROOMMATE NEEDED for upperstory of house, close to campus, $190, one-third utilities. Call 587-9416. ROOMMATE WANTED im mediately to share one-forth rent and one-forth bills. Own room and bath. One-half block off campus. Call 776-5910.

Kenrick

ROOMMATE WANTED to share duplex with fe-male. Two- closet bed-room, basement, and half garage available. Close to KSU. Half or year lease, pets. $250. month. Call Eric at 587-0065.

BRING YOUR papers, resumes, and projects to life at The Computer Help Desk. Top- quality printing, with graphics if desired. Great stuff at ROOMMATE WANTED close to campus, wash-er/ dryer. Available Jan. 1 or sooner. $237.50

SERVICE

Resume/

Typing

DIRECTORY

great prices! Call 537-3018.

PROFICIENT IN WordPer-

Pregnancy Testing

Pregnancy

Testing Center

539-3338

plus one-half utilities, 537-3913. ROOMMATE WANTED. Beginning Jan. 1 Near campus washer and dryer. $195 plus one-half utilities. Own room. 537–2954.

ROOMMATE WANTED. Non-smoking male col-lege student needed to share nice two-bed-About 10 minute walk to campus. Close to Aggieville too. $210/month plus utilities. Sorry, no pets! Lease starts when you move in. Call John right away at 776–9559.

STARTS JAN. 1. No lease/ deposit. $150/ month. Two-bedroom base- Free pregnancy ment apartment. Non-smoker. Male/ female. After 5p.m./ leave mes-sage. Rena 537–0480. testing Totally confidential

THREE GUYS need fourth. Non-smoker, $140/ month plus one-fourth utilities. Own room, ·Same day results *Call for appointment parking, laundry, three blocks to KSU. blocks to 539-1025, Mark Located across from WANTED NON-SMOKING campus in and non-drinking room mate for basement fur-Anderson Village nished private bed-room. Walk to KSU. $150. Share utilities. 539-1554. Mon.-Fri. 9 a.m.-5 p.m.

WANTED ROOMMATES to share nice four-bed-room house for spring and/ or fall '95 semes-ters call Shauna (776-3130). Child Care

Automotive

Service. 22 years ex perience. Mazdas, Hon das and Toyotas also. Auto Craft, 2612 Dipper

MODELS NEEDED male

Repair

255

Other

Services

RESPONSIBLE PERSON needed to watch our one year old in our home, beginning in January. Walking dis-tance to campus. 776-6346.

AVAILABLE JAN. 1. Two bedroom apartment. One block from both Aggieville and Campus. Clean, spacious and has dishwasher. If interest-ed. Call 587–8172.

Sublease

AVAILABLE NOW. Dec. rent free. Big two-bed-room; balcony, pools, hot tub, Westloop area. Rent $435. Trash, water paid. Call Shannon, 587-8890. NISSAN- DATSUN Repair

FEMALE TO share three bedroom house, own room. Washer/ dryer. Two blocks from campus, Aggieville. $175, plus one-third utilities. 587-9224.

FOUR-BEDROOM, TWO bath, available Dec. or Jan. $ negotiable, 587-4120.

SPACIOUS— EIGHT-BED-ROOM house for sub-leases Jan. 1– July 31. Wood floors, two bath, washer/ dryer; walk to campus/ Aggieville; Next to City Park. De-posits paid. 539-3679.

Dec. 19. Nice one-bed-room apartment; one and one-half blocks from campus! Includes new kitchen appliances; central air; and laundry facility in building. $370 a month (water and trash paid). Call 587-1921.

SUBLEASE: ONE-BED-ROOM in three-bed-room house. $215/ month plus one-third utilities. Jan.— Aug. Matt 539-7472.

TWO-BEDROOM, CLOSE to campus, City Park, Aggieville. Available Jan. 1. Washer/ dryer/ dishwasher. Call

WOODWAY APARTMENT

ODWAY APARTMENT for sublease. Female roommate needed to sublease furnished apartment beginning Jan. 1 or sooner. $175/ month plus one-third utilities or best offer. If interested call 776-9587 recleave message.

587-8709.

SUBLEASE STARTING Dec. 19. Nice one-bed-and female models needed for haircut, color and perm educa-tional classes. These MALE NEEDED. Three-bedservices are at no charge. Please contact Hair Experts Design Team, M-F, 776-4455. room basement apartment available December. $165, one-fifth utilities, washer/ dryer. 587-8814, 532-6604 Tues., Thurs. ask for PROMPT CONTRACEPTIVE Bart or leave message and abortion services. Dale L. Clinton, M.D.,

ONE-BEDROOM NISHED apartment available Dec. 20. One block from campus and Aggieville. 776-5812 or 537-7542. (913)841-5716. ONE-BEDROOM IN a three E-BEDROOM IN a three-bedroom apartment, two blocks to campus. $220, mostly furnished. Move in after finals or Jan. 1. Leave message for Amy at 776–0293 or 776–7004.

EMPLOYMENT/ CAREERS

Help Wanted

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment/Career classification. Readers are advised to approach any such employment opportunity with reasonable caution. The Collegian urges our readers to contact the Better Business Bureau, 501 SE Jefferson, Topeka, KS 66607-1190. (913)232-0454.

$1500 WEEKLY possible mailing our circulars! No experience re-quired! Begin Now! For information call (202)298-8957.

ALASKA EMPLOYtry. Earn up to $3000- $6000 plus per month. Room and board! Transportation! Male/ Female. No ex perience necessary! (206)545-4155 ext. A57683.

CRUISE SHIPS NOW HIRING- Earn up to $2000 plus/ month
working on Cruise
Ships or Land- Tour
companies. World travel (Hawaii, Mexico, the Caribbean, etc.). Seasonal and full-time employment available. No experience necessary. experience necessary. For more information call (206)634-0468 ext. C57683.

JOB COACH: Part-time po 3 COACH: Part-time po-sition available imme-diately. Responsible for assisting, supervising and training individuals placed on a job site. Co-ordinates with client, Vocational Rehabilita-tion and employer. Must have high school education and varied competitive employcompetitive employ-ment experiences or be certified as a Job Coach, Please make in-quiry to Ted Harms, Pawnee Mental Health Services, 587-4333.

fect. Will do typing at night. Laser printer. Call Judy at 539-7100 or (913)456-9642. JON'S NOTES is accepting applications for note takers for next semes-ter. Receive $10 to 15 per lecture. If interest-ed, apply at 623 N. Man-hattan or call 587–8381.

NATIONAL JOBS- Over 25,000 openings! (including hotel staff, tour guides, etc.) Benefits plus bonuses! Apply now for best positions. Call: (206)545-4804 ext. NOW HIRING Students to work spring 1995 semester fee payment Jan. 9 and 10, 1995 Contact Tammie Campbell at 210 Willard Hall.

PART-TIME CLEANING job. Saturdays and Sun-days, eight hours and possibly other days. Call 776-7637, Janice

PART-TIME RETAIL. Out going person to sell lighting/ stockroom, break and spring, good experience for right person, bring your schedule, see Cheryl Endacott Lighting 309 Moro, 776-4472.

SKI RESORT JOBS- Hir ing for many positions for winter quarter. Over 15,000 open-ings! For more information call (206)634-0469 ext

Printer and typewriter supplies at low prices Mid-America Office Supplies 539-8982 Office Supplies

STUDENT OFFICE Help Need mature, responsi-ble student able to work at least 20 hours a week, including sum mers. Job entails con siderable typing, includ-ing text input for publi-cations and filing sys-tem as well as phone work calling funding agencies. Computer ex-perience essential. Re-quires polished phone manner and ability to work with public. Must be able to work inde-pendently. Contact Bev-erly at 532–5045, Pre-Award Services, Fairchild Hall.

AL Encyclopedias, leather bound, brand new, still in the box, IREE RESEARCH Ass tant positions in the De-partment of Grain Sci-ence and Industry Three full-time posigreat Christmas gift! Very cheap! 776-7934. tions, temporary. Ex-perience in laboratory work and instrumental methods desired. Will be responsible for using and maintaining general laboratory equipment, routine laboratory analysis and quality related re-search. Qualifications: search. Qualifications:
B.S. degree in Grain
Science, Agronomy Biology, Biochemistry,
Chemistry, Biochemistry or Food Science.
Send resume, transcript and two letters of reference by Dec. 18,
1994 Starting data lan 1994. Starting date Jan. 18, 1995. Please send to 18, 1995. Please send to Dr. George Lookhart, US Grain Marketing Research Laboratory, 1515 College Ave. Manhattan, KS 66502. Kansas State University is an Equal Opportunity Employer. KSU encouraging the send of GRABAR BICYCLE rack, Early Birds:

employees.

If you're reliable and you enjoy earlymorning work, apply now for a Spring 1995 carrier position with the Kansas State Collegian.

If interested, please make sure you have classes no earlier than 9:30 a.m. ...... Applications available in 103 Kedzie.

Deadline is 4 p.m. Wednesday, Dec. 7. WANTED: STUDENT Em-ployees for immediate openings in the follow-ing areas: scholarships.

loans, and reception area. Contact the Office of Student Financial Assistance, 104 Fairchild. WORK IN beautiful Colorado mountains this sum-mer at Cheley Colorado Camps summer pro-gram. R.N.s; drivers; secretaries; wranglers; nanny; kitchen; song leaders; riding, hiking, backpacking, sports, crafts counselors. Campers age 9-17. Room and board, cash salary, travel allowance. Our 74th summer! secretaries: wranglers

Must be at least 19 to apply. Applicants will be notified of campus interview date. Apply to Cheley Colorado Camps; Box 6525, Denver, Colora 80206, (303)377-3616.

Volunteers Needed

HELP NEEDED with a research project. You can work at home and make some money for Christmas break. Call 537-8604 for more de-tails ask for Thomas or

330 Business Opportunities

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment/Career classification. Readers are advised to approach any such business opportunity with reasonable caution. The Collegian urges our readers to contact the Better Business Bureau, 501 SE Jefferson, Topeka, KS 66607-1190. (913)232-0454.

MAKE $3900 first month. Telecommuni-cations Company excations Company ex-panding into area. Needs managers, sales reps, trainers. Small in-vestment reqired. Train-ing provided. Call Jea-neane (800)977–6836 for interview.

NEED EXTRA $ for college and have fun at the same time? Help us distribute our catalogs as ound campus. U get commissions on each order, There's no sell-ing required. Call Stuff Catalog @ 1-800-STUFF-OK.

Items for Sale

ACADEMIC INTERNATION-

AIWA PORTABLE radio. CD and cassette player. Clarion 6X9 car speak ers with box and and Rockford amplifier. Price negotiable! Call 539-6639, ask for Shellev or leave message.

GOVERNMENT SURPLUSwool socks and gloves, overcoats, field jackets, G.I. boots, camouflage clothing, sleeping clothing, sleeping bags, overshoes. Also CARHARTT Workwear. Open Mon.— Sat. 9– 5. Open Sunday till Christ-mas 12– 4. St. Marys Surplus (913)437-2734. Sales mounts to most trunks/ hatchbacks, holds and locks two bikes, good shape. Call 539-9540 HALF CARAT diamond ring in 18 carat gold

Huge savings at $1150. Call 537-2485. NEW JUSTIN Ladies Red Lacers 8.5B; ladies 11/12, 13/14 jeans; la-dies 12, 14 blouses 539-0873, leave mes-

Furniture to Buy/Sell

after 5p.m.

sage.

KING SIZE waterbed with bookcase, mirror head board; 80 percent wave-less Land and Sky mat-tress; like new 776–1986

Antiques

TIME MACHINE Antique Maul and Geeb Empori-um, 6000 square feet, antiques, collectibles, estate jewelry, furni-ture, 4910 Skyway Dr four blocks east of Man hattan Airport. Open Tues.- Sat. 12- 6p.m. 539-4684.

Computers

MACINTOSH COMPUT ER. Complete sys-tem including print tem including printer only $500. Call Chris et (800)289-5685.

Pets and Supplies

450

EMERGENCY: PUPPIES and dogs all ages and breeds, desperately need homes immediate ly or will be destroyed (913)456–2592, (913)494–8415.

Stereo Equipment

ALPINE 3321 11-band equalizer, Alpine 160 watt four channel am-plifier, two Kenwood 100 watt 6X9, two Pioneer 150 watt 5 1/2 speakers, $500 or best offer 539-3726.

PRECISION POWER car amp 4 ch 200 watt, like new $300, 537-7608.

Automobiles

85 VW Scirocco. 79K miles. Loaded, excellent condition. $2000 or best offer. 539-7890. 1970 MERCEDES Benz four-door, $995, new paint. Excellent condi-tion, except water pump. See Highway 77, 198 marker, 27 miles 1983 HONDA Accord, four door, automatic, air, stereo, cruise. Excellent

$1685. Call 776-3410, eave message. 1993 PONTIAC Grand AM

SE, two-door, Quad four, five-speed equipped, 26K, $11,900-negotiable, 587-9284.

Bicycles

SCHWINN MOUNTAIN bike. Price negotiable. Call 539-6513.

TRAVEL/ TRIPS

Tour Packages

Spring Cancun from $359 Jamaicafrom $399

Florida from $129 STS TAY 120 N. Autora St., Bhacca, NV 14850

Toll free 1-800-648-4849 STS is looking for individuals to help promote trips on campus. Call today for more information!!!

A LOT CAN BE SAID ABOUT A LITTLE BIT OF SPACE: It works

KANSAS STATI OLLEGIAN Classifieds 532-6555

> GET WORD OUT

COLLEGIAN CLASSIFIEDS

532-6556

Not enough time on your hands to get everything done? Check the Classifieds service directory.

OLLEGIAN

Kedzie 103 532-6555

Group to use meeting as forum

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

Prior to this decision, the halls were not allowed to bring up those issues during general meetings, he said.

The KSUARH wants to address concerns in general meetings rather than in individual meetings because it gives all of the halls a voice, KSUARH president Lin Bliss said.

Bliss also said another reason for the use of the general meeting as a forum for issues like Marlatt's secession was to open the lines of communication between the halls.

Marlatt's HGB saw its withdrawal from KSUARH as a way to bring the communication breakdown into light, Vanschenkof said.

wound them to pay attention to what they were doing to the halls," he said.

Since the threat to secede,

Vanschenkof said Marlatt would still like to see some changes made in KSUARH, but now they are

"We're going to let the past be in

ARH devises better ways to communicate

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

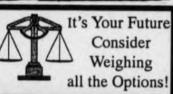

and not what we think they want." Some halls have raised concerns about the outcome of the possible

Marlett secession. precedent that if halls have a problem, they would leave instead of trying to work it out instead,"

To keep problems from getting out of hand, the KSUARH has devised ways for reaching out to the

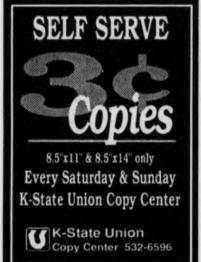

Presidents College School of Law

Call or write for a FREE catalog and admission material.

115 South Glendale • Suite 208 Wichita, Kansas 67218 (316)682-0000

Cash Pawn & Gun, Inc. is having a holiday "Ask For It" Sale!!

> We'll give you a 20% discount off all Sega & Nintendo games through New Year's, but only if you ask for it. 1917 Ft. Riley Blvd.

Come to Kearby's Restaurant

Homecooked Food

- · All you can eat buffet, salad & dessert bar
- Full menu
- Fast & friendly service

Hrs. Tues. - Sat. 11a.m. - 9p.m. Sun. 10a.m. - 2p.m. 539-1332

Restaurant Highway 24 East

"A lot of the original problem was simply communication.

"We did what we did to wound

Vanschenkof said he sees a change

"The meetings are becoming more hall friendly," he said. "I feel that the executive board is beginning to vote more for the residents instead of just for looking for a common ground.

the past," he said.

halls to build communication. "In the concern to get the what the residents actually want information about ARH out, we're compiling notebooks to keep at

The notebooks would contain all "If they secede, it might set the of the KSUARH general-meeting minutes and executive board each hall's front desk," Bliss said.

minutes, as well as the office hours for the executive-board members, Bliss said

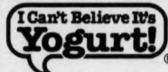

We stress for people to come and talk to us," Bliss said. "We're here to listen.

The halls see the one-on-one contact as a positive move.

4,000 concentration programs . more than 1,000 graduate schools over 300 credentialling programs • 500 professional organizations plus: school catalog service . . . we send the catalogs to you!

Why spend hours researching what school has what concentration, in what area of the country. We have all the information right here, the most extensive database available, and we even mail you the catalogs from the schools you choose. Information packets are available for students and resource centers.

2210 Mt. Carmel Avenue, Suite 110, Dept. 10-5 Glenside, PA 19038 (215) 572-7670 FAX (215) 576-8354

11th & Moro - Aggieville 537-1616

Buy One, Get One Free! Buy one cup or cone and receive one of equal value FREE with this coupon. New Hours: 7 a.m. - 11 p.m. Daily

10 a.m. - 11 p.m. Sunday

'No Coupon" Specials

(NO coupon needed, NONE accepted)

Pizza Shuttle 776-5577

We can provide sound, lighting and live bands for your party. Graphics with lights.

> For more INFORMATION and BOOKINGS Call 776-7726

want real experience? need real dough?

apply for a position with

Collegian Advertising

The Kansas State Collegian is now accepting applications for advertising positions. The deadline for these applications is 5 p.m. Wednesday, Nov. 30.

Collegian Advertising is hiring:

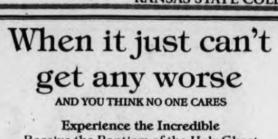

- · sales representatives
- · promotions manager
- · graphic artists
- · assistant promotions
- · tearsheets manager
- · and more

You can be in any major to work at Collegian Advertising. Job descriptions are available in 103 Kedzie Hall. All applications afe available in and should be returned to 103 Kedzie Hall. Please include supporting materials with your application.

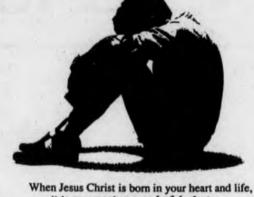

Don't miss this opportunity to work on the award-winning sixth largest morning daily in Kansas.

Receive the Baptism of the Holy Ghost

it is an amazing, wonderful, glorious, dynamic experience. It will be your moment of ULTIMATE DELIVERANCE Experience HIM today!

WE CARE the Saint of Treedom Mine

HEY BABE, TAKE AW

SUBWAY POSTERS TAPESTRIES INCENSE BEADS CREATE YOUR OWN JEWELRY T-SHIRTS-TIE DYES GUAT. CLOTHING BAJAS

JAMAICAN STYLES SOPHISTO FUCT PERVERT SKUNK KILLER LOOPS SKATEBOARD ACCESSORIES

ON THE WILD SIDE 1128 MORO 776-BAJA MON.-FRI.11-7, THURS. 11-8 SAT. 10-6, SUN. NOON-5

DECEMBER 27, 1994-JANUARY 10, 1995

GRATEFUL DEAD

MERCHANDISE

Intersession registration is December 6 at Enrollment Services, 217 Willard Hall and December 7 at 131 College Court from 8:30 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. both days. Beginning December 8 through the first day of class, individuals may register in person at 131 College Court, from 8:00 a.m. to 6:00 p.m. Phone, mail, and audit registrations will be accepted beginning December 8, phone 532-5566 or 1-800-432-8222, Continuing Education Registration Office, 131 College Court, Kansas State University, Manhattan, Kansas 66506-6001. Tuition for on-campus coursework will be $67 per undergraduate resident credit; $95 per graduate resident credit; $245 per undergraduate nonresident credit; $284 per graduate nonresident credit; plus $.87 per day for student services. Off-campus coursework will be $75 per undergraduate credit and $112 per graduate credit.

To request an Intersession schedule with complete course descriptions and prerequisites, please call 532-5566 or visit 131 College Court.

| Course #  | Credit                                                                                                                                                                                             | Ref. #                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   | Dates                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           | Times                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
|-----------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| ASI 661   | 2 UG/G                                                                                                                                                                                             | 94100                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    | Jan 3-10                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        | 8:30 am-1:15 pm                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| GRSC 701  | 1 UG/G                                                                                                                                                                                             | 94143                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    | Jan. 2-6                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        | 8:00 am-4:30 pm                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| ARCH 704  | 2 UG/G                                                                                                                                                                                             | 94102                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    | Dec 27-Jan 10                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   | 1:00–5:00 pm                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| IAR 406   | 2 UG                                                                                                                                                                                               | 94103                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    | Dec 27-Jan 10                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   | 6:00-9:00 pm                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| IAR 406   | 2 UG                                                                                                                                                                                               | 94104                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    | Dec 27-Jan 10                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   | 2:00-5:00 pm                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| LAR 440   | 2 UG                                                                                                                                                                                               | 94105                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    | Dec 27-Jan 6                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    | 8:30-11:30 am                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| LAR 635   | 2 UG/G                                                                                                                                                                                             | 94106                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    | Dec 29-Jan 9                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    | 9:00 am-3:00 pm                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| LAR 735   | 2 UG/G                                                                                                                                                                                             | 94107                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    | Dec 29-Jan 9                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    | 1:00-5:00 pm                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| LAR 741   | 2 G                                                                                                                                                                                                | 94108                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    | Dec 27-Jan 6                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    | 8:30-11:30 am                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| PLAN 630  | 1-2 UG/G                                                                                                                                                                                           | 94109                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    | Dec 28-31 1 cr;Dec 28-Jan 10 2 cr                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           | 1:00-5:30 pm                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| GERON 610 | 3 UG/G                                                                                                                                                                                             | 94110                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    | Dec 30-Jan 10                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   | Sa 12/31 8-noon,M-F 5:00-9:00 pmSa 1/7 8:00 am-6:00 pm                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
| ENGL 150  | 2 UG                                                                                                                                                                                               | 94111                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    | Dec 26-Jan 8                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    | 8:00 am-10:00 pm                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
|           |                                                                                                                                                                                                    |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 | 9:00 am-11:40 am                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
|           |                                                                                                                                                                                                    |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 | 7:00-9:30 pm                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| 11101 105 | 500                                                                                                                                                                                                | ,444                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 | 8:00 am-10:00 pm                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| HIST 507  | 2 UG                                                                                                                                                                                               | 94114                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 | 1:00-4:00 pm                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
|           |                                                                                                                                                                                                    |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 | 9:00 am-12:30 pm                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
|           |                                                                                                                                                                                                    | 2000                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 | 7:00-9:30 pm                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| 11131 703 | 30                                                                                                                                                                                                 | 24110                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 | 8:00 am-10:00 pm                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| MATH 388  | 2 UG                                                                                                                                                                                               | 94117                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    | Dec 27-Jan 10                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   | 12:30–3:00 pm                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
|           | ASI 661GRSC 701ARCH 704IAR 406IAR 406LAR 440LAR 635LAR 735LAR 741PLAN 630GERON 610ENGL 150GEOG 490HIST 103HIST 507HIST 598HIST 703 | ASI 661 2 UG/G GRSC 701 1 UG/G ARCH 704 2 UG/G IAR 406 2 UG IAR 406 2 UG LAR 440 2 UG LAR 635 2 UG/G LAR 735 2 UG/G LAR 741 2 G PLAN 630 1-2 UG/G GERON 610 3 UG/G  ENGL 150 2 UG GEOG 490 2 UG HIST 507 2 UG HIST 598 2 UG HIST 703 3 G | ASI 661 2 UG/G 94100 GRSC 701 1 UG/G 94143 ARCH 704 2 UG/G 94102  IAR 406 2 UG 94103 IAR 406 2 UG 94104 LAR 440 2 UG 94105 LAR 635 2 UG/G 94106 LAR 735 2 UG/G 94107 LAR 741 2 G 94108 PLAN 630 1-2 UG/G 94109  GERON 610 3 UG/G 94110  ENGL 150 2 UG 94111 GEOG 490 2 UG 94112 HIST 507 2 UG 94113  HIST 507 2 UG 94114 HIST 598 2 UG 94115 HIST 703 3 G 94116 | ASI 661 2 UG/G 94100 Jan 3-10 GRSC 701 1 UG/G 94143 Jan. 2-6 ARCH 704 2 UG/G 94102 Dec 27-Jan 10  IAR 406 2 UG 94103 Dec 27-Jan 10 IAR 406 2 UG 94104 Dec 27-Jan 10 LAR 440 2 UG 94105 Dec 27-Jan 10 LAR 635 2 UG/G 94106 Dec 29-Jan 9 LAR 735 2 UG/G 94107 Dec 29-Jan 9 LAR 741 2 G 94108 Dec 27-Jan 6 PLAN 630 1-2 UG/G 94109 Dec 28-Jan 10 GERON 610 3 UG/G 94110 Dec 30-Jan 10  ENGL 150 2 UG 94111 Dec 30-Jan 10  ENGL 150 2 UG 94112 Dec 27-Jan 10 HIST 507 2 UG 94114 Dec 27-Jan 10 HIST 598 2 UG 94115 Jan 2-10 HIST 703 3 G 94116 Dec 13-15 Jan 2-9 |

MATH 388 Pre-req: one of the following: (1) Junior or higher standing; (2) at least 9 credit hours in Math, Physics or Computer Science (any combination) in courses numbered 200 or higher; (3) any one of PHILO 125, 140, 215, 220 and at least 4 credit hours in Math, Physics, Computer Science (any combination) in courses numbered 200 or higher; (4) any one of PHYS 451, PSYCH 460 or 630, or CIS 301. Exceptionally well-read freshmen and sophomores who lack the formal prerequisites may be given the instructor's permission to enroll.

| Hebrew (Ivrit) for Beginners         | MLANG 110      | 2 UG   | 94118 | Dec 27-Jan 10      | 3:00-5:00 pm         |
|--------------------------------------|----------------|--------|-------|--------------------|----------------------|
| Prob: England Study Tour             | FINAN 498      | 2 UG   | 94119 | Jan 2-10           | 8:00 am-10:00 pm     |
| Administrative Communications        | GENBA 391      | 3 UG   | 94120 | Dec 27-Jan 10      | 1:00-5:00 pm         |
| Prob: Intro to Business              | GENBA 498      | 1 UG   | 94121 | Jan 3-5            | 9:00 am-2:30 pm      |
| Introduction to Total Quality        | MANGT 300      | 1 UG   | 94122 | Jan 6-7            | 1/6, 4:00-10:00 pm   |
| Management—Global Emphasis           |                |        |       |                    | 1/7, 8:00 am-5:00 pm |
| IS: Computer Applications            | MANGT 498      | 3 UG   | 94123 | Dec 27-Jan 10      | 5:15-10:00 pm        |
| Topics: Leadership for Practitioners | MANGT 897      | 3 G    | 94124 | Dec 27-Jan 10      | 4:30-7:30 pm         |
|                                      |  |        |       | & varying schedule |                      |
| IS: Personal Selling                 | MKTG 498       | 2 UG   | 94125 | Jan 3-10           | 6:00-9:30 pm         |
| Study Skills Laboratory              | DED 051        | 2 UG   | 94126 | Jan 2-10           | 4:30-8:30 pm         |
| Career Life Planning                 | EDCEP 502      | 2 UG   | 94127 | Jan 3-10           | 8:30 am-12:40 pm     |
| Topics: Stress Management            | EDCEP 786      | 2 UG/G | 94128 | Jan 3-10           | 4:00-7:30 pm         |
| IS: Teacher Assistant Program        | EDEL 502       | 1-2 UG | 94129 | Jar. 2-11          | 7:00 am-3:00 pm      |
| 1S: Motivating Students              | EDACE 502      | 1 UG/G | 94130 | Jan 3-10           | 7:00-8:00 pm on 1/3  |
|                                      |                | 4 2262 |       | 1000               | & by appt.           |
| IS: Teacher Assistant Program        | EDSEC 502      | 1 UG   | 94131 | Jan 2-11           | 7:00 am-3:00 pm      |
| Introduction to Total Quality        | DEN 300 | 1 UG   | 94132 | Jan 6-7            | 1/6, 4:00-10:00 pm   |
| Management—Global Emphasis           | DEITOG         |        |       |                    | 1/7, 8:00 am-5:00 pm |
| CAD in Engineering and Construction  | ARE 311        | 2 UG   | 94133 | Dec 27-Jan 10      | 8:00-noon            |
| Transportaion Planning               | CE 570         | 2 UG   | 94134 | Dec 27-Jan 10      | 5:30 pm-9:00 pm      |
| Personal Computer Applications       | CIS 115        | 3 UG   | 94135 | Dec 27-Jan 10      | 8:00 am-noon         |
| Personal Computer Applications       | CIS 115        | 3 UG   | 94136 | Dec 27-Jan 10      | 1:00-5:00 pm         |
| Topics: C for UNIX Programming       | CIS 490        | 2 UG   | 94137 | Dec 27-Jan 10      | 1:30-4:30 pm         |
| Prob: Arts & Arch. in England        | IDH 782        | 2 UG/G | 94138 | Dec 26-Jan 8       | 8:00 am-8:00 pm      |
| Topics: HACCP in Food Systems        | FN 782         | 2 UG/G | 94139 | Jan 3-10           | 8:30 am-1:15 pm      |
| Coping with Life Crises              | HDFS 603       | 3 UG/G | 94140 | Dec 27-Jan 10      | 8:00 am-noon         |
| Pediatric Speech-Language            | HDFS 700       | 1 UG/G | 94141 | Jan 3-6            | 4:00-7:10 pm         |
| Assessment: Baby Talk                | , 11010        |        |       |                    |                      |
| Attention Deficit Disorder           | HDFS 704       | 1-UG/G | 93222 | Jan 3-6            | 4:00-7:00 pm         |

Division of Continuing Education

WINTERDANCE

The Kansas Repertory Dance Company presents WinterDance '94.

WEATHER - PAGE 2

DECEMBER 1, 1994

KANSAS STATE UNIVERSITY, MANHATTAN, KANSAS 66506

VOLUME 99B, NUMBER 69

► HOUSING

Edwards Hall will close; offices to open

DEANA TESKE

The residents of Edwards Hall no longer have a place to call home after the spring semester has ended. K-State proposed to convert the facility from a residence hall to an office complex, effective July 1, 1994, Tom Rawson, vice president for administration and finance, said Wednesday during an informal meeting at Edwards Hall.

Administrators involved with the conversion answered questions from about 20 residents.

Rawson explained that academic facilities on campus, like faculty offices and arts and sciences departments, were overcrowded because of the steady increase of students and a need for increased faculty members.

"There are two to three faculty members in one office," he said.

The goal of the conversion is to place non-academic support groups in Edwards to ease the pressure on academic facilities on campus, Rawson said.

Edwards was picked for the conversion because of its unusual

It was constructed as a residence hall for student athletes in 1967 and ■ See RESIDENTS Page 7

► CAMPUS

Students offer money ideas

Tonight's vote will decide money's future

TERRY SCRUTON

If $17,000 just fell into your lap, what would you do with it?

That's the problem the Student Governing Association has had to deal with this semester. An accidental overcharge of $17,000 was collected through a 50-cent overcharge in August, and Senate will be voting tonight on how to spend the money.

Several students have ideas on how to spend the money, which according to state law must be used for a one-time expense.

"I think they should use it for something everybody can use, something tangible," Greg Clamons, senior in English, said.

"Maybe a tribute to somebody or buy some pieces for the new art museum."

"I think they should refund our money," Lance Stowell, senior in biology and education, said. "If they had undercharged us, they'd be saying we owed them the money, so they should give it back," John Smith, freshman undecided, said. Most said that the money should be used to give something back to the students.

"Any project that would benefit students in general would be good," Mike Wilson, sophomore in social work, said.

"Maybe some bike racks or work on outside study areas."

"They should use it for magazine subscriptions for the library," Jennifer Smith, senior in English, said.

"It could help make the library a better

"They should get some new desks for classrooms," Michelle Hafner, sophomore in elementary education, said. Many students said they felt the money should go toward solving the parking problem.

"I think they should look into parking the most," Ron Hardin, senior in architectural engineering, said. "We need more parking spaces for students and faculty.'

"They should buy more bike racks," Julie Barker, junior in secondary education, said.

"It would help solve some of the parking problem."

MARK LEFFINGWELL/Collegia

Christy, 3, asks her mother, Crystal White, about something she sees from a window. Crystal and Christy live together in the Manhattan Emergency Shelter.

Getting by TOGETHER

Mother, daughter use shelter to get their lives back together

CRISTINA JANNEY

This is the third part of a series about the people who live and work at the Manhattan Emergency Shelter.

Christy clutches her small fingers around her favorite Power Ranger and climbs onto her mother's lap. She's shy.

Christy, 3, and her mother, Crystal White, live together with another mother and her children at the Manhattan Emergency Shelter.

"It is harder for her because she doesn't have as much freedom as she used to," White said as she tries to balance Christy in her lap.

"She doesn't have her own room to play in, and she has to play quiet." White, 21, is raising her daughter on her own. She and Christy are not in contact with Christy's father. "It is hard being the only parent,"

White said. "There is no one else to support you. If I get angry with her, I can't tell her to go see Daddy. I have to deal with her myself." But White said she enjoys not having to share her daughter with anyone. "When she does something for the first time, I don't have to share it with anyone. I am here to see it," she said.

The family came to the shelter a month ago when they were evicted from their apartment in Junction City.

"Our landlord gave me 15 days to find another place. I owed some money and couldn't come up with it, so we came here," White said.

Crystal and Christy's days start with chores, followed by a walk to the park to let Christy run off some of her energy. White does not have a car, and she and Christy walk wherever they go.

The afternoons are usually consumed by the job hunt.

White graduated in February from the

■ See JOB Page 7

THANKS

If you contribute canned goods, toiletries or household products to the homeless through the Collegian, you will receive $1 off any classified ad in the Collegian through the end of December. Contributions go to the Mahattan Emergency Shelter and the Flint Hills Breadbasket, in an attempt to help people such as those spotlighted in this series.

▶ CAMPUS

$50 investment grew to 1st educational radio station

SERA L. TANK

to coast.

The radio station that has serenaded and informed K-State for years is celebrating its 70th anniversary today.

KKSU-AM 580 started as a $50 investment for three 1924 faculty members and grew into Kansas' first educational broadcasting network. KKSU, originally named KSAC, was first broadcast coast

"The station now covers the entire state of Kansas and some parts of Iowa, Nebraska and Oklahoma, so we really have a large coverage area," Susan Mintert, producer for KKSU, said.

Jack Burke, station manager for KKSU from 1958 to 1991, said the station has had such success because it has always remained true to its original goals.

"We've always had information people could use, even when a lot of the older stations were classical jukeboxes. Our agriculture and family living, emphasis was on service," he KKSU has always been service-oriented, rather than culturally oriented, Burke said.

"We're doing much the same thing that we have always done, in that it is an informationoriented station," he said.

KKSU is part of the College of Agriculture's Department of Communication, so the station has always covered topics in Mintert said.

"We cover just about everything," she said.

Mintert also said that despite KKSU's affiliation with the College of Agriculture, it will always try to stick with covering the University as a whole. 'We take our mission and obligation to the University very, very seriously," she said. Burke said KKSU has improved through the years.

"The quality is getting better and better, because there are more resources and program services available," he said

This week, KKSU will be broadcasting some special programming in celebration of its anniversary.

'We'll be doing some historical programs that look back on radio nostalgia. We'll be digging into our archives and finding some old comedy and classics," she said.

▶ GOVERNMENT

GATT will affect Kansas agriculture

The Senate will soon be voting to accept or reject the General Agreement on Tariffs and Kansans want to know what GATT means for them.

"I think the consensus is that U.S. agriculture will gain," Patrick Gormely, professor of economics, said.

With European subsidies decreasing, the agricultural production of those countries will decline. Europeans will have less surplus to export, increasing the market for U.S. products, he said.

GATT has been around for almost 50 years, Gormely said. The most recent round of talks was delayed for three years because Europe and the United States could not agree on agricultural

GATT should benefit Kansas because of our dependence on agriculture, Neelima Gogumalla, director of the International Trade Institute, said. Gogumalla said NAFTA created a protectionist region that possibly made GATT null for the United States. She said the United States, Canada and Mexico can be happy for another 100 years with NAFTA.

"As soon as NAFTA passed, we weren't as interested in GATT," Gogumalla said.

The NAFTA countries have been discussing extending NAFTA to include Argentina and Chile. The global market, however, means all countries are trade interdependent. GATT gives countries a place to discuss trade issues openly.

"It's an international forum for countries to discuss their trade," Gogumalla said. The GATT talks began in 1988, she said. GATT is a place to discuss economic and political issues as they affect trade. It is important to remember that GATT is just a forum, not an enforcing organization, she said. Nearly 98 countries participated in the talks, and 30 signed the standard codes set up by GATT. All countries present at the talks may listen to what other countries are talking about and try to participate in their negotiations, Gogumalla said.

Agreements made during GATT talks will be documented, she said. Agreements may be bilateral or multilateral, but they do not have to be signed by all of the countries involved in the GATT talks. Only those countries that make the agreement must sign it.

Through GATT, the larger countries help smaller countries become more economically sound, she said.

Countries that form agreements during GATT talks must rely on mutual friendship to honor the agreements. Countries must make and enforce the agreements themselves.

Countries cannot make demands on imported products that they do not impose on those products made domestically, Gormely said.

"What countries agree to do is not to put in place rules and regulations that discriminate against possible importable products," Gormely

Trade barriers go far beyond tariffs in some cases, Gogumalla said.

Germany requires all packaging to be recyclable, she said. The manufacturer or the distributer is responsible for the recycling of packaging and not the consumer.

Germany will only trade with a country that has recycling regulations as strict as their own.

One of the areas GATT is trying to facilitate is uniform safety and health standards and environmental codes. Universal packaging, marking and labeling are also important. English would probably be used for labeling because more people speak the language, Gogumalla

NEWS BRIEFS

► RUSSIAN MINISTER TO DISCUSS DEMOCRATIC, CAPITALIST TRANSITION

A member of Boris Yeltsin's cabinet will speak on the development of the Russian Federation at 10:30 a.m. today in the Union Little Evgeny Tkachenko (pronounced Tuk-chink-o) is the minister of education in the Russian Federation and will discuss "Russia at the Crossroads.

Emmett Wright, professor of education, is coordinating the minister's

"Tkachenko will be speaking about those issues that the Russian Federation needs to move through to reach full democratic and economic status," Wright said.

Wright said this time in the Russian Federation's development is crucial.

"They are going through the beginning of the process of being ruled by laws," Wright said. "And this is obviously quite different than what they had before - before laws, when they were ruled by a totalitarian system.

Wright said that in order to make this transition, education is of vital

"Their economic development, their social development and their political development are all linked to changes in the educational system," he said.

Tkachenko will also speak about the different cooperative initiatives that have been formulated between Kansas and his region of Voronezh, Russia, a region 270 miles south of Moscow

"We have all agreed in principle to a whole number of ventures,"

"We've agreed on an emphasis on rural education, and we're also looking at distance education between schools, where satellite capabilities can be used," he said.

Wright said there is a joint project planned in writing textbooks. "We'd like to write a

Russian/English textbook about our two cultures in years past, and we could use that as a core for learning about each other," he said. "Also, we've thought about swapping teachers, and that's an example of where we can learn from each other." This is the first time a region-toregion agreement has been worked out, Wright said, and in light of this accomplishment, the signing of a Memorandum of Understanding will

"A number of people will be signing this Memorandum of Understanding," Wright said, "And this really is a broad agreement beyond education."

People who will sign the Memorandum include Gov. Joan Finney, K-State President Jon Wefald, the chair of the Kansas Board of Regents, the chair of the State of Kansas Board of Education and the secretary of the Kansas Board of Agriculture, Wright said.

Also, a special presentation will be given to Tkachenko during his visit to Kansas, Mary Christie-Cupp, Wright's secretary, said. "A certificate of appreciation will be given to Tkachenko to thank him," Christie-Cupp said. "It is in recognition of his efforts to enhance students' endeavors in various learning environments around the world," she said.

STEFFANY CARREL

EXPERT ON STAPH VIRUS RECEIVES FACULTY AWARD, RESEARCH GRANT

Everyone will catch a case of staphylococcus aureus at least twice, said a microbiologist and expert on the bacteria.

John landolo received the 1994 Conoco Distinguished Graduate Faculty Member award in May.

He delivered the lecture on the virus, "Staphylococcus aureus: You had it once, you'll get it again - but this time we may not be able to help," Wednesday in K-State Union

212. Timothy Donoghue, vice provost and dean of the Graduate School, said landolo is the only Kansas scientist to receive a $1-million, 10-year merit award to fund his research.

"He's a truly excellent citizen of the University," Donoghue said. landolo said staphylococcus aureus is more commonly known as a staph infection. "Staphylococcus means 'a bunch of grapes because the bacteria grows in clusters." he said.

Some afflictions caused by staphylococcus infections include pimples, boils, toxic shock syndrome, food poisoning, meningitis, arthritis, pneumonia and heart-valve infections, he said.

"All adults have antibodies against this bacteria," landolo said. "It affects mostly young people."

He said people most susceptible to staph infection are newborns, persons with traumatic wounds, burns or skin lesions, and persons with diabetes, cancer or cystic fibrosis.

"The bacteria can gain entry through scratches, by mosquitoes and can be passed in stools," landolo said.

"The onset of the infection lasts 30 minutes to one hour and recovery may take 24 hours or more," he said. "And there is no treatment for landolo said staphylococcus is specifically due to a toxin.

"It secretes toxins into the surrounding environment, and then they damage cells, allowing it to gain entry into blood vessels and organs," he said.

landolo said a nodule may form on the body, full of bugs and puss.

"Occasionally, it will break out and will cause infections in many other organs, which is very difficult to treat," he said. landolo said staphylococcus is resistant to nearly every antibiotic, including penicillin and tetracycline. The overuse of antibiotics has lowered resistance to these organisms that were easily treatable.

"To develop new strategies to treat staph, it's important to look at the regulatory mechanisms that are responsible for the expression of these things, from the standpoint of being able to intervene in the regulation of those toxin genes and prevent the production of enzymes of these toxins in animals," he said.

He said this kind of strategy has only been made possible in the last couple of years.

Michael Hays, microbiologist in the department of pathology and microbiology, said the lecture was interesting and informative.

"It's quite an opportunity to hear a world-renowned scientist," he said.

LOUIS AND LOUIS

These reports are taken directly from the daily logs of the K-State and Riley County Police departments. Because of space constraints, not all crimes are listed.

K-STATE POLICE

TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 29

At 10:29 a.m., Michelle involved in a vehicle accident. Wolfrom and Kirk Ives were Damage was less than $500.

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 30

At 10:18 a.m., Matt Kohler reported a theft in Nichols 012. Stolen was a vacuum cleaner valued at $200.

At 2:20 p.m., Richard Bias and Christopher Smith were involved in a vehicle accident at 17th Street and Anderson Avenue. Damage was more than

RILEY COUNTY POLICE

TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 29

At 8:57 p.m., Patrica Havel, 307 S. 16th St., and Aurther Mickey, 109 N. Pine Drive, Apt. 2, were both involved in a noninjury, major-damage vehicle

At 10:59 p.m., John Davison, 2528 Candle Crest Circle, reported finding a red, boy's "Huffy" mountain bike with the serial number HC9021997.

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 30

At 1:08 a.m., Jerry Sutton. 1123 Yuma St. basement, reported his Sega Genesis and five game cartridges stolen. Loss was

At 2 a.m., Lt. Crosby reported finding two Christmas trees on the side of the road at Tuttle Creek Boulevard and Griffith Drive. The trees were taken as

CAMPUS BULLETIN

All undergraduate students in a health-related degree program are eligible to apply for a Student Cancer Research Award of $500. Applications are now available in the Center for Basic Cancer Research in Ackert 234. Application deadline is Dec. 2.

Manhattan Business and Professional Women are offering a one-time. $300 scholarship available to a non-traditional student enrolling at K-State. Applications are available from Adult Student Services and are due Dec. 31.

Lot A-1 will be closed for 30 months because of construction. Alternate spots to park are lots B-3, B-16 and D-1.

The world is getting smaller. Make yours larger. Volunteer to tutor an international student in the Conversational English Program. Contact Kathy Hund at the International Student Center,

BULLETINS

Horticulture Club will meet today at 6:30 p.m. in

■ Society and Criminal Justice Club will meet today at 7:30 p.m. in Waters 231. There will be a panel discussion with a prosecutor, public defender, law-enforcement official and someone who has

■ Institute of Industrial Engineers will have its monthly seminar today at 7 p.m. in Paslay Lecture Hall after a Christmas party at 6 p.m. in Durland 127.

■ The Ag Ed Club will meet today at 7 p.m. in Bluemont 342.

■ The Graduate School has scheduled the final oral defense of the doctoral dissertation of Ah Auu Gui today at 9:30 a.m. in Ward 137B. The title of the dissertation is "Response Functions for Neutron Skyshine Analyses."

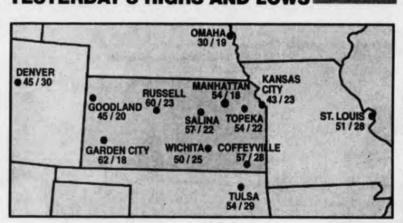

The Kansas State Collegian (USPS 291 020), a student newspaper at Kansas State University, is published by Student Publications Inc., Kedzie Hall 103, Manhattan Kan., 66506. The Collegian is published weekdays during the school year and once a week through the summer. Secondclass postage is paid at Manhattan, Kan., 66502. POSTMASTER: Send address changes to Kansas State Collegian, circulation desk, Kedzie 103, Manhattan,

C Kansas State Collegian, 1994

Kan. 66506-7167.

WEATHER

YESTERDAY'S HIGHS AND LOWS

Warmer and mostly sunny. Highs of

TODAY

Breezy, warm and mostly sunny. Highs around 65, lows around 40.

TOMORROW !

Windy and partly cloudy with a high around 60.

Jinale Bi

Give Bill or any of your other friends a jingle over the holidays. Get their numbers from the Campus Phone Book.

1994-95 CAMPUS PHONE BOOK

People, Places and Policies at Kansas State University

Available in 103 Kedzie Hall. $2.25 for students with ID $3.50 for faculty/staff

ALOHA BOWL

K-STATE vs. BOSTON COLLEGE GAME DAY - DECEMBER 25, 1994 DEPART KANSAS CITY DECEMBER 20 RETURN DECEMBER 27

ALOHA BOWL PACKAGE INCLUDES:

- >ROUND TRIP AIR FARE FROM KANSAS
- >TRANSFERS BETWEEN AIRPORT &
- HOTEL >LEI GREETING
- >7 NIGHT HOTEL ACCOMMODATIONS
- >GAME TICKETS AND TRANSFERS TO STADIUM

PRICES LISTED BELOW ARE PER PERSON BUDGET HOTEL

$1049 DOUBLE $1019 TRIPLE $989 QUAD MODERATE HOTEL

$1195 DOUBLE $1149 TRIPLE $1099 QUAD DELUXE BEACHFRONT 5 STAR HOTEL DOUBLE $1335 TRIPLE $1209 QUAD $1139

FULL PAYMENT DUE AT TIME OF RESERVATIONS AND IS NON-REFUNDABLE. SUBSTITUTES MAY BE MADE WITH $35 PER PERSON NAME CHANGE. FORMS OF PAYMENT ACCEPTED: PERSONAL CHECK, VISA, MASTERCARD

DUE TO LIMITED SPACE, RESERVATIONS ARE AVAILABLE ON FIRST-COME, FIRST-SERVE BASIS.

TRADEMARK TOURS

624 Blueridge Blvd., Raytown, MO 64133 (816) 356-0888 or 1-800-561-0888

Recreating the Old West

1,800 mile cattle drive brings nostalgia

Three K-State students to participate story by mike hind ith the popularity of country music, K-State and the rest of the country has seen its share of modern day cowboys.

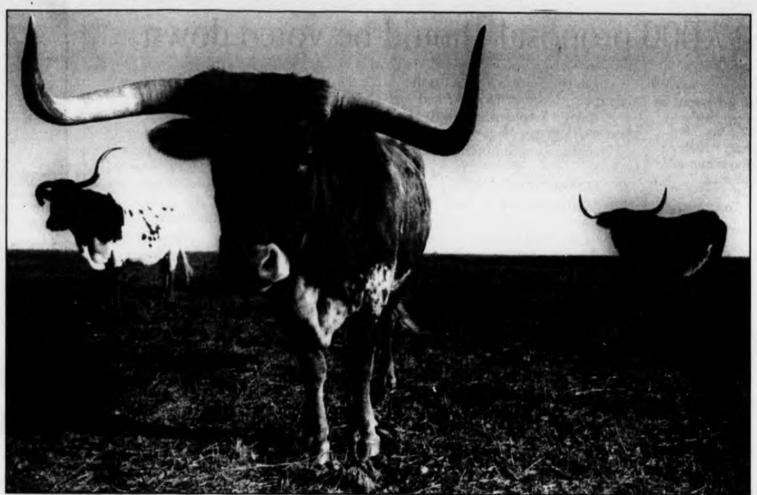

In a few months, three K-State students will travel back in time, giving up their old dogs and trucks for characteristics that are the mark of an older breed, lead steers and old mares.

Beginning in the stockyards of old Fort Worth, a piece of 19th century Americana will come back to the Midwest with the start of what has been named the Great American Cattle Drive.

"It's to celebrate the history of the American cowboy," said Bud McCasland, drive foreman of the event, which has been four years in Cowboys from six different Midwestern states will be participating in the seven-month journey that will see 300 longhorn steers driven from Fort Worth, Texas, to Miles City, Montana.

Jeff Christiansen, Jess Herbers and John Mundhenke will all take part in the 1,800-mile drive that begins in early March 1995 and ends with a ranch rodeo on Labor Day weekend.

Above: Steers like these at the Stockdale Ranch north of Manhattan will be used for the Great American Cattle Drive in March. The steers will be driven from Fort Worth, Texas to Miles City, Mont. Top left photo: Jess Herbers (left), junior in animal science, John Mundhenke (middle), senior in animal science and industry, and Jeff Christiansen (right), will be members of the seven-month drive.

Christiansen and Herbers saw a request for Kansas cowboys in the Wichita Eagle and answered it.

"It gave us some specifics about the operation," Christiansen said. "The fact that they would supply boots and hats and that it was a $3 million operation was in there.

Government and commercialization have forced the drive to modernize somewhat, making the cost of the drive much more than just cowboy wages and the cost of the herd.

"Inside the perimeters of the cattle drive, everything will be authentic, but because of the EPA and insurance, things outside the drive are getting a little more modern," McCasland said.

This means there will be no more going to the bathroom behind the bushes. The law and health standards won't permit it, so the cattle drive is bringing along port-a-potties.

■ See COWBOYS Page 5

Phi Kappa Phi

An Honor Society Across All Academic Areas Kansas State University Chapter Established November 15, 1915

We congratulated our new initiates on Wednesday, Nov. 30, 1994.

AGRICULTURE Donald L. Classer Jennifer L. Dunn Brandon L. Emch Heather D. Joyce Kandace A. Kelly Jason W. Maddon Suzanne L. Overber Heather L. Schober Michael J. Seyfert Jeff T. Sleichte Amye L. Smith Corbin L. Stevens ARTS AND SCIENCES John D. Ada John D. Adams Christina J. Beardsley Cynthia D. Benfer Lindley T. Bliss Jennifer A. Bradley James Broughman Jr. Brian A. Buford Holly D. Chegwidden Caron M. Citro Nathan C. Culley Lynette D. Day Kimberley C. Dennis Toni R. Dewey Jason L. Dillavor B. Kirsten Ehler Eric R. Farmer Stacy G. Friend Kevin J. Gebhard Kelly E. Guyot Kurtis L. Herwich Dort L. Hilker Julie A. Hostetle Chris A. Hubene Amy L. Jaax Jeffrey C. Joyce Joanne K. King Kassandra L. Lehman Ann M. Lenherr Myra C. Long John P. McKenzie Suzanne M. McLarney Carl J. Nasatka Julie A. Nichols David J. Norris Gregory L. Laterhaus Patricia J. Pardee Bonnie J. Pickens Jeffery P. Powell Roberta L. Roelfs Scott E. Sanders Marcus L. Scarbrough Joey J. Schriner David L. Seematter Michele D. Swanson Christine E. White Lee G. Wilbur Andrew D. Wright BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION Justin L. Boisse Melissa A. Davis Wayne R. Freeman

Diane M. Grosko Jason F. Gugelma Lance R. Jenkins

Eric T. Rapley Raquel A. Ridder John J. Robles

mifer D. Stiv

Kelly C. Kay Betty K. Low

ARCHITECTURE & DESIGN

GRADUATE Sue W. Coburn Catherine L. Cryer Amy R. Danner Jayant DeSouza Mary C. Getto Gary L. Glendening Tonya A. Hameister Michael W. Hancock Andrew S. Hoffman Daniel F. McCullough David C. Mooneyha Rebecca E. Rodgers David M. Schrag Cynthia I. Stude James N. Taylor Jaideep Vivekanand Judy K. Wagner Yljun Wu

VETERINARY MEDICINE

EDUCATION Kellie R. Atkinson Sheila K. Begnoche Melissa A. Benkelmar Ryan J. Brady Tifani L. Collins Nancy L. Hackler Jennifer D. Keen Anita R. Kimball Elizabeth A. King Kathy A. Kippes Angela S. Krueger Paula J. Lane Chris D. Legleiter Gretchen M. Ricker Lorenna J. Sutherland Joanne M. Utter Stacy E. Wilson Jennifer L. Wilt

ENGINEERING Jared S. Dobbins Bradley L. Guentl Kristi M. Hankley Brent D. Hauck Adam J. Hein Amy E. Hoppner Michael J. Krier Brian P. Lang Jarrod L. Morris Brian E. Myers
Gregory L. Reeder
Randy W. Schwartz
Livingstone S. Song
Mark C. Swanson

HUMAN ECOLOGY Anne E. Fischer Britta M. Goff Rebecca L. Keller Janice R. Lewis Amy L. Viola

R. Carlos Nakai William Eaton

R. Carlos Nakai and William Eaton.

Friday, December 2, 8 p.m. McCain Auditorium Kansas State University

Public/Faculty: $14 Senior Citizen: $12 Student/Child: $7

Nakai is a Navajo-Ute who honors tribal traditions while developing new musical expressions on his cedar flute. Eaton designs his own extraordinary instruments and composes music inspired by nature. The two come together to perform music that is haunting in its serenity and graceful in its simplicity.

For tickets call 532-6428 or come to the McCain box office. Box office hours: noon to 5 p.m. weekdays. Tickets are also available (with service charge) at Manhattan Town Center customer service desk, K-State Union Bookstore, and ITR (Fort Riley). Persons with disabilities call 532-6428.

DECEMBER 1, 1994

IN OUR OPINION

By the Collegian Editorial Board

$17,000 proposal should be voted down

The proposal to spend the $17,000 doesn't reflect the wishes of students.

Tonight, Student Senate has the opportunity to totally blow off students.

Today's Senate meeting will determine whether the proposal to spend the infamous extra $17,000 will be passed.

The committee in charge of the proposal wants Senate to spend the money on benches and lobbying. There is also a little money earmarked for a bike rack and a light to go with it, which is the only decision that reflects the opinion of a large section of students. That is the problem.

If student senators want to represent their constituents, they should vote the proposal down. If students want to make it absolutely clear to Senate that this should not pass, they should show up to the meeting and voice their opinions in open forum.

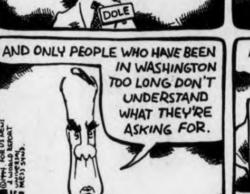

Whatever the money is spent on, students should decide. We can't get it back, and we can't all vote, but Student Senate is supposed to represent what we

The committee should have listened harder in the first place. Senators should listen now and not pass the proposal.

It's up to students to yell loud enough so that they have no choice but to hear. The meeting is at 7 p.m. in the Union Big 8 Room. If you care how that $17,000 is spent, show up. It's as simple as that.

TOLES

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

U.S. will lose sovereignty with GATT

ust try calling Sen. Bob Dole's office in Kansas City to voice your opposition to the current version of the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade up for a vote today.

Dole's staff members will tell (which rhymes with "yell") you that you're misinformed on the issue if you disagree with Dole's support of the GATT. If you don't have any serious objections to it yet, you may by the time you finish reading this.

The problem with this GATT isn't that it encourages free international trade. In fact, the GATT has been around in various forms since the time of President Truman. Free trade encourages peace between trading nations and can benefit all nations

The problem with this GATT is that Trade Organization that would mediate trade disputes between nations. This is a noble end, but the means of the WTO are Orwellian.

The WTO's dispute tribunals would be composed of three trade experts from around the world. According to Annex 2. Article 22 of the GATT, their rulings would be enforced with trade sanctions or forced compensation if a nation doesn't agree to change its laws if the WTO mandates it to do so. In other words, these tribunals would have the power to veto American laws as well as anyone else's Article XVI clearly states: "Members shall ensure conformity of their laws, regulations and Administrative procedures" with the new GATT and its rulings. Unlike the United Nations, the World Bank, International

Monetary Fund, the United States would have no veto or weighted vote in the WTO. Article IX says all nations would have one vote regardless of their population. The only way to rescind a tribunal decision would be by the unanimous vote of all GATT nations, according to Annex 2, Article 16.

SCOTT ALLEN

MILLER

Even though the tribunals would have such awesome power, Annex 2, Article 8 states, in effect, that members of the tribunals would not be prohibited from accepting payoffs from countries or corporations involved in the disputes. Conflict-of-interest regulations are nonexistent in this GATT. On top of that, all deliberations would be held in secret in Geneva, Switzerland, according to Annex 2, Article 14.

Under the GATT/WTO, the Clean Air Act would be subject to challenge by countries that want us to change our laws to make our goods cheaper for them to buy.

Also in danger would be all other federal and state pollution regulations, our child-labor laws, our minimumwage laws, our endangered-species protections, and, according to the Agreement on the Application of Sanitary and Phytosanitary Measures, Article 4, our regulations on food safety.

By the same token, according to Article 23 of the WTO's Dispute Settlement Agreement, U.S. laws banning the importation of goods made by child labor, by nations with severe civil-rights violations, by nations under dictatorships, by nations that have no regard for the environment, by nations hostile toward the United States, or of foods containing U.S.-illegal pesticides and herbicides would all be subject to challenge by nations that want to sell such goods here. Do you want to live in a Third World country with no environmental regulations, no restrictions against child labor, a lowered minimum wage, that will buy and sell anything to anyone?

Apparently, Sen. Dole wants you to. He probably won't be around to see the death of the U.S., but Generation X very well may be if this GATT passes.

One would think that when we elect someone to represent us in government, the person would strive to obey the will of the people who elected them and look out for their long-term interests.

Instead, more and more of our leaders are the puppets of irresponsible greedy interests who fund their campaigns and line their wallets.

Could Sen. Dole be a puppet such as this? Just look at the strings to which he's indebted that dictate how his votes are cast. Look at who funds his Senate campaigns and his bids for the White House. Then decide whether he's working for you.

Analogous to the proverbial piper, those who fund a Senator's campaigns call the votes. Judging by his willingness to sell the United State's welfare and sovereignty to the WTO, Sen. Dole is either a bought man, or he is truly and unfortunately stupid.

If Dole's staff says you're misinformed on this issue when you call up, quote them some GATT. Then he'll ote your future away anyway.

Scott Allen Miller is a junior in

BRAD SEABOURN

Linormal

male, I went straight for Subliminal

Sex tape.

66 T ike any

the

READERS WRITE

Drop letters off at Kedzie 116 or send them to Letters to the Editor, c/o John Meirowsky, Kansas State Collegian, Kedzie 116, Manhattan, KS 66506. We accept letters by e-mail also. Our address is letters@spub.ksu.edu. Letters should be addressed to the editor and include a name, address and phone number. A photo identification will be necessary for hand-delivered letters.

▶ CHRISTMAS

Relax and have a 'Die Hard' holiday

In regards to the column of Nov. 29, regarding Christmas, it is so interesting to see such an opinion that "things aren't what they used to be" come from the mouth of a relative young pup.

Sure, Kristin, toys may not be to your taste anymore, but that doesn't mean you should bash the holiday. After all, look at the toys of the past. The Makery Bakery Oven and GI Joe weren't exactly good role models. Remember pregnant Barbie? Tell me this doesn't scream, "Hey girls, if you don't stay at home, you're a loser, and guys, you better get ready to kill, kill, kill!"

It does. Then you discuss shopping bills. Sigh. Ah, it's gotta suck. What do you do? I suggest getting a bag of charcoal briquettes ($3 at Dillons) and giving a bunch of them to members of your family and just say, "Thank you for not understanding my role in a disfunctional family." It works every time.

And this rental thing. The solution? Don't rent jack. Just take your nieces and nephews (or other young relatives) and tell them that you hid the "big gifts" under the snow on your sidewalks. You'll get your sidewalks cleaned, and there's nothing quite as fun as seeing kids shovel snow in an adrenaline high, onset by the thought of bikes and other toys buried under the snow. And then, when they don't find them, and their tears freeze to their faces, that's good for a laugh as well.

So for this Christmas, sit back, watch "Die Hard," play Jenga with a pump action Red Rider BB gun.

It's your holiday. Appreciate it for what it is. A holy day. A day of celebration. Two weeks off school. (Close captioned for the humor impaired.)

Chris Reeves junior in history

RESIDENCE HALLS

Locked doors not worth the trouble

More than two months ago, a 24-hour doorlock policy was passed in Haymaker residence hall. I currently live in Haymaker Hall and find the 24hour-door-lock policy to be an inconvenience. In fact, most residents find the policy to be an inconvenience. Not only is this policy inconvenient to residents, it is also inconsiderate to family and friends of residents who have to call the resident from an outside phone and then wait outside until the door is opened to them.

Since the doors are Validine activated, only a resident can enter. However, if you are determined, you can wait until a resident leaves and then you can catch the door. As the weather gets colder, I'd hate to have friends, parents or grandparents waiting out in the bitter cold. This also will create a problem for Pizza Shuttle.

Shah Hasan, assistant director of Housing and Dining, stated that the Haymaker Governing Board made a bold decision in the right direction to pass this policy. He also stated that he and other Housing administrators are stressing a "reasonable standard of care" attitude. That is why they strongly proposed the door-lock policy, to increase care by tightening security.

Being skeptical of the policy in the first place, I now realize that the inconveniences outweigh the benefits. Unfortunately, the number of residents will most likely decline because of the door-lock policy, and in the long run, will drastically reduce Haymaker's revenues and force them to change.

Troy Tonne sophomore in agricultural business

Subliminal self-help tapes work (YOU WILL BELIEVE THIS!) stop smoking, think positive and a whole list

SEABOURN

frequently receive mail from people who think I need help. This is not your ordinary, garden-variety type of help.

No, this is the hip kind of '90s help offered by people with Ph.D.s (piled higher and deeper) or M.D.s (marketing director) at the end of their names. It even has a catchy kind of '90s techno-babble sort of name -SUBLIMINAL SELF-HELP. The concept is based upon the psychological phenomenon known as subliminal suggestion by which a willing person can receive external stimuli subconsciously, or below the conscious level, which is exactly where my mother used to swat me with her hair brush.

In fact, I received subliminal suggestion via hair brush often enough as a kid that just the mere mention of a hair brush is currently cause for excitement:

Store clerk: "Sir, would like to try our new hair brushes?" Me: "AAAIEEEEYAHHHHH!"

This uncontrollable response has been known to set off entire shopping mall security alarms based upon the

"AAAIEEEEYAHHHHH" detection system. Recently, a concerned employee from Neuro-Potentials Unlimited Inc. sent me information on how to subliminally "self help" myself to a better memory. (Obviously, I am in dire need of this service, because I cannot recall whom I might know at Neuro-Potentials Unlimited Inc., who knows I am having memory problems.)

And for a small, insignificant fee, I could learn THROUGH THE MODERN TECHNOLOGY OF CASSETTE TAPES how to help myself acquire a better memory. For an only slightly more significant, onetime-limited-offer-non-refundable fee, I could also learn to subliminally help myself sleep better, lose weight, concentrate, have better sex, relieve stress, enrich my marriage, of other things (which I also cannot remember at this point - obviously it's getting worse).

You can well imagine my excitement. It is not often that I run into an offer to have

So I sent my wife out to the tool shed for a special wrench to change the oil in the car (which I described in great, non-existent detail) while I quickly called the convenient 800-number for my self-help tapes.

I say "quickly" because my wife is an extremely industrious person and can find even non-existent things in a matter of minutes. Don't misunderstand. My wife is normally a VERY understanding person, but when it comes to buying anything . ESPECIALLY when it involves money she can be extremely, well ... stressful ("You bought WHAT?" or my favorite, "IT COST

Well, for the low, low, low, price of $79.95, I got the works — 52 subliminal selfhelp tapes on every major malady from analretentiveness to zits

NOTE TO READER: To demonstrate the effectiveness of subliminal suggestion, I am going to intersperse the rest of my column with subliminal messages. You will not actually HEAR anything, but as long as you can remember how to READ, you will receive, without consciously knowing it and free of shipping and handling charges, subliminally transmitted messages of the self-help type. CAUTION: Don't try this at home without adult supervision or a case of Like any normal male, I went straight for the Subliminal Sex tape, and guess what? The only thing on the bloody tape was THE SOUND OF THE OCEAN! That's right! Water! Nothing but water!

I tried the Subliminal Nose-Picking tape and, again, NOTHING BUT OCEAN! And the Subliminal Hair Loss tape had, that's THING! HA! HA! All the tapes were the same subliminal recording of the same subliminal ocean waves crashing on the same subliminal beach, all for the subliminally low price of $79.95!

(SUBLIMINAL MESSAGE: You are laughing hysterically.)

Only after reading the little brochure, which accompanied the tapes, did I realize that the sound of the ocean was there to cover up the subliminally recorded message. And if I listened closely, I could tell there WAS something inaudible going on below the noise of the waves (SUBLIMINAL MESSAGE: You are REALLY laughing hysterically now). It reminded me of the Peanuts cartoons where the teacher always talks to Charlie Brown like this: WAHwahwahWAHWAHWAH wahwah. You can't understand a single word, but you know something has been said.

Well, I have been listening to the Subliminal Sex tape, non-stop, for about two weeks now (SUBLIMINAL MESSAGE: You are laughing so hard that drool is running uncontrollably down your chin). And all I can say is, it has really improved my sex (SUBLIMINAL MESSAGE: Brad, this is your wife. If you don't stop listening to that stupid tape, the only sex you are going to get WILL BE subliminal!) On second thought, would anyone like a few tapes of the sound of ocean waves crashing on the beach? Something tells me I won't be needing them . subliminally speaking, of course.

Brad Seabourn is a graduate student in grain

Cowboys recreate 'Lonesome Dove'

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 3

Some cattle diseases are extremely contagious, so before animals cross state lines, animal health records must be supplied and veterinarians will be present throughout the drive to tend to the

Getting the job as one of the four cowboys picked from each state was an honor, but wasn't easy, Christiansen said.

We mailed them resumes and references.

The cowboys will be able to seek shelter in case of severe weather, something their 19th century counterparts couldn't do. "We'll be heading straight up tornado alley," McCasland said.

In case of severe weather or emergencies, an advanced party with trailers and vehicles will always be a few miles away from the main group.

The drive is organized by the Longhorn Breeders Association and will have many commercial sponsors.

The cowboys have signed contracts that permit their names, voices and likenesses to appear in video and pictures.

Authentic elements of the drive include farriers, tepees and an 1886 Stevens army escort wagon to be used as a chuckwagon.

The drive will maintain a pace of twelve miles a day and county roads will be the main trails used.

Herbers admits that even though he has ranched his whole life, the scope of the drive makes it more of a challenge.

"We have moved cattle, but the farthest we've gone is five miles," Herbers said.

Long days of painful sunburns with short nights of hard ground will replace many of the comforts of home. Christiansen compared the drive to an eight-month campout.

"We will be doing without the daily necessities. No TV, electricity or alarm clocks."

The cattle drive is to be a reenactment of the the one in Larry McMurtry's epic novel of the American west, "Lonesome Dove."

The ultimate tale of friendship, "Lonesome Dove" is the story of two retired Texas rangers, Augustus McCray and Woodrow Call, who in their twilight years decide to be the first to graze cattle in the open Montana range. The destination of the drive, Miles City, Montana, proves to be the end for McCray.

Lying on his death bed, McCray asks Call to take his body back to Texas. The ever faithful Call agrees and keeps his promise, traveling alone back to Lonesome Dove, Texas, with his friend's body.

McCasland said the fictional characters of McCray and Call are based on two real men in Texas history: Charles Goodnight and Oliver Loving.

"Charles Goodnight and Oliver Loving were partners in ranching and life-long friends," McCasland said. "Old man Loving died in Clovis, New Mexico, and his friend Charles Goodnight brought him back 600 miles to be buried in Weatherford, Texas.

The route will follow the Chisolm Trail up to Enid, Okla. It will then pick up the Western Trail and the Jones-Plummer Trail in Ashland over to Dodge City. From there the route heads due north to McCook, Nebraska, and then on to Miles City.

In May, Kansans can see the drive in Oakley, Cimarron and Atwood. The drive will conclude on Labor Day with a ranch rodeo in

The image projected by the American cowboy is one that Americans are looking for today, said McCasland.

People who believe in the cowboy way are looked upon by people the world over as loyal, upfront and straight shooting. They work hard and play hard and hate a liar worse than anything else. People are looking for this image."

Christiansen identifies with the real cowboys he will meet in the upcoming months.

"The states we are going through all have real cowboys and those people can tell whether you are a real cowboy right off, or if you are there to two-step at the bar," Christiansen said. "We have our fair share of buckle polishers around

Is the loyal attitude of the old cowboy alive in America today? One cowboy thinks so.

"Those types of people are few and far between anymore,' Mundhenke said. "I think people in the cattle industry have maintained honesty or at least tried to. They are down-home people. They are not out for themselves.'

Musical Garage Sale

sponsored by

Pi Kappa Lambda Music Honorary

Thursday, December 1

9 a.m.-3:30 p.m.

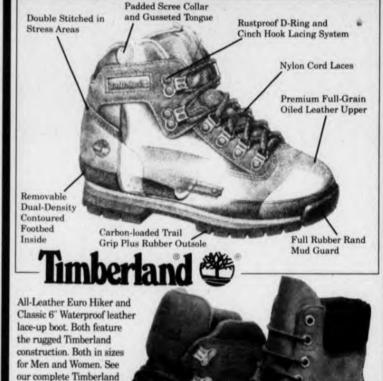

McCain Music Wing Courtyard

Compact Discs (including much alternative rock),

LP's, sheet music, books, & misc. items

ASME Presents GREG HARBAUGH NASA ASTRONAUT "Shuttle Payload, Planning, Loading and Unloading" in Pasley (Durland 173) • Saturday, Dec. 3 • 10 to 11:30 a.m.

collection today.

Manhattan Town Center 537-6226

Free Speech

Nichols Hall Theatre Thursday, December 1,1994 2:00-3:00 p.m. "KSU HAS A REPONSIBILITY TO NON-TRADITIONAL PARENTS: WE NEED INFANT CARE!"

"NEBRASKA U. AND COLORADO U. PROVIDE IT: WE NEED SHORT-TERM CHILD CARE AT THE RECREATION COMPLEX!" by Chuck Allen IV (Senior in Journal

"KSU STUDENTS NEED BETTER JOB SEARCH SUPPORT: HOLTZ HALL IN NEED OF

"WE ARE WHAT WE EAT: K-STATE UNION NEEDS TO POST THE NUTRITIONAL VALUE OF THE FOOD THEY SERVE!" by King Crawford (Sophomore in Educatio

"STOP WHINING AND TAKE ACTION: SUPPORT THE NATIONAL REGISTER ONCE

"WHEN HUNGER HITS HOME: KSU CAN MAKE A DIFFERENCE FOR OUR SCHOOL AND COMMUNITY!" by Ron Donoho (Senior in Education

The speakersare from the Public Speaking II class assigned a persuasive speech on a KSU issue.

The moderator will be Clayton Johnson, sophomore in education

When it just can't get any worse

AND YOU THINK NO ONE CARES

Experience the Incredible Receive the Baptism of the Holy Ghost

When Jesus Christ is born in your heart and life, it is an amazing, wonderful, glorious, dynamic experience.

It will be your moment of ULTIMATE DELIVERANCE Experience HIM today!

.

111

WE CARE the Start of Treaton Ministries

A Very Independent American Film

Wednesday, November 30 8:00pm

FORUM HALL Friday, December 2 8:00pm LITTLE THEATRE UNION UPC Kaleldosco Admission: $1.75

Thursday, December 1 7:00 & 9:30pm

When he said I do. he never said what he did.

Schwarzenegger

Saturday, December 3 7:00 & 9:30pm FORUM HALL

@ Visa U.S.A. Inc. 1994

Two essential ingredients for a perfect date:

A date and this.

It's everywhere you want to be."

Intramural playoffs begin in all divisions next week volleyball play, the Regulators made quick work of Canali Culi, 15-5, 15-6.

The win capped a perfect 5-0 season play, which begins on Dec. 1.

Shari Peterson, a junior and team year.'

for them. In the first game, three hitting errors by the Regulators resulted in a 3-0 deficit.

Due to the run, they were able to win

In the second game, the Regulators struggled again and were tied with Canali Culi 4-4. It was at this point that "We had some conflict during that really hurt us.

"So we switched to a 6-2, and that

The team went on a six-point run, behind the serving of Chris Howell, to

What was the secret to Howell's

"I change it up every time so they

And how did the Regulators arrive at a 5-0 record and a No. 8 ranking? Well.

► VOLLEYBALL

Regulators ready for playoffs

DEBO ADEJUNMOBI

Last night in co-rec intramural for the Regulators and solidified their No. 8 ranking in the co-rec standings. They now look forward to tournament captain, said the team expects to do well come playoff time.

We definitely expect to get through the first couple of rounds," Peterson said. "At least that's what we did last

The match didn't start out so easy

However, they roared back with an 8-0 run highlighted by the serving of Gil Garcia.

they decided to make a change.

game," Peterson said. "We were playing a 6-1, and some of us weren't too happy with that. That little conflict stopped the fighting, because then we were pretty much able to wrap it up."

finish the game and the match.

success?

don't know where it's going," Howell said. "Tonight, it worked."

it wasn't practice that got them there.

"When we have time, we practice after games," Howell said. "Otherwise, we don't practice at all."

players have been against such a tax, believing it has the same effect as a salary cap. Players reportedly would accept a diminished version of the payroll tax if owners share the burden recent talks when the negotiators met six times in a 10-day period in resulted in 341 games called off in the longest work stoppage in NHL games, following the cancellation of 24 for each team. Owners have said they will accept no less than a 50-

The tax issue did not come up in

So far, the owners' lockout has

The schedule is already down to 60

by taxing gate receipts.

history.

game schedule.

Day football game in Honolulu.

Montana still questionable

ASSOCIATED PRESS

KANSAS CITY, Mo. -Kansas City backup Steve Bono and Denver coach Wade Phillips are the only two people who know who the Chiefs will start at quarterback when the teams meet Sunday.

ALUMNI OPEN ALOHA BOWL HOTLINE

The K-State Alumni Association has established a toll-free Aloha Bowl hotline to assist Wildcat fans who are interested in attending the Christmas

The phone number is 1-800-898-BOWL. Hours of operation are 8 a.m. to noon and 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. In Manhattan, the number is 532-5051.

And they're both picking different guys.

"I'm assuming it will be me," Bono said Wednesday after taking virtually all of the snaps in practice as Joe Montana tries to come back from a foot injury suffered last week in Seattle.

"We're planning for Montana," Phillips said. "We expect Joe to start.'

Chiefs coach Marty Schottenheimer, who will make the decision, isn't tipping his hand.

"I think probably we'll have a better sense of it by Friday," Schottenheimer said. "He's moving around a lot better. Steve Bono is taking the bulk of the snaps.

"If Joe is unable to practice all week, the decision would have to be based on whether or not he risks further injury by playing.

Montana was hurt in the third period of last week's loss at Seattle. Bono came in and played credibly but -- like Montana - was unable to generate a touchdown.

Kansas City had plenty of offense in the first half but came away with only six points in what eventually turned out to be a 10-9 loss.

Schottenheimer has decided to cut back the offense as the Chiefs continue to work in new faces after submitting a 14-player injury list to the league on Wednesday. Eight players didn't practice Wednesday, one was sick with the flu and two others were held out for precautionary reasons.

"The offense is reduced with fewer plays, a few fewer formations," Bono said. "I think that's in part for me, in part for the whole offense so we can do the things that we do well, better.'

Bono, a 10-year veteran, has thrown 24 passes this year, completing 14 for 145 yards. He was acquired for just this purpose after the Chiefs and Dave Krieg, last year's backup, decided to part

"I can't worry about what rust there is," Bono said. "You can't expect that in a week you can shake it all off. I just hope to have a good week of practice and hope we play well on Sunday."

► BASKETBALL

O'Liney scores 24 in Missouri victory

ASSOCIATED PRESS

AUBURN HILLS, Mich. - Norm Stewart got 30 good minutes - and a victory from his Missouri Tigers.

Senior Paul O'Liney scored a career-high 24 points and Missouri held off Purdue's one offensive push of the Mizzou 69 game for a 69-66 victory Purdue 66 Wednesday night in the Great Eight. O'Liney, who had matched his career-high with 23 points in the season-opener, had all II of his second-half points in the final 9:38. His sophomore backcourtmate, Jason Sutherland, finished with 14 points, five in the final 48 seconds.

"For a group of young, inexperienced people, we had some good moments - just not in the last 10 minutes,' Stewart said. "For the first 30 minutes I was pleased with our team, but then we went into our prevent offense. So we took O'Liney out, got his legs freshened up and he helped us out down the stretch."

The game was a matchup of conference champions from last season as Missouri (2-0) went unbeaten in the Big Eight and Purdue (3-1) won the Big Ten. Both were hit hard by losses, Missouri with three graduated starters and a season-ending injury to freshman of the year Kelly Thames; Purdue by the decision of national player of the year Glenn Robinson to opt for the NBA draft.

Purdue struggled offensively except for a second-half spurt that featured junior college transfer Roy Hairston.

He had six points in a 12-4 run that brought the Boilermakers into a 55-55 tie and finished with 17 points while Brandon Brantley had 12 and Porter Roberts 11. 'I'm Roy Hairston, not Glenn Robinson's replacement," Hairston said. "All I can do is play, not worry about filling his shoes."

Purdue, which trailed 39-28 when Missouri scored the first basket of the second half, took its first lead since 2-0 at 59-58 on two free throws by Cuonzo Martin with 3:58 to play.

O'Liney and Roberts exchanged 3-pointers and the Tigers got the lead for good on two free throws by O'Liney with 1:46 to play.

▶ COLUMN

New York Islanders.

Wednesday

▶ HOCKEY

ASSOCIATED PRESS

NHL negotiators meet in Chicago

"It's getting to the point where today, in what could be a last attempt they are going to have to make a decision (on the collective bargaining agreement)," a management source told The Associated Press on Loney, player representative of the reached at his New York office, remained noncommittal on the eve of "Time is of the urgency," said Troy

NHL commissioner Gary Bettman,

"We're trying to move this process

at salvaging the hockey season.

Sports fans enduring tough times

Sometimes, it's not easy being a sports fan

I mean, look at a few of the ugly incidents we've seen some of our sports heroes get involved in just this past year.

The entire baseball and hockey strikes. The fall of a beloved football legend, O.J. Simpson. The drug suspension of former pitching sensation Dwight Gooden. Kind of makes a person lose faith in the entire sports industry, doesn't it?

with everything that has and is going wrong with sports these days, but I won't. I won't because my own belief in the value of sports was renewed during

The sad thing is, I could go on and on Thanksgiving break. A few days before break, I got a call from my mom, asking me if I could possibly make it home Tuesday afternoon in time for my baby brother Cody's juniorhigh basketball game.

Mateo Remsburg, graduate student in college student personnel, serves the ball during an intramural along, we're trying to make a deal," he said. "That has been our No. 1

The source said the NHL and NHL

Players Association have booked hotel space for three days in hopes of resolving the dispute that has owners with their thoughts on such major issues as the rookie salary cap,

Players are expected to present the

The contentious luxury tax issue is

"If the tax is on the table, there's

It may not get to that point if the negotiators can find a way to put a drag on rising salaries in other areas.

priority right along since Day 1.

sidelined the league for 61 days.

free agency and salary arbitration.

another story, however.

trouble," Loney said.

Negotiators resume talks after holiday volleyball match Wednesday night. His team, the Regulators, beat Canali Culi.

Hoxie would be playing the big, bad boys in black from Atwood, she said, and Cody would be so surprised to look up in the stands and see his only sister, (whom he admires and adores, of course), up there watching him.

Now I'm my little brother's biggest fan, and I follow his young sports career as much as I can. He even calls me after every game, football or basketball, to give me the play-by-play — how many catches he made, who he tackled and how many points he scored. Cody had led his Tiger team in scoring in every game so far this season, so I knew I had to be there. Luckily, my one Tuesday class had been cancelled, so I made the four-hour drive out to Hoxie, arriving at the gym just in time to watch the last few minutes of warm-ups.

I spotted Cody right away, but I knew I'd better not wave or go over and talk to him, or I'd risk embarassing him, the basketball star of the seventh grade, in front of his fans. Plus, Cody was frowning, and he had that intense little look on his face that he gets before every game, that look that says, "Don't mess with me, even if you are my sister.'

DARREN WHITLEY /Collegian

'We just haven't finished the review process of anything outside of the tax," Boston Bruins general manager Harry Sinden told The Canadian Press on Wednesday. "Until we do, I don't think Bettman can the problems the league is trying to correct. But that has not been determined because we have not reached agreement on all these (other) points. We have not had a chance to Until now, the owners have insisted on a tax of team payrolls that go over the average team salary in the NHL and give the money to teams under the prescribed limit. The

"It depends if we can slow down make any statement about the tax.

But when a group of smaller boys, not including my brother, took the court for Hoxie, I asked Mom why Cody wasn't starting.

She explained that before every regular seventh-grade game, both teams play what's called "The Fifth Quarter," which gives some of the smaller and less experienced kids a chance to start and play an entire quarter against similar kids from the opposing squad. Otherwise, most of these little boys would spend most of the night on the bench.

Just watching those kids play was probably the most entertaining part of the night. Sure, they weren't very good, (one chunky little boy kept running into the wall, causing his glasses to fly out onto the court), but you could tell they were giving it all they had, even if it was just for one quarter. After that exhibition was through, it was showtime for the rest of the seventhgraders. I'll have to admit, Atwood's beefed-up boys wearing all black looked pretty intimidating compared to Hoxie's little, skinny kids in their God-awful royal blue tops and small, bright yellow shorts.

The slaughter was well underway by halftime, with Atwood up by at least 15. It got even worse during the second half, as the Buffaloes took a 25-point lead at one point.

POELL

noticed something. The coach wasn't screaming at his players. All of the boys were getting a chance to play. And the Hoxie kids' parents were smiling and laughing during the game, not yelling at the coach or the refs. That's when I realized, this is it. This is why sports is good. These kids were having

But looking over at Hoxie's bench, I fun. Sure, it would be more demanding once they hit high school, but for now, they were having the times of their lives, just playing and learning the game with their buddies.

The game ended with Atwood beating us by 20. I knew Cody would be disappointed, so after he'd showered, I walked with him down the hallway to buy him a Snickers bar

That's when I noticed something else.

One Atwood player, the same one who had elbowed my brother throughout the game, grabbed Cody, shook his hand, smiled and said, "Hey, you played a great

And then Cody - intense, serious little Cody — smiled, I smiled, too. It had been a great game.

Job search hard

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

Flint Hills Job Corps with training in culinary arts. She said she has lost track of how many jobs she has applied for.

"It's hard because I have to take Christy with me wherever I go," White said. "I go to a job interview, and I have to take her with me. Sometimes she acts up."

White said on her job applications, she gives the homeless shelter as her address.

"If they ask me why I live in the shelter, I tell them I don't have a choice," she said. "Sometimes people look at you like you are a White said she hopes she can get a job and move into public housing.

Christy will have to go to day care, and White said she will miss the time she gets to spend with her daughter but knows that both of them will be better off.

"We'll both be benefiting. She will learn her ABCs, and we'll have more money coming into the house," she said.

White said she hasn't made any long-term plans.

'I could see myself managing my own business — married and settled down. I've thought about going back to school, but I'm not

Residents not satisfied

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

financed entirely by private donations to the KSU Foundation.

The following year, the Division of Housing and Dining Services was asked to assume responsibility, but the building still belonged to the University.

Since then, the building has been a residence hall and houses non-traditional students, graduate students and international students.

Edwards was picked six months ago to be converted. The residents who had hoped to return will have to make other arrangements.

Housing Director Chuck Werring gave three options.

Because the residents said they wanted to keep the community feeling, it was proposed that they would have a wing section of Marlatt Hall set aside for them.

But the residents said they weren't satisfied with that.

First, there was concern for the women because Marlatt is an allmale hall. They said they were also concerned about graduate teaching assistants living in the same building as the students they teach.

Olivier Carton, a graduate student in agricultural economics from France, said it would be hard

Gloves & Mittens

Adult $600

Kids $300

Slipper Socks

Adult $800 Kids $600

708 N. Manhattan Ave. Aggieville

to find this same closeness in a large residence hall. "It's scary to come to a new country, but Edwards made it easier for me," Olivier said. Werring said other options would be either special arrangements in Jardine Terrace Apartments or having secondhighest priority with housing preferences in another hall.

537-2462

All profits support youth & community projects.

$1 OFF WITH THIS AD expires 1.

Makin'it great!

CALL THE LOCATION

NEAREST YOU.

AGGIEVILLE 539-7666

·WESTLOOP 539-7447 3RD & MORO 776-4334

THURSDAYS Burger & Beer Night every burger comes with a frosty

mug of beer or soft drink

$1.75 Zimas 50¢ Zima Shots

 Free Jukebox DISCO & DANCIN'

By CiCo Park Kimball & Seth Childs Candlewood Center

66506-6001.

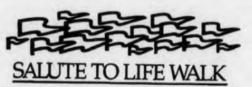

SHOW YOUR SUPPORT FOR THE MILDCATS

PURCHASE YOUR ALOHA BOWL T-SHIRT FOR $12 FROM AKW PROFESSIONAL BUSINESS FRATERNITY

KSU HIV/AIDS Awareness Week

Salute to Life Walk

December 1 • 4 p.m. - 6 p.m. • Ahearn

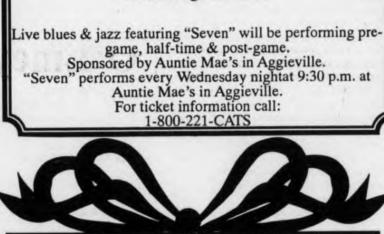

At Bramlage Coliseum

A holiday gift idea for your favorite sports fan.

For only $10, you can have the Wednesday edition of the Collegian including Wildcat Watch - sent directly to the Wildcat sports fans on your shopping list. When you place your subscriptions, we'll give you gift cards you can wrap or send in the mail to let the Spring 1995 semester. Come see us today in 103 Kedzie (east of the Union) and scratch some names everyone know what to expect throughout off your Christmas list!

Saturday Night THE FIRST TWENTY YEARS A Big Church Chat Bello to all of you R-State Students! Just a reminder--If you're in search of that SPECIAL gift, be sure to buy

the Saturday Night Live book at Varney's Book Store!

credit; $245 per undergraduate nonresident credit; $284 per graduate nonresident credit; plus $.87 per day for student services. Off-campus coursework will be $75 per undergraduate credit and $112 per graduate credit. To request an Intersession schedule with complete course descriptions and prerequisites, please call 532-5566 or visit 131 College Court. Course Title Times Course # Credit Ref. # Dates PRB/HACCP in Food Systems ASI 661 2 UG/G 94100 Jan 3-10 8:30 am-1:15 pm Practicum in Bakery Technology GRSC 701 1 UG/G 94143 Jan. 2-6 8:00 am-4:30 pm Envir Seminar: Field Research in ARCH 704 2 UG/G 94102 Dec 27-Jan 10 1:00-5:00 pm Historic Communities Problems: Beginning Airbrush IAR 406 2 UG 94103 Dec 27-Jan 10 6:00-9:00 pm 2:00-5:00 pm Problems: Portfolio Preparation IAR 406 2 UG 94104 Dec 27-Jan 10 Problems: KSU Bike System Design LAR 440 2 UG 8:30-11:30 am 94105 Dec 27-Jan 6 Golf Course Planning and Design Dec 29-Jan 9 LAR 635 2 UG/G 9:00 am-3:00 pm Adv. Golf Course Planning and Design LAR 735 2 UG/G 1:00-5:00 pm 94107 Dec 29-Jan 9 Problems: KSU Bike System Design LAR 741 2 G 94108 Dec 27-Jan 6 8:30-11:30 am PLAN 630 Computer App. in Planning and Design 1-2 UG/G Dec 28-31 1 cr; 1:00-5:30 pm 94109 Dec 28-Jan 10 2 cr GERON 610 3 UG/G 94110 Dec 30-Jan 10 Seminar in Long-Term Care Sa 12/31 8-noon, M-F 5:00-9:00 pm Sa 1/7 8:00 am-Administration 6:00 pm Dec 26-Jan 8 English Studies Abroad ENGL 150 2 UG 94111 8:00 am-10:00 pm 94112 2 UG 9:00 am-11:40 am Prob: Sub-Saharan Africa GEOG 490 Dec 27-Jan 10 Moscow and St. Petersburg HIST 103 3 UG Dec 13-15 7:00-9:30 pm 8:00 am-10:00 pm Jan 2-9 1:00-4:00 pm The Korean War HIST 507 2 UG 94114 Dec 27-Jan 10 Top/US & Middle East 2 UG 9:00 am-12:30 pm HIST 598 94115 Jan 2-10 Moscow and St. Petersburg HIST 703 3 G 94116 Dec 13-15 7:00-9:30 pm 8:00 am-10:00 pm Jan 2-9 Math, Minds, Machines, Metaphysics MATH 388 2 UG 94117 Dec 27-Jan 10 12:30-3:00 pm MATH 388 Pre-req: one of the following: (1) Junior or higher standing; (2) at least 9 credit hours in Math, Physics or Computer Science (any combination) in courses numbered 200 or higher; (3) any one of PHILO 125, 140, 215,

DECEMBER 27, 1994-JANUARY 10, 1995

audit registrations will be accepted beginning December 8, phone 532-5566 or 1-800-432-8222, Continuing Education Registration Office, 131 College Court, Kansas State University, Manhattan, Kansas

Tuition for on-campus coursework will be $67 per undergraduate resident credit; $95 per graduate resident

Intersession registration is December 6 at Enrollment Services, 217 Willard Hall and December 7 at 131 College Court from 8:30 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. both days.

Beginning December 8 through the first day of class, individuals may register in person at 131 College Court, from 8:00 a.m. to 6:00 p.m. Phone, mail, and

| mores who lack the formal prerequis                      | sites may be give | en the instr | uctor's per | mission to enroll.                               | _                                          |
|----------------------------------------------------------|-------------------|--------------|-------------|--------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------|
| Hebrew (Ivrit) for Beginners                             | MLANG 110         | 2 UG         | 94118       | Dec 27-Jan 10                                    | 3:00-5:00 pm                               |
| Prob: England Study Tour                                 | FINAN 498         | 2 UG         | 94119       | Jan 2-10                                         | 8:00 am-10:00 pm                           |
| Administrative Communications                            | GENBA 391         | 3 UG         | 94120       | Dec 27-Jan 10                                    | 1:00-5:00 pm                               |
| Prob: Intro to Business                                  | GENBA 498         | 1 UG         | 94121       | Jan 3-5                                          | 9:00 am-2:30 pm                            |
| Introduction to Total Quality                            | MANGT 300         | 1 UG         | 94122       | Jan 6-7                                          | 1/6, 4:00-10:00 pm                         |
| Management—Global Emphasis                               | MANOT 400         | 2110         | 04100       | D 27 1 10                                        | 1/7, 8:00 am-5:00 pm                       |
| IS: Computer Applications                                | MANGT 498         | 3 UG         | 94123       | Dec 27-Jan 10                                    | 5:15-10:00 pm                              |
| Topics: Leadership for Practitioners                     | MANGT 897         | 3 G          | 94124       | Dec 27-Jan 10 4:30-7:30 pm& varying schedule |                                            |
| IS: Personal Selling                                     | MKTG 498          | 2 UG         | 94125       | Jan 3-10                                         | 6:00-9:30 pm                               |
| Study Skills Laboratory                                  | DED 051           | 2 UG         | 94126       | Jan 2-10                                         | 4:30-8:30 pm                               |
| Career Life Planning                                     | EDCEP 502         | 2 UG         | 94127       | Jan 3-10                                         | 8:30 am-12:40 pm                           |
| Topics: Stress Management                                | EDCEP 786         | 2 UG/G       | 94128       | Jan 3-10                                         | 4:00-7:30 pm                               |
| IS: Teacher Assistant Program                            | EDEL 502          | 1-2 UG       | 94129       | Jan 2-11                                         | 7:00 am-3:00 pm                            |
| IS: Motivating Students                                  | EDACE 502         | 1 UG/G       | 94130       | Jan 3-10                                         | 7:00-8:00 pm on 1/3                        |
|                                                          |                   |              |             |                                                  | & by appt.                                 |
| IS: Teacher Assistant Program                            | EDSEC 502         | 1 UG         | 94131       | Jan 2-11                                         | 7:00 am-3:00 pm                            |
| Introduction to Total Quality Management—Global Emphasis | DEN 300           | 1 UG         | 94132       | Jan 6-7                                          | 1/6, 4:00–10:00 pm1/7, 8:00 am–5:00 pm |
| CAD in Engineering and Construction                      | ARE 311           | 2 UG         | 94133       | Dec 27-Jan 10                                    | 8:00-noon                                  |
| Transportaion Planning                                   | CE 570            | 2 UG         | 94134       | Dec 27-Jan 10                                    | 5:30 pm-9:00 pm                            |
| Personal Computer Applications                           | CIS 115           | 3 UG         | 94135       | Dec 27-Jan 10                                    | 8:00 am-noon                               |
| Personal Computer Applications                           | CIS 115           | 3 UG         | 94136       | Dec 27-Jan 10                                    | 1:00-5:00 pm                               |
| Topics: C for UNIX Programming                           | CIS 490           | 2 UG         | 94137       | Dec 27-Jan 10                                    | 1:30-4:30 pm                               |
| Prob: Arts & Arch. in England                            | IDH 782           | 2 UG/G       | 94138       | Dec 26-Jan 8                                     | 8:00 am-8:00 pm                            |
| Topics: HACCP in Food Systems                            | FN 782            | 2 UG/G       | 94139       | Jan 3-10                                         | 8:30 am-1:15 pm                            |
| Coping with Life Crises                                  | HDFS 603          | 3 UG/G       | 94140       | Dec 27-Jan 10                                    | 8:00 am-noon                               |
| Pediatric Speech-Language Assessment: Baby Talk          | HDFS 700          | 1 UG/G       | 94141       | Jan 3-6                                          | 4:00-7:10 pm                               |

1 UG/G

93222 Jan 3-6

4:00-7:00 pm

220 and at least 4 credit hours in Math, Physics, Computer Science (any combination) in courses numbered 200 or higher; (4) any one of PHYS 451, PSYCH 460 or 630, or CIS 301. Exceptionally well-read freshmen and sopho-

Attention Deficit Disorder

ivision of Continuing Education

Janusz Jaworski, junior in pre-professional elementary education, and Camille Boggs, senior in dance, tease Kelley Scott (center), graduate student in landscape architecture, during a dance routine called "It's about sex ...?" Wednesday night in Nichols Theatre.

Winter Dance displays veterans

RUSSELL FORTMEYER

A woman stretches her leg out over the shoulder of a fellow dancer. In front of her, a group of dancers sit on the floor, relaxed, stretching their muscles in anticipation of the big opening night. The big opening night is, of course, "WinterDance '94," the Kansas State Repertory Dance Company's annual showcase of student talent. Twenty-some odd dancers, who have been rehearsing since September, will present their collective talents in a show featuring as many varied styles as people. Vera Orlock, program director of WinterDance and assistant professor of speech, said this last week before the show opens on Thursday is a real transition period for the

"The dancers put everything from who these people are." together," Orlock said.

"There are some very technical dancers and some that have never danced at all," she said, describing the motley company.

"It's a fun and varied show - a lot of beautiful movement, athletic movement, and fun movement," Orlock said. About half of the company are dance majors, the others have either taken some dance or are just dance enthusiasts.

The dance styles differ widely. "It's so varied," Orlock said, citing music from Aretha Franklin to Johann Bach, and dance ranging from ballet to jazz to modern.

Orlock choreographed two of the eight dance pieces being performed. Her "Free Floating Anxiety" is the culmination of many talents.

"Each dancer's creative input created the piece. It really came

There are seven dancers in Anxiety. but only two are dance majors.

"At the audition, I chose people who were physical movers - who run and dive into the floor and are just robust with their movement," Orlock said. "I try to make them look good in the movement they do."

Orlock will be showcased in a solo performance of San Francisco choreographer Evangel King's "Shedding Light #1."

King approached the work by asking Orlock her favorite dance moves and recording the interview. The dance is performed to the recording with an extensive use of props. Orlock describes Light as a performance piece.

"It's not so much the dancing. It's more of a multimedia production."

Guest choreographer Naomi Goldberg, artistic director of Los

WINTERDANCE

The Kansas State Repertory Dance Company presents "WinterDance '94" at 8 p.m. Dec. 1-3 and at 2 p.m. Dec. 3 in NicholsTheatre. Tickets are $7 for general public and $5 for students and senior citizens.

Angeles Modern Dance and Ballet, choreographed two of the pieces in the show. Goldberg will be dancing solo in her "Mango" piece, inspired by a Caribbean folktale.

Her other piece, "In The Midst Of Her Courtship," is based on a 15th-century French poem about 36 women caught in death's grip.

- DANCE

Choreographer brings experience

RUSSELL FORTMEYER

After three weeks of residency with the K-State dance department, Naomi Goldberg is ready to put on a Goldberg is the guest choreographer for Kansas State Repertory Dance Company's presentation of "WinterDance '94" in Nichols Theatre this Thursday through Saturday.

She had a little time to sit for an interview between posing for publicity photos and warming up for the final dress rehearsal Wednesday night.

After changing from her costume, she sat down on the stairs winding up Nichols Hall atrium and began to discuss her

Goldberg choreographed two pieces for WinterDance; "Mango," her solo dance, and "In The Midst Of Her Courtship," a two-piece ensemble dance.

Goldberg is no newcomer to the dance world. She has studied with the School of American Ballet and the academy of the New York City Ballet (which performed at McCain Auditorium earlier this year). She grew up in a musical family.

"I still consider the music to be a very important part of choreography," she said. In 1981, she moved to Seattle and danced with the Pacific Northwest Ballet. After leaving the Ballet, she entered Barnard College, the women's college of Columbia University in New York City.

It was at Barnard where Goldberg studied modern dance and choreography and where she first encountered her biggest influence, contact improvisation.

At the time, most of the contact improvisation dancers in the United States were based in San Francisco, so Goldberg's curiosity and interest brought her to the West Coast and eventually Los Angeles.

"I think contact improvisation is the polar opposite of ballet," Goldberg said.

"It's basically a partner dance form which marries people of all sizes and shapes and levels of technical dance experience.'

Goldberg uses that style of precise formal movement mixed with the sort of shared contact with two human beings in her WinterDance piece, In The Midst Of Her Courtship.

Goldberg is artistic director of the Los Angeles Modern Dance and Ballet, teaches dance Loyola-Marymount University and California State University — Long Beach. She founded the Modern Dance and Ballet ensemble five years ago. Since then, the Ballet has toured Southern California, played in community residencies, and most recently performed as part of the Summer Nights at the Ford 1994 season at the John Anson Ford Amphitheatre.

Goldberg said dance is spreading through the country.

She credits great college dance programs for the spreading popularity of dance.

"I think this is a fine dance program. The students are flexible between styles, and the faculty is committed to see the quality in technique," Goldberg performers.

Committee reviews insurance plan

KIMBERLY WISHART Collegian

The Student Health Advisory Committee, a team of 12 students and two faculty advisers, has been reviewing the health-insurance plan used at Lafene Health Center.

"This is something that happens very year," said John Bell, chairman of SHAC and non-degree part is what we're doing right now.

graduate student. "SHAC will We're looking at other possibilities. recommend a policy to student government to vote on as the K-State policy.

He said the policy will be submitted to Senate in January for the ratification process to begin.

"That's the formal part of the process," Bell said. "The informal

Other insurance policies offer different price ranges. We have a good policy now, but we want to see what's available with something SHAC performs this task annually in order to bring the best benefits to the students.

"They look at the current plan for adequacy and review if there have been any problems with the plan," Lannie Zweimiller, director of Lafene, said.

This is one of the toughest things the committee does. They have to decide if it's best to provide a cheap plan the students can afford or to provide a plan that gives the best coverage.'

Zweimiller said the committee has a difficult time deciding which end of the spectrum to choose. "They're caught

Dilly's

Deli

philosophical battle themselves. They are always wondering if they're doing the right thing," he said.

"Do you take a cheap plan to get you by, or do you provide a resource that covers you a little bit more but costs a bit more?" Ultimately, SHAC wants the final decision to come from the students.

"We love suggestions," Bell complaint from students, and Zweimiller said lower premiums were one thing they were looking for in a new plan. Zweimiller said a reason for slightly higher premiums was due to decreased enrollment.

"Enrollment has fallen, and we're not sure why. Prices have increased some but not dramatically, and that's the biggest complaint we have. The more enrollees you have will keep the High costs have been a premium down," Zweimiller said.

estaurant

lub

Ready to Pack Some Heat?

Plan your Spring Break through the

KANSAS STATE

LASSIFIEDS

555 103 Kedzie Hall

Little Caesars

CHEESER! CHEESER!

MEATSA!MEATSA!

PEPPERONI! PEPPERONI!

SUPREME!SUPREME! Green Pepper & Beef Topping

NY 2 MEDIUM PIZZAS

PLUS TAX 2 LARGE $13.98

OW GET - CAESARS SINGLES™ ONE MEDIUM $5.99*ONE LARGE $7.99 Expires 12-13-94

Crown Limo Service

 ♦ Weddings • Bachelor & Bachelorette Parties • Formals • ◆ Formal Dinners ◆ Birthdays
 & Anniversaries
 ◆ Date Dashes

Sunday-Thursday $30/hr Friday-Saturday $40/hr

Crown Limo Service To Make a Reservation

1/2 Sandwich Cup of soup and drink for 5-Close Mon.-Sun "No Coupon" Specials NONE accepted) Everyday Everyday Two-fers Three-fers PIZZAS with - PIZZAS with TOPPINGS each TOPPING each COKES with ice COKES with ice $10.34 $8.45

776-5577 Pizza Shuttle

$1 BRASS MONKEY SHOTS! $1 NATTIES! $1.50 AMARETTO SOURS!

SPINNING ALL YOUR FAVORITE BEASTIE TUNES

IVERSIONS

B.F.A. SHOWING IN WILLARD GALLERY

Nathan Sharfi's exhibition titled "The First Opening of the Universe Within the Sub-Conscious Mind of Nathan Sharfi" will be on display through Dec. 2 in Willard 116. Sharfi's work is in drawing and ceramics and deals with life through spiritual explanation along with his ideas of self-consciousness.

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

CRYPTOQUIP

Yesterday's Cryptoquip: DESSERT OF CHOICE

DOWN AT THE COURTHOUSE RESTAURANT WAS

Today's Cryptoquip clue: U equals C

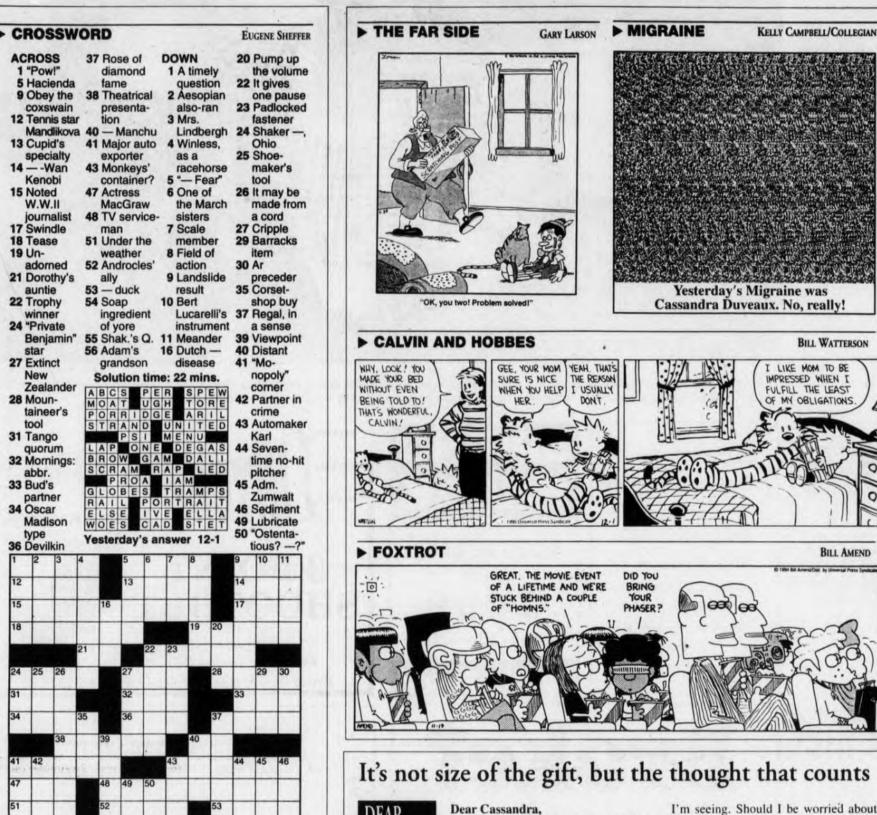

TIW LJOGVODE

U M J Y U M ' W

I KFGG LFFKM

KOYAV FN

DECEMBER 1, 1994

DEAR CASSIE. Cassandra Duveaux

Write to Cassie: 116 Kedzie Hall Manhattan, KS

My boyfriend and I got into this huge fight the other day about what to get each other for Christmas. We've only been dating a couple months, and he thinks we shouldn't waste our money on each other because we're

I agree we don't need to go all-out on each other, but 'tis the season and I'd at least like to get him a little something for the holidays. I don't care if he doesn't get me anything, but I don't think he should get mad at me if I get him something small. After all, it's the thought that counts.

So tell me Cassie, what's the big deal? If he's going to be so anal, maybe I need to reconsider the type of man

I'm seeing. Should I be worried about Sincerely,

All I want for Christmas...

Dear All I want for Christmas...

It's early in your relationship, and you're both still getting to know each others' habits. Right now, he's probably like every other broke college student and is having a hard time justifying money spent on gifts when he may not be able to pay the rent.

As far as this Christmas, get him something small. Maybe flowers or something for his apartment. That way you feel good, and he doesn't feel overwhelmed if he can't give you an expensive gift back.

'Suede' vocals, lyrics mesmerizing

The London Suede "dog man star" Nude Records

Ratings: *** Sell plasma *** Check it out ** Think twice * Giggle at it in bargain bins

AMY ZIEGLER

Take the Beatles, throw in Pink Floyd, add some American alternative music and shake them up in a bag and you'll get an English pop band named

London Suede's newest release, "dog man star," is a charming blend of 12 songs which explore everything from James Dean's death to passionate relationships.

The first song, "Introducing the Band," had a distinct English flavor.

The first time I listened to it, I thought I was listening to Pink Floyd's "The Wall."

The distinct vocals, instrumental music, and background voice repeatedly saying "die numb," made the first song an excellent way to kick off the

The 11 songs that followed were more patterned after American alternative music than British rock. The band mastered the art of using delicate sounds and heavy guitars to achieve the perfect bal-The lead vocalist, Brett Anderson, had a soft, crisp voice during the classical music introductions and at other times, his voice would change dramati-The band also experimented with sound effects

In the song "Daddy's Speeding," Anderson's voice fades in and out, creating an eerie sensation, while in the song "The Power," a 40-piece horn section backs up the vocals. "Daddy's Speeding," revolves around a story of a man who goes back in time to save James Dean from his fatal car crash. Other lyrics, such as "I want the style of a woman, the kiss of a man," in the opening song, "Introducing the Band," have caused controversy in Reviewers for the U.K. press classified the band as "the most audacious, mysterious, perverse, sexy, ironic, hilarious, cocky, melodramatic and downright mesmerizing band you're likely to fall in love with.' The band has toured America twice during its music career, and frequently sell out shows in the U.K., where it has achieved superstar status.

Its debut album, "Suede," went straight to the top of the U.K. pop charts and outsold its nearest rival, Depeche Mode, four to one, to become the fastest-selling album since 1984, and turned U.K. gold on its second day of release.

The creative lyrics, instrumental section and unique songs will give you a taste of the world of British music, and listening to it will be well worth

Willie Wildcat Sign here please

The Wildcats are Aloha Bowl bound, and you can wish them good luck by signing the Collegian's special Bowl Bound Page to appear in the Friday, Dec. 9 issue. Anyone can sign, the cost is only $2 and your signature will be in the Collegian for the Cats to see.

Come by the table in the K-State Union between 11 a.m. and 1:30 p.m. on Dec. 1 and 2 or stop by 103 Kedzie Hall between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. before 4 p.m. Monday, Dec. 5.

Good luck, Cats

German folk culture serenades K-State students

Folk-song choir brings heritage across borders

KIMBERLY WISHART

A bit of German culture was brought to K-State students last

Sixteen students held green folders that had the German flag displayed on the front cover at the International Student Center to perform their 40-minute concert.

The K-State German Folk Song Choir was started by Christiane Kuechler, graduate student in modern languages.

"I am German, and I'm a German GTA here. I've always been interested in music," Kuechler said. "It was a chance to bring German culture across the borders.

The performers were not required to be music majors or German majors.

"I've been in German for about five years, so I have a personal interest in it," Scott Huggins, junior in modern languages, said. "There's at least three people who don't even speak German. They sing by phonetics."

Kuechler said they had been practicing once a week for the whole semester.

"We had a lot of fun doing rehearsals, so we had so much fun with that, we decided to put on a performance," Kuechler said.

The performance consisted of 13 pieces accompanied by piano or

Although each song was done in German, the singers introduced and explained each song prior to its performance.

Their first piece was an 18thcentury piece about a wanderer who had to leave his love. When it was introduced, they said this was a was in the service in Germany. Presley later translated the song into English, and it is more commonly known as "Wooden

Most of the songs involved heart-broken lovers and romance, but there were some hiking songs about nature and a waltz.

During the last songs, the lights were turned out, and candles were handed out to each singer. They were lit out of respect for the character in the song who was going to commit suicide because his lover had been unfaithful.

The concert ended on a happier note when the 40 people in the audience were asked to join the group in singing the German version of "Silent Night, Holy

"It was more than I expected. They sang a lot more songs than I thought they would," said Allison Storrs, junior in bakery science and management. "I came here because a lot of my German classmates are Christiane Kuechler, graduate student in modern languages, sings a solo during the K-State German Folk Song Choir's first performance at the International Student Center Wednesday night. The group was started by Kuechler at the beginning of the semester.

46,

WINTER

1800 Claflin • 776-1515

Cash Pawn & Gun, Inc. is having a holiday "Ask For It" Sale!!

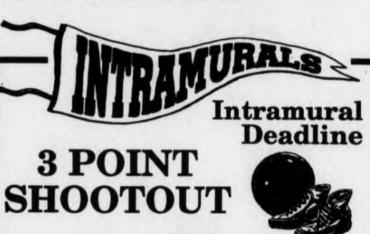

We'll give you a 20% discount off all Sega & Nintendo games through New Year's, but only if you ask for it. 1917 Ft. Riley Blvd. BREAK

Cancun from

1-800-235-TRIP

Spring Fever!

Deadline: Thursday, Dec. 1 at 5 p.m. Entry: Rec Services Office at the Rec Complex Enter at the Rec Services Office • 532-6980

The KSU Department of Speech

CPI photo finish

Sale ends December 24, 1994 BURNES OF BOSTON ENLARGEMENT SALE CPI Film 3 Pack FRAME SALE

ON 1-HOUR FILM DEVELOPING

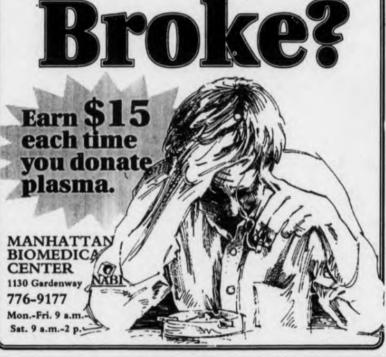

No limit on rolls. Offer applies to regular one-hour price on first set of 4x6 color prints. 1 process. Cannot be combined with other offers. Coupon good through February 4, 1995.

CPI photo finish

Each Picture Is The Best It Can Be, GUARANTEED!

One Hour Service On Enlargements And Reprints

Manhattan Town Center (main entrance by food court)

KANSAS STATE REPERTORY DANCE COMPANY

December 1, 2, & 3 at 8 p.m. December 3 at 2 p.m. Nichols Theatre

Choreography by Luke Kahlich . Vera Orlock . Achmed Valk Naomi Goldberg

> Tickets/Reservations: McCain Box Office Mon.-Fri., Noon-5 p.m. 532-6428

General Public $7 Students/Sr. Citizens $5

Partially funded by SGA

K-STATE UNION

1:4

100

M

JLASSIFIEDS

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

OUR BASIC RATE To run 20 words or less for one day is $5. For each word over 20 add 20¢ per word. Call 532-6555 for consecutive day rates.

Announcements

S Financial Aid S

Attention All Students! er $5 Billion in FREE Finance

Aid is now available for students nationwide from private sector grants & scholarships! All students are eligible regardless of grades, income, or parent's income. For over information, call

1-800-959-1605 ext. F57681

50 PERCENT off single

DEADLINES

Classified ads must be placed by noon the day before the date the ad runs. Classifed display ads must be placed by 4 p.m. two working days before the date the ad runs.

HOW TO PAY

All classifieds must be paid in advance unless you have an established account with Student Publications. Cash, check, MasterCard

020

SHIPPING UPS World Wide AA Pack-n-Ship, 225 McCall Rd.

776-9124.

Lost and Found

Found ads can be placed free for three days.

Call 532-6555 to place your classified.

COLORADO SKIING, rent

sportscards! Just in-'94- '95 Basketball and Hockey. Bases Loaded Sportscards. 410A Sportscards. Poyntz, 537-4141. A KSU PHONE BOOK! It's the best way to keep in touch with friends dur-ing the holidays. Stop by 103 Kedzie to pur-chase. $2.25 students ing from 5000-hour ATP instructor. Private single-engine through ATP multi-engine. Hugh Irvin, 539-3128.

CD'S AND VHS Movies! Never pay over $8! Thousands to choose from. We buy your old CD's and VHS Movies! Lair Gauche, 1131 Moro (Aggieville) 776-3302.

our Winter Park condo for your winter vaca-tion. Call for more infor-mation or to see pic-tures. 539–3078.

COME FLY with us, K-State Flying Club has five air-planes. For best prices call Troy Brockway, 776-6735 after 5:30p.m.

MATURE FEMALE seeks quiet accommodations, private room, bath, spring semester, walk-ing distance to KSU, (816)753-2334 evenings.

Earn $15 each time you donate plasma.

MANHATTAN BIOMEDICAL CENTER 1130 Gardenway 776-9177

n.-Fri. 9 a.m.-6:30 p.m., Sat. 9 a.m.-2 p.m.

Personals

er's license or other) when placing a per-sonal.

brate the coming year. I love you like you could no other, but remem-ber that I'm not your mother. You think I'm

Meetings/

LOST A silver ring on Fri-day November 18 on campus. If found please call 587-9329. LOST: AXO and diamond pendant Nov. 29. Senti-mental value. Reward. 537-8073.

We require a form of picture ID (KSU, driv-

RB- IN 30 days and 30 nights, we'll pledge our love by candlelight. In front of friends and family dear, we'll celespunky or so you say, but just you wait until New Years day! As we begin our life together. All my love your I G

Events

TOASTMASTERS A mu tual support group for people who want to improve their public speaking skills. Also, an interesting forum. We meet twice monthly. Visitors welcome. Call Charlie, 776-3302.

Parties-n-More

ADD A splash to your next bash. Great anytime. Birthdays, mid-terms and Wildcat victory par-ties. Wet-N-Wild Mobile Hot Tubs, 537-1825.

ADD AN extra touch of class to your next par-ty. Call Wayne's Water Party to rent a portable hot tub 537-7587, 539-7561.

For Rent-Apts. Furnished

FOR RENT: one large bed-room furnished apart-

JAN. 1. One-bedrooms in complexes $280- $300. No pets, lease required 587-0399.

NICE TWO-BEDROOM suitable for 3-4 people. Two car parking. Free ment close to campus. Call 537-0687 leave message if not home.

washer and dryer in basement. One-half

KEDZIE HALL PARKING ROOM 103 PARKING SOUTH OF THE UNION

OFFICE HOURS: MONDAY-FRIDAY 8 a.m.-5 p.m. (except holidays)

OR WRITE: COLLEGIAN CLASSIFIEDS, K-State Collegian, Kedzie Hall 103, Manhattan, Kan. 66506

AVAILABLE JAN. 1. one- of

E TWO-BEDROOM available in Jan. $420. Across the street from campus. Water/ trash paid. 537–2145.

ONE-BEDROOM apartment for rent. Great pricel 327 Fre-mont. For more infoma-tion call after 6:30 (587-

QUIET SURROUNDINGS for study. Campus one mile, one-bedroom, some utilities paid. Minimum seven month lease, no 537-8389.

TWO-BEDROOM, CLOSE to campus, one and one-half bath. $480/ month. No pets. Or one-bedroom $315/ month, 537-7542 before 9p.m.

Unfurnished

1219 KEARNEY two-bed-room $495; 814 Thur-ston studio $275; avail-able Jan. 1. Water and garbage included, quiet, no pets. 539-5136.

KEARNEY, large one-bedroom, avail-able Jan. 1, $310. Quiet, private, no pets, no smoking. Water and trash paid. 539–3078.

A SPACIOUS one and one-half bedroom, $260, 776-6771.

AVAILABLE DEC. 17, one-bedroom. 1005 Blue-mont $385. Two blocks east of Aggieville and campus. No pets. 776-3804.

AVAILABLE IN January, two-bedroom west of City Park. 1417- 1419 Leavenworth $475. Water/ trash paid. Parking available. No pets. 776-3804.

bedroom house; off-street parking; two blocks from campus, and also Aggieville. Share laundry facilities. Call 776-3546. AVAILABLE JAN. 1, onebedroom near campus. 1700 N. Manhattan. Royal Towers. $395. Sun deck, hot tubs, laundry facilities. No pets. 776-3804.

ONE-BEDROOM,

ONE-BEDROOM APART-*JR
MENT available Jan. 1.
Close to campus.
(913)456-2090 day,
(913)456-8297 evenings.

bedroom basement apartment near City Park. 300 N. 11th, $300.

Water, trash paid. No pets. 776-3804.

AVAILABLE NOW at Wareham Hotel, 418 Poyntz. VA Studio apartment $340.

Water/ trash paid. Laundry facilities on premises. No pets. 776-3804.

room, two bath duplex at 606 Vattier. Available 133 Dec. or second semes-ter. $800, $800 deposit 776-2102.

apartment with fire-place, all appliances in-cluding washer/ dryer. *3*. Off-street parking. No pets. $435. 776–8094.

BRAND NEW four-bed-

LUXURY TWO-BEDROOM

ONE-BEDROOM AVAIL-ABLE in Dec. 1854 Cla-flin $350 one block *J? north of campus. Laun-dry facilities. Water/ trash paid. 776-3804.

COLLEGIAN CLASSIFIEDS

ONE-BEDROOMS AVAIL-ABLE in January near campus. 1854-1858 Cla-flin. $355-$380. Water/ trash paid. Laundry facilities. No pets. 776

ONE-BEDROOMS AVAIL-ABLE at 1026 Sunset. $385- $395. Remodeled units. Central eir/ heat. Laundry facilities. Three blocks west of campus. 776-3804.

SPACIOUS STUDIO apart ment with separate bath/ kitchen, available in Aggieville starting Christmas break. $290/ month, low utilities. 537-1587.

STUDIOS AVAILABLE in Dec. at Wareham Hotel. 418 Poyntz. $320- $375. Water/ trash paid. Laundry facilities on premises. No pets. 776-3804.

THREE-BEDROOM AVAIL ABLE now. 1503 Fairchild $425, second floor of house. Three blocks southeast of campus. Water/ trash paid. No pets. 776-3804.

THREE-BEDROOM, ONE-HALF block from cam-HALF block from cam-pus. 1829 College Heights. Water/ trash paid. Laundry facilities on premises. No pets.

TWO-BEDROOM BASE-MENT, 1521 Leaven-worth, $290 bills paid, 539-8401.

****** CAMBRIDGE $ SQ. APT. 2 BEDROOMS *FIREPLACE *POOL 537-9064 WEEKDAYS 9:00-4:30

TWO-BEDROOM BASE-MENT, 901 Moro, $360, bills paid, 539-8401. TWO-BEDROOM BASE

MENT apartment. Close to City Park. $300/ month starting Jan. 1. Call 537-2597. TWO-BEDROOM NEAR

City Park, available in Dec. 1026 Osage. $495. Water/ trash paid. Laun-dry facilities on premis-es. No pets. 776-3804.

TWO-BEDROOM NEAR City Park. 1026 Osage $495. Available in Jan. Water/ trash paid. Laun-dry facilities. No pets. 776-3804.

Available

ONE ROOM for rent in mo-bile home. $150/ month covers rent and utilities, with laundry. No deposit. No pets/ smoking Call Larry 587-0378.

For Rent-Houses AVAILABLE JAN, one-bed

room duplex, east of campus, laundry room $325, lease, deposit and utilities. 539–3672. BIG BEAUTIFUL four-bed room. Newly refur-nished, central air in or unfurnished. Avail able now, 1518 Hous-ton, 539-0527. HOUSE ONE block from campus. Four-bed-rooms, formal dining room, one and one-half bathrooms. New high efficiency furnace and water heater. $900. Available Dec. 1. No smoking or pets. 537-9686.

NON-DRINKER AND smoker, for two-bed-room place. No pets. References. 539-1554.

Roommate Wanted $175 MONTH, non-smoker

5 MONTH, non-smoker. Across the street from campus on Denison. Own room. Male pre-ferred, call 537-8654, $210, BIG room and close to campus. 537-9813.

1829 COLLEGE Heights.

roommate wanted. Fur-nished, close to cam-pus. $190/ month and one-fourth utilities. Call

AVAILABLE NOW- female roommate needed-across the street from campus- own room/ own bathroom. Dec. rent free. Call 587-8430 FEMALE NON-SMOKING roommate. To share one-third utilities and rent of mobile home. Call between 1- 5p.m. Ask for Deborah. Ask for 776-6042. FEMALE ROOMMATE for three-bedroom house beginning in Jan. $200/ month plus one-third utilities; washer and dryer; close to campus. 776-1890.

FEMALE ROOMMATE to share two-bedroom ment, with three girls. One block from cam-pus. $150. Call

FEMALE ROOMMATE to share spacious duplex by Westloop. $238/ month plus one-half utilities. Call 537-6017.

MALE ROOMMATE wanted for two-bed-room house, one block from campus, utilities FEMALE paid, pets considered $200 a month. Call 537–4947 after 6p.m.

MALE ROOMMATE wanted for furnished three-bedroom apart-ment, one-half block FEMALE from campus. $215/ month plus one-third utilities. Great room-mates, 539-3639.

ROOMMATE FEMALE wanted immediately. Two blocks from cam-pus. $240/ month plus one-fourth utilities. Nice well furnished house, own room Please call 776-9548 ROOMMATE FEMALE wanted to share spa-cious two-bedroom spartment. Starting Dec. 17- Jan. 1. Woodway apartments. Call 776-4901, leave mes-

MALE ROOMMATE: three blocks from cam-pus, furnished, dish-washer. $210 plus half utilities. Call 587-9597.

FEMALE ROOMMATES wanted to share a very nice, fully furnished du-plex. Available spring semester. $250/ month plus share of utilities. Must see! Please call 539-1882 after 1:300 m. 539-1882 after 1:30p.m.

FEMALE TO share four bedroom/ two room house. S and summer. Must like pets: Walking distance to campus 776-6052. FEMALE to share three-bedroom apartment, one-third electric, $215/ month. One block from campus and Aggleville. Rent negotiable 587-9115. Great local FEMALE TO share two-bedroom apartment. $205/ month plus one-half utilities. Water and trash paid. Available im-mediately. 587–9679 or (913)263–2036. FEMALE WANTED, Available immediately. Own room, $186/ month, one-fifth utilities. Onehalf block from cam-pus. Washer/ dryer in house. Call 776-6509. FEMALE, NONSMOKER for three-bedroom apart-ment three blocks from Aggieville and campus. Available when you are for $110 plus one-third utilities, no laundry Call 537–3802. FEMALES NEEDED share nice three-bedroom apartment, one and one-half bath. $220 per person. Move-in end of Dec. Call 776-0293. NON-SMOKER. wanted for spring se mester, $131/ month

Water/ trash paid for. Call Eric at 587-8758. MALE OR female room mate wanted. January 1 or sooner. Own room. Washer/ Dryer. $137.50/ month. All bills paid. Call 537-6023. Leave MALE ROOMMATE fo apartment one block from Ahearn; $225 plus one-third utilities, own room 537-5069. MALE ROOMMATE needed $172/ month plus one-fifth utilities. Call MALE ROOMMATE need

ed. $210/ month. One third utilities. One-half block from campus. Two blocks from Ag-gieville. Very Nice. Call 537–3029. MALE ROOMMATE needed. $175/ month. Own room. One-third utili-ties. Call Jeff at 776-0674.

MALE ROOMMATE, available now, rent $187.50 a month. One-fourth utilities. Call 537–1566. MALE STUDENT room mate needed Jan. 1. $180 per month. 537-4186 Brad. NON-SMOKER MALE, wanted for spring se-mester. Call 537-3555 for details. MALES NEEDED for four-bedroom house by Jan. Large room, close to campus. Call 537-2054.

NEED MALE to complete three-bedroom apart-ment. Close to campus-washer and dryer. $130 plus one-seventh utili-ties. Call after 4p.m., 913-632-5211.

NON-SMOKING FEMALE roommate wanted to share apartment $194 plus utilities at Woodway Apartments. 587-0336.

NONSMOKING FEMALE needed to share nice quiet country home Kitchen and living area fully furnished. Washer/ dryer. Ten minutes from campus. All black-top road. Available semester spring se (913)494-2391.

OWN ROOM. $200 per month plus one-fifth utilities. Close to cam-pus. Call 587-0330. PERSON DESIRED to share my home, private fur-nished bedroom. 587-0076. ROOMMATE NEEDED for upperstory of house, close to campus, $190, one-third utilities. Call Katie/ Kenrick 587-9416.

ROOMMATE NEEDED to share three-bedroom house. Close to campus, own room, washer/ dryer, $208/ month, one-third utilities, no contract. 537–8967.

OMMATE WANTED non-smoking male, spacious apartment with washer and dryer, $242 monthly plus one-half utilities. 587-9462 ask ROOMMATE

ROOMMATE WANTED to share duplex with fe-male. Two- closet bed-room, basement, and half garage available. Close to KSU. Half or year lease, pets. $250. month. Call Eric at

ROOMMATE WANTED. non-smoker, close to campus, $150 plus one-fourth utilities. Call 537-3020.

ROOMMATE WANTED. Beginning Jan. 1 Near campus washer and dryer. $195 plus one-half utilities. Own half utilities. Own room. 537-2954.

ROOMMATE WANTED Non-smoking male col-lege student needed to share nice two-bedroom apartment. About 10 minute walk to campus. Close to Ag-gieville too. $210/ month plus utilities. Sorry, no pets! Lease starts when you move in. Call John right away at 776–9559.

STARTS JAN. 1. No lease/ deposit. $150/ month.
Two-bedroom base-ment apartment. Non-smoker. Male/ female.
After 5p.m./ leave mes-sage. Rena 537-0480.

THREE GUYS need fourth. Non-smoker, $140/ Non-smoker, $140, month plus one-fourth utilities. Own room, parking, laundry, three blocks to KSU. 539-1025, Mark.

WANTED NON-SMOKING and non-drinking room-mate for basement fur-nished private bed-room. Walk to KSU. $150. Share utilities. 539-1554.

WANTED ROOMMATES to share nice four-bed-room house for spring and/ or fall '95 semes-ters call Shauna (776-3130). 150

Sublease

A VERY nice huge, two-bedroom, three bath, in Aggieville. Sign semester or one year lease

AVAILABLE JAN. 1 for spring semester. Nice/ spacious two-bedroom apartment includes washer/ dryer/ dish-washer $440/ month. Call 539-1874 or leave AVAILABLE JAN. 1. Must see. One-bedroom spa-cious wood paneled, fireplace, etc. One block from campus, rent $275, heat/ air condi-tion included. Call

AVAILABLE JAN. 1. Twobedroom apartment. One block from both Aggieville and Campus. Clean, spacious and has dishwasher. If interested. Call 587-8172.

AVAILABLE NOW. Dec. rent free. Big two-bed-room; balcony, pools, hot tub, Westloop eree. Rent $435. Trash, water paid. Call Shannon, 587-8890.

FEMALE TO share threebedroom house, own room. Washer/ dryer. Two blocks from cam-pus, Aggieville. $175, plus one-third utilities. 587-9224.

FOUR-BEDROOM, TWO bath, available Dec. or Jan. $ negotiable, 587-4120. NICE THREE- four-bedroom apartment, $570/ month. Washer/ dryer one-half gas, cable, and water. Close to campus and Aggieville. Call 776-2366.

ONE-BEDROOM NISHED apartment available Dec. 20. One block from campus and Aggieville. 776-5812 or 537-7542.

ONE-BEDROOM IN a threebedroom apartment, two blocks to campus. $220, mostly furnished. Move in after finals or Jan. 1. Leave message for Amy at 776-0293 or 776-7004.

QUIET, NICE two-bedroom apartment for sublease. Free December rent. Trash and water paid. 539-1787.

SPACIOUS— EIGHT-BED-ROOM house for sub-leases Jan. 1– July 31. Wood floors, two bath, washer/ dryer; walk to campus/ Aggieville; Next to City Park. De-posits paid. 539-3679.

SUBLEASE STARTING Dec. 19. Nice one-bed-room apartment; one and one-half blocks from campus! Includes new kitchen appliances; central air; and laundry facility in building. $370 a month (water and trash paid). Call 587–1921.

SUBLEASE: ONE-BED-ROOM in three-bed-room house. $215/ month plus one-third utilities. Jan.- Aug. Matt 539-7472.

TWO-BEDROOM, CLOSE to Aggieville and cam pus. Available Jan. 1212 Bluemont, call

TWO-BEDROOM, CLOSE to campus, City Park, Aggieville. Available Jan. 1. Washer/ dryer/ dishwasher. Call WOODWAY APARTMENT for sublease. Female roommate needed to sublease furnished apartment beginning Jan. 1 or sooner. $175/ month plus one-third utilities or best offer. If interested call 776-9587 or leave message.

DIRECTORY

Resume/ Typing

225

BRING YOUR papers resumes, and projects to life at The Computer Help Desk. Top- quality printing, with graphics if desired. Great stuff a great prices! 537-3018.

PROFICIENT IN WordPer-fect. Will do typing at night. Laser printer. Call Judy at 539-7100 or (913)456-9642.

Pregnancy Testing

Pregnancy Testing Center 539-3338

· Free pregnarky testing · Totally confidential

·Same day results

 Call for appointment Located across from campus in

Anderson Village Mon.-Fri. 9 a.m.-5 p.m.

Child Care

RESPONSIBLE PERSON needed to watch our one year old in our home, beginning in January. Walking dis-tance to campus. 776-6346.

Automotive Repair

NISSAN- DATSUN Repair Service. 22 years ex-perience. Mazdas, Hon-das and Toyotas also. Auto Craft, 2612 Dipper Lane Manhattan Kan sas. 537–5049. 8a.m. 5p.m. Mon.- Fri. 255

Other Services

> MODELS NEEDED male and female models needed for haircut, color and perm educa-tional classes. These services are at no charge. Please contact Hair Experts Design Team, M-F, 776-4455.

PROMPT CONTRACEPTIVE and abortion services. Dale L. Clinton, M.D., Lawrence, (913)841-5716.

EMPLOYMENT/ CAREERS

Help Wanted

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment/Career classification. Readers are advised to approach any such employment opportunity with reasonable caution. The Collegian urges our readers to contact the Better Business Bureau, 501 SE Jefferson, Topeka, KS 66607-1190. (913)232-0454.

$1500 WEEKLY possible mailing our circulars! No experience required Begin Now! For information call (202)298-8957.

EMPLOY MENT- Fishing Indus-try. Earn up to $3000- $6000 plus per month. Room and board! Transportation! Male/ Female. No experience necessary (206)545-4155 ext

Early Birds:

If you're reliable and you enjoy earlymorning work, apply now for a Spring 1995 carrier position with the Kansas State Collegian.

If interested, please make sure you have classes no earlier than 9:30 a.m.

Applications available in 103 Kedzie. Deadline is 4 p.m. Wednesday, Dec. 7.

BARTENDER. Experience preferred. Bleachers Sports Bar and Grille 17th and Ft. Riley Blvd. CRUISE SHIPS NOW HIRING- Earn up to $2000 plus/ month working on Cruise Ships or Land- Tour companies. World travel (Hawaii, Mexico, the Caribbean, etc.). Sea-sonal and full-time employment available. No experience necessary. For more information call (206)634–0468 ext. C57683. IMMEDIATE POSITIONS available for students that are reliable and hard working. Train now for a spring semes ter position. Approximately 75- 100 positions available in service and production areas. Times needed are: 6:00- 10:20a.m. MWF or TTH, 10:30a.m.-1:30p.m. MWF or TTH, 1:30p.m.- 4:30p.m. MWF or TTH; 4p.m.-7:30p.m. MWF or TTH Approximately 20 positions available in catering. Times needed are 9:30a.m.—1:30p.m. M—F and some weekends and evenings. Apply immediately at the K-State Union Food-service Office and bring fall semester finals schedule as well as spring semester class

JOB COACH: Part-time po-sition available imme-diately. Responsible for assisting, supervising and training individuals placed on a job site. Co-ordinates with client, Vocational Rehabilitation and employer. Must have high school education and varied competitive employ-ment experiences or be certified as a Job Coach. Please make in-quiry to Ted Harms, Pawnee Mental Health Services, 587-4333.

JON'S NOTES is accepting applications for note takers for next semes-ter. Receive $10 to 15 per lecture. If interested, apply at 623 N. Man hattan or call 587-8381

NATIONAL PARK JOBS- Over 25,000 openings! (including hotel staff, tour guides, etc.) Benefits plus bo nuses! Apply now for best positions. Call: (206)545-4804 ext. N57681.

NOW HIRING Students to work spring 1995 se-mester fee payment Jan. 9 and 10, 1995 Contact Tammie Campbell at 210 Willard Hall. PART-TIME CLEANING job. Saturdays and Sun-days, eight hours and possibly other days. Call 776-7637, Janice

REWARDING, EXCITING summer for sophomore and older college students counselling in the Colorado Rockies. Backpacking, Western riding, water activities, natural science and many outdoor pro-grams. Write: Sanborn Western Camps, P.O. Box 167, Florissant, CO

SKI RESORT JOBS- Hiring for many positions for winter quarter. Over 15,000 open-ings! For more infor-(206)634-0469 ext.

STUDENT OFFICE Help

Need mature, responsi-ble student able to work at least 20 hours a week, including sum-mers. Job entails considerable typing, includ-ing text input for publi-cations and filing sys-tem as well as phone work calling funding agencies. Computer ex-perience essential. Requires polished phone work with public. Must be able to work inde-pendently. Contact Bev-erly at 532-5045, Pre-Award Services, 2 Fairchild Hall.

THREE RESEARCH Assis

tant positions in the De partment of Grain Science and Industry Three full-time pos tions, temporary. Ex perience in laboratory work and instrumenta methods desired. Wil be responsible using and maintaining general laboratory oratory analysis and quality related re-search. Qualifications: Science, Agronomy Bi-ology, Biochemistry, Chemistry, Biochemis-try or Food Science. Send resume, transcript and two letters of reference by Dec. 18, 1994. Starting date Jan. 18, 1995. Please send to Dr. George Lookhart, US Grain Marketing Re-search Laboratory, 1515 search Laboratory, 1515 College Ave. Manhat-tan, KS 66502. Kansas State University is an Equal Opportunity Em-ployer. KSU encourag-

WANTEDIII INDIVIDUALS and student organiza-tions to promote Spring Break '95. Earn substantial money and free trips. Call Inter-Campus Programs (800)327-6013.

es diversity among its

WANTED: STUDENT Employees for immediate openings in the follow ing areas: scholarships loans, and reception area. Contact the Office of Student Financial As-sistance, 104 Fairchild. WORK IN beautiful Colorado mountains this sum-mer at Cheley Colorado

Camps summer pro-gram. R.N.s; drivers; secretaries; wranglers; nanny; kitchen; song leaders; riding, hiking, backpacking, sports, counselors Campers age 9-17. Room and board, cash salary, travel allowance. Our 74th summer! Must be at least 19 to apply. Applicants will be notified of campus interview date. Apply to Cheley Colorado Camps, Box 6525, Denver, Colorado 80206, (303)377-3616.

Business Opportunities

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment/Career classification. Readers are advised to approach any such business opportunity with reasonable caution. The Collegian urges our readers to urges our readers to contact the Better Busi-ness Bureau, 501 SE Jefferson, Topeka, KS 66607-1190. (913)232-0454.

MAKE $3900 first month. Telecommuni-cations Company expanding into area. Needs managers, sales reps, trainers. Small in-vestment reqired. Train-ing provided. Call Jea-neane (800)977-6836 for interview.

NEED EXTRA $ for college and have fun at the same time? Help us distribute our catalogs ound campus. U commissions on each order. There's no sell ing required. Call Stuff Catalog @ 1-800-STUFF-OK.

Items for Sale ACADEMIC INTERNATION

AL Encyclopedias, leather bound, brand new, still in the box, great Christmas gift! Very cheap! 776-7934.

AIWA PORTABLE radio, CD and cassette player. Clarion 6X9 car speak-ers with box and and Rockford amplifier. Price negotiable! Call 539,6639 ask for Shal. 539-6639, ask for ShelGOVERNMENT SURPLUSwool socks and gloves, overcoats, field jackets, G.I. boots, camouflage clothing, sleeping bags, overshoes. Also CARHARTT Workwear. Open Mon.- Sat. 9- 5. Open Sunday till Christ-mas 12- 4. St. Marys Surplus (913)437-2734. GRABAR BICYCLE rack mounts to most trunks, hatchbacks, holds and locks two bikes, good shape. Call 539-9540

HALF CARAT diamond ring in 18 carat gold. Huge savings at $1150. Call 537-2485.

NEW JUSTIN Ladies Red Lacers 8.5B; ladies 11/12, 13/14 jeans; la-dies 12, 14 blouses 539-0873, leave mes-

NEW SMITH Corona elec tric typewriter with quiet printing and com-plete correction systems. (913)395-3801.

Furniture to Buy/Sell

KING SIZE waterbed with bookcase, mirror head board; 80 percent wave-less Land and Sky mat-tress; like new 776-1986 after 5p.m.

Antiques

TIME MACHINE Antique Maul and Geeb Empori-um, 6000 square feet, antiques, collectibles, estate jeweiry, furni-ture, 4910 Skyway Dr. four blocks east of Man-hattan Airport. Open Tues. – Sat. 12 – 6p.m.

Computers

435

CHRISTMAS SPECIAL Multimedia 486DX33 560meg HDD, Local Bus, 4meg Ram, SVGA .28 NI monitor, 2X CD-ROM, DOS, Windows, Speakers, Mouse, etc. $1700 at Lair Gauche, 1131 Moro (Aggieville) 776-3302.

MACINTOSH COMPUT-

ER. Complete sys-tem including print-er only $500. Call Chris (800)289-5685. NEW AND used, computer. We buy, sell, and take trade-ins. Professional technician for up grades, service, and re-pair. Wide choice and low prices. Lair Gauche, 1131 Morb (Aggieville)

Pets and Supplies

PUPPIES EMERGENCY: and dogs all ages and breeds, desperately need homes immediate-ly or will be destroyed. (913)456-2592, (913)494-8415.

Stereo Equipment

460

ALPINE 3321 11-band equalizer, Alpine 160 watt four channel amplifier, two Kenwood 100 watt 6X9, two Pioneer 150 watt 5 1/2 speakers, $500 or best offer 539–3726.

PRECISION POWER car amp 4 ch 200 watt, new $300, 537-7608

Automobiles

85 VW Scirocco. 79K miles. Loaded, excellent condition. $2000 or best offer. 539-7890.

1970 MERCEDES Benz four-door, $995, new paint. Excellent condition, except water pump. See Highway 77, 198 marker, 27 miles north.

1983 HONDA Accord, fourdoor, automatic, air, stereo, cruise. Excellent condition. Asking $1685. Call 776-3410, 1993 PONTIAC Grand AM

SE, two-door, Quad four, five-speed, equipped, 26K, $11,900-negotiable, 587-9284. TOYOTA COROLLA SRS. two-door, 1984, $1000 or best offer, 539-7050.

Bicycles

SCHWINN bike. Price negotiable. Call 539-6513.

MOUNTAIN

is the deadline for KANSAS STATE

OLLEGIAN Classifieds 103 Kedzie 8 a.m. - 5 p.m. 532-6555

CLASSIFIED DIRECTORY

010 Announcements 020 Lost and Found

030 Personals 040 Meetings/Events

050 Parties-n-More

100

REAL ESTATE 105 For Rent — Apt. Furnished

Apt. Unfurnished

110 For Rent -

HOUSING/

115 Rooms Available 120 For Rent - Houses

130 For Rent -Mobile Homes 135 For Sale Mobile Homes

140 For Rent - Garage 145 Roommate Wanted

150 Sublease

155 Stable/Pasture

160 Office Space

125 For Sale - Houses

DIRECTORY

205 Tutor

210 Resume/Typing 215 Desktop Publishing

225 Pregnancy Testing 230 Lawn Care

220 Sewing/Alterations

245 Pet Services 250 Automotive Repair 255 Other Services

235 Child Care

310 Help Wanted 320 Volunteers Needed 330 Business Opportunities

405 Wanted to Buy 410 Items for Sale 240 Musicians/DJs 415 Furniture to Buy/Sell 420 Garage/Yard Sales

MARKET

440 Food Specials 445 Music Instruments 450 Pets and Supplies

425 Auction

430 Antiques

435 Computers

455 Sporting Equipment 460 Stereo Equipment 468 Tickets to Buy/Sell

510 Automobiles 520 Bicycles

530 Motorcycles

PORTATION

TRANS-

540 Car Pool

TRAVEL/ TRIPS

610 Tour Packages 620 Airplane Tickets 630 Train Tickets

640 Bus Tickets

CATEGORIES To help you find what you are looking for, the classified ads have been arranged by category and sub-category. All categories are marked by one of the large images, and sub-categories are preceded by a number designation

TIPS FOR WRITING A CLASSIFIED AD Always put what item or service you are advertising first.

This helps potential buyers find what they are looking for Don't use abbreviations. Many buyers are confused by abbreviations. Consider including the price. This tells buyers if they are looking at something in their price

WE DO NOT USE PHONE NUMBERS OR LAST NAMES IN PERSONALS.

range

A WINNING YEAR

Recreational Services, Kansas State University, Chester E. Peters Recreation Complex

Watch for our full page ad on the 1st day of each month for program information and monthly calendar of Recreational Services Events!

Working it Out Wildcat Workout

Tis the season for the annual "JINGLE BELL WORKOUT" work out..." Wednesday, December 7, at 5:30 p.m. Celebrate working out to noliday tunes with jingle bells on your shoes. The 3:15 p.m. 4:20 p.m. and 5:30 p.m. sessions will be combined for this festive NIRSA Natural High event. Remember during the holiday season to keep exercise

Pool Action

As the weather changes, outdoor runners are welcome to continue their workouts indoors at the Natatorium. Deep water jogging belts provide buoyancy while you work against the resistance of the water without pavement impact. Join the Deep Water Jogging sessions Wednesdays at 11:30 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. or come any time during Recreational Swim hours. This has become a popular exercise program for swimmers and non-swimmers; young and old; novice exercisers and athletes.

Who's Who at Rec Services

SHAUN STOLLER, senior in elementary education, has worked as an Intramural Official for four years. He said being an official builds character. "I like working around the competitive spirit of the games." he said. Stoller, a native of Luray. Kansas, plans to do his student teaching in the Kansas City area this spring. Upon graduating in May. he hopes to remain in Kansas City where he would like to teach and coach. Stoller spends most of his free time with his flancee planning for their June wedding.

ERIC STENBERG native of Clyde, Kansas, has worked as a Building Manager for three years. Stenberg, senior in kinesiology, said working at the Rec Complex has given him diversity in his friendships. "I've made a lot of friends just by seeing different faces everyday," he said. Stenberg will be graduating this May and wishes to pursue a career in cardiac rehabilitation. In his spare time he enjoys lifting weights and playing basketball.

LOCKER RENEWAL

Fall semester lockers expire December 31. Please renew in the Recreational Services office NOW through Thursday, December 22 Renewals will also be accepted January 3.

DISCOUNT OFFERED

January and spring semester facility use cards go on sale Wednesday, December 21, In the Recreational Services office. A 10% discount off the monthly rate will be given when purchasing a semester card (January-May).

Jump rope outside.

The office will close at 5 p.m. Thursday, December 22, for the holidays and will reopen Tuesday, January

CALL 532-6980 FOR ADDITIONAL INFORMATION

Home Workouts

The following workouts can be performed at home with limited equipment during the holidays;

Perform your own step workout on

Do aerobics with fitness programs on the bottom one or two stairs.

Use canned goods as weight to exercise various muscle groups.

Use a towel to aid in stretching.

Weather permitting, walk or jog

Also, avoid the temptation to overeat.

Remember, moderation is the key.

OUTDOOR RENTAL CENTER

winter months. We will continue to rent outdoor equipment by special reservation with 24 hours notice required. Call Steve at 532-6980.

SSS IOB OPENING SSS

rimarily on Tuesdays and Thursdays. Looking ports familiar. Additional information available

Student Office Assistant needed to work or candidates who are computer friendly

The Outdoor Rental Center is CLOSED for the

My Favorite Workout

VANESSA SMITH, senior in graphic design, has been working out at the Rec Complex for two years. Even with school and cheerleading time constraints. Smith finds time to work out five days a week. Her workout usually consists of either step aerobics or using the cardiovascular equipment. Smith said she enjoys using the Rec Complex because of the atmosphere.

INTRAMURAL MANIA

December Dates to Remember

8 a.m.

Entry deadline for 3-Point Shootout

3-Point Shootout Team Points Posted  5 p.m. 1 p.m.-5 p.m.

Rec Services office Rec Complex, large gym Wall of Fame, Rec Complex

INTRAMURAL BASKETBALL Don't miss our largest Intramural sport of the year! Start organizing your teams NOW for the upcoming Basketball season. Entries will be accepted Monday, January 9, through Friday, January 13. Priority on playing times is on a first-come, first-serve basis. Information sheets with league menus will be available Monday, December 12, in the Recreational Services office.

RC - Rec Complex P - Pools

Hours also avail-

December 1, 1994 - January 16, 1995 RECREATIONAL SERVICES ACTIVITY CALENDAR

RC 9:00AM - 10:00PM

.7:00PM - 10:00PM

RC 9:00AM - 10:00PM

.7:00PM - 10:00PM

RC 9:00AM - 10:00PM

P 1:00PM - 4:00PM

. 7:00PM - 9:00PM

1:00PM - 5:00PM

1:00PM - 5:00PM

Sunday Tuesday Thursday WILDCAT WATERWORKS RC 6:00AM - MIDNIGHT RC 6:00AM - MIDNIGHT FOR MORE INFORMATION CALL Rec Check 6:00AM - 7:30AM 6:00AM - 7:30AM WATER AEROBICS DEEP WATER JOGGING Rec Complex .11:30AM - 2:30PM .11:30AM - 2:30PM M,T,Th .5:00PM - 6:00PM** .7:30PM - 10:00PM M,T,Th .7:30PM - 10:00PM (Open Monday - Friday, 8 am-5 pm, Including IM Entry Deadline/ 3-Point Shootout, 5 pm RC 6:00AM - MIDNIGHT RC NOON - MIDNIGHT RC 6:00AM - MIDNIGHT RC 6:00AM - MIDNIGHT RC 6:00AM - MIDNIGHT RC 6:00AM - MIDNIGHT 6:00AM - 7:30AM 6:00AM - 7:30AM 6:00AM - 7:30AM 1:00PM - 5:00PM 8:00AM - 7:30AM 6:00AM - 7:30AM 7:00PM - 10:00PM .11:30AM - 2:30PM .11:30AM - 2:30PM .11:30AM - 2:30PM .11:30AM - 2:30PM ...7:30PM - 10:00PM ..7:30PM - 10:00PM .5:00PM - 6:00PM** .5:00PM - 8:00PM** ..7:30PM - 10:00PM .7:30PM - 10:00PM IM 3-POINT SHOOTOUT .7:30PM - 10:00PM JINGLE BELL WLDCAT CONTEST 11 13 RC 6:00AM - MIDNIGHT RC 6:00AM - MIDNIGHT RC 6:00AM - MIDNIGHT RC 6:00AM - 10:00PM RC NOON - MIDNIGHT RC 6:00AM - MIDNIGHT 6:00AM - 7:30AM 1:00PM - 5:00PM 6:00AM - 7:30AM 6:00AM - 7:30AM 8:00AM - 7:30AM 6:00AM - 7:30AM .11:30AM - 2:30PM .7:00PM - 10:00PM .11:30AM - 2:30PM .11:30AM - 2:30PM .11:30AM - 2:30PM .11:30AM - 2:30PM .7:30PM - 10:00PM .5:00PM - 6:00PM** .7:30PM - 10:00PM .5:00PM - 8:00PM** .7:30PM - 10:00PM .7:30PM - 10:00PM .7:30PM - 10:00PM FINAL EXAMS 18 19 20 23 RC 1:00PM - 10:00PM RC 8:00AM - 10:00PM RC 8:00AM - 10:00PM RC 8:00AM - 10:00PM RC 8:00AM - 10:00PM P 11:30AM - 1:30PM 1:00PM - 4:00PM 11:30AM - 1:30PM 11:30AM - 1:30PM 11:30AM - 1:30PM 7:00PM - 9:00PM . 7:00PM - 9:00PM . 7:00PM - 9:00PM 7:00PM - 9:00PM 7:00PM - 9:00PM anuary/Spring Semester OFFICE CLOSES AT 5PM AND WILL RE-OPEN Card Sales Begin University Holiday JAN 3RD AT 8AM

t Recreational Services office or by calling December 5 at 5 p.m.

CONSTRUCTION UPDATE

The expansion is basically "closed in" for the winter with doors, windows, skylights and roofing almost complete. The main work is now on the inside with lighting, walls, painting, floors, etc. Intramural Basketball games will be in the new large gym next semester. In February we should make the transition to new offices and demolition work will start on the old office area as it becomes the entrance and stretching area for the new track. We'll begin using the new front entrance at that same time.

Rec Check

Rec Check provides program and facility information 24 hours a day by dialing 532-6000. Call Rec Check for Rec Complex and Pool hours, exercise sessions, Intramural deadlines and

Entry Policies: Facility users must be affiliated with KSU -student.

- faculty/staff or Alumni Association member.
- Cards are not sold to the general public. Call the Recreational Services office at 532-6980

26 Best Wishes from Rec Merry Christmas!

RC 11:00AM - 10:00PM 11:30AM - 1:30PM . 7:00PM - 9:00PM

RC 11:00AM - 10:00PM 11:30AM - 1:30PM 7:00PM - 9:00PM

RC 6:00AM - 10:00PM

11:30AM - 1:30PM

. 7:00PM - 9:00PM

29 RC 11:00AM - 10:00PM 11:30AM - 1:30PM 7:00PM - 9:00PM

RC 6:00AM - 10:00PM

11:30AM - 1:30PM

7:00PM - 9:00PM

OFFICE CLOSED FOR THE HOLIDAYSI

RC 11:00AM - 6:00PM 11:30AM - 1:30PM ...No Evening Swim

RC 6:00AM - 10:00PM

P 11:30AM - 1:30PM

7:00PM - 9:00PM

31 New Year's Eve

All Facilities Closed

RC 9:00AM - 10:00PM

1:00PM - 4:00PM

. 7:00PM - 9:00PM

CHRISTMAS EVE

JANUARY 1995

New Year's Day

RC 1:00PM - MIDNIGHT

1:00PM - 4:00PM

7:00PM - 9:00PM

25

All Facilities Closed

RC 6:00AM - MIDNIGHT

6:00AM - 7:30AM

.11:30AM - 2:30PM

.7:30PM - 10:00PM

RC 6:00AM - 10:00PM 11:30AM - 1:30PM 7:00PM - 9:00PM FFICE RE-OPENS AT BAM.

AST DAY TO RENEW LOCKERSI RC 6:00AM - MIDNIGHT

6:00AM - 7:30AM

.11:30AM - 2:30PM

.7:30PM - 10:00PM

RC 6:00AM - MIDNIGHT 6:00AM - 7:30AM .11:30AM - 2:30PM .5:00PM - 6:00PM** .7:30PM - 10:00PM CLASSES BEGIN

12 C 6:00AM - MIDNIGHT 6:00AM - 7:30AM 11:30AM - 2:30PM .5:00PM - 6:00PM** .7:30PM - 10:00PM

13 RC 6:00AM - MIDNIGHT 6:00AM - 7:30AM .11:30AM - 2:30PM .7:30PM - 10:00PM

RC 9:00AM - 10:00PM 1:00PM - 5:00PM .7:00PM - 10:00PM

RC NOON - MIDNIGHT 1:00PM - 5:00PM

.7:00PM - 10:00PM

All Facilities Closed

6:30am 9:00am

(At Rec Complex) CIRCUIT TRAINING STEP AEROBICS 6:30am 11:45am

M,W,F M,W 4:20 pm 3:15pm M,W,F 5:30 pm 4:20pm T,Th 5:30pm

WILDCAT WORKOUTS

* Sat Exercise Schedule Dec 3 - Aerobics Jan 14 - Step Aerobics

Outdoor Rental Center CLOSED for the winter. Special requests for equipment can be made with 24 hour notice required by calling 532-6980.

** Pool use on T,Th, 5-6 PM, is shared with the Kinesiology Department. Participation is restricted to adult, fitness swimming and water jogging only.

WORDS OF WELLNESS -- "Life does not require us to be the biggest or the best, it asks only that we try."

